Lions Radio Day Set For Saturday

The annual Floydada Lions Club Radio Day is scheduled for Saturday, March 29, on KFLP Radio, according to Lion President Bob Copeland. David T. Seay is Radio Day chairman.

Floydada retailers have purchased commercial time for the day and all proceeds from these sales will go to support various Floydada Lions Club projects. KFLP radio has donated the use of their broadcast facilities.

Broadcasting will begin at 7 a.m. and continue until 6 p.m. Lions will serve as disc jockeys and commercial announcers. Attempts will be made to fill musical requests from the listening audience throughout the day, but according to Lion Copeland, no one is promising anything.

Radio Day is one of several fund-raising projects conducted each year by the Floydada Lions Club to raise proceeds for several community projects. The club has provided support for local scouting programs, youth baseball, eyeglasses for children, the public library, and various other community needs. They also provide support for the Lions Crippled Childrens Camp, the Diabetes Camp, and Lions Eye Bank.

"Floydada Lions Club and Lions International are appreciative of the support provided every year by the citizens of Floydada," said Copeland. "Without your help, we would not be able to carry on many of the projects that we are able to provide."

Persons having extra pairs of eyeglasses that are no longer being used are asked to bring those glasses by the KFLP studio at 124 W. California on Saturday, or to give them to a Lions club member.

Local Residents To Receive Questionnaire

According to the U.S. Department Of Commerce Bureau of Census, your household, and all others in the area, will receive something in the mail this Friday, a questionnaire from the U.S. Bureau of the Census for the 1980 Census of Population and Housing.

District manager of the census urges that you watch for the large white envelope with blue lettering. The census questionnaire for your household will be delivered by address, not on the basis of name. Below the address will be a telephone number to call if help is needed in answering any questions. With the questionnaire will be a yellow instruction guide that gives examples on how to fill out, and a brown, pre-addressed, postage-paid envelope for mailing it back.

The 1980 census symbol — a pencil inscribed "April 1" filling in the zero of "Census '80" — appears on the envelope with this message: "This envelope contains your official census form. Please fill it out and mail it back on Tuesday, April 1."

The manager asks that you pay particular attention to his message, because April 1 is Census Day, the day of the official count of the U.S. population. That is why it is essential that every questionnaire list all persons in the household on that day, and does not list anyone who moved away or died a day or so before, but does not include anyone who just moved in, or a baby born on that day. The mother and baby are to be listed even if they are in the hospital.

The manager suggests that filling out the census form be made a family project, with everyone supplying the correct information about themselves. Be sure to mark your answers with a black lead pencil, so if you make a mistake, you can erase it.

Quilantan, Quiroz Die In Pickup Crash Near Idalou

Two men were killed early Saturday when the driver of the pickup truck they were in apparently lost control on a curve, sheared a utility pole, and burst into flames in U.S. 62 about two miles east of Idalou.

The driver, Daniel Quiroz, 19, of Petersburg, and a Floydada native, was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

Johnny Manuel Quilantan, 22, of Floydada was also pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

Quilantan was employed at Piggly Wiggly in Floydada and was a member of the Catholic church.

He was married to Carmen Morales November 15, 1977 in Floydada.

Members of the Idalou fire and police departments, the Lubbock County sheriffs office and Emergency Medical Services assisted Trooper Richard Adenbrook of the Department of Public Safety at the accident scene.

Adenbrook reported that it took authorities almost an hour to remove the bodies, which were both burned beyond recognition.

The vehicle, which was traveling northeast, overturned after shearing the utility pole, DPS reported.

Addenbrook said authorities are not sure whether the pickup truck caught fire when it hit the utility pole or whether electrical wires which fell on the truck started the blaze.

Warning To Speeders

"Warning!!!" If you are a driver who is violating the 55 MPH speed law, you may be caught and required to appear in court," stated Major C. W. Bell, commanding officer of Region 5 of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Major Bell announced recently that an active enforcement program is being directed at the deliberate and determined law violator who seeks to defeat the enforcement efforts of the 55 MPH speed law by employing police scanners, radar detectors and CB radios.

Major Bell said, "Our troopers are going to be aggressive and will work radar in unmarked vehicles as well as black and whites." He stated that all legal means available will be used to make the radar unit more effective.

He stated that there are several reasons for this special effort. One reason he gave was the 4,000 plus deaths which occurred on Texas streets and highways last year. He said, "The

Floydada Expresses Feeling About

Saturday Mail Service

In accordance with President Carter's proposed budget cut the House Budget Committee voted to recommend elimination of Saturday mail deliveries as one of President Carter's steps toward achieving the first balanced federal budget in 12 years.

The committee approved the recommendation by voice vote despite statements from some members that the Saturday mail proposal might be defeated when it reaches the House floor.

As part of his overall package to cut $15.9 billion in spending in fiscal 1981, committee Chairman Robert N. Giaimo, D. from Conn., said $836 million could be saved by ending Saturday deliveries and trimming subsidies for bulk mail.

The panel's recommendation, however, does not mean that Saturday mail deliveries will definitely end. The proposal, even if approved by the full Congress, would not be binding on the U.S. Postal Service, which conceivably could raise rates or make other cuts to achieve the savings.

The Hesperian did a phone survey to get the reaction of some local residents toward a possible loss of Saturday mail delivery.

RICHARD HALE, Floydada businessman, "Wouldn't bother me at all, if it will save some money!"

NANCY WILLSON, secretary, homemaker, civic worker - "I think it would be fine for homes, but disastrous for businesses!"

KERRY KIRK, of Kirk & Sons, "I don't think it's a good idea. I don't like the idea of cutting the budget by cutting mail service. Lots of people work 6 days a week why can't they?"

SUE MOORE, owner, manager of Sue's Accessories & Gifts, "I don't like it very well. Going two days without mail service would be difficult, but if that's what it takes to balance the budget, it would be fine."

G.W. GILBREATH, owner of Gilbreath Exxon, "Lots of times I need

Saturday mail, but I'm closed now on Saturday, and it probably won't bother me too much."

PAUL WESTBROOK, manager of Floydada Nursing Home, "If it will save tax money, I think it's great!"

ED WESTER, local postmaster, "I have mixed emotions. I feel like there are other places President Carter could cut the budget. We could make a savings, though, if this happened."

RAY McDONALD, owner of McDonald Implements, "I don't think we need another rate increase of any kind. The inconvenience won't bother me. However, I believe it will knock some people out of badly needed income."

Local Women Learn About Co-op Branded Foods At Corpus Christi Meeting

"What are some of the ways you assist your husband in his work as a cooperative manager or director?" program directors Billy Conner and Tommy Engelke asked those attending the special session for women at the recent cooperative manager-director conference in Corpus Christi.

In a get-acquainted activity, the program leaders asked each woman to interview five other women in the room — with whom she was not previously acquainted — and write down answers to the above question. The group then shared some of the answers such as serving as "a sounding board for ideas and frustrations," and "being sensitive and listening for complaints the husbands might not have an opportunity to hear."

A true-false test of the "cooperative knowledge" of the women helped point out areas of misinformation or misunderstanding of the role of cooperatives.

Cooperatives play a larger role in the daily lives of most citizens than is realized, Conner pointed out. Encouraging the women to buy coop-branded foods, the director of education of the Texas Federation of Cooperatives shared brand names of some coop-branded food products found in the grocery stores.

Many coop-produced food products are sold in bulk or wholesale to distributors who further process and/or package and market the product under their own labels, Conner said. None of these products are included in this partial listing of farmer cooperative-branded foods.

CAPITOL UPDATE

John Tower
U.S. SENATOR for TEXAS
142 RUSSELL OFFICE BUILDING
WASHINGTON, D.C. 20510

Texas' phenomenal industrial growth faces a serious threat from Northeastern and Midwestern states seeking to keep companies from closing unprofitable operations in those areas and moving to more productive facilities in the Sun Belt.

Two bills currently before the Congress — and several in various state legislatures — would in effect put the government on the board of directors of every manufacturing company. Their thrust is to try to keep plants in operation, not by making them more productive but rather by making it too costly for a company to move to a new location.

Both of the bills introduced in the U.S. Senate would impose punitive requirements in the form of extended benefits to workers and a pay-off to the community in which the closed plant is located. One of the bills also would require two years advance notice of a proposed closing, with heavy penalties for failure to comply.

Companies do not take on the expense and disruption of closing one plant and building another frivolously. Frequently such a shift is motivated by the need to be closer to raw materials, the need for a more modern facility or even the need to tap new sources of manpower. That Texas and other Sun Belt states have been chosen for new locations with increasing frequency is testimony to their progressive thinking, untapped resources and good old-fashioned salesmanship.

The proponents of punitive legislation to thwart this trend give no thought to their declining productivity and harsh business climates. They simply want the government to trap business in the mire of their sluggishness.

If they are successful, the result will be disastrous for American business, Texas and the very concept of free enterprise.

It is impossible to wave a magic wand and make an unprofitable business viable. If a company can't move to a facility which would change its ink from red to black, it simply will go out of business. If individual companies can't expand, neither can our economy.

Texas and other Sun Belt states have pulled themselves out of economic lethargy by recognizing what it takes to attract business and industry to serve and employ their people. If short-sighted Frost Belt politicians have their way, we shall be punished for our success.

But perhaps the worst blow to come from this hare-brained scheme would be the one to our freedom. If we tell businessmen today they can't make even the most basic of decisions for themselves, will we tell workers tomorrow they can't decide where they will ply their trades? If we tell a company where it must do business, what is to keep us from telling it what it must make?

The strength of our economy and of our people always has been our resiliency, our ability to adapt to a changing world and to find ways to do things better and more efficiently. We must fight to preserve that ability.

BAD CREDIT

Learn the credit game, bad, slow or weak credit. Establish AAA-1 Credit Pass credit investigation, get credit cards and loans. Garrett Financial System, 2100 Alexander Ave., Austin, Texas 78722. 512-472-2865

Have you ever seen an advertisement like this which implies there is a quick and easy solution to consumer credit problems? This advertisement appeared in newspapers in Dallas, San Antonio and Houston this year until it was stopped by the Consumer Protection and Antitrust Division.

When consumers answered the advertisement the seller sent them a letter introducing a booklet called "THE CREDIT GAME" which he was selling. The introductory letter claimed that "the information contained in this publication offers various ways of establishing a AAA-1 Credit Rating in as little as 45 days, & Get any Credit Card you want, and it works no matter what shape your credit is in now."

On reviewing "THE CREDIT GAME" the Division discovered that the material described how to change bad credit to "AAA-1 credit" through a step-by-step process of engaging in unlawful conduct. For example, page 2 of "THE CREDIT GAME" detailed a plan "for creating a $50,000 bank account balance and produce the illusion that you have money in the bank." The complex plan described what is commonly known as a "check kiting scheme" and is accomplished by floating worthless checks between several checking accounts. Check-kiting is unlawful both under federal and state law.

Under a section entitled "HOW TO PASS CREDIT INVESTIGATIONS" the booklet makes the following representations: "First you will have to change your name, such as dropping or adding an initial to or from your name, alter your social security number, use a different address or former addresses, telephone numbers, and your birth date. Anything that was listed when your credit went sour must not be used on any of your new credit applications. . . . What the booklet fails to state is that anyone who follows this advice on a credit application is also in jeopardy of violating both criminal and civil laws.

Consumers with credit problems cannot expect to remedy their situation overnight. There are, however, several places consumers can go to get legitimate counseling on how to improve their credit rating.

For example, in several Texas communities the business community and other concerned citizens have formed non-profit consumer credit counseling services which are offered free of charge.

Consumers with credit problems can also contact local credit bureaus with questions on how to improve credit standing. Finally, consumers with credit questions can consult the Office of the Consumer Credit Commissioner, P.O. Box 2107, Austin, Texas 78768, 512-475-2111, which is charged with promoting credit education in Texas.

Floyd Philosopher Discusses Inflation and A Few Other Things This Week

Dear editor:

I've heard a lot of people jeer: "What a way to reduce inflation. Raising the price of gasoline ten cents with a tax!

They don't understand the economists' notion of inflation. To an economist, inflation is like an automobile tire. If it's over-inflated you let some of the air out and the way you do it is to keep putting more air in it till it explodes. You have thus solved the problem and ought to be satisfied if you don't mind running on the rim.

I was half-joking a while back when I said if interest rates, then at 14 percent, kept going up, a man borrowing money should sign a note at a loan officer's desk, then rush to a teller's window and pay it off before the interest ate him up.

With interest rates last week hitting 19 percent with no end in sight, I now the teller's window. He should just slide down to the other end of the desk and pay it off immediately. About 30 seconds worth of interest is about all

He added, "Another reason, in addition to saving the lives of many Texans, is that many disabling injuries can be prevented. Also, achieving a greater compliance will have a beneficial effect on gasoline conservation."

The Federal Surface Transportation Act of 1978 established national levels of compliance that each state must meet or face sanctions. For instance, had we not met 30 percent compliance with the 55 MPH speed limit by September of 1979, Texas could have lost 8 million dollars. By September of 1980, 40 percent of Texas Drivers must be in compliance or we will be subject to similar sanctions.

New Mexico Man Sentenced For Social Security Fraud

A Santa Fe, New Mexico man was sentenced by Albuquerque U.S. District Court Judge Howard Bratton to a year of confinement and three years probation on a charge of defrauding the Social Security Administration.

The confinement was suspended on the condition that Frank P. Garcia repay over $5,000 that he had illegally obtained, within 30 days of the March 13 sentencing.

According to Ray Purcell, manager of the Plainview Social Security Office, Garcia had pleaded guilty February 21 to a charge that he made false statements and concealed his work and earnings in order to continue receiving supplemental security income benefits. Purcell said the case was developed by a unit of full-time Social Security fraud investigators.

"I had the desire to paint, but really never thought I had any talent so my desire was 'buried' until 1972 when I finally picked up the paint brush," said Lorene Raines, the current guest artist at the First National Bank in Floydada. She liked painting so much that when she did begin she took lessons two and three times a week, and availed herself of every workshop in the area. "I went to every good teacher within driving distance!" Lorene said.

The instructors that have contributed greatly to her talent and technique are Ruth Womack of Houston; the late Ron Howerton of Dalhart; Professor Seuter of McMurray College, Hollis Howard, Oklahoma City and Harold Scott, Sayre, Okla.

Mrs. Raines finds oil painting to be her favorite medium, and roses her favorite subject. However, she has a landscape, "Farm Scene After a Rain", hanging on display in the lobby of the bank, and a basket of daisies along with the paintings of roses. In addition to her oil painting, she does tele china painting and likes to crochet as a hobby.

Lorene Raines has her own studio in Childress, her home, called Lorene's Paint N Place. She conducts three classes weekly in the studio and goes to Wellington one day a week for teaching. She travels to other towns to give workshops, primarily in florals in oil. She will be in Floydada to conduct a workshop at Winnie Carthel's Art Southwest in the future.

Winnie said, "Lorene's enthusiasm and vivacious personality will make the art workshop a real pleasure for those attending!"

Lorene Raines has had one-person shows in Texas and New Mexico. Her work hangs in The Spring Gallery, Eureka Springs, Ark. and the First State Bank in Childress. The public is cordially invited to view the paintings in the lobby of the FNB.

THINK "ENERGY" BEFORE BUYING CLOTHES DRYER

Shopping for a new clothes dryer—wonder if it should be gas or electric? Make energy-conscious decisions when shopping for a new clothes dryer. First, check out installation requirements. Electric models will require a 120/240 volt, 3-wire A-C circuit of 30-AMP capacity. Gas models usually require a three-eighth or one-half inch gas supply line, but you will want to check the manufacturer's instructions and local plumbing code. Gas models need a properly grounded 120-volt A-C, 15-AMP circuit. Before buying a dryer, determine the cost of providing the proper electrical and gas installation if the home is not already equipped to use a clothes dryer. If the home is equipped for either a gas or an electric dryer, then a gas dryer will probably cost less to run. If energy in your area costs the nation's typical rates, then an electric dryer will cost about four times more to operate than a gas model. This cost is based on the U.S. Department of Energy's estimate that 416 wash loads per year is typical. If this is the case, a year's worth of laundry would cost about $40 to dry in an electric dryer and only about $11 in a gas dryer. However, the initial cost of gas dryers is generally higher than a comparable electrical model made by the same manufacturer—but the extra cost of buying a gas machine would be made up in about one year in the above example. If energy rates in your area are different from the national average, there's still a way to figure your gas or electricity costs. It's really not so hard to figure, either. First remember that gas is measured by therms—or by cubic feet. If gas is measured by cubic feet in your area, simply divide the cost of 1,000 cubic feet by 10, and that will give you the cost per therm. Electricity on the other hand, is measured by kilowatt hours. So you'll be comparing therms of gas with kilowatt hours. Now here's the rule of thumb for comparing costs: a gas dryer will cost as much to operate as an electric dryer when the cost per therm of gas is about 25 times the cost per kilowatt hour of electricity. If the cost per therm of gas is less than 25 times the cost per kilowatt hour of electricity, then gas will be cheaper. If the cost per therm of gas is more than 25 times the cost per kilowatt hour, then electricity will be cheaper. If all of this still sounds a little complicated, just remember, the more energy-smart we become, the more comfortable we'll feel about making some of these comparisons.

Electric Energy Research And Development

The Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI) has authorized a key project to develop and test a multiple-function meter for measuring electricity used at customers' premises. This electronic meter is a potential replacement for the conventional induction watt-hour meter presently installed in millions of homes and businesses throughout the country.

The so-called smart meter will contain programmable logic that will help utilities to control electricity loads automatically. Among other functions, the meter will measure how much energy is used per hour, how many hours it was used and at what time of day, and the total energy consumption.

In fossil fuel research, EPRI authorized nearly $6 million to design and construct the nation's first facility to test new coal-cleaning technologies. The facility will allow testing of many different fully integrated coal-cleaning processes with relative ease. It is hoped that data from the facility will help utilities meet air emission requirements for coal-fired power plants, while improving boiler reliability.

EPRI, supported by more than 500 of the nation's electric utilities, funds and manages electric energy research and development. The group has budgeted $234 million for its 1979 quests for progress.

Tax Breaks May Be Available To Employers

A new federal program to give tax breaks to employers is expected to provide additional job opportunity for thousands of Texas Vietnam Era veterans and veterans of all eras who have received rehabilitation training for service-connected disabilities.

The program is sponsored by the Department of Labor and the Internal Revenue Service and is supported by the Veterans Administration through its regional offices, according to Jack Coker, Director of the Waco VA Regional Office.

The program offers employers a "targeted jobs" tax credit for hiring individuals from seven groups the government is seeking to help, Coker explained. The credit can amount to 50 percent of the first $6,000 in qualified wages paid employees during their first year on the job and 25 percent of the first $6,000 paid the second year. Eligibles sought by the VA include economically-disadvantaged Vietnam Era veterans under age 35 at the time of hiring and service-disabled veterans who have completed or are receiving VA rehabilitation training.

Tax credit is based generally on wages paid to qualified employees first hired after September 26, 1978, and earned between January 1, 1979, and December 31, 1980.

Applicants who qualify for the tax credit program are given a voucher that explains to prospective employers the individual's eligibility for certification if hired before a certain date. To receive certification, the employer completes the declaration on the voucher and returns it to the local Department of Labor Jobs Service Office.

Individuals who believe they can qualify for the program are urged to contact local state employment offices. Veterans may also receive assistance from VA regional offices in determining eligibility.

Regional office staffs are working with on-the-job training and apprenticeship programs as potential program users.

Operation Lifesaver Has Reduced Accidents At Railroad Crossings

The number of car-train accident deaths in Texas dropped from 96 in 1978 to 69 in 1979.

Operation Lifesaver, a program promoted by the Railroad Section of Texas Safety Association to help reduce accidents at railroad grade crossings, assisted in reducing this fatality figure by nearly 30 percent.

With the aid of television programs, news articles, films, bumper stickers, brochures and workshops, the "message" of Operation Lifesaver—observance of all grade crossing signs—was spread to well over 36,000 Texans last year.

Statistics illustrate the importance and validity of this Operation Lifesaver message.

Although all of the 14,700 grade crossings in Texas are marked by at least one "Lifesaver" sign—the octagonal stop sign, the X-shaped crossbuck, the yellow and black advance warning sign, flashing lights, bells and/or automatic gates—one half of all grade crossing collisions are a result of drivers violating mechanical crossing protection indicators.

"The greatest killer at crossings is a habit pattern slowly developed over a period of time by drivers who fail to slow down and look for trains," Jim McGee, supervisor of Accident Records for

- * Motorists races train to crossing.
- * Motorist overdrives his or her headlights.
- * Motorist stops or stalls on tracks.
- * Motorist fails to look both ways after train clears track.

Texas Safety Association urges all motorists to consider these instances when nearing grade crossings and to obey all black and gold warning signs.

"There will be a need for the Operation Lifesaver program until every Texas motorist approaches crossings with a healthy respect, obeys the rules, and deaths and injuries drop to zero," Tom Murphy, Operation Lifesaver chairman, said.

South Plains News

South Plains, March 24 — This Monday morning the temperatures dropped to 30 degrees, but tender flowers and other vegetation do not seem to be frost bitten. Spring came to the South Plains at 5:10 a.m. March 30, but we have not had any spring showers. Sunday's bitter, cold winds felt as if they came off a snowdrift. Farmers are busy in the fields, and most of them are irrigating or getting ground listed for watering beds. The dust storms which have plagued Texas have been common all this month. Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClure went to Shamrock last Thursday, March 17, to visit their grandchildren, Rev. and Mrs. Jeff Messer and son, and enjoyed Shamrock Day celebration there with them. Thursday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Kinnibrugh had her sister, Mr. and Mrs. W.S. Simmons of Truscott, Friday and Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Ray Dillard of Lockney were also visitors with them. Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham left Sunday a week ago for Lubbock, where she spent the week with her son, Bud Higginbotham and children, Brett and Shea. Mrs. Higginbotham came home Thursday night bringing the children with her. They went back to Lubbock Friday where she stayed until Sunday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Mark Nichols and Mrs. Glenn Whitfill, all of Sweetwater, arrived Saturday morning to spend that day and Sunday visiting with Mrs. Whitfill's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Nichols. Mark Nichols is the brother of Alvin Nichols. Dr. Fred Howard of Wayland College was at South Plains Baptist Church for morning and evening service Sunday. He has been elected as interim pastor for the church during the time they are selecting a new pastor to fill the vacancy left by Rev. Blake, who went to Winslow, Arkansas. Dr. Howard went to the Lockney Convalescent Home Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m.

to hold services for the patients at the home. There was singing for the services and they and other church members enjoyed visiting with the kind and gentle people who are in the convalescent home. At this time there are 38 men and women at the Lockney Home. Brett Marble, who attends South Plains College at Levelland, was home with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. Don Marble, during last week's spring break. Donette Marble, a senior at Texas Tech, was here from Lubbock to spend the week with her parents and Brett. Blake Kitchens and his sister, Ronette Kitchens, who also are attending South Plains College at Levelland, spent the past week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald D. Kitchens. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marble went to Weatherford over the past weekend to visit his aunts, Mrs. Ruby Burgett and Mrs. Anna Byars of Weatherford, and enjoyed a visit with them. Mrs. Byars had been quite ill, but is now doing well following surgery. Fred and Carolyn celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary this past weekend. They spent part of the weekend, Saturday and Sunday, in Denton, visiting a sister, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Wells and girls, Kim, Jill and

Kay. They returned home Sunday night. Mrs. Murray Julian left Sunday of last week for Roscoe, where she spent the spring break with her oldest son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Terry Julian. Dickie left Monday for a week in Glorieta New Mexico, going with a skiing group. Leona Julian was home with her family, not having to teach music or painting during the spring holidays. They spent one day in Abilene, and they all enjoyed dinner Tuesday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Althof. Mrs. Julian came home Friday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cox of Denver, Colorado spent from Saturday to Tuesday with her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Smitherman, coming from Arlington, where they had stayed during January, February and March with their children. They were enroute to their home in Denver the middle of the past week, and visited other relatives as they went through Hereford. Wednesday morning when they arrived home in Denver, they awoke to find a snowstorm. Mrs. Mary Grisham of Plainview has been having a case of the flu, and her daughter, Mrs. Richard Sanders, will take her to Lubbock for a doctor's checkup this

Wednesday. The South Plains school board election will be held on April 5 and will be held at the South Plains Schoolhouse. Mrs. Mamie Wood and Mrs. M.M. Julian plan to go to Floydada to the First Baptist Church this Tuesday evening at 6:30 p.m. where they will attend a Mission Study book review of "Just Folks." A salad supper will be served before the review. They will be guests of the Floydada Baptist WMU members. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Burks of Rockwall, which is near Dallas, were visitors Wednesday a week ago at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Pritchett and Mr. and Mrs. J.K. West. They were enroute home to Dallas from Ruidoso, New Mexico, where they have been living for several months. Rev. Nathan Mulder preached at the South Plains Baptist Church for the Wednesday evening prayer service that night, with services at Faith Baptist Church in Wellington this past Sunday after church services and eight young people were baptized, including their son, Jimmy Mulder. The South Plains Hobby Club met this past Wednesday, March 19, at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. E.J. Kinslow with a blind auction sale. Each guest brought a wrapped gift, which was auctioned off to the highest bidder. Roll call was "A White Elephant I Have Bought." "Thought for the day" was given by Mrs. Juanita Teeple. Mrs. Kinslow served coconut cake, tea and coffee to guests Mmes. Fred Marble, Harold Hamm, J.P. Taylor, and Mrs. Leighton Teeple. The next Hobby Club meeting will be held on April 9, at 2 p.m. with hostess Mrs. Harold Hamm. The program will be a Demonstration CPR and the Heimlich Maneuver, by T.M. Whitely. This is a very important meeting, and anyone who is interested in first aid may attend and learn this technique of saving a life. Roll call will be a first aid hint. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Sanders of Lubbock came Wednesday, had supper and breakfast and spent the night with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hansel Sanders. The next day they went on to Dalhart where they visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Don Stout. Mrs. Verba Faulkner of Roaring Springs, aunt of Mrs. Kendis Julian, fell in the garden at the home a week ago, and broke her knee. She is in the hospital in Plainview. We hope she is doing better at this time. Mrs. Tillman Powell and Tom Powell of Floydada took Nicci Powell back to her home in Pampa last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. John Rushing and boys went on to Natchitoches, Louisiana, where they are now visiting his parents. They have just returned home from Germany where they have been stationed in the US Air Force. We extend our sympathy to members of the Fletcher and Tillman Powell families in the death of Fletcher's and Tillman's sisters husband, R.H. Cantrell, 50, who died Wednesday, March 19. Fletcher flew to Houston Thursday for the funeral which was held at Magnolia, Texas.

Cantrell had been ill the past few months. Mrs. Mamie Wood's sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Buster Dunham of Amarillo, came Saturday to stay until Monday with her. The tree man came last week and cut and trimmed the Arizona Cypress and other trees around the yard of Mrs. Wood. This is the time of year to have your trees pruned, cut and fixed for the coming year. Mr. and Mrs. Rance Young spent the past weekend in Ruidoso, New Mexico, where they enjoyed a vacation from Thursday to Sunday afternoon.

We are sorry to hear of the automobile accident in Alexandria, Louisiana, which took the life of three people. Wednesday morning about 7:30. Steven Fikes, 4, of Lubbock was killed, as were two other people of Bunkie, La. Mrs. Kamela Fikes, another son, Donald, two, and Cassie Probasco, sister of Kamela were hurt in the wreck. We understand Kamela is still hospitalized at Rapides General Hospital. Kamela and her folks lived at South Plains before they moved to Lubbock years ago. She was Kam Probasco at that time. We hope to hear all are much improved.

We are glad to hear that Jim Roberts is home again after being in the hospital.

The South Plains Baptist Church will hear a visiting preacher, Rev. Martin Kennedy of Anton, next Sunday morning and evening at church services. Rev. Kennedy is coming in view of a call by the church in South Plains, and every member and others of the vicinity should make their plans to be present. Rev. Kennedy is currently at the Central Baptist Church in Anton.

Taxpayers May Designate To Presidential Campaign

Taxpayers who wish to participate in the 1980 Presidential Election Campaign Fund can do so again this year by designating a dollar of their taxes on their Federal income tax return, according to the Internal Revenue Service. The Presidential Election Campaign Fund was set up under 1971 legislation. By permitting taxpayers to designate $1 of their tax each year to the Fund, a larger portion of the American public can play a part in financing candidates running for the nation's highest office. The IRS that designating to the fund will not decrease any refund a taxpayer may have coming.

On joint returns, and wife may make $1 to the fund. If the differ, one can designate the other the "No" box on the tax return. Taxpayers who wish to participate should check the "No" box on the tax return. For additional information on the 1980 Presidential Election Campaign on tax deductions, taxpayers should write to IRS Publications, "Voluntary Tax Help Finance Campaigns." Free available at tax offices or by mailing a blank found on the age.

CARDS OF THANKS

There is no way that we can put in words the deep appreciation for all the nice things that were done for me and the family during my stay in the hospital, and during the days of convalescence at home.

First, I would like to thank those who stayed with the family during the surgery. It was a wonderful gesture of friendship and concern. Then for the delicious food that was brought in, the encouraging cards, the beautiful flowers, the books, the phone calls and messages of concern, just made these days so much easier for me. Then for all the prayers that were said and are still being said for me, I am deeply grateful.

In all humbleness, we ask the Good Lord's special blessings on each and every one of you.

John Key West and family 3-27p

CARD OF THANKS

Thanks so much to our many friends and neighbors who have done so much during the illness and death of our loved one. We thank you so much for the working of our cropland, the ones who furnished and served the food to the workers. Thank you for all the floral offerings, cards, phone calls food and every act of kindness shown to us. May God bless and keep each of you.
