

Congressional re-districting is likely

BY PATRICK CLARK
 For the second time in less than a year, Floyd County may wind up in a congressional district.

As a result of the 1980 census results, it is possible that Floyd County will move from the 17th congressional district of Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford) to the 19th congressional district of Kent Hance of Lubbock. However, it is possible Floyd County will join the 13th congressional district of Jack Hightower which now stretches from Amarillo to Wichita Falls.

According to preliminary census figures:

- Stenholm's 17th district had 503,563 people. That's 20,597 short of the so-called ideal congressional district.
- Hance's 19th district had 541,883 people, 17,673 more than the ideal number.
- Hightower's 13th district had 504,266 people, 19,894 short of the ideal number.

One solution could be to move the 13th district south into the 17th and the 17th south into the 21st district which, preliminary census figures show, has a population of 677,041, which is 152,881 people over the ideal size.

The Texas Legislature has begun holding hearings in Austin on re-districting. The Texas Constitution requires that re-districting be completed in the first regular session after the decennial census.

However, the re-districting cannot be completed until the census figures are final and President Reagan has until April 1 to report the final census totals to Congress.

Stenholm aide, Dale King, says he expects to see the 17th district extended to the south to take in all of Coleman and Comanche Counties which are now partially in the 17th. He says the lines may also be redrawn to include part or all of Brown and Runtels Counties in the 17th.

When the boundaries of the 13th and 19th districts are redrawn, King says, it seems likely Floyd County will be included in Hance's 19th district because Floyd County has more identification with Lubbock than it does with Amarillo in Hightower's district.

Floyd County was in the 19th district until the 1972 redistricting when it was moved to the 17th.

Lockney Mayor Claude Brown says he agrees with King's assessment that Floyd County more appropriately belongs in Hance's 19th district than Hightower's 13th.

Because of the increase in state population, the ideal size for a state senatorial district has increased from 361,247 to 458,980.

Floyd County is in the 30th state senatorial district represented by Democrat Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls.

According to the preliminary census results, district 30 is now 84,000 short of the ideal population. The district's total population, according to those preliminary figures, rose by only 4,778 people, a change of just 1.3 percent over the last census.

Farabee's district is immediately west of the 22nd senatorial district which is now more than 42,000 over the ideal population.

To even out the population in the districts, Farabee's district could be extended into the 22nd district, the 31st district, now represented by Bill Sarapalius of Hereford, could be extended South into the 30th and possibly the 28th districts. Sen. E.L. Short's 28th district could be expanded south into Snelson's district or east into Farabee's.

It seems likely, at this time, that Floyd County will remain in the state legislative district of Rep. Foster Whalley (D-Pampa), although a determination will have to await completion of the final census report.

"That's more where we belong," Brown says of the 19th. "We have more identification with Lubbock than we do with Amarillo. If we change, that's (the 19th district) more where we belong."

There could be changes in the county's representation in the state legislature.

Because the number of senatorial districts will remain unchanged at 31, the South Plain-Panhandle districts will apparently have to be expanded significantly, to take into consideration the state's 27 percent, or three million, increase in population over the last decade, much of it in West Texas.

Floyd County gets revenue sharing money

Floyd County will receive an estimated $86,784 in revenue sharing funds for the fiscal year of October 1, 1980 through September 30, 1981.

County officials had been apprehensive that the revenue sharing funds might not be available this year.

The vote was up before Congress as to whether or not to continue the program. Many were surprised to see the vote pass for another three years.

Funds for Floyd County are down about $10,000 from last year according to County Auditor Olin Watson.

"The amount is based on population and taxes in a formula that takes many things into consideration," Watson said.

A public hearing will be held at 3 p.m. on February 13 in the County Courtroom on how the funds will be spent.

Both oral and written suggestions will be considered.

In the past interested groups have come forward to suggest parks, library expansion, and aid for the Day Care Center as well as the Senior Citizens.

Any county resident may come forward and give his or her ideas of how this money can be spent to best serve all of the county citizens.

County Judge Choise Smith will then prepare a budget of the revenue sharing funds in accordance with the suggestions made by the county residents.

The budget is then presented to the commissioners court for revision, and approval.

Floydada students will undergo skills testing

Third, fifth, and ninth grade students from the Floydada Independent School District will participate in the second Texas Assessment of Basic Skills test program scheduled for February 18, 1981.

The assessment plan, first of its kind in this state, is scheduled once each year under requirements set by the Texas Legislature during its 1979 regular session.

The Floydada ISD students will be among 700,000 expected to take the reading, writing composition, and mathematics tests during the February 2-20 statewide testing period. Each of the tests will require a maximum of 40 to 60 minutes to complete.

The Floydada ISD will report its district and campus aggregate scores to the public at a May or June meeting of the board of trustees, according to Jerry Cannon, district superintendent. "However, individual student scores will be reported only to the student, parents or guardian, and the school personnel directly involved," Jerry Cannon adds.

"This testing program is designed to help the student and the school improve achievement," Jerry Cannon points out. "For this reason, results will be reported in a manner that will help everyone become more effective."

Third grade students were added to the annual testing sequence for the first time this year. The three tests will make up an annual assessment effort designed to help both state and local school officials improve their services," Jerry Cannon says.

Overall student performance, both by campus and by district, will be reported each year to the public by the local board of trustees.

CTB/McGraw-Hill of Monterey, California will help administer the 1981 test program and develop and field test new items for the 1981-82 series under contract to the State Board of Education. The California firm will also operate a computerized inventory of all test booklets to assure strict security at all times.

"Each test question will relate to a specific objective or skill students are expected to learn by the time they complete the particular grade," Jerry Cannon points out.

"We use the term 'criterion-referenced' simply because it is a short way of saying the answer to each question must lead back to a specific objective," Jerry Cannon explains.

Ninth grade students who do not make a satisfactory "exit level" score may re-take the test each year they remain in high school. However, they will not be required to take it more than once. Later attempts to improve scores and evaluate any remedial programs will be voluntary.

The annual test program will be administered by specially-trained personnel in each school district under the guidelines and supervision of the Texas Education Agency.

Andrews students welcome home hostages

Homecoming for the Hostages was celebrated by the R.C. Andrews students and personnel on Thursday, January 27.

That day was designated nationally as a Thanksgiving Day for the return of the hostages.

At Andrews Elementary School a large yellow bow adorned the front of the building. There was a yellow poster sign which bore the word "Horray."

All of the students and staff wore yellow clothing and/or a yellow paper ribbon attached to their clothes.

There were 325 ribbons cut and distributed by Sunny McDonald's homeroom, 5-D.

A ceremony was held with Darin Martinez leading the Pledge of Allegiance.

Hollis Payne and Connie Wideman led the group in singing "God Bless America."

Just before time for school to be dismissed, Janie Carter, Margaret Jones, Jo Payne and Connie Wideman sang "Tie A Yellow Ribbon Around the Old Oak Tree" over the intercom.

Over Coffee

BY SHELLY HARRIS

My friend Dallee called about 7 a.m. one morning.

"Remember it was just two years ago you came to visit us in Missouri?"

"That's right," I agreed. "I haven't thought about that trip for a long time. Remember that restaurant we ate at?"

"Where do. And how we knew we were together when the people behind us served and the woman asked the if that was an egg on his plate."

"Right," I laughed, "and they had Billy a steak knife with his... and he used it?"

"Dallee and I made plans to visit each other soon. She lives in Oklahoma City at then, she lived in Carthage, Missouri and I lived in Uvalde, Texas. Dallee is a newspaper woman. She is a society editor of "The Press" for 10 years. She has three children in ages somewhere in between. Her youngest, a boy, was 14 and my Bill is 12.

Planning the trip, actually rather the spur of the moment, I decided that truck would be the way to go. Bill had never ridden a train.

Everyone knows that there are Amtrains running all over the United States. Where their actual routes are and how to board one are two of the best kept secrets in the transportation world.

It took me five long-distance calls to get the information. I talked to New York, Los Angeles, Houston, San Antonio and finally to an accommodating man with an ancient voice in Temple. He told me that if we were at his depot by 9 a.m. on any given morning we could board a north bound passenger train.

We had to drive 200 miles from Uvalde just to catch the train in Temple. The closest he could get us to Carthage was a small town called Arkansas, Kansas. On the map it looked very close to Carthage. In reality it was one-hundred miles of quite probably the oldest road in the state.

The road is crossed by numerous narrow bridges which are high and rounded on the top. They are made of iron and one expects a horse drawn wagon full of Union soldiers or perhaps even Tories to come along.

But I'm getting ahead of myself. The train ride was great. By far it is the most comfortable way to travel.

We got into Arkansas at 11 p.m. just as the station manager was closing the depot. The February temperature was well below freezing. And Dallee wasn't there to meet us.

She did drive up shortly. In between the hugs and the "how are you's" she was muttering about the road and who in the world would send us to this God-forsaken little berg, when we could have gone on into Kansas City.

All that however was forgotten in our joy at seeing each other again. Our sons were also sleepily renewing their acquaintanceship.

The four of us stopped at the restaurant mentioned above. From the outside looks of the building we had no great expectations, but it was the only place open where we could fortify ourselves with coffee before taking the long trip back to Carthage.

Now, Dallee's son is Doug and it happened to be his birthday. They had had a family dinner earlier and then the two of them had hurried on over after us. In all of the excitement Dallee forgot to check the gas gauge.

The seriousness of this oversight became apparent after we had driven through several towns and found them all dark and deserted.

Finally the gauge was on empty. It was about 1 o'clock in the morning. We made it into a nondescript little town and were desperately driving side streets as well as main streets looking for a gas station or for any kind of an open business.

Since we couldn't go on, we had decided to pull up in front of a service station and sleep in our car until someone came to open up in the morning.

On the last turn through town we spotted a neon sign down one of the streets. Excitedly we drove up in front of the building.

The lights were on, cars parked all around the building, and the sign said "Coors Beer". I started to get out.

"Shelly! It's a speak-easy."

Well, of course she was right. That's exactly what it was. A Kansas speak-easy. There was even a little latched opening in the door they could talk through if someone rang the bell. The door itself was securely locked.

The only alternative to ringing that bell was to spend the night cramped up in a cold car trying to sleep.

"Come on," I said bravely.

Actually it wasn't all that much. I'd checked the automobiles around the building and they were mostly working pick-ups, and fairly late models. I figured that any bunch of men who got their trucks that dirty couldn't be too bad.

DON MORRISON is the new Floyd County farm bureau manager.

Morrison new farm bureau manager

Don E. Morrison is the new Farm Bureau office manager. He assumed duties on Monday, February 2.

Morrison has been with the Hale County Farm Bureau since January 1978. He was a career agent.

"The first thing we will be doing is going through all of the members files to make sure that their coverage is correct and is the way they want it to be," Morrison said.

The office is now in the process of reviewing these policies and "it will just take a little time," he said.

The bureau will be looking for two more additional agents for the county Morrison said. There are no other personnel changes anticipated.

Career agent Pat Green has been covering the Floyd County office along with his three county territory this past week.

"I certainly appreciate the work Pat has done and also Mitzi Hale's" Morrison said.

Mitzi Hale is the agency secretary. Before working for Farm Bureau, Morrison was a Texaco Cosignee in Spur for eight years. Spur is his home.

Before that he was with the rural electric co-op in Livingston and in Tulia.

Since he has been with Farm Bureau he has been awarded membership in the "million dollar round-table" in life insurance production. He was made a member his first year and has reported the performance for the last three consecutive years.

Morrison's wife is Glenna and the couple have three children. The oldest daughter, Janet, is a sophomore at West Texas State. Two other children are Jamie, 11, and Jodi, 9.

The family belongs to the Baptist Church.

Morrison has been involved in 4-H and little league activities. He is a member of the Masonic Lodge.

Amarillo conference set on crop production

The Fifth Annual Crop Production and Utilization Symposium will be held February 12 at the Texas A&M Research and Extension Center in Amarillo. All persons interested in the latest agricultural research are invited. "What's Ahead in Crops and Production Practices?" is the theme for the event.

The outlook for new farm implements, improved irrigation, dryland water conservation techniques, and a new greenbug biotype are program features. Alfalfa varieties, sunflowers, perennial grasses, minimum tillage, wheat grazing, and new herbicides also will be discussed by scientists from Bushland and Amarillo.

Registration starts at 9:30, and the morning session entitled "Alternative Crops" begins at 10:00. Dr. Charlie Rogers, lead-off speaker, will discuss the potential of sunflowers in the Southern High Plains. Dr. H.V. Eck will detail his research with irrigated perennial grasses, and Dr. Dan Undersander will discuss alfalfa varieties. Undersander says selecting the proper variety can increase alfalfa production several tons annually.

The keynote address, "Farm Implements - A Look Into the Future," will be presented by William W. Jackson, who is in charge of planning for tillage and planting equipment. Deere and Company, Moline, Illinois.

After a Dutch treat lunch, Dr. Frank Petr, Area Agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, will moderate a session on "Alternative Production Practices." Dr. B.A. Stewart, USDA Research Director at Bushland, will discuss a new system of furrow irrigation. Seeding rate, and furrow diking are being tested into the system so neither irrigation water leave the field, says water-use efficiency for wheat was doubled in 1979 and yield was greatly improved in 1980. Jones, USDA Soil Scientist, describe methods of increasing crop yields by retaining all the land. New herbicides discussed by Dr. Allen W. Allen, USDA Agricultural Extension Service, will outline several minimum systems that reduce fuel costs, increasing yields and profits.

The final session will be moderated by Dr. Ed Runge, recently appointed Head of the Soil and Crop Research Department at Texas A&M University. Research with greenbug biotype attacks greenbug-resistant wheat lines for greenbug resistance.

Dave Hutcheson, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station Animal Nutritionist, will discuss his experiments on wheat. He will be followed by Runge describing highlights of the Soil and Crop Sciences Department at Texas A&M University.

Steve Winter, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station sugarbeet researcher, will complete the program by discussing agricultural research in Australia.

The Symposium is sponsored by USDA Conservation and Production Research Laboratory at Bushland, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and Panhandle Economic Program.

YIELD CHAMPIONS — The three top soybean producers in the 1980 state test, sponsored by the Texas Soybean Association, include, from left, L.B. "Bert" Elam of Lockney with 60.3 bushels per acre, Mike Carthel of Lockney with 62.7 bushels and Donald Lee Terrell of Plainview with 72.8 bushels. Making the award presentation on Friday, during the TSA annual convention in Plainview, are Dr. Arlen Klosterboer of Beaumont, area extension agronomist, and Lou Buice representing Elanco Products.

Area men tops in soybean production

By DOUG McDONOUGH
Herald Farm Editor

For the fifth time in as many years, a Hale County farmer has been recognized as the top soybean producer in the state in the annual yield contest sponsored by the Texas Soybean Association, in cooperation with Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Elanco Products Co.

Donald Lee Terrell of 210 Yucca Terrace, Plainview, was named the state soybean yield champion on Friday at the 14th annual meeting of the Texas Soybean Association in Plainview. For his winning yield of 72.8 bushels per acre he received the state champion's plaque and a trip for two to Acapulco.

Last year the state soybean yield crown went to Joe Schwartz of Hale Center, for producing 72.9 bushels per acre. The 1978-crop crown went to Dale Arthur, Petersburg, for producing 71.6 bushels per acre, with the 1977 crop contest being awarded to Bill John Hegi of Petersburg for 77.4 bushels and the 1976 crop award to Neal Burnett of Plainview with 72.3 bushels per acre.

Two area men also took second and third place in the state contest, Mike Carthel of Lockney, who farms north of Akin, produced 62.7 bushels per acre and L.B. "Bert" Elam, from Lockney but who's soybean test plot was in eastern Hale County with 60.3 bushels per acre.

BOTH CARTHEL and Elam received special plaques along with amounts of either Treflan or Surflan by virtue of also placing second and third, respectively, in the contest for irrigated soybean production areas. Terrell captured the top spot among irrigated producers.

During the two-day convention, held Thursday and Friday at the Hale County Agriculture Center, LaMarr Ramsey of Plainview was re-elected to his second one-year term as president of the Texas Soybean Association. Also re-elected were Roy Seaberg, first vice president, of Dayton; Tom Henderson, second vice president, of El Campo, and Robert Ledbetter, third vice president, of Paris. Terrell was elected as secretary-treasurer, replacing Bill SoRelle of Plainview, who did not run for re-election.

A farmer since 1955, Terrell currently produces cotton, wheat, corn, soybeans, potatoes and onions and approximately 2,300 acres west and northwest of Plainview. All of the cropland is irrigated.

The winning 72.8 bushel production was from an eight-acre measured contest plot, planted in Ring Around Mitchell variety on May 26. It was watered six times, planted double row on 40-inch beds with nine seeds per foot. Treflan was used for weed control and the crop was harvested Oct. 8.

FOR THE 1980 crop year, Terrell raised some 420 acres of soybeans with an overall yield of 52 to 53 bushels. Some 100 acres of soybeans were produced on the same farm as the yield test with an overall yield for that farm of 62 bushels per acre. In last year's contest, Terrell produced 61.61 bushels per acre.

Carthel captured second place with Ring Around 450 variety while Elam took third with Mitchell variety.

Top producer in the Coast Prairie area was Reynolds Farm of Wharton in Wharton County with a yield of 55.6 bushels from the Hutton variety. Abney and Sons Farm of Nome in Jefferson County captured second at 47.4 bushels with Coker 338 variety while Mike N. Burnside of Bay City in Matagorda County came in third with 46.7 bushels, also from Coker 338.

Glen Nichols of Clarksville in Red River County was the top producer in the Northeast Texas region with 43.3 bushels per acre.

Terrell was the only producer initiated into the Texas 70 Bushel Club for 1980. Carthel and Elam were both initiated into the Texas 60 Bushel Club, along with High Plains grower Emmet Pittman of Kress in Swisher County. Pittman's Mitchell soybeans yielded 60.2 bushels per acre.

The annual contest is designed to recognize producers in each of the major soybean growing areas of the state — irrigated areas (High Plains and Southwest Texas), Northeast Texas and Coast Prairie. Its purpose is to stimulate soybean production by providing useful cultural information to increase cooperation within the industry to improve production efficiency.

CONTEST WINNERS were announced by Dr. Arlen Klosterboer of Beaumont, extension area agronomist.

This year's convention attracted about 100 soybean producers from throughout Texas. It is traditionally hosted annually, in rotation, by producers in each of the three major Texas production areas.

Prior to the awards presentation, Denny Blankenship, director of market development of the American Soybean Association in St. Louis, Mo., explained that during the next 10 years, soybean demand is expected to reach 3 billion bushels, or 50 percent more than the present crop. Currently, U.S. soybean exports account for about $10 billion, with only $16 million spent in export marketing development through producer check-offs and USDA funding.

Hay test is helpful

Hay is now being fed in many areas of the state, yet most producers don't know the quality of hay they have. Since much of the 1980 hay crop was of low quality due to dry conditions, producers should consider having their hay tested for protein content.

A hay test to determine the protein content is helpful in several respects points out Don Dorsett, forage specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Protein content relates to production practices which influence quality, such as maturity and fertilization, and also provides a guide as to feeding such hay according to its nutritional value.

Different classes or types of beef cattle have different nutritional requirements, emphasizes Dorsett. Animal nutritionists say that beef cattle cannot meet their requirements for protein when hay is 7 percent crude protein or below. Yet a recent summary of hay test conducted for producers by the Forage Testing Service at Texas A&M University revealed that 32 percent of the Coastal bermudagrass hay tested 7 percent or below. The summary also indicated that more than 69 percent of such hay as Bahiagrass, sudan, sorghum, bluestems and Johnsongrass tested 7 percent crude protein or below.

Cotton will do a tight-rope act in 1981 according to U. S. Department of Agriculture figures which estimate that 1980-81 world cotton demand will outstrip production by about a million bales. The U.S.D.A.'s probability people identify last season's drought as the reason for the projected tight supply/demand balancing act. Post-drought production was nearly 25 percent below that of the previous 1979-80 season. Increased foreign production - which has been pushed up to 52.5 million bales, will do little, if anything, to offset the U. S. decrease. That decrease, over 11 million bales, is reflected in all cotton producing regions of the U. S. World carry-over stocks are placed at 2.8 million for the same period due to the reduced harvest.

Stacy Reeves has been working at "Stitchin' Pretty" since it was opened. She will continue to work at the store.

Sue manages the Sears store in Floydada and will continue to do so; she will also be available at the fabric shop.

"We will continue to handle the McCalls, Butterick and Vogue patterns," Williams said.

She added that there is a possibility of expansion in the future and of adding a craft line.

Elaine will be staying at the store during the transition period.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:

The Chamber of Commerce Women's Division would like to say "Thank you very much" to the Hesperian for the front page pictures and stories on the Gala Olio the past two weeks. By giving us such good publicity, you played an important part in making the show the success it was.

It is really gratifying to see how people in Floydada work together in support of such causes as the Jaws of Life Fund and the Hospital Auxiliary, and have fun doing it. The audience was large, enthusiastic, and generous. Many people donated money in addition to the price of the tickets and Crackerjacks.

After an event like Saturday night, I feel very fortunate to be living in this town. There are a lot of good people here.

Thanks again for your help.

Sincerely,
Louise Turner
President, Women's Division

Gala Olio raises over $1300

The proceeds from the Gala Olio presented Saturday night enabled the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce to present Checks of $680.20 to the Jaws of Life Fund and the Hospital Auxiliary. This amount was about $300.00 over the total raised last year by the Vaudeville Country show, also sponsored by the Women's Division.

The members of the Women's Division extend their thanks to the cast and crew of the Olio, the merchants and farmers who donated prizes and money, and to those who purchased tickets and Crackerjacks.

The Gala Olio opened with a welcome from Louise Turner, Women's Division president, with Keith Thomas serving as master of ceremonies.

The Olio Band consisted of Harvey Allen on harmonica, Charley Overstreet on fiddle, Kay Crabtree on piano, Sam Crabtree on drums, Kelly Turner on guitar, and Bobbie Miller on bass guitar. Vocalists were Hope Crabtree, Lavada Garrett, and Bobbie Miller.

Providing the comedy were Aldine Williams, Carol Bell, Lavada Garrett, Jerry Cannon, Vicky Rainer, Louise Turner, Roger Garms, Harry Radloff, Tom Powell, Don Gowens, Doris McLain, Cliff McLain, Paige Cannon, Christi McNeill, Penny Bearden, Tana Perry, Kelby Sue, Norman Allen, Moody Younger, Pam Cathey, Carrie Martin, Linley Hudson, and Nancy Willson.

Directors for the Olio were Nancy Willson and Susan Garms, with assistance from Doris McLain and Vicky Rainer.

Response to the Gala Olio was so positive, and comments following the show were so favorable, that tentative plans are already being made by the Women's Division to present another one next January, with the theme being "The Fifties."

Dallie and I walked up to the door and rang the bell. A woman opened the peep-hole and said, "What do you want?"

In unison Dallie and I said, "We need help!"

Well, our voices must have carried because out the door they came.

Chivalry is not dead on the Kansas flat-lands.

We were immediately escorted to a farm on the edge of town and the tank was filled (we repeatedly told them we only needed enough gas to get us 50 miles, but they insisted) and they wouldn't hear of us paying a cent.

We were on our way shortly and I drifted off to sleep. I woke up later listening to Doug repeat, "Isn't that right, Mother?"

I looked over at Dallie. There she sat, zombie-like, staring at the road, driving 25 mph.

"Like me to drive for awhile?" I asked?

We were only 15 miles out of Carthage. We got to the house and were unpacking just as the sky was beginning to lighten in the east.

Boy, we were tired. But you know, it's one of the few things in my life that I'd do over again.

HEARING DEVICE HELPS TV VIEWERS

Television's value to the hearing impaired has been enhanced by the use of a special decoder that displays otherwise invisible captions on selected TV programs. The decoders allow users to see the captions without irritating other viewers who don't want words flashing across their TV screens.

The decoders which are sold at cost (about $250) by a national department store use a small portion of the standard TV signal to transmit the captions.

Currently there are more than 24,000 decoders in use. Two of the three major networks offer 5 hours apiece of captioned programming each week. The Public Broadcasting Service will have raised its captioned programming to 11½ hours each week by mid September.

The captioning and encoding is done by the National Captioning Institute (NCI). NCI is a non-profit organization funded last year with money from the federal government. NCI plans to become self supporting through the fees it charges for captioning and encoding TV programs and commercials by 1982 when the federal grant money runs out. However, before the networks and advertisers will expand their number of such programs they want to know that the hearing-impaired com-

Double-ring, candlelight ceremony unites Edwards-Russel

A double-ring, candlelight ceremony Saturday, January 24, united in marriage Kristi D'Laine Edwards of Lockney and Alton Ray Russel of Plainview. The 7 p.m. ceremony at the Lone Star Baptist Church was performed by Rev. Frank Lorillard, of Burleson, Texas.

Escorted and presented in marriage by her father, Kenneth Edwards, the bride wore a white gown of organza with point d'esprit, Venise and Chantilly laces, designed by Mi Deb. The moulded bodice, embellished in beaded Venise Lace, featured a modified Queen Anne neckline. Sheer point d'esprit inserts on the shoulders and upper sleeves were edged in scalloped Venise lace with Venise lace appliques delicately scattered throughout. Sheer organza Bishop sleeves were shirred to wide point d'esprit cuffs, edged in scalloped Venise lace and an organza crystal plated ruffle, with a Venise lace motif centered on the cuffs.

The A-line accoridian pleated skirt swept to back fullness forming a chapel length train. The entire hemline and train was encircled with a crystal pleated flounce edged in re-embroidered Chantilly lace.

To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a silk illusion veiling caught to a Chantilly lace Juliet capulet. The double layered scalloped veil was finished in petal edging with Chantilly lace motifs centered in the scallops on the bottom layer of the fingertip veiling.

Following tradition, the bride wore a heart shaped stone belonging to her grandfather, C.J. Townsend of Brownwood. Something new was her wedding attire, something borrowed were diamond earrings belonging to Kim Smith and something blue was the garter.

She carried a bouquet of pink and burgundy roses, baby's breath, white streamers and love knots.

Kim Smith served as maid of honor. Paula Edwards, Lockney, sister-in-law of the bride, and Kay Sherman, Levelland, were bridesmaids. Flower girl was Amy Reed, Plainview.

Brides attendants wore long pink polyester dresses with long sleeved matching lace jackets. A long stemmed burgundy rose with pink bows was carried.

Arriving guests were ushered by Darell and Rodney Edwards, brothers of the bride.

Serving as best man was Lynn Greenhill of Plainview, Tommy Noel and Fred Bechtold of Plainview were groomsmen and Jeremy Bechtold, Plainview, was ring bearer.

Music was provided by Mrs. C.L. Record, organist, of Lockney, Chris Huffman, pianist, of Abilene, and soloist Roxanne Ford, Lockney. Music selections were "We've Only Just Begun," "Follow Me" and the "Wedding Song."

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Edwards of Lockney. She is a graduate of Lockney High School.

The groom, son of Mrs. Lonnie Russel of Koskia, Idaho, is a graduate of Grangeville High in Idaho and is presently employed by Ebling Manufacturing Corp.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church Fellowship Hall.

The serving table was laid with a white pleated skirt, pink top cloth and scalloped with greenery and pink bows. It held a silver candelabra and a crystal serving set.

A tiered cake with pink icing, burgundy roses and doves on top was served by attendants, Ronda and Tina Hooten, Mrs. Charles Huffman, Mrs. Archie Jones, Mrs. Gale McPherson, Mrs. Willie Jones, all of Lockney, and Mrs. Steve Reed of Plainview.

Neatness is important on tax returns

Remember in school when teachers used to say, "neatness counts." It certainly is true about Federal income tax returns.

Granted the Internal Revenue Service won't send you a larger refund because they like your handwriting. However, it is true that a neat, accurate carefully prepared return can be processed faster, a resulting refund issued sooner, and all with fewer surprises for the taxpayer.

On the other hand, something as easily avoided as an incorrect or illegible social security number can take weeks to get straightened out. An addition or subtraction error will not cause a long delay but could inconvenience the taxpayer if he or she were counting on having a particular size tax refund or bill.

Still looking for ways to cut down the monthly gas and electric bill? Take a look in the utility room at that hard working, energy consumer which provides the hot water for clean dishes, clean clothes and a clean you. It takes a lot of energy to keep your water hot but there is something you can do to help your hot water heater do its job more efficiently and cost less... give your hot water heater an overcoat. Water heater insulation kits are available or you can use insulating blankets. Virtually a simple cut and tape job, this project is cost effective. A few hints: If your heater is gas, don't insulate the top of the unit, you'll block the draft diverter. Cover only the top three-fourths of the tank to prevent getting too close to the burner or pilot access. If you have the type of heater with the flue pipe coming out the side - model, don't insulate at all. Also, remember not to insulate over the safety valve on any unit.

Breezers victors in "give 'n take battle"

In what has become a give and take battle between the eighth grade basketball teams of Floydada and Abernathy was turned in the Breezers favor Monday evening. The Breezers won 54 to 52.

"It was a real tough physical game," said Coach Jeter. "Our boys played exceptionally well."

Michael Saens did an excellent job on the backboard with the recoveries.

Larry Smith hit some critical shots.

Derrick Jenkins, who has been outstanding all season, played an exceptional game. He was high scorer with 34 points.

Saens had 6 points as did Smith.

At halftime the Breezers were ahead 38 to 34.

Interesting to note is that between these two fine ball clubs, not one extra point was made all evening.

The last time Floydada played Abernathy they were beat by one point. This time the score was evened. This may mean that the two teams will tie for second place in district.

Breezers last game of the season is with Idalou.

SEVENTH GRADE

The seventh graders lost their game to Abernathy, 50 to 36. At halftime the score was tied 24 each.

Able Contreras was high with 22 points. J.D. Wilson had 6 points.

ABERNATHY showed they were a hard hitting physical team, but were unable to get ahead of the Breezers.

Whirlettes lose to 'Lopes

The Whirlettes dropped two home games against Abernathy, to end the first round of district play, with Childress beginning the second round.

LeQuita Davis led the team with 10 points and Terry Pleasant had 6 in the 79-33 loss to Abernathy.

Rounding up the scoring for FHS were Julianne Lipham, Kellie Ferguson, and Sandra Robinson with four points apiece.

Also scoring were Amy Jones and Angie Anderson with two each while Susan Turner had one.

Childress slipped through the Whirlettes Tuesday night with a score of Childress 31 FHS 21.

Also scoring for FHS were Nora Black, Kellie Ferguson and Pleasant with two each and Anderson had one.

Lipham led the rebounder with 8 while Davis and Pleasant had 6 apiece.

The Whirlettes travel to Tulia for their next game.

Davis scored 8 points and Lipham pitched in 6 points to lead the team in scoring.

The Whirlettes stayed within 2 and 4 points of the Bobcats until midway into the fourth quarter. At that time cold scoring for FHS and Childress slipped away.

Antelopes upset Whirlwinds 87-55

Floydada's Whirlwinds were upset by Abernathy last Friday night 55-87. This last game runs their record to 1-4 for district play.

The Winds battled back and forth in the first half before Abernathy started to pull away in the second half. Carlos Rainwater also led in rebounds with 7 and 6.

Abernathy's Joey Garcia and Roger Pinson both scored 18 points each to lead the Antelopes for a victory.

Childress Game Rainwater again led the scoring with 9 points while Calvin Coleman sunk 6 in the Childress game Tuesday night. But the Winds were defeated by Childress 86-40.

The Whirlwinds were behind 21-35 at the half.

Rainwater and Andra Ledbetter both led with 5 rebounds each.

The Winds play Friday night at Tulia.

DERRICK JENKINS, 25, lays this shot up easily in the Monday night Breezer game against Abernathy. Michael Saens, 55, played a fine under the backboard game as the Breezers won by 54 to 52.

The Southwest Sportsman

BY J.D. PEER

DOOR ARTICLE

POACHERS

From time to time there are articles dealing with a topic of interest to all sportsmen and the current one of OUTDOOR LIFE is no exception. It is an article on poaching and their effect on the game population; names, addresses, ages, and description of suspects; kind of violation; when and where violation occurred and location of illegal game.

One bright point in West Texas, according to Supervisor Jackie Young, was a decrease in the number of hunter-related trespass complaints from landowners.

Although Texas does not have a game violation reward system for the information leading to the apprehension and conviction of a game poacher, our neighboring states of Oklahoma and New Mexico do.

In Oklahoma's Operation Game Thief, rewards range from $50 to $250. A toll-free number is furnished for the concerned person calling in the information.

In New Mexico, if you spot a poacher, you may supply the wildlife officers with the information and get a reward from $50 to $1,100. If you want to report the violation but remain anonymous, the department will assign a number to you and will arrange to deliver the money at an agreed location. Most states having a reward system find most citizens refuse the money by turning it back into the program.

Even though Texas does not have this reward system, Texas sportsmen and citizens should report game violations to the P&WD. Before making the call, write down information such as vehicle license number and description; names, addresses, ages, and description of suspects; kind of violation; when and where violation occurred and location of illegal game.

You can either contact the Local Texas game warden or law enforcement agency or call toll-free 1-800-252-9327 in Austin to report the game or fish violation.

If poaching and illegal game violations are not stopped, all the work of sportsmen and the P&WD will be in vain. Remember, it is your game these illegal hunters are taking and it is costing your license monies and sporting goods taxes to replace that game and protect what game is left when the poachers are through.

article by George Layton titled "Socking It to Poachers" and goes into detail about game violations. This type of poaching is actually threatening game populations in states.

In some instances, it is impossible to estimate with any accuracy how many deer are killed illegally, but if wildlife laws are correct, wildlife losses take over 34,000 deer in New Mexico. The value of this loss is valued at over $3 million.

State officials estimate that the illegal kill of deer equals or exceeds the deer taken legally during season.

Checking with the Texas Game and Wildlife Department and one of their district warden supervisors, it was learned last week that the number of game violations were up this past fall. Most of the increase was due to hunting licenses. Game violations are cutting into the operating funds of

by Mrs. Murray Julian

South Plains, February 2: The new year has been ushered in at South Plains with very special events. During the last week of January two baby boys were born on the same day to parents who now live in South Plains or who grew up here. Robert Vernon Bethel was born Thursday, January 29, at Hale Center, in the High Plains Hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Rogene and Laura Bethel of South Plains. Robert weighed 10 pounds and 2 ounces and he has an older sister, Amy La Jean, who is 5 and has started to kindergarten this January here at South Plains. Maternal grandmother is Mrs. Dorothy Mitchell of Plainview, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A.V. Bethel of Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. Dee and Mark Sanders grew up in the South Plains area, went to school, and started married life together here where they still farm, but live in Floydada. This Thursday, January 29, at 2:37 a.m. at the Central Plains Hospital in Plainview a baby boy came to bless their lives. Dane Andrew Sanders, weighed 10 pounds and 15 ounces also has an older sister, Shea, who is 3, and a host of relatives. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hansel Sanders of South Plains, and maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings of South Plains. Great-grandparents in Lockney are Mrs. Oma Cummings, and Mr. and Mrs. G.E. Reeves, and in Hereford Mr. Earl Norman. Congratulations to the new baby boys and to their parents.

Mrs. J.P. Taylor (Trudie) went to the Health Science Center in Lubbock this Monday, where she will spend the next two weeks taking some health treatments. We hope she comes home feeling wonderful after going through the exercises and therapy.

Mrs. Letha Mulder left here Sunday morning to go to Littlefield where she will visit the next few days with her sister, Mrs. Inez Minyard. Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Mulder and Mrs. Letha Mulder spent Friday in Amarillo on business and found their folks. Mrs. Jerry Taylor and some of the children ill with the flu as they visited there in Canyon. They also visited Deral Young who is recuperating from surgery in Amarillo at St. Anthony's Hospital.

Dr. Fred and Mrs. Howard from Wayland College in Plainview were at the South Plains Baptist Church Sunday, February 1, where Dr. Howard preached the morning and evening sermons during the absence of Rev. and Mrs. Cecil Osborne, who are in Mineral Wells this week, where Rev. Osborne is teaching a WIN session there at the church of their son-in-law, Rev. Ron Somers.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Kinibrough accompanied by their daughter, Mrs. Teddy Horne and Melissa, spent the past week-end in Ruidoso, New Mexico returning home Sunday evening. It snowed Saturday morning there in Ruidoso, but it was so warm that none remained on the ground by afternoon.

We are glad to report that Mrs. Mamie Wood's sister, Mrs. Buster Dunham of Amarillo, has made a rapid change for the better this past week. She has only a short cast on her right leg where it was broken, and she is responding to treatment with the doctors very hopeful of her recovery now. Mrs. James Teague visited with her aunt last Wednesday and she found her doing so much better.

Deral Young of South Plains entered the St. Anthony's Hospital in Amarillo last Tuesday and underwent surgery. He got along just fine, although he has been in much pain. Several from here have gone up to visit him, and we hope that it won't be too long before he is able to come home, we are so glad to report that he is doing well.

Visitors Sunday at the South Plains Baptist Church were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Craddock of Sundown, who spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sanders, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Chappell of Duncan, Oklahoma, who came for the weekend, and Darla remained here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Griggs Milton, Jr., for the next two weeks, while Jerry returned to Duncan.

Rev. Nathan Mulder will be speaker at the Wednesday evening prayer service at the South Plains Baptist Church.

Sgt. 1st Class Kenneth Wayne Powell and Mrs. Powell left here January 9th after spending the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher Powell. They arrived in Germany on January 19th, and are getting settled at Gissen, which is 35 miles north of Frankfurt. The Powell's have two children, Jennifer 2, and Phillip, 5 months. They will be stationed at Gissen for the next three years with the United States Armed Services.

Mr. and Mrs. Phil Kinslow of Dallas were visitors here with his folks, Mr. and Mrs. E.J. Kinslow from Sunday evening to Tuesday of last week.

There will be a Caprock Associational meeting at the First Baptist Church in Matador on Tuesday, February 10, beginning at 6:00 p.m. Remember also the Baptist Women's meeting at the South Plains Baptist Church on Tuesday afternoon, 2:00 p.m. February 10th.

Mrs. Louzila Nichols arrived home from Sweetwater, Texas on Thursday. She had gone down there last Tuesday to visit with her children, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whitfill and remained to spend the week-end with them.

Hobby Club members will meet at the home of Mrs. Leighton Teeple for their first club meeting of the new year on Wednesday, February 11, at 2:00 p.m. There will be a program on Handwork. Roll call will be, "A Game I've Recently Learned." Dorothy Cummings will bring the Thought for the Day.

James Russell Thornton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Thornton of South Plains, will be opening his law office in Plainview on February 8, with Open House at his office, 929 Broadway. His sign will read, (R.J.) Rusty Thornton, Defense Attorney. Open House will be 2-5 p.m. Sunday afternoon. We wish him the best as he begins this new phase of his life.

We extend congratulations and best wishes to neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Harry and Mamie Hartman on their 50th Wedding Anniversary Sunday, February 8, with the event being held in Floydada at the Massie Activity Center from 2:00 to 4:00 p.m. Harry and Mamie have lived in South Plains for over sixty years. Hosts for the reception are their children, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hartman of Lubbock, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hartman of Amarillo, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon and Winnie Youngquist of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. James Hartman of Dallas, Roy Hartman, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hartman of South Plains.

THE JAWS OF LIFE fund-raising project received a boost this week when the Women's Division of the Floydada Chamber of Commerce donated half of its proceeds from the recent Gala Olio. Susan Garms, co-chairwoman of the event, presents a check for $680.20 to Lions Club president David T. Seay. The gift brought the Jaws fund to $6,963.49. A total of $7800 is needed to purchase the unit.

Center News

By Mrs. J.E. Green

February 2, 1981: How time flies! Here it is Ground Hog Day. More cold weather ahead.

Well, it is good to be home again after five weeks down state at Margaret's and Doc's home while I entertained an attack of the flu, the first I've had in 8 or 9 years. (Not as bad as the 1918 flu.) It was good to be in the Ryman home where everybody was so nice to me and helped me so well to overcome that malady. Thanks again and again.

And thanks again to my granddaughter, Donna, for bringing me home Saturday. We enjoyed being in Calvary Baptist Church Sunday, and enjoyed dining at a local cafe where we also enjoyed the company of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Latta.

Well, it sure has been cold outside today, clear and a strong west wind. But inside all is well.

Mrs. Leo Frizzell spent last week in Plainview with her daughter, Mrs. Jane Beedy, and Mitzy who was recovering from surgery.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas went to Lubbock Friday for a visit with their children, Sue and Milton Mensch, and son, David, who have recovered from the flu. The Thomas' returned home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Edna Patton visited Miss Vera Meredith Sunday afternoon. Mrs. Clay Muncy came Monday afternoon. Bro. Clay Muncy has been in the Lockney Hospital about a week. Mrs. Muncy, too, has been bothered with arthritis.

Mrs. Ola Warren has been shut in with a severe cold.

Mrs. Vida Cook of Amarillo visited Mrs. Fred Battey last Monday. Mrs. Battey has been "under the weather," too.

Mrs. W.C. Plumlee, who spent eight days in a Plainview hospital recently, has returned home and was able to be in church Sunday. Bobby Plumlee of Amarillo visited Wednesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Plumlee.

Wiley Rogers has also been hospitalized recently but was at church Sunday at Calvary Baptist.

Visitors at the O.G. Mayfield's last week were Mrs. Gene Mayfield of Henrietta, and brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Moreman of Villa Vista, Arkansas, also Mr. and Mrs. Merten Myers of Canyon.

Brothers of Mrs. Henry Brewer and their wives, the Guy Foreman's of Ft. Worth, and the Herbert Foreman's of Wichita Falls were Saturday night, January 24, guests of the Henry Brewers. Sunday morning, the 25th, these and the Brewers and Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson left for a Littlefield Rest Home to help their oldest brother, Buren Foreman and family, celebrate his 87th birthday anniversary. A good day!

Mrs. Brewer has been in with the flu all last week.

Today Glenna and Watson spent the day with her parents, the Brewers. Tonite the Ryman's are having a family party for the 11th anniversary of the death of Jamie. All there if you even 7 months old (adorable great grand miss him!)

Is a savings account a dull investment?

Basically, yes. It doesn't give you much to talk about at parties. People don't quote their passbooks. Your savings account just sits there quietly. Insured. With interest guaranteed. Earning you money, day in and day out. Now that's not glamorous. But it is sensible. And it should definitely be a substantial part of what you do with your money. Investments are fine when you can afford them. But remember, the money you save at A Full Service Bank* is always available when you need it. And it will continue to earn a guaranteed rate until the day you do. Keep your savings with us, A Full Service Bank. For party talk, read up on sports or fashion.

Save The Children announces 1981 children's letters campaign

Children will explore the problems facing children and their families for Save the Children's fourth annual letter-writing campaign sponsored in honor of Save the Children Day.

Save the Children, the international child-assistance agency, is inviting children from across the country to voice their opinions in letters to the President of the United States. The letters will be presented, along with oral testimony from children, at a special hearing with government leaders in Washington, D.C., on Save the Children Day, May 1st.

Children participating in this national campaign are being asked to write on the theme: Dear President Reagan: "This is the biggest problem facing families today, and here's what should be done about it..." The letters are to be mailed to Save the Children Day '81, Westport, CT so that the leading concerns can be tallied and summarized into the 1981 Children's Agenda for Action.

This is the fourth consecutive year Save the Children has invited children to join a national letter-writing campaign as part of the Save the Children Day observance. Last year, more than 20,000 letters from children in almost every state were presented to the U.S. Senate Subcommittee on Child and Human Development during a special hearing for children.

Save the Children conducts programs assisting impoverished children in 25 countries around the world including the United States. It is anticipated that governments of every state will declare May 1st, Save the Children Day and call upon children to make this a special day to help other children.

For an activities booklet describing this national letter-writing campaign and other Save the Children Day activities, write National Coordinator for Save the Children, Dept. P, Westport, CT 06880 or call toll free (800) 243-5075.

"Know How for the 80's" theme for FHA/HERO Week

"Know-How for the 80's" is the theme for National FHA/HERO Week, celebrated by Future Homemakers of America as part of National Vocational Education Week, February 8-14.

The purpose of the week is to show how vocational education and Future Homemakers of America, a part of home economics education, prepare students for the future.

Over 12,000 chapters and 400,000 members nationwide will focus on the leadership skills they have developed through projects focusing on concerns for family life, community living and personal growth.

FHA/HERO members, who are junior and senior high school students in home economics or home economics related classes, do not represent the outdated image of homemaking as cooking and sewing only. Members work on local and national projects related to child care services, clothing and textiles, foods and nutrition, family life education, home management, and career preparation.

One such project is Future Homemakers of America's "Healthy Babies: Chance or Choice" nationwide peer education project. In its fifth year, FHA/HERO members have reached over three million other teens with the important message of making responsible decision concerning teenage pregnancy.

Future Homemakers of America is a national vocational student organization with two kinds of chapters, FHA and HERO. FHA chapters emphasize consumer education, homemaking, and family life education combined with exploration of jobs and careers. HERO (Home Economics Related Occupations) chapters emphasize preparation for jobs and careers.

Celebrating its 35th anniversary during the school year, the organization has served 15 million students since it was founded in 1945. Young women between the ages of 13 and 18 help design and run the national program. This year, four of the nationally elected school officers are men.

Food stamps recipients must search for jobs

Able-bodied food stamp recipients must actively search for jobs or be dropped from the program under new rules announced recently by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Labor.

"Under the new regulations, people who fail to look for a job on their own or who don't report for the interviews at their state employment office will find their households dropped from the food stamp program for two months," said Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman.

Those who are exempt from the work registration requirement are primarily the elderly and disabled, those already working, those responsible for the care of dependents or those already subject to work requirements under the unemployment insurance or work incentive programs.

The rules also require recipients who register for work to be called in to their state employment service--now identified as the job search in many states--for an interview and job classification.

State job service agencies will continue to refer registrants to potential employers, but now food stamp job seekers will also have to supplement this service with their own eight-week job search.

The new rules will establish a standard that work registrants contact up to 24 potential employers within the eight week period, and also report back twice to their employment counselors on progress made. Foreman said. Requirements for each person's job search will depend on their individual circumstances and the availability of jobs in the community, as assessed by the job service counselor.

The state job service will report to state welfare agencies the names of food stamp job seekers who refuse to comply with the interviews or job search requirements, as well as those who find jobs. The regulations will be published in the January 16 Federal Register and become effective June 1.

Sue's Gifts & Accessories Phone 983-5312 126 W. California Floydada	 BRUCE KENNER	Bruce Kenner taught Jr. High band for four years in Snyder before coming to Floydada. Snyder was Bruce's home but he was looking for a high school and chose Floydada because, "it is a good sized school and has had an established band program for quite awhile." "I thought it would be a good move for me," Kenner said. "I have enjoyed working with the kids here. They have worked hard and tried hard...I am looking forward to the years to come." Bruce and his wife, Kay, both graduated from Stephen F. Austin State University. His Bachelor of Music degree was on the secondary level and concentrated in instrumental music. Kay, on the other hand, concentrated on vocal music. Kay is not teaching this year. The couple have one child, Robyn, who is two years old, and are expecting another child.	Stitchin Pretty 983-3809 118 West California,
