Carthel Named Lockney Editor

Carthel, new editor of the Lockney Beacon and a resident of Lockney, was named to the editorship of the Beacon on May 1, succeeding James Huggins, who resigned before resigning from the Blanco Press in 1978.

L. Sellmeyer, Texas State University professor, is the Hesperian's new editor. He will be in charge of the paper's editorial staff and will be in charge of the paper's editorial staff and will be in charge of the paper's editorial staff.

COW CHIP TOSSERS—You might not have guessed it but this trio of women has done what few women have, tossed genuine "chips" in the annual national Chip Throwing Contest at Beaver, Oklahoma. Was it fun? See their comments in the accompanying story. From left is Ruby Higginbotham, Mamie Wood and Helen Dunlap, with a trophy from the "Cow Chip Capital of the World."

Trio Tossing Cow Chips? You Gotta Be Kiddin'

Cow chip throwing? You mean they've made an event of regional and national proportion out of that!

You bet they have, and a Floydada woman and two South Plains residents can tell you first hand what it's like to be in Beaver, Okla., at the annual April event which attracts thousands from over the U.S., Mexico and even Argentina.

Mamie Wood, Ruby Higginbotham, and Helen Dunlap may have attended their first Cow Chip Throwing Contest, but considering the fun they had a few weeks ago doing it, it won't be their last!

"We got there on Friday, and on Saturday morning we were awakened by five huge hot air balloons hissing their way across town, a signal for the big awaited day to begin," Mamie said.

Beaver, billing itself as "the Cow Chip Capital of the World," has parlayed a prosaic idea into a money market for the little 2,000-person community, area 1880.

Over the 10 year history of the contest such things as an amateur talent show, midnight madness sale, coin and hobby show, horse elimination contest, music festival, rodeo, dance, coin scramble, beard judging, egg throw, antique show, square dance, and other events have been added.

"The parade they had was one of the best I have ever seen, and they had some unusual things, including a man riding a trained bull, said Helen." They also had a large replica of a cow chip on a scotter, just darting in and out of the parade. The group to come the longest distance with a float was from San Angelo, at least that I saw," she said.

As for the cow chip throwing contest itself, the trio of women allowed as how there is a real art "to tossing those things." see page 2

An insurance man and a farmer will be new faces on the Floyd County Commissioner's Court next year as they outdistanced opponents in a light Democratic Party Primary Saturday.

Sam Spence, a Floydada insurance man who worked 27 years with the Texas Highway Department, polled 301 votes to win a three-man race without a runoff for County Commissioner, Precinct 1.

Thomas E. Warren, a farmer and life-long resident of Floyd County, received 176 votes for County Commissioner, Precinct 3, against Larry Noland who received 108.

Both men fill posts where an incumbent retired, and both face no Republican opposition in the November general election.

Spence, who described himself as conservative and fair, outpolled two other farmers to take the election. His 301 votes represented 61 percent of those cast in the race.

District Attorney John R. (Randy) Hollums ran second with a total of 927 ballots.

That was far more than the Democratic Party's front-runner for president, Jimmy Carter, was able to win in Floyd County.

Of the 1,053 votes cast in the party's beauty contest presidential primary, incumbent President Carter won 612, or 58 percent.

His primary challenger, Sen. Edward Kennedy, really took a licking by Floyd County Democrats. Kennedy could manage only 105 votes, or just under 10 percent.

He was whalloped by the vote for "uncommitted," which totaled 308, or 29 percent.

Defunct candidate Jerry Brown won a token 28 votes even though he has withdrawn from the presidential race.

The Democratic Party results looked like this:

Rehabilitation Grant Chance For City Spruce Up

It seems slow at first, but always imperceptible to the eye, there is a steady improvement program around the city to the largest of the ongoing internal support of the City Council.

Under the auspices of the Neighborhood Improvement Committee, headed by Wayne Russell and coordinated by Dorris Blasingame, 17 homes around the city have been demolished and 10 vacant lots cleared. In addition bids have been taken on the rehabilitation of three houses and contracts have been let, Bill Feuerbacher, veteran Floydada city manager, said this week.

"We also took bids Tuesday night for the rehabilitation of four more dwellings, and we have 32 applications pending," Feuerbacher added.

The money for improving old houses and bringing them up to standard in respect plumbing, electricity, heating, and needed carpentry work comes from a $177,397 HUD grant, which includes $44,000 for paving, given the city last year after a mountain of paperwork was completed by city officials, mainly the city manager and City Secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart.

"A lot of the small cities don't apply for these grants, because of the large amount of time it takes to complete the application, but we think it is worth it and it gives us a sense of pride in our town to see this cleanup and fixing up going on," Feuerbacher said earnestly.

The city managers noted that the Floydada City Council has been very cooperative through the years in cleaning up the city, and pointed out that since June 1973, and continuing to the present, city authorities have provided the equipment and operators to clean up 75 lots around the city.

"And why not?" Feuerbacher emphasized, explaining that some of these lots have had new homes put on them and are now returning local taxes, city and school, to the community.

"The old American idea is when something is dilapidated and run down, abandon it and move on to build something new. Well, we can't do that anymore, the land isn't there, so we go back and clear off substandard and abandoned buildings and put something new on them," the city manager said.

It improves the area, and we need to get people to come back in where the utilities and paving are (and already paid for, of course).

Under the terms of the grant, the city can spend up to $5,000 per dwelling improving it or clearing off a lot. And while all of the $177,397 dollar grant the city is now working under is committed, Feuerbacher and Stewart explained that Floydada is free to apply for additional grants from HUD in the future.

"And we will," Feuerbacher said, "for we think it is worth it."

The Neighborhood Improvement Committee has certain guidelines that have to be met, including that all taxes have to be paid, and family size and income are factors in the selection of applicants.

Is there a string to this government money?, it seems logical to ask.

"Of course there is, anytime you get involved with getting money from the government they'll want something. Actually, since about 1959 we have been involved with different types of subsidized housing. We formed a Housing Authority in that year, appointed by the city council and some low rent housing units were put in. Then several years ago about 16 apartments were put in at Duncan Plaza, then 52 Section 8 rental subsidy units, and finally, eight single-family, two and three bedroom homes are being built now on South 3rd between Ollie Avenue and Burrus St. for whom ever qualifies for them," Feuerbacher said.

Members of the Neighborhood Improvement Committee are Russell, chairman, Gary Brown, vice chairman, Jimmy Lou Stewart, ex-officio and secretary, Carrie Davis, Earnestine Pleasant, Adolfo Garcia, Carl Jarrett, Sammy Hale, Blasingame, the coordinator, and Tressie Young, ex-officio and clerk.

BEFORE DEMOLITION. This old house at Grover and 11th St., owned by the late Albert M. Jones, was torn out and the ground cleared helping to improve the appearance of the area.

AFTER DEMOLITION. This cleanly scraped area with Della Plains school in the background shows how much certain sections of the city can be improved by taking out the old, rundown homes which are of no value.

FIRST RENOVATION. Andrew Reyna and Dorris Blasingame talk over details of Reyna's home remodeling under the city's rehabilitation plan. The house at 516 East California is to get a new roof, new cement porch, attic insulation and wall heater.

County Democratic Convention for Floyd County will be held at 2 p.m. Saturday in the District Court Room at Floydada to select four delegates to the state democratic convention, in June 20-21, in San Antonio.

The Democrats will attend the Governor's Convention in Houston September 26-27.

The Republican County Convention will meet at 8 p.m. Saturday in the Community Room of the First National Bank of Floydada to elect three delegates and their alternates for the state convention meeting in Houston June 21.

The Republicans will meet September 5-6 in San Antonio to elect a state committeeman and committee-woman from the 30th senatorial district and also a chairman of the state executive committee.

Did they actually throw "the real thing", or just plastic replicas of cow chips? "Oh, no, those cow chips were real, and they had hundreds of them. It was an art to pick out the right size and shape of one to throw. And you know, the old timers there said "you really can't throw them right unless you wet your fingers first," the three said laughingly.

The Floyd County women didn't win any prizes, "but we vowed to practice the art of chip throwing regularly until April, 1981, so we can bring back one of the 36" gold-plated trophies they give away," Mammie said, as the other two nodded quick agreement. The women agreed, too, that the many things they enjoyed about the contest in Beaver was the friendliness of the people who "certainly expressed the true pioneer hospitality in every way". The clean way in which all activities were carried out impressed them.

"Even the town and countryside are good examples of the cleanliness of the event, they commented. "There was something to be enjoyed by every one, from the youngest to the oldest. The parade was well planned and carried out," Ruby Higginbotham noted.

The women got to Beaver, it should be noted, and found out that the nearest motel rooms available were in Perryton, Texas, about 50 miles away. Fortunately a friend, Mrs. Ruth Babbs, lived in Beaver and had the three as house guests. Mrs. Babbs is the mother of Mrs. Dean Stewart who is postmistress of South Plains.

LARRY CUNYUS on farm north of Lockney is one of many farmers hurrying to plant cotton.

Planting Becomes Tense Time

BY NANCY CARTHEL

It has been said that the only sure things are death and taxes but in our area, one more item can be added to that list—planting time.

Since last fall, the farmer has been preparing for this. He has shredded stalks, plowed them under, chiseled ground, applied fertilizer and chemical, listed, and pre-watered.

He has had to worry about the lack of moisture, financing, the price of fuel, the cost of irrigation, and what to plant. Now more decisions have to be made. Is the soil temperature right? Is there enough moisture to plant on? What kind of seed to plant?

The entire community can feel the change. Coffee shop business slows down, domino games are less frequent, and implement dealers know that the farmer will be coming in impatiently wanting their problem fixed yesterday. The farmer hurries to town to get seed and hurries back to the field with the back of his pickup loaded.

Wives have learned that their husbands tend to be a little grouchy and preoccupied. Although he appreciates the hot meal she has prepared, chances are he will not remember what he ate five minutes after the meal. He may not notice his wife's new hairdo or remember a birthday, but he knows exactly what is happening in every field between his farm and town.

Success of the entire year can depend on what the farmer does in this short span of time.

A great deal can be said for a farmers character. After going through all this, he knows that chances are high that it will all be to do over next week. But this "comes with the territory" and he hopes that maybe this year he can get by without having to replant.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:
Good luck with the paper. I wish it could be bigger. Maybe have both news from Lockney and Floydada in one paper. I would like to see the Lockney front page news in the Floyd County paper.

Boaters Win Victory

The U.S. Department of Energy has formally withdrawn its proposal to ban weekend powerboating. Gene Campbell, public information officer for Region 6 of the DOE, said this week. Don Dacus, president of the Boating Trades Association of Texas, said it is apparent that DOE finally got the message. "Boaters have won a great victory," he said. "This proposal was a gross violation of their rights, particularly when all other aspects of recreation were untouched." Dacus credited the victory to the thousands of boaters who wrote letters of protest to the DOE and Congress. Reports from Washington indicate the DOE received more than 30,000 letters from across the country in opposition to its contemplated restriction on powerboating. "I want to personally thank all those who took the time to express their views on this issue," he said. "I believe officials in Washington now understand that boating consumes an insignificant amount of fuel, and that boating is one of the most economical ways to spend your time on weekends."

MEMBER IMPRINT Schacht's 112 W. Poplar Lockney Helping you say it right

Miss Cynthia Moore and Mr. Richard Fuller were married at 10:00 a.m. Saturday May 3 in the chapel of the Floydada First Baptist Church. Rev. Hollis C. Payne officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Tom Moore and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Fuller. Both families reside in Floydada.

Miss Penny Bertrand, organist, presented a prelude of traditional wedding music. Guests were seated by Bill Moore, brother of the bride, of Canyon, and Ray Fuller, brother of the groom.

On each side of the alter were large brass candelabras decorated with yellow and white daisies.

Angie and Amy Fuller, nieces of the groom, of Lubbock, lighted the candles before the ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white lustriglo polyknit by Mi Deb. The moulded bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline trimmed with Venise lace and scattered with seed pearls. The Venise lace formed a cap sleeve. The A-line skirt had a panel of crystal pleats down the center front. Silk venise lace formed a border encircling the entire hemline and chapel length train. She wore a wide brimmed hat with satin ribbon and white daisies.

Her bouquet was of yellow and white daisies. She carried out the traditional something old, new, borrowed, and blue. She wore a ring belonging to her paternal grandmother, Mrs. W.T. Moore. Her wedding dress was new, and she wore the traditional blue garter.

Mrs. Dean Watson, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. She wore a yellow floor length gown of polyknit. The sleeveless dress had a flowing chiffon cape. Mrs. Watson carried a bouquet of daisies.

The bride presented her mother with a long stem yellow rose as she approached the alter, and she later presented the groom's mother with an identical rose as she was leaving the chapel.

Deanna and Amanda Watson, nieces of the bride, were flower girls. They wore identical yellow floor length dresses and carried white baskets of silk daisies.

Gary Fuller, brother of the groom, served as best man. Chad Quisenberry, nephew of the groom, served as ring bearer. A white ring pillow was topped with rings tied with yellow ribbon and accented with white daisies.

Following the ceremony, the bride's parents hosted a reception in the Wall Street Annex of the First Baptist Church. The bride's table was laid with an ecru lace floor length tablecloth. Centered on the table was a silver candelabra with yellow tapers entwined with yellow and white daisies. The three-tiered white wedding cake was decorated with miniature baskets of daisies. Serving the cake was Judy Payne. Mrs. Elaine Ruland presided at the silver punch bowl.

The groom's table was laid with a matching lace tablecloth. An arrangement with a single yellow taper was centered on the table. Miss Connie Self and Miss Julie Self, cousins of the groom, presided at the silver coffee service. An assortment of finger sandwiches and chocolate mints were also served. Mrs. Doris Ray and Miss Laura Campbell were members of the houseparty.

Mike and Shawn Moore, nephews of the bride, of Dumas, passed out rice bags.

Mrs. Cathy Kubacak, of Lubbock, registered guests. The registration table held an arrangement of yellow and white daisies, the bride's book, and a white plume pen. Special guests were grandmothers of the bride, Mrs. Etta Moore, of Matador, and Mrs. Vida Bumpus of Childress.

For a wedding trip to Galveston, the bride wore a yellow linen dress with a corsage of yellow and white daisies.

The couple will reside in Floydada where the bride is employed by Lon Davis Grain, and the groom is associated with Fuller Trucking Co.

Rehearsal Dinner

A rehearsal dinner on Friday night at King's Restaurant was hosted by the groom's parents, Wayne and Betty Fuller.

Bridal courtesies have included a gift shower April 12 in the home of Mrs. Buddy Lutrick and a salad supper April 22 hosted by Miss Penny Bertrand.

Graduation Luncheon Honors Tracy Reddy

Tracy Reddy was honored with a Graduation Luncheon Saturday given by Mrs. Connie Bearden at the Gold Room of Hemphill-Wells in Lubbock.

A spring bouquet of silk flowers adorned the table and each guest received as a place favor a gaily wrapped sachet bag.

Attending the luncheon were Donna West, Kelly Higginbotham, Karen Turner, Julie Morton, Kellie Reddy, Mitzi Hale, Stacey

Smith, Shelley Bearden, Lisa Bice, Lori Bice and Ann Reddy, mother of the honoree.

Youth Attend Catholic Convention

Baxters Visit In Richardson

The Cecil Baxters were in Richardson last weekend visiting with their son Kerwin and family.

On Saturday and Sunday the Baxters went to Canton for "First Monday" a giant flea market covering 135 acres held for over 100 years the first weekend of each month.

While walking through the market, the Baxters were delighted to see Wayne and Naomi Battey of Paris who are ex-Floydadans. The Baxters had a booth where Naomi displayed and was selling her oil paintings.

Baxter reported that the area had received moisture and that the bluebonnets and roses were in full bloom and the grass several feet high.

FLOYD DATA

Floydada is getting into the swing of spring as many residents began to plant new trees and get flower beds ready for summer color. The rains of last week have given many a glimpse of summer yardwork yet to come.

Alpha Mu Delta Honors Jaynette Harrison

Mrs. Jaynette Harrison was honored as First Lady of the Year of Floydada on Sunday with a reception given by sponsoring members of Alpha Mu Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi.

Jaynette and her husband, Joe Max are parents of two teenage daughters, Debbie and Tracy. She is employed as the secretary of Charles Tyer, high school principal, and helps her husband with his farming operation. She was nominated by Lou Burleson.

Harrison has been a Girl Scout leader for the past 10 years. "She has literally been a mother to five girls who have gone from Brownies to Senior Girl Scouts under her tutelage. She has had a profound influence on these girls in teaching them values not found in books," said Burleson.

Working with the school Migrant program for several years before taking the high school job, Harrison acted as "nurse maid, entertainer and literally a mother to many underprivileged migrant children who were scared, hurt or sick and unable to speak English," related Burleson.

Lockney Youth Travel To Albuquerque

Twenty-eight teenagers and five sponsors from San Jose Catholic Church left Lockney Friday May 2 for Albuquerque, New Mexico to attend a Catholic Youth Convention. While there, they participated in various workshops.

The Convention was headed by Bishop Sanchez of the Santa Fe archdiocese. Some 3,500 young people and their sponsors attended the event which was regional in scope and covered several dioceses of the Catholic Church.

They returned home Sunday evening May 4.

to these children brought trust and love to their eyes. She has only to walk among them now to bring instant recognition and smiles to their faces and a glad 'Hello Mrs. Harrison' to their lips."

The Harrisons have been active Band Boosters for several years. They have served as officers of the booster organization and headed the concession stands.

They have gone on many of the out of town trips to football games, contests and band trips as bus driver and chaperone.

"Jaynette has qualities as an individual that must not be over looked. She has a smile and sense of humor that brings sunshine to every one she meets; and a personality that bubbles with enthusiasm that is contagious to all around her," remarked Burleson. "Dependability must also be added to Jaynette's long list of qualities that make her so unique."

The Harrisons are dedicated members of the Bible Baptist Church. "That dedication to service-serving God and her country has been a very real inspiration to me and the five Senior Scouts that I know about in this community," added Burleson.

TALENT SEARCH TUNES UP FOR SOME GOOD COUNTRY SONGS

Get out your eighth notes, brush off your treble clef and start to hammer out some lyrics. The Fourth Annual Kentucky Fried Chicken Country Music Songwriting Contest is about to begin.

The competition gives amateur songwriters a chance to hit it big in country music. Barbara Mandrell, Country Music Association Female Vocalist of the Year, will record the two first prize winning songs on a special label "45". The record will be released to country music stations nationwide.

The top two winners will be guests of Kentucky Fried Chicken at the Mandrell recording session in Nashville, and will return to Music City, U.S.A. for Country Music Week in October.

To enter the contest, send a cassette recording of your song to Kentucky Fried Chicken, "It's Colonel Country", P.O. Box 1014, Tinley Park, Illinois 60477. Tapes will not be returned. Entries may not exceed 3 1/2 minutes in length. A written version of the lyrics and a statement of originality for both music and lyrics must accompany each cassette. Entered tapes must be postmarked by July 7.

Songs will be judged by country music experts on originality of music and lyrics, quality of composition and uniqueness of expression. Winners will be notified by August 31.

This year, it could be your tune that hits the country charts. Jim Koslosky of Mt. Clemens, Michigan, and Doug Janzen of Sedgwick, Kansas shared flip sides of the Mandrell recording last year, and their tunes earned rave reviews from country music professionals across the country. WTGR in Catlettsburg, KY wrote, "This kind of exposure is excellent for what appears to be a couple of bright talents ... welcome aboard!"

Red Cross Aid To Military Families

One of the original Red Cross services is Service to Military Families. This past fall, when Jim Gollihar's son was seriously injured in an automobile accident in Germany, the Floyd County Red Cross assisted the military in flying Gollihar to be with his son.

Gollihar was then Floyd County Deputy Sheriff. Due to the emergency nature of the problem the military officials requested financial assistance from the Red Cross to provide transportation for Gollihar from Floydada to New Jersey. He was then flown to Germany via military craft.

For the first time in 20 years, the Red Cross is conducting a drive in Floyd County. "We'll be winding the drive up the end of the week," Olin Watson, Drive Chairman, said.

He is asking that all who haven't sent their donation in try to do so this week. Donations may be sent in later, of course. The address is simply Red Cross, Floydada, Texas 79235.

The Red Cross was chartered in 1905 by Congress to provide emergency communications for military personnel and their families back home. The service has developed into a series of Red Cross offices on every U.S. military base in the world.

Messages relayed may be to obtain emergency leave for a service member due to critical illness or death in the immediate family or the message may announce the birth of a child. Service members may also receive financial counseling and guidance. Many of base Red Cross offices offer Safety courses in First Aid and CPR. Red Cross also sponsors large volunteer programs that help staff military hospital.

In 1979 there were 738,395 separate services provided to help military personnel.

Legislation Signed By Carter For VA

An estimated 29,000 World War I and Mexican Border campaign veterans in Texas are now eligible for outpatient care (except dental treatment) at Veterans Administration clinics without regard to whether the medical problem is related to their military service.

A VA official said legislation signed by President Carter in December will enable these veterans not needing bed care to avoid hospitalization if they can be treated effectively as outpatients.

Veterans of that period already had the right to treatment for non-service-connected conditions as bed patients in VA medical centers.

There are some 600,000 veterans who served during the periods to which the new provision applies.

The legislation, known as the "Veterans Health Program Extension and Improvement Act of 1979," also expands the eligibility of veterans served by VA outpatient clinics to receive government-paid emergency care at non-VA hospitals.

The law gives VA the authority to contract for such care when the eligible veteran is at a clinic where there is no nearby VA medical center and there is a serious threat to his life or health. VA could pay for this kind of care previously in much more limited circumstances involving only veterans with service-connected disabilities.

Other provisions of the 1979 act are:

* Eligibility for care under VA's Civilian Health and Medical Program, called CHAMPVA, was extended to the spouse or child of indi-

Gas Producing Enterprises Changes Name

Coastal Oil & Gas Corporation is the new name for the principal exploration and production subsidiary of the Coastal Corporation.

Formerly called Gas Producing Enterprises, Inc., the company changed its name to reflect not only the Coastal tie but also the nature of its oil and gas exploration business. The parent company's name was changed at the beginning of 1980 from Coastal States Gas Corporation for the same reasons.

The company's office in Amarillo handles exploration and production operations in the mid-continent region, where another Coastal subsidiary, Colorado Interstate Gas Company, long has been an active producer and explorer.

Coastal Oil & Gas is a Delaware corporation qualified to do business in 22 states. The company is also the parent of several domestic and foreign subsidiaries which are active in exploration and development of oil, gas and uranium.

duals who died on active duty who is not eligible for Medi care or the military CHAMP-US program.

* Medical benefits for up to two years or until age 23, were extended to children with illness or injury which precludes school attendance.

* VA was authorized to provide certain home health services to World War I and Mexican Border veterans receiving household aid and attendance benefits from the agency.

* Before VA is authorized to pay more than $500 to a non-VA dentist for a veteran's dental care, in any 12-month period, a VA dentist must first determine that the care is necessary.

VA urged veterans having questions about the expanded benefits under the new law to contact the nearest VA medical center or regional office, veterans county service officer, or one of the national veterans service organizations in their community.

Looking Back

Just ramblin and turning back the clock!

Remember the old Hayhurst shed or tabernacle? Loaded my old pickup truck, tied on to the trailer me and George, my old German short hair pointer. I don't speak German and George doesn't understand English. We headed for Grayson County.

We managed to get along. He pointed two Dairy Queens and one Doggie Best stop. I knew he was hungry and had to go.

Camped out that night just south of Howe, Texas, on the corner where the old Hayhurst Shed used to stand. Kinda took me back over sixty years ago. We would walk that mile to church. I don't remember the preacher's name...just called him Brother John.

[POEM]

It seems it was just yesterday, we were all at home. Daddy had to leave us, and Mama alone. We would walk to church on Sunday. I can still hear Mama say, Brother John will eat with us today.

[POEM]

Brother John will ask blessing. You all bow down your head. Say please pass the chicken, and the gravy and the bread. Don't feed the cat from the table. And watch what you say. Brother John going to eat with us today.

I remember the songs that they sang, the straw hats that they wore, and how hot it was under the old shed. I could stay awake for awhile, then I would get an elbow in the ribs. Brother John drove an old broomtail mare to a buggy, which had different colored wheels, always needed greasing. He always bragged on Mama's fried chicken and get the corner biscuits.

I would have to open the gate for him. I knew then that there wasn't room for me at the first table, that I would have to wait.

The songs that they sang, like "When The Roll Is Called Up Yonder," and "Stars In My Crown."

Awful hot and dry that summer and before the close of his sermon he would pray for rain.

Brother John ate with us that Sunday, and his prayers were answered. It came the darndest rain I ever saw. I still remember going to the storm cellar, still smell the old kerosene smoking lantern and see the old chicken snake up in the logs above.

[POEM]

I still hear Brother John a preachin And see all our hands a reachin. I can hear Mama say, Don't feed the cat from the table, be careful what you say, Brother John going to eat with us today.

I slept good that night knowing that I would not have to work the next day, that I might just go fishin' on old Hackberry Creek.

P.S. That was the night the lightning hit the old Boisdar tree and the little house out back. Not many left that went to church at the tabernacle or the old shed, as we called it.

Alcohol And Teenagers

Although alcohol is the most commonly used drug among young people, cigarettes and marijuana run a close second and third, says Dr. Betty Jo Smith, a family life education specialist.

Judging Team Takes Honors

JUDGING TEAM: Adrian Rameriz, Gary Cawley, Dwight Jackson and Mike Ford.

By Randy Davis
The Lockney FFA Meat Judging team has been winning a lot of awards lately. Team members Mike Ford, Dwight Jackson, Gary Cawley, and Adrian Ramirez have brought home a first place in area competition, a second place in the Texas Tech contest, and 14th in the state meet April 26 in competition featuring the best 38 teams in Texas high schools. At the Tech contest, April 19, Mike Ford was second place individual in judging and sixth place individual overall. Dwight Jackson was high point individual in the grading section of the contest. The meat judging team must identify retail cuts and grade five classes of meats.

There are several new award banners hanging in the FFA building as a result of the four boys' hard work.

WATERBEDS

Waterbeds are just a bag of water in a frame. Manufactured with high quality materials, they are a new way to sleep. Research has shown that waterbeds provide high comfort and support. There are two types of waterbeds — now called Waterbed Sleep Systems — on the market. One is a standard type, and the other is a "streamline" type. Both accommodate standard bedding — regular, queen and king sizes. Waterbeds are a combination of a conventional bed and a waterbed. They are available in a variety of sizes and colors. They are usually recommended for today's waterbeds, since room temperature is lower than body temperature, heat is drained from the body. That causes discomfort, sore muscles and increased heartbeat. Heaters for waterbeds eliminate that, and they prevent the possibility of condensation — along with the growth of mildew and fungus, which can cause odors and damage the vinyl and foam. Waterbed heaters are flat, flexible pads which must be placed under the fitted liner. Take special care to direct the heater so it is not in direct contact with water. Make sure it bears the Underwriters Laboratory approval. Some heaters are preset to 85 degrees and are designed primarily to prevent condensation. Others have controls for adjusting the temperature from 70 degrees to 100 degrees.

curves, the pressure points are relieved. And here's another advantage: generally, when a person sleeps soundly, fewer hours of sleep are required.

Therapeutic advantages of waterbeds are many. Healthcare professionals already recognize the therapeutic value of sleeping on a water mattress for burn victims and for long-term bed patients to prevent bedsores. In addition, because it relieves pressure-point stress, the waterbed can reduce the discomfort of arthritis and some back ailments.

In considering a waterbed, remember that a heater is a comfort "must." Heaters are usually recommended for today's waterbeds, since room temperature is lower than body temperature, heat is drained from the body. That causes discomfort, sore muscles and increased heartbeat.

Others have controls for adjusting the temperature from 70 degrees to 100 degrees.

In buying today's waterbed, remember that flotation-sleep systems have different qualities, just as conventional mattresses do. Quality will affect price and performance, however, so seek out the best you can afford with this type of major investment. Here's a short buying checklist: 1) Mattress — the mattress containing the waterbag or bladder should be made of heavy-duty 20 gauge vinyl with only a few seams. 2) Contour fitted liner — it should completely surround the frame and be permanently attached to the frame, so it will reduce the dangers of damage if a leak occurs. Make sure the liner will hold all the water from the mattress in case of a leak. 3) Heater — the heater should be an Underwriters Lab approved variable-control thermostat. 4) Frame — the frame should be sized for the mattress and proved unit. Decide whether you need a preset or a the liner. 5) Deck and pedestal — these should be the right size and design to support a filled mattress in use.

For King- and Queen-size units, be sure there are center supports to prevent sag. Also, make yourself a performance checklist. It should include three points: For best performance, place waterbeds on heavy duty bed frames or specially made wood frames.

Remember to use extra center supports for larger sizes. Also, during installation, be sure to place the heater under the liner — never in contact with moisture.

Cortinas' Graduate Coast Guard School

JANIE CORTINAS

Robert and Janie Cortinas, Floydada brother and sister and the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert and Angelita Cortinas, have completed their Coast Guard training after eight weeks of basics at Cape May, New Jersey.

The Floydada pair received training in seamanship, first aid, survival, swimming, life saving, damage control, fire fighting rifle range, communications, boat handling, and many other aspects of naval and military operations.

After a 10-day leave here they returned to their respective duty stations, Robert, Jr. to Mobile, Alabama where he is a Fireman Apprentice aboard a Coast Guard Cutter studying for Machinery Technician. Janie is stationed at Gloucester City, New Jersey where she is a seaman apprentice studying to be a yeoman (legal secretary).

Robert and Janie enlisted Feb. 17, 1980.

Wilson Bond reviewed "The Man Inside...Landry" by Bob St. John for us this week.

He said, "It is a lot about football, but interlaced with this is the strong Christian attitude, the discipline to set a good example and live a good life. Landry believes in standing for what is right in the type of world we live in."

Bond said the book reveals Landry as a man with close relationships with his team and his family, rather than the cold, unemotional character often portrayed by the media.

A disillusioned young college graduate began an incredible journey October 15, 1973. In "A Walk Across America" Peter Jenkins describes the walk across continental America with his dog Cooper that helped him discover the heart of his homeland.

He said, "I shared a majestic solitude with a hermit mountain man, and was nicknamed Albino by a loving black family. I almost died in a storm-pounded shelter on the Appalachian Trail and shoveled horse manure on an Alabama ranch. I was elevated by a nameless rider who gave me five red apples on a Virginia mountaintop. I strained my back in a North Carolina sawmill, and lived leisurely in a Montgomery mansion. I learned how to pray at a revival in Mobile. I came face to face with God and accepted Him as my own. I started out searching for myself and my country and found both."

If you read the excerpts of this story in National Geographic or Reader's Digest, you will enjoy the book even more.

A reading club will begin for grades one through six the first week of June. Participants will be searching for a lost planet, said Irene Kendrick, who will direct the reading club this year.

Food Stamp Funding Rises

The food stamp program is on the brink of a funding crisis that could cause serious deprivation for millions of low income Americans who depend on it.

The food stamp program has funds to run only through May. Unless the Congress approves additional funds by May 15, it will be legally obligated to issue an order on that date requiring all states to suspend all food stamp benefits, effective June 1.

The administration submitted legislation to Congress nearly one year ago to resolve this matter, and I have repeatedly warned that the time for Congress to provide additional food stamp funding is running out. Now only 17 days remain before I must order the program to be shut down.

I am today contacting all Governors to warn them that it is likely Congress will not complete action in time. All states must have appropriate mechanisms to halt the provision of food stamp benefits on June 1.

The President has expressed to me his deep concern about this matter. He has written today to the Congressional leaders of both parties urging prompt action, and stating that the suspension of food stamp benefits would work severe and undeserved hardship on millions of low-income Americans and their families.

I fully share that view. The food stamp program is of vital importance to millions of our fellow Americans—the elderly and disabled, poor children, the unemployed, and working families who earn low wages. The program has had dramatic success over the past decade in easing the blight of hunger and malnutrition that not so many years ago was exacting a cruel toll on our nation's poor. Just 10 years ago, private and government researchers uncovered shocking rates of nutritional deficiency among the poor. In some areas of the U.S., these were similar to rates of malnutrition in underdeveloped countries. The food stamp program has done as much as or more than any other domestic program in recent years to improve the health and well-being of the least fortunate among us.

Keep It Cool

Trim your lawn to help your air conditioner work more efficiently.

Keep grass, weeds and other growth from the unit to allow free air flow and top efficiency, says Sue Young, a housing and home furnishings specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Of course, trees over the unit to shade it also will help, since they keep the unit itself cool, she adds.

VA News

Many veterans and widows of veterans are now learning that they were paid larger disability or death pension benefits, according to D.G. Ayres, Veterans Service officer for Floyd County, are paid by the Veterans Administration to eligible wartime veterans and to the unmarried spouses of such veterans.

Most cases involving the overpayments are occurring where a veteran or widow elected to change from an old pension to the new one which went into effect January 1, 1979. Under the old pension laws administered by the Veterans Administration, certain types of income were not counted, and there were certain percentages of some income which were disregarded. Under the new pension law, provided by Public Law 95-588, practically all types of income are counted when determining pension is eligibility. In addition, the new law calls for "family income," where previous laws referred to the countable income of the individual veteran or widow.

Under the new pension law, it is important that claimants keep the VA advised of any change in their income. This applies to all types of income with the exception of Social Security. Under the new law, VA pension benefits are geared to the current cost of living index, and when Social Security payments are increased on June 1 each year, the VA benefits are also increased. Thus, the VA knows when Social Security benefits are increased, so a claimant is not required to advise the VA of their particular change in the exception of Supplemental Security Income (SSI) it is the claimant's responsibility to notify the VA when income is increased. Under the law, the necessary change in payment rates of VA pension must be taken on the first day of the month following the date on which the income was increased. Thus, if the VA is not notified immediately, an overpayment will be created in the VA pension account, and future benefits will be withheld until the account is cleared. All new pension law recipients should be certain to notify the VA immediately when their income is increased for any reason other than for the Social Security increase. Early notification will prevent an overpayment and interruption of VA benefits.

ZINC NUTRITION FOR PECAN TREES

Beautiful pecan trees and regular harvests of high quality pecans begin each spring with frequent zinc sprays. Good foliage is the secret to optimum growth, healthy trees and regular production. Mature pecan trees can have double the amount of foliage with three or four zinc sprays in April and May. Leaves on mature trees are full grown by June, so spray early and frequently. Young pecan trees can grow six feet instead of six inches in one year if zinc is sprayed onto the foliage every two to three weeks from April until August. This is of course in combination with a good management program.

There are two types of zinc which can be used in Texas, zinc sulfate or NZN. Each is effective. Commercial pecan producers have used zinc sulfate with good results for over 40 years. Caution will need to be used however because zinc sulfate can kill many types of plants, so spray it only onto pecan foliage. NZN is a new type of zinc which is a liquid. It was developed by Dr. J. Benton Storey of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station. NZN is a soluble, less toxic to other vegetation and readily available at many garden centers.

The commercial rates of zinc for spraying pecan foliage in Texas are 2 pounds of zinc sulfate or 1 1/4 quarts of NZN per 100 gallons water.

The homeowner should use 2 teaspoons of zinc sulfate or NZN in one gallon of water.

Other forms of zinc, such as zinc chelates or tree injectors, have been tested but have not been found to be an effective source of zinc for pecans in Texas.

Zinc is utilized by pecan foliage for the manufacture of a growth hormone called indole-acetic-acid. Without zinc and indole-acetic-acid pecan growth is greatly reduced. The leaves will be small and the shoots will be short and in clusters forming what is commonly called "zinc rosette". Zinc is not readily translocated from shoot to shoot; consequently, frequent zinc sprays are needed if new growth is to receive zinc. This is also why good coverage is important. Since aerial application does not give complete tree coverage, commercial growers have to depend on ground sprayers for zinc applicasprayers for zinc applications.

Ramada Announces Vacation Bargain

Ramada Inns has announced a money-saving vacation offer for family travelers. By presenting a special coupon, as many as four persons can stay in a guest room at a participating Ramada Inn and pay only the single room rate. Depending on location and existing rates, guests should save at least 35 percent on the cost of the room, based on four adults per room.

"This inflation-fighting offer," said Juergen Bartels, president of the Ramada Hospitality Group, "is the perfect opportunity for families to travel economically but still stay in one of our comfortable, stylish rooms. Advance reservations are a must because we are certain that these coupons are going to be popular with today's cost-conscious travelers."

Ramada guests who present the coupon at check in will be charged the single room rate for each night's stay for as many as four persons in the room. Roll-away beds are available at a slight extra charge; cribs are provided at no cost.

The Ramada inflation-fighting coupons will be published in conjunction with advertising in many national magazines and local newspapers. They are also available by writing to Ramada Inns, Inc., P.O. Box 590-KJ, Phoenix, Arizona 85001.

"Many of our inns have undergone extensive refurbishment activities during the past 12 months and we hope travelers will use this money-saving opportunity to use our improved services and facilities," said Bartels. "We will honor these inflation-fighting coupons throughout 1980."

With about 95,000 rooms in nearly 650 hotels and inns, Ramada is one of the world's largest international hotel chains.

Brown twirls at Amarillo

Baker Granddaughter Majorette In Tulsa

Christy Brown, granddaughter of Agnes Baker and niece of Kay Wilson of Floydada, participated in the Greater Southwest Music Festival in Amarillo recently.

A member of the Daniel Webster High School band in Tulsa, Brown is head majorette.

She has won numerous honors and has entered several contests for the band, earning a superior rating in solos each time.

Brown has been twirling for seven years and has entered contests in five states competing against over 5,000 other students.

Mrs. Baker related that the Oklahomans said Texas is a wonderful place to visit.

The seventh edition of the ever popular "Wonderful West Texas" Fun and Adventure Map is now available, according to Ray McLaughlin of Alpine, Chairman of the West Texas

Chamber of Commerce and Travel Committee.

McLaughlin expects a tremendous response to the new map, which will be available in Tulsa and Amarillo.

The 1980 edition of the map features eighty attractive illustrations, color maps of West Texas and Oklahoma, and is located in the same format as other information est to both the traveler and the native.

To obtain a copy of the "Wonderful West Texas" Fun and Adventure Map, write: West Texas Chamber of Commerce, 1561, Abilene, Texas 79601.

Floyd Philosopher Takes A Sidelong

Glance At Presidential

Campaign This Week

Philosopher says some states are worried about census for opposite reasons....

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm discusses the census and a few other things this week.

Dear editor:

For some people the U.S. Census, now underway, is a worrisome thing.

As you know, the number of Congressmen a state has is based on the state's population. If a state loses population, it could lose a Congressman or two. If it gains population, it could gain one or two.

This has a lot of people worried. Some are worried their state will lose some Congressmen, others are worried their state will gain some.

The census figures don't affect Senators. Every state gets two, there's no way around it.

On a different subject, I read that the cost of a college education, the same as hamburger, is going up again. It now costs as much as $8,000 a year to keep a kid in some colleges, not counting feeding him when he's home for the summer. That's $32,000 for four years. More if he eats a lot.

This inflationary fact was being discussed by some coffee drinkers the other day and one of them said he knew a man who had six kids. Thinking about the $192,000 it'd cost if they all went to college, he called them in for a conference.

"Look," he said, "there's a large amount of honest work in this world that doesn't require a college education, and somebody has got to do it. In fact, it is the patriotic duty of a lot of us to stay ignorant."

Anything to fight inflation. By the way, some people are still mulling about the "mistaken" vote by the U.S. regarding Israel at the United Nations recently.

I don't know what all the fuss is about. Has any country ever paid any attention to a United Nations' vote? Moreover, what's so unusual about voting mistakenly? Millions of us have been doing it off and on for years.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Rex Harrison and Jimmy Nichols and their white water rafting party returned from a week on the Rio Grande Friday. Others in the group included Mitch Probasco, Al Howard and James Spurlock. The calm waters necessitated lots of rowing the vacationers report.

Mrs. Norma Hughes called from Los Angeles, California Saturday to talk with her mother, Mrs. Joe Dunn. Norma has had the flu, and is better now. Mrs. Dunn plans to visit her mother, Mrs. Hattie Fuqua, in the Bivens Rest Home in Amarillo on Mothers Day.

Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Bunch returned home Saturday from a Hawaiian vacation. The Floydada party included Mr. and Mrs. John Key West, Mr. and Mrs. Orville Newberry, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lawson, and Mr. and Mrs. L.C. Pruitt. They flew from Lubbock to Dallas and then eight hours later were in Hawaii. During their ten day tour they visited the four islands of Oahu, Kona, Maui, and Kauai. All the Floydada travelers had been sick or in the hospital recently and just took their daily pills and shots and kept right up with everything that was going on and had a great time.

Mrs. B.L. Breed's nephew Orville Poore, of Springfield, Missouri, visited her while he was in Floydada recently. Mr. Poore also visited an old friend W.C. Cates, in the rest home.

Mrs. Rex Harrison visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Snider in Amarillo Friday to Tuesday. Her boys, Brandon and Jason enjoyed visiting their grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson visited the Henry Brewer's Monday. They were on their way to Lubbock to visit his mother who is seriously ill in Methodist Hospital.

Mrs. R.C. Smith's visitors this week included Mona Dunn of Lockney and Mrs. Alta Smith of Dougherty, also Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrison relaxed at Lake Stamford Tuesday with his cousins, Mr. and Mrs. B.M. Harrison. They fished and ran the trot lines for a catch.

Mr. and Mrs. Rex McPherson (Kay Harrison) and Amy Harrison of Lubbock, visited Don and Ruth Harrison Saturday.

Center News

By Mrs. J.E. Green

The weather is mild, some clouds. We had a shower Sunday and some rain last week. Everything is beautiful and green. Time flies. We can hardly believe it is nearly vacation time. School is near-out.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cone of Wichita Falls, who have been visiting relatives here for a few days, left for home Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Edmondson of Phillips spent Thursday night and Friday with Mrs. Fred Battey.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas are home from a three weeks visit to relatives in California. Her sister, Mrs. Price Scott, who had been definitely on the sick list, seemed much improved because of their visit.

Callers at Miss Vera Meredith's last week were Mrs. Edna Patton, Josie Webb, Mrs. Jewell Walters, Carolyn Burton, Mrs. Green and Mrs. McPeak. Bro. and Mrs. Hollis Payne came Sunday evening after church and Bro. and Mrs. Clay Muncy came Monday.

Miss Esther Peck's visitors Friday were Mrs. Hanson, Wiley Rogers, Mrs. Green and Mrs. McPeak. Mrs. Bill Hambricht came Sunday afternoon.

Well, I guess this is it! My phone went out this morning or last night, so no more news for the present.

The Dale Millers had a virus going around in their family last week.

Congratulations to Thomas Warren and other successful candidates on their elections.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Adams and girls of Sudan visited Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Mayfield.

Mr. Floyd Starkey visited the Mayfields Saturday evening and Bob Bradford came over one afternoon.

Mrs. Elmer Warren visited Mrs. Leona Warren Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Brewer reports good rains at their home several miles southeast of town with water in the lakes.

Our sympathy and prayers are with those who have lost loved ones and with those who are seriously ill. Mrs. Watson Sr. of Lubbock, mother of Mildred Watson is in a Lubbock hospital.

And how we miss our long time friend, Sunday School and Calvary Baptist church member, Mrs. R.C. Ross. The Rosses were long time centerites too. We grieve with the loved ones.

Well, I guess this is it! My phone went out this morning or last night, so no more news for the present.
