County farmers hear disaster loan details

Fred Hodges explains the SBA disaster loan program to businessmen during Thursday's meeting at the high school.

Approximately 100 Floyd County and other agribusinessmen gathered in the auditorium of the Floydada High School Thursday night to hear members of the Small Business Administration's disaster loan team explain the benefits of the SBA program.

Fred Hodges, the disaster loan supervisor for the Lubbock area, led off the meeting by explaining to the farmers why the SBA was making agricultural loans.

"The SBA was always in the business of administering disaster programs to businesses," Hodges told the farmers. "About three years ago, someone determined that farmers were small-business men and therefore came under the SBA program."

Hodges noted that Floyd was among 45 counties in the Texas Panhandle that were declared eligible for disaster loans because of bad weather in June and July.

The maximum limit for loans, Hodges said, was generally $500,000, but even that amount could be stretched in extreme cases.

To get a loan, he said, a farmer must first be located in a disaster-declared county or an adjacent county. Then he must submit to the SBA office a form declaring the number of acres that he planted. Finally, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office must establish the average yield.

The SBA will then determine by formula the extent of the eligible loss, Hodges said.

If a farmer was unable to obtain credit from conventional sources, he said, loans would be made available at five percent interest. Those farmers and businessmen who were eligible for conventional credit would receive their disaster loans at seven and three-eighths percent interest.

Each individual farmer's terms would depend on his individual ability to repay the loan, Hodges said. Most loans are on terms from five to 10 years duration but some could be stretched out to 15 or 20 years.

On what collateral the agency would need, Hodges said they would "take the best collateral available."

He added that the loan money could be used for 100 percent crop production or as much as 50 percent could be used to pay back debts and living expenses, "but under no circumstances could the money be used for capital improvements." Capital improvements would be tractors, equipment or livestock, he said.

"We've tried to make the forms simple enough for the individual farmer to complete by himself with an acceptable degree of accuracy," Hodges concluded.

After Hodges finished his remarks, Charles Jackson, a loan specialist from Idalou, answered questions from the audience on the loan program.

"We've been instructed by the government to adopt a policy of reasonableness," he said, indicating that such a directive would give the agency a great deal of flexibility in granting loans.

He noted that the SBA could, on a case-by-case basis, defer payments from farmers and businessmen who had already suffered earlier losses.

The SBA would also recognize first liens by other agencies or lenders on equipment used for collateral.

The disaster funds would be available to the stricken farmers within about 90 days, Hodges added. "There is no definite time because there are too many factors to be considered, but it will be as quick as possible."

The price structure for commodities had not yet been established by the Farmers Home Administration (FmHA), Hodges said, but determination for loans would be based on the prices in effect immediately prior to the disaster.

"A farmer is eligible if he suffered any weather-related loss at all," he said. "There is no minimum loss required for eligibility." He added that farm-related business could also file if the agricultural situation had hurt their businesses.

Responding to farmer anxiety that the recent "60 Minutes" television show that resulted in Congressional action limiting FmHA capabilities would affect the SBA loan program, Hodges assured the audience that such was not the case.

He suggested that farmers already working with the FmHA should stay with that agency to avoid possible future problems with borrowing.

"Any recovery, like other disaster payments, insurance, low-yield checks and such," Hodges cautioned the farmers, "will be deducted from the SBA loan eligibility. You should estimate the amount of those items in advance."

STUDENTS — The fifteen Floydada High School students inducted into the National Honor Society at ceremonies in the high school auditorium Thursday. Standing behind the new inductees are last year's new members, who acted as escorts for the presentation.

Honor Society inducts 15 students

The Floydada High School chapter of the National Honor Society Thursday afternoon inducted 15 students into its ranks in a ceremony in the high school auditorium.

As the induction began members of the society lit four colored candles each symbolizing traits considered important by the group.

The white candle, one student explained, signified character. The red candle stood for scholarship, the "instrument of understanding to help solve the problems of the future."

The green candle symbolized leadership, "the growth to responsibility. The purple candle was for courage and the willingness to help others.

A short description of the activities and accomplishments of each new member preceded the announcement of the student's name. After the announcement, each new member was met by an escort, presented with a long-stemmed flower for the girls or a boutonniere for the boys and walked to the stage.

The new members then were seated with their escort standing behind.

Charles Tyer, the high school principal, presented society pins and membership cards to the new inductees after delivering the oath.

The students' parents joined their sons and daughters in the school cafeteria for a short social after the ceremony.

New NHS members inducted during the ceremony were Lori Bice and Larry Westbrook, seniors, and Terry Gentry, Moody Younger, Tim Radloff, James Strange, Sylvia Coleman, Melissa Morren, Deean Fry, Carrie Woody, Jeff Rainey, Tana Tyer, Bart Patzer, Kelby Sue and Terri Lloyd, all juniors.

Escorts for the ceremony were Troy Marquis, Julie Morton, Todd Hambricht, Melody Stringer, Tracy Reddy, Renee Sanders, Jonny Finley, Andy Holcomb, Jimmy Jones, Mike Allen, Kristi Willis, Danny Nutt, Rosemary Barnes, Debbie Harrison and Sammy Bradley.

Early taxpayers qualify for discount

Time is quickly running out for property owners who want to take advantage of the three percent discount on taxes, according to Tommy Cathey, tax assessor and collector for the Floydada Independent School District. Cathey urged taxpayers to mail or bring in their returns before the close of business Oct. 31 and take advantage of the savings.

Cathey also reminded taxpayers that they must re-register for their homestead exemption for the 1980 tax roll.

"A lot of people who mail in their tax returns for this year don't know that they have to come by and register for next year's exemption," he said. "You're not automatically registered just because you sign up once."

The school tax office is now accepting applications for the 1980 exemptions until April 15, 1980, he said.

Homeowners under 65 years old are eligible for a $5,000 homestead exemption. Those over 65 years qualify for a $10,000 exemption.

Collections so far this year are at $225,000, Cathey said. That is approximately 28 percent of the total he anticipates taking in for the year.

Collections are five percent ahead of those received last year at this time, Cathey added.

Love fund opened for Cone man

Texas farmer, Bill Ashley, has been a friend and neighbor of Bill Cone for many years. Cone has a need of help from his friends and neighbors now.

Ashley was seriously injured while on his farm when a fuel tank exploded in contact with a small fire and the flash of the explosion struck Ashley. With his clothes on fire, Ashley was burned. Bill struggled to a house for water as the ground around him became a sea of fire. Ashley, Grace, and an alert ambulance driver from Ralls should be commended for saving Bill's life as the ambulance arrived. Ashley kept the second and third degree burns from becoming a fatality. Bill now has several doctors working with him in the intensive care unit in Methodist hospital in Lubbock. Doctors have acknowledged Bill may spend three or more months in the hospital. Before he learns to walk again, skin grafts and much suffering must be endured.

A "Love Fund" has been set up for Bill Ashley in the First National Bank of Floydada. Funds are needed to help pay for the hospital treatment Bill is receiving. Anyone who can help share the financial expense of his stay in the hospital will be greatly appreciated.

Can you believe it? After sending the interest rates soaring, the stock market plummeting and the American consumer into near panic, the Federal Reserve Board now tells us that the whole thing was a colossal mistake. It was supposed to have been caused by a new form that the banks weren't accustomed to filling out.

The "Fed" is awfully apologetic. Gosh, that's all right, guys. What's a few billion dollars, more or less, among friends?

I heard a few good words of advice for young bachelors trying to make ends meet in these aggravating economic times: Two can live as cheaply as one. For half as long.

Television is getting more ridiculous every day. A woman on an aspirin-compound commercial said, "It helps to know I'm taking something."

That's called the placebo effect, lady. And there's the nasal spray ad where the "druggist" tells his customer, "The proof's on the package."

No, those are only the claims. I ran into a friend the other day who has come up with a novel way of looking at the energy crisis. His reasoning goes something like this:

When you have a rotten tooth that needs to be pulled, my friend says, do you twist and turn and nudge it for days until it falls out by itself? Of course not. At least, if you do it hurts like hell.

But if you grab hold of that beggar and give it one good yank, it's all over. Sort of like the so-called energy shortage.

Our leaders tell us we're running out of oil. And the price is going up so fast we can't afford it anyway. So what do we do?

We scrimp and save to make the messy stuff last a few years more. Make it hurt longer. And why?

Because the doomsayers (not to mention businesses that make fortunes) tell us that when the oil runs out our civilization will turn belly up and die.

Hogwash. What will really happen is, we'll make a quantum technological leap out of the Fossil Fuel Age.

The longer we stretch out the oil crisis, the more it will hurt, mostly in the dough-re-mi department.

Why not, my friend suggests, use up the oil as fast as possible?

Then, since big business wants to keep on being big business, we'll see some new technology so fast it will make your head swim.

I suspect my friend is a crackpot. But I may be wrong.

Unification Church seeks donations for 'missionary work' among Floydadans

The Reverend Moon's Unification Church, commonly referred to as the "Moonies," has arrived in Floydada.

Hesperian staffer Breck Stapleton talked to church member Bart Ainsworth Friday afternoon while the man solicited funds from local residents, to learn why the "Moonie" was in town.

Ainsworth was one of two Unification Church members in Floydada to raise money for youth work and local missionary activities, he told the reporter.

Asked where his church mission would be located locally, the New York native responded "all over."

When approaching a prospective contributor or buyer of the plastic and fabric flowers that Ainsworth sold for $5 each ("But we'll accept a donation of $1), he would make up a little song about the person he was selling to.

Floydadans either gave money or didn't give for a variety of reasons. One woman said she felt sorry for the young man and donated because he had been "brainwashed." Another steadfastly refused to buy or donate and admitted being relieved when Ainsworth left her business.

Breck noted that the missionary was turned down more than he succeeded in soliciting a donation. Many Floydadans responded positively to Ainsworth's advances and request until they noticed the Unification Church identification badge pinned on his lapel. But rejection didn't stop the "moonie."

He approached anyone, even climbing the scaffolds where the workers are rebuilding the jail to solicit contributions.

Ainsworth told the Hesperian reporter that the objectives of the Unification Church were to wipe out Communism and to raise the standard of morality, especially among the young.

"We set a goal of $1 million a day in donation," he said with a laugh. But actual contributions are much smaller and "determined by God's power in the giver."

Lawmen recover stolen rifles, take two juveniles into custody

In a combined investigative effort this week, the Floyd County Sheriff's Department and the Floydada Police Department recovered two rifles and a small cache of blank cartridges taken last week from the Veterans of Foreign Wars hall.

According to the report, two juveniles broke into the VFW building on October 18 at about dusk by removing a plywood panel covering one east side window.

The burglary was discovered by the post commander last Sunday afternoon.

During a joint investigation, the local lawmen received information on where they could find the rifles and the juveniles. The suspected pair were taken into official custody late Monday.

The two youths were accused of taking two Model 1917 Remington 30.06-caliber rifles, an ammunition pouch and a small supply of blank cartridges for the weapons.

The juveniles were released to the custody of their parents, according to city police chief Scott Newton.

Bob Chapman becomes pastor at Floydada Bible Baptist Church

The Bible Baptist Church of Floydada has a new pastor.

Bob Chapman relocated here earlier this month with his wife, Renie, to take over his new duties. They now make their home in the parsonage next to the church at 803 S. Third St. The couple moved here from Vernon where Bob was pastor of the Vernon Baptist Church for five years.

He preached his first sermon in the Bible Baptist pulpit on Oct. 14. Chapman has been in the ministry since 1960. He did evangelistic and supply work for 12 years and served as a pastor for the rest.

The Chapmans have a son Bobby, in Rockwall, Texas, and a daughter, Cathy, in Denton. They have two grandchildren, one from each of their children.

"I think we're really going to like it here," Chapman said this week. "It will be a new experience and a new challenge. We look forward to meeting new people and making new friends."

Bullock calls value-added tax 'sneakiest blow since Pearl Harbor'

State Comptroller Bob Bullock Tuesday said the adoption of a 10 percent, federal value-added tax would be the sneakiest blow to the American public since Pearl Harbor.

"It's the income tax wolf in sales tax sheep's clothing," Bullock said, saying, "it has the complexities of the income tax system and the regressiveness of a high sales tax."

Bullock said the proposal by U.S. Representative Al Ullman, House Ways and Means Committee Chairman, borders on tinkering and financial experimentation that could result in a tax Frankenstein.

The tax would be 10 percent of the value each manufacturer or distributor adds to a product or service in each stage before it reaches the marketplace.

The tax would finally be included in the sales price and as a result consumers would never know what part of the price covers the tax.

"Consumers will absorb the tax and it will fall hardest on lower and middle income groups. Business will absorb a new set of federal tax filings and paperwork. And the economy will absorb a little more disruption."

"The only winner," he said, "seems to be the federal treasury which will be raking in 10 cents on the dollar for every product and service in the country."

Bullock said he did not think the offset measures—tax cuts for businesses—would be a good trade-off for a national sales tax.

"If Congress wants to cut taxes, they don't need to link it to a value-added tax," he said.

"Let's face it, they want a new tax to pay off the billions of dollars we now owe as the result of deficit spending," Bullock said.

He said the cost of products sold in Texas would be dependent on the "value-added" by out-of-state manufacturers and distributors.

Everything is going to cost a heck of a lot more if this new federal tax passes, he said.

KISS temporary Whirlh from teap... by John Cai

Dear Editor:

Is KISS just another fad that will have little effect on our young people?

I personally think the influence of this group goes beyond the simple and natural "hero-worship" type of adulation felt for various popular singers.

Satan is indeed a horrible threat to the eternal lives of humans everywhere. And for a person, or a group of persons, to dress in costumes resembling our idea of what the devil might look like, to me means only one thing: Satan is using them to influence whoever may see or hear the group perform.

In our country they have the freedom to perform, but we Christians have an obligation to say "PLEASE DON'T GO."

Dear Editor:

In regards to your editorial of Oct. 25, addressing KISS, we strongly disagree with your point of view. The essence of your comments was found in your final sentence "give them (the young) their head to judge what is right for themselves". In other words, parents should not be unduly concerned with the interests and endeavors of their children. Does this attitude of let them check it out for themselves also apply to such things as drugs, sex, shoplifting, alcohol, or promiscuous behavior? Is it simply because we have a taste for the home with a...? We believe parents should be directly and proactively involved in their children's activities. Specifically in regard to the music industry, it is unethical for parents to be in the age group of their primary audience and be exposed to entertainment that is not suitable for their age group. ## Whirlwinds fall to Wildcats, 29 to 14 Friday

John Carroll
Photos by Breck Stapleton

It was a dismal night for the Whirlwinds as the Idalou visitors the worst of the season so far. The Whirlwinds looked good the first half as a Troy Marquis pass to Mac Collins was sandwiched between good defenses. The Whirlwinds were downed by the Idalou four but a fourth goal attempt on fourth down and the Wildcats took possession. The Whirlwinds recovered a Wildcat punt to 'Cat Emery, setting up a 17-yard pass to Self for the first touchdown. With three minutes left in the quarter, Luna kicked for the first and last time, 7 to 0. The Whirlwinds possession of the ball for the first quarter and early in the second, marching down to the 20 yards in penalties to keep the Whirlwinds off balance. Idalou again took to the air. On their tenth play from takeover, the Wildcats completed a 26-yard pass to split end Gary Fabila for the third Idalou TD. This time they tried a field goal kick for the point after and it was good. Idalou held a commanding 23 to 7 lead as the halftime whistle blew.

Floydada once more appeared to settle in for some serious ballplaying, advancing 50 yards from the kickoff return, highlighted by a 21-yard run by Rainey. But the Whirlwinds luck ran out when Idalou tight end Lupe Vega intercepted a pass intended for Tracy Womack and ran it back to the Floydada 44.

DeBusk seemed to confuse the Whirlwind defenders by faking every play. He led his team down the Floydada side of the field to the one yard line. Reyes leaped over the goal for the final Idalou touchdown.

The Floydada defensive line managed to push through to block Emery's kick for the PAT. The score stood at Idalou-29, Floydada-7.

On the return, Marquis pushed handoffs to Rainey and Mark Nutt to his own 42. But after a snap, Marquis was jostled by one of his own backs and was dropped. Floydada had to punt.

The next play, Moody Younger, who was in the game for the first time since his knee injury three weeks ago, had to be helped off the field.

After a series of lost yards and a 15-yard penalty, Idalou was forced to punt from their own 14 as the fourth quarter began.

Marquis tried two running plays but ended up with a net loss of six yards and Bill Gray came in to punt. The Wildcats failed to make their first down and kicked but 'Cat Lupe Vega bowled Todd Beedy over after he called a fair catch.

Mike Self caught a 17-yarder, followed by a six-yard Marquis run. Then Idalou's Brian Barton intercepted a Marquis pass and ran 55 yards to the Floydada 38 before Beedy caught up and dropped him.

After gaining 15 more yards, the Wildcat coaching staff felt secure enough to pull the entire first string and let the second team finish the game. After gaining another 14 yards, second-string QB Tim DeBusk fumbled and Floydada recovered on their own 17.

A pass interference call against Idalou gave Floydada a 24 yard completion, followed by a Rainey 13-yard run.

Idalou's Jack Vento intercepted Marquis' next pass try but the Wildcats could gain no yardage and had to kick.

Danny Nutt caught a 19-yard pass and Marquis dashed for another nine, but had to be helped off the field favoring his left leg.

Beedy took over the quarterback duties for the Whirlwinds in the final minutes, leading the team to one more touchdown as the final whistle sounded.

Luna put the pigskin between the uprights but the game ended with the Whirlwinds trailing 29 to 14.

Freshmen win over Paducah

The Floydada freshmen romped to a decisive 36 to 6 win over their Paducah opponents Thursday.

Bruce Williams scored the first Floydada touchdown on a 40-yard dash to the Paducah goal. Todd Batty put over the point-after-touchdown conversion.

Shortly thereafter, Marty Covington crossed the goal line for the second Whirlwind TD. The extra-point try failed.

The second quarter was almost an instant replay of the first.

Williams went in for a touchdown, followed by Mike Salazar crossing for the two extra.

Just before the quarter ended, Covington again scored and Kevin Helms took the ball in for two more.

In the third quarter Williams made another touchdown. The conversion try failed.

Paducah managed to score once in the third quarter.

Both teams remained scoreless in the final period.

Eighth grade Breezers beat Paducah 16 - 0

The Floydada eighth grade Breezers fought to a 16 to nothing victory over their Paducah hosts Thursday night.

A 34-yard run by Troy Garza was followed by Joe Faulkenberry catching a 15-yard pass for the first Floydada score. Carlos Baker went over for the two-point conversion.

Paducah penetrated to the Floydada 15 near the close of the third quarter when Mark Hatley intercepted an opposition pass to end the threat to the Breezer goal.

In the fourth quarter, Hatley threw a 10 yard touchdown pass to Max Bearden. The conversion try succeeded and Floydada ended the game with a win.

Seventh grade drops game to Paducah

The Floydada seventh grade Breezers dropped their game against Paducah Thursday afternoon 6 to 2.

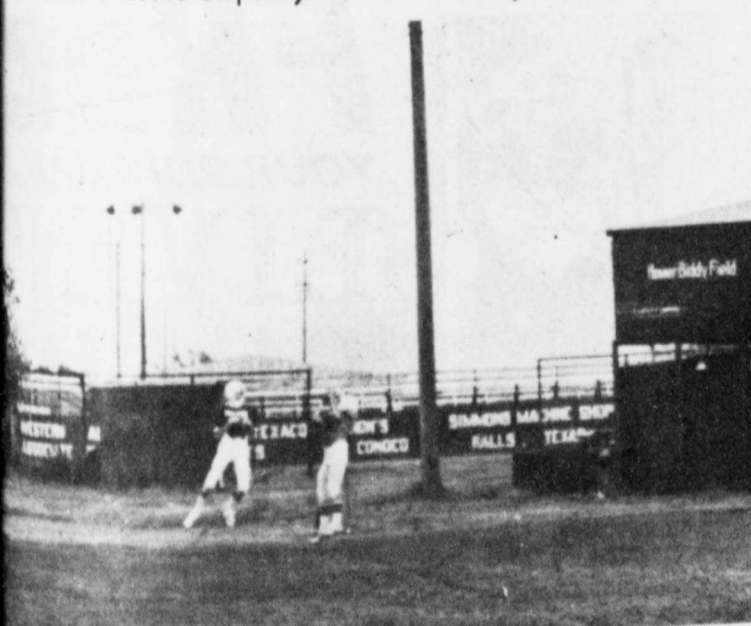

The Breezers held the Paducah team scoreless until a successful pass allowed a Paducah player to run 70 yards for a touchdown.

The Breezers missed an opportunity to tie the score when, on fourth down and one yard from the goal, they missed the running play.

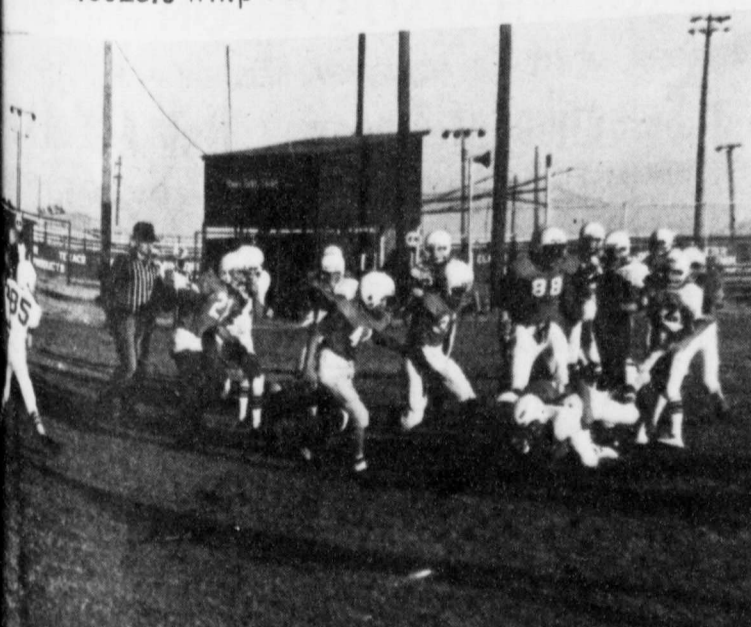

With a minute and 23 seconds left on the clock in the fourth quarter, the Breezers scored a safety on the opposition.

Football ball carrier slips by as Jeff Rainey takes a tumble.

Faulkenberry catches a 15-yard touchdown pass as the eighth grade Breezers whip Paducah, 16 - 0.

Seventh grade Breezers miss this touchdown attempt on the one-yard-line.

Library News

November 15 is the day of the White House conference when delegates from every state in the union will meet to promote the needs of libraries and to urge the President and Congress to enact a National Library Act. The act would be based on the principles contained in the Javits/Kennedy study bill (S. 1124) which was filed in May.

To focus attention on the emphasis of that day, November 15 has been designated "Be with a book for a day." Everyone is encouraged to carry his or her favorite book for a day and to explain why, to anyone who will listen.

So far, he has stood one up and shot him, sat one down and gassed him, and soon we will lay one down by injection. What I want to know is....

Where do you go to start a national campaign against capital punishment?

An old Archie Bunker show featured an argument between Archie and Mike on the subject of capital punishment. Archie said, "The only way to stop people from killing people is to bring back capital punishment." But, capital punishment IS people killing people.

We may attempt to gloss over the reality of what happens in an execution, but the fact is people planning and carrying out the killing of people.

Of the gassing of Bishop, one reporter said "Bishop shook his head and said nothing. His cyanide pellets fell in... Bishop made what appeared to be a thumbsdown sign, wrinkled his nose, seemed to search the room and breathed deeply several times.

"His eyes rolled upward, his head fell on his chest and then snapped back. He took another deep breath and closed his eyes — for the last time. Bishop's face reddened, saliva ran from his mouth and his body shuddered. After a series of convulsive jerks, it was over.

"One witness went down on one knee, but recovered and stood up again."

When Spenkelink was executed in May, hundreds protested. When Bishop was executed in October, 50 protested. Do you think that pretty soon nobody will bother?.

Family resource -- use it

Families can muster all of their resourcefulness to meet today's money problems — and they may become closer in the process, says Lillian Chenoweth.

Of course, this becomes more of a challenge as prices rise and budgets stretch, but the results can mean several major benefits, she says.

Mrs. Chenoweth is a family resource management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Focus on resources within the family — and new ways to use them.

Encourage each family member to look within himself instead of always outside.

Recognize the abilities and skills of each person. All together, those resources will increase the family's resourcefulness.

Resourcefulness also means looking at things you already own instead of only new things you want to buy. And it means new ways of "making do" — to keep from

Avoid 'hard sell' telephone

COLLEGE STATION — Guard against unscrupulous telephone solicitors with a little knowledge of how they operate, advises Claudia Kerbel, a consumer information specialist.

Many types of goods and services are sold by telephone — magazines, kitchenware, insurance and land — but some dealers may try to trick consumers into a purchase or contributing to a phony charity, she explains.

Ms. Kerbel is with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. She recommends following these tips:

- 1) Product, let a salesperson come to your home or make a charitable contribution during the first phone call.
- 2) Tell the salesperson you will call him back if you decide to buy or let someone come to your home.
- 3) Call the Bureau of Consumer Affairs to check the party, then call the son back if you what be in a...

Talk is cheaper than you think.

How to save up to 60% on Long Distance.
If you're one of those who thinks a Long Distance call is a luxury, read on. The trick to saving money while keeping in touch with family or friends is knowing when to call, and calling One-Plus.

Call between 11pm and 8am.
Before you groan about how you can't stay up late or see straight in the morning, think about it. You'll be saving up to 60%! If you're a night person, you probably don't start counting sheep until after 11 pm anyway. And if you've got friends and family to call out west, it'll be a perfectly civilized 9 or 10 pm when their phone rings. If you like to see the sun rise, and you know folks back east, it'll be an hour later on their end. Call out of state anytime before 8 am and you can talk all day if you want and still save 60%. In-state calls are also greatly reduced. Just remember to dial One-Plus.

Even on weeknights, save up to 35%.
Sometimes you can't wait for the weekend. Or you don't want to. But you can still save plenty Sunday through Friday from 5 pm to 11 pm. Think about what a bargain it is to call someone 1900 miles away, talk it up for ten minutes, and only run a tab of about $2.00. There's just no other way to get close to a faraway friend or relative so quickly, so cheaply.

On weekdays it's still a bargain.
Here's a surprise. From 8 am to 5 pm, a Long Distance chat still doesn't cost very much. A five minute call out of state, to anywhere in the continental U.S. is only about $2.50 when you dial One-Plus. Think of how good the sound of your voice would be to a friend (not to mention your mother!) right in the middle of the day.

Reach out and touch someone.

Libraries are essential

By Whitney N. Seymour Jr.

There is an understandable but alarming Proposition 13 fever in the country today — a revolt by taxpayers against the burdens of regressive taxing of middle-income people to provide the funds for local services that are available to everyone. Public libraries should not be dependent upon the good will of local taxpayers; nor should those local taxpayers bear the lion's share of the cost of operation institutions for all. The long-term importance of public libraries is not in providing information and books for the popular majority, but rather in opening doors for the individual user, and for citizens who have special needs—such as literacy, self-education, inspiration, freedom to dissent.

Public libraries are no longer a privilege of the many. In an age where the ability to read and have access to information of all kinds is a necessity, public libraries have become an essential right.

In what may prove to be the most important legislative initiative for libraries in recent Congressional history, Senators Jacob K. Javits and Edward M. Kennedy have proposed a new National Library Act to insure a minimum standard of public library services throughout the country.

What makes this proposal significant is that it marks a shift away from the view that public libraries are primarily a local responsibility. The bill corrects an accident of history, when public education was converted from being primarily a local concern into a matter of national priority. The need to protect public libraries was not yet apparent at the time several years ago, when parents, teachers and community leaders traveled to Washington and their state capitals by the busload demanding more dollars to educate their children.

Now, with budget cuts hurting those same children in their independent research projects, continuing self-education, career information search, and other taken-for-granted library services, citizens have suddenly awakened to the fact that public libraries are every bit as important a national education resource as schools and colleges.

Looking toward the White House Conference on Libraries and Information Services, which will convene this coming Nov. 15, Senators Javits and Kennedy have made available the basic framework for a comprehensive national program to support public library operations. Their study bill for a National Library Act is expressly intended to be a focal point for debate and discussion at the Conference, to permit the library community — including especially library users — to have a chance to provide some input before the legislation is put in final form for floor debate and vote. Powerful library groups have already expressed support for the general concepts in the bill. Now is the time for members of the public to be heard. Anyone who is concerned about our nation's public libraries should find out about the bill and speak up in its support.

(Whitney North Seymour Jr., a former trustee of the New York Public Library, is co-author, with Elizabeth N. Layne, of "For the People: Fighting for Public Libraries.")

What to do in burn accidents

SEVERE BURNS

If you are at the scene where a person is badly burned, there are some things you can do to prevent further complications until emergency medical help arrives.

EXTINGUISH FLAMES

First, make sure that the flames on the person are out. The advice of "stop, drop, and roll" is a good rule to follow. The natural reaction of a person on fire is to run, but that provides more oxygen for the flames.

The person should stop, drop to the ground and roll. A blanket or other covering thrown around him will also smother the flames.

REMOVE SMOLDERING CLOTHING

Remove any smoldering clothing. The longer it remains in contact with the skin, the more severe the burn will become.

However, do not remove the clothing over the head — pulling a burning or smoldering tee-shirt over the head could cause the hair and face to become burned.

Pull the clothing directly away from the skin.

COVER VICTIM

Once you are sure the fire is completely out and no smoldering clothing remains, cover the victim with a clean linen cloth. No salves or ointments at

NEWS & REVIEW

First Baptist Church
BY BETH PRATT

In the recent discussions about the full meaning of separation of church and state, several have referred to the faith of the founders of our country. A few years ago a young man sat in a chapel near a small New England harbor and heard a speaker say, "This nation was founded by God with a special calling. The people who first came here knew that they were being led here by the Lord Jesus Christ, to found a nation where men, women, and children were to live in obedience to Him... This was truly to be one nation under God."

The speaker paused. "The reason, I believe, that we Americans are in such trouble today is that we have forgotten this. We've rejected it. In fact, we've become quite cynical about it. We, as a people, have thrown away our Christian heritage."

The listener in the audience wondered if that strong statement could be backed up. What exactly was our Christian heritage, he wondered as he had wondered four years earlier, when to his astonishment and dumbfoundment, he had found that God was real and loved him beyond all human comprehension. David Manuel, this time are recommended. Actually, the burned area is sterile and it is necessary to keep from infection from the surrounding environment.

REASSURE VICTIM

Reassure the person that help is on its way and comfort him as much as possible.

Don't put soaked sheets on the victim. This can increase the chance of hypothermia or loss of body heat which is very critical at this time.

DON'T GIVE FLUIDS

Don't give a severe burn victim anything by mouth, although they may ask for it. The reason for this is a condition called acute gastric dilation which may happen after a trauma.

In this condition, the stomach fills with air and fluids. Giving the victim any fluids by mouth will only add to the problem.

Economist Says Four Key Issues Affect Agriculture Of 1980s

While energy averages 7.9 percent of U.S. farm production costs, energy for irrigated farming in Texas runs as high as 15 percent of production expenditures, Knutson said. Thus, developments in new crop production systems that use short season, drought resistant varieties, lower rates of irrigation, fertilizer and chemicals — as well as reduced pressure irrigation — are likely to be increasingly important in allowing Texas irrigated areas to compete, Knutson predicted.

He cautioned farmers to use care in making decisions on gasohol production in Texas. Independent studies by universities and U.S. Department of Agriculture economists show gasohol production from grain sources to be of questionable feasibility without large subsidies, he explained.

"Texas lacks a comparative advantage in producing gasohol from grain because of the attractiveness of export markets and costs of shipping grain into the state. The greatest economic feasibility is in agricultural and product tion and marketing functions as a means of spreading risk.

In regard to energy, Knutson emphasized that Texas farmers producing on irrigated land find themselves at a serious disadvantage.

sources are increasingly becoming concentrated in the hands of large farms, corporate agri-business and nonfarm domestic and foreign interests.

"States most affected by structure modification proposals are Texas, California, and Florida. Various structure proposals include stringent limits on farm program benefits, tax changes to discourage nonfarm investment in agriculture, antitrust policy changes restricting vertical integration, and limiting the benefits of government services such as credit, research and extension activities to small and middle size farmers," Knutson explained.

He said agribusiness firms concerned with future growth in agricultural production areas cannot afford to ignore the structure issue.

Farm Bureau News Summary

DISASTER ASSISTANCE
Uncle Sam funneled out nearly $6 billion in disaster assistance loans last year, much of it going to farmers and businessmen who could easily have obtained credit in the private sector. The watchdog General Accounting Office reports that one all-too-typical loan of $408,000 went to a wealthy businessman with an annual gross income of $950,000, $42 million in total assets and a net worth of $38 million. Cost to the taxpayers for subsidizing this particular loan: $33,000.

OIL PRODUCTION TEXAS
Crude oil production in the state of Texas during 1978 totaled 1,040,965,995 barrels. Production during 1978 decreased 5.46 percent when compared to the 1,101,137,171 barrels of crude oil produced during 1977. The latest increase in Texas crude oil production was recorded in 1972 at 6.56 percent. From 1972 through 1978, production has been decreasing each year.

There were 17,642 oil well completions including dry holes in Texas during 1978, an increase of 443 from the 17,199 registered in 1977. These 17,642 completions included 3,765 wildcat wells of which 464 were oil; 1,059 were gas; and 2,242 were dry (59 percent of total). The 13,877 remaining completions, were divided as follows: 7,668, oil; 4,324, gas; 1,432, dry; and 453, service completions. Included in the oil and/or gas completions were 843 dual wells.

U.S. STANDARD MEAT GRADES
USDA has announced the withdrawal of proposed rules designed to revise certain official U. S. standards and grades of meat. The proposed changes earlier this year provided that meat would be graded only in the form of carcasses or sides and in the plant in which the animals are slaughtered. The department expects to issue new proposals in the near future.

AGRICULTURAL STRUCTURE MEETING

This Year's Seed Crucial For Next Year's Cotton

LUBBOCK — Seed for next year's cotton crop on the South Plains will have to come largely from this year's yield, and handling of this seed will be crucial, area cotton specialists say. Since much of this crop will be modulated, particular attention should be given to modulating only dry cotton, the area cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service cautioned.

If the moisture content of the plant components — lint, seed, burs, stems and other — going into the module exceeds 10 to 12 percent, excessive heating could occur, damaging the seed and even the lint, explained Dr. James R. Supak, the Extension specialist.

Similar damage can occur to "wet" cotton that is stored in ricks or trailers for two to three days before ginning, he said.

"The last good cotton seed crop we had was 1977," Supak said. Some good seed was produced in 1978, but with 4.6 million acres of cotton planted on the South Plains this year, the seed supply has been nearly depleted.

FROM PLAINS COTTON GROWERS, INC.

Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland October 16 indicated that the controversy created by a critical report from USDA's Office of the Inspector General is near to being resolved.

Bergland made his statement following an October 12 meeting of the 40-man Cotton Incorporated Board of Directors at which changes in CI operations, almost identical to those recommended by the Cotton Board and USDA, were adopted.

Joe D. Unfred of New Home, President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, also voiced approval of the CI Board's actions, saying "Coming on the heels of our own Board's vote of confidence in CI operations is being answered and is being answered effectively."

The PCG Board of Directors on October 10 discussed CI and the Inspector General's report and resolved to urge continued support of CI by all individuals and organizations with an interest in cotton's future. "Considering CI's record of accomplishments and its potential to serve cotton interests in the future," Unfred said, "to withdraw support from the organization would be 'throwing the baby out with the bath water.'"

The CI Board unanimously adopted the following statement at its eight-hour meeting.

"The Board of Directors of Cotton Incorporated affirms its responsibility for the policies and overall guidance of CI's program and operations and its support of management and staff.

"In this respect it has responded to all seven points raised for consideration by Assistant Secretary of Agriculture P.R. Smith and to the recommendations for revision of reporting and administrative procedures suggested by the Cotton Board.

"Furthermore the CI Board accepts the principle that the operating budget committees of the Board will function aggressively with management in preparing priorities for planning and budgeting the most effective research and promotion program possible for America's cotton producers."

Cotton Incorporated is the fiber company of American cotton producers, per-bale assessments. Its 40-member Board of Directors is composed of cotton producers elected from each state where cotton is grown.

Advantages In Fall Fertilization

Application of fertilizers for next year's crop has some real advantages over waiting until next spring. Here are the factors in favor of the fall application.

Generally, it is a scientific fact that phosphorus, potassium and other nutrients are relatively immobile in the soil. When fall applied, they are ready for plant use next spring. In sandy soils, fall-applied nutrients are negligible. Research shows equal yield from fall and spring applications in heavier soils.

After sorghum or cotton is a good time to fertilize. Soil moisture conditions are favorable for ammonia application because you are concerned about soil composition, the combination of soil moisture and the addition of fertilizer are in your favor.

Much of the fertilizer is applied in bulk with heavy machinery, there is less danger of loss in the fall. Good weather

Cotton Today

WHAT'S HAPPENING

COTTON MISSION ENDS: Cotton Council International President Fred Deans and National Cotton Council President Hoke Leggett report a successful Far Eastern trade mission just concluded. Some 150 top Hong Kong and other Far Eastern spinners, trade bankers, and ship-line representatives attended the official opening of CCI's Far Eastern office in Hong Kong.

Sessions included top mill representatives, cotton merchants, and other key officials in Hong Kong, People's Republic of China, Japan, and Korea. Among topics discussed were foreign market development programs, means of expediting shipment of the large U.S. crop, quality protection, and export credit. Markets involved in the mission accounted for some 3.7 million bales of U.S. exports last season.

HOUSTON MAY BE DROPPED: Public comments are being sought on the U.S. Department of Agriculture's proposal to remove Houston from the list of bona fide spot cotton markets. Under the U.S. Cotton Futures Act, USDA designates a bona fide spot cotton market as one where cotton is traded in enough volume and under certain conditions to establish spot price quotations.

EXPORTS RUNNING HIGHER: Sales of 141,200 running bales of upland cotton during the week ended October 7 raised the current season's total commitments to 4,982,600, compared with 3,925,800 at the same time last season. The principal buyers were Hong Kong, 54,400 bales; Japan, 21,600; Korea, 12,100; and Bangladesh, 10,000. The week's shipments of 125,500 running bales brought total exports to 978,600 bales.

AND COTTON YESTERDAY: the oldest bank of cotton yarn found in the United States was excavated in Utah in 1923.

"The crash of '29" can it happen again?"

On Monday, October 29, exactly 50 years from the date of the Wall Street Stock Market Crash, KTXV-TV at 8:30 p.m. will present a special program "The Crash of '29."

Louis Rukeysner the host of "Wall Street Week," examines the causes and effects of that fateful day in stock market trading history. The program will include old motion picture newsreel footage of what life was like 50 years ago. It also includes graphic statistics that show the magnitude of the economic disruption that took place.

Rukeysner talks with Arnold Bernhard, now Chairman of Value Line Investment Services, who was a railroad stock analyst for Moody's in 1929.

Given today's economic problems, some experts believe that "The Crash of '29" was only a rehearsal for what lies ahead.

Can it happen again? That question and many more will be posed by Louis Rukeysner to a panel of three noted economists: Beryl Sprinkel, chief economist for Chicago's Harris Bank, Charles Kindleberger, professor of Economic Panics, and Peter Bernstein, one of Wall Street's leading private economists.

A major facet of the ambitious mission goal will be consideration of a proposed $34 million Cooperative Program budget for Texas Baptists' share of the worldwide mission efforts of 13 million Southern Baptist.

Other major business will include the election of a new president to succeed Dr. Cunningham who has served the maximum two terms.

More than 6,000 people are expected to pack the Lubbock Civic Center to hear

"Bold Mission" challenges to help share Christ in Texas and around the world. Speakers include Cunningham, Dr. Harold C. Bennett, Nashville, Tenn., executive secretary-treasurer of the Southern Baptist Executive Committee; Dr. James H. Landes, Dallas, executive director of the BGCT; Dr. Russell H. Dilday, president of Southwestern Baptist Theo-

1979 Texas pecan crop excellent

This years Texas Pecan harvest will reach a record high. One million trees are currently producing 10 lbs. of nuts each and Texas producers are anticipating a harvest of over 80 million pounds. Much of this crop will be marketed and consumed in the lone star state. This large crop means the price for Texas pecans will be very good in 1979. Our 1979 weather conditions plus freedom of pests indicate that the quality should also be good. Local producers in many counties can supply you high quality, improve pecans or natives straight from the farm.

Shoppers should be aware of poor pecans coming into Texas from other states. Last years pecan crop in the Southeastern states was very large and their annual rainfall was very low which resulted in poor quality nuts. These nuts have been held over in refrigeration and will be sold in November. If you purchase pecans directly from your Texas producers, you know you will be getting better quality pecans.

Floyd County 4-H'ers will be selling pecans for one of their fund raising projects this year. The pecans they will be selling are native Floyd County pecans, purchased from Bill Sherman at Lone Star.

There are many reasons for an exceptionally good crop in Texas this year. The cold, wet winter was excellent preparation for this spring's growing season. The fact that Texas had a low crop in 1978 means the trees were not in a stressed condition when growth began this past spring. Cool weather and frequent rain in April and May encouraged a large crop. By the middle of May, horticulturists throughout state had recognized that 1979 was going to be a good year.

Rains have been way above average in most sections of the state and have come on a three-week interval which is almost perfect for setting a good crop of pecans. The low spring temperatures also suppressed pecan scab which is a major disease in many seasons.

An insect known as the pecan nut casebearer can frequently reduce the crop 30 to 90 percent, however, in 1979 this pest was essentially non-existent in many areas of the state. More importantly, many growers are following recommendations of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and through good management are producing high quality pecans on a regular basis.

This management program includes nitrogen ferti-

Gasohol

the High Octane Unleaded

TRY IT YOURSELF

Floydada Travel Center

GASOHOL

Gasohol is a motor fuel blended of 9 parts gasoline, 1 part distilled alcohol. The alcohol is made from corn and other grains which are RENEWABLE energy sources.

Gasohol offers an exciting potential for extending our limited and costly petroleum supplies.

BETTER FOR YOUR CAR

Extensive tests, laboratory and "on the road," show that the gasohol blend provides...
... a higher octane fuel
... increased mileage per gallon
... better engine performance, with less "knock" and "ping"
... reduced engine deposits
... less gas-line freeze-ups
... cleaner exhaust emissions

A no-lead product, a gasohol blend will work in your vehicle without engine or carburetor modification...and work better!

BENEFITS FOR FARMERS

Because grain alcohol uses corn and other farm-grown products, its use for automotive fuel offers a new and sizeable market for surplus farm products.

Even limited use of gasohol would provide enough demand for America's corn to utilize the current grain surplus and allow farmers to continue to profitably produce grain at capacity.

BENEFITS FOR ECONOMY

Our domestic supply of oil is limited. We're paying $22 a barrel for imported oil . . . at a volume which is creating a huge trade deficit and undermining the dollar.

By using gasohol, using alcohol from renewable, domestic sources, we can....

- ... reduce costly oil imports
- ... protect against another embargo on foreign oil
- ... boost the farm economy
- ... give Department of Energy a viable answer to its search for "alternative" fuel sources.

GASOHOL

Makes your car run better
