

First 1980 babies arrive at both county hospitals

STAFF PHOTO

SECOND-BORN — Haydee Mata, born at Caprock Hospital on Jan. 3, is pictured with her mother, Yolanda Mata, of Ralls.

Both Caprock and Lockney General Hospitals delivered babies in the first week of 1980, with the Lockney child coming a little more than 24 hours sooner than the Floydada-born youngster.

Both infants were born to parents residing outside Floyd County.

The first birth of 1980 at Lockney General was recorded at 2:10 a.m. Wednesday (Jan. 2) with the arrival of Eric Ray Escobar. Eric Ray is the fifth child of Stella and Rudy Escobar, 1008 El Paso St. in Plainview.

Lockney General's 1980 "New Year's Baby" weighed seven pounds, three ounces at birth. The youngster has three sisters, Sandy, eight; Debbie, seven; Chris, three; and a brother, Rudy Jr., aged four.

Mr. and Mrs. Juan Burrell, of Plainview, are the baby's grandparents.

Young Eric Ray's father works at Grain Exchange in Plainview.

If past years' averages hold up, the Escobar infant is the first of about 200 babies expected to be born at Lockney General in 1980. Births at the hospital last year totalled 197, a figure hospital spokespersons said was "about average or slightly below."

Haydee Mata born to Yolanda Mata, of Ralls, on Thursday, was the first infant born in Floydada in 1980.

Haydee was born Jan. 3 at 7:30 a.m. in Caprock Hospital. She weighed six pounds, seven ounces.

Drs. Seung Hong and Brian Wonnacott assisted in the delivery.

A total of 19 births were recorded at Caprock since July, 1979, when the hospital began accepting maternity patients.

SPAG to consider city grant

A city of Floydada request for a community development block grant will be reviewed and commented upon at the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) board of directors' meeting in Lubbock Tuesday.

The city made the request to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for the grant to upgrade existing substandard housing in the city.

The SPAG directors will pass the request on to HUD, along with recom-mentations and comments by that body.

In addition to the Floydada project, the SPAG consider grant requests and other studies from more than 20 South Plains city governments and organizations, as well as hearing reports from the SPAG committees.

The meeting is open to the public. An executive committee meeting will be held at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday, followed by the directors meeting at 10:30 a.m. in the association conference room in Lubbock.

No news ain't good news

At first we thought Floydada had decided to call off the new year...here at the Hesperian news seemed slow coming in. Then we looked at the Amarillo paper and saw a whole page devoted to chicken and rice reci-pies...Plainview Daily Herald would have been slim without their AP stories. Lubbock Avalanche Journal looked a little on the lean side today too.

College-Career Day set for Floydada students

Floydada High School will hold a College-Career Day March 3 for students to become familiar with their options after graduation, according to Joanne Cagle, school counselor and event organizer.

Representatives from 43 businesses will be on hand to explain possible careers with their firms. Recruiters from 25 colleges and technical schools will also attend to provide information on their respective schools.

All high school students will sign up for the individual conferences and are expected to attend four sessions each. Sophomores, juniors and seniors will also attend a session where Cliff Baker, of West Texas State University, will instruct them how to apply for financial aid to pay their college expenses.

Dean Riptoe, a representative of the Shell Oil Co. of Midland, will deliver the keynote address at the initial assembly on Career Day. Riptoe will talk on the possibilities for the future.

"It's surprising that this many important people would give their time to come out," Mrs. Cagle commented this week. The counselor noted that the day would be open to everyone, even adults who wanted information on continuing education or furthering their careers.

Among the sessions, topics to be discussed included airline jobs, hotel-motel management, computer service, counseling, cosmetology, music, parks and wildlife careers, commercial art, engineering, fashion design and merchandising, law, nursing, agriculture-related businesses, court reporting, auto mechanics and advertising.

Mrs. Cagle also anticipated a luncheon for the event, sponsored by local businesses.

Council to appoint two more members to neighborhood improvement committee

The Floydada city council will meet in regular session Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in the city offices, 114 W. Virginia St.

The councilmen will lead off the meeting with a public hearing on the proposed rate increase requested last month by the Television Signal Service Co., the company that operates the Floydada cable system.

In December's meeting, the cable company requested a $1 increase on monthly service charges, to go from $8.25 to $9.25.

The company also asked to raise the fee for installation of additional outlets from $7.50 to $12.50. The service fee for additional outlets and the initial installation charge for the first outlet would remain the same as before.

The council will open and discuss bids for two city projects, the paving and the electric power station.

Last month, the council approved advertising for bids to pave the dirt section of Eighth Street, a project to be financed by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development.

For the third time, councilmen will read bids for the material, labor and erection of power lines and an electric power substation for the city. Lack of available work time and the difficulty in getting materials after last year's tornado in Wichita Falls caused the delay in obtaining acceptable bids in earlier attempts.

Authorization is expected to be approved for the city engineer to advertise for bids for filling holes in paved city streets with tar and gravel for 1980. City manager Bill Feuerbacher noted that $40,000 salary had been budgeted for the work.

City employees' salaries for the coming year will also be set. A raise is projected for the employees.

An additional two seats on the city's Neighborhood Improvement Committee are expected to be filled Tuesday night. Feuerbacher noted that HUD required two more members who reside in the target area (east of Walls Street and north of Missouri Street) be named to the committee.

"I would like to see some women on the committee," the city manager said Friday.

Feuerbacher will also propose that the city purchase a new sideloading garbage truck. The city now operates on sideloader and one frontloader truck. A new frontloader is expected to be delivered this month. With 700 residential containers that need to be emptied, a new truck should help ease the work overload.

In final business on the agenda, the councilmen will discuss the weed control program for this coming summer. If the city approves the proposal, new tractors and shredders will most likely be needed.

"There's only one person in town now with a shredder," Feuerbacher commented. "And when we can't get him, the lots go unowed."

Edwin Nutt announces candidacy for precinct one commissioner

Edwin Nutt this week became the first Floyd County resident to announce his candidacy for public office in the 1980 elections.

Nutt, who is 42 years old and lives west of Floydada, informed the Hesperian that he intended to file as a candidate for county commissioner of precinct one. Aaron Carthel currently holds that seat on the commissioners' court.

Nutt told the Hesperian that friends and neighbors encouraged him to make his first bid for public office.

The candidate farms in the Sandhill and Barwise communities. Presently he is vice president of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce and president of the Floyd County Junior Livestock Show.

A native of Hale County, Nutt graduated from high school in Hale Center in 1955. He moved to Floydada in 1962 with his wife, Barbara, and their family.

The couple have three sons, Danny, a senior at Floydada High; Mark, a sophomore at the same school; and Zachary, a second-grader at A.B. Duncan Elementary School.

The Nutts attend the City Park Church of Christ.

Official filing for county-wide offices was scheduled to begin Saturday at the county courthouse.

FIVE POUNDS, PLEASE — This old scale, date of manufacture unknown, also has a place at Kirk and Sons.

RENOVATED — This display case at Sue's Gifts was discovered in the shop when the building underwent remodeling. The case was restored along with the shop. The case is estimated to be 50 years old.

LOW BUT SURE — This linotype machine, estimated to date between 1904 and 1911, is at Script Printing. An almost completely obsolete piece of equipment, linotype was used to print the Hesperian during Homer Steen's management of the newspaper.

CASH SALE — This unique cash register was manufactured in 1913. It was purchased from Martin's Drygoods in 1945 and placed in Hale's Department Store. It has not been used for its original purpose since 1945. Registers of similar model usually had only one or two cabinet drawers but this one has nine.

GETTING INTO THIS ONE — This Mosler safe was bought in 1914 from the Big Four Hardware Co. in Lockney and transported to Kirk and Sons in Floydada. In its travels, the safe was dumped into a playa lake and then fell through the wooden floor it rested on. The safe was manufactured in 1884 and has evidence of several attempts to open it. None of the attempts succeeded.

SELL THAT AGAIN — This Remington typewriter, estimated to date from 1900, is at Solomon Jewelers. The typewriter and its desk came from an early Floydada insurance firm.

ELECTRICITY FROM COAL...

It's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Almost all of us depend on electricity in our homes, factories, and offices to provide for more jobs, . . . greater productivity, . . . and a higher standard of living. Yes, electricity plays a big roll in the scientific and technological developments that make these things possible.

The constant striving for these innovative and advanced means of tomorrow means we will need more electricity. That's why Southwestern Public Service is continuing the building program of new electric generating plants that use coal as fuel. Because it's good to know there's something we can depend on.

Gas price per liter

Because most gas pumps cannot display per gallon prices higher than 99.9 cents, the U.S. Metric Board is studying conversion of gas pump equipment to show the price of gas per liter, reports a family resource management specialist.

One liter is about one-fourth of a gallon, says Nancy Granovsky with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Canned Safety

Discard canned foods immediately if the contents are gassy, mushy, moldy, or have a disagreeable odor, advises Mary K. Sweeten, a foods and nutrition specialist.

Never taste food with a spoiled appearance, Mrs. Sweeten cautions.

Color Fast Labels

Look for the words "color fast" on labels when selecting fabric or apparel, suggests Beverly Rhoades, a clothing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

This is your guarantee that colors will not fade, she explains.

Fabrics fade due to the kind of dye used or lack of process used to set colors.

Once colors fade, little or nothing can be done to set or restore colors, or to remove one color faded on another, Miss Rhoades adds.

Jack Gaskins entered the Methodist Hospital last Friday. He has been in traction since that time. Tests are to be given to determine whether he will need back surgery. He is in room W211.

Kirby Collins arrived in Lockney December 21 to spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Emma Collins, and his sister and brother-in-law, Shelly and Ron Gamme of Plainview.

Kirby was accompanied to Lockney by a friend, Susan Paddock, who is also a senior at Princeton. Her home is in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

They all celebrated Shelly's birthday in Lockney on December 21 and were at Shelly's and Ron's in Plainview Christmas Eve and New Year's day.

They left Thursday morning to return to Princeton.

HOLIDAY VISITORS

Visitors in the home of Mrs. J.C. Odom during the recent holiday season were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Waits and Jeff, and Mrs. Eula Waits, all of Hale Center; John Waits of Corpus Christi; Elaine Waits of Crowell; Mr. and Mrs. Gary Hill of Lockney; and Mrs. Bill Rushing and daughters Christi and Angie of Plainview.

Lockney Hospital Auxiliary meets, plans bake sale

The Lockney General Hospital Auxiliary met in the hospital basement at 7 p.m. January 3 for its regular meeting. A letter of appreciation and thanks was read from hospital staff members to auxiliary members for assisting with the annual Christmas dinner for employees and guests of the hospital.

A bake sale is planned for January 18 at Reece's Cleaners from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Anyone wishing to donate baked foods may bring them to Reece's Cleaners on January 18. Items that are especially good are cakes, brownies, breads, fruit and pecan pies.

Several memorial gifts have been made to the hospital auxiliary.

The following members were present: Wynona Allison, Brenda Mangold, Nora Bybee, Gayle Fortenberry, Cindy Ward, Edna Cox, Jewell Roberts, Grace Colston, Sylvia Yeary, Josephine Smith and Elfie Sherman.

An orientation program for auxiliary members is planned for February 7 which will be the next regular meeting date for the hospital auxiliary. The program will be given by the department heads of the hospital. All members and anyone wishing to become a member are urged to be present.

Fashions to change slowly in '80s

Watergate, among other effects it had on the nation, sent skirt lengths plunging.

"Fashion designers were trying to force mid-calf lengths on women before Watergate and couldn't give them away," said Judy Gamber of Texas Christian University's home economics department. She studies fashion trends and teaches a "clothing in society" course. "After Watergate all kinds of below-knee lengths were in."

As for the coming decade, she predicted that people will move cautiously in buying clothing. "They will hold off buying as much because clothing dollars, like other dollars, are short. Fashion may not change as fast as in other periods, but just because people don't buy as many new clothes does not mean that looks won't change. They can change the looks of clothes already in the closet. And they will."

Ms. Gamber enumerated influences on fashion in the '70s other than Watergate. She mentioned the Bicentennial, hot pants, leisure suits, pantsuits and movies such as "The Great Gatsby" and "Annie Hall."

Spiced Tea Toddy Takes The Nip Out Of Winter

When the wind blows chill there's no better warmer-upper than a mug of hot spiced tea toddy. The amber clear tea is combined with apple juice, allspice, cinnamon and brown sugar, then garnished with clove-studded orange slices and long cinnamon sticks for flourish and flavor.

Nice with the toddy would be slices of fruit cake or nut bread, plus a big bowl of crisp apples and crunchy nuts.

Spiced Tea Toddy (Makes 2 quarts)

- 4 cups boiling water
- 8 teabags
- 4 cups apple juice
- 1 teaspoon ground allspice
- 4 (3-inch) cinnamon sticks
- 1/2 cup packed brown sugar
- 6 orange slices, halved and whole clove in each

Pour boiling water over teabags. Cover and let steep 5 minutes. Meanwhile, heat apple juice with allspice, cinnamon and brown sugar. Simmer 5 minutes to blend flavors. Combine with hot tea. Serve in heated mugs with orange slices and cinnamon stick muddlers if desired.

Around the County

By Jett Major
Floyd County Extension Agent

The Floyd County Junior Livestock Show Association's Board of Directors are scheduled to meet at 7:30 p.m. on Tuesday, January 8th, at the Light-house Electric Cooperative in Floydada to make preparations for the 1980 Floyd County Junior Livestock Show. Vocational agriculture teachers and county extension agents in the county will also be present at the meeting.

Anyone that would like to offer any suggestions concerning this year's county show should contact their representative directors before the meeting so that their suggestions can be discussed and acted upon by the board.

The 1979 Board of Directors are listed as follows: Ed Nutt, Weldon Pruitt, Bill Hendrix, Jerry Williams, Albert Scheele, Warren Mathis, Harold Bennett, Ray Gene Carthel, Stanley Burleson, Leslie Nixon, Kent Covington, Rob Hefflin, Kenneth Brosch, Eddie Joe Foster, Byron Brock, Larry Barbee, Tommy Assiter, Eugene Beedy, George Sparkman, Johnnye West, and James McNeill.

BRUCellosis ERADICATION PROGRAM TO BE HELD

There will be a meeting held at the Agricultural Center in Plainview on Wednesday, January 9th at 9:30 a.m. concerning the new brucellosis eradication program which is being implemented by the Texas Animal Health Commission.

These meetings are being held to provide area beef cattle producers with information about how this program will affect their operations. Any Floyd County producers interested in attending this program are invited to accompany the County Livestock Committee to Plainview. The committee will meet at the Courthouse at 8:45 a.m. on January 9th to leave for Plainview.

Feeding Rumen "Bugs" Key to Cattle Performance

When feeding cattle, producers need to know that they are actually feeding little "bugs" in the animal's rumen or stomach. These microscopic organisms turn forage into something cattle can use.

According to Dennis Herd, beef cattle specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, rumen bugs need 6 to 7 percent protein to function properly. If hay has this much protein or more, no supplemental feed is necessary for adequate microbial activity and good digestion. However, with low quality hay or forage of 3 to 4 percent crude protein, a protein supplement will increase digestion, total feed intake and daily gain.

Classes of cattle such as growing heifers, fattening cattle or cows nursing calves require protein levels of 10 to 12 percent for good production—levels above those needed by rumen bugs.

One way to determine if cattle are getting an adequate protein diet is to examine their droppings, notes the specialist. If droppings are dry and tall, it's a good sign of constipation and lack of protein in the diet.

Small amounts of supplemental phosphorus and protein stimulate these bugs and the digestion process so that mature cattle can use low quality forages that are available this time of the year. A pound of 30 to 40 percent protein supplement and a few ounces of a good salt-phosphorus mineral can change poor animal performance into acceptable maintenance performance on low quality forage.

However, young cattle do not have the digestive capacity to use low quality forage effectively. They need higher levels of protein and energy supplement, higher quality forages or both for acceptable growth rates.

Hay varies widely in feeding value, and hay from each cutting is different from every other cutting. However, hay for a single cutting is similar in protein content and digestibility. Once feeding value of a bale or two from a cutting is determined, the general value of all bales from that cutting should be similar. Since feeding values of different types of hay are going to vary widely, a forage test is essential to help determine if supplemental protein is needed and how much.

A forage analysis is a chemically determined value of the hay's protein content. A forage test provides a protein feeding value that can be used to determine feeding and supplementation needs for each class of animals fed. A forage test of each different type of hay to be used this winter will pay dividends in better animal nutrition.

For more information on how forage tests are run and where forage can be analyzed, call the Floyd County Extension Office.

THE FOREST AND YOU

This article has been prepared by Georgia-Pacific, the growth company interested in protecting our natural resources.

This seedling will become a giant using only the sun's energy. When the tree has matured, harvesting it and turning it into plywood and lumber will take a fraction of the energy needed to manufacture other building materials; only 430 kilowatt-hours per ton for lumber, compared to 2,700 kwh per ton for steel and 17,000 kwh per ton for aluminum.

In the home, the wood will save even more energy because it insulates six times better than brick, 15 times better than concrete, and 1,600 times better than aluminum. In a test comparing wood-frame and masonry homes of the same size, the wood-frame home used 23 percent less heat energy, and 30 percent less energy for air conditioning.

It would appear then, in terms of energy savings, that money can, indeed, grow on trees.

BENTSEN PLEASED Senate completes action on Beef Import Bill

The U.S. Senate last week completed congressional action on a counter-cyclical beef import bill proposed by Senator Lloyd Bentsen and sent it to the White House for the President's signature.

The counter-cyclical import quota concept was originally proposed by Bentsen in 1978, given overwhelming approval by Congress later that year, but vetoed by the President. This year Bentsen introduced a slightly modified version of his original bill in the Senate and Congressman J.J. Pickle introduced a companion measure in the House. Bentsen ultimately steered the House version through the Senate.

"In addition to agreeing to sign this modified version of the counter-cyclical beef import bill, the administration has also asked that it be passed and sent to the President as quickly as possible," Bentsen said in remarks during consideration of the legislation.

"Meat import quotas are determined and allocated among the various countries on a calendar year basis. These quotas will very shortly have to be announced for the year 1980 and the Department of Agriculture needs this legislation quickly to avoid confusion and uncertainty."

The counter-cyclical approach in the Bentsen-Pickle bill would allow fewer beef imports into this country when domestic beef supplies are abundant and more imports when domestic supplies dwindle. The pro-cyclical approach in existing law—the 1964 Meat Import Act—has the reverse effect, allowing more imports as domestic supplies increase.

The Senate approved the bill unanimously.

"This legislation will help end the wild swings that cause the cost of a pound of hamburger to go through the roof at one end of the scale and at the other end, when the bottom drop out, ranchers are forced out of business," Bentsen said.

"The current pro-cyclical formula is not good for consumers or producers. When prices are rising the 1964 Act cuts off imports and drives prices even higher. When prices fall it pushes them down further," Bentsen said.

"This new bill will provide a measure of stability in the cattle market that has long been needed. I am pleased that it has now been approved by Congress," Senator Bentsen said.

'79 Farm Bureau Wrap-up

Cooperatives
Farm organizations come in many forms. There was an attempt this year to provide guidelines for analyzing organizations. It is a common belief among agricultural producers that production can be organized in such a way as to provide for mandatory pricing of agricultural commodities. This is a fallacy as all such movements must finally rely on central government for the power to restrict and manage production in such a way as to produce a given price. Central government will never transfer complete monopolistic power to any group of producers. The government in 1979 made a determined effort to restrict some of the federal authority now exercised by marketing cooperatives.

Diary
A number of subjects were discussed with regard to the dairy industry. As the struggle continues to "stabilize" the price of dairy products, per capita consumption continues to decline and a larger part of the fresh market is being shifted to manufactured products and imports.

Significant changes were made in the milk promotion program financed by producers which may affect the pattern of dairy and dairy products consumption, distribution, profits, etc.

Education
Considerable time was devoted to the discussion of the subject of better education for less money. Interest in this subject was generated by a program at the state convention in December of 1978. Generally speaking, the conclusion is that if public education is to be improved, it will be necessary to redirect the goals in two areas: (a) basic consideration of the U.S. Constitution, reading, writing and arithmetic and (b) teaching results.

The most important subject dealt with was the creation of a U.S. Department of Education. The net results of this new department will be increased federal money tied to an ever-expanding interference with local school programs.

Still another important issue in this area was the taxation of private schools. The U.S. Congress has, for one year, at least, preserved the right of a private school to tax exempt status.

Energy Supply
There were 55 articles written with regard to energy supply, shortage, prices, management, controls, etc. The conclusion of all information available indicates that energy problems are a result of government meddling and interfering with the production, distribution and pricing of energy. These subjects include government regulations in the area of safety, environment, taxation, foreign relations and supply management.

There has been much talk about developing alternate fuels in an effort to solve some of the shortage problems. However, the central facts still prevail that substitute energy, such as alcohol, solar, synthetic, etc. will be no more successful than current energy sources, if the government is permitted to manage them.

Farm Programs
Out of the discussion of farm programs, pricing, exports, imports, and other subjects, comes the central theme; who is going to speak for agriculture? The various movements in 1979 are no different from earlier years in that agriculture producers were divided by selfish interests. For example, should grain sorghum producers be permitted to establish a fair price by a way of a federal farm program? This is a worthwhile goal, but it can never come to pass, because when the power of federal government is used to establish price, all citizens' interest, as determined by administrators, including consumers' will be considered. Those who claim to represent consumer interest made extensive progress in directing federal government action in the area of farm programs.

Field Crops
In the area of field crops, an attempt was made to report the farm program provisions of importance to producers including domestic distribution and foreign trade. Little notice was made of the fact that federally-directed wheat promotion programs got underway in 1979.

Food
The U.S. Science and Education Administration established in compliance with Public Law 95-113 a Food and Nutrition Information Educational Resource Center. The goal of the center is to direct the use of food, as determined by administrators.

Fruits and Vegetables
The big story in 1978, with regard to fruits and vegetables, seemed to be the dumping of Mexican vegetables on the American market. Government continued its movement to reduce the tariffs and trade restrictions on the U.S. side without corresponding considerations on the other side.

State Government
Most of the important news in the area of state government had to do with the amendment of the Constitution. Three amendments were considered: notary public, appointment and terms (approved); guaranty loans, farm and ranch purchases (approved); Legislature, rule-making process review agencies in executive department (failed). An additional nine constitutional amendments were approved by the state legislature and are to be submitted to voters on November 4, 1980.

U.S. Government
A great deal was written in FACTS FOR YOU this year with regard to the United States government extension into the private affairs of its citizens. As far as agriculture is concerned, the biggest news was the collective farm project. Probably the second most important advancement was the United States' establishment of an international trade commission connected with the U.S. Consumer Affairs office. This will bring foreign consumer influence on U.S. policy.

There are two U.S. Constitutional amendments under consideration by states: equal rights amendment; District of Columbia representation in Congress. Thirty-five states have approved the equal rights amendment, including Texas and six states have approved the Washington, D.C. amendment. Thirty-eight states must approve an amendment before it is added to the U.S. Constitution. Four states have attempted to withdraw their approval of the equal rights amendment. The time for approval of the equal rights amendment has been extended to June 30, 1982. The Washington, D.C. amendment deadline for state approval is August 22, 1985.

Labor
The movement to unionize agricultural labor continued to make progress in 1979. There were a few encouraging court decisions indicating some enforcement of existing law with regard to the use of union dues for purposes other than collective bargaining. Boycotts, violence and other disrupting action continued in 1979.

Research projects definitely proved that U.S. government is financing some of the labor union projects in California.

Federal Legislation
The big news is the creation of a U.S. Department of Education. The Beef Research and Information Order was developed and recommended by USDA in 1979.

Livestock
The control of brucellosis and predators were some of the most important subjects discussed. A great deal of time and effort went into the development of a new state-federal cooperative brucellosis control program which is to be released in the near future.

In summary, the battle is to keep the livestock industry free from federal management. It is getting increasingly difficult for livestock producers to trust the market place to manage their affairs when so many other areas, supplies, feeds, foreign trade, regulated by government.

Miscellaneous Subjects
A number of subjects were covered in 1979 under the general heading of miscellaneous. The farm system developed in America is the most efficient system in the world. This system will continue to dominate until government management of the agricultural industry relieves the individual of his responsibility, when it becomes unable to cooperate then to profit the family farm will be the amount of talk will preserve the

Prices In Farming
Various discussions dealing with parity seem to be most common. In summary, prices are a supply-demand situation that the consumer will ultimately determine the price level. The problem American agriculture is not the but the destruction of the money system is sound basis. For example, ounce of gold would have purchased tons of ammonia sulphate (fertilizer) in the 1935-39 period and in 1978 purchase 1.78 tons.

Religions
Religions ran rampant in 1979. As far as agriculture is concerned, it appears that churches more politics is by far the most issue. The problem is the Bible's meaning with regard to matters as labor, income, price, etc. If a church or religious organization maintained an active education program, permitting its members to participate in the determination of this situation would change. Called preachers to manage their affairs, he only told them in other religious leaders are no more interpreting world affairs, as to individuals, than any other

Socialism
Many of the subjects discussed the heading of socialism has considered under other subjects. ever, it does seem important to our readers the development of humanistic studies in the United States during 1979. There are many accepting the theory of evolution without giving thought to the proposition that a human being is a product of evolution and that values are grounded in earthliness.

Tariffs and Trade
The big item in this area was foreign trade agreements. Agreement on Tariffs and Trade summary, agreements are not tant, as their interpretation and administration. In plain English, the States continues to get the trade agreements, in that administered to the advantage of our own countries.

Taxes
State taxes was, no doubt, discussed subject among farmers and leaders in 1979. In summary, now has a revised and complete property tax law. There are changes in the property tax this is a subject local leaders to study in order to protect interests under the new law. the new code are available state office, along with the regulations developed by the state.

USDA
This is the year in which the States Department of Agriculture the world that it had manipulated agricultural production determined by the department. example is the use of agricultural program benefits, as a "encouraging" producers to with production plans, designed to conserve soil moisture, etc.

STATE RIGHT TO WORK
The National Right To Work Defense Foundation reported on December 5, 1979, that a state's work law protecting employees compulsory unionism may result in property ceded by the federal government. This by a U.S. District Court in involved a laborer on a Cape Air Force Station. This ruling seem to overturn or weaken a ruling which indicated that state work laws could not be on property ceded by state federal government.

Mama Mattie
I remember Mama So very well. Each day of her life Had a story to tell. She cared for Daddy As a good wife should do, But she also cared For Grandma, too. She did so at times When she was in pain, But she never, Never did complain. A jolly, happy person Was she, And I can still hear her Tease and laugh with glee. Memories are treasures that We have to store, And I know you have So many more. So when you are lonely And feel so sad, Think on memories and Be very glad. Her life was pleasant Her life was rare, Now she's in Heaven With no pain or care.

Texas Laws specifically states that everything of value unless it be specifically exempt by law comes within the meaning of taxable property. Courts have ruled for example that where cattle are being fed, pastured, or otherwise cared for on property owned or leased by another, the owner or leaser in responsible that the cattle be rendered properly, or he may be assessed for the cattle himself and under certain conditions applies to equip, on lease, merchandise on consignment, and almost any type of personal property, controlled by persons not the owner.
Homesteads are covered by a new law And no longer includes anything but the home, such appurtenances as are necessary for the occupation of the home, (Garage pump home, ect) and such land as may be designated (fenced or marked off) for the containment of such home and appurtenances. Must own the home, and must reside there.
To be eligible for age 65 or Disability exception the applicant must be eligible for the regular Homestead exemption as defined above.
Ag production use applicants must deduct homesteads and or other homesteads as non-production land.
All application must be completed in full detail by State Agencies they must be denied.
Forms are being mailed and are also available at the Lockney Independent School District Tax Office, corner of College and Main Street, Lockney, Texas.

SIXTY-EIGHT YEARS AGO

Sanitary bubble variety water fountains have been installed by R.D. Walls in local schools. The installation necessitates raising the water tank to get more pressure.

T.H. Yarborough returned from a Christmas trip to Amarillo and brought back a pet coon. When asked wherefore thereof, he declared that he had to have something to love.

Jess Shurbert left Tuesday with a load of mules for Henrietta, where he will dispose of the bunch.

Wagon sheets are available at Charlie Jones Hardware.

It has been suggested that ladies in Floyd County who sell eggs, butter, milk and produce, should keep books on their shelf. This would give each lady an idea of what her neighbor is doing and would also give her a revelation of the outside world in this line.

Deaths

Malcolm Turner rites held

Funeral services for life-long resident William Malcolm Turner, 59, were conducted on Monday, December 31, 1979 at 3:30 p.m. in the Flomot Baptist Church. Officiating were the Rev. Sid Parsley, pastor of the United Methodist Church in Lorenzo, and Rev. Jesse Hodge, a Methodist minister from Hereford. Burial was in the Flomot Memorial Park under direction of Seigler Funeral Home of Matador.

American Viewpoints

There are many forms of success, many forms of triumph. But there is no other success that in any shape or way approaches that which is open to most of the many men and women who have the right ideals.

Theodore Roosevelt

WHAT'S NEW

Plywood I-Beam

The Residential TJI-Beam is half as light as a 2x10 but is said to be stronger. It's made by gluing two laminated flanges to a 3/8-inch wood plywood web.
