

Revival Continues at Calvary

A series of services with the theme "Spiritual Renewal" have been presented this week and will continue through Friday night at the Calvary Baptist Church in Floydada.

The public is invited to hear the guest preachers and to participate in the services with music and testimonies.

Among those on the program are: Jim McMillen, Jim Wilson, Walt Arnold, Gerald Castle, Gordon Mummert, Bill Abernethy, and Larry Schneiders.

Others include: Calvary Church ensemble; Shirley Meredith with a "Chalk Talk" puppet show under the direction of Mrs. Danny Daniel; and the Hollis family.

A church bus has been purchased by members as a "total Church project" for the New Year.

The bus was delivered Friday, January 2, and will be used to "try and reach out to those who don't have a way to go to services on Sundays as well as being used for youth camps and other projects.

Family film series at First Methodist

The popular film series "Focus On Family" will be shown beginning on January 18 at the First United Methodist Church in Floydada.

The series features family expert Dr. James C. Dobson in several of his most popular presentations, all of which were made live at family life seminars.

Each film in the series, 7 in all, will be shown at 6 p.m. on Sunday evenings beginning on January 18 and continue through March 1.

Film titles are "The Strong-willed Child," "Shaping the Will Without Raising the Spirit," "Christian Fathering," "Preparing for Adolescence," and "The Origins of Self-doubt and Peer Pressure and Sexuality," and "What Wives Wish Their Husbands Knew About Women, Parts 1 and 2: The Lonely Housewife and Money, Sex and Children."

Dobson is associate clinical professor of pediatrics at the University of Southern California School of Medicine.

He is a licensed psychologist in California, a husband, father and best-selling author. He has written several books on the topics covered in the films.

You are invited to see and hear, without charge, America's leading Christian authority on the family. These films represent the culmination of 15 years in a ministry to families, and comes at a time when the institution of marriage is under enormous pressure. We must get excited about the family if this basic social unit is to be preserved. As it goes, so goes the Country.

Please plan to join in and attend this challenging, new "Focus On the Family" film series.

Sheriff gets new dispatcher

AFTERNOON DISPATCHER at the sheriff's office, Eunice Lewis, is instructing the new dispatcher, Sandra Rainey, in radio technique as Sheriff Fred Cardinal looks on.

While most people were using New Year's Day to recover from the holidays, Sandra Rainey was starting a new job as dispatcher at the sheriff's office.

Working morning shift five days a week, Sandra finds her job "very interesting."

"My husband, Bud, has been in this type of work for fifteen years," Sandra said. "he was Sheriff of this county and I enjoy being around this kind of work."

Catching on to the radio is the hardest part of Sandra's duties. There are various codes to be memorized.

"Becoming familiar with the different voices is taking some time, too," she said.

The sheriff's department, as well as, both Lockney and Floydada police departments are coordinated through the same radio system.

Bud Rainey is the law enforcement director at Wayland Baptist College in Plainview. He assumed those duties in July '80.

Prior to that he was a law enforcement instructor at the A&M Center in Floydada.

The couple has three children: Jeff, 17; Kristi, 15; and Rusty, 11.

Floydada man seeks Success in Hollywood

BY CAROL LEA CLARK

Hollywood and all the glamour of acting seems half a world away from West Texas, but Dana Scott Galloway, a Floydada native, is making his bid for a piece of fame.

"It's not easy to break into movies or television," said Galloway while in Floydada for the holidays visiting his parents, Al and Sally Galloway, "90% of professional actors are out of work."

There are certainly easier ways to make a living, but Galloway does it because he loves acting and because it has become such a part of his life.

Galloway and his wife, who is also an actor, began acting at Texas Tech while they were in college. They also both waited tables at the Hayloft Dinner Theater in Lubbock where they got their first small professional acting parts in the light comedies that the Hayloft liked to feature.

The couple also got their first big break through the Hayloft Dinner Theater. Under the direction of Larry Randolph they put together a production of "The Mousetrap," a mystery based on a story by Agatha Christy. The play really clicked and the audience ces loved it. The Galloways ended up taking the show on the road to theaters in Oklahoma City, Tulsa, Memphis, and other cities around the country.

The success of "The Mousetrap" led to other acting jobs and to making commercials in Dallas. The Galloways were able to join the acting unions, Equity and American Federation of Television and Radio Actors.

In February of last year Dana Scott and Rebecca Galloway moved to Hollywood to try to break into television and motion pictures. "We thought that we had enough experience as actors to have a good chance," said Galloway, "we're not just a couple of kids with stars in their eyes. We can both act and we know how to go about getting acting jobs."

One way to get acting offers is to do a showcase presentation, which Rebecca Galloway did in December with Eric Braeden, star of the daytime television series "The Young and the Restless." The showcase was the play "Death Takes a Holiday" which was produced in a tiny 99 seat theater for an audience of producers, directors, and agents.

Over Coffee

BY SHELLY HARRIS

Holly Dean, Dallas, representing Texans War on Drugs Committee will speak to interested citizens Friday, January 9, at 7 p.m. at Lighthouse Electric.

That's the announcement that came in this week to the Hesperian along with a handful of printed material principally about marijuana and kids.

I came very close to marking the announcement for the "This Week" box and putting the informational sheets to one side.

But I didn't.

I read them.

And I think you need to listen to some of the things I found out.

I know. Drug problem in Floyd County? Hard to believe!

I have lived along the Texas/Mexico border for over 20 years, and believe me I know towns with drug problems.

Floydada and Lockney aren't like those towns.

Are there illegal drugs and alcohol abuse in Floyd County?

Law enforcement officials tell us there is. Glue and paint sniffing are major juvenile problems.

Teachers, parents, and concerned citizens tell me that there are high school and junior high youngsters from every type of home and background who are regularly drinking some kind of alcoholic beverage.

If they are getting ahead of and using liquor; marijuana and harder drugs are not far behind.

The schools are carrying on a program of drug prevention through films and health/science classes aimed directly at the students.

The churches are carrying on programs of strong youth involvement in healthy, constructive types of activities.

It now remains for the parents to be informed. It is imperative that as parents you educate yourselves about the effects of drugs, the availability of drugs, and local drug scene.

Drug usage affects non-users in negative ways as well as users.

But did you know that the U.S. spent as much money on marijuana - $40 billion a year - as is spent on imported oil? The drug industry ranks with General Motors, and Exxon - it's a $50-60 billion dollar a year industry.

No matter how strong our families are, our schools are, our Churches are...any industry of that enormous proportions is going to find its way into our towns.

The way it comes in is not through some sleazy dope peddler. Children scarcely ever see the classic pusher. They don't need him.

Marijuana passes from friend to friend, from sibling to sibling.

The atmosphere is friendly and fun-filled. Remember, many kids are convinced that marijuana is harmless.

The illegal drug business has spread into every Texas community.

The most rapid movement is into the Junior High Schools. Sale of drugs is a giant merchandising machine that sells just as the norm, the cool, almost the required behavior.

If that is hard for you to believe, ask yourselves these questions:

Do you really understand the lyrics of most of the rock music on your child's stereo? Would you guess, for instance, that the pleasant song praising "Job" for "taking away the blues" refers to Job brand marijuana rolling papers? Your child probably knows.

Did you notice the ads for the movie "Up in Smoke"? The headline read, "Don't come straight to this movie." The kids got the message - come stoned.

Do you know where the nearest "headshop" is? Do you know what it is? Ask your child. Even non-users will know the answers.

Have you read High Times? Look for it on local newsstands, just one of a flock of glossy magazines and comic books dedicated to the drug culture.

Do you notice the drug jewelry (tiny coke spoon earrings and bracelets, "snort tube" necklaces) on T.V. -- Johnny Carson Show and Gong Show, for instance: Junior-high kids don't miss them.

Many people think that marijuana is relatively harmless. That seemed to be the opinion of the experts back in the sixties. But since 1976, four things have changed:

- 1. Marijuana in 1981 is more potent than marijuana in the 60's. It was mostly a wild weed with only about .2% THC (marijuana's major psycho active ingredient). Today's marijuana is cultivated and contains up to 4% THC.
- 2. Younger and younger children are smoking marijuana. Observers report that the average age for beginning users seems to have dropped to about age 12.
- 3. A mounting body of scientific evidence indicates significant physiologic changes caused by marijuana.
- 4. Longer experience in observing young marijuana users has led many psychiatrists and doctors, including a number who originally thought marijuana relatively benign, to report serious personality changes, which they attribute to the drug.

Experts used to think that marijuana use was the sign of an unhappy child, but no more.

"Peer pressure rules the lives of adolescents, and today's peer pressure is overwhelmingly heavy for marijuana. Every child who wants friends will feel the pressure.

Ordinary good parenting seems no longer to be safeguard enough.

Parents in communities all over the state of Texas are studying and adapting techniques developed by organized Parent Peer Groups who have been highly successful in pulling their children back from the marijuana scene."

I don't know anymore about the Texans War on Drugs Committee than you do. But I've read their literature and it is my opinion that anyone in Floyd County that has any interest in youngsters should make every effort to be at Lighthouse Electric at 7 p.m. Friday, January 9.

COUNTY OFFICIALS WERE SWORN into office on New Years Day at 10 a.m. at the County Court House by Judge Choise Smith.

Taking office were: [l-r] Sam Spence, Commissioner Precinct 2; Thomas Warren, Commissioner Precinct 3; Kenneth Bain, County Attorney; Fred Cardinal, Sheriff; Jonelle Fawver, Tax Assessor/Collector; and Randy Hollums, District Attorney.

Health officials seek Brucellosis information

(AUSTIN) — Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission are requesting additional input from cowmen in implementing the Texas brucellosis program.

"We plan to have 15 area committees throughout the state made up of cattlemen to advise us in relation to the state's brucellosis program. We know we must have the cooperation of livestock producers, and we want their advice and counsel," John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, TAHC, said.

Names of livestock producers that would be considered for membership on the area committees are wanted. They can come through agricultural organiza-

Egg production may drop in '81

Total egg production for 1981 may decrease, as producers continue adjusting output to achieve a positive net return. Broiler and turkey production will expand in 1981 in response to higher prices and less competition from other meats. Poultry prices should be up sharply from this year's second-quarter lows, but record feed costs may hold profits near break-even levels at least through the first half of the year.

Egg production in 1980 will about equal a year earlier, the increase having occurred in the first quarter. Output in the fourth quarter may be near a year earlier, and indications point to a 1-percent decline in the first half of 1981. The table egg flock is below year-earlier levels and, until well into 1981, fewer replacement pullets will be available. Because a high percentage of the flock has already been force-molted, producers are expected to increase culling if egg prices do not keep up with rising costs.

Egg prices were down sharply in the second quarter but have since increased — mainly in response to production cuts from a year earlier. Cartoned New York large eggs in July-September averaged 70 cents a dozen, 5 cents above last year. Prices have increased this fall and will continue strong in early 1981 before declining seasonally in the spring. Prices may average in the high 70-cent range in the first quarter but then decline to the mid-70's in the spring. In the second half of 1981, if production is held at this year's level, prices can be expected to average 78 to 82 cents a dozen.

Output of federally inspected broiler meat for 1980 will total a little over 11 billion pounds, ready-to-cook weight, up 2 percent from last year. Output should continue expanding in 1981, perhaps around 6 percent. Production costs will be higher than in 1980, but strong red meat prices will likely keep broiler production profitable, particularly in the second half of the year.

Broiler prices have declined from the high summer levels but remain above last year. The nine-city wholesale price for the fourth quarter may be about 9 cents more than last year's average of 42 cents a pound. Prices may average in the low 50-cent range in the first quarter of 1981 and then rise slightly as demand increases seasonally next spring and summer.

Federal agency plans $21 million payment

More than $21 million will be paid to New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas farmers on this year's low crop yields, the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation announced recently.

"This was one of the worst years in history for U.S. farmers. In this Region, farmers were faced with everything from hot, dry weather to hurricanes. Every crop we insure and almost every area of the Region was hit by some disaster. Claims have been filed on over 33 percent of our insurance units. With the cost-price squeeze farmers are facing today, the FCIC indemnity many receive is going to be the only way they can continue operating," explained Ben A. Jordan, Jr., College Station Regional Director.

Texas farmers will receive more than $18 million of FCIC indemnities while some $2.4 million will go to Oklahoma farmers and over $400 thousand will go to farmers in New Mexico.

The most heavily damaged crops include cotton, wheat, grain sorghum and peanuts, but substantial payments will also be made on citrus, corn, rice and soybeans.

The government-sponsored program is designed to cover the investment a farmer makes in raising a crop. Since the voluntary program was started in 1938, more than 90 cents of every dollar of premium paid has been returned to farmers in indemnities.

Soybean Association Will meet in Plainview

PLAINVIEW — All Texas soybean producers are invited to take part in the January 30, 1981, Texas Soybean Association (TSA) annual meeting. "If you'd like to learn about the latest innovations in weed control and new varieties, then this meeting is designed for you," says TSA President LaMarr Ramsey, a soybean producer from Plainview.

Registration opens at 8:30 a.m. at the Hale County Agricultural Center in Plainview and agribusiness exhibitors will have their products on display. Soybean production and market outlook will be the focus of the morning's program.

Speakers will include Texas A&M Extension specialists Drs. Ray Brigham, Mike McWhorter, Leon New and Marvin Sartin with highlights on fertilization, weed and insect control, irrigation and production costs. There will also be a film on marketing.

Following the noon luncheon sponsored by the Plainview Producers Credit Association, American Soybean Association Director of Market Development Dennis Blankenship will discuss market opportunities which are being set up for soybean growers through sponsored market development programs.

During the afternoon session, a TSA business meeting will be held. Winners of the Texas Soybean Contest announced. The contest is sponsored by the TSA and prizes awarded by Elanco Products Co.

For more information, please contact the Texas Soybean Association, 812 8th Street, Plainview, Texas 79072, call 806-293-3806.

Floyd Philosopher

Editor's note: The Floyd Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm is puzzled about a notion all First Ladies have about the White House.

Dear editor:

There's something about the Presidency I don't understand. There never has been a First Lady the White House suited like it was when the family moved in. Every one of them for the past 50 years has insisted on redecorating the place.

A famous decorator has been hired to re-do the living quarters of the new occupants. He is so famous that the cost of the average room he redecorates comes to $50,000. And the White House is not a one-room shack.

I got to thinking about this. How could a modern decorator, if he were working back in the early 1800's, have managed to run up a bill of $50,000 to re-do the boyhood log cabin of Abraham Lincoln? I guess it'd go something like this:

"Mrs. Lincoln, you mean to tell me the dirt floor young Abe is crawling on is domestic dirt? It came from right around here? We can't have the future President of the United States crawling on anything less than imported dirt. I'll place an order right now for two tons of rich alluvial soil from the Nile valley. Won't cost over 5 or 6 thousand dollars to ship it here.

"Now that fireplace, where'd your husband get all those odd-shaped rocks? Rip it out and I'll order some Italian marble. Believe I can get some for probably 10 thousand dollars. And saw up that split log you're using for a mantel and I'll import one I know about in a castle on the Rhine. It's a bargain at 12 thousand.

"Now I ask you in all candor, where'd you get the mud those logs are chinked with? You want your son to grow up and get to remembering while he's riding up Pennsylvania Avenue that he once lived in a log cabin chinked with mud dug up in his own backyard? It'll scar his personality. They make a beautiful chartreuse chinking mud in a little town in the south of France. I'll order a batch. Probably won't cost more than a few thousand dollars, maybe a little more for the fine textured kind.

"And those window curtains. Who ever heard of using gunny sacks? I'll use Japanese brocade."

"Sir, just a minute. How much has your bill come to so far?"

"It's right on the dot. Fifty thousand dollars even."
"We can't pay it."

"Don't worry about it. I'll hold the bill till your son gets to Washington and Congress will take care of it."
Yours faithfully,
J.A.

"It's only a matter of time until we get parts in television or motion pictures," says Galloway. Their goal is not to be movie stars, although that would be nice, but just to work steadily as actors.

The couple would like to become sufficiently well known in acting circles so that they could move to a small town in California and only go into Los Angeles for the acting jobs. "We really miss living in a small town where you know everyone and the people are friendly," but now we have to live where the acting jobs are." Galloway would eventually also like to do some writing and directing, but now the acting comes first.

The Galloways are happy with what they are doing. They are both willing to audition during the day and work at temporary jobs at night to make ends meet. Recently he has been working at nights taking orders at a pay television station in Los Angeles, and Rebecca has had her share of waiting tables. "You're willing to work at almost anything to do what you believe in," says Galloway.

With that attitude success should be only a matter of time.

Postmaster to head annual scout drive

Edward Wester, Postmaster, active in community affairs, will head up the Floydada and surrounding area Boy Scout drive for the annual support of the scouting program. Kinder Farris, chairman of the board of the First National Bank, will head up the capital campaign drive for the Boy Scouts.

Ed Wester stated that the local funding needed for the drive to succeed is $4,000.00.

The Floydada Rotary Club and Floydada Lions Club with assistance of scouting friends and leaders will be making the contacts this week. If you are not contacted you may leave your contribution at the Floydada Post Office or at the Builders Mart.

The Capital Campaign drive is an effort to raise $523,500 across the South Plains Council to improve Camp Post, Camp Tres Ritos, Camp Haynes and the council office.

Young people present program

The young people of the Bible Baptist Church, Floydada, presented their Christmas program to the church on Sunday night, December 21, at 6:00 p.m. The theme of the program was "An Old Fashioned Christmas."

The program began with a solo by Debra Jo Fawver. The congregation sang some of the older Christmas hymns.

The young people presented poems, readings and scriptures on the birth of Jesus and the real meaning of Christmas. They also sang some more Christmas hymns as a group.

The young people presenting the program were: Debbie and Teresa Holbert, Kelly and Sheldon Sue, Trixie and James Vick, James and Dale Burns, Joe Kim, Timothy and Julianne Lipham, and Tracey Harrison.

RED MEANS A LOT OF THINGS. Stop; danger; anger; political leanings and, it could mean you are losing up to 10 gallons of fuel a month through evaporation, if that's the color your fuel storage tank is painted. Red, or any other dark color can cause greatly increased evaporation rates, especially if storage tanks are located in the open, without shade. In order to stop this costly fuel waster dead in its tracks, simply paint your storage tank with a reflective color: white or aluminum are best, and will cut evaporation losses by about a third. You can cut your evaporation rate to about a gallon and a half per month by moving the tank to a shaded area and installing a pressure vacuum release filler cap. If the tank is properly shaded, you won't have to worry much about color at all. Look for tips on conserving fuel with equipment tune-ups and maintenance next week.

Society and Features

Kandic Burrow and Mark Persall pledge vows in Floydada home

Miss Kandic Burrow and Mark Persall pledged unhearsed and unmemorized vows based on scripture during their marriage ceremony at 3 p.m. January 1. The Floydada home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Tinney, was the wedding site.

John Redfearn of Trinity Baptist Church in Amarillo officiated.

The bride, who resided in Lubbock prior to her marriage, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Burrow of McAdoo. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Persall of Amarillo are parents of the bridegroom.

Kay Tinney of Floydada attended her sister as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Rhetta McClure of Lubbock, roommate of the bride, and Paula Hull, also of Lubbock. They wore street length burgundy dresses and carried a long stem burgundy rose.

Autumn Crager of Houston, niece of the bridegroom, was flower girl. Rings were carried by Chad Crager of Houston, nephew of the bridegroom.

Richard Persall of Amarillo served his son as best man. Groomsmen were Tim and Greg Persall, brothers of the bridegroom from Amarillo.

Piano selections were offered by Rhonda Dewbre of Crosbyton. Bruce Crager, brother-in-law of the bridegroom from Houston, sang "The Lord's Prayer."

Leslie Adams played a flute solo, "It Is Well With My Soul," then was joined by Bruce Crager who sang one verse and chorus. This was used as the final prayer.

Mountain noble fir draped the fireplace, which was accented with burgundy ribbon. Centerpieces on the piano and fireplace were burgundy tapers, and arrangements were of berried juniper and mountain fir.

The bride wore a gown of white organza trimmed with silk Venice lace. The drop-shoulder bodice featured a sweetheart neckline accented with bouffant folds of the sheer organza both at the back and front and featured dainty appliques of the Venice lace formed into flowers. The empire waistline featured folded layers of organza completely circling the waist and coming together at the back, where, further appliques enhanced the bodice.

The full organza skirt gathered up into deep scallops at the bottom, with each scallop accented by the silk Venice appliques formed into flowers. Under this, the second skirt of wide ruffled organza swept into a full chapel train. Her fingertip veil of sheer illusion featured two pencil-edged tiers, and the veil was gathered to a headpiece of silk roses and blossom spray accented by seed pearls.

The bride's bouquet was a cascade of mauve and white feathered carnations accented with burgundy rosebuds and white lilly-of-the-valley. Bridesmaids carried long stem burgundy roses with white ribbon streamers.

RECEPTION

A reception honoring the newlyweds was given in the Tinney home.

Presiding in the receiving line were Rhonda Dewbre, Joan Hendrix and Nancy Mercer, friends of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Persall are at home in Lubbock following their return, January 6, from a wedding trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico.

The bride is to be graduated in May from Texas Tech University. She is employed at West Texas Hospital.

Persall, who is to be graduated in May from Wayland Baptist College, is employed by Plainview Athletics.

Whirlettes win two; record to 12-4

Terry Pleasant scored two apiece to round out the scoring. Alfaro and Turner led the rebounding department with 11 and 10 respectively. Davis led the win over Lorenzo with a school record of 28 points while Alfaro, riding the bench most of the night in foul trouble, added 20 more. Turner added eight more points to the Whirlette cause and led the rebounding department with 11. Jones finished the night with four points while Pleasant pitched in three points and grabbed off 10 rebounds. Ferguson finished the scoring with two points. The Whirlettes are home Friday against Frenship and then travel to Valley Monday night. Friday, January 16, FHS opens District 3-AAA play against Childress in the Bobcats' fair.

INSUR-MATION
Floyd County Insurance Agency Jerry Cooper

I am not a wealthy person and never considered the need for estate planning because, quite frankly, I don't think I have an estate to plan. A friend tells me that I'm selling myself short, and that I should look into my assets and do a little planning. With only a small life insurance policy, am I selling myself short? Yes, you are. Estate planning is not just for the wealthy - it's for everyone, and life insurance is an excellent place to begin. Estate planning is simply planning the best use of the property in your estate and, if you've paid your first premium, you've started your estate. Life insurance offers many options for settlement which should be considered. These include payments over a period of years, lump sum settlements, earmarking funds for college or mortgage payoff. No estate is "too small" for considerations of this nature.

Public Notice City Of Lockney Housing and Community Development Program

On January 5, 1981, the City of Lockney submitted a pre-application to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for 1981 Community Development Block Grant funds. These funds, if awarded by HUD, will be used to benefit low and moderate income citizens in our community.

A copy of this pre-application is available for review in the office of the City Secretary, 215 E. Locust Street, between the hours of 8:00 A.M. and 5:00 P.M., Monday through Friday.

Citizens may submit comments and objections on the City's CDBG pre-application directly to the Dallas Area Office of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, 2001 Bryan Tower, Dallas, Texas 75201. HUD will consider objections based only on the following grounds:

- (A) The City has described its housing and community development needs in a manner clearly inconsistent with available facts and data;
- (B) The activities proposed by the City are clearly inappropriate to meeting the City's needs and objectives;
- (C) The City has not complied with CDBG program requirements; or
- (D) The proposed activities are not eligible for CDBG program assistance.

In submitting any comments and objections to HUD, citizens must plainly identify the source of their complaints and cite alternative data, if applicable, in correspondence addressed to the HUD Dallas Area Office.

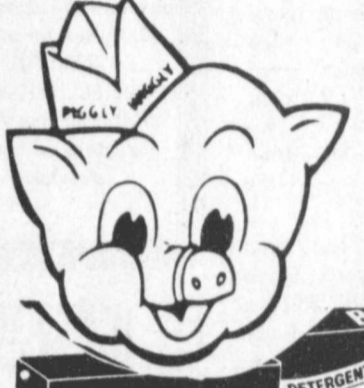

Handicapped individuals who need special assistance in reviewing the City's pre-application should contact the Lockney City Hall at 652-2355 to arrange for such assistance. For further information, contact Erma Lee Duckworth, City Secretary, at the Lockney City Hall.

Southwest fares going up!

Since January 1980 Southwest Airlines has held the same price level. However, confronted with increasing fuel prices, Southwest reluctantly filed with the Civil Aeronautics Board December 30 for an average fare increase of approximately 8.4% to be effective January 12, 1981. The fare increase is subject to the Civil Aeronautics Board's approval.

For example, on most one-way flights, Southwest's average fare of $37.00 approximately will increase to $40.00. Southwest's average Class fare of $24.00 will increase only 4.2% to $25.00. Over 70% of all Southwest travelers will utilize these two fares.

Southwest reaffirmed that Southwest Airlines is dedicated to low fares for its passengers. "This commitment is reflected in our two fare structure that includes all seats on every flight with fares determined by route of flight and not by distance of the aircraft." Putnam explained that the Pleasure Class fare applies to all flights departing after 7 p.m. on weekdays and all weekend flights. The Executive Class fare is applicable on all flights between 6:30 a.m. and 6:59 p.m. Monday through Friday.

"We've held off on this increase for one year and have been able to charge the same prices since January 8, 1980," explained Southwest Airlines President Howard Putnam. "We were considering having to increase fares as early as June of 1980 but, due to high passenger volume, moderating fuel costs, conservation of fuel, and the high productivity of our employees, we were able to delay the increase an additional six months."

The cost of jet fuel for Southwest's 23 Boeing 737-200 jets has now climbed 30% to an average of 91 cents per gallon from the January 1980 level of 70 cents per gallon. For the past year, Southwest has been employing fuel conservation measures by using a slightly slower enroute cruise speed which in 1980 saved approximately 4,200,000 gallons of fuel and $3,500,000.00.

Vasquez attends school

Sylvia Vasquez of Floydada was among 47 juvenile probation officials from across the state who attended a special school on monthly statistical reporting by juvenile probation officers December 9-10 at Southwest Texas State University.

The program, sponsored by the SWT-based Texas Center for Juvenile Delinquency Prevention, brought to participants guest speakers from the state and national levels. The goal of the program was to aid Texas probation officials in developing uniform reporting systems that will aid state compliance with federal regulations.

Vasquez is a secretary for the Floyd County Probation Department.

Center News

By Mrs. J.E. Green

December 30: Christmas has come and gone. We were blessed with fair weather and many happy get-togethers. Myself I spent Christmas day in Plainview with son, Victor and family. A good time and dinner.

This group of Greens, my children, grandchildren and greats, had decided to meet over the weekend at my home. First to arrive were the Clyde Greens, Clyde and Ouita, Kenneth Mark and Annie of Peralta, New Mexico, on Friday, 8 p.m. Next were the first group of Rymans, Doc, Margaret and two younger children, early Saturday, 1 a.m. Then in early Saturday p.m. Don Clark, Betty Lou and Donny of Big Spring. We had arranged for all to be home for suppertime Saturday if possible. Then Vic and Sue and son, Steve, came; Jim had to work. We missed him. The second group of Rymans, Susie, Jay, Donna and my great grand Jack Douglas, six months old, who represented his parents who could not come.

When the Anthony Latta's arrived, Anthony, Evelyn, Carol and Mrs. Sam Latta and two daughters.

"We all sat down to supper. And we ate and ate and ate. Till we nearly ate the turkey up."

Families don't need a program to go by, but we always sing Christmas carols, and eat some more, and dishes! We use paper plates.

When sleeping quarters were arranged all went to bed. Sunday morning all attended church. And when dinner was ready Mr. and Mrs. Grady Edelman of Muleshoe arrived. So glad to see these cousins who used to live in Floydada and a young medical student, Richard Bird of Lubbock.

Soon after dinner Ma Green who was not feeling well collapsed. Then everybody got busy fixing to take me back to Hubbard.

I wasn't ready to leave home again but here I am to recuperate. They treat me just great. But I need to be home soon. Can't say when. Happy New Year!

Injunction issued in envelope stuffing work-at-home project

U.S. District Judge Barefoot Sanders has issued a preliminary injunction allowing the United States Postal Service to detain incoming mail addressed to American Service Directory, American Service, and American Commercial Publications, at four separate Dallas addresses, pending the outcome of a Postal Service attempt to obtain a mail stop order for mail addressed to the companies.

If successful in obtaining the mail stop order, the Postal Service will return to sender all mail received addressed to the firms relating to the work-at-home offers.

Stansell part of outstanding Military unit

Airman First Class Jeffrey B. Stansell, son of Barry Stansell of Floydada and Margie Savage of Lockney, is a member of an organization that has received the U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award at Keesler Air Force Base, Mississippi.

The U.S. Air Force Outstanding Unit Award is earned by members of an Air Force unit for exceptionally meritorious service or outstanding achievement that clearly sets the unit apart from similar units.

Flu season peeks in Jan

If you're suffering from a fever, coughing, sore throat, runny nose, and generally just ache all over, guess what you have? January marks the beginning of the peak influenza season, so brace yourself to ward off or weather the attack says the Texas Medical Association (TMA).

While most patients recover completely within a week, many continue to feel unusually tired for some time. The standard remedies of getting plenty of rest, drinking fluids and taking aspirin still hold true says the TMA. Hot chicken soup coupled with tender loving care couldn't hurt either.

In most cases, the flu leaves no permanent after effects, but occasionally, people do develop other illnesses. The most common complication is pneumonia. Other sicknesses that piggyback the flu are persistent cough or bronchitis, sinus trouble and ear infections.

Robert Smith graduates from special course

Airman Robert D. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carroll D. Smith of Route 2, Lockney, has graduated from the U.S. Air Force aircraft maintenance specialist course at Chanute Air Force Base, Illinois.

Graduates of the course were trained in aircraft engine maintenance, repair and service, and earned credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Smith will now serve at Dyess Air Force Base, Texas.

Social security fraud convicted

Parcell, Manager of Plainview Social Security Office announced another conviction for Supplemental Security Income (SSI) and Social Security benefit fraud.

Parcell reported that Robert Vasquez of 1604 Avenue D, N.W. in Childress, Texas, was sentenced in U.S. District Court in Amarillo on December 15 on charges of concealing and failing to report his work and earnings in order to continue receiving Supplemental Security Income and Social Security disability payments.

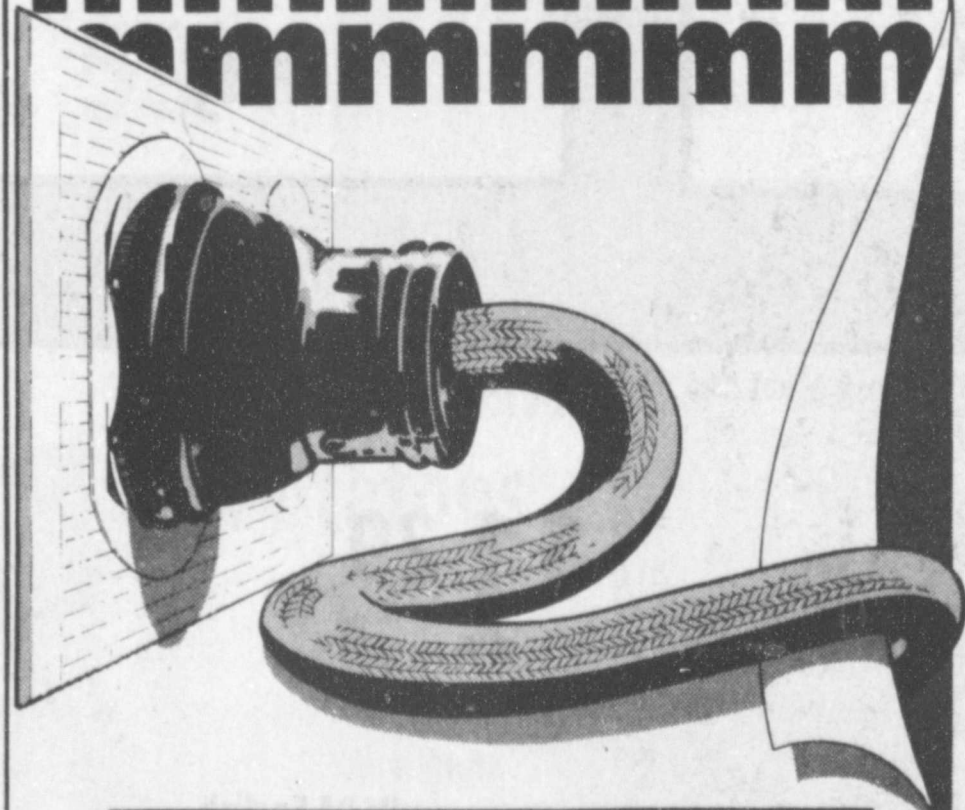

Vasquez was sentenced to 180 days confinement, and fined $1000. The confinement was suspended and Vasquez was placed on probation for 5 years. Mr. Parcell said that this conviction resulted from a joint investigation by the U.S. District Service and the Regional Field Integrity Staff of the Social Security Administration. He said that there are numerous other such criminal actions pending throughout the 5 states comprising the Dallas Region of the Social Security Administration.

Parcell said that SSA is dedicated to serving the public and insuring that eligible individuals promptly receive payments to which they are entitled. Parcell said, however, that SSA is also responsible to the public to insure that those who attempt to cheat on Social Security programs will be held accountable for their actions and that the Administration is continuing and stepping up its efforts to eliminate fraudulent and improper benefit payments.

Listen To The Hum

mmmmmm
mmmmmm

It's the sound of growth, prosperity and progress in the Southwest. It's the sound of the Southwest making a bigger and bigger contribution to our nation's economy. It's the sound of electricity. Electricity that surrounds us with opportunities and jobs, pride and security. And with proper use of our resources, and new power plants using efficient, reliable fuels like coal, that sound is going to keep right on humming.
