Radio Station Sells To MBFA

Land D. Wall, Chairman of the Board of Directors for MBFA Communication Corporation of Lubbock, announced recently the acquisition of Floydada Radio Station KFLP (AM). The station, formerly owned by Petty D. (Bo) Johnson, has been on the air since 1951 and has previously presented a country and western music format. The sale of the station was approved by the Federal Communications Commission Wednesday, May 14.

SHERIFF CARDINAL demonstrates the lever system that closes and locks the cell doors in the newly completed County Jail.

MBFA Board Chairman, Wall comments, "This is our first radio station and we are excited about the possibilities KFLP affords us. We look forward to serving this listening area with the finest Christian music, station programming and spreading the Good News of Jesus Christ."

Tom Gilbreath, President of MBFA Communications Corporation, indicates that the new format for the station will feature all Christian music. He adds that there will be a heavier emphasis on local and regional news. Four minutes of news on the hour will alternate between the Texas State Network and local and regional news, using Associated Press Wire Service for regional information. Weather information will be received from the National Weather Service Weather Wire. A complete weather forecast, as well as current conditions will be given on the half hour.

Gilbreath adds, "We look forward to serving the area by providing the very posi-

County Jail Open For Public View Saturday

By Shelly Harris
Those of you who have never seen the inside of a jail will be able to indulge your curiosity Old Settlers day by attending the Open House at Floyd County's newest facility.

It's no Cell Block 8, and it's no Holiday Inn. It is a stripped-down, functional combination of concrete and steel built to the exacting standards of the Texas Commission of Jail Standards. It is that and no more.

In 1977 when the Jail Standards went into effect the Floyd County Building was short on all counts. The county was given a time limit to modernize the jail. Rather than float a bond or operate in the red, the Commissioners pledged the county revenue sharing money they had on hand and went about re-constructing the jail at a minimum cost to the taxpayers.

The Commissioners have been able to conduct the county business and comply with the State mandate on the jail without raising taxes or going into debt. They cut every cost they could and still meet the Standards Code. They have overseen the remodeling of a fine structure for which the County can be proud.

A new jail was needed. The old one was unsafe and nonfunctional. In the old jail, with all the cells on the second floor, it sometimes took four men to hoist a 200-pound drunk up the narrow flight of stairs. If a fire had broken out, very likely lives would have been lost.

In the new jail the drunk tank or detoxification unit is on the first floor right off the booking area. The benches are made of concrete and only eight inches off the floor. This is a jail standard so that the inebriate won't roll off a higher bench and hurt themselves. The floor gently slopes to a flushable drain in the middle. The flush control is on the outside of the unit. The room is windowless and bare and can be easily hosed down. Intoxicated people are often sick.

Does that give you some idea of the other world you'll be entering when you go through the jail? We've been through twice and found new and revealing installations each time. We can guarantee you that a tour through the building will be one of the most interesting you've ever had.

Dispatch Room
The heart of the building is the dispatch room. There are panels of switches and buttons on every wall. The Sheriff's Department radio system is there.

An intercom system allows the dispatcher to listen or communicate with persons in any part of the building. The sound system is so finely tuned that they can hear the pen scratching on paper if one of the prisoners is writing a letter. Vocal harassment of the jailers by prisoners is a common thing and this system allows the dispatcher to keep in touch with the prisoners without having to run up a flight of stairs, as they had to do in the old jail.

There is a panel that controls the lights in the entire building as well as heat and air conditioning. The smoke removal fans are also operated from that room.

A glass panel in the dispatchers office looks into the multi-purpose room next to it. That room is used for processing prisoners. Visitors also use the room.

The Sheriff's office and the deputies' office is on the first floor. The kitchen with a well stocked cupboard is right across the hall from the visiting booth.

Visiting Booth
The visiting booth is 4' x 8' and has a plate steel detention door. (More about those doors later). There are two visiting panels with speakers set in bullet proof glass looking into the visitors room. This glass set-up is another of the jail standards that prevents people from passing contraband through to the prisoners. I suggested files and knives, but Sheriff

Museum Hosts Open House Friday Night

The Floyd County Historical Museum will host an open house from 6:30 - 8 p.m. Friday as a prelude to the Floyd County Old Settlers' festivities, according to Virginia Taylor, museum board member.

Refreshments will be served at the Museum and visitors will get an early look at the exhibits which have been changed and updated this week, said Mrs. Taylor.

Among the displays will be the Indian artifacts excavated from the Montgomery Ranch site by Texas Tech University graduate student Marty Northern, according to Jim Word. Underwriting the expenses of the student making the dig were the First National Bank, Floyd County Farm Bureau, City Auto and Jim Word.

Another display will include whittling, lathe work and models by area woodcrafters Mac Willson, Ian Moore and Jim Word.

Businesses on the north side of the square will join in the Museum's celebration by remaining open from 6:30 - 7:30 p.m. Friday.

"We are proud of what the Museum has accomplished in the few short years it has been open," said David Kirk. Kirk & Sons will be open for business and will welcome visitors, he continued.

A membership drive for the Friends of the Library will open with an "Early Bird" book sale to begin at 6:30 p.m. Friday at Allen's T.V. Sales and Service. Members signing up at that time are invited to browse through the used books and make their selections before the books go on sale to the public Saturday morning, according to Janice Lloyd, president of the Friends. Membership dues are $5 per year. Those who have intended to donate books for the sale are invited to bring those books in to Allen's anytime Thursday, she said.

Art Southwest has invited area artists and craftsmen to bring displays of work to sell during the open-house hours and all day on Old Settlers, said owner Winnie Carthel.

"The Hesperian will have a historical display and staff members will be present to welcome guests from 6:30 - 7:30 p.m.," said publisher Shelly Harris.

Play Day To Be Held For Children

Field events, fun activities and gate prizes will be a few of the highlights of the first Old Settler's Play Day Saturday at the Floydada High School Track Field.

The events will begin at 9 a.m. and children are invited to come and spend the morning at the track and enter the events. There is no admission charge for the track and field events for participants or spectators.

Each child will receive a ticket at the gate which will be placed in a hopper for gate prizes that will be given during the day. The prizes have been donated by Floydada merchants. The child must be present to win.

Winning or placing in the events will entitle the child to additional tickets for the drawings. A grand prize will be given at the conclusion of the Play Day.

Most of the activities are geared for young people in grades one through eight. High school age youth are also invited to attend and cheer the younger ones and participate in some of the events such as the dunk tank, made available by the Band Boosters.

An example of the schedule and one of the main events is the "Treasure Hunt." Participants will be given the chance to hunt for quarters buried in a large pile of sawdust. In this sawdust will also be a Susan B. Anthony dollar, which the holder can exchange for a $25 Savings Bond.

Cindy Dudley and Pam Bennett will help with events for three and four-year olds. Among the competitions are a tricycle race, a stick horse race, an egg in spoon competition and a mother-and-child three legged race.

In addition to the free events, there will be three pay-event booths. The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a "Sponge Throw."

Alpha Sigma Epsilon Sorority will have a face painting booth.

The Eastern Star will have baked goods for sale and the 1956 Junior Study Club will sell homemade ice cream.

The Band Boosters will have a concession stand with soft drinks, hot dogs, nachos and candy.

The Boy Scouts and the Jaycees will assist with the events.

The Band Boosters invite parents to bring their children and join in the fun at the track Saturday.

THE JUNIOR FRIENDS of the Library, a new service organization for young men and women who are interested in libraries, will participate in the annual membership drive for the Friends of the Library on Saturday May 24. These young citizens will be circulating in the crowd during the Old Settler's Reunion soliciting memberships to the Floyd County Friends of the Library. They will be easily identified by their green and white "Junior Friends" T-shirts.

Early Day Fisherman Enjoy The Catch

By Joyce Williams
Back in the days when country people got caught up with their farming about the last of July or first of August, Lakeview and Mt. Blanco communities used to go to the canyon for fish fries.

Uncle Bash Massie was foreman of the T Bar Ranch, where the owner, Col. Thomas Montgomery, slept in the dining room and hung his extra shirt on a nail on the wall. Blanco River ran from knee deep to waist deep.

The river was only a few yards from the ranch house and catfish, perch, bass and carp were so thick fishermen often flung their cane poles aside, jumped in and caught the fish with their hands.

The women of the community would bake quantities of bread. Families would gather to cook and eat the fish the men had caught earlier to catch. They stored them in torn sacks anchored in the river bed until the fry.

Mr. Earl Bishop was the acknowledged head cook. He had a knack for both catching and cooking the channel cat and other fish brought out in one to three pound sizes. People didn't go to town so often then, before World War I and World War II. They treasured the few days off from work for visits, with neighbors and kin.

As gasoline prices continue to mount, Floyd County people again look about for places close to home where neighbors can relax after work and the children run free at play.

Cardinal said, "it would more likely be some form of drugs."

By the way, there were no prisoners in the building when I was there, but there were three healthy marijuana plants in the detoxification unit that had been confiscated and were being held as evidence. There is also a locked closet in the Sheriff's office that contains evidence. I was surprised to see that quite a bit of that evidence was Coors beer.

Other interesting things on the first floor are a telephone in a lockable recessed box for that "one call" the prisoner is allowed to make. The other innovation is four locked boxes inset next to the door leading to the cells upstairs. Those boxes are for the Sheriff or the deputies to leave their guns before going upstairs. They never go to the second or third floor armed.

Stairwell

New construction on the building is a 636 sq. ft. stairwell that can be entered from the south door of the building or from the inside hall. The stairwell is a self-contained unit enclosed on all floors by detention doors. These doors are made of plate steel, reinforced, and welded according to the standards code. The stairwell is the life-line of the building and the first thing a prisoner sees when he is brought in through that south entrance.

A small table by the door is used for booking the prisoner. Finger prints are taken there. If the person's problem is intoxication, the drunk tank opens right off this anteroom.

Detention Cells

The cells are on the second floor. Capacity of the jail is thirteen, four in the detoxification unit, and nine in cells. There are two double cells, two single cells, and three separation cells. One of those solitary cells is on the second floor and will be used mostly for the trustees. The other two separation cells are the only cells on the third floor. These are used for women or juvenile prisoners.

Most of the third floor is a large open exercise area. Architect Edward Stein said "the beauty of this building is its flexibility, they can use it as it's needed."

The separation cells can also be used for prisoners with a contagious disease or one that is violent or presents a problem that makes it necessary for him to be kept from the other prisoners.

The cell doors are opened and shut from a lever system in a boxed unit outside the cells. That steel box has a series of four different type locks.

The sinks and showers have a special timed faucet arrangement that only lets out so much water at a time, to prevent prisoners from flooding the cells. The lights are recessed in the wall behind unbreakable glass. The cots and tables are heavy steel and bolted to the floor or wall. Every precaution has been taken to insure the prisoners safety, and to protect the building itself.

The second and third floors are painted cameo gray. The walls are gray, the floor, the bars, the cots, the tables, the chairs, the ceiling. All painted gray. The color is selected for jails because it is easier to keep clean, it reflects light, and in my opinion is probably the greatest deterrent to returned criminals that the jail has.

Special feature of the new facility is the much publicized life safety equipment. Huge exhaust smoke fans are installed on every floor. The stairwell is self-sealing. No flammable material is exposed in the upper levels. The building gives a sense of solif security, both from within and without.

Total construction cost was $225,531. The old building was 4636 sq. ft. The addition of the stairwell enlarged the building to 5272 sq. ft. at a cost of $42 per square foot. Actual cost to Floyd County tax payers was reduced to $37 per square foot because of the $29,230 matching funds grant for the life safety equipment. New jail construction now costs about $100 per square foot.

The building is centrally heated and cooled. The first floor has refrigerated air conditioning, the second and third floors are water cooled. Each floor has heating and cooling that can be operated independently, so that unused floors may be closed off.

The County Agricultural Building will also be having Open House May 24. This building houses the County Extension Service and the Human Resources Department. That building was gutted and completely remodeled this year. The Human Resources paid all but $10,000 of the $80,000 renovation bill. The County owns the building.

Our Town

THE WOMEN'S PUMPER TEAM of the Floydada Fire Department will sell coffee and cinnamon rolls at 9 a.m. Saturday on the square. Proceeds will help defray expenses of the group to the state convention in Dallas.

THE BAND BOOSTERS invite parents to bring their children to the "Play Day" activities planned for the young people in town for the Old Settler's Day activities. Events will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Floydada High School track field. No entry fees will be charged. Various clubs will have booths at which there will be charges and the concession stand will be open.

SPECIAL ENTERTAINMENT planned for the Old Settler's Day will begin immediately after the parade at the platform on the courthouse square. On the program is the Hee Haw group from Silverton, consisting of 25-30 members. Playing at the noon hour will be a local ensemble, the Stapp Band, said H.E. Frizzell, who is in charge of the special entertainment for the day.

Mental Health

By LaVada Garrett

I received a letter from John Stevens, state president of the Mental Health Association thanking me for my position of chairperson for the Mental Health Association in Floydada. Being connected in a small way to the Central Plains MHMR Center located in the Central Plains area, I have become aware of the need for the fight against mental illness and promoting mental health.

I am aware that there are many in my community who need to know some facts about mental illness. What is the Mental Health Association? It is a citizen's group working for the mentally ill and promoting mental health. The Association operates at three levels: local, state and national.

Local chapters and units develop community programs, provide local officials and service—providers regarding mental health, and provide mental health information to the community. The state division distributes informational materials, acts as liaison with state governmental agencies for better mental health care, and provides statewide leadership.

The national headquarters determines nationwide mental health trends, develops educational materials, influences legislation, supports research and coordinates state MHA activities.

One million Texans will need psychiatric help in the next five years. Mental illness and emotional disturbances affect more Americans than cancer and heart disease combined. Depression is the number one emotional disorder and most mental problems can be cured if detected and caught in time.

Mental illness is not prejudice it sets upon black, white, male, female, old, young, male and female. The pressures of our very existence sometimes get the best of us in spite of our environment, our social status and our determination to try and please and do what is expected of us. Because of the stress of each individual this sometimes becomes a burden we can take.

Stress, pressure, fear, insecurity or the lack of self-esteem, divorce, abused children, jealousy, and illness, loneliness and rejection are just a few of the things that help bring on mental illness. The Mental Health Association provides education and film and free public information on mental health subjects, including the Citizen Advocate, a monthly publication.

The Association provides legislation action at the state level to improve community-based human services, special school children's services, and gives guidance and support to local MHA Chapters and units. The problems of society are complex and the solutions are not simple, but the basic ingredients to make things better are caring and resolve," says president John Stevens.

Do not dismiss ourselves from such an important and complex issue? The answer is NO; in Floydada we are all in this together. I solicit your help, time and contributions to such a noble cause. For your convenience, set up an account for Mental Health Contributions at the First National Bank of Floydada. We have only until June 6 and we might miss someone who would just love to contribute. Your contributions will be run in our local newspaper weekly if you wish. Thank you in advance for "Helping Somebody." Your Mental Health Chairperson

ENHANCE COMFORT
In warm-weather areas an old standby... fan.

When are scrambling ways to enhance with higher cooling rates and reduced humidity. In homes with recirculated air, an electric fan, thermostat may seem warm or uncomfortable. Adding a circulating fan to the room will result in the same comfort as a 74 degrees F. setting. Circulation of air in the room will speed up evaporation of moisture from the skin and will result in an increased cooling sensation.

Homes not cooled by refrigerated air may also benefit from the use of both circulating and ventilating fans. By placing a ventilating fan in or near a raised window, it is possible to "cool down" one or more rooms by exhausting indoor and sucking in cooler air from outside through another window or door. Ventilating is usually most effective at night or when outdoor air is cooler than air inside the home.

The best type fan to buy depends on use. Several types of circulating fans are available, including the familiar oscillating fan and the old-time ceiling fan. Window-mounted fans are used for ventilation purposes. Box fans are somewhat unique in that they can be used both to ventilate and to circulate air.

Next issue: Circulating fans.

Baptists Honor FHS Seniors With Party

The senior class of Floydada High School was honored with an evening of quality entertainment at the annual Baptist senior party held May 6 at the Plains Baptist Assembly.

The evening of fun and fellowship was kicked off with a rather damp game of volleyball. Following the sports activity, the group was ready for some good Western grub.

Mesquite wood and railroad ties contributed to the Western theme and set the atmosphere for a meal of barbecued beef, beans, tossed salad, cherry cobbler and iced tea served in tin cans. Plate favors were miniature wishing wells and lucky pennies. The supper and decorations were prepared by mothers of the Baptist seniors.

Dr. Floyd C. Bradley, pastor of Floydada First Baptist Church, welcomed the senior class. Todd Hambricht gave the opening prayer.

An entertaining skit was then presented by seven members of the class. The cast dramatized a thoroughly entertaining collection of "remember whens" as seen through the eyes of the class members 50 years in the future.

Bobbie Miller, Minister of music and youth and David Seay, Education Director, both of FBC, then gave the class a test in endurance as they combined their musical talents with an interlude of profound meaning.

Guest speaker for the evening was Mike Lundy, of the Baptist Student Union, Texas Tech University. He gave an inspirational message issuing the youth a challenge to look to God's leadership for decisions in the future.

David Seay closed the program with a prayer.

Family Poses Challenge

A four generation family "generates" excitement — and confusion, as it pioneers its way through a "multi-role" world for each member.

Dr. Betty Jo Smith, a family life education specialist, says it's important to recognize the different roles each member plays in order to face the challenges they pose.

First, admit that all the different roles can become quite confusing, she advises. Here are some examples:

The youngest family member is simply "child" — but child to three different generations of "parents."

His parents, of course, are parents — but they also play the role of "child" to two other sets of "parents."

Next, understand the confusion, and face the challenges in that understanding frame of mind.

What's unusual for these families — especially for the eldest members — is that there are no role models for them to follow.

And, of course, life has changed considerably since they were children.

So they're left without a pattern to follow, along with the challenge of understanding the youngest generation's lifestyles, says Dr. Smith, on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

What about the middle-agers in this family?

Middle-aged parents, who had looked forward to extra free time of their own when their children would be independent, now find that there are elderly parents who need their care.

And these roles sometimes conflict when there are elderly parents, children or grandchildren who need attention all at the same time.

This unique situation has become commonplace only in the last few years, Dr. Smith says.

Currently half of the people in the United States over age 65 who have living children are members of four generation families.

Many of these great-grandparents never expected to live so long, nor to enjoy the delights — and the challenges — which four generations of a family can provide.

But even with role conflict, the family remains the haven for each generation, Dr. Smith stresses.

It is still within the family unit that support and care are most likely to be found — as four-generation families venture into these new areas of human relationships, she says.

But even with role conflict, the family remains the haven for each generation, Dr. Smith stresses.

Agency Plans Tax Rule Change

State Comptroller Bob Bullock says he plans to change his agency's tax rules to allow beneficiaries to use a simpler, shorter return to report inheritance taxes.

The new rule, which is not expected to be formally adopted until mid-summer, will raise the dollar limit for taxpayers using the small estate return from $60,000 to $200,000.

"There will be less paperwork and, therefore, it will be easier and quicker to settle estates," Bullock said. The two-page short form being suggested can be used instead of a longer and more complicated form that sometimes runs as much as 15 pages, he said.

The rule will have no effect on tax exemptions that beneficiaries are entitled under state law.

Bullock said that an additional 8,000 inheritance returns a year would be eligible to file the short form. The Comptroller's office processes about 40,000 inheritance tax returns annually and about half of those are already settled with the filing of a simple declaration that no tax is due.

A surviving spouse, children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law may inherit up to $200,000 before state inheritance tax is due.

Taxes are due and a tax return must be filed on all estates within nine months of the date of death.

BBB Files Complaint

Several weeks ago, your Better Business Bureau released an alert to the South Plains area concerning a company called Vegas International. This company, according to the BBB was using unethical advertising practices in selling their Las Vegas trip plan. The unethical practices centered around two points: 1) the company was phoning South Plains residents and claiming they had "won" a vacation trip (this is entirely false, since it appears that everyone on a "free" trip at the South Plains Fair, received a phone call); and 2) Several consumers complained that upon receiving a phone call, they were asked for a credit card number and although not authorizing its use, Vegas International used that number to charge their (customer) credit card for the vacation plan.

As a result of the BBB inquiries and consumer complaints, the local Attorney General's office filed an Assurance of Voluntary Compliance Order in the 72nd District Court, Lubbock, TX on May 1, 1980. Vegas International thereby agrees to cease their unethical practices and also are being assessed a $1500 fine.

LAKEVIEW NEWS

By Joyce Williams

A cousin Mrs. Dee Adams had not seen in forty-five years dropped in at her house Friday. Mrs. Imogene Knight Benson of Duncan, Oklahoma, was on her way to visit her son in Lubbock and recalled her cousin, Nita Lou, had always lived near Floydada, gave her a call, and came by for a visit. Mrs. Benson's father and Nita's mother were brother and sister and the families used to visit here and in Gainsville when the cousins were children.

Another friend from out of the past was Mrs. Earl Edward's recent visitor, Mrs. Delise McGuire, of Liston, England, who was also visiting her son in Lubbock. It truly is the hub city. Mrs. McGuire grew up in Floydada, graduated from Floydada High School as Define Mitchell. She now lives with a son whose business is in England.

Mrs. Kathy Green came over from Lubbock last week for Sunday dinner with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Billy Joe Hambricht. Her grandmother, Mrs. Viola Brown, also was a dinner guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Apple visited recently in Dallas with their daughter, Phyllis, and her husband, Charles Farley, and children. Then Wayne and Bertha went on to Ft. Worth to visit their daughter, Beverly, and her husband Lon Conner, and children, and Bertha's sister, Mrs. Wynell Rogers.

Congratulations to Kathie Battey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Battey, on being elected a Junior-Varsity cheerleader at Floydada High School.

Roland Adams and daughter, Misty, of Lubbock met his grandfather, W.L. Craft, of Roaring Springs, at his mother's house for Mother's Day dinner. Nig Adams was also at the Dee Adams' for the family gathering.

Mrs. Howard Bishop ate lunch at the home of her father, Sid Brown, with her sister, Mrs. Bob Teal and Mrs. Pete Calloway of Lubbock last Saturday, after the bridal shower for Nancy's niece, Kellie Brian and Monte Williams. After lunch the Teals, Calloways, Brians and Mrs. Bishop went out to Q.D. Williams ranch to help Kellie arrange her wedding presents where they will remain until the Army moves them to Ft. Sill, Oklahoma. Their household goods will be picked up next month by the Army.

Friday after school, Judge and Mrs. Choise Smith and children, Jodi, Dean and Hunter, went to White River to fish. They met Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Parker and children of Ralls at the Parker's cabin. Choise and Wayne are old Indian scouting buddies and their scouts have trod about every Indian campsite in West Texas, and many in New Mexico. The Parker's children are Scarlett, named for Choise's beautiful sister, and Jay Rhett, named for guess who. The Smiths and Parkers had good luck with their fishing.

Mrs. Henry Brewer has about 110 laying hens and sells eggs to the Azteca Cafe in town, along with all her other enterprises. Last Monday she stopped at the greenhouse between Crosbyton and Ralls and bought watermelon plants. She reports the place was full of blooming petunias, watermelons being picked, strawberry plants and rose bushes—everything to make a gardener want to get busy.

Mrs. Linda Hall and daughters, Kandi and Kristi of Clovis, New Mexico visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fawver Saturday for lunch. Leslie and Jonelle Fawver came over for a visit Sunday night and Mrs. T.T. Hamilton dropped in for a visit Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Buell Neff returned home Monday afternoon after being gone to San Antonio for a month, visiting her daughter, Nellie, and husband Jack Johnson and family. Ona Ruth had originally intended to just stay two weeks but they talked her into staying another week for Mother's Day. Then Jack had to go to Texarkana on business and asked her to stay another week with Nellie and the girls, so she did. The Johnsons will move to Luling after school is out. Their daughter, Jackie, age fifteen, went down early to enroll and was chosen for the baseball team and pep squad. Nellie's son, Tony is thirteen. Mrs. Neff flew back to Lubbock where her son, Donald, met her at the airport Saturday. They all went to Dwain Neff's Coronado High School baccalaureate ceremony at the coliseum Saturday night. Dwain is a tall six feet three inches now, taller than his father. His fiancée, Tammi Paden is also graduating this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Holt Bishop had the Howard Bishops over for supper Friday night. Mike and Greg Bishop are both home from Texas Tech, however Mike returned this week to work in the entomology department.

Judge and Mrs. Choise Smith, and sons Hunter and Dean visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flukie Smith, in Lubbock Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Gentry's daughter, Tammy, was named Outstanding Medical Secretarial student of the graduating class at South Plains College in Levelland. She is now employed at University Hospital and living in Lubbock. Their daughter Trava was named Outstanding English student at the same college. She will be a sophomore. Congratulations, girls.

Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Hartsell, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Pike Hanna were in Carlsbad, New Mexico from Thursday through Saturday visiting the Hartsell's daughter Carolyn and her husband, H.D. Lambreth and children. While there the Floydada group toured the Caverns.

Last Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harrison were their daughter Gail, her husband Bill Howard, and their children, Heather and Alicia.

Graveside services were held Monday morning at Plainview for Mrs. Ruby Hodges, mother of Mrs. Wayne Battey, grandmother of Jerry Battey. Lakeview people who attended included Mr. and Mrs. W.H. Bunch, Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harrison, Mrs. William Bertrand, and Mrs. Holt Bishop.

BEGINNER MINDY MATSLER does her part for the Bike-a-thon for Muscular Dystrophy. She had just learned how to ride on Friday but was able to ride 14 miles on Saturday.

Foreign Invention
The log cabin, traditional symbol of the American frontier, was a foreign invention, a building style brought to the New World by Swedish and German immigrants.

Oldest River
Despite its name, West Virginia's New River is actually the oldest river in North America, maintaining its ancient course for a hundred million years. It also is probably the most concentrated dose of white water in the United States - with 21 major rapids in one 15-mile stretch.

Eyeshine
A sort of mirror known as a tapetum reflects light that enters the eyes of some animals, aiding their night vision. Cats, dogs, raccoons, bullfrogs, alligators, and spiders all have this "Eyeshine," which sometimes makes their eyes appear to glow.

Who benefits from supplemental retirement plans such as IRA and HR-10?
These plans are designed to benefit any working American. Most work because of necessity and most, when they quit work, need and want retirement income... a result of their past efforts. Unfortunately, a high percentage of this work force either changes jobs before becoming eligible for retirement or work where there is no retirement plan. On September 1, 1974, President Ford signed into law a portable retirement plan, making it possible to have a retirement income even if you must change jobs frequently or work where there is no retirement plan. Portable retirement plans that work for the earning individual is what IRA (Individual Retirement Account) and HR-10 (Keogh) are all about. Learning your ABC's... planning for the future.

ODDLY ENOUGH

A generally accepted yarn about the yard is that it was established as a unit of measure by King Henry I of England—it was the distance from the point of his nose to the end of his thumb when his arm was outstretched.

The accepted way to measure electricity is the kilowatt. The Edison unit of electricity is called the hour. In an hour, you can operate a 100-watt light bulb for one hour, you use 100 watt-hours of electricity.

Alternate Energy Meet In June

Ray and Friday, June 13. Lubbock will be the site for an "Alternate Energy Symposium" to be held in the Lubbock Civic Center.

The symposium is being sponsored by the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, Small Business Union, Small Business Administration and Texas Tech University.

The scope of the symposium will be "Alternate Energy Sources for Agriculture and Small Business."

Expected attendance is 1,000 participants and is expected to be present at the symposium.

The symposium will be held from 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. on Thursday and Friday, June 13 and 14.

The keynote speaker will be Dr. Charles Neil of the Texas Tech College of Business Administration.

The keynote address will be presented by Bill Holmberg, Alcohol Fuels Division of the DOE.

Alcohol fuels represent a flag at the Alamo, around which farmers and others can rally to regain energy independence for rural communities.

That level of enthusiasm and patriotism makes people vulnerable to snake-oil salesmen.

An overview of the symposium will be given on Friday morning by Dr. Marion Hagler, Texas Tech University, prior to the workshops, beginning at 9:30 a.m.

One of the main purposes of the symposium is to help prospective producers and users of alternate energy (especially alcohol fuels) avoid "snake-oil" and related pitfalls in the rapidly expanding field of alcohol fuels.

The overall objective of the speakers at the symposium will be to present concise, substantiated information on the various subjects as well as answer all questions participants may have.

Listed on separate sheets is a complete synopsis of the different workshops that will be available during the symposium; also listed on separate sheets is a partial list of symposium speakers.

There's been a lot of talk about upgrading the Russian agricultural system but in all fairness, Russia has come up with the most productive, most innovative, most dependable method of raising grain in the history of mankind. It's called Iowa.

Tracy Warren To Represent Panhandle Firemen As Mascot

The Panhandle Firemen's Convention in Amarillo was well represented as over 225 firemen and their wives registered for the various activities this past weekend.

The women's pumper team from Floydada finished with a fourth place win for their first time in a major competition.

Both the men's and women's polo teams lost in the second round of play.

One of the highlights of the convention was the election of Tracy Warren, son of Jerry and Ginger Warren of Floydada, to represent the Panhandle Firemen's Association as mascot for 1980-81.

Bobby Welborn was elected third vice-president and the following Floydada Fire Department members served as committee representatives:

Dinks Eckert - Finance, Jerry Warren - By-laws and Resolutions, and Nancy Welborn - Registration.

Attending the convention from Floydada were: Billy and Betty Marquis, Bobby and Nancy Welborn, Jerry and Ginger Warren, Larry and Rhonda Guthrie, Jerry and LeAnn Neeley, Beth Eckert, Joe Covington, and Marliis Stowe.

Plans are now under way for the state convention in Dallas in June. To help meet expenses of registration and entry fees, the women's pumper team will have a fund raising project on Old Settler's Day.

Airman Kit Carson Completes Basic Training

Airman Kit A. Carson, son of Forrest A. Carson of Matador, Texas, has been assigned to Chanute Air Force Base, Ill., after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, in San Antonio, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

Coffee and homemade cinnamon rolls will be sold at a booth on the square beginning at 9:00 a.m. Saturday morning. Also, dishes of homemade ice cream will be sold beginning at 11:00 a.m.

Members of the women's pumper team will be riding in the parade on Old Settler's Day and they invite everyone to come by their booth Saturday to help support the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department.

Sun Tanning Harmful To Skin, Says AMA

What does your doctor think of sun tanning?

He's against it. If you should ask your doctor whether there is any health value to sun tanning, he would have to answer "No." If you asked him whether sun tanning might hurt you, he would have to reply "Yes."

Sunning, overdone, can cause severe burn. Sunning, done modestly, can produce a golden tan that gives an illusion of health and well being. But that golden tan often leads to premature aging and wrinkling of the skin, to premature "age spots" on the hands and neck, and to skin cancer.

So, once again, the American Medical Association advises Americans everywhere against suntanning.

But, your doctor also is well aware that millions of Americans will ignore this advice this summer. They will flock to the swimming pools and beaches through the warm months to bask in the sun. They will stretch out on the grass in the back yard, or on the roof terrace, or in the nearest park.

If you insist on getting a tan this summer despite medical advice to the contrary, here's how to do it without burning.

On the first day of sunning, allow 15 minutes on each side. The second day 20 minutes. The third day 25 to 30 minutes. By the third day the skin should begin to brown. Thereafter proceed at the best pace for your own skin to tan without burning. At the first sign of redness, get out of the sun.

It isn't easy to confine sun time to only half an hour on the first day at the vacation resort. But you can't stretch it very much. If you try to double the exposure time to hurry the tan, you'll burn. And then return from vacation with a peeling skin instead of a tan.

Time of exposure also should be adjusted to time of day. The sun's rays are hottest between 10 a.m. and 2 p.m. After 5 p.m. you aren't likely to burn much.

There are creams and lotions that screen some of the rays and reduce danger of burning. But if the cream should screen all rays, there would be no tanning. You can still burn through creams if you stay out long enough. Also, water in the pool or perspiration washes away much of the cream in a short time.

Tanning removes most of the natural oils from the surface of the skin and many sunbathers find it helpful to use a cream or oil to relieve dryness.

Enjoy the outdoor life of the summer months. Don't overdo the suntanning.

Historical Markers Preserve Heritage

More than 7,200 Texas Historical Markers dot the state's diverse terrain, forming a living and permanent narrative of the people, places, and events that comprise Texas heritage and tell Texas' story. From the age of the Indian hunter, through colonial and frontier settlement, into the eras of cattle barons and oil booms, these historical markers stimulate our imaginations to recreate and appreciate in the present those formative happenings of the past.

Since the early 1800s commemorative stones and plaques have been preserving incidents of Texas' past. Private individuals and organizations such as the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, Daughters of the American Revolution, United Daughters of the Confederacy, and Daughters of the American Colonists have marked many historic sites. The state and its taxpayers have carried on strong public marking programs as well, beginning with the Eighth Texas Legislature in 1860.

From these beginnings evolved the current marker program, administered by the Texas Historical Commission, the official state agency for historic preservation. The THC is responsible for awarding Official Texas Historical Markers and designating Recorded Texas Historic Landmarks.

The familiar black and silver cast iron Texas Historical Medallion and interpretive plate add a touch of dignity and pride to buildings, landmarks, and historic sites, and identify and preserve the significant contributions of individuals, families, and groups who have helped shape modern Texas. Virtually all aspects of the state's past are eligible for nomination for a marker. The official application and research procedures assures the final marker inscription will be an accurate reflection of the events commemorated.

Under the current program the financing and research for a marker is provided at the county level, usually by members of the county historical commission, the official arm of the state agency.

Applications are then approved by a state marker committee composed of members of the Texas Historical Commission. A marker on Medallion cannot be placed on historic properties without the consent of the owner. The current marking program has been in existence since 1962, and is carried out with the aid of the Texas Historical Foundation, a nonprofit organization actively supporting heritage preservation activities.

The traveler in Texas will find six different types of historical markers. The familiar Medallion and Interpretive plate indicates structures which have received Recorded Texas Historic Landmark status. Numbered markers give a brief history of the county in which they are located, telling the origin of the county name and the first elected officials.

Historical grave markers are smaller Medallions and interpretive plates at graves of individuals who made lasting contributions to Texas history, locally or statewide.

Granite markers are also found every five miles along the route of the former El Camino Real. These markers were placed between 1916 and 1919 by the state with the help of the Daughters of the American Revolution to commemorate the first long highway on the American continent. State Highway 21 often coincides or parallels this historic route.

Historical markers are placed as near as possible to the historic site or event they honor. The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation has cooperated extensively in the placement of markers along highways and has designed other roadway signs indicating location of markers.

If you are interested in commemorating a person, event, or historic site with a Texas Historical Marker, contact your county historical commission chairman. Every marker application submitted to the Texas Historical Commission must bear the signature of the county chairman or designated marker committee chairman. The county chairman can help you understand the procedures in applying for a marker and often can assist in gathering research, photographs and other materials.

For further information contact the Research Department, Texas Historical Commission, P.O. Box 12276, Austin, TX 78711.

Kelli Helms Makes State Special Olympics

Determination, courage and strength are qualities that are required of individuals to succeed in many facets of life. Kelli Helms, the 20 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Helms of Floydada, demonstrated her proficiency in all three areas as she is currently participating in the State Special Olympics held in Austin May 18-24.

Kelli qualified for the state meet in four categories: long jump, mile run, gymnastics and relay team. The Regional qualifying competition was held March 29 in Lubbock.

Special Olympics is an annual competition sponsored by local merchants. The program benefits handicapped children and adults as they participate in specially designed athletic events.
