NINA COPELAND

A close friend of Mrs. Copeland said, "She has served her church and community selflessly and has touched the hearts and lives of many people."

Mrs. Copeland was well-known in the Floyd County area for her talents as an organist for the First Baptist Church. She began playing the organ at the First Baptist Church in Littlefield at the age of 13. She had been organist for the Floydada Baptist Church for 25 years.

Mrs. Copeland has played for weddings, funerals and many other special programs in Floydada and surrounding area churches. She and Mrs. Lon Davis have performed organ-piano duets at Floydada High School. Baccalaureate services for the past five years.

In addition to her work in music, Mrs. Copeland had been a member of the 1950 study club for the past 30 years. She served as president as well as various other offices and committee posts.

She was secretary to the superintendent of Floydada schools from 1950 to 1958.

Mrs. Copeland had been Manager-Treasurer of the FCS Federal Credit Union for the past ten years.

YOUNG AND OLD HANDS WORK TOGETHER. Youth and Senior Adults of the First Baptist Church sponsored a week of Nursing Home Bible School each morning June 8-12 from 10:00-11:30. The residents participated in devotions, crafts and sing-alongs.

Love fund started for family

A love fund for the family of Benny McMurrian has been started at the First National Bank in Floydada.

Benny McMurrian, 12, was swimming at Silver Falls Park near Crosbyton, with three companions who accompanied him to the park when he disappeared beneath the water about 2:35 p.m. according to Crosby County officials. The area where he went under, authorities said, was about eight feet deep.

The youngster had entered the water moments earlier, witnesses told officials, and was swimming toward a friend when the incident occurred. McMurrian, his younger brother and two girls had arrived at the park earlier in the day with Nathan Nichols of Floydada for a day of camping, officials said.

Sheriff's deputies recovered the boy's body at 3:08 p.m. and two deputies and an unidentified woman camper administered cardio-pulmonary resuscitation until the Crosbyton Ambulance Service arrived. Ambulance crew members then administered oxygen, but to no avail.

Justice of the Peace Clyde Davis pronounced the youth dead at 3:27 p.m. and ruled the death accidental. It was the first drowning at the park lake, located about five miles east of Crosbyton, in recent years.

Authorities said the boy reportedly was an excellent swimmer, but noted that recent rains had swelled the lake and there were some undercurrents in the muddy water.

Crossing signs approved

The city council approved the purchase of eight flashing school crosswalk signs at its regular meeting Tuesday night.

The signs will be installed before the 1981-82 school year begins next fall. Each will cost $325.00 for a total cost of $2,600.00. The signs meet state specifications.

The council agreed to tie-in a portion of land near the Bartley Heights Addition with the city sewer lift at the developer's expense.

They also decided to call public hearings to discuss public comment on demolition and actions for numerous pieces of property inside the city limits.

Ordinance 629, which concerns motor vehicles in park areas, was discussed. It was decided to prohibit motorized vehicles from parking or driving on any public park in Floydada.

The council also heard a brief presentation on the city's insurance. Aldine Williams, of Floydada Real Estate and Insurance, was directed to compile an inventory of city buildings for possible future insurance needs. Williams will present a list to the council at a later date.

The council approved a $5.00 payment to 17 people who were summoned for recent jury duty, totaling $85.00.

The council approved payment of the May 1981 city bills.

Public hearing scheduled by RR commission

The Railroad Commission has scheduled a public hearing in Plainview to obtain additional evidence on the application of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway Co., to discontinue and dismantle agency stations at Hale Center, Floydada, Kress, and Lockney.

The railroad company has proposed to serve the towns through an agency station in Plainview.

Chairman Jim Nugent and Commissioners Mack Wallace and Buddy Temple indicated at yesterday's conference on Transportation Division matters that more information from the public about the railroad company's application was desired.

The hearing is scheduled at 9 a.m. July 9 and 10 in the Community Meeting Room in the basement of City National Bank, 211 W. 7th, Plainview.

Court hires librarian, approves county audit

Upon the recommendation of Jackie Walls, Floyd County Librarian, the commissioners court officially hired Dolene Dipper as librarian at the Lockney Branch Library.

Helen Holt will be retiring on June 30 after serving as librarian for 12 years.

Other matters before the commissioners court at their regular meeting Monday was the hiring of Behner and Company, certified public accountants, to do the county audit for 1981.

There will be a more extensive audit of the tax office than has been done by Behner and Co. in past years. This in-depth audit is being done to comply with revenue sharing requirements.

At the completion of the audit, tax accountant Fred Thayer has been asked to make recommendations.

"I'm in favor of following through with any recommendations this audit suggests," County Judge Choise Smith said. "It would be foolish to pay for the audit and then not take advantage of the information we get from the recommendations."

The audit is to begin immediately.

Court allowed a new IBM typewriter to be purchased for the County Treasurer's office.

The court discussed holding an auction of surplus county goods. The three sheriff department cars that have been replaced recently will be auctioned as well as one or two county pick-ups.

Judge Smith is preparing a list of items that have been stored in the basement of the courthouse that will also be put up for sale.

Sheriff Fred Cardinal, Commissioners Jack Lackey and Thomas Warren purchased four automobiles from the Texas Department of Public Safety in Austin about three weeks ago.

The two Dodges, one Ford, and one Chrysler were bought at a total price of $8500. Judge Smith, Lackey, Sam Spence, and Raymond Hamilton traveled to Austin and drove the automobiles back last week.

Court voted to put screens, between the driver and back seats, in two of the cars at an expense of $135 each. The screening is for transportation of prisoners. Lackey was the only dissenting vote.

Janice Lloyd informed the court that a check for $700 from the Friends of the Library will be given to the county toward the purchase of a new microfilm machine for the library.

The money represents funds made by several projects of the Friends and the Jr. Friends of the Library.

Commissioners agreed that if the machine is one or two hundred dollars over the donated amount they would make up the difference in cost.

Lloyd also appealed for personnel to aide Jackie Walls in the Floydada library. She stressed that the duties of the librarian in cataloging and handling the front desk as well as the several programs the library offers is too much for one person to handle.

"We ask that you seriously consider that Jackie needs some help, someone she can depend on," Mrs. Lloyd said.

All commissioners were in attendance at the court session along with County Judge.

WOMEN FROM ALL OVER the South Plains area gathered for "Breakfast at Mamie's" Wednesday. "Nature Party" was the theme of the breakfast hosted by ladies of the South Plains Hobby Club in Mamie Wood's backyard.

Breakfast at Mamie's

Mrs. Mamie Woods hosted her annual "Breakfast at Mamie's" Wednesday morning.

Guests from the surrounding area joined members of the South Plains Hobby Club for the early morning party.

The gathering had the theme "nature party," and the women began by each guessing the length of a petrified snake as they entered the beautifully manicured backyard. Mrs. Mildred Hamm won the prize of a jar of gel for guessing the correct length of the snake as three feet.

A breakfast buffet of chili cheese squares, sausage pinwheels, and blueberry muffins was served to the guests.

Hostesses were Ruby Lee Higginbotham, Dot Cummings, Glynn Earl Cummings, Letha Mulder, and Mildred Hamm.

The climax of the party was a nature hunt similar to a treasure hunt. The women divided into teams and each team was required to locate certain varieties of trees and obtain leaves of each.

Mrs. Wood said that the party which she has been giving for about 20 years draws some 40 guests this year: "Several of the ladies were here for the first time this year and they asked to be invited back. We all had a good time."

A stranger Ranger

BY MARGIE SAVAGE

The other evening, my husband decided that we needed "to get more out of life" so we went out to a movie. We saw The Legend of the Lone Ranger.

Although it was not especially well written or well acted, and there were a few choice words that could have easily been left out, it did have some very exciting moments.

In the movie, the bad guys had cleverly side tracked the Presidential car away from the main train and had captured President Grant.

In the meantime, the Lone Ranger and his faithful Indian companion, Tonto, were racing their trusty steeds, Silver and Scout, across the country to catch the derelict train.

The William Tell Overture in the background added to the intensity of the moment. But they were too late! Now all they could do was follow the crooks to their hidden fortress.

Of course, the criminals didn't know they had been followed. So Tonto and the Masked Man were relatively free to roam the premises of the stockade in the dead of night and stumble upon a room full of explosives.

By knocking out one guard and threatening to scalp another, they were able to locate the President. The Lone Ranger and Tonto crept out to relocate the explosives in strategic places so that the fortress could be blown at the touch of a match.

As dawn approached, Tonto was releasing the bad guy's horses. The Lone Ranger and the President were sneaking away and lighting fuses.

All three had almost made their way across the river when they were discovered. Gun fire, explosives, and thundering horses ignited the screen.

The President was shot from his horse. Facing flying bullets, the Lone Ranger scooped up the President and Hi-Hoed Silver Away, but Silver slipped and fell.

Explosives were going off all around. Bad guys littered the air and the ground. Horses were stampeding. The situation was beginning to look hopeless for our heroes. Then...Bugle sounds filled the air. The cavalry had arrived! Hurray! I wanted to stand up and cheer. I was once again transported to the days of heroes and good always winning over evil.

In the old movies, the cavalry always arrived just in the nick of time. Today our young people have no cavalry to look forward to. They have no heroes who never run out of bullets. It seems that today's movies are based on sensationalism. Their heroes are giant sharks, a little girl who is possessed by demons, a boy who is the son of the devil.

Although good does win over evil in Star Wars, the whole film seems to focus on special effects (which are terrific) rather than a strong hero figure.

Without strong fictional heroes to identify with, all the kids have is us—their parents, teachers, religious leaders, relatives, and friends.

If we play our roles right and leave our silver bullets in enough of the right places, who knows, the William Tell Overture might become their theme song.

A child might whisper, "Who was that masked person?" A teenager might mount a white horse and shout, "Hi Ho, Silver, away," as he charges down the path to truth and justice.

Mail ignored in moving plan

"Americans are receiving more mail -- important mail -- than at any time in postal history," says Lockney Postmaster Doug Meriwether. "Yet, when it comes time to call the movers, one of the most overlooked of all procedures is notifying the proper parties of the change of address. In addition to the personal expense and inconvenience to the homeowner and mailers, undeliverable-as-addressed mail has become one of the hidden costs of mailing."

Postmaster Meriwether says the Postal Service spends about $550 million a year to handle an estimated 4.5 billion pieces of mail that is undeliverable. "This is expense that ultimately ends up within the price of postage stamps, and worse, it is unnecessary. Change of address is a simple matter today."

The Postal Service has been urging its customers to inform all correspondents promptly of address changes at least 30 days before a scheduled move. With an assist from moving companies, real estate agents and others, the Postal Service distributes from ten to 16 million change of address kits every year to make it easier to notify correspondents and publishers.

"The primary strength of this program is that everyone benefits from it," says Postmaster Meriwether. "The family that is moving benefits because their mail continues to arrive promptly, stores and other business correspondents can avoid billing problems, and the Postal Service is able to process the mail more efficiently and at less cost."

Postmaster Meriwether says the Postal Service is now launching a new effort to get change of address kits into circulation. A direct mail campaign is asking commercial organizations such as truck rental firms, moving companies and real estate firms and others who deal with people on the move, to help distribute the Postal Service's handy Change of Address kit.

The kit contains convenient cards for notifying the postmaster, publishers, businesses, doctors, state and local agencies and utilities. The kit also includes a checklist of groups and individuals to be contacted prior to a move.

The direct mailing campaign to commercial organizations includes a two-part reply card which firms can use to order supplies of the kits from their local post office.

"We know that peak moving dates fall between June and August, and as we approach this important time, it is important to move the kits. All they ask for one of the participating companies or office," Postmaster Meriwether says. "We are all need to economize more efficient our resources," says. "Well, home. The more themselves, the save more than a year that we have to waste."

COUNTY JUDGE CHOISE SMITH, Sheriff Fred Cardinal and other Department officials look over one of the four new Floyd County Department police cars. The vehicles were purchased in May but have just been into service.

Plans roses celebrate 67th anniversary

Friends and relatives are invited to call at their home, 503 S.E. 2nd in Lockney throughout the month of June to help the Roses celebrate.

Mr. and Mrs. Rose were married June 7, 1914 in the country home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T.F. Casey in the Roseland community, near Lockney, and then traveled on their honeymoon in a covered wagon to Blair, Oklahoma for a visit with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J.M. Rose.

"I cooked breakfast for her that first morning," says C.L. Rose who still calls his wife "girl". "And she has been expecting it ever since."

When asked how they have managed to get along with each other for so many years, Mr. Rose says with a smile, "She talks and I listen."

Mrs. Rose says, "never get mad at the same time."

The couple has been working together ever since they married. They farmed first in the Providence community, near Lockney, later buying a farm east of Lockney, where they lived until 1939 when they moved to town.

They owned and managed Rose Laundry until 1954 and then the Rose Grocery until 1949 and also the Rose Rooming House in the building that is now Rowell This R That.

The Roses say that they never retired. "Work doesn't hurt you," says Mary

Ida Rose. "We'll never stop being active and working."

They stopped farming full time at age 65 and 67, but still go to their farms in the summer time and working. He loves to garden and keeps the house filled with flourishing green plants. She spends hours crocheting.

Both enjoy entertaining. "If more than two or three days went by without guests in our home we would think that people have forgotten us," says Mrs. Rose. "We love to have our family and friends in our house."

The couple says that Floyd County is the best place to live in the world. "I like the country and I have the finest friends and neighbors I could ever hope for. Floyd County has changed some since the Roses married. Lockney had only plank buildings and plank sidewalks. There weren't any roads to their farm. They just drove across the fields.

C.H. and Mary Ida have vivid memories of very active and full lives in the area around Lockney.

"Our family, friends, and our church, those are the things that matter," says Mrs. Rose.

At the ages of almost 93 and 91 years they are still active members of the First United Methodist Church.

They are the parents of Delbur C. Rose of Plainview and Mrs. C.L. Record (Lucy Dean) of Lockney.

They have four grandchildren, Jerry Rose of Lubbock and Jonny Rose of Wichita, Kansas, Breck Record of Amarillo and Mrs. Guy Roberson (Donna Lyn Record) of Beaumont, and nine great-grandchildren.

C.H. Rose says marriage is still, "mighty fine with no room to complain."

Homes sought

Homes for foreign high school students wanting to come to the United States and learn about middle income American family life are being sought by area representatives of the Youth Exchange Service (YES).

The Rev. and Mrs. Don Jeffreys of Trinity Baptist Church, Sweetwater, are the Texas representatives of YES, based in San Clemente, California. "We want to place one or two students in the Floydada area and are looking for homes to provide temporary lodging, meals, and love."

Marsha Sharp takes coaching job

Lockney High School's Marsha Sharp has been named assistant women's basketball coach at Texas Tech University in Lubbock.

Sharp resigned as Lockney High School's varsity girls basketball coach this past spring to seek a college coaching job.

During six years as Lockney's varsity coach, Sharp compiled an overall record of 127-60. She led the Lady Horns to two district titles and two second place finishes.

Sharp is a native of South Plains and graduated from Tulia High School and Wayland Baptist College.

Before coming to Lockney, Sharp was an assistant women's basketball coach at Wayland at a time when the Flying Queens were ranked number one in the country.

The head women's, basketball coach at Tech, Donna Wick, was pleased and excited at having Sharp join her staff.

"With Marsha's knowledge and enthusiasm for the sport, she will be a valuable asset to our program," Wick said.

The Lockney Board of Education has hired assistant girls' varsity coach Sheri Haynes to succeed Sharp.

Texas is in King County. There is an Okra (Eastland County), H2O (Wilbarger County) and Plum (Fayette County). Speaking of there is a town named Orchard (Fort Bend County), Nursery (Victoria County) and Grapevine (Tarrant County).

Along the food line are Noodle (Jones County) and Rice (Navarro County).

Names are often not pronounced the way they are spelled. Most citizens are not very understanding of unintentional mispronunciation. We bet it onto anyone who pronounces Leaky (Uvalde County) the way it should be pronounced to rhyme with Lake-y.

Burnet (Burnet County) if a visitor uses the wrong pronunciation they will set them straight with a local jingle. "It's Burnet, durn-it, why you learn-it?"

Town names range from ridiculous to Sublime (La Vaca County). How many like to live in Utopia (Uvalde County) or Paradise (Wise County) or Cancho (Cochaco County). Perhaps you'd like a Noble (Lamar County) name or Merit (Hunt County). A place where you could be Happy (Swisher County) and Jolly (Clay County).

On the other hand if your Uncertain (Harrison County) and feeling like you won't have to work so hard (McLennan County) there are places like Swamp City (Gregg County), Omen (Smith County), Terminal (Midland County) and if all else fails there is Sanatorium (Tom Green County).

In the famous names category there is Geronimo (Guadalupe County) and makes sense in this part of the country, but what about Tarzan (Martin County).

Otherwise, there is Noonday (Smith County), Sundown (Hockley County) and Midnight (Armstrong).

Imagine the high school cheerleaders sing-singing the yells for their school from Shady Shores (Denton County), Medicine Mound (Hardeman County) or Tin Top (Parker County).

Personal favorites are Frame Switch (Williamson County) and Jot 'Em (Hunt County).

There are two towns with an article prefix; The Colony (Denton County) and The Grove (Coryell County).

Which brings up the county names like Tom Green and Deaf Smith. But for another time.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn E. Campbell of Floydada; and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Mitchell of Wolfforth.

Centering the altar area was a brass pyramid candelabra, holding yellow tapers and decorated in emerald foliage. Yellow gladiolas and blue Killian daisies flanked with brass hurricane type candelabra also decorated in colors of yellow and blue with a background of tall palms of emerald foliage. Basket arrangements in yellow gladiolas and blue Killian daisies flanked either side of the altar scene. A unity candle decorated with the wedding invitation and blue and yellow flowers completed the wedding scene. The bridal aisle pews were decorated in hurricane candelabra with garlands of silk lily-of-the-valley and blue satin bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal length gown of chiffonet and re-embroidered chantilly lace. The chapel length skirt of chiffonet was accented with a double lace border at the hem and a full pleated over-skirt extending over the chapel train. She also wore a finger-tip, lace trimmed veil held by a lace circlet, sprinkled with pearls.

For something old, the bride carried a satin and lace covered Rainbow Bible used in her parents wedding. For something new, she wore a gold "pinkie" ring with an opal setting, a wedding gift from the groom. Something borrowed was the pearl necklace, worn by her mother in her wedding. She wore the traditional blue garter. In her shoes, she wore a six-pence dated in the year of her birth and a penny dated the year of the marriage. These were given to her by Cindy and Steve Stephens, sister and brother-in-law of the groom.

The attendants wore dresses of alternating blue and yellow. The identically made dresses, had bodices that crossed over in front to form a "V" neck, with soft pleats sewn into the left side. The shoulder fronts were run through the spaghetti straps, making them gather, and then crossed separately in the back. The floor length, pleated skirts complimented the bride's dress. The dresses were topped with circular, chiffon capes, parting on the left shoulder, caught up with a matching silk flower. Each girl wore another silk flower in her hair. The attendants each carried colonial nose-gays in mixed colors of daisies highlighted with blue or yellow lace to compliment their dresses.

The bride carried in addition to her Bible, a cascade bouquet in white starburst poms, stephanotis, and miniatures, white, sweetheart rosebuds. For "going-away" the new bride chose a corsage in white Elfin rose buds and stephanotis. The mothers wore shoulder corsages of Mystery gardenias and baby's breath.

The three tiered wedding cake was decorated with light and dark blue daisies with yellow centers. The cake had tiny cherubs between the columns. The cake was topped with a single column, atop a round base, decorated with white hearts. Tulle net was attached at the base of the column with blue daisies attached. Wheat Field Day spotlights hybrids through in the development of hybrids and research on irrigation and fertilizer needs for wheat featured during the annual Wheat Field Day at the U.S. Department of Agriculture Conservation and Production Research Laboratory in Bushland.

Some 150 producers and agribusiness representatives took part in the program and tour of research projects at the facility on Interstate 40. The event May 28 was sponsored by the Science and Education Administration of USDA, the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, Texas Agricultural Extension Service and Texas Wheat Producers Association.

Dr. Kenneth B. Porter, Experiment Station wheat breeder, displayed 60 irrigated wheat hybrids being evaluated in two tests. Hybrid seeds is produced by growing sterilized strips between desirable pollinators, Porter explained.

The research scientist said many of the hybrids he is testing were produced by using a chemical hybridizing agent. When sprayed on wheat in proper amounts at the right stage of growth, it makes the wheat male sterile, he explained.

Porter said this is a breakthrough in hybrid production, because all future generations will be fertile, with male sterile wheat lines.

Some of the hybrids are expected to produce almost 100 bushels an acre, he said. Porter also guided visitors through nursery test plots where more than 200 varieties and experimental lines are being evaluated for yield and other characteristics. Oat, barley and a limited number of triticale are also being tested.

Tests to evaluate limited irrigation, plant water stress and water use efficiency of TAM 101 wheat and Post barley were explained to visitors by Jack Musick, USDA agricultural engineer at the laboratory. Eight water treatments, involving amounts and timing of application, were applied.

During the past two good wheat seasons, Musick said, 90 to 100 bushels an acre were produced with two spring irrigations.

"The most important irrigation has been late boot to heading and the least important has been to irrigate during early spring vegetative growth," he said. The need for a grain-filling irrigation during late May can vary a lot depending on late spring rainfall and whether or not hot, dry winds occur, he noted.

Progress in the first year of a study of fertilizer needs and the interaction of fertilizer and water treatments was reported by Dr. Harold V. Eck, USDA soil chemist. The experiment with TAM 105 wheat is studying two planting dates, six fertilizer treatments and four water treatments.

It is designed to determine proper fertilizer elements and rates for maximum production of high yielding, short strawed wheats; effects of drought stress during different growth stages on yield, and interacting effects of fertilizer and water treatments on growth and production.

Prior to the tour, Ross Wilson, executive assistant with the Texas Wheat Producers Board, stressed the need for increasing export markets and explained the marketing efforts of U.S. Wheat Associates. USWA is the market development arm of the wheat industry.

Wilson said the domestic use of wheat hasn't changed much in the past decade. Noting that the U.S. produces 40 percent of the world wheat supply, Wilson said that in 1960, one acre in 10 in the U.S. was produced for export. Today, he said, two acres in every three of U.S. wheat is for export.

"We still don't have enough export markets," he said, stressing that such markets have to be developed.

A special feature of the field day was a bread baking demonstration by home economics agents of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Mrs. Irene Keating, Potter County agent, and Mrs. Barbara Fowler, Randall County agent, explained that similar demonstrations and baking workshops are being conducted throughout the state by Extension agents to teach men and women the skills and the ease of baking homemade bread.

Other tour stops included wind energy research, weed research, pine tree drought tolerance nursery, alfalfa variety trials, sunflower breeding and genetics, trials of Jose tall wheatgrass for forage, evaluation of high- and low-pressure center pivot irrigation systems, conservation bench terraces, dryland alfalfa seed production and beef cattle research.

Livestock producer committee to help with brucellosis program

A livestock producer committee has been named for this area to assist in implementation of the Texas brucellosis program. Members are:

Rich Anderson, Gail J.E. Birdwell II, Muleshoe; J.E. Birdwell III, Whiteface; Jim Boydston, Ralls; S.C. Burleson, Quitaque; Royce Collins, Olton; Ellison Tom, Jr., Andrews; Travis Jones, Floydada; Roy Neely, Midland; Bruce Rigler, Plainview; Pinky Sellers, Sweetwater; and William J. Waldrup, Lubbock. J.E. Birdwell II is chairman.

The committee is one of 15 throughout Texas. Commissioners of the Texas Animal Health Commission have named one committee for each of the 15 TAHC areas. This group represents TAHC area 2.

"Selection of these committees is a major step forward in the Texas brucellosis program," John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, TAHC, said. "All members are actively engaged in livestock production, and their suggestions and recommendations as to how to improve and implement the Texas Plan for brucellosis control will be invaluable to Commissioners and the entire staff of the TAHC," Armstrong explained.

Brucellosis is a highly contagious disease of livestock. It affects the reproductive organs resulting in abortions, partial loss of milk production, weakened calves, and in some cases sterility in bulls. In humans, brucellosis is known as undulant fever.

Members of the committees were selected from names submitted to the Commissioners by various segments of the livestock industry. "These are not 'rubber stamp' committees. We have members who come from all persuasions. We believe we have committees which will provide us with practical advice, which we will incorporate wherever possible in the Texas brucellosis program," Armstrong said.

More than 600 names were submitted statewide for consideration. A total of 180 producers were selected and have agreed to serve for terms ranging from two to six years.

"The entire livestock industry should be grateful to these producers who have volunteered their time in this endeavor," Commissioners said.

USDA cancels settlement date for reserve corn

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block said he is "helping move agriculture closer to the market-oriented goals of the administration's proposed farm bill" by granting farmers an indefinite extension on repaying their reserve corn loans.

Under Block's action, farmers who previously had until May 15 to repay loans on reserve corn can continue the loans at the same 15.25 percent interest rate.

"Farmers will immediately feel some benefits that go along with the market-oriented objectives that are woven into the administration's farm bill," Block said.

Landscape & Gardening

BY KEN LANGLEY

PROPER EQUIPMENT FOR DEFENSE

It's safe to say that if insects and diseases are not a problem in your garden right now, chances are they will be before long.

You may or may not want to use chemicals for pest control. This is one of the real advantages of growing your own vegetables. You can do it any way you want to! Plant by the moon, sprinkle irrigate, choose your own varieties, or garden without pesticides. It's your garden and you make the decisions.

For the sake of today's column, let's assume that you're one of the large number of local gardeners who will choose to control garden pests using cleared and recommended chemicals. Proper use of chemicals poses no threat to you or the people who enjoy eating vegetables from your home garden. However, if the label on the chemical product you use says one teaspoon per gallon of water, that's what it means. If the label says to wait three days after spraying before harvesting, it doesn't mean you have to wait a week or more. Follow directions on the container to the letter. If you do this, you won't have any problems with possibly dangerous chemical residues.

Using chemicals for pest control generally means "spraying" to most gardeners. Therefore, you are going to need a sprayer of some type depending on garden size, location, layout and intended use.

Sprayers used most often in local gardens are compressed air and hose-on sprayers. Compressed air sprayers are mobile, self-contained units that are pressurized by periodic pumping. They come in various sizes and are made of either plastic, galvanized steel or longer-lasting stainless steel. An obvious advantage of compressed air sprayers is that they are completely portable. However, this portability is directly proportional to your strength. In other words, a 5 gallon compressed air sprayer is heavy and unless you're physically able to lift and tote it around, don't try it. If your garden is small, a 2 gallon sprayer is probably all you'll need.

A hose-on sprayer is attached to the end of a hose, from which it receives its pressure. It's popular because it's light and doesn't need repressurizing by periodic pumping.

The main disadvantage of a hose-on sprayer is that it can only reach the length of your garden hose. Another problem arises in mixing ingredients. These sprayers operate on the principle of siphoning a concentrated amount of material and mixing it with a stream of hose water. To be easily siphoned, the mix must be liquid; yet many insecticides and fungicides are in the wettable powder form. Although these materials are meant to be suspended in water, thorough mixing is difficult sometimes. To avoid some of the problems of plugging up the sprayer, it's a good idea to pre-mix wettable powder pesticides in a small bowl. This helps assure that large particles are broken up and will not clog the siphoning hose.

Regardless of the type of sprayer you use, it's important that you keep it in good condition. Rinse it thoroughly after each use to avoid future problems. If you use a compressed air sprayer, store it bottom side up with the hose drained.

Safe and proper use of garden chemicals can help most of you have a more productive garden. However, you must always use only recommended chemicals, treat only when necessary, follow label directions, and remember to take care of your equipment.

Grasshopper control program under way

An airborne spray program is under way right now to save farmers, ranchers and consumers money. The Rangeland Grasshopper Control Program has been initiated as part of an ongoing effort to combat this summer's heavy infestations of grasshoppers in cattle-producing areas.

According to Ron Johnson, staff officer with the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Animal and Plant Health Inspection Service, as many as 30 million acres of rangeland are infested with high levels of grasshoppers. The result is millions of dollars' worth of losses of valuable livestock forages.

Since 10 to 15 percent of infested acreage normally is treated, Johnson says five to seven million acres may have to be treated this summer. More than 5.3 million acres in 1980 and approximately 7.1 million in 1979 were treated as part of this program.

The spray program is organized on a local area basis and is required to meet certain criteria, including: An economic infestation of grasshoppers (usually eight per square yard) must be present; a proposed spray area must have at least 10,000 acres; everyone in the spray area must participate; and the landowner's money must be on deposit. The key to making the program work on a local level is spraying a large enough block to deter re-infestation of grasshoppers from untreated areas, according to Johnson.

Two insecticides are used in the government-sponsored program: SEVIN 4 OIL carbaryl and ULV Malathion. According to Northwest area APHIS director Dick Jackson, Seattle, these two insecticides were chosen for "their relatively low mammalian toxicity, lack of environmental persistence and excellent grasshopper control capabilities."

For more information about the Cooperative Rangeland Grasshopper Control Program, contact your local county Extension agent, state Department of Agriculture of USDA/APHIS office.

Floydada Nursing Home Happening Flowers appreciated by residents

BY DOROTHY NEFF

We would like to thank Doyle and Jackie Walls for sharing their beautiful flower arrangements with us. They helped to brighten up our lobby. Our sympathy is with them during the loss of their loved one.

The seventh grade boys and girls of First Baptist Church Bible School class visited in our home Tuesday morning. They brought homemade cards for the residents which they all enjoyed. They also picked up paper around the building, straightened books and all shelves in the lobby, also carried out laundry paper for the aids, and helped with the 11:30 feeders. I hope they enjoyed being here as much as we enjoyed them. I understand they are making more pictures and a mural to hang in several of the residents rooms.

We went to Lorene Lancaster's home for refreshments Wednesday afternoon. Givins and Billie Lawrence were there to help residents from the bus to the house. Strawberry cake with cool whip was served with ice tea.

We made a stop by the drug store to purchase a watch band for Juanita Bailey. Others enjoying the trip were Mr. Emmitt Lawrence, Iva Simpson, Verna McSwain and Velva Pricer also went.

The lobby was full Friday afternoon for the movies. I think there were 30 residents and visitors enjoying themselves. We served popcorn, which is a favorite around here. The movies were, "Aforiccin Sancure" and "Highways of History."

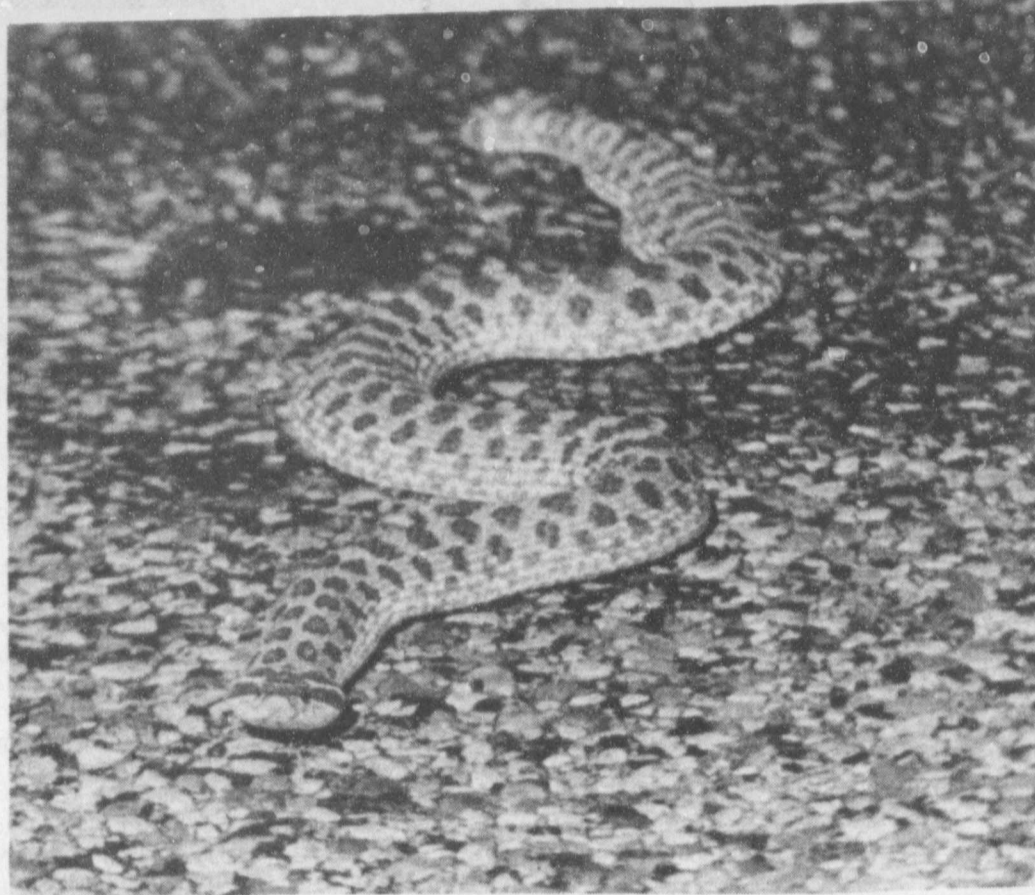

We would like to welcome our two new residents, Mrs. Ora Gilliland and Miss Analee Brown. We hope both of these ladies will be happy with their new home.

The nursing home employees met Friday night in the dining room for supper. Each one brought a covered dish. There was a drawing for prizes afterward. Several of the employees won nice prizes.

We would like to thank Lonnie and Dessie Turner for the beautiful flower arrangement, and send them our deepest sympathy during the loss of their loved one.

Our visitors included: Dena Myrick, Earlene Gilliland, First Baptist Church, Vacation Bible School 6th graders: Leaders; Jenni Su Smith, Barbara Edwards, Iva Sanders, Emma Pate, children; Cynthia Covington, Kim Ellis, Dawn Attebury, Michele Boone, Ernest Hightower, Scott Watts, Jason Sawyer, Bailey Whitfield, Ricky Benjamin, Dusty Tittle, Laron Cheek, Freeman Jones, Johnny Davis, James Fannon; Flo Ella Jarboe, Maron Bailey, Maggie King, Charley Berry Sr., Brenda Chatham, Joey Johnson, Clara Jetton, Christine Robertson, Lucille Sisson.

Increase in canine parvovirus cases reported by TVMA

Spring's rise in temperature has brought with it an increase in the incidence of canine parvovirus, according to the findings of limited survey by the Texas Veterinary Medical Association.

"The survey shows an apparent correlation between warmer weather and the number of dogs infected," said Dr. Ben Johnston, TVMA president. "Much of the increased incidence is possibly due to the increased movement of dogs during the warmer weather."

Close contact between animals is the likely factor in the spread of infection. Cleanup and sanitation are crucially important, since the disease appears to spread principally through contact with contaminated feces.

"Vaccination is still the best protection," Johnston stressed, and this year, unlike last year, there should be an ample supply of vaccine."

He also said, "Runs, cages, food bowls and other equipment should be thoroughly disinfected with a diluted chlorine bleach. One part bleach in 30 parts water is effective, even though the disease is extremely resistant to heat and many disinfectants."

Another possibility being studied is one of a cyclical reoccurrence of the disease. Agreeing with Dr. Johnston about the correlation with temperature, Dr. Konrad Eugster of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory added, "Over the past two years, a cycling of the disease over a three-to-four month span has been noted in certain localities. We're watching that, too."

Parvovirus is a viral disease that was unknown before 1978. It reached epidemic proportions in 1980, with more cases reported during the spring and summer, followed by a decrease beginning in October. Its incidence of occurrence moved in a generally westward direction.

Symptoms in dogs are depression and loss of appetite, followed by vomiting and diarrhea. Dehydration is the main concern, and death can occur within one day. Dr. Johnston recommended immediate medical attention for a dog exhibiting any of the symptoms.

The regional sampling by TVMA showed Tyler, Lufkin, Conroe, Houston, Beaumont, Corpus Christi and the Rio Grande Valley have had significant flare-ups recently. (Beaumont's animal shelter reported the death of at least 30 dogs that had contracted the disease.)

"A seasonal pattern for parvovirus cannot be established at this time since the historical data is limited," Johnston said, "but we are seeing an upswing with warmer weather and want people to guard against losing their animals."

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's Perspectives

From Australia comes the news that the world's first "test tube" twins have been born. About the same time we are told that Louise Brown, the first any kind of in vitro fertilized child is doing well, and that she will most likely wind up a rich little girl, due to the publicity emanating from her birth. The Australian doctors tell us they expect up to seven births per month next year from women undergoing the in vitro process.

This news disturbs me. It strikes me as curious that we should be having so much success in this area of reproduction, at the same time that abortions are taking place at perhaps an unprecedented rate, most of them coming not for medically serious reasons, but rather because the pregnancies were inconvenient for the mother at the time.

The abortion problem has sparked a debate over when human life begins, a question that should be addressed to in vitro fertilization. If life begins at conception, then "test tube" babies will need legal protection as well. The problem is that science has moved rapidly; and ethics, religion, and law have not kept up.

We are doing things simply because we have the technology to do them, without first addressing ourselves to the questions of whether or not we ought to be doing those things in the first place. It is conceivable that God could do greater things in people's lives if they were not able to have children by technological means, if they were not able to be sustained by machines, or if they were perhaps "forced" to have an unwanted child.

The promise of all these advances in medicine and science is that somehow we will all enjoy a better existence, and while I am grateful that I don't have to worry about dying from the flu, I remain unconvinced that the promise has been, or will be, fulfilled.

Senator Lloyd Bentsen

If you're looking for a clear-cut example of government overregulation, consider Section 404 of the Clean Water Act. This section, which sets Dredge and Fill Permit policy, has resulted in a bureaucratic nightmare of red tape and delay for private landowners, farmers and ranchers, and state and local governments across America.

As part of the effort to clean up our nation's rivers, lakes and streams Congress included Section 404 in the 1972 law to require permits signed by the Army Corps of Engineers for work on "navigable" waters.

But "a dam broke loose" later when federal courts ruled that the term "navigable waters" extends to virtually all waters of the United States.

As a result, every farmer and rancher who wants to alter the use of his land, every city that wants to lay a water line, every county that wants to build a drainage ditch could wind up needing a federal permit from the Corps of Engineers.

An interpretation of this broad is certainly something that Congress never intended when the law was passed.

Since 1976 I have tried to amend this law to define "navigable waters" in the way the term has been traditionally understood. "Navigable" should mean what the dictionary says it means--Deep and wide enough to afford passage to ships and barges.

Congress repeatedly has failed to draw a clear line between those dredge and fill permit requirements that are in the national interest and those that represent federal encroachment on the everyday lives of this nation's citizens.

The process for obtaining a Section 404 permit can drag on for an interminable amount of time, driving costs for even the smallest project through the roof.

Although the current law seeks to restrict dredge and fill permit review time to 90 days, a recent General Accounting Office study of three Corps of Engineers district offices shows that average permit processing time ranges from 120 to 300 days.

And, although the law also lets States take responsibility for granting certain kinds of permits, not a single state has undertaken such duties because the Corps, the Environmental Protection Agency and the Fish and Wildlife Service each retain an effective veto over any State proposal.

In Texas, for example, the Fish and Wildlife Service has successfully joined forces with the EPA to declare private "playa" lakes subject to the Section 404 process. Playa lakes, common in arid parts of the West, are small bodies of water which form after rainfall.

Clearly, with the 404 program loosely structured -- as it is under current law -- it lends itself to misinterpretations in the Courts and abuse by the bureaucracy. The time has come for Congress to re-establish its will and define a clear and workable program.

In the 97th Congress, I have proposed legislation again that would clarify and restrict the authority of the federal government under Section 404. I am hopeful that this Congress will take the action needed to unravel the red tape clogging America's waterways.

Margie Savage's

My Savage World

With all the showers for the young brides-to-be, it seems to me that a shower for us older brides might be appropriate.

If we have survived twenty years of the rigors of husband, children, cats, dogs, neighbors' children, neighbors' cats, neighbors' dogs, and neighbors we should have a little recognition, not to mention a real need for new household items.

For example: One morning I was trying to make my bed. Because of years of discipline from my mother, the first thing I do when I get out of bed is to turn around and make it.

That morning no amount of tugging or pulling would get the lump out of the bed. I pulled, r-ipp went the sheet. I tugged, t-ear went another part of the sheet.

After all, the sheets were 20 years old. I patted and I smoothed, but the lump was still there. Not to be outdone, I stood on the bed and began stomping the lump. I was stomping the best I could, but it was rather difficult to stand still enough on a lump to really stomp effectively.

I heard a low growl. Suddenly a hairy arm reached out from under the covers and grabbed by ankle. I was being pulled down onto the lump. I peered under the covers. Lo and behold! It was a puppa bear in hibernation. I wiggled free and tried to beat a hasty retreat, but my toe got caught in the worn sheet. R-ipp. Being an old sheet, it did not offer much resistance and I soon made my escape.

In the bathroom, I washed my terror-stricken face on a recycled wash cloth or a pot holder. It's hard to tell one from the other. Whichever it was, it had been an old towel which I had folded into several thicknesses and sewn through. I think it was a pot holder because it had scorch marks on it.

I dried my hands on a see-through towel. I think every time I take those towels from the dryer, that I must replace them. "Maybe they can be used one more time," I tell myself as I put them on the towel shelf.

After 20 years of use, my cooking utensils are beginning to show wear, too. I have a coffee pot that has lost all its innards. So I use it as a tea pot which means I keep water in it except for when it has tea in it. Sometimes I forget which it has in it, tea or water.

When the chicken gravy turns out brown and sweet, I know the pot had tea in it instead of water. Yes, I really could use some new utensils--a coffee pot, a tea pot, and a water pot.

So, it seems quite appropriate that a 20-year shower would be in order for us older brides.

But, I guess, if we started over a starting-over-shower, the goods might they needed to be stried had, too--they might think they needed two, 20-year-old brides instead of one 40.

I guess I'll just patch my sheets one more time.

It's Not Easy

The hamburger may be America's greatest contribution to posterity. What other food can be so impossibly greasy and horrible but is yet so addictive?

I am an addict. I must have a hamburger fix two or three times a week or I go into withdrawal. Other people are addicted to hot dogs, coffee or worse things, and we all have our faults. My weakness is hamburgers.

If I were the first woman President and I were fed beautifully prepared meals by the White House chef, I would have to sneak out for a McDonald's every few days. Do you suppose McDonald's would deliver to 1600 Pennsylvania Avenue?

There are so many variations: charcoal, barbecued, swiss, pizza... Throw in a little salad and I could live indefinitely on the all-American hamburger.

Not that hamburgers are particularly good for you, but then anything that is really good for you isn't that good. It may not win any medals for food value, but a hamburger does have a little tomato, a little lettuce, meat and on the good days a minimum of grease.

The hamburger has conquered the globe. You can even buy them in Russia or the Peoples' Republic of China. It's good to know that if I am ever rich enough to visit China or even more exotic places and go into hamburger withdrawal after an overdose of pressed duck, I won't be in too much trouble.

Of course, I do enjoy other, less American foods such as prime rib and spinach souffle. It's too embarrassing to go into a good restaurant and order a hamburger when the specialty of the house is Beef Wellington. Besides, my tolerance level on hamburgers limits me to no more than one every few days or I go around feeling like Ronald McDonald without the clown suit.

There is nothing like a fresh charcoal hamburger with all the trimmings on a hot Sunday afternoon in the summer with your friends and family. It's even more American than apple pie.

Social Security News

BY VIRGINIA DEWITT

Young people planning to work for the first time this summer should be aware that the first step is to get a social security number--and the time to take that first step is right now.

Many young people may not realize that getting a social security number takes a little longer today than it did for their parents. Mom and dad probably walked into a social security office one day and walked out with a social security number and card. Today many of you can even apply by mail if you wish, but either way it takes about 6 weeks to receive a social security number and card.

The major reason for the difference is that the application is now more closely scrutinized to assure the applicant's correct identity, citizenship, or lawful alien status, and age. When the social security system first started 45 years ago and in its early years, the concern was to make it as easy as possible for people to get a social security card. Now that the system is a household word--the Nation's primary means of providing an income to a family at the retirement, death, or disability of the breadwinner--the major concern is that the card and the rights it represents are protected from fraud and abuse.

Moreover, the social security number represents your key to your earnings record and future benefits based on it. Eligibility for benefits is based on your date of birth and the amount is based on your covered annual earnings shown in your record over your working lifetime. Incorrect information on the application for a number could seriously affect your benefit rights later.

Many employers will not hire you unless you can show a social security card because the law requires them to collect and pay social security taxes on the earnings of each person they employ, and they need a correct social security number for this purpose.

People 18 or over must apply for a card in person, but people under 18 may apply by mail or phone.

If you were born in the United States, a birth or baptismal record will be necessary for proof of age and citizenship. For proof of identity, we may accept any document which includes your signature, photograph, or physical description, such as driver's licenses, draft card, voters registration card, marriage record, school identity card, newspaper birth announcement, and similar documents.

Burial options for vets

Families of veterans who select a burial site for a deceased veteran in a private cemetery have two options for Veterans Administration assistance in marking the grave. Jack Coker, Waco VA Regional Office Director, reminded today.

VA will provide a headstone or marker free of charge and ship it to the cosignee designated in the application. Cost of placing the marker in a private cemetery must be borne by the applicant, however.

A second option is that VA will reimburse part of the cost of a headstone or marker bought privately and placed on the grave of a veteran. The current amount is $59.00 which is the average cost of headstones purchased by VA.

Application for the VA headstone or marker should be addressed to Director, Monument Service (42), Department of Memorial Affairs, Veterans Administration, 810 Vermont Avenue, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20420.

Application for the $59 reimbursement for a marker other than the VA standard should be filed at the nearest VA Regional Office. Proper routing of the application will expedite service.

Toll-free numbers to regional offices are listed in the white pages of the telephone book under "U.S. Government."

"Break-bone fever" returns to Texas

COLLEGE STATION — A mosquito-borne virus called "break-bone fever" not only threatens to invade Texas again this year but also other portions of the South, warns a Texas A&M University entomologist.

Called dengue (dan-gee), the disease has been described as "so painful you wish you could die." The disease is known as break-bone fever because it's extremely painful in the joints.

Olson had predicted the disease, carried by the yellow fever mosquito, Aedes aegypti, would come into Texas. Last year, cases were reported not only in Texas, but also Louisiana, Florida and North and South Carolina, as well as states along the Western Coast and Hawaii. In addition, cases have been reported as far north as New York, he said.

Carelessness blamed for mower accidents

"Carelessness" is the main factor in the more than 50,000 people injured each year in accidents involving power lawn mowers.

Proper mower servicing, observing standard operating precautions, and picking up rocks and other objects from the lawn prior to mowing will eliminate most accidents.

"The lawn mower should be routinely serviced each time before taking it out of the garage to mow the lawn," says Dr. Richard Duble, turfgrass specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "A properly operating mower is safer to use and cuts grass better than one in poor shape."

Routine service includes checking the blade for nicks or cracks, checking the blade to be sure it is securely attached to the shaft, checking the crankcase oil level in 4-cycle engines, and filling the fuel tank with fresh regular gasoline.

"Always disconnect the spark plug wire before examining the blade," cautions Duble. "The condition of the blade is critical to the mower's operation and safety. Remove, sharpen and balance the blade several times during the mowing season. Replace damaged blades.

 Floyd County
 Insurance Agency
 LOCKNEY Jerry Cooper

In a Buy-and-Sell Agreement involving life insurance purchased on the lives of partners or stockholders to fund an agreement to purchase that portion of the business, are the proceeds taxable as included in the insured's estate?
 If proceeds of the agreement policy are not payable to the insured's estate, and the insured has no incidents of ownership in the policies or his life, the proceeds are not includable in the gross estate and, therefore, not taxable. The value of his partnership interest or the corporate stock which he holds is includable in his estate, however, and is subject to Federal estate taxes. Incidents of ownership would be precluded by a provision in the agreement prohibiting the insured from surrendering or borrowing on the policy or changing the beneficiary.

FIX-IT FACTS
If it seems like every spring is annual paint-the-wood-siding time it's probably because moisture has collected behind the siding causing the paint to peel. After your annual repainting this year, take one more step which may end the yearly ritual. Vent your siding. This can be done by boring holes in the siding and inserting aluminum vents, or by driving small aluminum wedges up under the laps on the siding. Both the vents and wedges are available for this purpose. Plastic vents are inserted in holes bored through the bottom of the siding section. A jig is available to properly angle your drill. Perhaps the simplest siding vent is a nail and metal sleeve set. The whole thing is driven into the siding - the nail comes out and the vent remains.

Is a savings account a dull investment?

Basically, yes. It doesn't give you much to talk about at parties. People don't quote their passbooks.

Your savings account just sits there quietly. Insured. With interest guaranteed. Earning you money, day in and day out. Now that's not glamorous. But it is sensible. And it should definitely be a substantial part of what you do with your money.

Investments are fine when you can afford them. But remember, the money you save at A Full Service Bank is always available when you need it. And it will continue to earn a guaranteed rate until the day you do.

Keep your savings with us, A Full Service Bank. For party talk, read up on sports or fashion.

White to compete in the 1981 Teenworld State Finals at Fort Worth

Miss Lori White, age 17, of Mr. and Mrs. Bill White of Floydada, is selected to compete in the 1981 Teenworld State Finals at Fort Worth on July 3, 4, and 5.

Teenworld has selected outstanding young women from all over the state to participate in the three days of activities. The program is designed to recognize young women, 14 to 18, who excel in scholastic achievement and community involvement. Contestants are judged on poise, personality, grooming, and a speech or talent presentation, as well as scholastic and civic achievements. Entrants must have a "B" or better cumulative grade average and document at least ten hours of volunteer service to a community or charitable organization. The statewide Teenworld competition is coordinated by State Director Carol Connerly at the Teenworld Regional Office, 4550 W. 109 St., #300, Overland, Park, KS 66211, phone 913/341-5588.

The competition is the official state preliminary for the Teenworld National Finals to be held in Atlanta at the Omni International Hotel in December, 1981. Teenworld finalists from all fifty states will compete for $18,000 in cash and scholarship awards; a new automobile for the national winner's reigning year; a $2,000 wardrobe; a $5,000 personal appearance contract; and many other special prizes. Throughout the year, the National Teenworld Scholarship Program will award over $80,000 in scholarships and tuition grants across the nation.

Miss Lori White is sponsored by City Auto Inc. in Floydada by Richard H. Burns.

She is a student at Canyon High School.

Her activities include Student Council, Varsity Tennis Team, chorale, modeling for a Teen Fashion Board in Amarillo.

TWO STUDENTS AND ONE INSTRUCTOR from Floydada attended the 21st Annual Texas Energy Science Symposium at the University of Texas in Austin which ended Friday. Local participants from left to right are: Deon Zumwalt, Sammy Rodriguez and Ronnie Dunaway. The four day symposium is presented by the Texas Atomic Energy Research Foundation (TAERF) and the University. Top science students and teachers were present, including a South Plains delegation of 42 sponsored by Southwestern Public Service Company, a charter member of TAERF.

Weir to attend NBA try-out camp

Bill Weir started basketball official's work at the Jr. High School in 1970. Three years later he moved to the college level where he became a Division I official with the Southwest Basketball Association.

two such officials in the West Texas area.

A past member of the Dallas, Houston, and Commerce chapters, Bill is now serving as the secretary for the Plainview Chapter. He is also known as one of the better officials in Texas.

Bill had always dreamed of officiating basketball not just part time but as a full time career. In December, 1980, he received an invitation to apply to the National Basketball Association to become a professional official. In February, 1981, he received a letter stating the preliminary investigation had been completed and he had been accepted as an applicant.

On May 19, Weir received an invitation to the NBA try-out camp.

He will leave on June 13 and will be in Chicago, Illinois for a week.

Weir will attend Malcom X College where he will study rules, floorwork, critique, assignments, exams, and have games each night.

The following weekend he will return home.

Floydada students receive degrees from Angelo St.

Three Floydada students receive degrees during spring commencement at the University.

Brenda Gay Bartlett received a bachelor of science degree with a major in health and physical education. Thiess Martin Brown received a bachelor of science degree with a major in computer science, and also received the U.S. Air Force ROTC Commission as a 2nd.

Lt. and Kelvin Lewis Ratliff received a bachelor of science degree with a major in health and physical education.

Graduates heard Texas Attorney General Mark White during the ceremonies in the physical education building at ASU.

Regional book on lore out this fall

Floydada edges the Panhandle area richest in supernatural lore, according to Kerrville author Ed Syers, who has spent two years researching the state's fifty major stories of the eerie and inexplicable.

Several regional tales came under consideration for his book, "Ghost Stories of Texas," which Texian Press publishes this fall. The novelist-historian, noted for works on Texas heritage, has written such award winners as Off The Beaten Trail, a comprehensive state guide, Backroads of Texas, and a bicentennial historical novel, The Devil Gun.

The ghost herd of Stampede Mesa, below Lubbock, is featured, as is a macabre tale of a beheaded settler on Presslar's Draw near Spur. Several other stories were close contenders, according to the author.

"The old Will S Ranch below Crosbyton, the Hutto Rance across at Shamrock, and Tulia's ghost horses at Bone Ford were among them," Syers said. "I couldn't develop enough background for solid stories."

The author's research required some 15,000 miles of travel and more than two hundred interviews, all resulting in the state's first collection of supernatural tales. Television's "That's Incredible" already has filmed one of his stories, and another is planned, Syers says.

He hedges on Texas' ghostliest story. "They're too different," he contends. "The Marfa Lights, south in the mountains, are best known. But you'd get argument from Lake Espantosa, centuries old in the brush south of San Antonio. An North Texans would insist on the McDow waterhole, near Stephenville - those whoknow what's happened there."

What's happening today, and a lot is, Syers says, is hard to shrug off.

The ghost hunter admits that his search may not be over. "If more people would reveal their own experiences, we'd be astonished. Fear of ridicule stops most of them."
