FARM & RANCH NEWS

REPRESENTATIVES OF THREE Panhandle-Plains area electric cooperatives complete an agreement with West Texas State

general manager, Swisher Electric Cooperative, Inc., Tulia; and James Hull, general manager, Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Hereford.

Cooperatives Establish Scholarships

Eleven electric cooperatives in the Panhandle and South Plains have joined to establish the West Texas State University Electric Cooperative Scholarship Fund with a gift of $13,750.

Interest from the endowment will be used to provide scholarships each year to majors in agriculture, accounting, computer information systems and management.

The cooperatives include Bailey County Electric Cooperative Association; Deaf Smith Electric Cooperative, Inc.; Dickens Electric Cooperative, Inc.; Greenbelt Electric Cooperative, Inc.; Lamb County Electric Cooperative, Inc.; Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc.; Lyntegar Electric Cooperative, Inc.; North Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc.; Rita Blanca Electric Cooperative, Inc.; South Plains Electric Cooperative, Inc.; and Swisher Electric Cooperative, Inc.

According to the fund agreement, the donors will make annual contributions to the West Texas State University Foundation on or before September 1 of each year.

Each donor will contribute a minimum of $250 until that cooperative has awarded $1,250.

Scholarship recipients will be selected on a merit basis by a committee which includes the dean of the WTSU School of Business, dean of the School of Agriculture, and two faculty members each from the business and agriculture faculties.

Lyle Robinson, general manager of the Swisher Electric Cooperative, Inc., of Tulia, which serves portions of six counties, said he believes the cooperatives and WTSU are members of the same community.

"We appreciate WT," said Robinson, who has been with the coop for 21 years.

He said students who leave the rural areas to attend colleges and universities in larger towns and cities often do not return to their home areas.

"We need the young people who love small communities and we feel that many of these will be coming from WT," he said. "We need to bring people back to the rural towns."

Representatives of cooperatives in Texas, eastern New Mexico and the Oklahoma Panhandle met on the WTSU campus for the annual meeting in January.

Board Requests Floyd County To Designated As Disaster Area

The Floyd County Agricultural Emergency Board met on Monday, July 21, 1980 to discuss the extent of crop, rangeland and livestock losses suffered by producers in Floyd County. The board's objective was to determine whether or not the adverse affects of the current drought on agricultural production in the county was severe enough to justify an official request for assistance from the Small Business Administration.

After extensive discussion of the current situation faced by area producers, the board voted unanimously to request that Floyd County be designated a disaster area based on the extent of economic losses suffered by all segments of the county's agricultural industry. The members of the board have sent a letter to Frank T. Cox, State Coordinator Disaster Services stating, "The office will concur with the area producers will be financial assistance Small Business Administration

Texas Farm And Ranch Safety Week Set For July 25-31 By Clements

National Farm Safety Week is July 25-31, and Gov. William P. Clements, Jr., has also proclaimed that week as Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Week.

Urging all who live and work on Texas farms and ranches to make accident prevention a part of every activity, Gov. Clements authorized a weeklong campaign to make a safety the "conscious concern of all who work to produce Texas' and America's great agricultural abundance."

"Modern farming is a complex and highly skilled profession. It is also a hazardous one," Clements said. He noted figures which reveal that more than 200 fatal accidents occur on Texas farms and ranches each year. In addition, about 10,000 people suffer some type of disabling injury.

"Accidents can be prevented by using safe procedures in combination with safe equipment designs," said Clements. "Conscious attention must be given to the way we do things and how things are made or constructed so as to best reduce the risk of accidents."

The cost of farm and ranch accidents, both monetarily and in time lost from production, is enormous, said Dr. Gary Nelson, safety engineer with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, which sponsors the weeklong observance with the Texas Safety Association and several other organizations. Texas losses due to agricultural accidents could be as high as $10 million a year.

Nelson pointed out that the emphasis of the weeklong observance this year is on personal safety through the use of protective equipment such as hardhats, protective eyewear and gloves. Protective clothing and equipment first line of defense against costly, disabling

FIX-IT FACTS
Thurman Davis
What saves energy, privacy and space, but is easy to install and costs little? Louvered shutters. If you have west or south side windows which let in a lot of heat in the summer or lack privacy or have a window which looks unfinished, louvered shutters may be your solution. Easy to install, most popular are the pre-hinged ones coming in natural or pre-finished stains. Measure the height and width of each window. If the shutters come slightly larger than your window they can be trimmed to fit. Place the shutter in its desired position with the hanging strip flush against the wall. Allow one-eighth inch clearance at top, bottom and between the shutters to allow easy operation. Drill through the hanging strip and into the wall behind it. Attach the hardware by screwing into the soft wood. Shutters can be installed in an easy afternoon and offer excellent insulation both in summer and winter while adding a finished look to any room.

Snagged Line Makes Turning Point In Trip

By Janet Lloyd

When fishermen get together they often swap stories about "the one that got away." But there is one story about two young fishermen from Floydada that any "old-timer" would like to have been around to share.

The fishing hadn't been real good that day when Rusty and Jeff Rainey, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Bud Rainey, joined by their uncle Taylor Davis and Kevin Allred of Houston, decided to try their luck one more time at Lake Whitney recently.

The men went out in their boat about 4 p.m. and caught perch to use as live bait when they trolled for fish. (For those of you who don't fish, trolling is done from a boat by dragging one's line at a slow speed.)

"The first sign that things were going to be different on that afternoon came about 6 p.m. when Rusty cast out his line and thought he had snagged it on a tree when he was unable to reel it in."

"Then the rod began to jump around, and the fish began to fight!" related Rusty. He held on trying to bring the "big one" in until the spinner on his rod broke.

"That's when I nearly had a heart attack!" exclaimed the ten year old. The rest of the group then began to catch fish and "that's when we knew we had it made."

The fishermen had happened on a school of striped bass which had surfaced to feed. It was a true fisherman's dream!

"We'd troll over the area and about every minute we'd have a bite," said Rusty.

When their supply of small perch ran out the men began to use larger bait and when they did the fish became larger. Many of the stripers weighed 10-15 pounds. When they had finally stopped biting, the group had over the 125 pounds of fish.

"It's the first time I've ever caught anything like that before; I've just caught perch," related Rusty.

When asked how he liked to fish, Rusty was quick to answer, "It's real fun!"

Former AFS Student Writes Of Happenings In Italy

[Editor's Note: The following letter was written by a former AFS student, Maria Antolini. She lived with the Leonard Matsler family during the 1963-64 school year. Maria and her husband, Tony, have three children: Stefano, 11; Alessandra, 9; and Paola, 7.]

It has passed a long time since I wanted to write you but I had to wait until now to be able to give you our news as exact as possible.

Now, Paola and Alessandra have been chosen by a well-known Italian film-producer to be the interpreters of a film which will be produced this summer in a small village near Bologna (in the north of Italy).

It's going to be the first Italian musical film and in it will work a lot of well-known actors like Ben Gazar (American) and Maria Angela relato (Italian she has made a lot of films also in U.S.A.) The choreographer is Enies Pan the ballet composer of the films of Fred Astaire). The film will be given in Italy and also abroad, especially in the United States.

The name of it is "Help me to Dream." It will be shown on Italian TV only after being shown two years in the various cinemas.

It tells a story of 1940 and a rich family (mother and three girls Paola, Alessandra and a 14 year old girl) decides to move from the city and go to live out in the country with some farm families, because the war is felt less than in the city. The father has died in the war but the mother tells the three children that their father is far away in the United States.

One day the smallest (Paola) finds an American soldier whose plane is broken. The man becomes a guest of this family, until his plane is fixed and leaves. While together, the children get fond of this man also because he lives in America, where their father is. When he goes away they give him a letter to give to their father. There is also a love story between the widow and the soldier. While in the war, the man thinks often of this nice family and at the end when he goes back to his home in America. He finds a letter from these children. They know everything about their father and they wish he could be their new father.

It is a musical film, full of American songs of that period and others have been made just for this film. There is a cradle song very beautiful, whose music has been written by Ortelam, the author of the music of the song, "More." There is also a lot of tip-tap dances (soft shoes) and dances of that period (something like rock). Paola and Alessandra will have to sing, dance and recite. They are taking dancing lessons now.

Have I told you that Paola was on TV last spring singing and dancing. "I'm singing in the rain."

They have not been able to go to the summer resort (like they did the past summers) because of these lessons they need to take. So only Stefano left for the summer resort and will come back on July 16, now the problem is that the film will be produced until the first half of October. This means that most probably our travel to U.S.A. will not be possible. At least not in September. Anyway, we'll do our best to be there for homecoming, even if it will be for very few days. Probably, we'll have to postpone our visit to California!

By now, nothing is sure. I'll inform you as soon as I know exactly. President Carter has been in Rome and now is in Venice with other presidents. I hope this meeting will be useful for the peace in the world, never I've been so afraid as I am now.

How is colt with his leg? I received a mile letter from Lou; I'm going to write and inform them of the above.

Say hello to everybody; I'll write as soon as I have news. We think of you very often.

Love, Maria

Archeological Site Tours Planned

Tours of the Lubbock Lake Site, one of North America's foremost archeological sites, will be given Saturdays 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

The tours of the site were announced by the Museum of Texas Tech University. Directions to the site, just north of the Clovis Highway and west of Loop 289, can be obtained at the Museum.

The tours will continue each Saturday for the next six weeks. Although no dig will be going on during the tours, visitors will have described for them the archeological methods used.

The collection excavated from the site is housed at the Museum.

Brenda Bartlett Serving As Group Leader

A Floydada youth, Brenda Bartlett, is serving as one of the group leaders for the 100 young men and women who are participating in the eight-week Youth Conservation Corps at Angelo State University in San Angelo.

ASU has contracted with the Department of Interior to conduct the YCC camp, providing room, board, programmed work and free time activities.

The young people are working around San Angelo area lakes erecting boat ramps and shade covers, building fences and completing nature trails. Campers also spend part of their time in ecology studies and field trips.

During free time activities, the youths are able to make use of ASU facilities including the swimming pool and Houston Harte University Center game area.

One of the program's chief goals is the development of initiative, responsibility and character among participants. Other goals are positive attitudes toward work and the development and maintenance of natural resources.

Rest Home Birthday Party

The sizzling celebration to celebrate "cool" and happy birthday parties for all awake.

Lola Grider reports from '91... a lovely lady... years of joy and fun.

The table was covered with a white cloth and centered with a lovely arrangement of silk flowers, mainly roses. The poem was read and all joined in singing the Happy Birthday song. A beautifully decorated birthday cake, complimented by a most delicious fruit punch was served to residents of the home, guests and employees.

Special guests attending were Mrs. H.R. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Huggins.

The next party will be Thursday, August 14 at 2:30 p.m. You are invited to join us.

Floydadans Chosen 'Outstanding Men'

The Board of Advisors for the Outstanding Young Men of America Awards Program announced that the following Floydadans men have been selected for inclusion in the 1980 edition of Outstanding Young Men of America.

Floydadans men honored were Larry Paul Barbee, Ronald Wayne Hill, Jim R. Upton, Arvin Vaughn Gowens, and Charles Henry Overstreet.

These men were selected for nominations received from Senators, Congressmen, Governors, Mayors, State Legislators, University and College Presidents and Deans as well as various civic groups — including the United States Jaycees which also endorses the Outstanding Young Men of America program.

In every community there are young men working diligently to make their cities, as well as their country, better places in which to live. These men, having distinguished themselves in one or more fields of endeavor, are outstanding and deserve to be recognized for their achievements.

The criteria for selection include a man's voluntary service to community, professional leadership, academic achievement, business advancement, cultural accomplishments and civic and political participation.

The Floydadans men listed, along with fellow Outstanding Young Men throughout North America will be featured in this prestigious annual awards publication.

The Saturday Arts and Crafts show at the Court House Square went well despite the heat. We talked to James Polk, metal sculptor from Lubbock. He said the sales were a little slow, and that people were already buying for Christmas.

Polk, who works as a Chemical Salesman, said that he averages two shows a month, but that this was the fourth show he'd been in, this month. He travels Texas and Colorado.

One of his pieces of metal sculpture, a windmill, was presented to Jean Nietic, founder of Weight Watchers, and is in New York City now. He is working on miniature oil wells as an assignment from one of the oil companies.

He is the president of the Lubbock Sidewalk Artists Association, and belongs to the Texas Fine Arts Association as well as the Lubbock Arts Association.

Francine Green, Dortha Grundy and Barbara McCollum from Motley had their booths set up in front of Perry's. They reported some good sales, but were more pleased about some trading they had done for picture frames. The artists sell their work through the Dug Out art shop. They belong to the Motley County Arts and Crafts Club.

Mrs. Paul Worth Reveals Quilt History of the antique quilt display this past at the Floyd Museum belongs to Paul Worth. The quilt was made before 1902 the quilt was to her father, John st, who was living at the time. It had come to West in July of that year on a visit from Tennessee. He liked the country so much he stayed. Since he had no bedding, his father mailed the quilt to him. West laid the quilt and a pillow down on hay in the wagon yard and slept there. He was 33 years old at the time and had just received his B.S. degree from Hunington, Tennessee. He was to be a school teacher, and yet he never did teach. He went into real estate instead. "My father moved from the hills and hollows of Tennessee to West Texas and was perfectly enchanted with it," Mrs. Worth said.

for a personal health policy but recently went to a company which provides group health insurance for its employees. I'll become eligible for group in 30 days. Which is the best course to take? The group coverage! It's one of the best buys around. Health insurance is cheap and does not require a physical exam. This is particularly important to those who are worried that their medical history might keep them from being accepted for coverage. Coverage comes automatically when you join the group and have met the time-limit or employment standards. Under this plan you may be able to take on more insurance under the same plan at a reduced rate. Even if a separate fee is charged you, it's still the cheapest insurance for the group around.

'FOOD ADDICT' SOLVES FAT PROBLEM

'I believe in Pat Walker's!'
 -Sherry Petri, Austin

If you think your lifelong struggle with overweight is a battle you'll have to continue the rest of your life, think again! Or at least consider what Mrs. Petri writes after losing 27 pounds and 4 1/2 inches at Pat Walker's Figure Perfection Salon:

"I am known as a food addict to all my friends and family. Buying gifts for me at Christmas, birthdays and Valentine's is no problem; anything chocolate is perfect—or maybe a big dinner. . . . I wake up thinking of food and I go to bed thinking of food. . . . All through high school and college I felt overweight, but it wasn't enough to make me feel depressed. However, when I hit 135 pounds (I am 5'3" tall), I PANICKED. I joined Weight Watchers [and an] exercise club, bought sizes 11 (and some size 13) clothes, and never wanted to go out in public. . . .

"Before joining Pat Walker's, I had tried every diet you can imagine. Sure, I lost; but I also gained it back faster than I lost it. I have now stayed at 108 pounds for over a year and am still pinching myself to believe that I have actually kept off the weight and that I am not depriving myself. . . . Pat Walker's is not a diet; it is a way of life. . . . I really don't have the willpower to stay with strenuous exercises or give up food. . . . Now I do not have to do either one, yet I am still a size 7. . . .

"I am such an enthusiast for things I believe in, and I believe in Pat Walker's! It has made me a very happy and secure person—secure in knowing that I will never have that terrible, depressing fat problem again."

ARTIST OF THE WEEK is Richie Gowens.

Artist Of The Week Named

Richie Gowens is the Artist of the Week, as chosen by Winnie Carthel, owner of Art Southwest Gallery. When asked about her featured painting of a sunset, she replied "I love sunsets. They're very pretty and have always fascinated me. They've got a certain look about them." Richie had only taken a few lessons several years ago prior to her instruction under Mrs. Carthel, which began in March of this year. She said she would like to try painting in water-color sometime.

Her other hobbies include needlepoint and macrame. She also enjoys painting landscapes with stormy clouds, old barns, and "stuff like that." Richie will have a sunset painting displayed in the Art Southwest window for the next several days.

Spurlocks Lose Friends And Neighbors In Shootings

Editor's note: The following article, submitted by Mrs. Joyce Lipham, relates information on her family, and also the incident at Daingerfield where several members of the First Baptist Church were killed by a gunman during services there.

Mrs. Joyce Lipham has returned home after staying with her daughter and grandson, who has been seriously ill.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Spurlock, Trevor Braye, was transferred by ambulance from Pittsburg General Hospital to Schumpert's Hospital in Shreveport, Louisiana. He was in the Neonatal Intensive Care Unit for ten days in serious condition.

The baby has been released and is at home in Daingerfield now, and reported to be progressing very well.

While the Spurlocks were at Shreveport, the tragic shootings at the First Baptist Church in Daingerfield happened. They lost friends and neighbors. Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Clappitt were also critically wounded.

Spurlock served on the Morris County grand jury that had indicted King (the alleged gunman) of rape and incest last October.

King, an avowed atheist, was described as "brilliant but very weird," and reportedly sought revenge on the men and women who had served on the grand jury, requiring that this man be held accountable for his foul deeds and agreed he should be bound over for criminal trial.

The heroism and sacrifice of the four men who were killed immediately were acknowledged by all the townspeople. Truly these men took the bullets themselves in order to save others' lives, bullets meant for others.

A week of mourning was declared by the Daingerfield City Council. Businesses were closed, flags waved at half mast, and baseball games and other activities were postponed.

The sound of gunshots ripping across the serenity of that Sunday morning's packed service and the sight of men risking and sacrificing their lives to save others will never be forgotten in Daingerfield.

"A part of kindness consists in loving those who deserve it."

How can half a pound equal less than three ounces? Sounds like new math, but it really just points up the difference in interpretation of statistics. Here's how it works. Those persons who claim Americans eat too much red meat quote figures from the USDA that say we each consumed 181.3 pounds of meat last year. That figures roughly the equivalent of one-half pound per day per person. Now what's left out is that the statistic refers to carcass weight basis. Carcass weight includes a whole lot of fat and bone that are never eaten. According to researchers at the Meat Board, the amount of cooked meat, actually consumed was really only 2.77 ounces per person per day. That missing five ounces makes a lot of difference when talking about nutritional differences since one is below recommended levels and the other slightly above.
