Second Distribution Point In Texas

Gasohol Being Prepared In Floyd County

This week will become the first in Texas from which the alternate fuel, dubbed "gasohol," is distributed. The Swift Distributors Co., of Floydada, received its first shipment, consisting of 200-proof ethanol from the Midwest corn, according to the Swift manager. The ethanol and mixing tanks are being pumped and adjusted and is here. All that is needed to get the gasohol is approval by the distributor's permit. The distributor is expected to receive the permit by customers in Floydada on Wednesday or Thursday. The fuel will be marketed at the travel center on Houston Avenue. Eventually will sell the purified gasohol to other gasoline retailers in the area, he added.

beside the travel center is the first car of alcohol in Floyd County, Wiley said, and possibly the first in the state of Texas to be shipped by rail car. "There's a large movement in the country to switch to alternative fuels," Wiley said, "and we want to participate in that movement." "What we have is pure alcohol," Wiley said. "It has to be pure so it will mix with gasoline." He explained that normally-distilled alcohol contains a residue of five percent water which would cause the gasoline to become useless as a fuel if used in an unpurified state. The ethanol in Floyd County will be stored in a 31,000-gallon tank prior to being mixed with unleaded gas at the travel center. The mixture will consist of 90 percent gas and 10 percent alcohol. "The alcohol will boost the octane rating of the gasoline about three points," Wiley said, "making a premium-grade fuel from unleaded gasoline."

Adding the alcohol, he noted, would raise the price of the fuel by about eight cents over the price of unleaded gas but there are compensating benefits. "Besides increasing the octane content of the gas," Wiley said, "gasohol is supposed to reduce fuel consumption and cause fewer exhaust emissions." While the gasoline-alcohol combination is still effective at an 80-20 ratio, the distributors mix it at 90-10. "The Federal government forgives the four percent excise tax on gasoline if it's mixed with 10 percent ethanol," Wiley explained. "The other alcohol that would work, methanol, is made from fossil sources and the government wants to hold down consumption of those fuels." Another reason the government forgives the tax when only 10 percent ethanol is used is so only surplus grains are routed to production of alcohol. The 10 percent limit helps prohibit using grain that would normally go for food from being used for fuel.

"Forgiving the tax helps keep the price down," Wiley said. "Some states even forgive the state tax, but Texas isn't among them." Wiley guessed that the tax-forgiveness was probably a temporary measure to encourage the initial use of gasohol. "There's a great grass roots movement to promote gasohol," Wiley said. "It was the farmers who first put emphasis on it." And he defended using the domestically-produced alcohol to stretch the petroleum supplies. "We've got to get rid of those OPEC countries," he said. "They're killing us." The alcohol being prepared by Swift Distributors is identical to that used in blending liquors, Wiley noted, except that the alcohol in Floydada has been denatured so it cannot be safely injected. Currently, the alcohol supplies come from a Decatur, Illinois, firm but a plant to produce alcohol from gin scraps is being planned for the South Plains area.

Babara Bush To Campaign In Lubbock For Presidential Hopeful Husband

Barbara Bush, wife of Republican presidential hopeful George Bush, will stop in Lubbock Monday while on tour of northern Texas on behalf of her husband's candidacy. Mrs. Bush will visit the home of Mrs. R.H. Fulton, 4700 21st St. in Lubbock, for a 10 a.m. coffee. Voters interested in the 1980 presidential election are invited to attend. During the tour, Mrs. Bush will make appearances in 11 congressional districts and will be honored at 14 separate events.

She will be accompanied by Laura Bush, wife of the eldest Bush son, George. The Bush family is campaigning for the former UN ambassador in Texas while he concentrates on the early-primary states. In addition to being the former UN ambassador, Bush has been a Congressman from Houston, chairman of the Republican National Committee, the Envoy to China and director of the Central Intelligence Agency.

Herber Announces Resignation

Steve Herber, the Floyd County agricultural extension agent, will leave his post for a position in private industry the middle of next month. Herber this week confirmed reports of his impending resignation as county agent effective Nov. 15. He will move to Seminole where he will take over as district supervisor for West Texas Gas, Inc. Herber will be in charge of natural gas and wholesale fuels. Herber first assumed the position as county agent in February of this year. He had earlier served as assistant agent from 1974 until early 1977 before moving to Crosby as county agent there for two years. Herber said he hated to leave the Floyd County community but the Seminole offer was a career opportunity that he couldn't turn down. Herber's district agent Billy Gunter, headquartered in Lubbock, will now advertise the vacant position to agents in Texas and surrounding states. Gunter will screen the applicants and present those qualified to the Floyd County commissioners for their selection.

Floyd County Museum Offers Gold And Silver Coins

Floyd County Museum is offering the last of the county commemorative coins minted for the nation's bicentennial celebration in 1976. These come in gold-plated silver, silver and bronze, according to the museum. The coins have a low metal content in the silver since the coins were minted in 1976. The museum will remain at the 1976 price another month, Mrs. Marble said. The museum staff is preparing offering for sale the artist-proof four coin sets that remain. Those sets are from the first coins off the mint before the numbering process began. Mrs. Marble said she was uncertain of what price would be asked if the directors decided to sell those coins.

Teachers Convened For Friday

Association of Texas Educators' convention will be held at the Hilton Inn on Friday, October 20. The theme is Education for the Future. Speakers include Floyd County's governor's committee on education David Howard of the commission on standards for the teaching profession and Judy Coyle a charter member of A.T.E. The Association of Texas Educators is the fastest growing organization in Texas. Its membership is over 100,000. The convention will be open to members and non-members and will feature workshops which can count for area teachers. The convention will bring major changes in Texas and ATE invites teachers from the sixty-four school districts in the state to be a part of that workshop will seek to determine the requirements for the next fall, and this is going to be an immediate input toward the state. Registration will be $1 for members and $2 for non-members. Information may be obtained by David Howard at Ash Learning Center in Plainview.

YOUTHFUL HI-JINKS? — This is the condition of the Floydada "Welcome" sign on the Lockney highway after someone pulled it down with chains late Thursday night. The Floydada city limits signs were removed and dumped inside the Lockney city limits, according to Floydada Police Chief Scott Newton.

The Chief theorized that the vandalism was related to the Whirlwind-Longhorn football game Friday.

Last In A Series Proposal Three Would Guarantee Family Farms And Ranches

[Editor's Note: Texas voters will go to the polls Nov. 6 to consider three proposed amendments to the state constitution. The following is the conclusion of an analysis of the three items, based on a report submitted by the Texas Legislative Council.] Proposed amendment number three would authorize the legislature to guarantee loans to qualified borrowers to purchase farm and ranch real estate. The guarantees would be in the form of $10 million in general obligation bonds issued by the state. The proceeds of the bond sales would be administered by the commissioner of agriculture without appropriation to guarantee loans made by private lenders for farm purchases, to acquire mortgages or deeds of trust on lands purchased under a guaranteed loan and to advance to the borrower a percentage of the principal and interest due on the guaranteed loan. The amendment would require that any advances made to a borrower be repaid at six percent interest. The bond sale proceeds would be invested and a first call on the treasury would be issued for repayment of the bonds. The state constitution's prohibition on pledging credit of the state prevents establishment of a guaranteed loan program without constitutional amendment. If the voters approve the proposed law, the state would purchase the mortgage or deed of trust on a defaulted loan for 90 percent of all sums due at the time of default. Following appeals, the state would sell the property in a manner similar to foreclosure. Eligibility for a guaranteed loan would be limited to Texas residents who have the necessary education in the type of farming or ranching they wish to pursue, who have a net worth of less than $100,000, excluding residential homestead, and who intend to purchase the land for their own or their family's use to farm or ranch. A nine-member council appointed by the governor would review and make recommendations on applications. Supporters claim that the amendment would aid young men and women to purchase land that they would have been unable to afford because of the high price of land and the extremely high down payments that now average 20 percent of the purchase price. This is necessary to preserve the family farm, they say, because the average age of Texas farmers is increasing past the 55-year mark. Because of the safeguards concerning who is eligible for the loans, the risks to the state from defaults would be minimal, they say, and land speculators and large corporations will not benefit. In case of default, the state would be able to sell the land with the possibility of making a profit because of the initial fair appraisal before a loan is approved and because of the continually-increasing land values. The Minnesota program, upon which the Texas proposal is based, has shown that the loan program is a viable way to encourage young farmers and ranchers, the supporters claim. The loan, they say, would enable individuals to begin to operate economically efficient and competitive farms and ranches, rather than the large corporations that are now gaining an increasing share of the agricultural land in the state. Opponents to the amendment argue that not only would it constitute government interference with the traditionally free marketplace but would be an unreasonable assumption of risk without tangible benefit to the state as a whole. If the presently unstable economic conditions worsen, taxpayers would bear the cost of the defaulted loans. The potential for default, the opposition says, is reflected in current interest rates and down payment requirements, without which the state guarantees would not be needed to encourage private lenders to make loans. Even with no or few defaults, they say, the program is not without cost to the taxpayer. Under the enabling legislation, the cost of administering the program under the commissioner of agriculture is paid from appropriated funds. In addition, the guarantees may tend to create higher land prices and add to the inflation rate. The opponents to the amendment say that although the number of individual farms and ranches has dropped by 50 percent since 1940, there are no proven ill effects from the decline which justify a guaranteed loan program. Farms have become fewer, larger and more expensive to operate, they admit, but the large farms have also become more productive. Finally, the opponents say, the payment adjustments provided for under the proposed amendment and the enabling legislation are in effect, loans to the individual borrowers. The state, therefore, is not only assuming the risk of a private lender on the purchase money loan, but is also assuming the risk of making an indirect loan to the borrower.

Side Glances

by John Carroll

The Floydada-Lockney football game Friday night was quite a spectacle. Cecil B. DeMille would have loved it. It had epic proportions. It had tragedy. And it was SRO.

We noticed a sign on the Lockney side that suggested giving Big Mac (Collins) some "special sauce." Well, as it turned out Collins toasted the Longhorns' buns.

For a dry area, Floydada is suddenly awash in enough alcohol (and grain alcohol, at that) to make a wino think he had gone to boozier's heaven.

But we hope that no one decides to attempt distilling the gasohol that will soon be available here. It ain't drinkable, folks. Don't try it.

Now we want to see if the people will pay the extra price for the gasohol to help cut dependence on the Arabs.

The German field marshal and statesman Otto von Bismarck reportedly once refused to drink German champagne that was offered by the Kaiser, preferring instead the French variety.

"Patriotism, sir," von Bismarck supposedly told his sovereign, "stops at the stomach."

We suspect that American patriotism may stop at the pocketbook. We'll see.

To The Editor:

This year's high school annual staff is trying a new feature. We are having a booster page on which parents and other interested individuals who wish to help support the annual can place their names for $5.

The headline for our article in last Thursday's HESPERIAN referred to the booster page as ads, but this should not be confused with the ad section of the book.

Money raised from this booster page will be used to up-date equipment and also to enable us to keep the ad prices and book subscriptions at the same price as they were last year. The last date for turning in names for this page will be November 30.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank you for your coverage of the FHS clubs and organizations. Also, we appreciate the never-ending support given to us by the people of Floydada.

Kristi Willis is the editor of the 1980 WHIRLWIND. She is assisted by Debbie Harrison, Julie Morton, and Carrie Woody. Persons interested in having their names appear on the booster page should contact any of us at the high school — 983-2340.

The Consumer Alert

by Mark White
Attorney General

A relatively new vacation idea is sweeping the country. And, although this may seem to be a strange time of the year to be thinking of vacations, this particular idea deserves consideration because now is the time many consumers are being asked to invest.

The idea is called "resort time sharing." Under this plan, a consumer buys the right to use an apartment in or adjacent to a vacation spot from a company that owns the building containing the apartment.

Time sharing is attractive to many consumers because with each year that passes the price of motel or hotel accommodations increases. The fixed purchase price appears to guarantee that at least one part of the cost of a vacation will remain constant.

For many consumers time sharing may be the ideal plan. There are some aspects, however, that require careful consideration before making the decision to invest.

First, it is important to understand that while sometime sharing plans convey an interest in the property, most sell consumers only the right to use an apartment. The contract will state whether you are buying the property itself or only the right to use it. So, read the contract carefully. It also is important to check whether you are purchasing the right to use a particular apartment or merely an apartment in the complex. Again, carefully read the contract to make sure you know what you are buying.

Second, most time sharing plans involve a purchase price as high as $4,000 for one week's use of an apartment each year as well as a maintenance fee. The maintenance fee typically is charged for each day that a consumer has the privilege of using the apartment whether the apartment actually is used or not. In other words, if the contract gives a consumer the right to use the apartment one week out of each calendar year, then a full seven days of maintenance fees will be charged even if a consumer decides one year to stay home or travel elsewhere. The maintenance fee frequently exceeds $15 a day and is designed to increase with inflation. Therefore, even though the purchase price is fixed, the maintenance fee is not and will probably increase at a rate equal to the increase in area motel or hotel charges.

Consumers should carefully weigh the benefits of signing long term contracts for accommodations which extend for the period of years common to time sharing arrangements. Many of these contracts are thirty to thirty-five years in duration and predicting the appeal of an area as a vacation spot thirty five years hence is quite difficult.

Finally, the total costs of a time sharing plan should be measured against the expected costs of annual vacations. In the example described above, the maintenance fee must be added to the $4,000 purchase price. At $15 a day, seven days a year for thirty-five years, this means adding $3,675 for a total cost of $7,675, discounting any increases in the maintenance fee. If the purchase price is financed, the interest payments may be expected to nearly double the basic purchase price.

I have heard reports that some time sharing plans are using "high pressure" sales tactics to get consumers to sign up. Because of the size of the investment required, such tactics should be ignored. If someone refuses to give you the opportunity to think things over, look someplace else for a time sharing plan.

Law May Be Killing Older Citizens

By Edwin Feulner

In what might be called a bitter turn for the worse, a little known act of Congress intended to prevent child poisonings may be killing older Americans.

Or so say three New York physicians, Frederick D. Sherman, Joshua D. Warach, and Leslie S. Libow, in a recent article in The Journal of the American Medical Association.

The law — the Poison Prevention Packaging Act — was passed nearly a decade ago and mandates that most drugs and prescription medicines should be packaged in containers with "child proof" safety caps.

"Ironically, what prevents a life-threatening situation for a child can be a direct threat to the life of an elderly person," the three specialists in geriatric care say in their commentary.

The reason is simple. Many elderly patients hampered by a variety of crippling diseases and infirmities find it difficult to open the containers. Thus, they don't take needed medication.

One pharmacist at Huntington Memorial Hospital in Pasadena, California, described the situation as chaotic bordering on comical: "Elderly patients have related many instances to me describing their dilemma in trying to open their prescription containers and the variety of instruments they have used in the process: pliers, hammers, screwdriver, hand-operated can opener and feet — one patient claimed that stomping on his bottle worked.... Another patient stated that her seven-year-old granddaughter could open her bottle when she, herself, could not."

If, like me, you've ever had to wrestle with a pill bottle, you can imagine how difficult it must be for older people, whose fingers aren't as nimble or as strong as they used to be.

Interestingly, this is just one example of government regulation gone haywire, say two very observant business executives in the Fall issue of Policy Review.

Amway Corporation's founding fathers Jay Van Anel and Richard DeVos also note that:

•Government regulators insisted that children's night clothing be made flame resistant, only to find out later that TRIS, the chemical flame-retardant, may cause cancer.

•Under pressure from self-anointed environmentalists, the government has proceeded to ban many of the most effective chemical pesticides developed since World War II: first DDT, then chlordane and heptachlor, and so on. The results, according to the late Dr. Robert H. White-Stevens, former Chairman of the Bureau of Conservation and Environmental Science at Rutgers University: malaria is again on the rampage around the world and our own West this summer experienced the worst grasshopper plague since the Depression.

Oct. 31 Can Scare Adults, Too

In recent years Halloween has been scarier for adults than children. Children can imagine a world of spooks and goblins. Adults must face the very real threats of poisoned candy, vehicle accidents, dangerous costumes and other hazards endangering children. Seeking ways to avoid these problems and decrease vandalism, parents increasingly are steering their children toward organized activities such as school carnivals and parties.

Such efforts have been at least partially successful — or maybe children simply are forbidden to go out on Halloween. In any case, the number of trick-or-treaters in many places has declined dramatically.

Yet Halloween is too well established to die out completely. Since people probably will continue celebrating it in some form or other, here are some tips to cut down on Halloween hazards.

Giving balloons, pencils, coins or other small, inexpensive items probably will please children as much as receiving candy. Some inedible treats may even be cheaper than candy and will not be wasted by parents who have to throw away treats that might be poisoned.

Adults can decrease the possibility of poisoning by giving only treats in their original wrappers that could not be poisoned and then re-wrapped. Parents should use the same standards when inspecting treats. Parents also should throw away fruit and other treats that could be injected with dangerous substances because they easily could overlook the pinhole a needle would make.

Costumes are another responsibility parents have. They should avoid costume masks that could slip and block a child's vision or breathing. Painting a child's face with cosmetics, grease paint or burned cork can be a good substitute.

The costume itself should be light-colored to help motorists spot children, flame resistant and not so loose or long it could trip a child or catch on obstacles. Costumes also should not include sharp objects, torches or candles. Adults can improve safety by putting reflective tape or luminous paint on costumes and objects children carry.

People can make their property safer and cut down on vandalism several ways. For instance, keep the property well lighted and put away hoses, lawn furniture and garbage cans. If possible, put cars in the garage and lock them. Bring pets inside to protect them and children from each other.

Simple preparations such as these can help both children and adults survive the season.

Strong Measures Are Needed To Hold The Line On Inflation

BY State Sen. Bill Patman

Recently the Secretary of the Treasury, G. William Miller, said that $1.00 in the hands of a college graduate today will be worth 5 cents by the time he retires, at the present rate of inflation.

A 13 percent rate of inflation — which is even less than the current estimated rate — is ruining the purchasing power of the American dollar.

After only five years of 13 percent inflation, your 1978 dollar will be worth less than 50 cents.

Ten years from now, its value will be less than 25 cents.

After only twenty-two years have elapsed its value will have deteriorated to less than 5 cents.

What if the inflation rates go higher? Increasing mortgage interest rates can only add to inflation. In fact, the press has often called attention to some of the dramatic increases in inflation rates as being the result, at least in part, from higher mortgage rates.

We would be far better off to hold the line and endure periods of severe scarcities of money, than to yield to the inflationary pressures and authorize and encourage higher rates of interest on home mortgages and other debts. California has yielded to the cries of the moneylenders. That state is experiencing some of the highest inflationary pressures of any state in the Union.

The average value of existing homes around Los Angeles in May had reached $100,500 in April 1979 was up from the comparable figure of $51,300 in April of 1976.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS
By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby returned last week from a visit to the People's Republic of China predicting large oil trade benefits for Texas businessmen.

Hobby told reporters the Chinese are anxious to increase trade with Texas to develop petroleum equipment and technology. "There are billions of dollars' worth of oil business to be done with China, and Texas will share in it, Hobby said.

Hobby and a delegation of Texas oil drillers, contractors and equipment manufacturers toured Chinese offshore rigs and concluded that Sino oil technology was 40 years behind the U.S.

Currently, he reported, the Chinese have only about 600 drilling rigs in operation, but they would like to develop around 2,000 more rigs in the next five years.

Hobby, whose family owns The Houston Post, also visited the "People's Times," a Chinese newspaper of 6.5 million circulation printed with type set by hand. "Think of the oldest newspaper plant you've ever been in and this one looked twice as old," he said.

He also commented that coal fired in Peking contribute to massive air pollution. "If you're unhappy about our environmental standards, you should spend a few days in Peking. You'll learn to love our Air Control Board," Hobby quipped.

Kennedy Leads Texas

Later, Hobby told a United Press International conference in Houston that Massachusetts Senator Edward Kennedy would defeat President Carter if Texas held a Democratic presidential primary next year.

But former Texas Gov. John Connally, a Republican, told the same group it doesn't matter who prevails between Carter and Kennedy: Connally is going to be the next president.

Connally blasted Kennedy as being too liberal for Democrats anywhere and said he won't let voters forget Kennedy's leftist leanings. Meanwhile, a Texas campaign management firm concluded last week that a Republican presidential primary including Connally, George Bush, Gerald Ford and Ronald Reagan would attract at least 825,000 Texas voters, more than the 400,000 who voted in the 1976 Republican primary.

Bentsen Backs Carter

Despite the large following which Kennedy is said to have in Texas, Carter is not to be counted out. The President won the endorsement of a prominent Texas Senator.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen said he was "more in tune philosophically" with Carter and would vote for him in 1980. Bentsen said he would exempt state-owned enterprises from fall profits tax.

New Education Commissioner Bowen drew heavy criticism last week for a field expansion of bilingual education.

Bowen asserted that the language English school and that the teaching bilingual students when Arnold.

He was not expected to go to third grade, but he showed how far he had come in the next five years.

Hobby, whose family owns The Houston Post, also visited the "People's Times," a Chinese newspaper of 6.5 million circulation printed with type set by hand.

came out on top of the district opener between the Whirlwinds and Lockney Longhorns in Friday night. The Whirlwinds announced the Longhorns 21-0.

ped the ball when he was tackled but a quick whistle saved the 'Winds from losing a fumble.

Marquis scampered through a gaping hole in the Lockney left line for 25 yards to set up a five-yard Collins run to the end zone. Collins was hit by five Longhorns on the way but powered through to paydirt.

The Luna point-after-touchdown sailed right where he aimed it and Floydada took the lead 7 to nothing.

The kickoff spiraled low into Lockney ground, never rising more than about five feet above the gridiron, and the Longhorns took over on their own 40.

Longhorn QB Steve Warren started the Lockney charge with a six-yard dash followed by Curtis Ford slipping out of the hands of several Floydada players for a 24 yard gain before being hauled down by Womack. Two more runs by Ford racked up another 10 yards before Whirlwind Tim Radloff recovered a Longhorn fumble.

The Whirlwinds had time for only two plays from deep within their own territory before the halftime clock ran out.

After the halftime activities ended, Lockney Junior McDonald ran the Floydada kick from the five back to almost the 30. Two handoffs to Ford and Roel Rodriguez later, plus one overthrown pass, and Lockney punted.

Another 15-yard penalty, this time for holding, didn't help the Floydada offense get moving. Runs for good yardage by Collins and Marquis made up the difference and for a moment it seemed that Self would take a Marquis handoff and be gone but Lockneyite tight end John Cummings managed to trip the Floydada slotback after only two yards.

The Whirlwinds and Longhorns traded short yardage and field-position punts until shortly before the third quarter ended.

Led by a 20-yard run into Lockneyland by Collins, the Whirlwinds forced their way to the Longhorn 18. Marquis handed off to Collins who went around the right side for the six points. Again Luna's PAT was perfect and Floydada pulled farther ahead, 14 to nothing.

A lucky turn of events for the Whirlwinds set up their third and final scoring drive of the evening.

A flag against Lockney allowed the home team to kickoff from the visitors 45. Another low, spiraling kick barely went past the 10-yard minimum before the Green team swarmed over the ball, taking possession on the Lockney 33.

Marquis, Self and Collins ran seven successive good-yardage plays ending in a Collins leap over the center line for the six.

Luna wrapped it up with another well-aimed kick and Floydada had complete control with a 21-point lead and only a few minutes to go.

On the next kickoff, the Whirlwinds again successfully recovered the ball, this time on their own 49 but even with a five-yard penalty help against Lockney the drive stalled and fizzled out before the first down.

The Longhorns took over and it looked as if Warren was determined to get onto the scoreboard. The Lockney quarterback threw a series of passes, mingled with run plays, that brought the Longhorns to the Floydada 30 before his luck ran out.

Mike Self stepped in to intercept a Warren pass attempt after Floydada's Norman Allen tipped the ball into Self's hands.

Todd Beedy went in at quarterback for Floydada and managed to gain six yards before Bill Gray punted. Warren had time for only one pass attempt that went sour before Whirlwind center Tim Radloff recovered a fumble.

Despite two quick first downs on runs by Beedy, Mark Nutt and Norman Allen the Whirlwinds could only penetrate to the Lockney 12 before the final whistle sounded.

Floydada had won their first district game 21 to nothing.

Whirlwind quarterback Troy Marquis gains 25 yards on this play to put the 'Winds on the Lockney five and set up the first Floydada score.

Mac Collins crossing the Lockney end zone became an all-too-familiar sight to the Longhorn defenders.

New Education Commissioner Bill Williams drew both praise and criticism with a new state proposal for bilingual education.

Hispanic Reaction
Not surprisingly, Ruben Berron, president of the League of United Latin American Citizens, blasted Williams' comments.

As Texas Hispanics began to grow their political muscle, Berron is thought to be in line for the nomination to lead a third political party.

MR. AND MRS. JOHN DAVID MACDONALD

Former Lockney Resident Married In Washington

Former Lockney resident Miss Sonja Ledean Adams was married Sept. 8 in First Presbyterian Church of Wenatchee, Washington, to John David MacDonald.

Parents of the bride are Wilbur and Frankie Adams of Wenatchee. The groom's parents are Rod and Kay MacDonald of Walla Walla, Washington.

Lockney grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hardy and Mr. and Mrs. D.E. Adams.

The setting was enhanced by spiral candelabras holding blue candles and blue roses. A lighted cross was in the background.

Pianist was Katie Handley who accompanied Karen Sybouts and Terri Smeback as they sang "Evergreen," "How Can I Tell You" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Officiating at the wedding was Reverend Al Oliver.

The bride's sister, Phyllis Adams, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Gail Yost Andrews of Missoula, Montana; Sue Tierney of Kirkland, Washington; Sharon Deibert of Seattle, and Karen Ross of Tacoma. They wore dresses of powder blue organza designed with V-neckline and tiered, ruffled backs. They carried nosegays of blue roses and white daisies.

The best man was John Darrah of Walla Walla.

groomsmen were Chris MacDonald, brother of the groom of Seattle, Jim Lehmann of Spokane, Chris Spurbeck of Soap Lake, and Dominick Elia of Walla Walla.

Also in the wedding party was flowergirl Amy Satterfield.

The bride's dress was made of Rochelle lace and sheer organza trimmed in crystal pleating around the V-neckline. The bodice featured full bishop sleeves. The skirt was tiered in back and ended in a semi-cathedral train. The bride carried her mother's wedding Bible under her bouquet. Sewed in the ribbons of the bridal bouquet were the bride's mother's wedding band and her grandmother Adams' wedding band.

The couple honeymooned in Honolulu, Hawaii. They are at home in Wenatchee, where he is employed at North Central Washington State Employees Credit Union as a loan officer.

The bride was graduated in 1976 from Wenatchee High School, and will be a December graduate of Central Washington University in Ellensburg, Washington. The groom graduated with cum laude honors from the same university in June of 1978. He was a 1974 graduate of DeSales High School in Walla Walla, and a 1976 graduate of Walla Walla Community College.

MRS. ROBERT CROWE

Miss Ragland, Robert Crowe Wed In South Carolina

A double ring ceremony read Saturday, Oct. 13 in Belton, South Carolina, joined in marriage Miss Janice Ragland of Lockney and Robert Crowe of Belton.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Ragland Jr. of Lockney. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Crowe Jr. of Belton.

Rev. David Tillotson directed the 7:30 p.m. exchange of wedding promises in Wesleyan Church. The nuptial area of the church was decorated with two large ferns on stands and arrangements of yellow mums, dahlias, daisies and blue carnations.

Mrs. Patsy Fortune played the wedding marches and the song "If."

The bride wore a long antique white dress of chiffon over taffeta. It was styled with an Empire waistline tied with a flowing sash. Ruffled lace outlined the square neckline and capped the sheer full sleeves. Cuffs of the sleeves were wide, gathered bands of lace. Her bouquet was a yellow rose arranged with baby's breath and tied with yellow and blue flowing ribbons. She was given in marriage by her father, Homer Ragland Jr.

Following tradition, the bride wore as "something old" a ring that was given to her grandmother Vaughn by her husband in October of 1924; "something blue" and "something borrowed" was a blue garter owned by Debbie Galloway of Lockney. In a pocket on the garter were pennies minted in the birthyears of the bride and the groom. "Something new" was a bracelet given to her by the bride's new sister-in-law and husband.

As the bride entered the church, she gave her mother a blue carnation. She gave another one to her mother-in-law as she left the ceremony.

The wedding date, Oct. 13, was the same date of the bride's late paternal grandparents' wedding 81 years ago.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Pam Crowe of Belton, sister-in-law of the groom. Her dress was of floral chiffon over blue taffeta. It was fashioned with a long skirt and Empire waistline. She carried a yellow carnation arranged in baby's breath with streamers of blue ribbon.

Best man was W.E. Crowe Jr., father of the groom.

Reception

A reception honoring the newlyweds was held in the church fellowship building. Attendants were Mrs. Rene Crowe, the groom's sister-in-law, and Mrs. Carrie Tillotson.

Following a wedding trip to Rosman, North Carolina, the couple will be at home in Belton, South Carolina, where he is employed with Kandall Industries.

The bride was a spring graduate of Lockney High School. Her husband was graduated from Belton-Honea Path High School.

Among those attending the wedding were the bride's grandmother, Mrs. J.E. Vaughn of Silverton, and the groom's grandfathers, W.E. Crowe Sr. and Watson Gray of Hartwell, Georgia.

The groom's parents honored the wedding party with a supper in Anderson, South Carolina, after the wedding rehearsal.

Alpha Mu Delta Holds Meeting

Members of the Alpha Mu Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi held their October 16 meeting at the First National Bank.

To open the meeting, Pledge Ritual was held for eight new members: Duffy Hinkle, Sherry Smith, Penny Bertrand, Jolene Cummings, Kathy Green, Judy Lloyd, Debbie Ogden, and Sharon Ward.

President Pat Cates led the Opening Ritual, and Donna Anderson called the roll and read the minutes from the previous meeting. Thank you notes from Bama Coward and Lu Ann Collins were read.

Social chairman, Jo Ann Patterson, announced that the October social will be a "Trick-or-Treat" party for the members and their children, October 31.

Donna Henderson, program chairman, informed members of the next meeting. It will be November 6 at Tonya Marble's house, with Revis Pernell and Teresa Whittle serving as hostesses. The program will be presented by Tonya Marble.

The business meeting was adjourned, and Debbie Bertrand was introduced as the program speaker. Her subject was entitled, "Social Behavior." Social behavior is a part of human relations. Topics discussed among the group were courtesy, manners and etiquette.

Hostesses Revis Pernell and Debbie Beaty served refreshments to the following members: Donna Anderson, Carrie Bertrand, Debbie Bertrand, Pat Cates, Donna Henderson, Kay Jones, Tonya Marble, Jo Ann Patterson, Daphna Simpson, Teresa Whittle, Duffy Hinkle, Sherry Smith, Penny Bertrand, Jolene Cummings, Kathy Green, Judy Lloyd, Debbie Ogden, Sharon Ward and Janet Houdeshell.

MR. AND MRS. JIMMY D...

Miss Johnson Say Vows In

Miss Celia Gardys Johnson and Jimmy Don Reid were united in marriage Saturday, September 29, in a double-ring ceremony solemnized at 7 p.m. in the First United Methodist Church of Clovis, New Mexico. The Rev. Duane Knowlton of Farwell officiated the double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Johnson of Texico. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Reid of Texico.

The chapel altar was accented with rose-colored wedding tapers. Each side of the altar rail was adorned by flowers in the bride's chosen colors in crystal bud vases, a wedding gift from a friend.

After the couple lit their unity candle, the groom gave a kiss and the flowers to the bride's mother, while the bride was simultaneously presenting the groom's mother with a kiss and flowers.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Miss Johnson was attired in a traditional white gown of silk organza. The dress which was decorated with lace and seed pearls featured long fitted sleeves with covered buttons and a tiered chiffon overskirt that flowed into a chapel train.

Her fingertip veil was made of lace, identical to the lace on the gown. She carried a nosegay of white rose and miniature mums trimmed with white lace, bows, and streamers.

Following wedding tradition the bride wore her maternal great-grandmother's opal engagement ring for something old, and a gold necklace, a gift from the groom as something new. The bride's wedding veil was borrowed from a friend, Sheryl McClesky, and her blue garter was a gift from her maid of honor.

Karen Norris of Clovis attended the bride as maid of honor, and Debbie Reid of Amarillo, was a bridesmatron.

James Barfield of Texico served as the groom's best man, and Johnny Maben of Clovis served as a groomsmen. Ushers were Gary Johnson, Odessa, brother of the bride, and Jackie Reid, Lubbock, brother of the groom.

Candlelighters were Danny Reid, brother of the groom, and Jeff Johnson, brother of the bride. Landon Reid of Clovis, the groom's nephew, was ringbearer. The flower girl was Beth May, a friend of the bride's family from Clovis.

Special guests at the wedding were Mrs. Ruth Reid, Texico, and Mrs. LaVega Peterson, Clovis, the groom's grandmothers; Mrs. Helen Forsyth, Odessa, and Mr. and Mrs. R.W. Johnson of Lockney, the bride's grandparents. Each of the grandmothers was presented with a silk-flower corsage made by the bride.

Ferrell Roberts of Clovis played traditional organ music for the wedding and accompanied Sheryl Day, Texico, as she sang, "We've Only Just Begun," and Marilyn Harmon, Clovis, as she sang, "The Wedding Prayer." Following Mrs. Harter's selection, the wedding guests joined the bride and groom in reciting, "The Lord's Prayer," as the couple knelt before the chapel altar. As Mr. and Mrs. Reid

MR. AND MRS. W.B. HOLLUMS

Hollums Golden Anniversary Celebration Planned

Mr. and Mrs. W.B. Hollums will be honored by their children on their 65th wedding anniversary. Saturday, October 27, in the home of her parents in Anson, Texas, on Sunday, November 1, 1914, with the late Reverend W.D. Fielder performing the ceremony. The couple were attended by the late Ambrose Brown and Cressie Garrett.

Miss Minnie Spraberry and William B. Hollums were married in the home of her parents in Anson, Texas, on Sunday, November 1, 1914, with the late Reverend W.D. Fielder performing the ceremony. The couple were attended by the late Ambrose Brown and Cressie Garrett.

Did You Know? "Squaw," the term often-times used — humorously or disparagingly — to refer to a woman or wife — is a direct borrowing from the Massachusetts dialect of the Algonquian Indian language. "Squaw" originally meant any North American Indian woman.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollums have made their home in Floyd, Jones and Midland counties during the past sixty years. They have lived in Midland since 1962. Children of the couple include: W.L., James, Jack and the late Charles Hollums; Mary Strickland, Ruth Hughes, Edna Lamere, Vivian Bradshaw, Jean Yarley, Katie Cannon and the late Mae Womack. The couple had one son who died shortly after birth in 1919. They have 41 grandchildren, 39 great-grandchildren and two great-great-grandchildren.

MRS. HUGH JAY MILLER

Burke, Miller Wedding Vows Pledged In Plainview

The Amarillo Street Church of Christ in Plainview was the scene October 19 for the wedding of Karen Lanell Burke and Hugh Jay Miller. Lyle Miller, lay minister of the 11th & Amarillo Church of Christ, officiated at the double ring ceremony. He is the groom's brother.

Mrs. Robert Herring of Plainview attended her sister as matron of honor. Cynthia Gaither of Lubbock was bridesmaid. Bridal attendants wore light blue satin-baked crepe dresses with fitted sleeves and a full skirt. They carried colonial style nosegays of blue carnations and white daisies.

Reception

A wedding reception was given in Hale County State Bank centennial room. A three-tiered white cake, with blue confection roses and twin wedding bells, was served by Mrs. Van Miller. Mrs. Joel Patridge presided at the punch bowl. Other reception assistants were Mrs. Don Willis, Mrs. Norman Wright, Mrs. Vic Green, Mrs. David Gamme, Mrs. Foster Wright, and Mrs. Louis Amick.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey J. Burke of Plainview and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Orba E. Miller of Floydada. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Mathews are the bride's grandparents.

Lighted blue tapers set in brass spirals illuminated the altar area as music was presented by members of a double quartet: Jesse Pinkerton, Mrs. Van Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Offield, Mrs. Lawrence Bedwell, Gerald Bedwell, Tim Lane and Kelly Hayes.

Allan, Mark and Leah Herring, nephews and niece of the bride, distributed rice bags. Following a wedding trip to California, the couple will live in Floydada where the groom is engaged in farming.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white organza gown with embroidery yoke outlined with silk Venise lace. The dress featured long bishop sleeves, an empire waistline, and an A-line skirt with lace motif and wide embroidered flounce-edged hemline.

Mark Miller, brother of the groom, was best man; and serving as groomsman was Van Miller, brother of the groom. Ushers were Weldon Couch, David Lane, Charles Lane and Ross James, all of Plainview.

Happy Families Create Happy Marriages

Happy families create happy marriages, says Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In other words, the quality of early family life affects the lives of young people anticipating marriage, she explains.

Young people are usually conditioned early in life in ways that will make them "good" or "poor" risks in marriage.

Ten circumstances affecting this "conditioning" for marital happiness include:

- 1) happiness of parents
- 2) childhood happiness of marriage partner
- 3) lack of conflict with mother
- 4) firm, not harsh, family rules
- 5) closeness to mother
- 6) closeness to father
- 7) lack of conflict with father

- 8) frankness about sex
- 9) mild, infrequent childhood punishment
- 10) positive attitude toward sex in marriage

The most significant factors about marital happiness are directly related to the happiness and success of a parent's marriage and the relationship of parents and the adult child, the specialist continues.

Traits that affect marriageability in a negative sense are parent-child friction, broken homes and conflict in intact families.

In a sense, people are conditioned for marital success and happiness by their own family background.

However, with a rational approach to marriage, people can and do break cycles of unhappiness that may have run in families, Miss Taylor explains.

Those reared in happy homes have an advantage — they are able to pattern after an example of marriage success.

No Classes Friday

No classes will be held in the Floydada Independent School District schools Friday, Oct. 26, according to Jerry Cannon, superintendent of the system.

The district teachers have scheduled a meeting for that date.

Cannon also noted that Floydada schools will let classes out at 2:30 p.m. on Nov. 1.

Exercise Helps

According to a Purdue University professor, A. H. Ismail, medical bills for people who exercise are only half as much as those for people who don't. Active men have fewer medical bills and tend to be more emotionally stable and less tense, Ismail found in his study of men between the ages of 35-55.

Talk is cheaper than you think.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.

If you're one of those who thinks a Long Distance call is a luxury, read on.

The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

Call between 11 pm and 8 am.

Before you groan about how you can't stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it.

You'll be saving up to 60%! If you're a night person, you probably don't start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway. And if you've got friends and family to call out west, it'll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings. If you like to see the sun rise, and you know folks back east, it'll be an hour later on their end.

Call out of state anytime before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want and still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial One-Plus.

Reach out on the weekend and save up to 60%.

Now this is a stroke of good luck: a really cheap Long Distance phone call just when you may want it most. Call any time between 11 pm Friday and 5 pm Sunday and really save. For instance, dial One-Plus and you can make a ten-minute call to Atlanta for only $1.55. That's almost worth making a new friend in Atlanta for.

Even on weeknights, save up to 35%.

Sometimes you can't wait for the weekend. Or you don't want to. But you can still save plenty Sunday through Friday from 5 pm to 11 pm. Think about what a bargain it is to call someone 1900 miles away, talk it up for ten minutes, and only run a tab of about $2.00. There's just no other way to get close to a faraway friend or relative so quickly, so cheaply.

On weekdays it's still a bargain.

Here's a surprise. From 8 am to 5 pm, a Long Distance chat still doesn't cost very much. A five minute call out of state, to anywhere in the continental U.S. is only about $2.50 when you dial One-Plus. Think of how good the sound of your voice would be to a friend (not to mention your mother!) right in the middle of the day.

Reach out and touch someone.

WHOZITS . . .

LAST WEEK — Last week's Lockney Whozit picture was of the 1929 Lockney Longhorn football team. T.V. Copeland, Sterling Cummings, Claude Brown and Bob Miller identified D.J. Phillips [No. 26], Verner Hodel [No. 8], Harold Griffith [No. 20] and Leon Wofford [No. 14 — not No. 44, the number given in last week's paper]. T.V. Copeland, Leon Wofford and Les Ferguson knew ALL of the team members. And M.D. Arterburn identified several of the players.

LOCKNEY WHOZIT — Here's a husband-and-wife combination for the Lockney Whozit guessers. He moved to Floyd County in 1935. He's a farmer in the Lockney community. She's lived in the Lockney area all her life and graduated from Lockney High School in 1946. Call the Beacon, 652-3318, when you figure out who they are.

LAST WEEK'S FLOYDADA — Mrs. John McKinney was the Floydadan to correctly guess last week's Whozit as Dessie Dennis.

This Floydadan has an ear for engines. He moved from the city to live in Dallas but returned recently to retire. This week's Whozit was 18 months old when the photo was taken.

Russia, U.S. Meet To Discuss Grain Supply Agreement In Eight Session

Officials of the United States and the Soviet Union met in Washington earlier this month for the eighth session of regular semiannual consultations under the current US-USSR grain supply agreement. The agreement covers trade in wheat and corn for the period Oct. 1, 1976 through Sept. 30, 1981.

Based upon supply availability in the United States and anticipated Soviet import requirements, it was agreed that the supply level for U.S. wheat and corn could be up to 25 million tons for the current year of the grain supply agreement between the two countries without the necessity for further consultations.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Soviet Union buys at least six million tons—half wheat, half corn—of U.S. grain in each of the five years of the agreement. The agreement also requires that purchases above eight million tons must be preceded by agreement between the two countries on an increased supply level for the year concerned.

Undersecretary of Agriculture Dale E. Hathaway headed the U.S. delegation at the consultations. The delegation from Moscow was led by Boris S. Gordeev, Soviet deputy minister of foreign trade.

Soviet officials confirmed that their purchases for the fourth year already total about eight million tons, and that more purchases are anticipated. It was indicated that the year's total volume would probably be as high or higher than that of the past two years, which were about 14.6 million tons in 1977-78 and about 15.7 million tons in 1978-79.

Although purchases that go above the minimum 6 million ton level may consist of any proportion of wheat and corn, it was indicated that corn would again likely represent a substantially larger portion.

Hathaway said that the new agreed supply level of 25 million tons takes into account current U.S. supplies and export availabilities as well as anticipated USSR import requirements for the 1979-80 season.

He said the new supply level does not imply a particular USSR purchase plan at this time, since the actual volume of purchases will depend upon progress of shipments, possible logistical constraints, market conditions, any adverse weather developments that may affect shipping, and other factors, he said.

Hathaway also indicated that the new supply level and the anticipated increase in shipments to the USSR this season, are expected to have little or no significant impact on the general level of grain prices, since world markets have already recognized a probable rise in world trade and USSR imports from all origins in the year ahead.

"Even if the volume of fourth year trade were to reach the full amount of the newly-agreed supply level, supplies on hand will be adequate to meet other anticipated domestic and export requirements, and maintain sufficient carryover into the 1980-81 season," Hathaway said.

It was agreed that the two sides would remain in close contact during the interim prior to the next regular session of semi-annual consultations next spring, and that additional consultations would be arranged during the interim if at any time this appeared necessary.

Farm Bureau News Summary

PARITY
A USDA publication, AGRICULTURAL PRICES, reported preliminary parity ratio at 94 in September, based on 1967 index.

Parity, computed under laws regulating price support programs for September 15, 1979, was 70, compared to 72 in September 1978. Adjusted parity ratio, which includes government price support benefits, was reported at 70 on September 15, 1979, compared to 73 a year ago.

SPOT COTTON MARKETS
USDA has released a proposal to remove Houston, Texas from the list of bonafied spot cotton markets. The reason for recommending the removal of Houston from the spot cotton markets is that cotton is no longer traded in such volumes and under such conditions in Houston to qualify as a bonafied spot market under the criteria contained in the U.S. Cotton Futures Act.

Anyone interested in this determination is invited to share his views with USDA. Written comments should be received on or before December 10, 1979, addressed to Lloyd Frazier, Chief Marketing Services Branch, Cotton Division, Agricultural Marketing Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250. Additional information with regard to this determination is available in the state office.

BRUCELLOSIS PROGRAM
USDA has announced amendments to the federal rules and regulations directing the interstate movement of animals. The Department released the following summary regarding the new rules.

Summary: This document amends the brucellosis regulations to update, simplify, and clarify the requirements under which certain cattle may be moved interstate. This action is needed to make the regulations consistent with the provisions of the revised brucellosis eradication Uniform Methods and Rules and to revise the regulations for uniform interpretation. This action relieves certain restrictions which are no longer considered necessary and revises the regulations for uniform compliance.

FARM COOPERATIVES
The U.S. Comptroller General's Report to the Congress of the United States with regard to family farmers' need for cooperatives concluded the following:

The Nation's family farmers need the right to act together through cooperatives if many are to survive in agriculture. However, the Department of Agriculture needs to establish an enforcement and monitoring system to ensure that cooperatives do not use monopolistic or other unfair trade practices to raise prices unduly, as critics have charged.

The Congress needs to decide whether it is in the Nation's best interest to allow nonfamily farm corporations to continue to be cooperative members.

Many cooperatives need to adopt equity redemption programs that are fair to both current and former members.

GAO (General Accounting Office) found cooperative officials generally satisfied with the quality and quantity of technical and educational assistance available from the Department of Agriculture.

To put these conclusions in focus, it appears that the U.S. government is now embarking on a program to control

Rail Car Shortage Threatens U.S. Agriculture

Prompted by the worsening shortage of rail cars for transporting cotton and grains to market, U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen is pushing for a bill that would suspend the tariff of cars imported from Mexico. A similar bill died last year after the House failed to act after the Senate approved the bill.

legislation was first proposed, there was a manufacturing backlog of 75,000 cars. The current figure has increased to more than 120,000 cars short.

Under U.S. tariff laws, Mexico is allowed to export rail cars to this country without paying any duty, so long as their shipments don't exceed 50 percent of all rail cars imported by the U.S.

Early last year Canada stopped exporting rail cars to the U.S. when a serious shortage developed in that country. As of March, 1978, Mexico exceeded the 50 percent limitation and a prohibitive 18 percent tariff was imposed, further threatening the availability of cars to American shippers.

The latest Senate proposal would suspend the tariff for two years.

Crop And Livestock Reports From Farmers, Ranchers Needed

From mid-November to early January, thousands of Texas farmers and ranchers will receive a crop or livestock questionnaire from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service or will be personally interviewed by the Service's field staff. The information gathered through the questionnaires and interviews provides the basis for determining the final acreage, yield, and production of crops and end-of-the-year livestock and poultry numbers for the state of Texas and for each county.

legislation and are used in establishing acreages and payment levels to producers under the various commodity programs.

The collection and publication of agricultural statistics are a cooperative effort between the Texas Department of Agriculture and USDA. This cooperation avoids duplication of effort, promotes economies, and increases the effectiveness of statistical reports. All individual farm and ranch information is kept confidential, and only state and county summaries become part of the final published estimate.

County estimates for 1978 and January 1, 1979, are available on Livestock, Poultry, Dairy, Field Crops, Small Grains, Cotton, Vegetables, Fruits and Pecans, and Cash receipts from the Sale of Texas Farm Commodities. Bulletins can be obtained from the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service, P.O. Box 70, Austin, Texas 78767, or by writing Reagan V. Brown, Commissioner of Agriculture, P.O. Box 12847, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

The Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, October 10 went on record for continuing its strong support of Cotton Incorporated, formulated recommendations for 1980 cotton program provisions, and voted to work toward the success of a proposal to provide more adequate funds for commercial export credit financing through the Commodity Credit Corporation.

PCG is a regional cotton research and service organization representing cotton producers in a 25-county area surrounding Lubbock. Cotton Incorporated (CI) is the national research and market development company financed by cotton producers across the U.S. Cotton Belt.

CI is currently in the process of revising its operational procedures in answer to criticism resulting from a recent investigation by the U.S. Office of the Inspector General.

CI's president, Dukes Wooters, has also been under attack from certain quarters, but the PCG Board made no comment on that subject, apparently preferring not to interfere with the CI Board of Directors in matters related to personnel.

After calling attention to the vital nature of continued cotton research and market development, lauding CI's significant and highly beneficial contributions to the industry, and pointing out that there is no other mechanism for carrying on CI's work, PCG's resolution concluded with the following:

"...Resolved, that the Board of Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. (1) express its support for Cotton Incorporated, (2) urge that the Cotton Board, CI Board of Directors, CI staff and the U.S. Department of Agriculture act expeditiously and in unison to do all things possible to make CI serve cotton producer interests even more effectively, and (3) appeal to all organizations and individuals with an interest in the industry to join PCG in recognizing, preserving and enhancing the inestimable value of Cotton Incorporated to the U.S. cotton industry."

On the 1980 cotton program, the PCG Board voted to recommend (1) a 15 percent voluntary set-aside "with set-aside payments sufficient to attract producer participation," (2) loan and target prices at the highest levels permitted by law, (3) new legislation that will prevent the loan in 1980 from falling below the 50.23-cent level of 1979, and (4) continuation of loans on seed cotton stored in ricks or modules.

The Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) commercial sales program provides credit financing for agricultural exports. It is currently funded by annual appropriations from the U.S. Treasury and repayments of principal and interest are returned to the Treasury. Since the inception of the program in 1956 it has consistently returned a profit to the U.S. taxpayer.

The proposal approved by PCG would allow loan repayments to go into a CCC capital credit account to be used for future loans. Once the fund reached $3 billion, CCC credit financing would be removed from the budget process. The program would then be self-funding, with all repayments continuing to be available for further CCC commodity export financing.

WHAT'S HAPPENING

WEEVIL BAIT OKAYED: The Environmental Protection Agency has approved a commercial biological product that uses sexual lures to interfere with boll weevil matings. The product duplicates sex-attracting scents emitted by female weevils on sticky tapes. These tapes would be placed on traps to lure and catch weevils.

NEW BALE RULES LIKELY: The public comment period on the new U.S. regulation for cotton bale sampling ended recently with all comments received supporting the proposed rule. As a result, the regulation will probably be adopted and placed into effect Aug. 1, 1980, a U.S. Department of Agriculture source said. The new rule would limit sampling to one cut per side upon initial receipt at the warehouse. More than one sample may be drawn from the same hole. The rule would not prevent cutting additional samples later.

Total fuel savings over a given period of time will increase due to a widening of the gap between gasoline and LP gas prices, high mileage use of the vehicle, and the greater fuel consumption of less efficient vehicles (gas guzzlers).

"A major conversion benefit is the anticipated lower fuel cost per mile," points out Lovell. "However, propane causes a 20-30 percent decrease in miles per gallon since one gallon of propane contains only about 75 percent of the BTU's in a gallon of gasoline. If reduced fuel cost per mile is the major savings considered, then the annual amount of savings is directly related to annual mileage."

The economist gives this example. Assume a vehicle gets 15 mpg from gasoline and 11.25 mpg from LP gas, gasoline is $1 per gallon and LP gas is 55 cents per gallon, and the interest rate is 10 percent. (The capital budgeting procedure of discounting is used to convert future fuel savings to current values.)

"Driving 10,000 miles a year, you would realize about $865 in total fuel savings in seven years," calculates Lovell. "At 15,000 miles a year, the discounted savings would be $845 in four years. And if you drove 20,000 miles annually, you could save $884 over three years."

Despite the fuel cost savings, there are inconveniences. Retail propane sources and hours of operations are more limited than gasoline stations, and repair of LP systems requires specialized skills and parts, notes the economist.

Also, cargo space in a pickup bed must be sacrificed for the propane tank. This is costly if the truck is regularly used for hauling or for pleasure such as carrying a camper.

"If you have a propane system, you should frequently check it for leaks," warns Lovell. "Don't park in a closed garage, especially if it houses a gas hot water heater."

Curtis Martin Services Pend

Services for Curtis Ewell Martin, 53, of Floydada are pending with Seigler Funeral Home in Matador.

Martin died at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at his father's ranch about 10 miles south of Matador. Justice of the Peace Roy Smith ruled the death was of natural causes.

Martin was a native of Motley County and worked as a farmer and rancher most of his life. He also was a manager of a Floydada feedlot and employed by Light-house Electric for several years. He was a veteran of World War II and a member of the Fleming American Legion Post No. 337. He attended the Methodist Church.

Survivors include his widow, Peggy; five sons, Ewell Gene and James Howard, both of Matador, Kenneth Lamer of Belt, Mont. and Preston Curtis and Virgil Allen, both of Floydada; his father, Curtis Martin of Matador; two sisters, Leona Cox of Matador and Joyce Archer of Lubbock; and seven grandchildren.

Texas Tech To Offer

Textile Degree

Shifts toward a more sophisticated textile industry have led to greater demand for highly trained personnel. Those shifts are felt at Texas Tech University, the only institution west of the Mississippi River to offer a degree in textile technology.

The Department of Textile Engineering at Texas Tech had only 14 students enrolled in the fall of 1978. This year 31 are enrolled and interest is growing. For the first time in several years students have actively participated in the national professional textile fraternity, Phi Psi.

For each textile technology graduate last spring there were about six job offers, starting at salaries that ranged from $14,500 to $16,800 per year.

Degrees in textile engineering or textile technology are offered at only nine institutions in the United States. Most are located in the eastern coastal states.

James S. Parker, chairman of the department, said that production in the textile industry is growing, but employment patterns are changing.

"About a million people are employed in the industry, but this really is a reduction in the work force," he said. "The difference is that employers want better trained people to operate more sophisticated machines and computer-controlled operations. They want employees with a good background in textile technology and in management."

Texas Tech Rodeo Slated October 25-27

Billed as the "World's Largest Indoor Collegiate Rodeo," the 35th annual Texas Tech rodeo will test the skills of more than 350 contestants Oct. 25-27.

This year's event will provide western pageantry complete with nationally known vocalists and clowns. Sixteen rodeo teams from around the Southwest will compete in a wide variety of events for men and women. Men's teams will vie in bareback riding, calf roping, saddle bronc riding, steer wrestling, team roping and bull riding. Women's teams will test their skills in breakaway roping, goat tying, and barrel racing.

Topping entertainment headlines for Friday night will be Jody Miller, one of the top female country and western singers in the nation. Saturday night will feature country and western singer Larry Mahan, whose past rodeo achievements carried him to six all-around cowboy titles.

George and Kathy Taylor of Cleburne will entertain the crowds with their clown and comedy acts throughout the rodeo performance. Bob Romer, "the Bull-Dancer," and former National Finals Rodeo clown, will demonstrate his skills during the wild bull riding. Rodeo stock will be provided by Harry Vold Rodeo Co. of Fowler, Colo.

Each performance will begin at 8 p.m. in the Lubbock Municipal Coliseum Oct. 25-27. Tickets may be purchased at all local western stores and at the Coliseum box office.
