

Floydada People Preliminary Census

government is doing something for the people. They have come up with something that has hue and cry as the preliminary figures have.

Count on population and county searching for residents about the state.

Floydada is no exception. Mayor Parnell received this preliminary census showing Floydada population loss of 1980 preliminary population of 3951, from the 1970 population of 4109.

City officials have ways to appeal the first figures are the actual count. State funds into the city, revenue sharing depend heavily on population count. The penalized with every person that remains uncounted.

Mayor Powell takes main exception with the census reported figure of 170 vacant houses in Floydada. "I just don't believe there are that many empty houses in town," he said.

Tax records on file at city hall list every residence in town and can be tabulated to give an actual count. City officials are considering checking census figures against those records.

Bill Feuerbacher, city manager, said, "I don't think the count is true. I think we have more people living here."

His estimate is based on increased utility meters and hook-ups. In January 1969 there were a total of 1242 water meters in Floydada. January, 1980 shows 1342 meters. These figures are not an accurate count of houses since one meter might serve an entire housing unit of 40 or more families. But the number of water meters does indicate a rise in housing units and thus population from the 1970 figure.

Another drop showed the population per household in 1980 as 2.76 percent. In 1970 that figure was 2.95 percent.

Floydada was blocked off into four sections. The largest number of vacant houses was reported in the zone from Wall Street east with the city limits bordering the area on the other three sides. That area shows 75 vacant houses with a 19.4 percent vacancy rate. Another zone, with Wall Street as the eastern border, Virginia Street as the southern border, and the city limit as border on the north and west, shows 30 vacant houses with a vacancy rate of 9.9 percent.

Next zone is with Wall Street on the east, Virginia on the north, Crockett Street on the south, and city limit on the west, shows 43 vacant houses with a vacancy rate of 7.3 percent.

The fourth zone is bordered with Wall Street on the east, Crockett Street on the north and city limit borders on the west and south, shows 22 vacant houses with a vacancy rate of 7.2 percent.

The census figures rely heavily on house unit figures in their count. Cries of protest are already being sounded across the Panhandle by area mayors.

Mayor Powell said that we want as accurate a count as possible. He intends to ask reevaluation until the figures are finalized. He pointed out that population figures "are so important" in many areas. In addition to the competition for federal funding, many businesses and services consider population in determining whether to locate in a certain community.

Anyone having such information is urged to call Crime Call at 983-5200. Informants may remain anonymous.

Crime Call of Floyd County again aided local law enforcement officers. This time the call led to several arrests and to the recovery of stolen goods from a number of local burglaries.

Last weeks newspaper edition hit the newsstands Wednesday night. In the "Spotlight Crime of the Week" article a reward was offered for information leading to the arrest of Jimmy Lara. He was being sought by local police and the Sheriff's office.

That night an informant called Crime Call saying they had seen Lara, and gave the description of the vehicle he was in, the license number and the direction it was going. Within 30 minutes Lara was under arrest.

Within 24 hours the reward money had been dropped off and was picked up by the informant.

City Canvas For SPAG Tuesday Night

In a joint effort, community organizations will canvas the city Tuesday night distributing questionnaires in the first step toward Rural Community Planning.

Under a program outlined by South Plains Association of Governments, the Womens Chamber of Commerce is heading up the canvassing.

The questionnaires have been localized to get a true opinion of the local population as to the needs of the community. The questions cover a wide variety of interests and citizens are asked to make comments on the sheets.

The information is strictly confidential. No names will appear on the forms nor will any addresses. Total figures of the community will be the only ones released.

After the questionnaires are gathered they will be turned over to the S.P.A.G. office in Lubbock to be compiled and tabulated. The information will then be available to whoever needs it," said Louise Turner, Womens Chamber president.

S.P.A.G. will use the figures to aid the city in obtaining grants and loans when such action is warranted.

The volunteers will then go from house to house dropping off the questionnaires. Then in about an hours time they will return and pick up the filled out questionnaire.

"We will attempt to cover all areas," Turner said, "but it will depend on how many volunteers we have."

The town will be divided up so that all sections are represented in the survey.

Basically the S.P.A.G. program is to research the area, to send out the questionnaires and find out the exact need in the community now, and to look to future problems. They will then make recommendations, suggest grants, and aid the city in applying for funds.

Five local organizations will participate in distributing the questionnaires Tuesday night. The Rotary, Lions Club, Chamber of Commerce and the Jaycees have offered to help the Womens Chamber.

All volunteers are asked to meet at the City Hall between 5:30 and 6 p.m. August 5. They will pick up the questionnaires and get their street assignments.

We do need rain. Water is a problem here. But problems always make way for opportunities. The drought is alerting us to the immediate necessity of solving our water problems. And solve them we can. The ingenuity of the American people has been proved over and over again. We have the ability to band together for a common cause.

The water board, city officials and county commissioners are all studying plans to make water available. But it will take all of us, working together, to solve the problem. Talk to your officials, find out what can be done, back them in their decisions. The time is passed when we can sit and wait on rain. The future of Floyd County will depend on what we do now.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Moderate Drought Conditions Continue To Expand In Tears

Although several sections of Texas received light to moderate rain showers earlier this week, the area of the State encompassed by moderate drought conditions as defined by criteria used by the National Weather Service continues to expand.

Texas Department of Water Resources meteorologists reported at mid-week that more than half of the State is experiencing moderate drought, with a part of the Trans-Pecos region now categorized as having severe drought conditions.

The scattered rainfall in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, the Red River Valley, central East Texas, the eastern part of the Edwards Plateau, and along the Texas coast did not amount to enough to provide any significant runoff into any of the major reservoirs in the State.

While in general the water supply storage in reservoirs and underground aquifers is substantial, many towns and cities continue either voluntary or mandatory water rationing, principally through "odd-even" day lawn watering to relieve pressure on overtaxed pumping, treatment, and distribution systems. Several small reservoirs supplying towns are now at levels below the pump intakes, and some towns are having to turn to other sources of supply.

The 63 major index reservoirs monitored by the Department held 80 percent of their conservation storage capacity as of July 18, two percent less than reported the previous week, five percent less than at the end of June of this year, and 12 percent less than at the end of June, 1979.

Total storage in these reservoirs amounted to 24,242,278 acre feet. These index reservoirs account for 95 percent of the total conservation storage capacity available in Texas reservoirs, although it should be emphasized that there are more than 180 major reservoirs in the State (Those having 500 acre-feet or more total capacity) and many smaller reservoirs.

Only two lakes on the TDWR monitoring list remained full at the end of last week, Wright Patman Lake and the Lake O' the Pines. For the first time this year, Lake Cypress Springs dropped below 100 percent of capacity. All of those reservoirs are located in Northeast Texas.

Department meteorologists said the center of the subtropical high pressure ridge shifted to the west last week and allowed a sudden influx of moisture from the Gulf of Mexico, which resulted in increased cloud coverage, lower temperatures, and those scattered showers of light to moderate rainfall.

The extended weather outlook is for the center of the ridge to remain west of Texas for most of the coming week, which would allow any tropical disturbance which might develop in the Gulf to move toward Texas.

Bollworms have made their appearance earlier than usual this year and according to area entomologists, they may be as bad as they were in 1978. One reason cited for the high infestation is the dry weather. The worms are moving to the irrigated cotton to have something to eat. Farmers are having once again to look at the economic feasibility of spraying for bollworms. The rate of kill from any chemical can sometimes be questionable but many who did not spray two years ago, remember the damage done to their crops. Caution is advised when making the decision and expert help is recommended.

The showers this past weekend sure felt good but that's about all they did. Some dryland cotton is gone but amazingly enough, some is still hanging on. The irrigated looks good. Spider mites have done a great deal of damage on corn and milo.

This has been an exciting week as things are in progress to get ready for our covered dish supper on August 8. Myrtle Gibson came Friday and addressed the envelopes and now we are ready to mail the invitations.

Ann Handley and Neva Smith called bingo for us and Myrtle Payne won the black out.

Hubert Frizzell came to cut the men's hair and Blake Kitchens entertained everyone with his fiddle. It is always fascinating to watch Hubert and there is usually a big audience but to have music with the show was a special treat!

Mr. Roberts and Mr. Holt had visitors from Silvertown last week. Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Dickerson. They presented Mr. Holt and Mr. Roberts with a photo to share in their room. Mrs. Dickerson is Mr. Robert's neice and Mr. Dickerson is Mr. Holt's nephew.

Mr. Davis is in the Lockney hospital.

Inez Gibson and Vera Rogers came Friday to play games of 42 and dominoes. Hope more visitors will come next time.

A popcorn party was held Wednesday afternoon with a big 42 game night afterward.

91-Year-Old Panhandle Pilgrim Recalls Area's Early History

by Denise Melinsky
Globe-News Staff Writer

To 91-year-old Clifton Oliver, life is a constant stream of stories.

Reminiscing, he tells one story, which reminds him of another, which leads to another and another. After 91 years, Oliver has so many stories to tell because he has done so much during his life.

A conversation with Oliver, of 2215 Bonham, is like a conversation with a history book. He was involved in the early colonization of the Texas Panhandle, participated as a musician in vaudeville acts traveling through Texas, worked for a railroad company "when railroads were king", and worked on a newspaper when the ink for the printing press was rolled over stone.

Oliver grew up in the newspaper business. His father was a professional newspaper man and originally had worked on the Denton Review, serving Denton County, in 1872.

Later, the family was lured to Lockney and Floyd County by the farm and ranch land available to settlers. They made the trip in a covered wagon.

After farming for several years, Oliver's father re-entered the newspaper business in 1902. This time, the elder Oliver leased printing equipment, formerly used for the Lockney Leader, from M. A. Shaw for $5 a month and founded the Lockney Beacon.

"It was a two-man operation," Oliver said. "We used an old George Washington hand press that is in antique now. Western Newspaper Union in Dallas sent us their national news which came to us by stagecoach. They would print on one side of the paper and leave the other side blank for us to print the local news on. So we only had four pages to print, but that was enough in those days."

"I went to school for half a day, then I would go to help my father. First, he would give me a copy of a local story and I would set the type. That was a painstaking business. I would have to set a little piece of lead for every letter into what we called a styk. I'd finish a line and then start a new styk for the next line."

"When that was done I would have to prepare the printer by inking the roller. For that, I had a flat, smooth piece of stone set up on a table with ink on it. I'd roll it in the ink, then carry it to the press. Then we'd get the blank side of the paper sent from Dallas and set it down in the printer.

"One of us would press the levers on the machine and roll the press, and the other would pull the copy out. After every copy I had to take that roller back to re-ink it and start all over again," Oliver recalled.

"Darn near everybody in Floyd County subscribed to the paper, but at that time, that was only about 500 families scattered throughout the area. After the printing was done, we would have to address most of the papers and ship them off."

"At my best," he said, "I could run off five or six copies a minute on that old press. Every once in a while, we would have contests to see how many we could do, but we usually ruined a lot of those."

Even with the work involved in printing the Lockney Beacon, Oliver managed to make extra money in various ways.

"As young as I was, I knew the advantage of being diversified. I shined shoes and transported messages, mostly love notes, back and forth across the town. I also scrubbed the only bathtub in Lockney and kept it clean."

"On a good day, I would relay a message from so-and-so to his girlfriend saying he would like to take her to the weekly picnic. Then I would rush over and scrub the bathtub. I'd make about 25 cents on a good day like that," he laughed.

After his father retired from the printing business, young Oliver moved to Plainview to work on the Plainview Herald, which he says was a "cracker-jack paper at the time." Later, he moved to Clovis, working on the Clovis News.

"Clovis was just being put on the map. Land was going for $21 for 160 acres and they were bringing folks in by the trainload. I was foolish not to buy some of that land."

Oliver's brother, who also had helped at his father's newspaper, pursued a career in journalism and worked for 16 years at the New York Daily News.

It was in Clovis, though, that Oliver became involved in the two things he loves most — music and the railroad business.

In 1912, he went to work for the Santa Fe Railroad in the store department. At that time, he learned to play the tap drums well enough to be in his first orchestra.

When he was transferred by the railroad to Amarillo in 1914, he was determined not to give up on his drum-playing. To keep us with his music, Oliver played in the orchestras for touring vaudeville shows.

"Amarillo got to see some really good shows from the big city. They weren't always supposed to come here, but were booked in other parts of the nation. Traveling across country, these shows would often run out of money when they got to Amarillo and would have to play for the money," he said.

Oliver has antique pictures on every wall of his house, recalling the old vaudeville acts with which he was associated through the years. One picture is of the Dundee Theatre, which was located on Taylor Avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets where the Amarillo National Bank now stands.

Oliver uses a magnifying glass to read and see pictures, but his memory for names, places, and dates has not been affected in the least.

"Don't forget that I started out in the newspaper business. Even in a small town like Lockney, it was our business to know everything that was going on and to know everybody's names."

Of all Oliver's memories, he said the one that thrills him most happened about 30 years ago.

According to Oliver, a "special" guest conductor for the Amarillo Symphony was in town and was outraged when the drummer for the Symphony called in sick. A member of the orchestra called Oliver, asking if he could come to play in the performance.

Oliver told the man that he had not played in four years, but the man insisted. Oliver went and played, although he had not looked at the music before the performance began.

"That was my happiest moment," he said.

Considering a life as full and complete as Clifton Oliver's, that must have been quite a moment.

INSUR-MATION

Floyd County Insurance Agency Jerry Cooper

I have a personal health policy but recently went to work for a company which provides group health insurance for its employees. I'll become eligible for the group in 30 days. Which is the best course to follow?

Take the group coverage! It's one of the best buys around. Group health insurance is cheap and does not require a medical exam. This is particularly important to those who are worried that their medical history might keep them from being accepted for coverage. Coverage comes automatically when you join the group and have met certain time-limit or employment standards. Under this group you may be able to take on more insurance under the same plan at a reduced rate. Even if a separate fee is charged you, it's still the cheapest insurance for the coverage around.

To Keep Cool

If you're one of the ones who is working out to beat the summer heat, you'll find this information helpful. It's not the humidity that's the problem, it's the humidity and dry heat of the United States during the summer months. So it's hot. What to do about it?

Get up early in the morning to do your heavy work on the lawn or garden. Or work at dusk. Try to avoid heavy exertion during the hottest hours of the day.

You need exercise in summer as well as in winter, but don't overdo it, especially on extra hot days.

The more relaxed outdoor life of the summer months has many advantages to compensate for the heat. Stay relaxed and use common sense, and you can beat the heat — at least somewhat.

South Plains News

Mrs. Murry Julian

South Plains, Monday, July 21.

The blessed day has come at last. It is raining! A soft, little, cool shower has been falling this Monday morning, after sun and heat for many, many weeks. Temperature wise, it is 66 degrees, and no matter how small a beginning it is, the sight of rain and cooler weather is wonderful.

There was a wonderful day at the South Plains Baptist Church, Sunday, with 44 registered for Sunday School, and around fifteen more came in for church services. Cecil Osburn of Plainview was the guest speaker for the morning and evening services, and his wife, Joyce accompanied him here for the day. Dinner was served to everyone at Fellowship Hall following the morning sermon, Rev. and Mrs. Osburn visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Johnson and boys after the dinner hour.

Among the visitors noted at the Baptist Church Sunday were Mrs. Bessie Myers of Tulsa, Scott Upton of Bartlesville, Oklahoma here with grandparents, the Raymond Uptons, Mrs. Babb from Beaver, Oklahoma, Mrs. Carrie Apple from Sterley, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Chappell, from Duncan, Oklahoma, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Wilson from Crosbyton, Menard Field from Floydada, Bobby Craddock from Sundown, and Melissa, John and Nikky Powell with grandparents, the Tillman Powells.

Mrs. Mary Grisham, mother of Mrs. Richard Sanders, was taken to the Central Plains Hospital in Plainview Wednesday and is still there taking tests to see what her illness is.

Mrs. Louzilla Nichols went to Lockney Sunday afternoon to attend the Golden Wedding Anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Stowe and her brother, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hill, with the celebration held in the Fellowship Hall of the First United Methodist Church in Lockney, and given between the hours of 3-5 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClure received word this past week of accidents which happened to grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Cybert of Henderson, Kentucky.

D'Ann had the misfortune to get a finger on her right hand caught in the car door, and her husband Paul received a terrible hand injury Friday night when he was playing ball.

Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Huff and Dwayne of Amarillo and his mother, Mrs. Viralyn Huff of Arlington came here to spend Thursday and Friday with Mrs. Huff's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamm.

Mrs. Babb, mother of Mrs. Ann Hartman, and Mrs. Pat Stewart arrived here the past week to spend some time visiting with the Edward Hartmans and with the Dean Stewart families. She is from Beaver, Oklahoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Chappell of Duncan, Oklahoma came Friday to spend the weekend here with her folks, Mr. and Mrs. Grigsby Milton Jr., and with Jerry's folks, the O. Chappells in Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamm have had the new roof put on their home the past week, following the bad hail which took the roofs from so many homes over in that area. Workmen are now putting a new roof on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Staples.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamm went to Amarillo Sunday afternoon to visit with his nephew, Glenn Geneva, who is ill at this time.

Rhonda Teeple and fiance Bill Parker from Bouttee, Louisiana, were here Monday through Wednesday with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Teeple. Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Robert Parker, parents of Bill Parker, who are from Stockton, New Jersey, and Bill's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Linn from near Ocala, Florida, came and had lunch Wednesday and later took Rhonda and Bill to Amarillo to catch the plane back to Louisiana. Robert Parker is pilot for Trans-World planes, and they had all been in their motor home on a vacation trip which took them to the northwest parts of the county.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas B. AufdeMorte and Christy from San Antonio, met her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hamm up in Colorado City, Colorado, near Pueblo and they went to the Royal Gorge and enjoyed seeing the sights throughout that area. They vacationed July 12-14 in Colorado.

Nathan Mulder spoke at the mid-week prayer service at the South Plains Baptist Church last Wednesday evening, and will speak again Wednesday night, July 23 for the evening service. Come and join your neighbors at this enjoyable meeting with some fine preaching.

I.H. Parks (Sparky) arrived home the past Wednesday from Dahlonega, Georgia, where he was called over two weeks ago to be with his 90-year-old mother, Mrs. H.F. Parks, who had been in the hospital in Gainesville following an operation. Later she suffered a heart attack, but she was sufficiently recovered so that Sparky might come home. He flew to Georgia and back. We are glad to hear that the mother is doing so well.

Miss Rhonda Teeple will be honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. E.J. Kinslow on August 2. Rhonda and Bill Parker plan a September 25 wedding, and will live in Gretna, Louisiana.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Mulder and children, Cindy, Penny, Cory and Jimmy went up to Mackenzie Lake Thursday evening to have a picnic supper and to spend the night outside with their van and sleeping bags and they all enjoyed the outing tremendously.

L.D. Reid, brother-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Early Pritchett, died in Baylor Hospital in Dallas last Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. Reid had been in the hospital for about two weeks, and Early Pritchett had been there with him while he was in the hospital staying with Dorothy, Reid's wife and Early's sister at the hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Turner of Floydada flew to Dallas for the funeral services which were held Friday morning at 10 a.m. and they were in Dallas until Saturday. We extend our sympathy to Early and Nell Pritchett and the family.

Miss Regina Sanders, bride-elect of Bobby Craddock of Sundown, was honored with a bridal shower in home of Mrs. Kendis Julian on Saturday afternoon, July 5, from 2:30 to 4 p.m. In the receiving line with Miss Sanders were her mother, Mrs. Richard Sanders and Mrs. Joe Craddock, mother of the prospective groom, of Sundown. An honored guest was Mrs. Mary Grisham of Plainview, grandmother of Miss Sanders.

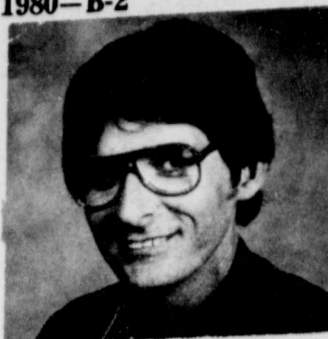

A silk floral arrangement in the bride's chosen colors of blue and beige accented the serving table where Trava Gentry and Beckv Crabtree served fruit punch, angel balls, nuts and mints from crystal appointments.

Guests were registered by Kristi Julian. Hostesses presented the bride-to-be with a gift of cookware, and a lovely silk flower arrangement.
