Sunday night the Biggs' stayed east of Floydada on the property of Travis Jones. Billy had asked Travis where a good "camping-out place" would be in this area. Travis said his place was as good as any, so the night's lodging was arranged.
Billy figured on reaching Slaton on Thursday [today], as they average about 20 miles a day. Their record is 27 miles in one day, but Billy said they would only do that once because "everybody

Democratic Primary Run-Off

On Saturday, June 7, 119 dedicated Democrats voted in the Party run-off of three positions. The race held little local interest and the voter count came as no surprise to primary followers.
The election costs were approximately $500. It, therefore, cost the Democratic Party about $5.00 a vote to find out the Floyd County preference.
John C. Phillips edged James P. (Jim) Wallace by a narrow 61 to 58 votes for the Associate Justice Supreme Court Place 1 run-off.
The Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals Place 2 race was more decisive with Mike McCormick polling 78 votes to W.T. Phillips' 38.

Rain Report

Tuesday night's rain fell "just about right" in most areas of the county. A few spots also received good amounts of moisture on Monday night. County wide the rains were general and all reports were over .5".
Sterley .55", Lone Star .6", Lockney .75", Providence .8", Northeast of Lone Star 1", Cedar Hill 1.2", North of Providence 1.5", Dougherty 1.6", Floydada 1.8" and Lakeview 2".
The Lakeview area received an additional 2" on Saturday night.

Weather Vote Is Heavy

At press time, we contacted four of the five precincts involved in the hail suppression election. A total of 273 people had cast their ballots. Allmon community reported 10 people had voted there, Barwise had 27 ballots cast, Providence reported 32 voters and Lockney had 204 votes. We were unable to contact Harmony.
Complete election results will be posted in the front window of the Hesperian and will be published in Sunday's edition of both the Beacon and Hesperian.

Alternate Energy Symposium June 19-20

Regional, state-wide, and local interest is increasing for the "Alternate Energy Symposium" scheduled for June 19 and 20 in the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center, according to Brent Magers, manager of the Public Affairs Department of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.
"We have received inquiries from Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, and reservations from as far as Arkansas, Kansas and Florida," said Magers. "We are anticipating excellent attendance for the meeting."
The symposium is designed to present information regarding the practicality of the use of various energy sources, such as ethanol, methanol, wind, solar, and biomass. The Lubbock Chamber is cooperating with the Small Business Administration, Texas Farmers Union, and Texas Tech University in sponsoring the meeting.
"The objective of the symposium is to provide interested individuals with empirical data on various energy sources and to dispel misinformation," said Magers. "Primary consideration was given to presenting useful information that can directly and immediately benefit the farmer, businessman, and society in general."
During the symposium, workshops are planned on wind energy, solar energy, and use of biomass with noted specialists in each area conducting the sessions. Individual topics slated to be covered include research on solubility that allow less than 200 proof ethanol to be mixed with diesel or gasoline - a major breakthrough in ethanol technology. A workshop on a small-scale ethanol production plant with the capability to convert starches and cellulose to ethanol is planned. Also included is a workshop on new developments in crop suitability for energy conversion.
In addition to the technical material that will be presented, a detailed look at business considerations such as capital requirements, return on investment and accounting procedures will be provided by selected experts. One workshop is designed to provide the latest information on legislation and federal and state policy affecting the alternate energy field.
In total, eight workshops will be held, in

Extension Service Change Explained To Commissioners

Dr. Crawford, Extension Service District Supervisor, met with the Commissioners Court to explain the change in the dual line of responsibility that has been shared by the two district supervisors for this area.
Two years ago the Extension Service did an original study to determine a more effective way to use personnel. As a result of that study the District Agents will be moving into a new area of responsibility. Instead of the two supervisors covering the entire area, each was given an individual area to cover.
Mrs. Crawford will be working in the 10 northern counties of the District which includes Floyd County.
"When all three of the County Agents are responsible to one person, it will strengthen the program," she said. It will go into effect July 1.
As far as programming, Mrs. Crawford said that Bill Gunner, District Supervisor, will continue setting up the Agricultural activities and that she would still be doing the Home Economics work.
Under the new structure, they will be able to back up the Agents with more support. It will mean less travel and less paperwork.
She said that it would be a big adjustment and change but that in the long run "we feel it will strengthen the county programs."
She commended the Commissioners on the remodeled Ag Building, saying she knew it took long hours of negotiating and work to get the building completed. "It is a facility you can be proud of, and the Agents will try to keep it that way," she said.
She suggested modest changes in the coming county budget mostly in salary increases, to be considered by the Commissioners in January. It came to about a 9% over all increase. She told the court that their aim is to give, "the most effective program for the dollars you are spending."
Commissioners Court met June 9, in their regular session. All four Commissioners; Jack Lackey, Bob Jarrett, Aaron Carthel and Grigsby (Doodle) Milton, were present. County Judge Choise Smith officiated.
Mr. James Winnat, District Supervisor of the Predator Control Program, met with the court and asked for a $50 per month increase for the Trapper Fund. The increase will be considered by the Commissioners.
Motion was made by Bob Jarrett and seconded by Aaron Carthel that the Floyd County Canneries be officially opened July 1. Mrs. T.L. Hulsey will be hired as director of the Lockney Cannery and Mrs. Cora Hardline will be director of the Floydada Cannery.
Although not on the agenda, the subject of the Child Welfare Board was discussed for the benefit of Commissioner Milton who was absent from the last monthly meeting. Commissioner Carthel stated that he had been looking into the matter, talking with various people and from the information that he has gathered it looked like the forming of the Board would save the county money.
Judge Choise Smith said that he looked on it as an insurance policy for the county.
The matter of forming the Board will be on the next regular court agenda, and will be brought to a vote.

The article stated that the officers of the Board were elected by "accumulation."

VA Loans Decrease

Veterans Administration chief Max Cleland recently announced the largest decrease in the VA's GI home loan interest rate in history—from 13 percent to 11.5 percent, effective May 15.

The rate had dropped to 13 percent on April 28, from the record high 14 percent ceiling set on April 3.

The change does not affect existing loans, whose interest rate remains the same for the life of the agreement.

Since the program began in 1944, about 10.5 million loans worth $178.6 billion have been guaranteed by VA.

D-Day Memorial

(Editor's Note: Ben Galloway, Floydada, clipped this article from the Fort Worth Star-Telegram. Mr. Galloway served in the fourth infantry during World War II.)

An American delegation led by U.S. Embassy counsellor Francis de Tarr attended low-key wreath-laying ceremonies Friday commemorating the 36th anniversary of the Allied landings in Normandy during World War II.

Ceremonies focused on Omaha Beach and St. Mere Eglise in the American theater of operations of the 1944 D-Day invasion.

Wreaths were laid at St. Laurent-sur-Mer, an American cemetery situated on a cliff overlooking Omaha Beach and the English channel containing the graves of 9,386 Americans.

A wreath also was placed at St. Mere Eglise where 23,000 paratroopers of the American 82nd and 101st Airborne Divisions jumped into Normandy to kick off the invasion.

Omaha Beach, four miles long and about 200 yards wide, backed by 100-foot bluffs most of the way, was the bloodiest of the five invasion beaches.

Total American, British and Canadian casualties were about 10,000 in the first 24 hours of the invasion, including: 1,456 Americans killed, 3,184 wounded, 1,928 missing and 26 captured. The British suffered 2,500 to 3,000 total casualties and the Canadians 946 in their sector on Gold, Juno and Sword beaches.

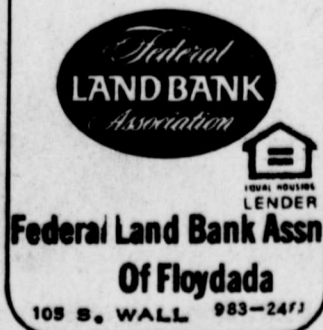

Across the English Channel, meanwhile, the British noted the 36th anniversary of the landings by unveiling a 10-foot bronze statue of "Monty," Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, one of Britain's most inspirational military leaders, in London.

Queen Mother Elizabeth unveiled the statue in Whitehall, a broad thoroughfare of government office buildings leading from Trafalgar Square.

Montgomery helped U.S. General Dwight D. Eisenhower lead Allied forces into France in the D-Day landings on Normandy.

Monty's most famous victory was at El Alamein, Egypt, in 1942. He died in 1976.

The Queen Mother, whose daughter is Queen Elizabeth II, called Monty "a legend in his own lifetime."

The $70,000 statue by sculptor Oscar Nemon was paid for by donations from more than 7,000 people around the world, led by Monty's friends, comrades and widows of men who served with him. Donors' names will be recorded in a book at London's Imperial War Museum.

Monty once posed for sculptor Nemon, but more recently his brother, Col. Brian Montgomery, modeled for the statue because of a remarkable family resemblance.

Asked if Monty would have liked the result, he said in an interview: "He would be absolutely delighted by it and would have loved to talk about it."

"He was a remarkable leader. I heard only recently how he would often drive his jeep out to where a soldier would be digging a trench."

"He would stop and talk to him, give him cigarettes and leave him saying, 'Right, I'll send a telegram to your wife telling her I've met you.' That's leadership."

Termination Of County Air Service Imminent

Southwest Airlines Chairman of the Board Herbert D. Kelleher and Southwest Airlines President Howard D. Putnam recently announced plans for termination of service at Jefferson County Airport later this summer. The announcement followed meetings recently with civic leaders in Beaumont, Port Arthur and Orange, Texas where Southwest's plans were revealed.

Southwest will file later this week with the Civil Aeronautics Board a document stating Southwest's intentions to terminate service later this summer, with an exact date of discontinuance of service to be announced later. This is the first city

Southwest has not been able to make profitable after opening service in its nine year history. Unlike all other Southwest destinations, Jefferson County has never responded to Southwest's low fares and frequent service, according to Putnam. He continued that it appears the close proximity to Houston diverts too much traffic to the freeways for Houston's Intercontinental and Hobby Airports where a greater variety of air service is available.

Southwest began service between Dallas Love Field and Jefferson County Airport on March 5, 1979 with five roundtrips daily. That schedule was reduced to four roundtrips on June 1, 1979.

We regret this action," said Herbert Kelleher, "as the people of Jefferson County and the surrounding areas have been tremendously supportive of Southwest. However, our shareholders can not be penalized in the long run to subsidize an unprofitable market. We also have taken this action now before incurring the additional expense of moving into the new terminal building."

Twisters In Midwest 'Alley' Take Daily Toll, Make U.S. Tornado Capital Of World

Tornado season in the Midwest, especially in an area known as the "alley," and if an average year, about 1,200 tornadoes kill about 120 people before it's over, according to the issue of National Geographic magazine.

The worst tornado of last year struck the north Texas town of Wichita Falls on April 10, 1979—a day local citizens now call "Terrible Tuesday." For 20 minutes in the late afternoon the city of 100,000 people was struck by a violent tornado whose winds rotated at more than 200 miles per hour, killing 45 people and destroying about $400 million worth of property.

Wichita Falls is on the southern tip of tornado alley. Meteorologists predict that in the heart of tornado alley, chances are that a specific location might be struck by a twister about once every 250 years. "But tornado patterns do not fit mathematical models," explains National Wildlife Federation's Oklahoma City office.

Wichita Falls has been hit by twisters 32 times since 1892. And the community of Codell, Kansas, amazingly, was hit three years in a row—1916, 1917, and 1918—on the same day, May 20.

Researchers may never be able to prevent tornadoes, although Fujita has been able to break up scaled-down twisters in his laboratory. Fortunately, advances have been made in tornado detection.

In Norman, Oklahoma, a 30-foot dome houses a radar system operated by the National Severe Storms Laboratory. A year ago, the system picked up almost every twister in the area, and enabled weathermen to locate some tornadoes a half an hour before they hit.

The tornado report is National Wildlife's fourth in a series on violent natural phenomena. The others covered tidal waves, earthquakes, lightning, and volcanoes.

If a tornado approaches your area, National Wildlife offers this advice: "Go to the basement or innermost room of the house or building, away from windows. Cover yourself with pillows and mattresses. If you are in a car, get out quickly and lie in a ditch, culvert or other low spot. In the Wichita Falls storm, 25 of the 45 people killed were in automobiles; 16 of them had gotten into their cars, hoping to escape."

March 18, 1925, tornadoes ripped a 437-mile area of Illinois, and Indiana. The largest of them killed more than 200 people.

March 18, 1965, a series of 37 twisters covered 853 miles in Missouri. Some 800 people died and property damage surpassed $300 million.

April 3 and 4, 1974, the greatest tornado in the nation's history occurred. In a 16-hour period, no fewer than 148 twisters gouged through 13 states east of the Mississippi River, covering 2,000 miles and killing about 300 people. The damage amounted to more than a half-billion dollars.

Commencement exercises were held at 7 p.m. Sunday night at the church auditorium, and there were many visitors from around the area to see grandchildren and friends or relatives as they reviewed the work of the week and showed their daily work in the home rooms.

Crystal Gayle Show Set At Six Flags

Country music star Crystal Gayle will appear in two concerts Friday, June 20, at Six Flags Over Texas.

The winner of "Outstanding Female Vocalist" awards from both the Academy of Country Music and the Country Music Association, has been riding high in country music circles since shortly after her graduation from high school.

It was then that she recorded "I've Cried The Blue Right Out of My Eyes," written by her sister, Loretta Lynn. That first recording made it all the way into the Top 20 on the charts.

Crystal's success has not been limited to the country field. Her million-seller, "Don't It Make My Brown Eyes Blue," was one of many releases to find favor with pop and easy listening fans.

As is usually the case, Crystal Gayle has still another hit headed upward on the country listings, "The Blue Side."

Crystal Gayle's performances at Six Flags' Music Mill Amphitheater are set for 8 p.m. and 10 p.m. There will be no extra charge for the concerts and the shows have been scheduled to give audiences a chance to also see the theme park's fireworks spectacular at 9:30 p.m. in the nearby Caddo Canoe Lake area.

Bradley-Seale Pledge Marriage Vows

Standing beneath a white archway in the nuptial area of First Baptist Church of Lockney, Miss Connie Elaine Bradley and Mr. Herbert Donal "Donnie" Seale, Jr. exchanged wedding promises Saturday evening. The seven o'clock double-ring ceremony was directed by Rev. John Jenkins, pastor of the church. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Bradley of Lockney, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Donal Seale of Lubbock. The archway was entwined with lily of the valley, stephanotis, dogwood, parrot tulips, apricot-colored tiger lilies and garlands of greenery. Flanking the archway was a pair of seven-point candelabra bedecked with the same flowers. An apricot-colored unity candle was also in the setting. Mrs. C.L. Record presented a program of organ music preceding the wedding. Soloist was Eddie Turner of Plainview, who was accompanied by his wife on the piano. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal-length gown of white quiana fashioned with a Queen Anne neckline edged in Venise lace. The blouson bodice had full Bishop sleeves with wide cuffs at the wrists. The accordin pleated A-line skirt flowed into a lace-edged, chapel-length train. Her headpiece was a bead-covered caplet holding a waltz-length, lace-edged mantilla with scattered lace motifs. The bride's bouquet was arranged in a garland effect with trailing miniature white and apricot tiger lilies and tiny apricot almond flowers. White pica bridal ribbon was arranged with the flowers. Maid of honor was the bride's sister, Miss Pam Bradley of Lubbock, and Jan Seitz of Pampa was bridesmaid. They were dressed in floor-length gowns of apricot crepe sonia designed with a scoop neckline and split sleeves accented with tiny bows on the shoulders. The dress bodice was blouson style and the skirt fell in accordin pleats. The bridesmaids carried white lace fans edged with apricot camellias, tiny apricot almond flowers, green silk ivy, ivory-tipped apricot clematis and streamers of pale apricot. Scot Pate of Lubbock was best man, and Brian Bryden of San Antonio served as groomsman. Ushers included Doug Bradley, brother of the bride; Glenn Seale of Lubbock, brother of the groom; Pat Chapman of Lorenzo, cousin of groom, and Lynn Cowan of Spade. "Our ancestors realized what we have largely forgotten—that education is not something done to you by others but something you do to yourself and that the best—indeed the only—way to educate yourself is by reading BOOKS. In the fifty years I have lived in this town, I have learned over and over again what it meant to have access to books. I have learned too that what was important then is, more important in this epoch of television; when fewer and fewer Americans read and society, in consequence, falls apart."

—Archibald MacLeish

"TEXAS" To Open

At the Gala Opening of the Fifteenth Season of the musical drama, "TEXAS", a ranch reception with camp-style boiled coffee and sour dough biscuits, a Souvenir Program with the Pulitzer Prize winning photographers of neighboring ranches, and the magnificent Canyon and the show itself will be the ingredients in this year's opening night on Wednesday, June 18. Food will be ready at 7:45.

The new executive director of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, Charles Travis will be at the show accompanied by Tom Johnson, head of the Parks division who was just named. Mr. Travis will welcome the audience in a short ceremony from the stage at 8:15 preceding the performance.

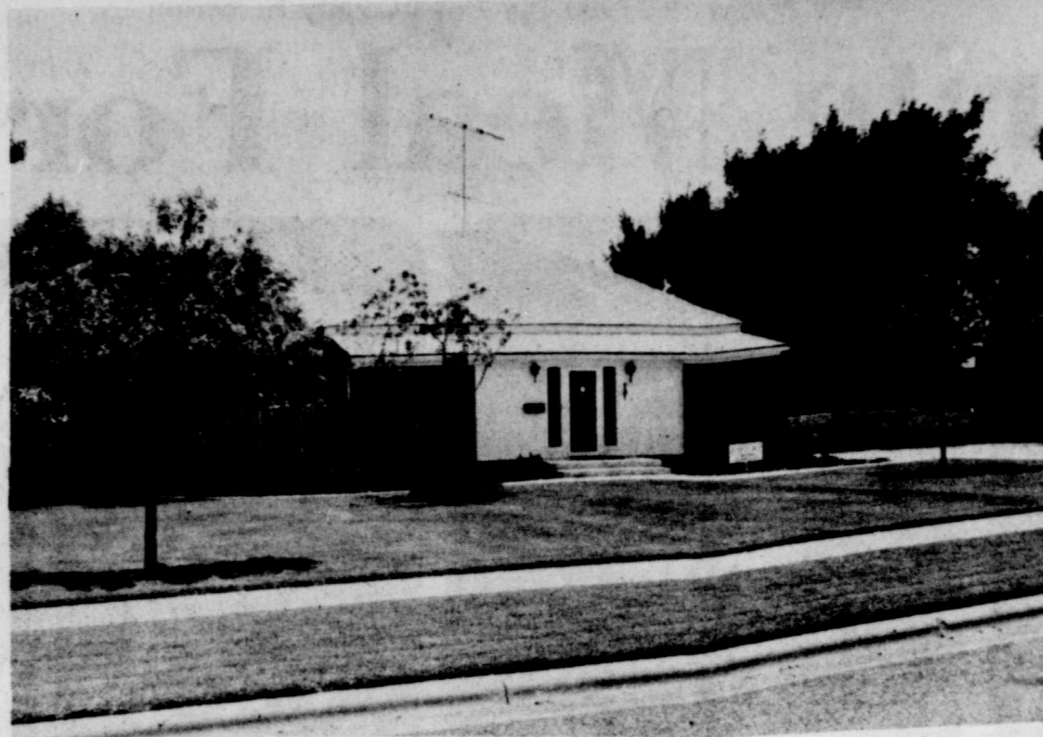

Some of the cowboys pictured in the program will be there, and some of the ranch owners as well.

The ranch food will be fixed so that everyone can have a small taste. It will be prepared by Tom Christian, owner of the Figure 3 Ranch near Claude in the style he has developed for the hunters who come in the fall after Aoudad sheep. Mr. Christian is a former state representative.

"TEXAS" will open its new season in Western style. As in former years, the program for the night with historic glimpses of the ranches has been written by Jack Walker, author of "BOOMER'S GOLD."

In its fifteen years, "TEXAS" has played to 1,150,000 people and over 2000 have worked in the company. The show will play through August 23.

For tickets and information, write "TEXAS" Box 268, Canyon, Texas 79015 or call 806-655-2181. It is well to make reservations in advance.

YARD OF THE WEEK award goes to Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Johnston, 721 W. Tennessee.

Fairview News

BY MRS. CLYDE BAGWELL

Most everyone in our area received some rain early Sunday morning; here in town something like one inch fell. Out around Fairview the amount varied from seven-tenths of an inch at Anne Swebston's to over two inches at Lee Burton's and E.W. Wall's.

The rain was accompanied by an electrical storm and some high winds. We've had several days of real summer weather, but after this rain it has been almost on the cold side and cloudy.

Mrs. Kate Crabtree visited in the home of her son and family, the Kay Crabtrees, Sunday afternoon she and Kay drove out to their farms at Fairview. She reports the crops there were so very pretty both wheat and cotton, and they had 1 1/2 inches of rain there.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bagwell received an announcement last week of the graduation of their great niece Narda Pierce who graduated from Harvard University Law School on June 5. After taking the bar exams she will be Assistant Attorney General of Washington state at Seattle.

Narda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pierce of Everett, Washington. They were formerly from Muleshoe where Narda began her grade school years. Her high school and college years were spent in Washington, then she attended Harvard.

Mrs. Ruth Bethel visited Mrs. C.H. Wise Monday afternoon. Mrs. Pauline Faulkenberry also visited that evening in the Wise home.

Mrs. C.W. Denison visited Mrs. E.W. Walls Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Verna Lee Cardinal returned home Sunday evening from a trip down state.

She left by plane on May 10 for Houston where she visited her son, Jerry Cardinal. From there she went to Conroe where she visited her granddaughter, Mrs. Armond Jones and family. She visited at Victoria with another granddaughter and family Mr. and Mrs. Gary Cantrell, then went on to Elkhart to visit her daughter and son-in-law Mr. and Mrs. James Branch and back to Houston for a few more days with Jerry.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton May of Panhandle visited Mr. and Mrs. Bud Warren Tuesday. Mrs. Clyde Bagwell visited in the C.H. Wise home a short time Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Wes Campbell and children visited Anne Swebston Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy are spending a few days at their ranch near Claude with their son, Charles, who lives at the ranch.

Phyllis Reeves of Floydada visited Sunday afternoon with her father, Lee Burton, and her sister, Carolyn.

Mrs. C.H. Wise visited Mrs. Ethel Warren Saturday night.

Mrs. Roy Fawver visited Mrs. Kate Crabtree Wednesday morning.

Mrs. Kate Crabtree attended the Love Sunday school class social Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. W.C. Sims. Six members and two visitors were present.

Britta and Joshua Tye of Lubbock came Friday and will be here until Wednesday visiting in the home of their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Tye. Also they will spend part of this time in the home of their aunt, Mrs. Weldon Pruitt and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huggins and Sharon visited Saturday with Mrs. Ethel Graham. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Dunn also visited Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Graham.

Mrs. Linda Kidd of Lockney and Mrs. Billie Dorsett of Lamesa visited their aunt, Mrs. E.W. Walls, Saturday afternoon.

Friday night supper guests and visiting for the evening, in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walton Wilson were: Mr. and Mrs. Steve Mize; Mr. and Mrs. Kris Mize, Becky and Jon of Stockton, California; Mr. and Mrs. A.S.
