Hail hearing decision due in summer

The public airing of the latest round of controversy over weather modification through cloud seeding for hail suppression ended last week after four days of testimony in the Texas Water Commission hearing.

The Plains Weather Improvement Association (PWIA) which had filed an application for a license to perform hail suppression cloud seeding, presented evidence in favor of hail suppression to prevent crop damage from hail.

The Citizens for Natural Weather (CFNW), an organization of farmers opposed to hail suppression, presented their case that hail suppression would have a detrimental effect on their farms and ranchland.

The outcome of the hearing, in terms of approval or rejection of PWIA's application for a permit, may not be known for more than 120 days.

Hearing examiner Jon Green may take as much as the four months to make recommendations to the Texas Water Commission. After Green makes his recommendation on the hail suppression permit, attorneys on either side of the controversy have 20 days to submit further comment before the Texas Water Commission in Austin.

During the hearing, CFNW presented several witnesses who described the adverse effects of past hail suppression efforts. Ross Lumsden of Littlefield said his area experienced only one good year during the seven-year 1970-77 program originally conducted by PWIA.

During rebuttal testimony, Royce Carthel, PWIA president, pointed out that the earlier project was geared only toward hail suppression while the proposed project will be for rain enhancement as well.

Floyd County studies bonds for industrial development

The second type of financing Clark outlined was the sale of industrial revenue bonds.

The issuance of revenue bonds for industrial projects has been in effect only since 1979 in the state of Texas. The Development Corporation Act allows Texas communities, particularly the rural areas, to take advantage of the lower interest rate and tax free bond financing.

Other states, including those bordering on Texas, have been using this financial enticement since the 1960's. Now Texas is in a more competitive position nationally. Also the small communities are more able to compete with the larger communities.

The funding can be used for local industry that is ready to expand or for an outside industry to locate in the community. The industry must have auditable books for over a three year period to be eligible.

A corporation, authorized by the city or county, is chartered to be able to sell the industrial revenue bonds.

The projects considered will be judged by the number of new jobs made available in the communities and the increased economy generated by the new industry.

Clark said that the Reagan administration is cutting back on many programs, "but it isn't going to hurt us that much, we're not going to be in trouble."

She was referring to the SPAG program. The Economic Development Department was founded in October of '80. Clark went in as director at that time.

Another meeting is being planned to talk about the priorities for Floyd County.

Bill Young, SPAG president, introduced Clark and gave a rundown of SPAG aided projects already at work in Floyd County. S.P.A.G. helps communities obtain government funding.

Young is County Judge in Dickens County.

Gospel concert at First Methodist

BRIDGE, one of America's best known contemporary gospel music groups will be in concert at First United Methodist Church, 203 W. Kentucky in Floydada April 3, at 7:30.

The 14 musicians who make up BRIDGE come from many different states across America. Their schedule carries them to over 350 concerts and 100,000 miles per year in the United States and Canada. They are chosen from over 1000 applicants auditioning yearly.

Five vocalists are supported by a rhythm section including keyboards, guitar, bass and drums, plus other musicians who play trombone, trumpets, flugel horns, saxophones, flutes, and other wind instruments. This musically self-contained group has been heard in many of the nation's largest churches, before college and high school audiences, civic organizations and in ticketed concerts.

The group was created and is directed by Jim Van Hook, and has recorded 6 albums on the Impact label.

BRIDGE has appeared on the NBC national evening news and is heard extensively on religious radio and television.

The concert will present some of today's significant gospel numbers as well as re-arranged "standards" of the church.

A unique feature of BRIDGE live concerts is their vibrant approach to significant audience involvement. BRIDGE is known also for their use of a childrens group plus congregation participation woven throughout the concert.

The concert is free admission and a nursery will be provided for small children.

First Baptist Church plans revival

First Baptist Church of Floydada has set the week of April 5-12 for its 90th Anniversary Revival. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley, pastor, has issued an invitation to the entire community to attend the services.

"First Baptist was established in 1891 and this revival meeting is the first of several events scheduled during this year to mark this special occasion," said Dr. Bradley. "It will be highlighted with the 90th Anniversary Homecoming on August 23."

Dr. Bradley, who is in his twentieth year as pastor, will be preaching this revival, and Bobbie Miller, minister of music and youth, will be leading the singing. Miller will sing solos and direct the revival choir.

Sunday services will be at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. and the evening services Monday through Friday will be at 7:30 p.m. There will also be a noon worship service followed by a meal in Fellowship Hall Tuesday through Friday. Visitors are welcome to all the services and to the noon meals.

The revival choir will rehearse at 7 p.m. each week night for a period of prayer preceding each evening service.

A nursery will be provided for all services.

No oil is found yet

If the drilling process runs as it is now the Rebel Drilling Company crew at the Wayne McKinney farm should be finished about Saturday or Sunday of this week.

They are down to 6122 ft. and are expected to go about 7000 feet in all. Below that level they expect to be in salt water.

There has been no sign of oil, but that doesn't mean much at this point in the drilling operation.

The level they are in is Abo shale. According to drilling superintendent, Weldon McKinney, they are following the drilling log from a well that was put down in the 50's close to the site they are now at. The 50's well was dry.

McKinney said that at this well "the formation is running higher here...it's a good sign but it doesn't necessarily mean there is oil here."

They will be looking for a "drilling break". That means that the drilling process will suddenly speed up because the underground level would be more porous.

The crew would drill down another 10 feet and then trip the pipe. (Tripping pipe means that they would bring it out of the hole.) They would then run a "test to see what was down there."

Floydada Bank shows Lockney artist's works

Linda Terrell calls herself a "beginner", for this is her fifth year to paint; however, the Lockney artist has already received recognition in major art shows in her favorite medium, watercolor.

The Floydada First National Bank is happy to have an exhibit a number of paintings by Linda Terrell, and extends a cordial invitation to the public to view the art during banking hours. Linda and her husband, Buster, live on a farm in the Irrick Community with their two children, Lisa and Mark Todd. She received her BA degree from Texas Christian University and her MA from Baylor University. A former teacher, Linda is active in civic work, teaches Sunday School in Lockney's First United Methodist Church, and is a 4-H leader.

"I work in watercolor because I appreciate its freshness and clarity," stated the artist. "I try to capture on paper a bit of the fleeting world in which we live". Her paintings reflect our heritage and the world around us. Linda's instructors have been Michael McCullough and Stefan Kramer of Amarillo.

Major shows in which Mrs. Terrell has exhibited include A Celebration of the Arts, Lubbock; Fiesta Del Arte, Odessa; the Peanut Valley Festival, Portales, New Mexico; Running Water Draw Arts Festival, Plainview.

Recognition in her medium has included Best of Watercolor, Mason Art Show; Award Winner, Happy Days Art Festival; 1st Place and People's Choice, Floyd and Surrounding Counties Fair; 1st Place Texas Fed. Women's Clubs Art Contest.

Banking hours for the First National in Floydada are Monday, 9:00 a.m. until 5:00 p.m.; Tuesday through Friday, 9:00 a.m. through 3:00 p.m.

Sheriff stops brick removal

Bricks surrounding the Floyd County Depot were dug up and nearly removed Saturday. A work crew from the Quanah, Acme and Pacific railroad apparently was not aware that the depot, which is no longer used, had been donated by the railroad to Floyd County. They dug up the bricks and were ready to haul them away when stopped by an officer from the sheriff's department.

Judge Smith called Donald E. Ransom, the railroad company official who originally approved the donation of the railway building. According to Judge Smith, Ransom was dismayed at the damage done to the depot, and said that he would put a stop to the effort to remove the bricks.

The Quanah, Acme and Pacific Railway has now merged with the St. Louis and San Francisco Railway Company, of which Ransom is an official.

Ransom had directed Choice Smith to contact Mr. Jim Stowell, in Quanah, to work out details of the building to be donated to Floyd County. There was apparently a slip-up in communication between portions of the railroad company and the building transfer has been delayed.

Floyd County thus has approval for the donation of the building, but does not yet have legal right to the building. Judge Smith said, "We're waiting for a response from Mr. Ransom or Mr. Stowell. We want to resolve the situation as soon as possible so that we can protect the building from further damage."

It's Not Easy

Days my husband says we take on a wife. I'd like to burn boiled eggs, lose car and what I can do to a meat loaf description. He says it's a good description. He says it's a good description. He says it's a good description. He says it's a good description.

He can't dispute that statement. The other hand he tends to leave his neatly lined up under the coffee and I don't think that he has ever had that hanger face to face.

When we should take on a wife, if it means someone to wash the dishes that tend to inhabit our kitchen, clothes that haven't been taught themselves like the self-cleaning.

Problem is that while we women need, or even encouraged to work the home, we don't have the logical support we need.

Where are those little armies of robots that clean windows, make beef stroganoff, and serve hot coffee in bed in the morning? The scientists of America have failed us.

Surely if they can provide us with stereo headphones and computer football, a simple robot shouldn't be out of the question. We put a man on the moon over ten years ago. What have the scientists of America been doing since then?

All I ask is a simple, utilitarian robot that will keep the home fires burning while I am out bringing home my share of the bacon.

I don't ask the impossible. On the other hand maybe we should take on a husband. We could find someone who can change oil, take out the trash, and cook Sunday brunch.

Maybe not. Maybe we should just put in our order for two robots.

Clark's Beacon column goes into syndication

Lockney Beacon-Floyd County column, "It's Not Easy," by Carol Lea Clark has been syndicated by the Dickson Service of suburban Los California.

Carol Lea Clark

The weekly column will be offered to newspapers throughout the country.

"It's Not Easy," is a column about the everyday frustrations of life that happen to everyone.

Nadia Dickson, co-director and editor for the Dickson Feature Service, describes "It's Not Easy," as a "well written, amusing column."

Mrs. Clark is the fourth generation of her family to write for or publish Texas weekly newspapers.

She is the daughter of Morris and Rose Usry of Lubbock, former publishers of the Pilot Point Post Signal.

Mrs. Clark is also the author of the consumer handbook, "Who Decides What in America," to be published in the U.S. this fall by Facts on File Inc., of New York, and in Great Britain by MacMillan of London.

The publisher of the Lockney Beacon and Floyd County Hesperian, Shelly Harris, said, "We are pleased and proud Carol's talent has been recognized by others. And we're especially proud that Carol's home base is the Beacon and Hesperian."

Meeting is scheduled on childrens baseball

There will be a meeting of all parents who are interested in their children playing baseball. This meeting will be held on Monday, March 30, at 7 p.m. in the community room of the First National Bank.

It is hoped that there will be enough interest shown by parents that a program for children from age 5 thru age 14 can be held. If this interest is shown by parents, the following leagues can be played:

- T-Ball — 5 and 6 year olds
- T Shirt League — 7 thru 9 years old

Easter Seal telethon on TV this weekend

The 1981 National Easter Seal Telethon is expected to reach more than 40 million viewers, a record high in its 10 year history.

Fred Thayer of Floydada is in charge of the local telethon, which is being manned by the Floydada Rotary Club.

The 20-hour telethon will originate in Hollywood, hosted by Pat Boone, and will include live feeds from New York City featuring New York host Marvin Hamlisch. The show will be carried by at least 130 stations, March 28 and 29.

The telethon will be aired on the South Plains on KCBD-TV, Channels 11 and 8 in New Mexico.

Local hosts will be John Steele of KLLL radio and Rick Gilbert of KSEL radio.

Pledge center in Floydada will be at Williams Insurance Agency at 116 W. California.

The center will be manned from 10:30 p.m. Saturday, March 28, until 6 p.m. on Sunday, March 29.

Local County Treasurer is C.J. Payne of the First National Bank.

Since 1972, when the telethon was inaugurated as a major vehicle to support Easter Seal rehabilitation services for people with disabilities, more than $52 million has been raised.

"Despite the uncertain economy," John Garrison, executive director of the National Easter Seal Society, said, "we look forward to surpassing last year's record pledges of $14,508,348."

He credited continued growth of corporate support for the telethon and increased public recognition of the Little League — 10 thru 12 years old

Pony League — 13 and 14 years old
Girls Softball — 7 thru 9; 10 thru 12; and 13 and 14 years old.

If such programs are to be started in Floydada, many parents must be willing to give some of their time for their children. A program this large cannot be handled by a few.

It is hoped to get games started no later than the first week in May and be through by vacation time. PARENTS it is up to you to provide activities for your children. You can't always let someone else do it.

Easter Seal Society as the world's oldest and largest volunteer agency serving the needs of handicapped people, for the continued expansion of the telethon.

"One important reason why there is community-wide participation in each Easter Seal telethon market is the fact that over 90% of all revenues remain in the state where raised," Garrison added.

Woody Fraser, executive producer of the past four telethons, will team up for the 1981 production with Arthur Forrest as co-executive producer.

All area residents are invited to make pledges by phone at 983-3284 or by going and contributing in person.

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's Perspectives

As I sit here and write, my daughter is at the house driving her mother semi-crazy. In a little while we'll put her to bed, and when she falls asleep, an angel will emerge. She is a little, tow-headed bundle of energy, exasperation and blessing.

When I think about her, I cannot help but think of the families of twenty-two other children who would probably give anything tonight if their children were at home with them, driving them semi-crazy. And the rest of the city these people live in lives in apprehension.

How many parents feel the panic rising when their child is five minutes late coming home from school. How many of them wonder when their children go out to play, if they will ever see them again? How great is the grief of all those concerned: family, friends, sympathetic strangers?

I heard one lady on the news say she felt the city of Atlanta had grown closer together as a result of their ordeal. They are becoming a community once again. Being a community means many things, but mostly it means that all the members of that community share in each others lives, one person's joy is all people joy, one's sorrow, the sorrow of all.

The description Paul chose to use was that of the body, and he said that all those who are under the headship of Christ were members of a body together. Many of the mourners in Atlanta are members of that body, and their grief at this time should be our grief.

There have been many calls to prayer on behalf of the families who have lost their children. I hope each one who reads this will be in prayer for the families, for the speedy resolution of these horrible crimes, and for the salvation of the one or ones responsible for the murders.

On the ball games Saturday, the announcer pointed out that several of the ball players were wearing green ribbons in memory of the dead children until the killer is found. You might want to do the same. If not, at least find the time to hug your children, tell them that you love them, and thank God you can.

Lockney residents chosen man, woman of the year

Man of the Year by 1979 winner, Jerry Johnson.

POLLY CARDINAL

Local teacher honored by county water district

Polly Cardinal has been selected as the Outstanding Conservation Teacher by the Floyd County Soil and Conservation District. "I am very honored to be selected as the Outstanding Conservation Teacher," stated Mrs. Cardinal, Chairman Floyd County Soil and Conservation District. Mrs. Cardinal teaches several English classes at the Floydada High School and prepares students for writing contests in their college careers. She has been very cooperative in helping students each year with some aspect of soil and water conservation. In assigning these projects, Mrs. Cardinal believes her students will have a better understanding of our resources and environmental problems. Mrs. Cardinal is a graduate from Southern University in Denton, Texas. She was born in Floydada and has lived here a large portion of her life. She has been teaching many years, all at Floydada High School. Mrs. Cardinal received her recommendation from the Floyd County SWCD. These recommendations came from both Jerry Williams, School Superintendent, and Bill Asst. Principal at Floydada High School. Both men had great praise for Mrs. Cardinal on how well she has done on the essay program.

Mrs. Cardinal in the past has been sponsor for pep squads, cheerleaders, 18 football banquets and several spring sports banquets. At the present time she is a Senior sponsor in charge of Senior activities, planning Baccalaureate and graduation ceremonies. ## Public libraries in need of $$$$$$$ for funding

Why should Texans be starving their public libraries?

This question is being asked by Books for Texans, an organization formed by Texas Library Association, Friends of Texas Libraries, Texans for Libraries, and the Trustees Roundtable of the Texas Library Association.

Leaders in Books for Texans are convinced that Texans will do something about the starvation diet for their libraries when they know the facts and reflect on just how important libraries are to citizens of Texas.

Texas now ranks 39th in the U.S. in state library support with 16 cents per capita. Largest per capita state aid is paid by West Virginia at $3.61, followed by Georgia at $2.47. Even states poorer than Texas pay significantly more in aid to their libraries. Alabama's state aid is 42 cents per capita; Arkansas 63 cents and Mississippi 53 cents.

As long ago as 1978, the Texas Conference of Libraries and Information convened in Austin to study library problems, recommended state support of $1.00 per capita and urged the Texas Library and Archives Commission and the Texas Library Association to go to work to seek $1.00 per capita funding "at the earliest possible date."

Wendell Mayes, Jr., Austin, and Wayne C. Sellers, Palestine, chairman and secretary of Books for Texans, have noted that an appropriation of $1.00 per capita which can do so much for libraries is minuscule when compared to the total state budget.

"We can think of no appropriation which can do so much for so little," they said, pointing out that in 1979 Texas public libraries circulated 43 million items to the public, answered 7 1/2 million reference questions, hosted 3 million persons at library programs and showed films to 5 million persons.

"In many communities, public libraries are the only adult education facilities. Information ranging from performance of the stock market to how to unstop a sink or fix a lawnmower is possible for 300 adults to obtain G.E.D. certificates. Others have conducted classes for adults wanting to learn to read and write. Books are provided for nursing homes by public libraries. These are but a few of the services rendered," the Books for Texans officials added.

Texas Daily Newspaper Association and the Texas Press Association, representing virtually all of the newspapers in Texas, have passed resolutions favoring the $1.00 per capita support. Texas League of Municipalities has also endorsed the request.

Prospects are bright for reaching the goal set by the Austin conference back in 1978, Books for Texans officials added.

Consumer fair rescheduled

The first annual Panhandle Area Consumer Trade Fair has been rescheduled for Saturday, April 18, according to Bob Wallace, assistant professor of vocational education at Wayland Baptist College.

Jointly sponsored by Wayland and the South Plains College Regional Occupational Center, the Fair was originally set for April 4 and now coincides with Wayland's annual Homecoming celebration April 17-18.

Open to the general public free of charge, the Fair will be housed at the ROC, located at 708 Yonkers, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. that day.

"The purpose of the fair is to open communications between the consumer and those who build, produce or sell products in the area," Wallace explained.

The Fair will feature a variety of booths representing companies which produce motorcycles, economy cars, storm windows, paint, insulation, truck accessories, automotive parts, energy-efficient fireplaces, solar heating units, wind energy products, cabinets and other items.

FRED THAXTON

Party honors 32 yr. veteran

Fred Thaxton, a 32 year veteran with Southwestern Public Service, will retire effective March 31.

Thaxton has been a serviceman in Floydada since 1951, when he and his wife, Yvonne, moved here from Plainview.

Fred and Yvonne will be honored with a retirement party in the community room of the First National Bank from 2 to 4 p.m. on March 31.

Hale-Nixon united in double-ring ceremony

Wedding vows for Mitzi Hale and Dan Nixon were solemnized at 7:00 p.m. March 14 in the First Baptist Church of Floydada.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Hale of Floydada and the groom is the son of Mrs. Margaret Nixon of Plainview and Gerald Nixon of Lubbock.

Dr. Floyd C. Bradley conducted the double-ring ceremony before a large branch arch candlebra decorated with white gladiolas and light blue spider mums. Smaller candlebra, in graduated heights, covered in palms, were on either side. Floor baskets of white gladiolas and light blue spider mums were also used. The unity candle and the kneeling bench was decorated in white poms and blue satin streamers. Isle ropes were held by Hurricane candlebra. The pews were decorated with Hurricane candlebra, streamers of light blue satin, and garlands of lily of the valley.

Organist was Mrs. Bill Hardin. Kent Horrell of Amarillo and Steve Horrell of Canyon, cousins of the bride, accompanied on the piano by Steve's wife, Tonja, sang "Longer Than," "Theme from Ice Castles," and "The Wedding Song."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza fashioned with a high Victorian neckline, edged in silk Venise lace. The fitted bodice had a sheer yoke heavily encrusted with lace motifs, seed pearls, and crystals. The sheer, full Bishop sleeves were adorned with lace motifs and wide bands of Venise lace at the wrists. The full skirt had a deep lace ruffle, bordered with lace, seed pearls and crystals that cascaded into a chapel length train. Her fingertip mantilla veil of illusion was edged in lace. Her bouquet was of white sweetheart roses, daisies, starburst mums and babies breath. She carried out the tradition of "something old", a handkerchief belonging to her grandmother, Mrs. Ilene Jackson of Memphis, Texas, "something new", a white gold serpentine bracelet given to her by her sister, "something borrowed", a pair of diamond studs belonging to her mother, and "something blue", her blue garter. She wore a penny in each shoe with the birth year of she and the groom.

Maid of honor was Melissa Hale, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Shawnda Heflin of Floydada and Vickie Horrell, cousin of the bride, of Amarillo. They wore floor length princess style dresses of light blue polyester lusterlo with blue floral bolero jackets. They carried nosegays of white and blue daisies, starburst mums, and babies breath with blue streamers.

Don Warren of Floydada served as best man and groomsmen were David Jones of Lubbock and Edwin Warren of Floydada. Ushering was Doug Nixon, brother of the groom, Tom Lovell, cousin of the groom, of Lockney, Oscar Santos and Jay Bradshaw of Floydada. All male attendants wore navy tuxedos with light blue ruffled shirts. They wore white boutonniere on their lapels.

Sonja Horrell, cousin of the bride, of Amarillo was flower girl. She wore a white organza floor length dress decorated with wide lace and accented with light blue ribbon. Jeremy Garner of Lubbock was ring bearer. He was dressed in a navy tuxedo identical to the groomsmen and ushers.

RECEPTION

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the Wall Street Parlour.

The bride's table was laid with lace, silver and crystal and was centered with a bouquet of white gladiolas, daisies, and babies breath. The tiered wedding cake was decorated with the bride's chosen colors and made on turnstills of mirrors.

Hostesses for the bride's table were Denise Nixon, sister of the groom, of Plainview, Mrs. Rick Reddy and Mrs. Rex Yearly of Floydada.

Hostesses for the groom's table were Mrs. Tom Lovell of Lockney and Mrs. Edwin Warren.

For traveling the bride was wearing a pink ensemble with white accessories. Her corsage was of white sweetheart rosebuds.

The couple is residing in Floydada following a wedding trip to Dallas.

The bride is a graduate of Floydada High School and is presently employed as agency secretary for the Floyd County Farm Bureau.

The groom is a graduate of Floydada High School and is employed by Lighthouse Electric.

The rehearsal was held Friday March 13 at the First Baptist Church. The rehearsal dinner followed at King's Restaurant, was hosted by the father of the groom, Gerald Nixon of Lubbock.

Keeping the broom in its place

by Marilyn Tate

Unconsciously she may even schedule the tasks around her husband's interests. Suddenly the zillion interruptions shatter the image of a smoothly running home.

Something must give, and hopefully, it won't be the husband.

"Sweeping -- he invents the new way" is the second situation that can cause disharmony.

It's his second day home, and already he has developed a "New System" for getting housework done.

"If you just do it this way, you can get it done in half the time," he instructs his wife. He's become an "instant expert."

This doesn't necessarily mean that the "expert" becomes INVOLVED in doing the work. He may be transferring a need to "direct" others, once fulfilled in his job, to the home situation.

More often than not, this new-found interest in how the housework is done may become a major source of tension for the homemaker.

Some couples try to adjust by dividing up the household tasks. This approach has its problems, too -- who does what job? Does HE always get the bathroom?

In many of these cases the wife finds that sharing may result in a "half-clean house in half the time."

Less housework time is nice, but she may be unable to live with her partner's standard of cleanliness -- and the situation can work in reverse, too.

Again, tension can build up. Some homemakers, unable to adjust their standards or convince their partners to change, find it easier to reassume total responsibility for all household tasks.

So we're back to "square one." However, this time, armed with experience, it may be appropriate to try a "sweeping perspective."

Put those household tasks into a perspective that both partners can live with.

Housework is around everyday. With an additional person available to "pitch in" the tasks can go quickly, leaving more time for personal or shared interest.

Respect experience but recognize the value of a new perspective.

Sure she's the expert -- give her credit for her 40-plus years on the job.

Also, try out some of his suggestions. If they don't work (and she just "knew" they wouldn't), he'll see, too.

Next time he probably won't try to replace the ENTIRE system.

Don't be too sure that his ideas are just off the top of his head, either. Some of his suggestions may be astonishingly workable.

Standards of cleanliness seem to be one of the major areas of disagreement among couples of any age sharing household tasks. No one does any task just like any other person.

Besides differences in standards there are differences in knowledge and skill levels. Don't mistake one for

EXEMPTIONS AND RENDITION DEADLINE APRIL 1st

Shelia Faulkenberry chief appraiser for the Floyd County Appraisal District, today urged local citizens to apply for available exemptions which may help residents save on their property taxes.

Shelia noted that for the first time, taxpayers in Floyd County may apply for all applicable homestead exemptions or productivity valuation on their agricultural land by contacting the appraisal district office which is located at County Courthouse Room 107.

The chief appraiser explained that taxing jurisdictions in Floyd County are voluntarily participating in early implementation of the countywide appraisal office. Beginning next year, countywide appraisal will be mandated by law for all of the state's 254 counties.

According to Shelia, taxpayers previously had to file their property rendition statements and exemption applications with each jurisdiction which levied an ad valorem tax on their property. Additionally, if they thought the property was valued too high, a separate appearance was required before each jurisdiction's board of equalization.

"Under the countywide appraisal district, not only can applications be made at one place, but a single appeal of the property valuation can be made," the chief appraiser added.

Shelia said the following types of exemptions are available to property owners in Floyd county:

—General Homestead. Those persons qualifying for a residence homestead are entitled to a $5,000 exemption off the market value of the homestead for school tax purposes. An additional $3,000 county homestead exemption from assessed value is available against the portion of the county tax rate for farm-to-market roads or flood control.

—Persons 65 or older. Elderly citizens are entitled to an additional $10,000 exemption off the market value of their residence homestead for school taxes. And, while an elderly citizen's property may increase in value through the years, the school taxes owed in any one year on the house and yard cannot be greater than the amount owed in 1979, or in the first year the property owner qualified for the exemption, whichever is later. An annual application to the appraisal office is required.

By local option, school districts, cities and counties may offer additional exemptions to elderly homeowners of not less than $3,000 off the market value of the residence homestead.

—Disability Exemption. Citizens who are totally disabled and qualify for the residence homestead exemption are entitled to an additional exemption of $10,000 off the market value of their residence homestead. This exemption applies to school taxes only. A property owner may not receive both this disability exemption and the $10,000 exemption for the elderly.

School district, cities and counties may offer an additional local option disability exemption of not less than $3,000 off the market value of the residence homestead.

—Disabled Veteran or Qualifying Survivor. Certain disabled veterans or their survivors may be entitled to an exemption ranging from $1,500 to $3,000 from the assessed value of any property they own. The amount depends on the percentage of service-connected disability.

This exemption may be applied against the value of any one property owned on January 1 of the year in which the application is made. The disabled veteran must be a Texas resident and complete an annual application at the appraisal district office. Only one property may receive the exemption, and VA or armed forces documents verifying disability are required.

Land which is being utilized for agricultural purposes may be eligible for tax relief. Qualified landowners hold the option of having an agricultural or open-space land valuation applied to their property. Details on what types of land may be taxed on productivity rather than market value are available from the appraisal office.

The chief appraiser added that a comprehensive 12-page pamphlet, entitled, Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities, is available at the appraisal district and from local tax offices. Information contained in the pamphlet is applicable to property taxes which are collected by all levels of local government including counties, cities, and school districts.

She said the publication was developed by the State Property Tax Board in accordance with the Property Tax Code which was passed by the 66th Legislature in 1979.

Alcoholism recognized as disease

State Rep. Wilhelmina Delco said that "it doesn't make sense to lock sick people in jail."

H.B. 1976, introduced by Delco last week, "gets Texas into the twentieth century by decriminalizing public intoxication," Delco said.

She noted that 36 other states have similar statutes.

Public drunkenness is at present Texas largest single crime category, she noted, accounting for one-third of all arrests.

"People who are being jailed for drunkenness every weekend are alcoholics," Delco said. "Municipal judges are used to seeing the same faces. The American Medical Association said that alcoholism was a disease back in 1956. It's time we recognize this in our laws."

Her bill would repeal Statute 5561c, in which public drunkenness is a misdemeanor, and require law enforcement officers to take drunks to treatment centers rather than jails. Jails could be used as holding areas until transport to nearest treatment center could be arranged.

The bill also provides for comprehensive alcoholism prevention and rehabilitation services, to be coordinated through the Texas Department of Health.

History project replica of oil magazine picture

BY BRIAN SANDERS

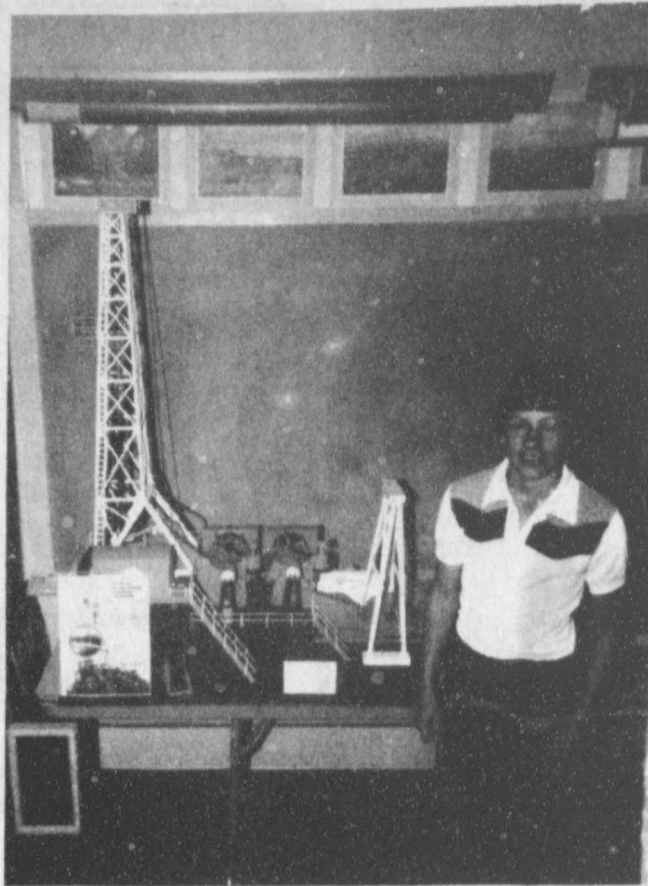

When I started thinking about a project I decided to try to make an oil rig. I guess what started my interest in the rig was because my daddy has a water-well drilling rig which I have been around all my life. It is similar to the oil rig, just smaller; but it works on the same principal. When daddy was a small boy he became interested in well drilling and he even built a small rig on his wagon. His little rig worked like a cable-tool rig and drilled about 8 feet deep out by the hen house. After hearing the stories of my daddy's little rigs when I was about 7 or 8 I decided to do about the same thing but my rig was built on a little peddling tractor. It had about a 6 foot derrick and I drilled holes about 5 feet deep all over the backyard.

Our family went to Post, Texas back in January to visit some relatives and my daddy and one of the relatives and I went out and looked at a real jack-knife rig that was drilling an oil well near Post.

While we were at Post, this relative who works for Continental Emsco Co., an oil well supply company gave me a copy of World Oil, a monthly magazine about oil well equipment.

Oil drilling and production has been an important part of

THIS REPLICA OF AN OIL RIG was done as a History project by Brian Sanders, a Floydada Junior High student.

world history since the first oil well was completed to a depth of 69½ feet by Edwin Drake on August 27, 1859 near Titusville, Pennsylvania. Drake used a wooden rig and a steam-operated drill to drill this well which produced 10 to 35 barrels of oil a day. The oil sold for $20 a barrel in 1859, and today it is about $35 per barrel. For a nation which runs on oil and petroleum products, oil well drilling continues to be a major part of our world history.

MAGGIE ELLEN GOODSON
by a son, Dan Goodson who teaches school in Visalia, California

When you speak or think of Maggie Goodson, you think about history, a living history. She was a pioneer throughout her life, adjusting to the hazards that consumed nearly a century.

Working and giving was her whole life. Her greatest pleasure came from helping someone or something else. There was no job that she chose to undertake that was too difficult for her. A dream for most people was turned into a reality by the hands of Maggie Ellen.

Those hands who seldom found an opportunity for idleness or rest, hands that were being guided by the mind of a perfectionist, had to be ready at a moments notice, for the countless tasks of each long day.

Such as --
Caring for babies, making the soap, planting the garden, or making a rope. Building fences, milking the cows, cooking cobblers, or setting plows.

Turning plumbs into jars of jelly, doctoring a child with a hurting belly. Cutting the hair of a squirming son, Putting the patty on a hamburger bun.

Placing eggs in an incubator to hatch, repairing a door that would not latch. Checking fever in the middle of the night, ironing a shirt 'til it looked just right.

Adopting all stray animals that came by, consoling a grandchild if they happened to cry. Making quilts of every pattern and design, making all kinds of pickles, even watermelon rind. Chopping the weeds where the garden could grow, threading a bobbin where she could sew.

Maggie's hands are now still, but her motto was, "I want to wear out, I don't want to rust out." She is not sleeping, she is just resting her eyes.

We'll always love you Mamma, Dan

Cancer Program Aired On Cable

A live cable television special on cancer set to air April 1 represents a first of its kind venture by cable television into the arena of public service broadcasting. Entitled "Cancer Can Be Beat," the 90-minute program will feature prominent cancer specialists in a talk-show format. Topics will cover the various aspects of cancer—from breast cancer to cancer in children and from advances in treatment to current directions in research. In dealing with a wide range of cancer-related issues, the telecast will provide the viewer with practical, up-to-date information on the disease.

In Texas, the program will air from 7:00 p.m. - 8:30 p.m. C.S.T. "We hope that this cable television special will not only increase awareness about cancer, but help the people of Texas understand their personal role in detecting cancer early," said Donald C. Spencer, M.D., President of the Texas Division of the American Cancer Society. The ACS and the National Cable Television Association are co-sponsors of the program.

Cancer specialists to be featured on the show include Dr. Edward F. Scanlon, President of the National ACS; Dr. Arthur I. Holleb, Senior Vice President for Medical Affairs, ACS; Dr. Frank Rauscher, Senior Vice President for Research, ACS; Dr. Vincent DeVita, Director of the National Cancer Institute; Dr. Shirley Lansky, Pediatric Psychologist with the University of Kansas Medical School; and Dr. William Cahlan of Memorial Sloan-Kettering Cancer Center in New York City. Cancer patients, including those who have been cured and those still undergoing treatment, will also be feaured. Former football Hall of Famer Otto Graham, 1980 recipient of the American Cancer Society's National Courage Award, will discuss his experiences with colorectal cancer. Richard Loftus, a member of the National Cable Television Association Board of Directors and originator of the idea for the cancer awareness program, said that, "When the American Cancer Society first began in 1913, cancer was rarely spoken about. Only one cancer patient in five could hope to live. Today, one out of every three people who get cancer will live. The April 1st 'Cancer Can Be Beat' program will contribute greatly to that awareness."

"Cancer Can Be Beat" will originate from the Turner Broadcasting Studios in Atlanta. It is expected to reach a national audience of approximately 15 million cable viewers via satellite WTBS. Home Box Office will re-run the special to their subscribers on April 2nd from 2:30 p.m. - 4:00 p.m. C.S.T., and other cable stations have asked to participate in this special telecast.

Poetry Workshop Planned

Poet Stanley Plumly will give a free, public poetry workshop and reading April 14 at Texas Tech University. Plumly's book "Out-of-the-Body Travel" was nominated for a National Book Critics Circle Award in 1978. Sponsored by the Texas Tech Department of English, the workshop will be at 1:30 p.m. April 14 (Tuesday) in Room 110 of the English Building.

The poetry reading will be at 7:30 p.m. that day in the Lubbock Room of the University Center. Plumly is visiting professor of poetry at the University of Washington. He has taught writing at Louisiana State University, Ohio University, University of Iowa, Princeton University, Columbia University, University of Michigan and University of Houston.

Other published works include "In The Outer Dark" (1970), winner of the Delmore Schwartz Memorial Award; "Giraffe" (1973); and "How The Plain Indians Got Horses" (1973). In 1973-74, Plumly was awarded a Guggenheim Fellowship. He has published numerous critical essays and reviews.

Whirlwinds Will Work With Easter Seals

Coach Wilson, of Floydada High School will lead the Athletic Department in the 1981 Easter Seal Lily Day. In Early April, Coach Wilson's team will be on downtown street and in shopping centers pinning white lilies on the lapels of shoppers. Donations for the lilies go to provide treatment and service for disabled children and adults in Texas. Last year alone, the Texas Easter Seal Society provided orthopedic equipment, physical, occupational and speech therapy to over 12,000 Texans. Coach Bill Shipman, President of the Texas High School Coaches Association, is serving as State Chairman for the event. Texas High School football teams and the Texas High School

Coaches Association will be participating in Easter Seal Lily Day. The THSCA represents over 8600 High School Coaches. Members serve as examples of sportsmanship, character and leadership for thousands of boys and girls who participate in junior and high school athletics. Easter Seal is proud of its leadership role in this endeavor. We're looking forward to full community participation. Working together, we can make certain that the 1980's will be the decade in which 35 million handicapped citizens will at last enter and merge completely with the mainstream of American life. For more information on Easter Seal services call 1-800-492-5555.

Social Security News

BY VIRGINIA DEWITT

Do you hire someone to clean house, cook, care for the yard, or babysit? If you pay this person $50 or more cash wages in a 3-month calendar quarter, don't forget you must deduct social security taxes and report the wages.

question the need to report. Retirement may be years away and the individual may need every dollar now to live on. Also it may be difficult to hire and keep an employee who knows you will be reporting.

However, keep these points in mind:

1. Social Security does more than pay retirement checks and provide Medicare protection for older people. It also pays monthly benefits if a worker becomes severely disabled for at least a year. But a worker first needs a certain amount of social security credit (called quarters of coverage) before benefits can be paid. That credit is based on reported earnings. Also the amount of the benefit is related to total reported earnings. So if you do not report wages, the individual may not have enough credit to get payments or could receive a smaller benefit.
2. Even though you and your employee may agree now not to report wages, this could come back to haunt you years later when you apply for benefits. When it is discovered you do not have enough credits, you may have to pay back taxes as well as a penalty. The statute of limitations does not apply if no tax return was filed.

If you employ a household worker, here's what you need to do: Contact any Internal Revenue Service (IRS) office and ask for the necessary reporting forms and information on how to complete them. You must complete IRS form 942 (employer's Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees) within a month after a quarter ends. Include the employee's and your share of the social security tax (6.65 percent each on wages up to $29,700 for 1981).

Annual reports of 1980 earnings must be filed by April 15 by people receiving social security benefits who earned more than the annual exempt amount in 1980.

The 1980 annual exempt amounts were $5,000 for people 65 and over and $3,720 for people under 65 last year.

People who received some benefits in 1980 who earned more than the exempt amount are required to file a report of those earnings by April 15.

Those who received no benefits in 1980 are not required to file a report, but those people should file a report to make sure that any benefits that might be due for the year are paid.

A person who earned less than anticipated, for example, may be due some benefits. The only way these benefits can be paid is if the person files an annual report.

The general rule is that $1 in benefits is withheld for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount. A person can have substantial yearly earnings before all benefits are withheld. For example, a 65-year-old person whose monthly benefit rate is $350 could earn $13,400 before all benefits for 1980 were withheld.

People who are required to file an annual report should have received a copy in the mail. If they have not, they should contact the nearest social security office to obtain a copy. Those not required to file, but who wish to do so, can also get a copy of the form at any social security office.
