

Hail suppression hearing gets underway

BY CAROL LEA CLARK

Hundreds attended the first day of Texas Water Commission public hearing in Plainview yesterday on South Plains weather modification.

The controversy being aired at the hearing is between the Plainview-based Weather Improvement Association (PWIA) and the citizen for natural hail suppression activities of Floyd, Hale, Lamb, and other counties while the Citizens for Natural Weather, an organization of farmers in a twelve county area of the South Plains and Panhandle opposes hail suppression because they believe it reduces the level of moisture on and farms. In his opening statement Harrell, attorney for the Citizens for Natural Weather said that the organization believes hail suppression, "will adversely affect property owned by citizens of Natural Weather members result in a loss of ability to make a living." He also questioned, "whether the group (PWIA) has reasonable expertise in meteorology to adequately conduct weather modification activities."

Gene Carthel the president of Plains Weather Improvement Association and a witness called by PWIA stated members of PWIA have "a mutual interest to reasonably seed clouds to increase rainfall and to reduce damaging. The two farmer groups disagree on the long term effects of weather modification through hail suppression.

The hearing is expected to continue tomorrow at the American Post 260, 111 Ash in Plainview.

According to Texas Water Commission examiner John Green who is officiating at the hearing, "the level of feeling generated by this meeting is indicated by the fact that the American Legion Hall was the only meeting hall in Plainview that would allow us to hold the public hearing."

All the other organizations were afraid that the losing side would associate them with the outcome of the hearing."

The subject of the public hearing is a request for specific permits for the Plainview based Plains Water Improvement Association (PWIA) for actual hail suppression work.

PWIA now has a weather modification license from the water commission but the license does not authorize any actual hail suppression work. A separate permit has to be issued defining the areas for the hail suppression project.

Elderly funding rejected

The Senior Citizens and the Library were cut out of any Revenue Sharing funds by a bare 3-2 vote during County Commissioners Monday.

The Courthouse elevator fund was approved with $28,000 which should be enough to get the project started. Suggestion was made that an architect be asked to come to the next regular court meeting.

The major part of the $86,784 in Revenue Sharing funds was allocated to the four Floyd County precincts. This will likely mean it will be used for road funds. The precinct share amounted to $54,834.

The Central Plains MHMR received $3200; Floyd County Day Care Center received $250; Floyd County Historical Commission received $500.

The Senior Citizens were in the proposed budget for $2000 and the Floyd County Library was in the proposed budget for $1000.

Motion was made by Bob Jarrett that the $1000 allocated to the Floyd County Library Construction Fund by deleted and $1000 be added to the Courthouse elevator fund. Also in that motion the $2000 allocated to the Floydada Senior Citizens was deleted and $2000 was added to the Courthouse Elevator Fund. The remainder of the budget was adopted as read.

Those voting for the amendment were Bob Jarrett, Jack Lackey, and Thomas Warren. Voting against were Sam Spence and Judge Choise Smith.

Another split vote came up when Jack Lackey made the motion that Floyd County not pay their membership dues to South Plains Association of Governments for the year of 1981. Jarrett seconded. Jarrett and Lackey voted for. Thomas Warren, Sam Spence and Choise Smith voted against.

Then in a motion made by Warren and seconded by Jarrett, Commissioner Spence was appointed to represent the county on the South Plains Association of Governments board.

Ron Bibeau was hired as trapper for county. He has transferred from Callahan County, where he was trapper for 3½ years.

He is living on the Truman Murrell Ranch.

Anyone who has predator problems can contact Bibeau at 806-469-5338 or P.O. Box 183, Quitaque, TX 79255.

Jaws of Life drive goes over the top!

Floydada Lions Club President David T. Seay announced this week that the Jaws of Life fund has surpassed its goal of $7800. As of Wednesday a total of $8,430.50 had been contributed.

"The Lions Club expresses its appreciation to the more than 50 clubs, organizations, businesses, families and individuals who made contributions to this project," said Seay. "The community spirit which has been displayed in this effort is something which all of Floydada can be proud of."

Jaws of Life is the name given to a rescue device that, under hydraulic pressure, can force apart metal and other objects in which a person may be trapped. It will speed the process of extricating persons who are trapped in automobiles, machinery, etc. It can even be used underwater if necessary. The unit consists of a spreader, a cutter, a gasoline-powered hydraulic unit, and a hand-operated hydraulic pump. Various chains and hooks are also a part of the equipment.

The unit has been ordered, and as soon as it arrives, the members of the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department will be trained to use the equipment. It will be available wherever the need arises in the Floydada/Floyd County area.

The effort to raise funds for the unit began last October after reading about the death of a Hale County farmer who had been trapped for more than 45 minutes in a piece of farm machinery. While not certain that he would have lived if he had been extricated earlier, rescuers expressed the wish of having had more time to try to save his life.

The drive to raise funds for a unit in Floydada was initiated at the suggestion of Lion Sammy Hale and adopted as a project of the Floydada Lions Club.

Employers honored at Chamber banquet

Dual awards were given to two outstanding employers by Women's Division President, Louise Turner, at the Chamber of Commerce banquet Monday night.

Bob Hambricht, manager of Texas Employment Commission, was honored as "employer of the year." Also honored were the City Auto team of Leroy Burns, Ricky Burns and Shorty Turner.

Sponsored by the Women's Chamber the contest each year is based on letters sent in by the employees giving reasons informed the club president, Louise Turner, of their decision to give out two awards, but kept the recipients names secret.

Not until she unwrapped the plaque and read out the name did Turner know that her husband's automobile agency had been so honored.

Over 200 members attended the 33rd Chamber banquet which was held this year at Duncan Elementary Cafetorium, why their bosses should be chosen. A committee selects the winner.

This year the committee felt that two nominees were equally deserving. They Outgoing president Edwin Nutt expressed his gratitude to Chamber Manager Lance Barrow and to the Board of Directors for their help the past year.

He enlarged upon the banquet theme of "A whole lot of country in us" and said that in the city people lose their identity. They don't even know their neighbors.

"But in Floydada we know our neighbors and that we can depend on them if we need to," he said.

Nutt was applauded when he said, "We like our country way of living. We are a country town and we want to keep it that way."

In speaking of the success of the Chamber sponsored Jr. Livestock Show he said that we should be encouraged to make this a better place to live. "Floydada (needs) to always be a place for these homegrown kids to come back to," he said, "because they love our (country) way of living."

Nutt praised the Women's Chamber "they are so enthusiastic...they are always doing something."

Directors were presented from both the Chamber and the Women's Division.

Incoming Women's president Doris McLain presented Turner with the past presidents plaque.

Mark Wideman, as incoming Chamber president, received the gavel from Nutt and then presented Nutt with the past presidents plaque.

Chamber Manager Lance Barrow, who has resigned effective April 1, said that this banquet "is my last big event with the Chamber."

Barrow and his wife Melissa will be staying in Floydada and "intend to take an active part in the men's and women's chamber and in the community."

Barrow said that when he came to Floydada three years ago the Chamber had financial problems but that "we now have over 300 members." He added that Floydada is one of the stablest Chambers in the area.

Barrow has resigned from the chamber position to give more time to his rapidly growing concert business called Lance Barrow Presents. He is working with such talent as Tanya Tucker and Dr. Hook. In the near future he may be signing with the Oak Ridge Boys.

Barrow and his partner, Pat Summerral, are also trying to open up the radio station in Floydada. This announcement was applauded by the members.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Travis Thornton and Friends, Plainview, with an act of country and western music and humor.

EMPLOYER OF THE YEAR—Bob Hambricht was named Employer of the Year Monday night at the Floydada Chamber of Commerce banquet. Hambricht, who is with the Texas Employment Commission, was tied for the honor with the City Auto crew of Leroy and Ricky Burns and Shorty Turner.

Rain may bring weed explosion

Some ranges are already sporting a lot of weeds, and a little rain in dry areas could bring a weed explosion.

So ranchers need to consider herbicides in their arsenal of weapons to fight pesky weeds which render rangeland unproductive.

"Most annual weeds can be controlled with the herbicide 2,4-D if it's applied when weeds are small and growing rapidly," points out Dr. Tommy Welch with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Common broomweed is one of the most notorious annual weeds that periodically infests rangeland. In areas that received good fall moisture, common broomweed seedlings may be present. A heavy infestation of this weed will reduce grass production significantly and will reduce forage consumption by cattle in late summer and fall when the weed matures and forms the familiar "broom."

"Common broomweed can be controlled with 2,4-D when seedlings are 4 to 8 inches tall and growing rapidly," says Welch, a range brush and weed control specialist. "When plants begin to mature and develop a broom-shaped top in late spring, control is difficult. Thus positive identification of common broomweed early in the season and a timely herbicide application are keys to successful control."

2,4-D amine can be used effectively in areas that receive more than 25 inches of annual rainfall while 2,4-D low-volatile ester should be used in areas of less rainfall. A 2,4-D-dicamba mixture is a good choice for harder-to-kill weeds, when growth conditions are not ideal, or when annual weeds have begun to mature but have not flowered, notes Welch. Dicamba and 2,4-D can be tank mixed, or a 2,4-D-dicamba mixture (3 to 1 ratio) is commercially available under the trade name Weedmaster.

"In addition to annual weeds, ranchers must also battle perennial weeds that infest some rangeland. Among these are Western ragweed and yankeeweed," says Welch.

2,4-D is a good herbicide for easy-to-kill ragweed while 2,4-D-dicamba is needed for yankeeweed. Good growth conditions are necessary to obtain control of perennial weeds with herbicides, adds the specialist.

If plans have been made to apply a herbicide for mesquite control and weeds are present, a 2,4,5-T-picloram mixture (Tordon 225E) or 2,4,5-T-dicamba will take care of both problems.

Since 2,4,5-T-dicamba is no longer available as a commercial formulation, the mixture must be tank mixed.

Welch notes that ranchers sometimes do not get good weed control due to improper calibration of spray equipment or improper mixing of herbicide.

So those applying their own herbicide should calibrate their spray equipment and read the label for proper mixing instructions.

"To obtain maximum benefits from controlling range weeds with herbicides, ranchers must also practice good grazing management," emphasizes Welch. "If overgrazing is a prime cause for weed infestation, applying a herbicide may provide only short-term weed control. With proper grazing management, a good cover of grass can be maintained and weeds can be reduced."

Nation's cattle herd is increasing sharply

(COLLEGE STATION) — Buildup of the nation's cow herd is "picking up steam," and this could have some definite effects on the cattle industry in the next few years.

"Most cattlemen are continuing to expand their herds, and as a result 1980 was another buildup year in the new cattle cycle," points out Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "In other words, cattlemen are holding back cows and heifers to rebuild their breeding herds."

On January 1, there were 5 percent more beef cows than a year ago in the U.S. The buildup of the nation's cow herd could remain rather rapid for the next year or so, but some slowdown is likely as early as 1984, speculates Uvacek.

"In fact, expansion could be so rapid that over-production problems might again plague the cattle industry by 1985 or '86," he points out.

Few changes asked in program

(WASHINGTON) — The National Cotton Council has asked a Senate agriculture subcommittee to continue the basic principles of the government cotton program for at least four more years, with some fine-tuning to make it work more effectively.

Among changes suggested were an increase in the loan floor from 48 to 55 cents, a target price based on per-acre costs, an export credit revolving fund, and more protection for farmers during export embargoes.

Council President Frank M. Mitchener, Jr., testified that market-oriented farm laws supported by the industry-wide organization and enacted by Congress in the last decade have greatly reduced the government's cotton program expenditures and helped fight inflation.

"Government cotton programs in fiscal 1980 cost only one-tenth what they did a decade ago," he said. "If inflation is taken into account, the cost is less than one-twentieth."

While 22 percent of the federal government's total outlay to stabilize farm income went to cotton in 1970, the percentage fell to only three percent last year.

Mitchener emphasized the importance of a four-year farm bill, pointing out that a one-year extension would bring farm legislation up for consideration in an election year.

It also was recommended that authority be withdrawn for set-aside and Normal Crop Acreage compliance as acreage control mechanisms for cotton. Under either of these, Mitchener said, most farmers can increase cotton acreage and still be in compliance by reducing other crops.

He pointed out that a 20-percent set-aside had been required for cotton on two occasions, and both times cotton plantings actually increased. As an alternative, the Sumner, Mississippi, producer suggested a paid division or a requirement that program eligibility be contingent on planting no more than a percentage of a particular crop's acreage the previous year.

Mitchener strongly urged that CCC funds be used to create a revolving fund to reestablish a direct export credit program for agricultural commodities. He pointed out that these programs were eliminated by Carter administration budget-cutters because the loans showed up falsely in the budget at outright expenditures. Actually the loans were fully repaid with interest but the repayments went into the general treasury under government accounting procedures.

"We keenly believe that stimulation of foreign markets is vital to our nation's effort to curb the inflationary influence of trade deficits," the Council president said.

Serious concern also was expressed about export embargoes on farm commodities except in the case of a national emergency declared by both houses of the Congress. If an embargo should be imposed on cotton for any other reason, the Council asked that payments be made to farmers to hold their revenue at pre-embargo levels.

Other suggestions included: — Continuation of disaster payments in areas where the new crop insurance program is not yet offered;

— Withdrawal of authority for cross-compliance and offsetting compliance because they limit farmers' latitude in making planting decisions and electing whether to participate in a particular crop program; and — Revisions in Title 14 of the 1977 act to advance agricultural research and improve production efficiency.

"These modifications, we believe, will make the cotton program work even more effectively in the future and will enhance our industry's opportunity for increasing its contributions to the nation's well-being," Mitchener concluded.

Around The County

FLOYD COUNTY EXTENSION AGENT

There are good soils and poor soils in Floyd County although most are not that bad for gardening if prepared properly. Regardless of the type of soil in your garden, it can be improved by adding plenty of organic matter. This is one of the real keys to growing successful vegetables in your backyard.

If your soil is a heavy clay, adding organic matter will improve drainage and aeration as well as allow for better root development. If you have a sandy soil, liberal amounts of organic matter will help it hold water as well as nutrients.

Where do you get organic matter? Peat moss, compost, hay, grass clippings, barnyard fertilizer, leaves or even shredded newspapers are all forms of organic matter available in the area.

When adding organic matter to soil, be sure to apply enough to physically change the soil structure. Ideally, at least one-third of the final soil mix in your garden should be some type of organic material. To accomplish this, spread a 2- to 4-inch layer of organic material over the garden surface and till it to depth of at least 6 to 8 inches.

Apply the recommended rate of fertilizer over the garden surface at the same time and till it in along with the organic material. If you have a known nematode problem in your garden or if your soil sample report indicates that the potential for such a problem exists, then this would also be a good time to treat your soil with a nematocide so it, too, can be tilled in along with the fertilizer and organic matter.

Over Coffee

It's not easy to be an elected official. I know it's not easy sitting at a table and trying to decide who should get public funds when there is not enough money to go around. I know that in any county where the roads are in bad shape, the amount of rain makes a bog out of the land where forty percent of the population has to use those roads, their concern is a major concern. I know all that. I surely wish, that when the business doled out the revenue money they could have granted the Senior Citizens the money that was asked for. I know that the three groups came before the board on Tuesday March 10th in Austin, Texas. One was the Floyd County Board of Commissioners. They wanted to begin erecting markers on the sites in the county. They were given a budget for $500 and that was approved by the court.

The Floydada Senior Citizens also has Lockney memberships and county wide participation they say. The Senior Citizens asked for $4000. They wanted to use the money to get their hot meal program started. That $4000 was cut to $2000 in the proposed budget. Then the amount was cut out altogether. The Senior Citizens weren't asking for charity. They wouldn't have accepted it if it had been offered. They want to begin a business of preparing nutritious hot meals at the center every noon. They would charge a minimal amount. The lunches would be available for the elderly who live alone and don't cook the nutritious meals they should for themselves. The price would be low enough that those on fixed income could afford the well balanced meal. It would be a business the Senior Citizens would be involved in. They believe that in a month or two the program would pay for itself. The counties close to Floyd that have such a lunch program are self-supported. All that the Senior Citizens asked for were the funds to get started and to run the lunchroom for one month. The money was to go for salary for the nutritionist-cook and for supplies. It seems to me that this group of people, 1600 strong in this county, were the ones that gave the rest of us our start and that we certainly should do the same for them. Since there is no county money for this worthy project it will have to come from some place else. So how about putting on your thinking caps out there citizens of the county. I have watched you do amazing things to raise money whether it was for the "Jaws of Life," the heart monitor, or just to get your crop in. The Senior Citizens need a little help right now. How about it? Has anybody got any ideas?

Floydada singer gains national fame

Don Williams

Don Williams, the laid-back singer of western music, has said over national television that he was born "in the small Texas community of Floydada."

Actually he was born in a farm house in Blanco Canyon.

"It is an old house on the right just before you go into the canyon," said Orville Lambert, Lockney, who is Williams' uncle. "I don't even know if the house is still standing."

Lambert responded to a short article in the Hesperian asking for information about Williams' early life in Floyd County.

Lambert said that Williams is the son of his sister, Lovetta. She has remarried and lives in Cisco. Her name now is Beavers and she visits in Lockney occasionally. Williams' father lives in Hereford.

We finally reached Lovetta Beavers by telephone. She said that the family moved from Floyd County when Don was quite young. Then they returned and lived near Lockney. Don attended two years of grade school at Lockney. He played guitar through high school. During his service years he had his own band.

After military duty he met Susan Taylor, this was at Corpus Christi. They formed a group called the Poso Seco Singers. (poso seco means dry hole in Spanish.) "Time" was the first hit record with that group.

They stayed together for a few years and then split up. Don went on his own in Nashville and started into the Country Western field. This was in 1970. Williams has the distinction of being selected Male Vocalist of the Year by the Country Music Association both in the United States and in Great Britain.

Williams writes much of his music, but one hit record, "Your my best Friend" was written by a fellow who worked at the gas station where Williams traded. The fellow had written several songs and asked Williams if he was interested. Williams told him to put them on tape and he would listen.

Williams is married and has two sons. His wife's name is Joy. The oldest boy, Gary, is a Senior in high school; Timmy, 13, is in Jr. High.

This reporter talked to the public relations firm that handles Williams' publicity. They informed us that he is at this time recording a new album.

We hope to have an interview with the famous singer and to extend an invitation for him to visit his birthplace.

The weather modification program was approved on June 10, last year by voters in the four-county project area: Hale, Floyd, Castro, and Lamb. The vote was 2,260 to 2,873, a 387-vote margin over the total area.

In the June election the proposition was passed in the total four county area, but it was defeated in several precincts. In Floyd county the measure carried in only one precinct, the Sandhill area. The program also lost generally in the Plainview area, while passing in largely rural precincts in Hale County. In Lamb county, however, only one precinct voted against it, and Castro County voters in the project area voted strongly for the measure.

Only persons within the proposed weather modification area were allowed to vote in the special election.

As a result of the election, the water commission could redraw the project area borders to exclude eastern Hale County and western Floyd County. The precincts along the outside border of the project that defeated the measure can be excluded from the permit area, but opposing precincts which are located completely in the target area must be left in the permit area, according to the hail suppression election law.

The controversy over weather modification by hail suppression is not new to the South Plains and the Panhandle area. There has been a continuing confrontation between opponents and proponents of hail suppression for at least a decade.

The Plainview based Plains Weather Improvement Association operated a hail suppression program for 1970 to 1977, supported by some farmers and opposed by others. In 1978, however, because of defeats in series of elections throughout the area, PWIA's request for an operating permit that year was defeated, mainly due to the opposition of the Citizens for Natural Weather.

In 1980 the Plains Weather Improvement Association again became eligible to apply for an operating permit, which set the stage for another round of the High Plains weather modification story.

Residents help thwart

Lockney burglary attempt

A husband and wife were taken into custody by Lockney Police and Floyd County Sheriff's deputies after they allegedly burglarized the home of First National Bank President Carroll Anderson.

The two, Arnold and Irene Sewell, are being held in the Floyd County Jail at Floydada in lieu of $15,000 bail each. Lockney Police Chief Bill McConnell says the couple has no permanent address and apparently arrived in Lockney aboard a freight train. McConnell says a neighbor of Anderson's in the southwest part of the city, C.L. Record, saw the couple allegedly leaving Anderson's garage with a bicycle. Record telephoned police and several other neighbors. While waiting for police to arrive on the scene, Record and other neighbors began following the two suspects along Spruce Street. Lockney Police Sgt. Charles Higgs and Floyd County Sheriff's Deputy Olan Potect were on the outskirts of town, in the same car, returning from Floydada when they received the burglary report. Arriving at the scene, Higgs and Potect found the couple in the 600 block of Spruce Street with Record and other area residents following.

McConnell says the two, who were not armed, were taken into custody without resistance. The bicycle and jewelry taken from Anderson's home were recovered. "I want to give my personal thanks," McConnell says, "to C.L. Record and other neighbors of Carroll Anderson for their assistance and aid to Sgt. Higgs and Deputy Potect in this case. The conscientious efforts of Mr. Record and the other neighbors made our job a lot easier."

A one act play, "Hey Neighbor," performed by Lockney Junior High School students took second place in University Interscholastic League (UIL) competition at Idalou. Lockney's Terri Sparkman was named best actress in the competition while Ritchie Thornton was named to the all-star cast and Margaret Holiday received honorable mention for the all-star cast. Sarah Fitzgerald also participated in the performance which was directed by Kim Murdock with Kathy Leiby serving as assistant director. The Lockney literary UIL team will be travelling to Idalou today for district competition.

INSUR-MATION

Floyd County Insurance Agency Jerry Cooper

I understand that banks require insurance coverage on cars which they finance. What type of coverage will I have to have to meet the bank's requirements? Physical damage coverage is generally the only insurance requirement, and that is basically divided into two parts: comprehensive and collision. Comprehensive applies to physical loss other than by collision, such as glass breakage, fire and hail damage, etc., and may be purchased with or without deductible, depending upon how much you wish to pay in premiums. Collision pays for all losses incurred by collision with another object, and may be purchased in various deductibles. It is sound financial planning, however, to make sure that you are adequately covered for all eventualities and not just enough to meet the requirements of the bank.

EXEMPTIONS AND RENDITION DEADLINE APRIL 1st

Shelia Faulkenberry chief appraiser for the Floyd County Appraisal District, today urged local citizens to apply for available exemptions which may help residents save on their property taxes.

Shelia noted that for the first time, taxpayers in Floyd County may apply for all applicable homestead exemptions or productivity valuation on their agricultural land by contacting the appraisal district office which is located at County Courthouse Room 107.

The chief appraiser explained that taxing jurisdictions in Floyd County are voluntarily participating in early implementation of the countywide appraisal office. Beginning next year, countywide appraisal will be mandated by law for all of the state's 254 counties.

According to Shelia, taxpayers previously had to file their property rendition statements and exemption applications with each jurisdiction which levied an ad valorem tax on their property. Additionally, if they thought the property was valued too high, a separate appearance was required before each jurisdiction's board of equalization.

"Under the countywide appraisal district, not only can applications be made at one place, but a single appeal of the property valuation can be made," the chief appraiser added.

Shelia said the following types of exemptions are available to property owners in Floyd county:

—General Homestead. Those persons qualifying for a residence homestead are entitled to a $5,000 exemption off the market value of the homestead for school tax purposes. An additional $3,000 county homestead exemption from assessed value is available against the portion of the county tax rate for farm-to-market roads or flood control.

—Persons 65 or older. Elderly citizens are entitled to an additional $10,000 exemption off the market value of their residence homestead for school taxes. And, while an elderly citizen's property may increase in value through the years, the school taxes owed in any one year on the house and yard cannot be greater than the amount owed in 1979, or in the first year the property owner qualified for the exemption, whichever is later. An annual application to the appraisal office is required.

By local option, school districts, cities and counties may offer additional exemptions to elderly homeowners of not less than $3,000 off the market value of the residence homestead.

—Disability Exemption. Citizens who are totally disabled and qualify for the residence homestead exemption are entitled to an additional exemption of $10,000 off the market value of their residence homestead. This exemption applies to school taxes only. A property owner may not receive both this disability exemption and the $10,000 exemption for the elderly.

School district, cities and counties may offer an additional local option disability exemption of not less than $3,000 off the market value of the residence homestead.

—Disabled Veteran or Qualifying Survivor. Certain disabled veterans or their survivors may be entitled to an exemption ranging from $1,500 to $3,000 from the assessed value of any property they own. The amount depends on the percentage of service-connected disability.

This exemption may be applied against the value of any one property owned on January 1 of the year in which the application is made. The disabled veteran must be a Texas resident and complete an annual application at the appraisal district office. Only one property may receive the exemption, and VA or armed forces documents verifying disability are required.

Land which is being utilized for agricultural purposes may be eligible for tax relief. Qualified landowners hold the option of having an agricultural or open-space land valuation applied to their property. Details on what types of land may be taxed on productivity rather than market value are available from the appraisal office.

The chief appraiser added that a comprehensive 12-page pamphlet, entitled, Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities, is available at the appraisal district and from local tax offices. Information contained in the pamphlet is applicable to property taxes which are collected by all levels of local government including counties, cities, and school districts.

She said the publication was developed by the State Property Tax Board in accordance with the Property Tax Code which was passed by the 66th Legislature in 1979.

Jerry Perry

Looking ahead - to 1985

agri-economist John Marten has some interesting predictions on the meat industry. If the current cycle continues, cattle numbers should peak around 1985 or '86, says Marten, to around 125 million head by the mid 80's. He pegs the 1985 steer price at $90 to $100 by mid-decade. An excellent five years is predicted for cow-calf operators, but with narrow feeding margins and a continued emphasis on buying and selling skills. By 1985, Marten sees hog prices averaging $60 to $70, but cautions that in order to maintain profitable prices, production will have to be kept below the 70-pound per capita level. The cornbelt will continue as the center of hog production with a slight westward shift by the mid-80's. Finally, Marten doesn't see decreased farm income due to energy cost increases, reminding the nation that farmers have always been in the solar energy business: Crop acres converting solar power into feed, food, fibre,

Sharp resigns coaching job

The head of the Lockney Lady Horns girls' varsity basketball team, Marsha Sharp, has resigned.

Her resignation was accepted at the regular monthly meeting of the Lockney Board of Education this week.

Sharp, who compiled a 127-60 overall record in six years as coach of the Lady Horns, said she hopes to move on to a larger high school or into college coaching.

"I'm leaving entirely for personal reasons," Sharp said. "I have no complaints with Lockney, whatsoever."

Sharps' teams compiled a 35-6 record in district 3-A competition over the six years, taking the district title two times and finishing second three times, including last season.

Sharp is a native of Tulsa and a graduate of Wayland Baptist College.

Lockney school superintendent W.H. Hallmark said they have no immediate replacement for Sharp in mind.

In other action, discussed a cutback in teaching personnel for the 1981-82 school year.

Hallmark said that because of declining enrollment, expected to total 800 students next year, down from about 840 this year, five teaching positions will probably be eliminated.

Hallmark said a fulltime band director will be hired to replace Raymond Lusk who has become junior high school principal. Hallmark said when a new director is hired, the position of assistant director will be eliminated.

In addition, Hallmark said the choir teacher and one agricultural teacher, who resigned, will not be replaced. One fifth grade section and one grade section may be dropping two more teaching positions.

The board also:

—hired Josefine Perdue as an aide for the remainder of the school year, replacing the resigned.

—accepted a bid of Motes Welding and Co. for entrance to the junior high school.

—approved Marsha Wofford, Mike Mooney, clerks for the board election.

—renewed the contracts of the secretaries and

Perspectives

The survivalists are getting a lot of press these days. These people are convinced that the end of the world is just within reach and they intend to be ready for it. Some of them feel that the beginning of the end is already upon us, and are trying to stem the tide.

At the least, the survivalists have begun stockpiling non-perishable goods, enough for about three years, the length of time it will take for fall-out to quit falling out, and for things to become relatively safe again.

In their more extreme manifestations, the survivalists build radiation-proof shelters (just big enough for their families), and arm themselves in order to fend off what they perceive will be bands of marauders - people who did not have enough sense to see what was coming and got caught unprepared. It will be a dog-eat-dog, every-man-for-himself life, they calmly assure us.

For those groups which believe we are already in trouble, the principle which seems to run their lives is selfishness.

They have decided that the world is already shot to hell, and that their way of life is the only one worth preserving is their own. Thus, they conduct training camps in survival techniques, use of automatic weapons, and, in many instances take the law into their own hands. We used to call them hoods.

The sad part of all this is that, with the exception of the Jewish Defense League, these people are not themselves Christians, and goes blithely on referring to groups in that manner.

I would guess they are something else to call them. I would guess they are some of the Scriptures, hear them saying, "I inherit the earth - over the white, male, and 'Christians' Love your neighbor - as white, male, and 'Christians' vengeance is mine, and I'll be His trigger finger live by the sword shall prosper - amen.

You'll excuse me if I come to their party.

Ladies Auxiliary sponsors dinner

Proceeds from the dinner will be used toward paying for the recently purchased nursery.

SPELLERS—The Oral Spelling Bee, sponsored by the Avalanche-Journal, will be Monday night March 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Jr. High Library. Entered in the contest will be Jill Smith, Pam Woody, alternate; and Steven Galloway. Mrs. Wayland Jones, left, is their sponsor.

Play takes second place

A one act play, "Hey Neighbor," performed by Lockney Junior High School students took second place in University Interscholastic League (UIL) competition at Idalou.

Lockney's Terri Sparkman was named best actress in the competition while Ritchie Thornton was named to the all-star cast and Margaret Holiday received honorable mention for the all-star cast.

Sarah Fitzgerald also participated in the performance which was directed by Kim Murdock with Kathy Leiby serving as assistant director.

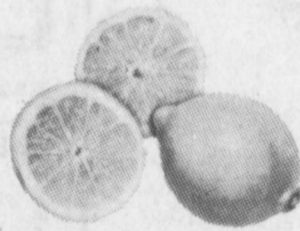

The Lockney literary UIL team will be travelling to Idalou today for district competition.

SECOND GRADERS WARM UP—These second grade youngsters warm up for the "Jump for Heart" to be held March 18, 19 and 20 during school hours at Duncan Elementary School. There will be ten teams of six members each jumping. No team will jump more than three hours.

The facts are if we had I & R, only a small fraction of one percent of the laws would be enacted in this manner.

I am not afraid to trust the people that elect me. I feel dead certain my sub-committee will report back some form of an I & R bill. Since it has to pass by 100 votes on the floor of the House and 21 in the Senate, I think chances are slim of passing anything but a watered-down version.

HERITAGE SINGERS

Heritage Singers to hold concert at the First Baptist Church in Floydada

The widely known Heritage Singers of Howard Payne University will be presented in concert at 7:00 Wednesday, March 18, by the First Baptist Church of Floydada.

John Francis, director, says the upcoming concert will be a blend of contemporary and traditional sacred music.

A dynamic Christian group, the Heritage Singers have traveled throughout the United States and abroad. Their concerts have included appearances with Pat Boone, Reba Rambo and the Cruise Family.

The Heritage Singers have presented concerts at such major events as "Freedom 76," a conference attended by 10,000 college students, single adults, young marrieds and military personnel in San Antonio. Their January, 1977, tour was highlighted by a performance for the Cadets at the United States Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colorado.

Under the sponsorship of the National Music Council and Department of Defense, the Heritage Singers performed throughout Greenland, Iceland and Newfoundland under the USO program.

More recently the Heritage Singers, through the combined efforts of lyricist Ed Seabough of the Southern Baptist Convention Home Mission Board and arranger Bob Burroughs of Samford University, Birmingham, Alabama, premiered a new Christian musical "To A Broken World" at the Canadian Baptist Youth Conference at the University of Alberta in Banff, Canada. Since its premiere in March, 1977, the group has presented the musical in additional performances, including one appearance at the Golden Gate Seminary in Mill Valley, California.

In previous years, the group has released several record albums. John M. Francis, associate professor of music at Howard Payne University, directs the Heritage Singers, the HPU A Cappella Choir and the Chamber Singers.

He holds the bachelor of arts, master of music and doctor of musical arts degrees from West Virginia University and has done additional studies at Indiana University and the Cincinnati College Conservatory of Music.

A member of the American Choral Directors Association and the National Association of Teachers of Singing, Francis at one time sang with the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra Chorus and Chamber Singers, under the direction of Robert Shaw.

Head of household must list dependants

A common error of taxpayers claiming head of household filing status is not listing the name of a qualifying dependent or child, and this can lead to a refund delay.

To file as a head of household, a taxpayer must be unmarried and provide more than half the cost of keeping up a home that is the main home for his or her dependent or child. An unmarried child who qualified the taxpayer as head of household must live with the taxpayer but need not be his or her dependent.

Other qualifying persons must be the taxpayer's dependants. They generally must live with the taxpayer. However, the taxpayer's dependent parents may qualify, even though they live elsewhere, if the taxpayer paid more than half the cost of keeping up their home and is eligible to claim one or both parents as dependents.

Unmarried includes single, legally separated, divorced and widowed persons, the IRS said.

Without a child or qualifying dependent, unmarried taxpayers are not eligible to file as heads of households and if they do not qualify as surviving widows or widowers, they file under single status and use the corresponding tax table.

A cut in federal spending to help curb inflation

WASHINGTON, D.C. — President Ronald Reagan's proposed budget cuts, outlined to Congress here Wednesday (February 19), are "a strong move in the right direction and represent an approach that I have advocated since first coming to Congress," Charles W. Stenholm said today.

"I certainly agree with the general direction the President's budget takes," Stenholm said, commenting on the Reagan speech, "even though I have some unanswered questions."

Stenholm singled out the projected $122.4 billion deficit outlined in the proposal. "It seems to me that if deficit spending has caused inflation for the past four years, then it stands to reason that it will continue to cause inflation," he said.

Stenholm said the President had presented a challenge to Congress for an alternative plan "which offers a greater chance of balancing the budget." The 17th District Congressman said he would respond to that challenge by looking at other areas in the federal budget "that could stand further cuts and at some of the President's proposed cuts."

"The budget that Congress finally passes must be as fair and equitable to all Americans as possible," he continued. "No single segment of the federal expenditure can be considered untouchable and there are several areas that I am closely examining at the present time that I think might possibly be eliminated altogether."

Stenholm said he thought the President's proposal would receive a fair, bi-partisan examination by the Congress. "There isn't a Congressman or Senator on the Hill who shouldn't know by now that the American people really meant what they said at the polls in November. We have to drastically cut federal spending and take whatever other steps necessary to curb runaway inflation and we have to do it now."

Social Security News

BY VIRGINIA DEWITT

Do you ever wonder if some people are receiving social security payments illegally?

This is one of the areas in which Social Security Investigators are working uncovering fraud cases. This unit of investigators is assigned to a five-state Dallas region in our area. Just recently, Arthur L. Carter, 1911 Harmony Street, New Orleans, was sentenced to five years supervised probation and ordered to refund the $3,711.50 he had illegally obtained.

Carter pled guilty to charges that he made false statements about his employment in order to continue to receive social security disability benefits.

In another case, a 24 year-old Dallas man, Charles M. Childress of 7142 Holly Hills, pled guilty on February 19 before Federal District Court Judge Sarah T. Hughes to one count of making false statements to the Social Security Administration.

Mr. Childress falsely claimed he was a full time student in order to receive monthly social security student benefits on the record of his deceased father. The maximum sentence for this type of offense is one year's imprisonment, a $1,000 fine or both. Judge Hughes scheduled sentencing for March 13.

The Social Security Administration remains constantly alert to seek out instances where the potential for fraud exists. I have listed above only two of many fraud cases prosecuted annually. They are evidence of our ongoing commitment to discover and prosecute those who falsify or conceal information in order to get social security or supplemental security payments.

Increased state aid - a must for public libraries

One of the most crucial issues confronting the public libraries of this nation today is the matter of adequate funding. What aggravates the situation is the fact that the major source of revenue to support public libraries is the local property tax. But the property tax is a regressive tax, and its most serious weakness is that it lacks elasticity. Unlike the income tax or the sales tax, which generate additional revenue automatically as wages and prices rise, the revenue from the property tax remains relatively constant and increases only gradually as the total assessed valuation of property rises. This is particularly disastrous in periods of high inflation such as this country has been experiencing for the past decade.

To make matters worse, the local property tax is now under serious attack by those who seek indiscriminately to limit governmental expenditures. It began with Proposition 13 in California and spread to many other jurisdictions. This has been a tremendous blow to many public libraries throughout the land for they are extremely vulnerable when budgets have to be slashed. Everywhere librarians are hearing the cry of austerity.

It is for these reasons that it is imperative to make every effort to shift part of the responsibility for the support of public libraries from local government to that of the state.

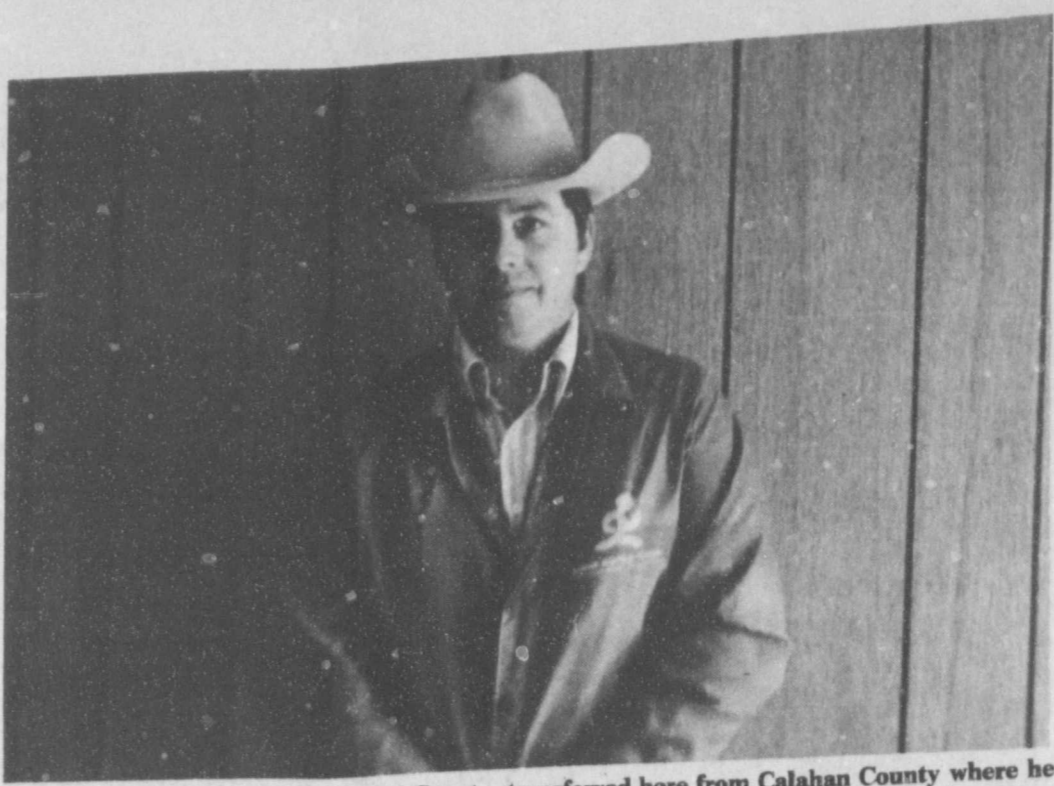

It is clear that the state must undertake to provide more funds for public libraries, for it is this institution that serves as the first port of entry for those seeking everyday general information or wishing to explore a subject in depth. This is why the collection and services of the local public library must be sufficient to meet the basic needs of its patrons. It is the state that has the responsibility for insuring that each community has a local library adequate to meet the general bibliographical and informational needs of its citizens.

It is recognized that there is nothing in law, logic or public policy dictating that public libraries must be funded almost exclusively through the local property tax. On the contrary, there is a strong legal basis to support the position that the state is responsible in large part to provide funds for the operation and maintenance of public libraries. Public libraries have been declared to be educational institutions in opinions rendered by the supreme courts of no less than nine states. The basic issue that the courts have been called upon to adjudicate is whether public library service is purely a matter of local concern—of interest only to the inhabitants of a particular municipality—or whether it is clothed with a governmental character of function in which the state and the public at large is concerned. The courts in their decisions have held unequivocally that a public library is an educational institution, and that since education is a prime function of state government, public library service is likewise a function of state government.

At the present time, state aid provides approximately 13 per cent of the funds required to finance public library service in this country. In comparison to state aid for public schools, the difference is colossal, for state government currently provides approximately 43 per cent of the funds necessary to operate public schools. Public schools, over a period of several decades, have moved from a position in which the local property tax served almost exclusively as their source of revenue to a position in which state funds provide an amount that is almost equal to that derived from the local property tax. If public libraries are to survive as vital institutions, it is imperative that they move in the same direction.

In a study published by the National Commission on Libraries and Information Science entitled Alternatives for Financing the Public Library, a balanced intergovernmental funding pattern for public library services is proposed. It recommends that state government provide 50 per cent of the funds necessary to operate the public libraries of this country, with local government providing 30 per cent and the federal government 20 per cent. This funding scheme is to be achieved over the period of ten years. It is our belief that this funding formula, based on a partnership approach, is not an unreasonable goal for the richest nation in the world.

Women's clubs have founded Texas libraries

The Tejas Study Club, the 1935 Study Club, the Maids and Matrons Club, the Mystic Study Club, the 20th Century Club—the list could go on. What do all these groups have in common? They all founded or helped to found public libraries in West Texas.

A letter on behalf of Mrs. Oscar Bocoock, current chairman of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, occasioned our inquiry into how many libraries in the West Texas Library System area were founded by women's clubs. The results of the survey were astonishing—all told we were able to report to Mrs. Bocoock that 18 women's clubs were instrumental in the founding of 16 libraries. And I'm sure there were some founding groups that we didn't uncover as well.

The oldest public library founded by a women's club that we were able to discover was in Brownfield, where, way back in 1907 the Maids and Matrons Club took charge of an infant book collection in the old Randal Drug Store and nurtured it for many decades until the County assumed responsibility in the early 1940's. Other early libraries founded by women's clubs were those at Plainview (1913), Littlefield (1916) and Spur (1917).

When the Littlefield Women's Club decided to start a library in 1916 they called a meeting.

But the founding is only half the story. Just as importantly, as in the case of Brownfield, the women's clubs continued to support the public library, sometimes for many, many years. Many of the women's clubs continue to support their library to this day.

For example in Denver City members of the Wasson Study Club volunteer to conduct the Library Story Hour the fourth Wednesday of each month. The Muleshoe Study Club which founded the library in 1938 even today holds an annual Book Bazaar which raises several hundred dollars to buy books, furniture or equipment needed by the library.

Perhaps the greatest service for the cause of good library service has been done by those clubs that have gotten politically involved, and who have lobbied as tax-payers for greater city or county support of their library. In 1965, for instance, the Monahans Federated Clubs began a two-year publicity drive and lobbying effort, the fruits of which were a successful bond election and the construction of a new library.

Librarians like myself should be humbled when they read of the years of struggle by women's clubs and other private citizens in support of public libraries. For the most part it is not librarians or politicians we have to thank for our libraries. It is the citizens who have stood by their libraries through good times and bad, and who, I trust, will continue to do so.

By-laws Article II Object

Working with the Chamber of Commerce has been a wonderful experience this year. Also working with Lance Barrow. He has done a fine job.

I would like to give special thanks to the directors. They have really helped me as president and the Chamber as a whole this year and they deserve recognition.

The Chamber sponsored fat stock show was a success. I feel sure that it will be an annual event.

The local show warmed our kids up so well that Floydada won top prizes in all three divisions.

The Chamber breakfast in September was attended by more people this year than it has been.

The cowboy trip was a big success. It gets people together. And the downtown promotion was well received.

We are grateful that the Chamber was able to kick off the Jaws of Life fund drive with a $1000 donation.

The Chamber did T.V. re-broadcasts of the Whitwinds football games through the season this year. Lance Barrow did a fine job of narrating the games and promoting the Chamber businesses that sponsored the showing.

The Halloween downtown costume party with prizes given away and bargains in all the stores was another highlight of the year sponsored by the Chamber.

The theme for the annual banquet was "A Whole Lot of Country in Us."

I think this is fitting for Floydada because we are a country town.

We like our country cooking, and we like our country living. We have that great hospitality that country people are famous for.

Edwin Nutt

Chamber is Center of Community

I believe that the Chamber of Commerce should be the center of Community activities.

I would like to see a real strong working relationship with the Women Chamber. They are an active group that has done an outstanding job.

I'm looking forward to good participation from the committees. The Board is enthusiastic and ready to get things rolling this year.

We want to put the Chamber in the middle of the Community.

At one of the Chamber banquets Stan

McClendon and I have recently attended, the speaker said, "So many people complain that the Chamber hasn't done anything for them. But the question is what have we done for the Chamber?"

I believe that is right. We need to ask ourselves what we can put into the Chamber.

During the next year the first priority will be to get a new Chamber manager since April will be Lance Barrow's last day. We are looking over applications at this time.

EDWIN NUTT

MARK WIDEMAN

We will also be looking for a new office building. We are hoping to find a permanent site for the Chamber office.

We will be carrying on the traditional activities that the community looks forward to and expects from the Chamber.

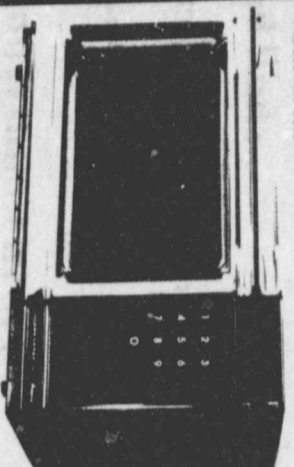

I am also looking for strong leadership in the various committees. We will be looking into industry or business that might locate here.

We are now looking into downtown promotions to attract shoppers from the surrounding area.

The Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce had 11 major activities this past year. In addition to the regular monthly meetings, special directors' meetings, committee meetings, rehearsals, etc. We've been busy!

It would be hard to say which project contributed the most to the community. I think all of them were worthwhile. Certainly the blood drives in May and December which produced 52 units of blood for Caprock Hospital would be the most valuable contribution to someone desperately in need of a transfusion.

The "Gala Olio" show, which regained more time, work, and preparation than any other one thing we did, raised $700.00 each for the Jaws of Life Fund and for the Hospital Auxiliary to buy hospital equipment. Both of those contributions might someday be instrumental in saving a life, also.

Some of our activities, such as the Style Show, Appreciation Coffee, Yard of the Week Contest, etc., are designed to promote Floydada, to beautify Floydada, to develop pride in Floydada, or just to bring Floydada people together as a community of good friends for a good time. The Christmas Tree Lighting Program on the square, for instance, is a wonderful way to share Christmas with the whole town. It may not save your life, but it sure does make you feel good!

Last summer, the Women's Division was assigned to the job of planning and directing a city-wide survey of citizen opinions, to determine our specific needs and establish priorities for implementation of our goals and objectives.

The South Plains Association of Governments designed this community planning program and provided technical assistance. The survey was conducted by members of the Women's Division, the Chamber of Commerce, Lions, Rotary, and Jaycees.

The collected information was then returned to SPAG for compilation and development into a city plan for Floydada. At this date, we are awaiting the final meeting with the SPAG representative, who will explain the plan and provide 25 copies of the finished document containing recommendations for solutions to present and anticipated problems.

After that, it will be up to the people of Floydada to decide how, when, or whether the plan is implemented.

We have all enjoyed the work we've done this year. Whenever we have needed help in a project, the response from Floydada people has been just beautiful. Merchants, farmers, schools, civic groups, the newspaper, local talent — we have received the utmost cooperation and support from all these people and many others.

We're very optimistic and ambitious for the future of Floydada, and we'd like to invite every woman who feels the same to join the Women's Division and help us in our efforts.

The year ahead promises to be an exciting one, and we'd like you to be a part of it.

We believe that Floydada is one of the best little towns in Texas, and our goal is to make it ever better.

There is no limit to what we can do when we all work together!

Sincerely,
Louise Turner

DORIS MCCLAIN

The WOMEN'S DIVISION OF THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE can be defined as females working collectively as a council with business and community. The objectives and purposes of our local organization are to actively participate with the Floydada Chamber of Commerce for the advancement and development of the City of Floydada. Meetings are scheduled for the first Monday of each month at 7:30 P.M. in the First National Bank Community Room. Basically we will follow the same format, previously established, in our projects and activities for the coming year. These will include the Blood Drives, Yard of the Week, Appreciation Coffee, Christmas Tree Lighting, Benefit Show, and other worthwhile community needs.

We will be contributing monetary and other assistance to the newly formed Floyd County Welfare Board in every way possible. It is our purpose to be informed about any and all phases of local projects and make every effort to contribute time, talents, and help as the need arises. Our first event of the new year will be the Salad Supper and Style Show. For this, we again gratefully acknowledge our appreciation for the merchants and all participants. It is scheduled for April 13th, 7:00 P.M., at Duncan Cafeteria. Admittance is $1.00 and a salad, for which you will be previewing latest fashions, entertained, and enjoying fellowship with old friends and new acquaintances.

Our membership drive will continue through this time—dues are $5.00 and can be paid that night or at your earliest convenience. Any woman living in Floydada is eligible for membership.

Directors for the 1981 year are: Doris McLain, President; Susan Garmes, Vice-President and Welcome Chairman; Dorothy Turner, Secretary; Judy Dunlap, Treasurer and Membership Chairman; Pat Zimmermann, Hospitality Chairman; Janet Lloyd, Historian, and Louise Turner, Honorary Director and Advisor. Other committee chairmen are: Linda Tipton, Telephone; Nancy Willson, Publicity; and Beth Pratt, Beautification.

An organization is only as good as the people who work in it or with it. We predict the coming year will be as profitable for our community as it has proven to be in the past.

The people who work and spend many devoted hours in our Women's Chamber of Commerce have seen much progress and many additions made to this organization.

The development and future of the City of Floydada is our prime interest and your continued support and encouragement are always well received.

Sincerely,
Doris McLain

Poisonings increase in spring and summer months

The child is screaming and coughing. Mother runs to the garage and finds the child coughing, gagging, and having difficulty breathing and falls unconscious to the floor from a pan where his dad was washing greasy car parts with gasoline. An unusual occurrence? "No," says Michael Ellis, director of the Texas State Poison Center. "Spring and summer always brings us an increase in the number of ingestions of gasoline and other petroleum distillates."

During 1980 the Poison Center was contacted over 19,000 times for a poisoning emergency and some 11,000 times for general information about preventing poisoning. "The poison inquiries are primarily about children," Ellis said, "in fact, about 70% of all our calls involve the child who is 5 years old or younger. This is the prime age for small objects found down low to go directly in the mouth."

And what about our child who drank the gasoline? "Gasoline and other petroleum distillates such as furniture polishes," Ellis noted. "If these products get into the lung of the child, the lung can be coated with the liquid and asphyxiation and death over a several day period occurs all too frequently." And there isn't much we can do about the situation."

March 15-21 is National Poison Prevention Week and a good time to check for poor storage of poisons.

Although the ingestion of foreign substances occurs quite frequently in the young child, luckily true "poisonings" do not occur nearly as frequently. "Rushing the patient to the hospital emergency room after they have ingested a foreign substance is not the best approach to the problem," said Ellis. "About 85% of the time the patient can be treated at home and does not require medical attention. Call the Poison Center first, and let them help you determine whether medical attention is necessary. In this way the patient is traumatized to a minimal degree if no medical attention is required."

Since a poisoning emergency occurs whenever you are least expecting it, the telephone number of the Poison Center is a very important number to keep handy. In Galveston, the telephone number is 1-713-765-1420. It is answered 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Keep the number handy, remember, children act fast, so do poisons.

Secondhand smoke hurts lungs of nonsmokers

Research with both healthy adults and children shows that the lung function of nonsmokers is affected by others' tobacco smoke.

Two carefully controlled, major studies -- one on children whose parents smoked at home, the other on nonsmokers exposed to smokers at work -- have demonstrated that the small airways in the lungs of nonsmokers are affected adversely by tobacco smoke in the environment.

According to the American Lung Association of Texas it is possible, though not proven, that the changes which occur in nonsmokers exposed to a smoky environment for long periods may improve when the smoke is removed. However, it is also possible that the changes may lead to further lung disease. More research is required. What is clear is that lungs do not function normally when forced to breathe smoky air.

During the last few years, says the Lung Association, ways have been pinpointed to determine changes in the small airways. What is significant is the rate at which the person forcibly exhales. Inhaling air is not usually a problem, not even for those which advanced lung disease. But to exhale efficiently, the lungs must be healthy and elastic.

After the person forcibly inhales a deep breath, an instrument called a spirometer measures exactly how fast and how much air is forcibly expelled. Disturbances in the smallest airways are measured at precise points during the exhalation -- during the middle half, for example, and at one later point in the exhalation.

To find out more about protecting your lungs against cigarette smoke, contact the American Lung Association of Texas, the Christmas Seal People, Write ALAT, 7701 N. Lamar, Suite 104, Austin, Texas 78752. It's a matter of life and breath.

Kirtley's Market to display collection can for M.H.A.

Kirtley's Market has agreed to display a collection can at their business for the convenience of those wishing to donate to the Mental Health Association during May's Bellringer fund raising campaign.

"We certainly appreciate the generosity of those merchants across the state who have allowed us to come into their businesses," said Al St. Peter, state president of the voluntary citizens' organization, "and we urge the people of Floydada not to forget us or the over one million of their fellow Texans who will need mental care during their lifetimes."

The Mental Health Association is a non-profit citizens' organization which operates solely on private contributions.

The M.H.A.'s 1981 goal is to improve the care of discharged long-term mentally disabled persons, as well as promoting self-help groups for former patients and their families.

FTC plans crackdown on errors in advertising

The BBB of the South Plains has launched a new effort to try and curb the large number of errors in advertising, relevant to the Truth in Lending Act. The BBB has been contacted by Juretta Smith, Regional Federal Trade Commission in Dallas, and informed it that the FTC plans a crackdown on abuses of this law. The greatest errors locally is the failure of businesses to reveal all the terms of a loan offer when they use one of the "kicker" terms in an ad. Other problems include the quoting of add-on rates and the use of the abbreviation, APR, for annual percentage rate.

All business advertising will be monitored for obvious errors. The BBB will also inform member businesses of minor infractions. Businesses having trouble with the Truth in Lending Law, should contact the BBB office.

The BBB hopes to inform local businesses through direct contact of their oversight and hopefully keep local businesses from getting into trouble with the FTC who sometimes do more than just issue a warning.

Area nurses will meet March 13, in Lubbock, for a one-day workshop on Assessing the Skin. The workshop, sponsored by the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center (TTUHSC) Continuing Nursing Education Program, is the eighth in a series designed to help practicing nurses expand their knowledge and skills.

The skin assessment workshop will explore normal findings, cultural and racial variations and common variations in pigmentation. It will include a look at major skin structures, age-appropriate variations and identification and recording of data and assessment findings.

The workshop will be conducted by Nancy Ridenour, R.N., M.S., F.N.C., and Teresa Sauer, R.N., B.S.N. Ridenour is a family nurse clinician who practices in Denver, Colorado, and a faculty member at the University of Colorado School of Nursing where she teaches in the undergraduate, graduate and non-degree programs. Sauer is a nurse with TTUHSC School of Medicine.

Participants in the workshop will be awarded 0.6 CEUs (six contact hours) by the TTUHSC Continuing Nursing Education Program. The program is accredited by the Western Regional Accrediting Committee of the American Nurses' Association as a provider for continuing education in nursing. The workshop also has been submitted to the Texas CEAP program for recognition points.

Weather over the weekend included rain, about an inch and a half, sleet, hail, and snow. On Monday morning the ground was bare but good and wet.

Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hartsell of Lamesa spent the weekend here with his brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Hartsell.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Mooseberg were in Duncan, Oklahoma last weekend visiting their daughter, Carla, and her husband, Don Winslow.

Mrs. Randy Bertrand and daughters, Angie and Misty, accompanied their grandmother, Mrs. Annie Cunningham, and aunt, Carolyn Cunningham, both of Lockney, to Panhandle Saturday. There they visited Mr. and Mrs. Connie Reed, Mrs. Reed and daughter, Darlene, have been attending sculpture classes. Mrs. Reed makes dolls and is learning how to sculpt dolls heads. The Floyd County party returned home that night.

Miss Kaylene Reed of Amarillo visited her sister, Mrs. Randy Bertrand, from Saturday night until Monday morning.

Mrs. Georgia Mae Erickson, Mr. and Mrs. Charley Wheeler, and Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Brown were in San Antonio on Wednesday until Saturday on business for the Crosbyton Museum.

Andy Brown is visiting his great-grandmother, Mrs. Viola Brown, this week.

Mrs. Roy Fawver had the misfortune to be hit on the arm by the dumpster recently when she was emptying her trash on a windy day two weeks ago.

Mrs. Roy Fawver visited her brother and family, Mr. and Mrs. W.N. Anderson, last Saturday. She played 84 at the home of Mrs. Grace Hamilton last Wednesday. Mrs. Fawver recently acquired a new microwave oven which she declares is a great convenience when cooking for one person. She was busy baking a bundt cake to serve at the Senior Citizens 84 party scheduled for Monday evening at the Center.

Another Lakeview citizen who had a round with a dumpster during a windy day was Earl Edwards. The lid blew down on his head, causing a pinched nerve in his neck, and he was hospitalized at the Crosbyton Hospital several days last of February. Last year our suffering broken the ice storm. The wind and the seem to be taking of injuries.

Several phone calls have been out of a few weeks ago. Community, due to er, says the crew.

Center News

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN

March 9, 1981:

This weekend and today we are having some more winter. And some snow and rain.

The Clarence Ashtons, like some more of us, have been staying in.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson and grandchildren, Susanne Robison of Lubbock and Dean Watson's three children ate dinner Saturday with the Henry Brewers.

The Darrells and family visited Mrs. Frank Dunn one day last week.

Mrs. Ethel Warren, Mrs. Leo Frizzell and Mrs. Ava Jackson visited one afternoon with Mrs. Mabel Smith who is not well.

Mrs. Ava Jackson took Mrs. Ethel Warren out for dinner Sunday. It was her birthday. Mrs. Leona Warren came today to Mrs. Ethel Warrens.

Mrs. Plumlee had the misfortune to injure a limb last Friday. Her brother of Seminole visited Mr. and Mrs. Plumlee last Tuesday.

Sunday dinner guests at the Thomas Warrens included Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldredge and son, Roger, and also the Warren sons, Ed and Don, and a friend, Danny Nixon.

Mrs. Roe Jones' granddaughter, Janice Perry of Ralls, visited her Sunday.

Mrs. Mayfield visited in the hospital and Rest Home last week.

Mr. and Mrs. H.C. Burke of Amarillo and Mrs. Clay Muncy visited Miss Vera Meredith Friday. It was Mrs. Muncy's birthday. The Burkes brought the cake. Mrs. Wise came at one p.m.

We still missed one of our T.E.L. S.S. members, Mrs. Jenny Irwin, after her being a resident of Amarillo for years. But more since she passed on recently. Last rites were said in our Calvary Baptist Church. We join her large family and all loved ones in mourning their loss.
