Hail Suppression Vote

Sandhill, Providence, Harmony, Almond, West Lockney

By Shelly Harris

Qualified voters in five precincts of Floyd County will have their say on the weather modification question as they go to the polls June 11. Those precincts represent one-fourth of the voting population of Floyd County. The other county residents will not be able to vote their preference on a question that many feel will affect them all.

Floyd County is not in a unique position on this. There are other counties, and precincts within counties that surround the target area, who will not be able to vote.

In order to make their preference known those who are against cloud seeding, Citizens for Natural Weather, hired Otice Green Associates in Lubbock. The agency has sent press releases to newspapers in the South Plains area. The group has taken out ads and has purchased billboard space.

The Plains Weather Improvement Association has given interviews and has taken out ads to acquaint voters with their viewpoint.

snowpack in the early 1980's, increase rainfall in the High Plains in the late 1980's, and reduce hurricane winds and hail damage by the 1990's. But until then it is too uncertain a science to do anything that is not potentially devastating."

He added that currently there is no method to accurately determine various temperature and pressure readings from individual clouds. However, new technology, including satellites, will aid the science in developing.

Royce Carthel, president of the Plains Weather Improvement Association, said in an article in the Plainview Herald, "We feel weather modification is a good tool for farmers, just like fertilizer. I wish we could prove our point better, but how are you going to find out about it unless you do it?"

To counter charges from opponents of weather modification that the program actually decreases rainfall and does not reduce damaging hail Carthel said, "If they can prove that our program stops rain or has any ill effects, you better believe that the state Water Resources Commission would have us shut down immediately. But we have had one lawsuit and several court hearings and it has been proven in court that we haven't hurt anyone or anything."

Ross Lumsden, a Littlefield area farmer said in a Plainview Herald article, "Our records show that roughly our rainfall decreased by at least 10 inches per year during the 10 years they (the weather improvement group) operated here."

In another Herald article Earl Cosby of Tulia, said, "We want everyone to understand that we are not a bunch of radicals, but we definitely feel that it does affect our rainfall. With the increasing cost of irrigation energy, people are going to start worrying more about trying to stop the hail and, with it, the moisture." While Swisher County is not included in the proposed target area, Cosby feels that the weather modification activities will adversely affect weather in that county.

An article in the Lamb County Leader News, Nolan Henson of Happy, co-chairman of the Citizens for Natural Weather, said, "if you feel as we do, that cloud seeding should not be done over your county, you can help."

TE is a turtle who shares guard duty with a pomeranian in the Gordan Kirtley's. The turtle has lived with the Kirtley family for years, traveling with them from California. Charlotte's diet is dandelions, grass, lettuce and she is a Deser Tortoise, weighs 10 pounds and has not changed since Dennis Kirtley brought her with him. She is a state-protected reptile in Texas and a permit is required to own her. They kept her with a wet towel to keep cool on the trip to Texas. The Kirtley's can't keep a garden because Charlotte eats the vegetation. She lives under the house and is adapted to the different climatic conditions here. She breathes through her porous shell. Friendly with the local tortoise population, Charlotte will fight her own species. The turtles will get next to each other and pull their head in and push against one another in an effort to turn the other one over, according to the Kirtleys. (Photo by Tom Burns)

Kelly Helms Wins Gold Medal

By Beth Pratt

Kelly Helms recently won the State Special Olympics in Austin every event in which she competed. Helms, daughter of Mrs. Adrian Helms, brought home medals from the Special Olympics in Austin recently. She was first in gymnastics, the mile run and the long jump. She is a resident of Floydada in Lubbock. She is the MBFA representative, it provides a living environment for young

State School (Freedom Hall had three other athletes participating)," said Larry Vetter, activity director at Freedom Hall.

Steve Lehman, a houseparent, and Vetter helped Kelly train for the events through an exercise program and running.

In a practice meet in Plainview, Kelly won every event that she entered. In the regional competition at Lubbock Kelly took first place in gymnastics, the standing long jump and the mile run with a time of 8.46:4.

Three boys from Lubbock and Kelly also participated in Austin in the shuttle relay at the State Special Olympics. The Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr.

Foundation provides funds for the medals and expenses of the Special Olympics, created to give handicapped persons an opportunity for fulfillment through sports events.

A former classmate of Kelly Helms said, "Kelly was in a ballet class with me and she was very talented in gymnastics... she could outdo all of us!"

Congratulations, Kelly -- your hometown folks are proud of you and admire your courage and determination.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL for children from the ages of 3 years and up will be held June 9-13 at the Calvary Baptist Church. Pastor Hollis Payne invites all interested children to attend.

There are authorities with statistics to back both opposing views. Weather scientists, meteorologists, have not been able to agree on the issue.

Farmers who have lost their crops to devastating hails say that they cannot hold on another year if they are hailed out again. Farmers who have watched their crops wither and die for lack of water say that if they don't get rain they can't hold on another year.

In an attempt to summarize what has been said, both pro and con, and, we hope to deal fairly with both sides, we are printing a run-down on the weather modification controversy.

Dan True was involved in cloud seeding when it first began in 1946. He is now a meteorologist for KOB-TV in Albuquerque, New Mexico, and is consultant for Citizens for Natural Weather. In a write-up in the Castro County News, he was quoted as saying, "Any attempts now with weather modification are purely experimental with no results or proof."

True said to seed a cloud, many things need to be measured. The ice nuclei per cubic yard, the salt crystals and meteoric dust need to be tested. But at this time, there is no accurate measure of these substances. Each cloud is different and has to be treated that way.

He said it was extremely risky to seed a cloud without knowing its strength. True said that if a "super-cell" thunderstorm is seeded, hail will increase and so will the possibility of tornadoes."

Quoting Harlan Cleveland, chairman of the Weather Modification Advisory Board, before a U.S. Senate committee in 1979, True explained that testimony, "through increased research, it appears that we will be able to increase mountain

Crime Call Readied

Crime Call of Floyd County, Inc. will be the official corporate name of the citizens program to aid law enforcement in the county. Crime Line is the corporate name of the Lubbock group and could not be used.

County Attorney Kenneth Bain and District Attorney Randy Hollums have donated their time in preparing the corporate papers and submitting them to Austin this week. The papers are for the granting of a non-profit corporate charter.

Board officers have moved ahead this week in laying the foundation for the Crime Call organization. They visited with Charley Pope in Lubbock on Tuesday. Pope is the President of Crime Line and has been since its instigation in 1979. Pope told the group that their organization had been "successful far beyond their expectations."

On Wednesday, Board officers met with Bain, Hollums, Sheriff Fred Cardinal, and Police Chief Scott Newton.

Decision was made at that time to have the Crime Call telephone line in the Sheriff's office. The law officers were asked to prepare a list of suggested payments that should be made for the various crimes. These lists will be submitted to the Crime Line Board at its first meeting.

Board officers met with the Directors at Lockney on Thursday. During the organizational meeting

Monday night only one of the group from Lockney was not an elected official and eligible to join the Board. Lawson Rowell joined the Board that night. He then contacted interested citizens in Lockney and three joined the Board. They are: R.V. Webster, Carroll Anderson, H. Dewitt Seago.

Those members discussed having a local Lockney number that will ring at the Sheriff's office.

Crime Call meeting will be held June 16 at 7:30 p.m. in the meeting room of the First National Bank. The Board has invited the District and County Attorneys, law enforcement officers and mayors of both towns to attend so that the Board can coordinate their efforts to the best possible advantage.

Jones Bound For City

By Janet Lloyd

On July 7, Erick Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. L.V. Jones will begin a new and exciting career with Chemical Bank in New York City.

Jones will be in training with the sixth largest bank in the United States in it's International Division's Africa Middle East Territory for a period of one to one and a half years. After this time he anticipates traveling to Africa and the Middle East for the bank with the possibility of living in this area in the future.

"In the past ten years many American Banks have started having ties with the lesser developed African Countries. They are now looking at these countries as potential areas of investments," informed Jones.

With all the media publicity about the unstable governments of Africa, one tends to overlook the fact that many of that continent's nations are now under self-ruled governments that are stable and no longer just military orientated.

When asked if the loans might be used for arms, Jones just smiled in an effort not to laugh at this reporters misconceptions of life in the "Dark Continent."

Jones related that many of the loans might be used to develop the highway systems and public water supplies, assuring us that arms would not be included in the loan.

A 1973 graduate of Floydada High School, Jones received a Bachelor of Arts Degree in Political Science from Austin College at Sherman in 1977. He worked as a counselor for the Texoma Regional Planning Commission in Sherman until January of 1979 when he returned to school at the University of Kentucky. Patterson School of Diplomacy and International Commerce.

"The Patterson School offers an Interdisciplinary Degree at the Masters level. I concentrated on International Economics, International Politics and International Law," Jones said.

ERRICK JONES

Patterson School is a small graduate school of about 25 select students. Jones related that he was the only student to finish 30 hours of required study this semester.

"I really appreciate all that the people of Floydada have done for me. All the encouragement they've given me over the years," he said.

If an intelligent mind, smiling attitude, bright shining eyes and a positive feeling about the world will get you anywhere—look out world here comes Erick Jones!

"First be sure to vote on June 11."

"Call all of your friends in the voting precincts and urge them to get out and vote. Also, on election day, call everyone and remind them to go to the polls. Pick up persons in your area and take them to the polls."

"Meanwhile," Henson said, "talk about cloud seeding, learn about it and be sure everyone realizes there are risks which affect us all and that we have the opportunity - by voting to keep cloud seeding out of our area."

Royce Carthel gave the PWIA project plans and a summary of how it will work in the Briscoe County News.

If approved by voters, the new weather modification program will be operated by Wilber Brewer of North Dakota, whose firm serves about 22 percent of that state. Carthel said Brewer has agreed to furnish meteorologist and technical background for the Plainview-based program. He already has helped to draw up a project designed for the Plainview operation which has been approved by the state.

The planned project will include the use of a 5-centimeter radar unit, larger and more powerful than PWIA's current 3-cm. system.

"If the program is approved, we will have a radar just as powerful as anything the weather bureau has in either Lubbock or Amarillo and we will work with local officials during storm warnings."

Carthel added that the radar will also have a tracking device. "It will show where each airplane is when they are in the air. Also, every time the radar makes a complete turn, an attached camera will take a photo of the screen. That way we can prove what the cloud looked like and where we were."

The planned program will be for both hail suppression and precipitation augmentation, a new feature from area projects in the past. Carthel said he hopes the project will be able to increase rain and snowfall by 10 to 30 percent, as well as decrease damaging hail by 50 to 75 percent.

A Muleshoe article quoted Bennie Claunch of Bula, co-chairman of CNW. He said, "Cloud seeders claim to be able to suppress hail and increase rain by applying silver iodide to the clouds," he noted. "But, there are many meteorologists who say that cloud seeding does not suppress hail and that cloud seeding interrupts the rain making cycle."

He went on to say, "During the cloud seeding years which ended in 1977, weather watchers noted that rain-fall in the affected area actually declined 45 inches."

He further stated, "while meteorologists bicker about the effects of cloud seeding, they are generally agreed on one thing: that cloud seeding disrupts natural weather patterns and affects the weather as far as 150 miles down-wind."

"In effect," Claunch said, "A few people who are willing to spend hundreds of thousands of dollars are messing with the weather for their own selfish purposes and affecting all residents of the area."

"The hazy, unscientific approach to cloud seeding has developed without adequate controls, causing real dangers, both economic and physical."

Personal safety may be a factor overlooked in cloud seeding... "Silver iodide, the chemical used, can affect the ecosystem adversely as it combines with other substances in the atmosphere, such as lead from automobile exhausts, to form poisons that settle on grasses which are eaten by animals and possibly passed on at the dinner table," Claunch pointed out.

An excerpt from a Castro County News article says, "PWIA believes that the silver iodide used to seed the clouds is not harmful to the health of the people. After a cloud has been seeded, one of the main problems scientists have is being able to find traces of the silver iodide in that cloud or others downwind from it," one PWIA director said.

"Nobody has ever brought a sick cow in, or a blade of grass, and said 'Here are some traces of silver iodide.' There has been no documented evidence at all."

This reporter asked Royce Carthel how much silver iodide we are talking about, he said, "The last year of the program here we used about 7 pounds through the entire season. It doesn't take many particles at a time," he added.

The authorities argue back and forth, opposing sides give their viewpoints. But the majority of the farmers have their own opinions backed by the years they have stood on their own land and have watched the weather until they have a feel for it that the meteorologists with all their scientific data cannot change. Those farmers watched while the weather modification was in effect for seven years. They know what is best for them. The ones that can vote will voice their preference Wednesday. Those that cannot will continue to try to influence those that can.

ETHEL CROSS received the Outstanding Senior Citizen award for Floyd County at the third annual Senior Olympics held May 25 in Levelland. She was presented with a framed certificate.

Host Families Needed Now

"In a world filled with chaos and uncertainty, it's hard to imagine you can change things for the better. But you can make a difference - by becoming a Host Family through Youth for Understanding's international student exchange program," said David Lintner, regional director of YFU.

Host Families share their homes and daily lives with international high school students for six-months or a full year while the student attends the local high school, he continued.

YFU, a non-profit organization, has arranged exchanges for more than 70,000 students from 24 countries since its inception in 1951. Students (aged 14-18) are carefully selected and matched with quality Host Families, and regional representatives provide services, support and guidance during the course of the exchange, Lintner explained.

Host Families provide room and board and are eligible for a monthly deduction while the student attends school.

Program fees and personal expenses are provided by the student's natural family and YFU receives partial funding from the International Communication Agency of the U.S. Department of State.

VOTE (NO) AGAINST Weather Modification on June 11

Do you believe a cloud can be seeded over Lockney, (Precinct 18), to modify the weather, and effect the weather across Main St. to the East (Precinct 10) Street in Lockney to vote for cloud seeding when a person living East of Main Street cannot vote?

Do you believe it is fair for NON VOTING citizens to help pay for a positive vote in an adjoining Precinct?

A Weather Modification District may ultimately lead to a TAXING DISTRICT, then you will pay for cloud seeding whether or not you want it. In 1977, the last year a Weather Improvement Association was in operation locally, $282,000.00 was secured by a special appropriation in the Texas Senate Finance Committee to monitor cloud seeding and hail suppression. You have already paid whether or not you wanted to!

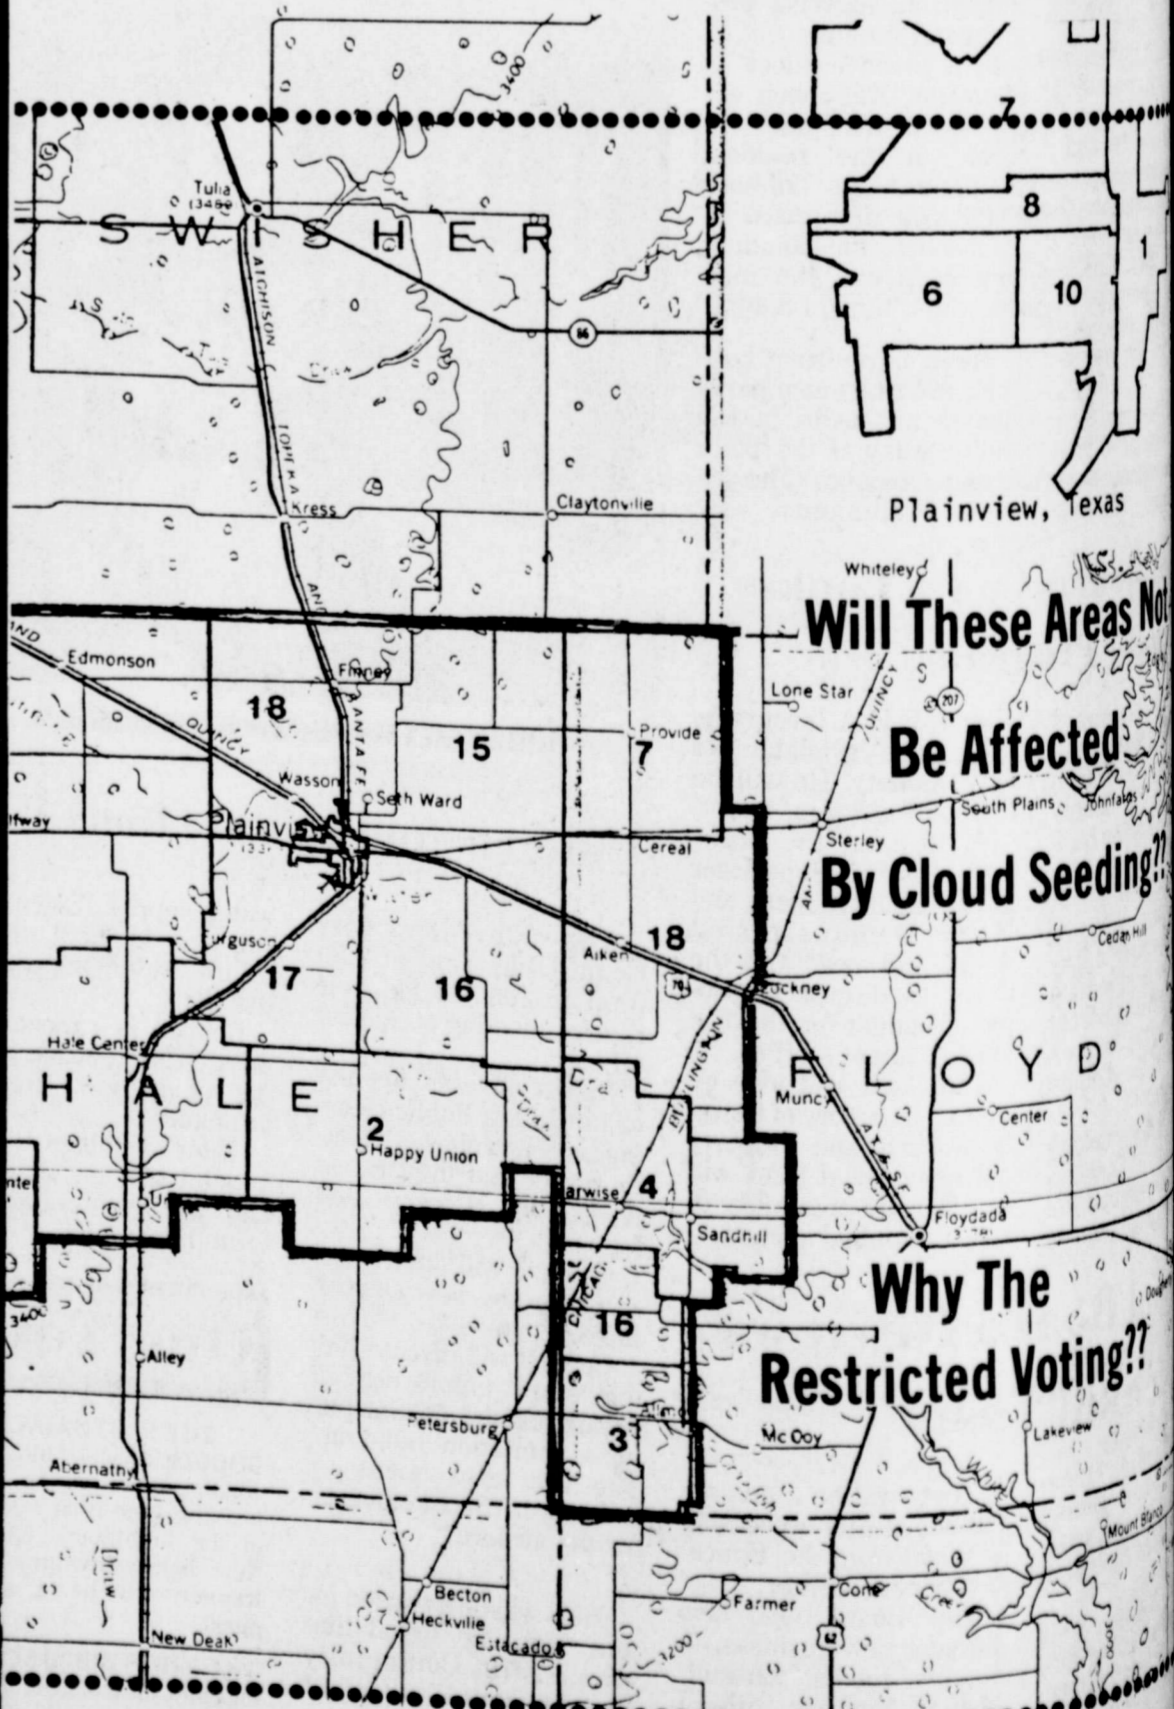

During seven years of Weather Modification almost run off occurred on the Mackenzie water shed. Two years without Weather Modification and hail suppression on Lake Mackenzie is a reality with fishing, boating, skiing.

People who live downwind cloud seeding operations they are damaged by cloud seeding. They believe it means LESS rainfall. Two years ago Briscoe county voters voted 430 to 1 against. 430 to 1 opposed to Weather Modification.

Other area votes were:

Swisher County	1878 to 34
Floyd County	727 to 124
Randall County	123 to 1
Hockley County	478 to 14
Bailey County	763 to 51
Castro County	812 to 306
Lamb County	1648 to 712
Hale County	1732 to 1416

Vote NO to Weather Modification on June 11. If you are a restricted NON-VOTER...Voice your opinion to the voting who have the opportunity to VOTE NO!!!

Who benefits from supplemental retirement plans such as IRA and HR-10?

These plans are designed to benefit any working American. Most work because of necessity and most, when they quit work, need and want retirement income... a result of their past efforts. Unfortunately, a high percentage of this work force either changes jobs before becoming eligible for retirement or work where there is no retirement plan. On September 1, 1974, President Ford signed into law a portable retirement plan, making it possible to have a retirement income even if you must change jobs frequently or work where there is no retirement plan. Portable retirement plans that work for the earning individual is what IRA (Individual Retirement Account) and HR-10 (Keogh) are all about. Learning your ABC's... planning for the future.

AN ICE WITCH CAN GIVE YOUR AIR CONDITIONER A SUMMER VACATION.

Or at least some time off. Either way, when you add an Ice Witch to your present home-refrigeration system, you get a paid vacation from high cooling bills. You could actually save up to 75% of your normal air conditioning costs this summer with evaporative cooling.

Since an Ice Witch provides comfort comparable to air conditioning cool, you can use your air conditioner less; that will not only cut down on energy bills, but save on wear and tear of expensive refrigeration equipment as well.

The Ice Witch provides your home with environmental benefits, too. The continuous supply of cool, fresh air eliminates smoke, odors and airborne particles.

Add-on an Ice Witch now. You'll love the savings. And you may like the Ice Witch's cool comfort so much that you'll be able to give your air conditioner a permanent vacation.

Floydada Youth Travels to Europe

Kelly Marble, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marble of South Plains, will have a year to remember! A May graduate of Floydada High School, Kelly will join a group of 11 Plainview area students June 10 as an ambassador in the People-to-People program to Europe.

The People-to-People program was established by President Eisenhower and is continued through the Eisenhower Foundation. It is a program to establish understanding in all nations through the youth of our country.

Although the program is not affiliated with the school system, students must be recommended by faculty members and approved by the entire faculty. They also must pass a screening committee made up of community leaders, as well as representatives of the program from Washington. Several meetings are required to acquaint students with the customs and history of each country they will visit.

The People-to-People students will spend several days in intensive training in Washington, D.C. on the United States' role in foreign affairs and current events before leaving for the 38-day tour of eight countries that includes one communist country. The students will spend three of the five weeks in "home stay" situations. Each student will be assigned a family to live with in Holland, Germany and Switzerland or Austria. Other countries visited will be Scotland, Czechoslovakia, England and France.

Bon voyage, Kelly!

Save $1,000 On Food Budget With Coupons

You might save 1,000 a year on your food budget -- if you attack it with coupons!

That's almost a promise from Dr. Rose Tindall Postel, a foods and nutrition specialist.

"Manufacturers have offered special coupons and other saving devices for years, but until recently consumers may not have been diligent about using them," she reminds us gently.

A study by the Nielsen Clearing House found that in 1977 only 27 percent of the U.S. households took advantage of coupons -- although 74 percent of those same households were aware of coupons.

ATTACK WITH CARE!

Of course, consumers should use coupons with wise-shopping tactics -- make sure the refund offer actually ends up being a savings, Dr. Postel cautions.

Don't buy a much higher-priced item just to get a small refund, she explains.

COUPON VALUES

Here's a look at today's coupon values compared to those a few years back:

In the 1960s, the average refund offer was worth about 30 cents. By 1977, it was about 80 cents.

Now the average refund is about $1.25.

Last year manufacturers offered about 7,000 different refunds. Most were for cash, about 62 percent. Another 22 percent were good for further food purchases, and the rest were for checks.

WHERE TO FIND
Where to find coupons is a question with four answers:

About 41 percent of them appear in print -- newspapers, magazines, supplements.

Another 26 percent are on tear-off pads in grocery stores.

Around 16 percent are in food packages -- or on them.

A remaining 17 percent appear in a combination of the above methods.

Watercolor Society Sponsors Show

Watercolors by artists from San Diego to Houston will go on exhibit at The Museum of Texas Tech University Sunday (June 15), in a show described by one of the jurors as "exciting, strong and extremely professional."

The 111 watercolors were chosen from 414 entries by jurors Jo Taylor, American Watercolor Society, Pittsburg, Texas, and Tony van Hasselt, AWS and American National Academy, Tulsa.

The show, under the auspices of the Western Federation of Watercolor Societies, is sponsored by the West Texas Watercolor Society and The Museum. Exhibit chairman is Mickey Stephens, West Texas Watercolor Society.

Helen Raugh, McAllen, who won the Best-of-Show award for her "Cliff Dwelling," will be present for the opening and a 2 to 4 p.m. public reception.

Van Hasselt said that "available hanging space necessitated the elimination of some equally exciting work" as that selected. Both he and Taylor found the show "exciting," and Van Hasselt added that, through the selection, "we created a strong and extremely professional exhibit."

more than $5,000 in awards, to be presented at the reception, will be:

Eugene Alesch, Lubbock, "The Fifth - Lizard Variation," first prize, Norma Cox Miller, San Antonio, "Boulders," second, and Mary Bush, Houston, "Rocky Mountain High," third;

$300 cash awards - Leo Bernice Fix, Lubbock, "Golden Egg," Charles Baugh, McAllen, "Silver Mine," and Darleen Wellborn, Albuquerque, "Looking Out the Window";

Clarence Kincaid of Lubbock won honorable mention with "A.J."

The exhibit closes July 13.

DON'T GAMBLE GOOD MONEY ON CLOUD SEEDING

Remember the good ol' days of cloud seeding, when neighbor dunned neighbor to contribute to the expense fund? People in the towns were asked to contribute for hail protection. Hundreds of thousands of dollars were raised and spent during those years in this area.

On June 11, we will vote again to decide whether we want cloud seeding back. If it does come back, it will cost $1.60 per acre and a sliding scale of charges for businesses and residences.

The Citizens for Natural Weather say that such money spent for cloud seeding is plain GAMBLING... because no one can prove cloud seeding is effective for hail suppression or rain making.

Experts do not offer such proof, as a Senate hearing in Washington attested in October of 1979, where experts and practitioners alike agreed generally that cloud seeding is neither predictable or controllable and that not enough is known about clouds to make weather modification a practical art.

Here are some direct quotes from that Senate hearing:

"We still have not learned how to get reliable results from cloud seeding, and our attempts to do it are still shrouded in controversy and doubt."... D. Ray Booker, President, Aeroment, Inc.

"Further, because weather modification is not now developed as a readily applicable technology, it seems to us that agencies who will ultimately apply the technology must be involved in the technological development. We believe that weather modification is in the research phase."... The committee on weather modification, American Meteorological Society, Jeff Hill, Robert Sax, Richard Semonin and Donald L. Veal.

"Very little experimentation has been done on modification of severe storms." and "Much more work needs to be done to determine the efficacy of hail suppression and other weather modification techniques." and "We must learn much more than we now know about the economic benefits and costs of weather modification, about the less tangible impacts on society of operational programs, and about the environmental impacts of deliberate changes in the weather."... Richard A. Frank, Administrator, National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

"Most weather modification so far has been unintended, the product of urbanization, power production, cropping patterns, deforestation and irrigation. Learning more about the unintended consequences of modern industrial civilization is an essential part of learning how to change weather on purpose in ways that benefit people."... Harlan Cleveland, Chairman, Weather Modification Advisory Board.

"The science of weather modification, both deliberate and inadvertent, has many fundamental uncertainties and is therefore largely still in the stage of exploratory research and experimentation."... The Faculty of the Department of Atmospheric Science, University of Wyoming.

"Regrettably, in the absence of adequate experimental controls, it is not possible to assess the actual effects of cloud seeding programs"... Louis J. Battan, member, National Advisory Committee on Oceans and the Atmosphere.

CLOUD SEEDING IS DANGEROUS

The hazy, unscientific approach to cloud seeding has developed without adequate controls, causing real dangers, both economic and physical. Our agriculture depends on being able to consistently predict natural weather trends from year to year, and cloud seeding upsets this ability.

Personal safety may be a factor overlooked in cloud seeding, since scientists agree that clouds, after they are seeded, change and develop even more violent reactions as they move downward.

The chemical, silver iodide, can affect the ecosystem adversely as it combines with other substances in the atmosphere, such as lead from auto exhausts, to form particles that settle on grasses which are eaten by animals and passed on to the dinner table.

Silver from the silver iodide can concentrate in organisms and thence to man, causing a buildup of the system to a toxic level and possible respiratory ailments and cancer.

A recent court case ruled in favor of the farmer with asthma, ordering that cloud seeders could not operate in the vicinity of the ailing child because the silver iodide from the planes into the clouds were harmful to the child's illness.

FRIGHTENING STATISTICS

Statistics are our first warning of danger. Twenty years ago, saccharin was regarded as a good sweetener. It is being controlled because statistics show a 100% increase in chances of bladder cancer. Similarly, the spraying of chemicals into rain clouds may be proven dangerous and flagrant pollution.

In 1966, the year of heaviest cloud seeding in Pennsylvania, the death rate from lung disease was the highest number since vital statistics have been kept. The Pennsylvania Department of Public Health was reported by the Tri-State Natural Weather Council in a recent article in Acres, U.S.A.

The article also said that silver iodide combined with auto emissions to create other serious pollutants.

THE FUTURE?

And what of the future? Management of our weather purposes could later be organized into a system like we presently have for rivers, lakes, irrigation, etc. levying taxes on all of us for this distortion of our clouds!

THE ATMOSPHERE IS A PUBLIC RESOURCE BELONGING TO NO PERSON.

VOTE AGAINST CLOUD SEEDING JUNE 11 AND LET'S KEEP IT THAT WAY.

Paid political adv. by the Citizens for Natural Weather, Lloyd Kurtz, Treasurer, Box 119, Canyon, TX 79015

BUY WOOD FURNITURE

Plastics and veneers often are more "solid" if the quality veneers can give wood-grain effect. They're as good as wood. "Solid" wood. All exposed tops, sides, door fronts are solid wood on the inside of the door. Grooves and no-gap joints are quality. On the joints and the grooves are all poorer quality. In quality, the backs of chests are into grooves and into the frame, or stapled on. A chest should feel well-balanced pressed on firmly. Gaps or glue show where two wood are joined. Finishes of different from the self—this doesn't matter. Front, top and bottom, though - in staining. Pat door panels and drawer fronts should feel smooth - a poor finish is textured or uneven. Of course, a "distressed" finish is not quite as smooth as other types, even when it is good quality. Here, black "distress" marks should look random in appearance. Also, a good finish doesn't flake off, of lightly scratched along an edge or joining.

Price—Consider wood furniture a long-term investment. Prorate its cost over a 15-year period before you decide you can't afford quality. Of course, on the other hand, a high price tag doesn't automatically mean quality or long wear. Remember both high-quality and poor quality furniture is available in most price categories. Learn to tell the difference.

Furniture features include: Drawers—Drawers should open and close smoothly. Drawer bottoms should not buckle when pushed. Inside and outside surfaces should be smooth. Drawer panels should be held together with dovetailing - not nails. Dovetails should be well-fitted with no gaps. When you look inside the space for the drawer, are there wood reinforcement blocks? Also, dust panels between the drawers will keep clothing from getting caught.

Doors—Doors should swing open evenly without squeaking or rubbing. They should fit snugly when closed. Catches in more than one place help prevent doors from sagging. Inset panels should not rattle, jiggle or feel loose.

Hardware—Look for well-secured hardware as a sign of quality. It should go through the drawer or door and be attached with bolts or washers to prevent falling off. Quality hardware is cast of heavy metal and has no rough edges.

Furniture pieces that should be considered:

Tables—"Leaves" are important to know about in comparing prices and values - especially how many you'll get and what size they'll be. Also, leaves, should fit flush, be level and match the rest of the table. Leaves should have an apron if the table does. Look for drop legs, too. They'll give a table with several leaves the extra support it needs.

Chairs—Chairs should feel well-balanced and steady when you sit in them. In quality chair construction, chair back, back legs and seat are one continuous piece of wood. Straight legs generally are stronger than curved legs. A connecting cross-bar gives more support.

If it's necessary to order furniture, ask the store to check the date of the next "cutting" to help determine your waiting time. Also ask about the store's damage policy. Reputable stores will repair furniture delivered with scratches or other damages.

BABY SITTER — "We lived 18 miles out in the country and when I went to town, Grady would put a cardboard box on the plow for Bill to ride in and that is the way he babysat," Ruth Walker remembered as she looked at pictures from the family album.

Floyd County Farm Report

BY NANCY CARTHEL

"The cotton is looking better than it has in several years and every time Lubbock TV reports a thunder cloud, I begin to worry," said a Lockney ginmer.

No thrip have been reported however some are expected when wheat harvest begins. Right now the new leaves coming on are flat and smooth and have good color.

cut some next week winds may be doing the dryer and irrigated good.

Everyone shares that view. It is almost too good to be true. Generally, some portion of the county has some problems—either too much rain in one area and not enough in another or some portion has received a hailstorm by now. This year is the exception.

Dick Jones manager of Brown Gin said that the cotton in the Floydada area could use a shower but has plenty of underground moisture.

Area grain market noon prices were: Corn/cwt. — 4.80 Wheat/bu. — 3.96 Soybeans/bu. — 5.10 Milo/cwt. — 4.40

Tom Moore of the Floyd County ASCS office said that approximately 265,000 acres of cotton have been planted. 176,848 acres were harvested in 1979.

On the Lubbock cotton prices were 140 over for 3.0-3.2 million points over for 2.7-2.9 million points over for 2.5-2.7 million points. These prices are the 1979 loan rate.

In areas the plant population is very high. "The farmers were afraid of the quality of the seed so they planted a higher rate and it all came up. I'm sure it will be thinned out either by man or mother nature before harvest," added the ginmer.

The wheat is turning fast this past week and farmers in the south part of the county are expected to try to

Couple Views Changes In Agriculture

By Beth Pratt

As Grady Walker watched five tractors with eight-row planters move into one field, he was struck by the vast changes he has witnessed since beginning farming in January of 1936 in Foard County.

"We started out with a two-row Case tractor and a team of mules to farm 640 acres of wheat, cotton and alfalfa. We had a pickup hay baler, mower and side-delivery rake—it was the first Case pickup hay baler west of Fort Worth," Walker said.

Walker, his brother Ransom and one hired hand did most of the work. During hay-baling season they added some help to make four men on the haybaler plus a tractor driver. They started with 50 acres of alfalfa and four years later had expanded to 200 acres.

"When we moved to the farm there was a huge barn formerly used by Grady's father as a potato-curing barn. We stored hay in it and sold it in the winter for $10-$12 a ton. At that time cotton sold for five to 10 cents per pound. The first time Grady sold cotton for 10 cents he remarked if he could get 10 cents for it he would sign a contract and raise nothing but cotton the rest of his life. How glad we are that we didn't sign one!" Ruth Walker remembers.

In 1940 the Walkers traded the Foard County land for 640 acres 10 miles south of Floydada. At that time there was one irrigation well on it.

"The former owner, Dr. W.R. Moore of Vernon, had made a trade with the Chamber of Commerce in Floydada that if the well was good he would pay—if not, the Chamber of Commerce would. This was the first well south of the Canyon in Floyd County," the Walkers added.

The Walkers have 960 acres which they farmed with eight-row equipment. The farm has four and one-half miles of underground pipe, one lake pump, and seven irrigation wells.

Walker retired this year and rented his land to Bill and Scott Gilbreath of Ralls.

They finished planting cotton May 23 with five eight-row tractors, putting in 850-900 acres of cotton.

"In 44 years of farming things have really changed—in 1936 gasoline was less than 10 cents per gallon and in 1940 butane delivered to the farm was four cents per gallon for irrigation. We changed from cotton picking to tractor-mounted cotton stripper (two row) with trailers. Now we have self-propelled cotton strippers and a module builder.

"Where we used to have a two-row Allis-Chalmers pull type combine, we now have an eight-row self-propelled John Deere combine.

"Herbicides and cotton strippers have been the greatest breakthrough for the farmer—eliminating hoe hands and cotton pickers. In years past we had better pest control but because of government environmentalists, our best pest controls have been outlawed," Walker concluded.

1980-CROP WHEAT COUNTY LOAN AND PURCHASE RATES ISSUED

County loan and purchase rates for 1980-crop wheat grading no. 1 or better were issued today by the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. The rates are based on the national average loan rate of $2.50 per bushel, the same as the final rate for 1979-crop wheat.

All 1980 county rates for wheat have been increased by one cent to adjust for some shifts in production from higher to lower loan rate counties.

Loan rates for selected counties in the Denver, Colo., area were further increased between one and four cents to reflect recent changes in wheat marketing patterns.

FIVE TRACTORS move in and make short work of planting cotton on the Grady Walker farm.

Large 1979 Cotton Carryover Balanced By Strong Market

National Cotton Council directors in their spring board meeting recently heard that the unusually large 1979 cotton crop is being balanced by "equally impressive" strength in markets. Dr. Arlie L. Bowling, NCC director of economic and market research, said the 14.6-million-bale crop, added to the carryover from 1978, gave the U.S. a supply of 18.5 million bales.

The largest exports in more than four decades and the increased popularity of denim and corduroy fabrics were among the reasons for cotton's continued strength, Bowling said.

"Although the stability of domestic markets in the face of a slowing economy has been encouraging, the export market is most responsible for the close balance in supply and offtake which developed in 1979," he stated.

Reporting on export promotion, Cotton Council International (CCI) President Dan Miller, Arkansas cotton producer, said that trade teams, overseas cooperative projects, the Maid of Cotton, and other programs into 21 countries during the first months of the year.

Agricultural economists told the board that carryover year could increase above the 1979 planned carryover in some areas, but carryover better than last year.

"Carryover could easily be a million acres projected April.

Texas Wheat Producers Board Appoints New Director

Stepped-up funding for export market development was the principal increase in an expanded 1980-81 crop year budget adopted by the nine-man, farmer-elected Texas Wheat Producers Board at a recent meeting, according to Leo Witkowski, Hereford, Board Chairman.

The wheat leader said that the Board felt that such expanded efforts were necessary due to the inability to expand domestic use in the U.S. for food, feed or seed and the need to reduce current large carryover stocks and assist in marketing the projected bigger-than-usual Texas and U.S. crop now ready for harvest.

He also pointed out that the more that can be exported the less severe will be the level of set-aside acres this fall and in the future to bring supply and demand back more in line after the market losses due to the recent Russian embargo.

The Board urged the Association and other commodity and farm organizations with legislative responsibility to work for immediate price strengthening efforts through administrative or legislative action to raise price support loan rates and to call for an early announcement of a 1981 crop set-aside adequate to reduce the current billion bushel wheat carryover stocks down to 800 million or less.

The Board appointed Wiley Tabor, Quanah, to serve the remaining term on the Board vacated by Winston Wilson, who recently resigned to become Deputy Under Secretary of Agriculture. Tabor is a 1964 graduate of West Texas State University with a BS Degree in Agri-Business and has done graduate work in Agricultural Economics at Oklahoma State University. He farms over twenty-five hundred acres of wheat and cotton in Hardeman County.

In addition to Witkowski and Tabor, other members of the nine-man governing body of the Texas Wheat Producers Board are: C.L. Edwards, Panhandle; Troy Sloan, Spearman; Robert Graves, Perryton; Otis Harman, Tulia; Dwight Hamilton, Olney; W.R. Moore, Munday and Cagle Kendrick, Stratford.

Alcohol Fuel Symposium Set At Texas A&M In July

An alcohol fuel symposium that will key in on small-scale production of ethanol from grain will be held at Texas A&M University July 1-2.

The symposium is being sponsored by two organizations of the Texas A&M University System—the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and the Texas Agricultural Extension Service—along with A&M's Center for Energy and Mineral Resources.

Various issues relating to the production and use of ethanol will be discussed, including feedstocks, pre-processing requirements, use as fuel in engines, by-product use, and legal, economic and financial aspects.

Information will be presented on a number of ongoing projects related to alcohol fuel, including agricultural residue combustion-gasification as a heat source for distillation, development of sweet sorghums as feedstock for ethanol production, operation of a small-scale ethanol demonstration plant, use of ethanol in diesel and natural gas-driven engines, ethanol-gasoline dual fuel systems, and economics of ethanol production.

Among speakers will be Dr. Neville P. Clarke, Experiment Station director; Dr. Wayne A. LePori, agricultural engineer, Dr. L.O. Schake, researcher in feedlot management, and Dr. E.J. Soltes, researcher in wood chemistry, all with the Experiment Station; Henry P. O'Neal, Extension agricultural engineer; Texas Commissioner of Agriculture Reagan Brown; and Rep. Dan Kubiak, vice chairman of the House Agriculture and Livestock Committee.

Anyone interested in attending the symposium is encouraged to pre-register by June 23. County Extension offices have registration forms and additional details on the program.

Treat Now To Control Bagworms

Now is the time for homeowners to start inspecting their trees for bagworms, states County Extension Entomologist Paul Treptow.

Bagworms feed on the foliage of many trees, especially the evergreen varieties. Many trees in the Floyd County area were badly damaged by these pests last year. Small bagworms hatch in late spring or early summer from old bags left on the tree during the winter. Young worms spin silken sacs and attach small bits of leaves or twigs to the outside. The bagworm carries this sac wherever it goes. Later in the year, full grown larva attach to the tree and pupate within the bag. After some time the male bagworm moths emerge and mate with females which remain inside the bag. The female then lays eggs inside the bag to start the cycle over again.

Application of insecticides should be made when small worms are first observed. Chemical controls are not effective on the older and larger bagworms. A few insecticide which are available locally for use on bagworms are malathion, sevin, diazinon, and dipel. The homeowner should read the label to insure proper application rates and to be certain that the tree being treated will not be damaged by the insecticide.

Ground School To Begin

Baptist College will offer its second Pilot Ground School this year locally on June 17.

To meet the requirements for the written exam, the FAA pilot exam, the student must meet from 7:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. Each Tuesday evening in Room 203 of the Bible Building on the WBC campus.

Plainviewan Bob LaRue, who holds the private, commercial, instrument, CFI and CFII certificates for single-engine aircraft, will instruct the course.

"The course is also designed to enhance the skills and knowledge of the right-hand seat companion of the pilot and make flying more enjoyable and safe," said Dr. Bill Hardage, director of Special Services at WBC.

Cost for the course will be $40 for tuition plus $35 for books, and other learning aids. Enrollment will be limited to 30 persons.

Registration is now underway in the Office of the Registrar (Gates Hall, Room 102). Enrollment will remain open until the 30-student limit is reached.

For more information, contact Hardage at 296-5521.

FATHERS AND CELIBATES

I have a question for Father's Day.

What do fatherhood and celibacy have in common? A strange comparison? Well, think about it.

The father of a family and the celibate both have to practice self-control. Fidelity to one's vows in a world filled with temptations is not automatic, and certainly it's not easy. Maintaining your personal integrity requires a firm decision.

Thomas Merton, in "New Seeds of Contemplation," says: "...self-control is not only desirable, but altogether possible... It demands considerable effort, watchfulness, patience, humility and trust in divine grace. But the very struggle for chastity teaches us to rely on a spiritual power higher than our own nature, and this is an indispensable preparation for a state of spiritual peace, tranquility, clarity, gentleness and joy."

The father is faithful to his vows because he promised God and his wife that he would commit himself to marital fidelity. His personal honor is at stake and he must strive to be true to himself to maintain that honor. The same principle of honor based on promises made to God is true of the celibate. Those who don't understand the meaning or purpose of celibacy are quick to ridicule it as pointless, foolish, and even unnatural. They feel that genuine love must have physical expression. Ideally, both the father and the celibate are signs of selfless, personal love.

Victor Frankl, the eminent psychologist, had some interesting comments on this: "All this is not to say that love has no desire to 'embody' itself. But it is independent of the body to the extent that it does not need the body. Even in the love between the sexes, the body, the sexual element, is not primary; it is not an end in itself, but a means of expression. Love as such can exist without it. Where sexuality is possible, love will desire and seek it; but where renunciation is called for, love will not necessarily cool and die... True love in and for itself needs the body neither for arousal nor for fulfillment..."

The celibate believes and proclaims that God's love and beauty are enough to fill all human emptiness, but only if we allow Him. The father of a family, if he is wise, will see the same truth and learn to rely on it especially in times of need.

"The foolishness of God is wiser than the wisdom of men..." (1 Cor. 1:21-25)
