Couple Seriously Injured
In Lubbock Wreck

Mary Ann Kelly was listed in serious condition Monday night after she and her husband, Jimmy, were involved in a fatal automobile accident Sunday. Jimmy's condition was reported as good.

Mary Ann was in shock suffering from a concussion, fractured ribs, cuts and bruises. Monday night she was still not aware of having been in an accident.

Kelly is able to be up some. He has an injured knee and a dislocated wrist.

The accident occurred in Lubbock at 7:13 p.m. A Lubbock man was killed and four were injured in the head-on collision on Loop 289, just north of the Southeast Drive overpass.

The Kelly couple were passengers in a 1974 Grand Ville driven by Terry Don Trotter, 24, of Lubbock. His wife, Dee Dee, 19, was also a passenger.

Sole occupant of the other car, Raul Garcia Gutierrez, was pronounced dead at the scene by Justice of the Peace Charles Smith, who said Gutierrez died from massive head injuries.

Police said that Gutierrez was attempting to pass another vehicle when the crash occurred. The area where the accident happened is in a construction zone and has signs posted asking motorists not to pass and to observe a 20 mph speed limit in the area.

Police said the speedometer on the Trans-Am was frozen at 57 mph and that the speedometer on the Grand Ville had stopped at 11 mph.

Mary Ann is in Room 324 at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock.

Telethon Benefit Planned
For Labor Day Weekend

It's time again for the Jerry Lewis annual Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association. For the second year the Betas will be taking the pledges for Floyd county. Headquarters is at the Farm Bureau Office in Floydada.

All night Sunday night and all day Monday the volunteers will answer the phone, take donations, and report the county pledge total to Lubbock which in turn reports to the national headquarters in Las Vegas.

A television will be installed at the Bureau office and kept tuned in to the Telethon broadcast over KLBK, Channel 13. The supershow will begin at 8 p.m. Sunday, August 31, and continue until 5:30 p.m., Monday, September 1.

Alpha Mu Delta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi is sponsoring the event. Service Chairman, Carrie Bertrand, is the local Telethon Coordinator.

"The Farm Bureau works really well as a pledge center," Carrie said, "since they have a telephone line to Lockney. So the people in the north part of the county can call in on a local line." The number in Lockney is 652-2242; Floydada residents can call 983-3777 to make their pledges.

Last year people called in or stopped by the Bureau all through the night, Sunday, all day Monday. Merchants donated food, and some people brought food by for the volunteers. "The coffee pot is always on," Carrie said, "We really had a lot of fun while we were working."

Once every hour the Lubbock center calls to get the accumulated pledge number from Floyd County and puts it on the board in Lubbock. Then once every hour the Vegas center calls Lubbock and that figure is entered in the national total.

Funds raised through the Telethon help support MDA's worldwide research program and its network of free clinics throughout the U.S. and Puerto Rico and Guam. The South Plains Chapter of MDA provides clinical services at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. These services include initial diagnosis, genetic counseling, and follow-up medical management. Evaluations are done to determine need for orthopedic aids such as wheelchairs, braces and hydraulic lifts. All MDA services are provided free of charge to patients and their families.

The local chapter is also funding a $24,134 research grant at Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center in Lubbock. The tech project, being conducted under the direction of Dr. John Morrow, is one of 762 research programs totaling $20 million that the MDA is supporting.

Merchants Stress Convenience
Of Local Shopping

Selection is the key to complete satisfaction, according to the leading merchants of Floydada and Lockney. They have therefore designated this week of the current promotional campaign as "GET ACQUAINTED DAYS". They urge you to see the large selection of merchandise available in all the local shops.

Every customer wants and deserves quality, fair price and good service but complete satisfaction can only be achieved when a comparison can be made.

The business firms are aware of your wants. During the history of their individual establishments, they have learned your many preferences and have stocked their shops accordingly.

Get acquainted with the selection of products and merchandise available from the businesses listed in this article. Whatever you are interested in personal apparel or automobiles, Floyd County merchants have a large selection for you.

Whirlwind Gibes To Be
Regular Weekly Feature

BY SHELLY HARRIS

Whirlwind Gibes is a cartoon feature being introduced this season in the Hesperian. Artist, Bill Gray, will be giving insider information, good-natured digs, and gridiron comments through the dialogue of cartoon characters.

The main characters will be Lil' Fat Man. He is the instigator and his speech will usually be the theme of the cartoon. "He is loosely based on a well known Floydada character," Gray said, but he wouldn't divulge the name. "Let's just say that he carries a harmonica in his back pocket and has a reputation for saying what he thinks."

Gray said that there is no intent to copy the Dirk West cartoon characters, but the Lil' Fat Man is "kinda like Moss". The two Ralls jack rabbits are of the type of Dirk's bluebirds.

The jack rabbits will generally be main characters. Another main character will be introduced before the first game. Other characters will pop up in different cartoons. Some will be easily recognized as Floydada citizens.

"I haven't been able to draw a character for the Whirlwinds" Gray said. "Animals are easy to draw, but a whirlwind is an abstract, a non-personality. And it is hard to draw a character with the impact of a whirlwind. I may never be able to depict it." More often the Whirlwind will be talked about but seldom seen. Sometimes individual players will show up in a cartoon or perhaps a number will be used.

The gibes will be used to taunt people but "it's all in good fun." Gray said, "I would never criticize a boy if he has a bad day, or the team." How about the football playing Bill Gray we asked. "Let him miss an end punt and I'll be on his case. And that's one time I won't have to worry about parents, because the parent will be me." Gray said smiling.

Gray also has two daughters in the band so there will probably be band comments at times. "I support band as well as football," he said, "I think they go hand in hand."

Gray's philosophy is that the ability to laugh at oneself is healthy. "I feel that clean comedy is good."

Gray was raised in show business. His father was a comedian, and the family was part of the tent shows that traveled through the country up to the 1950's. Dialogue as a means of self expression comes easily to Gray because of that background.

Gray drew football cartoons last year that were posted on the bulletin board at high school. "I also did some political cartoons when I was at Tech. Almost got kicked out of school," he added, "they were aimed at the Tech officials."

The cartoons are not commercial even though the space is being supported by Floydada businesses as well as the Hesperian. "I take full responsibility for my characters," Gray said. In case the views of the characters are not those of the businesses or of the newspaper.

The basic guideline that Gray applies to the cartoons is: (1) Criticism of a player or a group will never be used. (2) Towns are fair game. The rivalry between the towns. (3) When things get out of hand at a game by the coaching staff or game officials I feel that's fair game. (4) Good natured poking fun. I intend to make jokes on us as well as the opposition.

Gray says that he is open to suggestions. If anyone has a cute joke he'd be glad to hear it. He is especially looking for material for a large cartoon in the homecoming special edition. "I'll include some of the funny things that have happened over the years."

Gray encourages comments from the readers. Since he officiated as a referee for eight years he should be able to take it as well as dish it out.

Purcell Honored
At Banquet

A banquet was given Friday night in honor of Cecil Purcell on his retirement from the Board of Directors of the Soil and Water Conservation District. He has served 36 1/2 years.

The surprise dinner was held at the Quitaque Community Center. The five directors and their wives were at the center to greet Purcell and his family on their arrival. Representing the State Soil and Water Conservation Board was Bill Reese, field representative from Lubbock, and his wife. Also present from the Conservation Service were: Jon La Baume, his wife, and Mike Carter.

The Dust Bowl years In 1929 Purcell bought his present farm which is just off the Cap in the north east part of Floyd County close to Quitaque. "That was during the '29 crash and it was hard. With compounded interest after a few years I owed more on my farm than it cost in the first place." Purcell said, "Then the Federal Land Bank came in and things were alot easier after that."

The Soil Conservation District #104 which includes all of Floyd County was organized in 1940. Purcell became a director in 1946. He had worked with the District prior to that. "We were in the middle of the dust bowl back then." Purcell said, "We had to get out of that before we could start soil conservation."

Testimonials Given After the banquet, Purcell's three daughters sang a medley of Country songs. The first song, a tribute to their father, was "They Don't Make Them Like My Daddy Anymore."

Purcell was presented a plaque of appreciation by Gilbert L. Fawver, "We just want to thank you for the service you've given to the county all these years," he said.

FARM & RANCH NEWS

Farmers Faced With Problems

Among major problems faced by the agricultural industry during the 1980s will be the cost-price squeeze, the decline of small, independent farms, and the threat of having no succeeding generations of young farmers and ranchers.

Those threats to continued food and fiber production were outlined by Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, director of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System, while addressing an awards banquet during the annual meeting of the Texas County Agricultural Agents Association in San Antonio August 5.

More than 625 people registered for the annual professional meeting. The banquet honored seven outstanding agricultural leaders who were each named a "Man of the Year in Texas Agriculture" by the state county agents association.

Award recipients were Carrol G. Chaloupka, Dalhart farmer and rancher and president of the Texas Farm Bureau for the past five years; J.T. Smith, former farm editor with the Abilene Reporter News; Harvey W. Loupee with the Lloyd Justiss Farms, Inc., of Daingerfield; Joe Mertz, San Angelo rancher and newly elected president of the Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers Association; Jerry D. Nichols, Nacogdoches County farmer and banker; Don Jobs, Jr., assistant general manager of the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo; and Susan Gurley McBee, state representative from Del Rio.

Pfannstiel tabbed the award recipients as the "cream of the crop" among Texas agricultural leaders and noted that they have provided strong and effective leadership in dealing with the problems agriculture is facing in the '80s.

"The many contributions of these leaders to improving agricultural production efficiency, improving practices adaptable for small operators, and inspiring young farmers and ranchers have led to this honor," he said.

"To cope with day-to-day problems and issues, people still look to their leaders for assistance," noted the Extension official. "Leaders are people who care about other people and who try to consider as many positive and negative consequences as they can before acting to the greatest benefit to the greatest number."

To deal with the cost-price squeeze, production agriculture needs solutions which can help reduce or at least stabilize its dependency on the highest cost forms of energy, said Pfannstiel. He pointed out that practical applications of energy research for agriculture are needed more than ever before.

Pfannstiel also emphasized that agricultural producers are vulnerable to highly inflationary, speculative land values and that political leaders need input from agricultural leaders on this situation.

The Extension official noted that medium and small-sized farm and ranch operations continue to be the hardest hit by unparalleled agricultural production cost increases. "Quietly but surely, these operations have been absorbed by either large agricultural conglomerates or into non-agricultural ventures," Pfannstiel said.

For those unconcerned about this situation, he rephrased the adage "Don't cry over spilled milk" to "who will cry when there is no milk?"

This dilemma is depicted in the threat of having no succeeding generations of young farmers and ranchers.

Many of today's children are receiving a negative image about agriculture, Pfannstiel said. The large salaries and seemingly glamorous lifestyles of non-agricultural occupations are held up to youth from agricultural families as being "ideal."

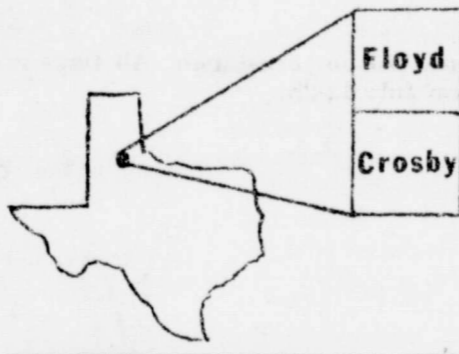

Pfannstiel challenged farm and ranch parents and leaders to actively emphasize the positive values of following agricultural occupations. "Our country's well-being, indeed the world's present and future well-being, depends largely on the success of American agriculture," he emphasized.

Bollworm activity is increasing in most irrigated cotton at this time. The level of activity varies from one area to the next with the highest levels being found in recently irrigated fields. Worm counts recently reported range from 0 - 24 per 100 plants. A light to moderate bollworm egg lay continues for most areas. Fields in corn producing areas apparently are receiving pressure from corn earworms (bollworms) since egg counts of up to 99 per 100 plants are still being reported. Cabbage looper eggs can be found in high numbers in some fields.

Annual Field Day Set For Sept. 3

New releases of cotton, corn, grain and forage sorghum will be the topics of discussion during the annual field day Wednesday, September 3 at Paymaster Headquarters located three miles north of Aiken. Farmers, dealers, and wives from the local area as well as from the entire Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico area are invited to the field tours. Guided tours will be held from 9:30 a.m. until noon with additional tours in the afternoon for those who arrive late or want to make a second tour.

A free catered barbeque lunch will be served under the trees for those who attend the field day. Plant Breeders involved in cotton, corn and sorghum research will be discussing products for the benefit of farmers from throughout the Southwest area. Agronomy Technical Service information will be available for sunflowers and soybeans. Door prizes will be awarded at a drawing to be held after lunch. Information concerning the newest greenbug biotype will be discussed during tours of the grain and forage sorghum. The new greenbug is attacking greenbugs during the season. Dr. Ted Givens has been working with the new biotype and discuss their findings at this time. An update on the varieties adapted to Rolling Plains will be discussed in conjunction with the Experiment Station be available for studies and breeding of planting studies and sorghum viewed. ## Floyd County Farm Report

BY NANCY CARTEL

Corn harvest has started in some fields this week. Most of it has only been sampled and is still too wet to cut. More should be cut next week. The prospect on the yields is looking more favorable now than it was several weeks ago. Corn farmers are now hoping for the yields to be around 7,000-8,000 lbs.

Cotton is still being plagued with bollworms. Some of the lower bolls are opening now. One farmer said that he had open bolls on the bottom of the stalk, bollworms eating in the middle of the stalk, blooms on the top of the plant, and water running down the rows.

Some talk of defoliation has started in the area south of Lubbock.

The cotton prices are really looking good. Contracts of 3000 points over the 1980 loan are being offered and the talk from buyers is that prices could hit $1 this fall. We have heard that kind of talk several years ago and it didn't materialize but hopefully this year it will come true.

Foreign entities and individuals reported that they own 4,859,662 acres located in 5,497 parcels as of October 31, 1979. Within the state of Texas the acreage owned by foreigners was reported to be 402,649 acres, located in 429 parcels.

Conditioning for whirlwinds has been better this year because the size is bigger. It's in condition for the smaller ones. (Wilson said after the fair with Pfannstiel Thursday afternoon. We're not in as bad a condition, but because of the attitude and the way we are working, I expect we'll have them in the shape soon." he said. The Whirlwinds will travel to Plainview tomorrow (Thursday) morning at the Jr. V 8 p.m. In most of the cases, we have a problem for starting problems on," Wilson said. We feel this will get Ted Givens here with a health in case of injury. Wilson said that this is coming around at this time.)

Looking Good

Conditioning for the Whirlwinds has been going on this year because the season is bigger. "It is for the bigger boys in condition than the smaller ones," Coach Wilson said after the practice with Peters-Thursday afternoon. "We're not in as good a condition as we are, but because of the altitude and the way we are working, I expect we will have them in good condition," he said. Whirlwinds will play Plainview this week (Thursday) to begin the Jr. Varsity season.

Coach Wilson expects this to be a long season. "We have good people in the skill positions," he said.

The team has only had one injury in practice. Monte Seymour, Senior, suffered a broken collar bone and will be out for six weeks. Seymour plays guard and defensive end.

Chris Fulton, Junior, is still recovering from a knee operation this summer. He is expected to be back in time for district play. Fulton plays center position. The team is made up of 12 seniors, 12 juniors, and 11 sophomores.

Wedding Vows Repeated By Turner-Kinast

Wedding vows were repeated by Brenda Turner and Bruce Kinast, Saturday, August 23, in a candlelight ceremony read in the First Baptist Church. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley performed the double ring vows at 7:30 in the evening.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Turner of Floydada, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kinast of Abernathy.

Palms of commodore foliage in graduated heights formed the background for the wedding scene. Palms at either side were highlighted by a branched candelabra bearing apricot colored tapers. Apricot glads and pom pom mums, touched with Eucalyptus, were entwined in the candelabra. Hurricane lamps, with apricot satin streamers, held bridal ropes. A brass kneeling bench, decorated with foliage and apricot satin completed the setting.

Hurricane lamps with apricot satin streamers holding garlands of silk Lily of the Valley, marked church pews.

As guests arrived for the wedding they were registered by Debbie Guffee, Floydada, cousin of the bride. A ceramic engraved wedding invitation of the bridal pair, graced the register table, along with the brides' book and a white quill pen and holder.

Seating guests were Robert Turner and Si Medley of Floydada, and Virgil Boyd of Houston. All are uncles of the bride.

Mrs. Kay Crabtree, soloist, was accompanied at the piano by her husband. Selections included "The Wedding Song," "Longer Than" and "The Lord's Prayer." Piano and organ selections were also played by Mrs. Bill Hardin and Mrs. Mack Hickerson.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a floor length gown of white luster sheer and chantilly lace. The fitted basque bodice was also of lace and highlighted with iridescents, styled with Bishop sleeves and a Queen Anne Neckline. The lace peplum was overlaid with rows of sheer Chantilly lace ruffles, descending from the waist to a semi-cathedral train of matching lace. Her fingertip lace trimmed veil of illusion fell from a lace bandeau. She carried a white pearlized Bible topped by a cascade bouquet of white butterfly rose buds, stephanotis and baby's breath. The Bible, borrowed from her paternal grandmother, Mrs. V.D. Turner, was brought back from her trip to the Holy Land. Inside the Bible was something old, a lace trimmed handkerchief which belonged to her great grandmother Medley. The bride also carried out the traditional something new and blue, and had pennies in her shoes bearing the birthdate of she and the groom.

Mrs. Craig Turner of Lubbock, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. Janis Marr of Lockney, a cousin, was bridesmaid. They wore floor length gowns in apricot color fashioned from Coupe de ville and styled with straight skirts belted with matching color ribbon. The round necklines held ribbon drawstrings which were tied at the shoulders accenting open short sleeves. They carried nose gays of apricot pom pom daisies touched with brown.

The candlelighters, Shelli Irwin of Lubbock and Shandra Young of Amarillo, cousins of the bride, wore matching styled gowns only in brown. They wore wristlet corsages of apricot mums and carnations.

The groom wore a brown formal tuxedo with an off-white shirt ruffled at the front and cuffs in brown. His brother, Bobby Kinast of Abernathy, was best man, and the bride's brother, Craig Turner of Lubbock, was groomsman. They also wore brown tux with apricot colored shirts. The bride's father wore a brown tux with an off-white shirt, and the ushers also in brown tux, wore off-white shirts with brown trim.

Little Miss Candace Guffee, cousin of the bride, was flower girl, and Master Coby Marr, also a cousin was ring bearer. Candi wore an apricot color floor length gown styled identical to bridal attendants, and a matching ribbon in her hair. She carried a white net basket filled with rose petals. The ring bearer was dressed in a brown suit and white shirt with apricot trimmed ruffles. He carried a white satin lace edged pillow centered with an apricot ribbon entwined with wedding rings. The pillow, as well as the gowns of feminine attendants, were made by the bride's mother.

Mothers of the bridal pair wore floor length gowns and corsages of white cymbidium orchids.

The bride's grandmothers, Mrs. R.E. Marr of Lockney and Mrs. Turner wore floor length dresses and corsages of apricot carnations.

Debra Hardy and Shonda Guthrie distributed scrolls and rice bags.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlor. The serving table was covered with an off-white lace cloth and held a silver candelabra bearing white tapers. The bride's bouquet and those of her attendants were placed at one end of the table and at the other was the wedding cake, made by Mrs. W.E. Marr of Clarksville, aunt of the bride. The cake was iced in white and decorated with tiny apricot flowers and Cherubs. Focal point was a water fountain flowing in the center of the elevated four tiers. The cake and punch were served by Lori Young, Karen and Susan Turner, cousins of the bride, and Debbie Gilbreath.

Members of the house party were aunts of the bride, Mmes. Robert Turner, Travis Young, Dorman Turner, Si Medley, Virgil Boyd, Sherman Irwin and W.E. Marr, and a cousin, Kim Irwin of Carlbad, New Mexico.

For travel the bride changed to an apricot print street length dress designed in the same fashion as her attendants. She added bone accessories and wore the corsage detached from the center of her bridal bouquet.

Upon returning from their wedding trip to Colorado, the couple will be at home in New Deal.

Kinast is associated in business with City Cleaners and Laundry in Abernathy. Mrs. Kinast has been secretary at Don Hardy Race Cars and will be employed in Lubbock.

REHEARSAL DINNER

The groom's parents hosted the rehearsal dinner Friday night at King's Restaurant. The tables were laid with white color cloths and the head table was graced with a silk flower arrangement in shades of apricot and brown.

All Ages Appear As Freshman

Loading cars and pickups with all their worldly belongings, college students are returning to campus. Freshman are looking forward to more independence and possibly worrying a bit about how they will get along with that new roommate. For most the fear of the unknown will quickly fade as the anticipation gives way to the routine of settling into a different life style. Being away from home gives a heady sense of freedom and most will cope well.

While across the land another group is gathering courage to assault the hallowed halls of learning. Growing in number and courage, these students have a different focus and perspective. They are beginning a college education after a 20-year lapse, during which they married and raised a family. Some are picking up an interrupted college career and others are "first-timers." How will they fare? Comparatively well, say most educators. These students are more serious and committed. Their goals are clearly defined. The mature students bring a wealth of experience that challenges the instructors to offer their best.

The largest influx of more mature students occurred after World War II when Veterans flooded the campus, impatient to finish their education and get on with the business of making a living. Eighteen-year-old freshmen said many classes became much more difficult as the instructors raised the level of their teaching to meet the needs of the more serious student.

While the "season" for learning has traditionally been for youth, more and more persons are returning to school with reasons as varied as the people who return.

"A middle-aged freshman was most unusual in 1958," said Dr. Vera Simpson, associate professor of speech at Texas Tech University, "but I have no regrets about not going to college earlier."

Dr. Simpson married returning serviceman Bob Simpson immediately after World War II. During the war she worked, turning down a scholarship to study drama at any school in the country.

"Women only went to college for one of two things when I was 18-- a MRS or a teachers certificate. I didn't want either one," Dr. Simpson said.

Her early dreams of a career as an actress were encouraged by her high school principal in Memphis, Tennessee.

"In those days it was quite acceptable for a girl from a good family to be involved in amateur theatre," Dr. Simpson agreed, "but to become a professional actress would have been scandalous."

Parents of two sons, the Simpsons moved wherever Simpson's work as an insurance adjuster took them. When Bob Simpson traveled in the Southwest area he liked it so well that he moved his family to Plainview and then to Lubbock in 1958.

Mrs. Simpson continued to develop and use her talents, participating in drama groups wherever she lived. She sometimes made radio commercials.

"Wherever we moved, there were two places I always found friends and acceptance," Dr. Simpson said, "one was my church and the other the local theatre group."

Friends in Plainview and Lubbock urged her to go to school and her husband encouraged her to enroll at Tech.

Mixing marriage and family with college studies was not easy but with the help of her husband and sons Mrs. Simpson went on to earn a B.A. at Texas Tech in 1962, a M.A. in 1965 and her Ph.D. at Wayne State in 1972.

Described by one student as "the most outstanding instructor I have had at Tech," Dr. Simpson poetry interpretation and Reader's Theatre at Tech. High school speech students in the area will recognize her as an active promoter and judge of many forensics events on the South Plains.

Dr. Simpson does not believe Texas Tech University is taking an active enough role in encouraging continuing education. She noted that the smaller schools in the area are far ahead of Tech in offering courses to attract the mature student.

Widowed three years ago, Dr. Simpson has found her work to be a great help in adjusting to her single status. She remembers with gratitude the support and encouragement of her husband and family to enter the academic world.

"If a person can survive the 'paper chase' and cope with the necessary bureaucracy, the instructors and fellow students are generally helpful and sympathetic toward the returning student," one late-bloomer commented. "Still, the program is geared to the on-campus youth, and scheduling adjustments and lab requirements can prove difficult," the returning student said.

Courses offered by the community junior colleges have been helpful in enabling the mature student to enter a degree program. These colleges have made extension and night classes available in basic subjects as well as offering opportunities for technical training.

Several Floydada residents have attended classes at the Crosbyton extension of Western Texas College in Snyder. Many high school seniors in Crosbyton have taken the opportunity, with permission of the high school, to get some of their basic freshmen required courses during the school year or in the summer following graduation.

In Floydada, Texas Tech University offered Spanish 141 and 142 during the 1979-80 school term and is offering Spanish 231 for the 1980 fall semester at Floydada High School. Enrollment will be at 6 p.m. September 10. Other courses may be made available through the division of continuing education at Texas Tech University upon request.

Walkathon Held For Purchase Of Billboards

The High School Track was a busy place Saturday morning as the members of the First Assembly of God participated in a walkathon around the track while the Whirlwinds were doing calisthenics in the center area.

Approximately 30 walkers were on the field at 9:00 a.m. Some of the younger and more energetic were running, several were jogging, but the majority were strolling leisurely, chatting with each other and subconsciously keeping strictly within the track lane marks.

A table had been set up by the gate and volunteers were accepting pledges from Church members. The pledges were for about $1.00 per mile.

The money will be used "to saturate the community with the message that when you hurting, God cares." Billboards will be purchased also, 1000 Gospel tracts, radio spots that will be heard at 8:00 every day, newspaper ads and bumper stickers.

Rev. J.W. Guess, pastor, said that they already have the billboards paid for, "I think we have it all paid for, but I haven't figured it yet. People are still pledging," he said.

Public Is Invited To Energy Fuel Hearings At Lubbock

Public is invited to a hearing on a new federal program to assist in production of alcohol and other biomass fuels according to FmHA District Director Donald R. Perry. The hearing will be held at the Holiday Inn on Avenue H Friday, August 29th. The all day hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. and the morning session will break at 11:30 a.m. The hearing will resume at 2:00 p.m. and runs till 5:00 p.m. The evening session will be held 7:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Building, 1205 Texas, Lubbock or contact Floyd County Supervisor Steve Kelley, FHA, 107 W. California, Floydada.

Farmers Home Administration, a credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, will carry out part of the energy security act of 1980. That part is Section 2 of the bill designed to produce 920 million gallons of biomass fuel annually by end of next year.

The proposed plan calls for Farmers Home Administration to provide direct loans on the farm production of biomass fuels of "alcohol, ethane, and methane" and provide guaranteed loans to medium scale commercial facilities.

Reducing our dependence on foreign oil is a high national priority. Farmers Home Administration has been designated to help farmers and others to get into production of alcohol and other biomass fuels. The public hearing is an important part of that effort.

The Assistant Agriculture Secretary, Alex P. Mecure, will preside at the hearing.

Perry said everyone is invited to attend the entire meeting or any portion they wish.

Anyone wishing to speak or present written testimony about the proposed regulations are invited to do so. Copies of the proposed regulations are available at the Farmers Home Administration office at the Federal

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Have you ever watched a poisoned animal quiver, shake, vomit, lose all muscular control then die? All this takes anywhere from a few minutes to all night. A slow and painful death - a very inhumane death.

Our cats were poisoned within days of each other. We have no way of knowing if it was on purpose or a pure accident.

We think people should think about how easy it would be for a child to get in that same position!

If it was on purpose, I have but one question, What Is Wrong With You?

If our animals bother you, tell us! We'd much rather take care of it ourselves than to see you commit a Class A Misdemeanor (subject up to a $2000 fine).

Purcell

La Baume said that on behalf of the Conservation Service, "We want to thank you for all the time and effort you have put in. Anytime you spend 36 years... we know what a bad shape the county was in when you started and if it hadn't been for you (Purcell) and the other directors, it wouldn't be the fine farming area it is now."

Other testimonials cited Purcell for his dedication, "I've been on the board for 13 years and I can't remember but one or two meetings that Cecil has missed in all that time," one director said.

Fawver asked Purcell's daughters if they had anything to add. In unison the girls answered, "We're proud of you, Daddy."

Fawver then asked Purcell if he would like to say anything. Cecil thanked them all and said that he had appreciated working with them. "But I'd rather play my fiddle than make a speech," he said. Everyone applauded and Purcell lifted his instrument off of the piano. One daughter then sat down at the piano and the other two picked up their guitars. Father and daughters played together with the ease of long practice. The mother seated near by, looking on.

The banquet was catered by Roye's. Those attending beside Mr. and Mrs. Purcell were: Directors and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Fawver, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Nixon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Dunlap, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. King; and the conservation service representatives.

Also attending were: Purcell's three daughters and their husbands; David and Dianna Johnston, Lynn and Connie Smith, and Wade and Ruth Proctor. Shelly Harris, publisher of the Hesperian-Beacon, was also guest.

FIX-IT FACTS

Thurman Davis Fireplaces add a great deal to a room's atmosphere and comfort but can also detract by letting air escape. One solution is a wood and metal fireplace screen. A less expensive solution is to build an attractive fireplace mask. Begin by measuring the opening. Build a frame of 1x2s which will fit tightly into the opening. Use a staple gun to staple a strip of 1/4" foam rubber or other insulating material around all sides of the frame. Cut a piece of 1/2" plywood two inches larger than the top and sides of the fireplace opening. Nail the plywood to the frame. From a length of 2x4 cut a base which will extend four inches beyond each side of the plywood panel. Notch out a 1/2 inch strip from one edge of the 2x4 base for the bottom edge of the plywood panel to fit into. Round and sand smooth all edges of the 2x4 base. For a finished look, nail molding to the face of the plywood panel.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Have you ever watched a poisoned animal quiver, shake, vomit, lose all muscular control then die? All this takes anywhere from a few minutes to all night. A slow and painful death - a very inhumane death.

Our cats were poisoned within days of each other. We have no way of knowing if it was on purpose or a pure accident.

We think people should think about how easy it would be for a child to get in that same position!

If it was on purpose, I have but one question, What Is Wrong With You?

If our animals bother you, tell us! We'd much rather take care of it ourselves than to see you commit a Class A Misdemeanor (subject up to a $2000 fine).

Purcell

La Baume said that on behalf of the Conservation Service, "We want to thank you for all the time and effort you have put in. Anytime you spend 36 years... we know what a bad shape the county was in when you started and if it hadn't been for you (Purcell) and the other directors, it wouldn't be the fine farming area it is now."

Other testimonials cited Purcell for his dedication, "I've been on the board for 13 years and I can't remember but one or two meetings that Cecil has missed in all that time," one director said.

Fawver asked Purcell's daughters if they had anything to add. In unison the girls answered, "We're proud of you, Daddy."

Fawver then asked Purcell if he would like to say anything. Cecil thanked them all and said that he had appreciated working with them. "But I'd rather play my fiddle than make a speech," he said. Everyone applauded and Purcell lifted his instrument off of the piano. One daughter then sat down at the piano and the other two picked up their guitars. Father and daughters played together with the ease of long practice. The mother seated near by, looking on.

The banquet was catered by Roye's. Those attending beside Mr. and Mrs. Purcell were: Directors and their wives; Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert L. Fawver, Mr. and Mrs. Junior Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Nixon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Dunlap, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. King; and the conservators, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Nixon Jr., Mr. and Mrs. R.G. Dunlap, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. King; and the conservation service representatives.

Also attending were: Purcell's three daughters and their husbands; David and Dianna Johnston, Lynn and Connie Smith, and Wade and Ruth Proctor. Shelly Harris, publisher of the Hesperian-Beacon, was also guest.
