Floyd County appraisal board holds first official meeting at courthouse

The Floyd County Appraisal Board met in the commissioners' chamber Wednesday morning to elect officers and discuss the contracts with the two reappraisal companies.

The board elected Travis Jones as chairman and Tom Duvall as secretary-treasurer.

Jim McMorries, of the Hereford appraisal company, explained to the board ways that agricultural land could be valued for tax purposes. Valuation could be determined on choice farmland and the tax schedules factored in for lower-graded land.

Floydada merchant David Kirk appeared before the board to question McMorries on the policy toward appraising commercial inventories.

McMorries said that he would appraise on an average of 85 percent of the market value of the inventories, excluding certificates of deposit and other bank accounts and farmer-owned grain stored in an elevator. Commercial elevator operators would have to pay tax on grain in their elevators, but cooperatives would not, the appraiser said.

McMorries did agree with Kirk that it was necessary to keep the evaluations as low as possible.

The board stressed the point that it was important to remember that taxes assessed by each of the 10 taxing entities in the county would be based on the same valuation under the new law.

While there is still resistance to the so-called tax relief amendment, indications from board members were that people would go along with the taxation system as long as valuation was done on an equitable basis.

The appraisal board agreed to hire someone to evaluate personal property in the county and to appoint a board of equalization, a duty formerly performed by the commissioners' court.

Boyd Latham received tentative confirmation of a contract with the board to handle the industrial appraisal in the county.

Latham quoted a price of $7,500 for this service. The most likely method of splitting the cost among the different entities would be the same formula that was used to pay McMorries, the members agreed.

Under Senate Bill 621, a new appraisal would have to be undertaken every five years, with maintenance evaluations being made on new facilities that come into service each year.

The board members and McMorries began a round of appearances Wednesday to local groups and communities to explain the new tax appraisal system.

Attending the meeting were board members Travis Jones, Tom Duvall, Eddie Teeter and Jack Lackey. County judge Choise Smith also sat in on the conference.

City gives tentative approval to 10 percent pay hike

A scheduled public meeting on a proposed cable television cost increase opened and closed within moments when not a single citizen appeared to comment at Tuesday night's city council session.

"Several people asked me about it and I thought for sure someone would show up," commented Floydada mayor Parnell Powell.

After Powell declared the meeting closed, the council unanimously approved the Television Signal Service Co. The council approved a $1 increase in monthly service charges and a $5 increase in the installation fee for additional outlets.

The councilmen agreed to hold a special session next Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. to award a contract for paving work on South Eighth Street. Regulations require that the contract be awarded no fewer than seven nor more than 30 days from the bid opening.

High Plains Pavers, of Plainview, turned in the only bid. The company proposed to complete the whole six blocks for $74,289.40 and to deduct $11,000 for each block that the council opted not to pave.

By adding an estimated $1,400 of city money to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development grant, the council noted that four of the six blocks could be paved. The total area for improvement might have been lower had not HUD allowed the city to use the contingency fund along with the regular paving funds to pay for the project.

For the third time, the council sat to open bids for the materials, labor and erection of electrical lines and power substation facilities for the city electric power department.

A $342,436.66 bid from the J.W. Buck Construction Co., of Lubbock, beat out bids from companies from Plainview, San Antonio and Rockwall.

The councilmen agreed to award the bid at next Tuesday's special session. At that time, the council will decide whether to try and finance the entire construction or to delay installation of a transformer until the job is nearer to completion. Delaying the transformer installation would lower the initial construction cost to the city.

City engineer Bill McMorries received authorization from the council to advertise for bids on sealing streets with tar and gravel during 1980. The city had budgeted $40,000 for this expense.

As long as there is enough money in city accounts, city employees can look forward to a 10 percent, across-the-board pay increase sometime early this year. The council approved the pay raise but couldn't put it into immediate effect until they confer with the city manager on if the money was available. City manager Bill Feuerbacher reportedly had worked the increase into the budget but the council didn't know exactly what Feuerbacher had planned.

The council passed over a HUD request that two additional members from the target area be named to the neighborhood improvement committee. The council had contacted two area women about serving on the committee but both reportedly refused.

The council also declined to take action on purchasing a new trash truck and the problem of how to deal with city propertyowners who refused to keep their lots mowed.

The council tacitly agreed that they did need another side-loading truck to get in and out of the alleys more quickly. They decided to wait until the city manager was back at work to make a final decision on the matter.

On the lot-mowing question, mayor Powell told the council that there had been "problems this year" with some property owners who did not mow their lots.

City attorney Bill Kincaid expressed the opinion that the council could, under city statute, charge the propertyowners for city personnel to mow the alleys.

"If they refuse to pay, it puts you in the same position as if they didn't pay their taxes," Kincaid told the councilmen and mayor.

He added that some propertyowners had said that they would welcome paying for a city crew to do the work.

In a related matter, the council agreed to explore the possibility of leasing city land near the airport.

Mrs. Stewart reported that delinquent tax collections were coming steadily but slowly. Larry Brandon, the tax attorney, was preparing a dozen suits currently and had plans to file another 12 suits in about three months, Mrs. Stewart said.

Councilman Jerry Thompson, who is also mayor pro-tem, received authorization to sign city checks in the absence of Bill Feuerbacher.

The council also agreed to get in line for possible grants for equipment for the city police department by sending in the necessary application forms.

Police chief Scott Newton asked the city to apply for the grants to buy additional lenses for the department camera, a set of night-vision binoculars and a crime site search kit. Cost of the equipment was estimated at $1,200, with the city to pay 25 percent of that total under the grant.

City manager reported to be stable in area hospital

City manager Bill Feuerbacher is in stable condition at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock after suffering a heart attack last week, according to Floydada mayor Parnell Powell.

Mayor Powell told the convened city council that Feuerbacher had withstood the trip from Floydada to Lubbock well and was resting. Powell also assured the councilmen that Feuerbacher was being treated by highly trained personnel and was attended by sophisticated coronary equipment.

Apparently, as the mayor said, the attack was concentrated in the front part of Feuerbacher's heart and had blocked an essential artery.

City secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart read a note of appreciation from Mrs. Norma Feuerbacher to the council expressing her appreciation for their support during her husband's illness.

Incumbent Floyd County sheriff Fred Cardinal Tuesday announced that he was a candidate for re-election to his first full term in that office.

Cardinal, a former deputy sheriff and farmer, was appointed and elected two years ago to fill Bud Rainey's unexpired term.

Cardinal is a member of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce. His wife, Polly, is an English teacher at Floydada High School. Their son, Louis Reid, is a Department of Public Safety trooper at Post.

The Cardinals attend the First United Methodist Church in Floydada.

Standing on his past record, the sheriff pledged to maintain law and order in the county if re-elected.

Becker, 59, farms land in the Sandhill and Barwise communities.

The candidate told the Hesperian that he was persuaded by friends to join the race for commissioner.

Becker was raised in Slaton. He moved to Floydada from Levelland in 1954 with his wife, Libbie. The couple have six children Robbie, Sam, Kelly, Barbara, Larry Schneider and Joan Gindorf.

Becker is a member of the Farmers Home Administration. The family belongs to Grace Lutheran Church of Slaton.

Nutt withdraws from county race

An early contender for the precinct one county commissioner spot Wednesday morning announced his decision to withdraw from the race.

Edwin Nutt made his decision not to campaign after reviewing the effects that being a candidate would have on his family and business.

Nutt said that with children in school, holding public office could interfere with his responsibilities as a parent as well as make it more difficult to operate his business.

"Most of all, it wouldn't be fair to the county since I wouldn't have enough time to devote to the job," Nutt said. "This isn't a pop-up thing. I've been considering it for the past three months."

The former candidate thanked everyone for their encouraging words and telephone calls of support.

SOMETIMES, WHEN YOU'RE STILL RELATIVELY NEW TO A PLACE, you learn the hard way that you've still got a lot to learn.

The other day I was strolling blithely across Missouri Street and leaped the curb only to almost impale myself on a four-foot concrete obelisk in the middle of the sidewalk. Who put that thing there and what the heck is it?

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT OF LEARNING NEW THINGS, I don't envy the members of the newly-formed county tax appraisal board one little bit.

They serve without pay to try and make a system that they are suspicious of into a workable pattern. And when a citizen disagrees with how his property is appraised who do you think will get the flack? Just guess.

WE AT THE HESPERIAN WERE PLEASED TO LEARN THAT city manager Feuerbacher is resting in the hospital after his heart attack. One look at the city business that had to be passed over at Tuesday's meeting shows how much the city depends on that tireless worker. We join with the rest of the Floydada-area community in wishing Feuerbacher a speedy recovery.

IT'S JUST MY OPINION, BUT farmers should be wary of being used as campaign pawns by candidates opposed to the president. Candidates of both parties have attacked the grain export ban on wheat shipments to the Soviet Union as an unjustifiable hardship on the agricultural community. The same persons also say the ban will force hardship on the taxpayers who must pay for government purchases of the wheat.

I can't disagree that the farmer, as has been the case since a small group of farmers delayed a British advance in the early days of the war for independence, will bear a large part of the brunt of the president's resistance to Soviet expansion that threatens to cut the Asian continent in half.

But if we use the non-military weapons at our disposal, perhaps Floyd County boys won't have to use M-16s in Afghanistan or Pakistan.

The American agriculture industry is one of our nation's greatest strengths, but all that power isn't any good if we can't use it to defend our ideals.

Floyd Philosopher talks about TV hokum and finds a new reason for conserving our oil

Dear editor: Frequently the commercials on TV are much better than the programs they're interrupting, so much so that you get the notion the programs are interrupting the commercials.

But like the programs, some commercials specialize in hokum. For example there's one advertising a computer, an item I've never been much interested in buying—I don't need a computer to tell me when to throw another log on the fire. It claims it's fighting inflation and says that if the price of a hamburger had dropped as much proportionately as the price of that computer in the last 25 years, a hamburger would now cost 5 cents. What it fails to mention is that if a hamburger 25 years ago had cost as much as that computer then did, hamburgers would have cost $150 apiece.

Second prize for hokum goes to the car manufacturers who claim their cars go further on a tank of gas, mentioning that perhaps these are bigger. One claims that an extra tank you can go halfway to the United States without filling. Everybody talks about conserving gas but nobody seems to know how to do it, except to drive less, which is unthinkable. The problem is more serious than people realize because the earth turns on its axis around every twenty-four hours. Right? All right. Now if we pump oil out, what's going to happen? Why the earth, without any attention, is going to start squeaking won't be able to sleep at night. And already the dip stick we're two quarts low. Meanwhile, to change the oil the United Nations can't do anything about the Iranian situation, consider taking it up with the... Yours...

Nutt declines to run

"Perhaps I might run in the future, when the kids are older," Nutt commented.

"But it's better to withdraw now and give others a chance to consider running for the office," he said.

Nutt chose not to endorse any other candidate, freeing his supporters to vote however they wished.

Nutt concluded by apologizing for any inconvenience his decision might have caused anyone and said he hoped that his original announcement did not deter other possible candidates from seeking the office.

Annual Boy Scout finance drive set for Floydada this month

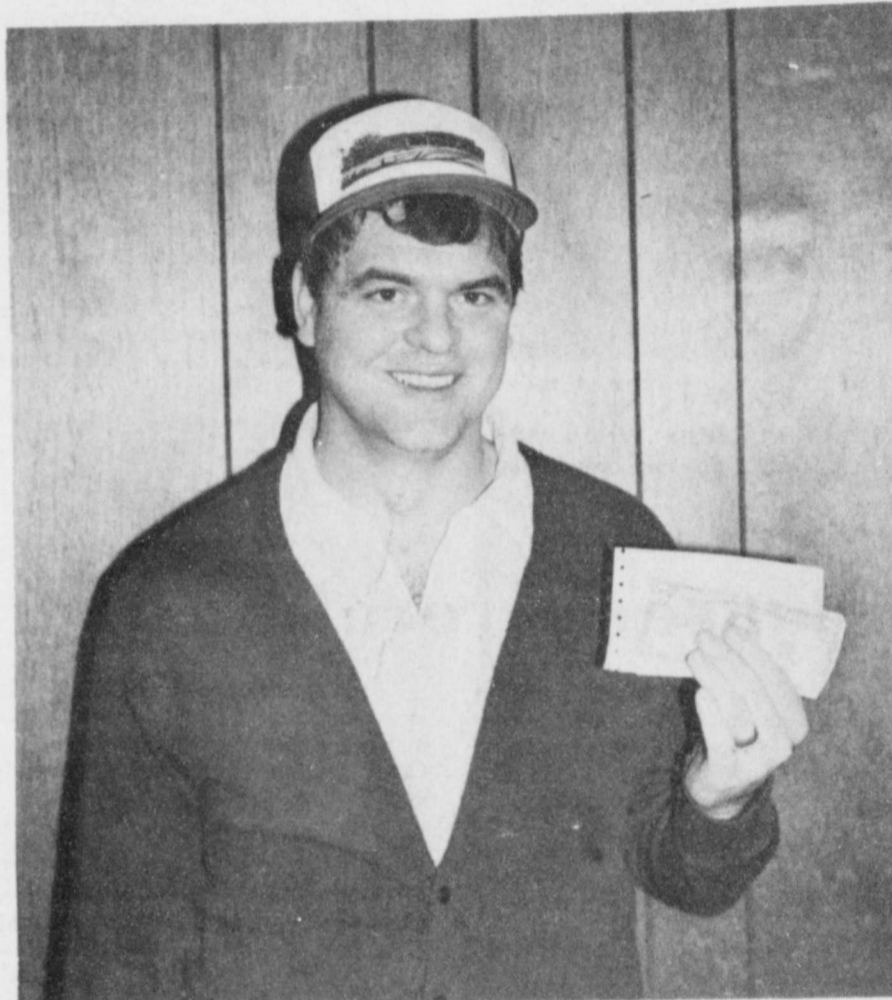

Members of the Floydada Lions and Rotary Clubs, along with other friends of Scouting in the city area, will be calling on individuals and businesses in the coming days for support of the annual finance drive for the Boy Scouts of American in our area, according to Ed Wester, the local postmaster and drive chairman.

Wester pointed out that a boy in scouting costs only $25 a year to support, while a boy in the state correctional system costs more than $2,000 each year to support. A donation to the Scouts is an investment in youth and a great saving to the taxpayer, Wester noted.

Floydada has two Boy Scout troops and two Cub Scout packs. Jim Word is scoutmaster of Troop 357, sponsored by the Lions. Wilson Bond is scoutmaster of Troop 355 and Pack 355, sponsored by the Rotarians. Mark Wideman is soon to resign from leading pack 357. More than a hundred scouts and their leaders participate in local scouting.

The goal for the Floydada area has been set at $3,600. Contributions may be left with Wester at the Post Office or with Jimmy Willson at Builders' Mart.

Minimum wage increases to $3.10 an hour

The federal minimum wage increased from $2.90 an hour to $3.10 an hour, effective Jan. 1, according to the U.S. Department of Labor.

More than 5 million of the 57 million workers covered by the Fair Labor Standards Act are eligible for pay increases because of the change. These are workers covered by the act who make less than $3.10 an hour. The Jan. 1 change in the minimum wage was provided for in 1977 amendments to the FLSA.

Jerry Boudreaux, a Texas Employment Commission statistician in Lubbock, said that the agricultural orientation of Floyd County makes it difficult to estimate how many people in the county were affected by the increase in the minimum wage.

"Assuming that there are persons in the Floyd County labor force an estimate of 350 of those affected by the new wage would ball park figure," Boudreaux said in the Hesperian Monday. "It can't be determined exactly because the agricultural representation could considerably or raise that figure."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—One of his fellow Republicans last week warned Gov. Bill Clements to keep a "strong nose count" of votes in the legislature before calling his promised special session on wiretapping, initiative and referendum and any other issues.

Houston State Rep. Chase Untermeyer said his recent poll of his conservative district showed overwhelming public apathy on the governor's targeted issues.

Untermeyer is the first Republican to publicly caution Clements, who has repeated his promise to call lawmakers back to Austin in either March or September.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby and House Speaker Bill Clayton have also publicly warned Clements there is no strong backing in the Legislature to spend extra tax dollars with a special session. Clements has called tax reform, I&R, and wiretapping "three super issues" on which Republican candidates could run and win in 1980.

Untermeyer said his poll showed constituents in favor of the issues, but the 1.3 percent questionnaire response showed little public concern.

Mortgage Rate Hike
Representatives of Texas savings and loan institutions are predicting interest rates on home loans will float to over 13 percent following enactment of a federal law last week which removes rate caps in all states.

The law suspends all rate ceilings for 90 days. Texas has a 12 percent cap after the last Legislature raised it from 20 percent.

Jerry L. Knippa, president of the Texas Savings and Loan League, said for Texas in 100 years and no one really knows what will happen, but other lobbyists predicted the rates will seek their own level between 13 to 14 percent.

More Blackeden Beaches
Texas beaches could become more polluted than last summer unless the runaway Ixtoc 1 oil well is capped soon, a federal oceanographer warned last week.

Dr. John Robinson of the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration said there is a 30 percent chance the oil still flowing into Mexico's Campeche will wash up in concentrations on Texas beaches between Brownsville and Port Aransas this spring.

The daily flow is estimated by 2,000 to 50,000 barrels from the well which blew out June 3, 1979.

More Retirements
Two House committee chairmen announced last week they will resign in reelection, raising to 16 the number of members who are quitting.

Representatives Ben Grant, D-Correll, and Forrest Green, D-Correll, both said they were quitting because they had been in office long enough. Grant is chairman of Judiciary Committee and Green heads the Agriculture and Livestock Committee.

Aid to Victims
Starting Jan. 1, the state will cash to victims of violent crimes injuries caused financial hardship. A new law is one passed by the Legislature, and convicted criminals not taxpayers, provide the funds. Criminals will contribute in amounts to the new Crime Victims Compensation Fund, and victims and their survivors can apply to the Industrial Accident Board for help.

AG Opinions
In legal opinions issued last week, Attorney General Mark White said—Justices of the peace may establish benches and thereby sit in another outside of their precinct when expedient.

—The commissioners court of Floyd County is authorized by law to use proceeds for construction of additional existing juvenile detention facility for the construction of new facilities such purpose.

—The performance of an autopsy by military doctors on the body of a found off-base would not be violative of the federal posse comitatus statute.

Varsity Whirlettes prepare for district play, defeating Patton Springs and Christ the King

The Floydada Varsity girls basketball team will begin district play Friday night pitted against the defending district champions, the Lockney Lady Hornets. The game will be in Floydada beginning at 6:30 and will be followed by the Varsity boys game.

Hopes are high as the Whirlettes enter district play with an impressive record (14 wins and 2 losses, at press time). Coach Tommy Baxter said that the district is probably the toughest competition in the area, with Lockney and Abernathy picked as pre-district favorites.

Scoring for the Whirlettes were Rosemary Barnes, 13; Kelli Ferguson and Susan Turner, 10; Kelly Higginbotham and Debra Alfaro, 8; Amy Jones and Janet Pleasant, 4; Nora Black, 3; and Karen Turner, 2.

Friday in Lubbock, Floydada out-basketed Christ the King, 44 to 25, with LaQuita Davis scoring 14 points, Rosemary Barnes, 12; Debra Alfaro, 6; Nora Black, Kelli Ferguson and Julianne Lipham, each with 4.

Basketball was supposed to be a non-contact sport

The man who designed basketball to be a safe, non-contact sport never dreamed that players one day would be endangered by flying chunks of glass from backboards broken by dunk shots. But this is not basketball's only problem.

Players who could not dunk a basketball in a washtub face some of the same hazards professionals do because of hazards present in the game ever since the ball first plopped into the peach basket originally used for a hoop.

Beginners and skilled players may share the same injuries because being out of shape makes amateurs open to injury while pros may crumble after years of extremely intensive physical stress.

Fortunately many injuries can be prevented by proper training, good shoes and other equipment, and by taking care of minor injuries before they get worse.

Sprained ankles and knees, two of the most common injuries, can be avoided somewhat by wearing high-top shoes to help ankles and doing exercises to improve strength and flexibility of these joints. These measures are especially important if a person has had previous sprains and strains.

Besides high-tops to help ankles, other important shoe characteristics include a good fit and tread that will provide traction without stopping the player too abruptly. Shoes that grab too suddenly can strain ankles, knees and other leg parts that undergo stress in basketball anyway.

People in poor physical condition and tired players may be injured more easily so being in good shape is important. Some studies recommend about four to six weeks of exercises and drills to build up strength, endurance, flexibility and general basketball skills before the season starts. Most players are injured in practice so common sense, good warming up and proper equipment are necessary at all times.

Some injuries are not as easily avoidable as sprains and strains. Bruises, cuts and cracked bones are some of the problems that may occur unexpectedly since the "non-contact" game of basketball has changed. Since there is no way to avoid occasional falls and body contact, TMA says proper care after injuries is the best way to cope with them. Taking care of an injury as soon as it occurs will put the player back in full participation sooner than playing while in pain and perhaps requiring an injury which will then require more extensive treatment.

As the number of female players increases, a controversy about possible injuries to them has arisen. Some theories say that a woman's wider hips make her more prone to hip and knee injuries than men are. Supposedly the wide pelvis puts women's knees at angles more susceptible to injury.

ROCK THROWERS caused a big mess early Tuesday morning when they attacked a plate-glass window and doors at the sheriff's/police/justice of peace office in Lockney. The vandals' missiles didn't go through this safety glass window at the front of the building but shattered the window beyond use. Three of the four front windows were destroyed, as well as the glass door and window on the north side of the building. One front window and the front door were not broken. The Lockney police department is investiga-

Stenholm announces as candidate for second term in legislature

Stamford, Texas — Citing mounting tension in the middle east as a prime example of the need for increased United States preparedness as the top priority in the 1980s, Congressman Charles W. Stenholm announced his plans Tuesday to run for his second term of office.

Stenholm told supporters he was committed to a stronger defense position that could "leave no doubt in any nation's mind of America's resolve to defend our hard-won freedoms."

Stenholm, 41, was elected to Congress following the retirement of long-time Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson. He serves on the House Agriculture Committee and was recently named to the House Small Business Committee. A native of Jones County, he graduated from Tarleton State University in 1959 and in 1961 received his BS degree from Texas Tech University. The following year he earned his MS in Agriculture Education at Texas Tech.

Outlining his overall views, Stenholm said he had "every confidence in our system of government and I am optimistic about the second session of the 96th Congress." He stressed the elimination of deficit spending as another primary goal and emphasized his intentions "to continue to do all that is possible to cut any unnecessary federal spending."

"The true test of a good Congressman however is knowing where to cut — knowing what is unnecessary fat and what is real muscle. In the case of national defense, we are dealing with the backbone of our country," he emphasized.

Miss Glenda Cooper and Archie Jones were married December 28 in the First Baptist Church of Lockney. Reverend John Jenkins officiated at the 7 p.m. double-ring ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Glen R. Cooper of Lockney, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Jones, also of Lockney.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of peau de soie and lace, designed with a fitted bodice, scalloped neckline and bouffant skirt. The skirt terminated in a chapel train. The fingertip veil was trimmed with wide lace and was attached to a crown of lace. She carried a nosegay of gardenias and white roses entwined among ivy, baby's breath and holly, tied with pink and burgandy streamers, and atop a Bible belonging to Mrs. Dub Mercer.

As something old, the bride wore a gold ring belonging to the bride's grandfather, Mr. Otis Purcell of Albuquerque, New Mexico. The ring, as had the wedding gown, had been worn by all three granddaughters of Mr. and Mrs. Purcell at each of their weddings. "Something new" was a gold and pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom; "something borrowed" was the veil, belonging to the bride's cousin. Mrs. David Love of Albuquerque; and "something blue" was a garter.

Matron of honor was Nelda Figueroa of Albuquerque, New Mexico, and bridesmaids were Linda Jones of Lockney and Diane Barnes of Duncanville. Bridal attendants wore floor-length dresses of satin knit with floral sheer cape collars, carried votive candles set among holly wreaths and wore pink silk flowers in their hair.

Candlelighters Tracey and Leslie Figueroa, flower girl Sammie Cooper, and guest registrar Greta Cooper of Houston, were dressed in floor-length pink satin knit dresses with floral cape collars. They wore wristlets of pixie pink carnations.

Rodney Edwards of Lockney was best man. Groomsmen were Tim Cooper and David Lewis.

Ushers were Johnny and Bobby Jones and Terry and Teddy Cooper.

The wedding scene was decorated with two candlebra trees standing on each side of a taper-arch. The windows were decorated with candles and holly.

Music was provided by organist Margorie Ferguson and pianist, Ann Race. Soloists were Tim Cooper, Monty Richards and Stacie Layton.

Reception
Following the wedding ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall of the church. A three-tiered cake trimmed with burgandy and pink flowers graced the bride's table, which was set with a crystal service. Serving at the bride's table were Mrs. O.C. Love and Mrs. Dean Purcell, aunts of the bride, of Albuquerque.

Mrs. Ted Cooper, sister-in-law of the bride of Houston, presided at the groom's table, serving the chocolate cake which was shaped like wedding bands. The cake was made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Ross Cooper.

Assisting with the reception were Meses. Jeff Terrell, Dub Mercer, Tom Marr, Kenneth Murdock, Tom Duval and Eugene Owens.

Wedding Trip
Following a wedding trip

MRS. ARCHIE JONES

to Carlsbad Caverns, New Mexico, the couple are living in Lockney, where the bride is employed by the Lockney Independent School District and the groom, by Ansley and Son. Both are graduates of Lockney High School.

Bridal Courtesy
A bridal luncheon was held in the home of Mrs. Kenneth Watson. Sharing hostess duties were Mrs. Hazel Johnson and Mrs. Judy Schacht.

The camera club is a new organization (the first meeting was held in November) which tries to offer "something for everybody" in photography, from the Instamatic snapshotter to the advanced amateur and professional photographer.

More member slide shows, print exhibitions and programs are planned for future meetings, as well as special programs from Eastman Kodak and area professionals. Club members have also talked about sponsoring photography field trips next spring and summer.

Paul Radloff pledges Alpha Phi Omega

Paul Radloff, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Radloff, 510 W. Missouri, Floydada, was one of 17 students who recently pledged the Alpha Phi Omega fraternity at the University of Dubuque. Radloff is a graduate of Floydada High School.

Alpha Phi Omega is a national service fraternity. It was organized at the University of Dubuque in 1965. The fraternity promotes high academic and social standards, with an emphasis on service to the school and community.

Highlighting the fraternity's projects is the annual Red Cross blood drive held on the UD campus. Pledges participate in an initiation period when they familiarize themselves with the policies of the group and become acquainted with their fraternity brothers.

The University of Dubuque is an independent liberal arts college and graduate theological seminary with a combined coeducational enrollment of 1,200 students. Undergraduates at the University of Dubuque may choose from more than 30 majors and pre-professional areas of study offered by the Presbyterian-related college. There are seven social fraternities and sororities and a service sorority on the UD campus, in addition to the Alpha Phi Omega.

OUR INFLATED FUTURE

A Hershey bar for over $1, a Baskin-Robbins ice-cream cone for $1.76, the Sunday New York Times for $2.88, a head of lettuce for $2.12, and $17,460 for a year's tuition at Harvard? Yes, indeed. These horrible prices will come to pass by 2001 if we have an annual inflation rate of 6 percent. (That rate is conservative, incidentally; last year it was 9 percent.)

Before you throw up your hands, remember that people in 1959 would have reacted with similar horror to projections of today's prices. There are also reasons to believe that future prospects are not as bleak as they first appear. For one thing, we should find ways to make things more cheaply. Then, too, ways will be found to make things last longer. We may also find ourselves doing with less in some areas — by extending ground beef with soybeans, for example, or by accepting shrunken versions of standard sizes.

But keep in mind that, in 2001, you'll probably be making a good deal more money. If your total family income is now between $20,000 and $23,000 then by 2001, you should be raking in at least $77,000 a year. Quite enough, I think, to afford a $1.76 Baskin-Robbins ice-cream cone.

	1979 Price	2001 Price
House	65,000.00	234,000.00
Apartment (per month)	500.00	1,800.00
Double room at Holiday Inn	40.00	88.00
Ford Fairmont (list, stripped)	4,190.00	15,084.00
Annual tuition at Harvard	4,850.00	17,460.00
Johannie Walker Red (5th)	8.99	32.66
True cigarettes	.60	2.16
Movie admission	3.50	12.60
Orchestra ticket, Broadway Show	.80	2.88
New York Times (Sunday)	.60	2.16
Bus fare	1.00	3.60
Big Mac	.49	1.76
Baskin-Robbins ice cream cone	.30	1.08
Hershey bar	1.99	7.16
Folger's coffee (1 lb.)	.20	.72
Campbell's tomato soup	.59	2.12
Wonder Bread (1 lb.)	.20	.72

Figures are based on an average inflation rate of 6 percent each year until 2001. This information was taken from Next magazine.

Robert Cortinas receives associate pastor appointment

Robert Cortinas, deacon of St. Mary Magdalen's Catholic Church in Floydada, was appointed associate pastor of the Sacred Heart Church of Petersburg, and its mission church, St. Isidore in Abernathy, effective January 1, 1980.

The appointment was made by the order of the Administrator's Office by Fr. Norbert G. Kuehler, Chancellor of the Amarillo Diocese. Cortinas is the first deacon to be appointed an associate pastor of the Amarillo Diocese. Until Cortinas was named to the post of associate pastor, Sacred Heart Church and St. Isidore were without a priest or deacon.

Cortinas was ordained along with 33 other candidates, October 9, 1977 by the late Bishop Lawrence DeFalco of the Amarillo Diocese, at Our Lady of Grace Church in Lubbock. These were the first men to be ordained in this diocese as deacons. Cortinas is employed by the Tye Co. of Lockney. He and his wife Angelita and children Janie, Robert Jr., Angie, David and Danny reside at 700 Thornton Street in Floydada.

Cortinas will serve in Floydada on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, and on Wednesday, Friday and Saturday will minister to Petersburg and Abernathy.

Before the U.S. symbol was Uncle Sam, it was Brother Jonathan since President Washington often consulted Gov. Jonathan Turnbull of Connecticut.

Texas Laws specifically states that everything of value unless it be specifically exempt by law comes within the meaning of taxable property. Courts have ruled for example that where cattle are being fed, pastured, or otherwise cared for on property owned or leased by another, the owner or leaser is responsible that the cattle be rendered properly, or he may be assessed for the cattle himself and under certain conditions applies to equip. on lease, merchandise on consignment, and almost any type of personal property, controlled by persons not the owner. Homesteads are covered by a new law And no longer includes anything but the home, such appliances as are necessary for the occupation of the home, (Garage pump home, ect) and such land as may be designated (fenced or marked off) for the containment of such home and appliances. Must own the home, and must reside there.

To be eligible for age 65 or Disability exception the applicant must be eligible for the regular Homestead exemption as defined above. Ag production use applicants must deduct homesteads and other homesties as non-production land.

All application must be completed in full detail by State Agencies they must be denied. Forms are being mailed and are also available at the Lockney Independent School District Tax Office, corner of College and Main Street, Lockney, Texas.
