Wester receives award

On Wednesday, June 24, 1981, Floydada Postmaster Ed Wester received a service award for 25 years of postal service.

has risen from 86 billion pieces in 1971, to almost 105 billion in 1980.

The Postal Services' productivity gains are almost double private industry for the last 10 years and have made the American postal employee the most productive in the world.

"With dedicated employees like Wester we hope to continue to provide our customers the world's best postal system for years to come," said Bloyd.

The presentation was made by Lubbock's Sectional Center Director of Finance, Donald S. Bloyd. Bloyd made the presentations on behalf of Lubbock MSC Manager/Postmaster Elmer J. Reed, Jr.

In just the last 10 years, while federal and state employees have increased by 23%, the Postal Service has actually reduced employees by 11% or approximately 70,000 positions. These reductions were made while processing more mail than ever before - for it's volume

Mel Tillis will perform at fair

Country singer Mel Tillis will make his sixth appearance at the Panhandle-South Plains Fair October 2, according to fair general manager Steve Lewis.

Tillis, accompanied by his band, The Statesiders, will be on stage for two shows, at 5 p.m. and 8 p.m., Lewis said. The Maines Brothers, popular local favorites, will open his show.

In addition to his singing career, Tillis has made several major films and has written more than 1,000 songs despite a speech problem that has become "just part of the act."

Two of his songs helped propel Kenny Rogers' and Bobby Bare's careers. They were "Ruby (Don't Take Your Love to Town)" and "Detroit City."

The first hit he wrote for himself, "Good Woman Blues", won him the Entertainer of the Year Award from the Academy of Country Music.

Today, he owns a production company, record company, a farm, several houses and connects appointments in his own King Air Beechcraft, flown by a staff pilot.

Tillis owns scores of television credits, including a "Dukes of Hazzard" episode, written especially for him.

Tillis' list of movie credits include "The Cannonball Trophy," "W.W. and the Dixie Dance-Kings", "The Villain" and "Smokey and the Bandit II". Two of the films also have starred Burt Reynolds and another Kirk Douglas.

Tillis' last appearance at the fair was in 1978. Earlier, he had appeared in the Hub City in 1973, 1974, 1975 and 1977.

The Maines Brothers' Band has been a popular mainstay on the Lubbock-area entertainment scene in recent years. In addition to playing club dates, the brothers—Lloyd, Steve, Kenny and Donnie—and other band regulars also star on the West Texas Saturday Night Opry.

Lockney Block Grant approved

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) has approved Lockney's application for a Community Development Block Grant.

HUD approved $357,000 for the first year. An additional $455,000 for the second year is contingent on the successful operation of the Block Grant program the first year.

In addition, HUD asked the city to make a commitment to develop a housing assistance plan.

The city made a commitment to develop 20 units of assisted housing.

Mayor J.D. Copeland said a seven-member Public Housing Authority board of directors will be named in the next few weeks to develop the housing program and administer it.

Barbara Ellis of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper Inc., of Lubbock, an engineering, architectural and planning firm which assisted the city in making the Block Grant application, said the city should be able to begin spending the money in a couple of weeks.

All the Block Grant funds will be spent for projects in the area bounded on the north by the Railroad tracks, on the east by First Street between Locust and Guest Streets, on the south by Locust Street between First and Eighth Streets and on the West by Eighth Street.

First year expenditures call for:

--$166,500 for new sewer lines and a lift station north of Guest Street, and new water lines.

--$73,500 for rehabilitation of 17 housing units.

--$41,000 for replacement of three existing housing units with modular homes.

--$11,000 for the demolition of 20 buildings and lot clearance.

--$35,000 for contingencies.

--$16,500 for general administration.

--$13,500 for code enforcement, including the hiring of a local coordinator to identify substandard housing and working with families on relocation.

The City Council will adopt policies and guidelines for the Block Grant program. The Council will name a three member neighborhood improvement committee at its meeting next Tuesday to administer the program and work with the coordinator.

Although the Block Grant program is set up for a two year period, it is expected to take three or four years to complete the work.

HELPED MOTHERS--
"HOPE" FOR DUAL-SUCCESS

Employed mothers, those "hope" for success of your "jobs" at work. Home research is finding differences between children of employed mothers and those who remain at home. However, research shows that employed mothers and worry can affect children. Guilt and about working outside the home tends to interfere with time mother spend together less. The research indicates some suggestions for parenting skills for mothers who work outside the home:

Choose what is most important. You are managing jobs, so realize you are not able to do everything. Don't increase stress by trying to feel guilty about things you cannot do. Set your limitations and let your family to accept the care of yourself. A sense of well-being is important. When you are frazzled, go to a place to relax. Schedule a regular night a week for yourself.

Share work and parent-child time. Talk to your child about his job. Invite him to work at work, and help him get to know your boss. Perhaps most important, look for ways your child can help you in your job. He learns about your job by participating in your work. He is preparing for his working years.

Share findings say research findings say something about working outside the home. An employed mother is part of a large family. A large family number, report. Almost half of the children in the United States are employed full-time outside the home. What the studies about the children of employed mothers:

Employment is not likely if a mother's full-time employment is not likely to be child. There are few, if any, differences between children of mothers who work outside the home full-time. There is virtually no difference in school achievement between children of mothers who work outside the home full-time.

Attachment Children of mothers who work outside the home have personal attachment to their mothers as do children of mothers who remain at home.

Profane and vain Children of mothers who work outside the home have profane and vain attitudes.

Creates disharmony Children of mothers who work outside the home create disharmony in the soul.

item on your menu. Low-calorie greens provide vitamins A and C and fiber.

Use a few buying, storage and fixin' basics, and you can serve your greens with that touch of culinary expertise so traditional in grand Southern cooking.

Here they are:
Look for crisp, clean leaves that are fresh, young, tender, crisp and which have a good healthy green color. Avoid leaves with coarse, fibrous stems, yellowish-green color, softness or decay or a wilted condition. Look for evidence of insects -- they're hard to see and equally hard to wash away. Buy about 1 to 1½ pounds for four servings.

Greens will keep in the refrigerator crisper or a plastic bag for three to five days. Or, to freeze, use young, tender leaves. Wash and remove tough stems or imperfect leaves. Cut leaves into pieces as desired. Heat in boiling water two minutes -- all greens except spinach which needs only 1½ minutes. Cool, drain, package and freeze immediately in moisture, vapor-resistant packaging.

GREENS SOUTHERN STYLE -- Simmer bacon or salt pork in a small amount of water, then slowly simmer the greens in that "pot liquor" for 15-20 minutes. Use a pan with a tight-fitting lid. Serve with vinegar, green onions and hot cornbread for a great Southern treat.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

ZULEMA PEREZ, CARLOS GONZALEZ

Perez, Gonzalez plan to exchange vows July 18

Mrs. Viola L. Perez, of Rio Grande, Texas, announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter Zulema to Carlos Gonzalez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Adalberto Gonzalez Sr. of Orange Grove, Texas. Zulema is the granddaughter of the late Margarito Perez and Mrs. Julia Perez of Lockney.

The prospective groom attended Texas A&I University and graduated in 1978 with a Bachelor of Arts and Sciences Degree in Physical Education and Health. He is currently employed by the Mathis ISD as a teacher and Junior High head coach.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Rio Grande City and graduated Cum Laude from Texas A&I University, Kingsville, with a Bachelor of Science in Speech, Hearing, Language Therapy.

Currently she is employed by the Orange Grove ISD as a Speech Pathologist.

The couple will exchange nuptial vows on July 18, 1981 at the Immaculate Conception Church in Rio Grande City.

Organize Your Sewing

Before you start sewing spring-fashion items, take inventory of the fabric, notions, patterns and tools on hand. Your savings as a result can be considerable in terms of storage space, money and time.

Here are some possible reasons: You may be a collector of fabric and have various yardages from years back. You may have bought thread on sale only to discover that you already had 15 spools of white thread or six spools of a color you don't even like. We all make mistakes in purchases. Get rid of these! They are confusing, and they take up valuable space. Give these items to someone, or garage-sale them -- since one person's "junk" may be someone else's "treasure."

Set up files of everything to assist you in the inventory. One idea is a metal file box (such as a recipe file) from an office-supply store and 3x5-inch file cards.

Texas DPS promotes safety campaign

The Texas Department of Public Safety will be conducting "Operation Motorcade" for this 1981 Fourth of July. The weekend death count will begin at 6 p.m. July 3 and end at midnight July 5.

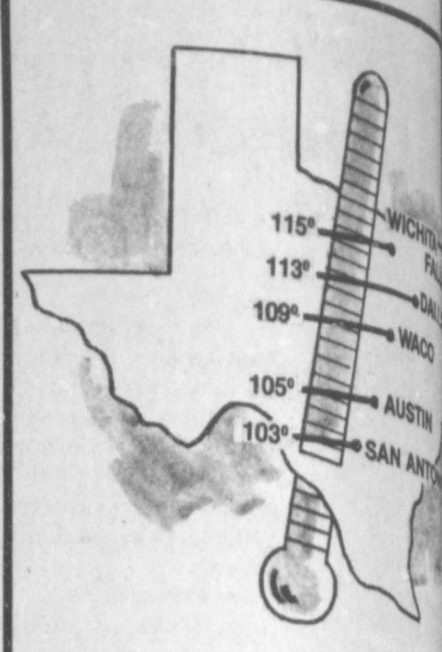

Major C.W. Bell, Regional Commander of the Department of Public Safety, said, "During the 54-hour 'Operation Motorcade' period all available troopers will be on the highways. The troopers will be especially aware of drinking drivers and violators of the speed laws. All drivers should be aware of their condition and the condition of their vehicles. If you are planning a trip, you should know your routes and what exits you will need to take. Sudden movements or lane changes can cause accidents and might possibly cost you your life."

The Texas Department of Public Safety challenges each driver to drive defensively and help make this the safest holiday on record.

Cheerleaders receive top recognition

The Floydada Varsity cheerleaders recently returned from a National Cheerleaders Association summer workshop where they received top recognition as the most spirited squad at the camp. The workshop was held at Big Springs and attracted over 27 squads from a five-state area.

The coveted "Spirit Award" was presented to the cheerleaders on behalf of The National Cheerleaders Association at each of the over 250 NCA workshops held across the United States. The Floydada cheerleaders were selected for this award over all the cheerleaders at the workshop on the basis of their cheerleading technique, unity, friendliness, cooperation, leadership and sportsmanship to the other squads attending.

The presentation of the National Cheerleaders Association "Spirit Award" came at the completion of a full workshop of training on cheerleading techniques, cheers, chants, jumps, partner stunts and pep rallies; as well as leadership seminars on sportsmanship, crowd participation, responsibilities, organization and dedication. The National Cheerleaders Association has been conducting summer workshops for over 30 years, teaching nearly 100,000 students each year on the art of cheerleading.

The Floydada Cheerleaders were one of the five squads nominated for the Award of Excellence and received three blue ribbons during the evaluation held each night. They also received a spirit stick the last day and got to bring it home.

The Floydada High School Cheerleaders for the upcoming year are Susan Turner (Senior and Head Cheerleader), Kelli Ferguson (Senior), Esmeralda Gonzalez (Senior), Mysti Younger (Junior), Nina Campbell (Junior), and Daina Hannah (Junior). Their sponsor is Janet Milam. Though the school year has not yet begun, the cheerleaders along with Miss Milam have already put in many long hours of work; work which has already paid off for them in the form of the many awards and honors which they brought home from the N.C.A. Cheerleading Camp.

Miss Milam was unable to attend the camp with the girls this year so Barbara Cocanougher went as the Floydada sponsor.

"It was her impression that these girls deserve not only the honors given to them at the camp," said Mrs. Cocanougher, "but also praise from all Whirlwind supporters."

"Cheerleading is not an easy thing to do but these girls have really dedicated themselves to be the best they can be. They are certainly the kind of cheerleaders you would want to lead your teams toward doing their best," said Mrs. Cocanougher.

The fate that befell Humpty Dumpty is hurting egg producers according to the U. S. D. A., which reports although the average U. S. laying hen produced a record 243 eggs last year, that total could have been as high as 260 per hen, had the shells been just a fraction sturdier. Not only a direct cash loss to the producer, shell breaks also cause additional problems in terms of appearance, for example. One broken egg in a carton can soil the others, classifying the entire contents as "dirties". Shells too fragile for mechanized gathering systems result in a 7 percent loss even before they leave the hen house, according to some estimates. Studies completed in 1970 indicated that up to 11.8 percent of eggs were cracked or smashed between nest and carton. Research continues for a solution which will toughen up shells while not causing any reduction in the quality of the egg itself.

Editorial

BY PATRICK CLARK

Probably shouldn't have come as any surprise that the United States Supreme Court ruled women should not be included in a military draft if one is a woman.

One wonders how the United States Supreme Court can in one breath say women should be treated equally in matters such as jobs and then in the next breath say they should be exempted from such a major responsibility as military service.

The court in essence said that it was okay to discriminate against women by conscripting them for military service.

The court essentially made women more equal than men with its ruling. It will prove especially true among the age group just entering the job market.

An employer is going to hire a young man facing a draft when he can hire a woman who is exempt from service.

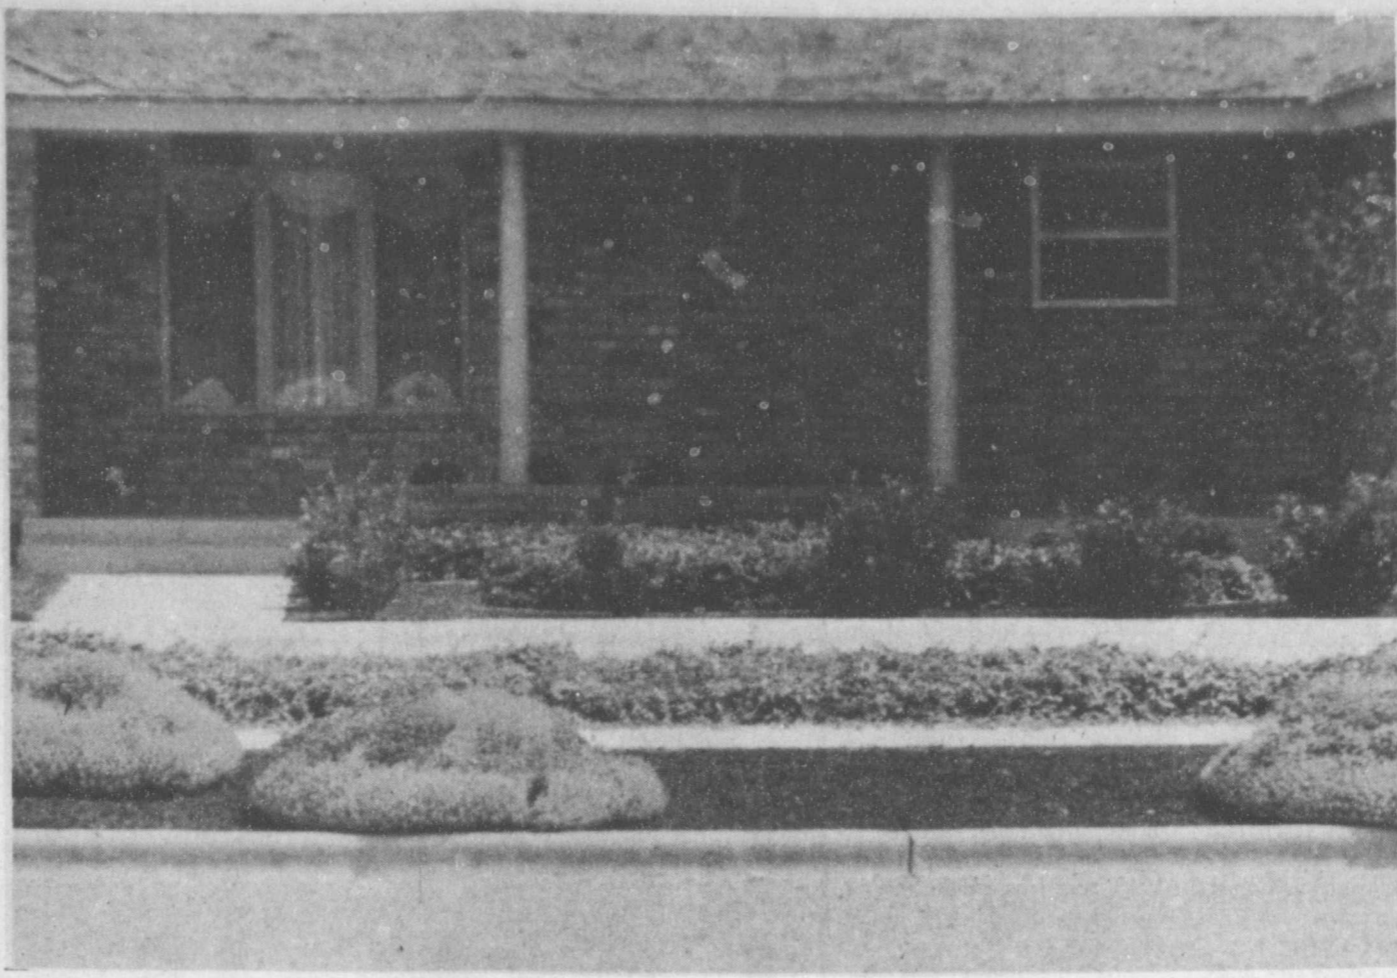

It is the ruling's obvious unfairness to men, it certainly did no favor for women's movement.

Some opponents of the Equal Rights Amendment who have claimed that women only wanted to be equal when it was to their advantage will point to this as proof of their argument.

The high court has done wonders for the "Let's keep 'em barefoot and pregnant" segment, Phyllis Schlafly, et al.

The draft is re-instated, it'll be interesting to hear someone explain to a young man who has just received his greetings from the President and had his draft disrupted why it is that a young woman who is supposedly his equal in every way is unequal when it comes to military responsibility.

One wonders if we are approaching the point that we need an equal rights amendment for men to overcome the discrimination wrought by the United States Supreme Court.

Perspectives

The Fourth of July will be upon us in the next couple of days. There will probably be all the usual festivities in most places, parades, speeches, fireworks, and the like.

This is usually a time of patriotic outpouring, when we say all kinds of things designed to stir our feelings for our country. I expect with the current mood of our country; with President Reagan at the helm, and the hostage crisis resolved in our favor, that this Fourth may be one of the biggest that we have seen since the Bicentennial.

It is important for us to remember our history, and that is why we celebrate our Independence. We should, however make sure that what we remember that our history does not conflict with the way that we live our lives today.

If the people that formed this nation and fought for it did so for a reason, we should not contradict those reasons.

Economics were at the forefront of the rebellion against the mother country. People were tired of being taxed to death and not having anything to say about it.

Religion was also a part of the rebellion. Many of the people who settled this nation came here because they did not want the King telling them which religion they had to adhere to.

There was a real concern for the freedom of the individual, and it was that principle which caused the war between the states, as well as the women's suffrage movement and the civil rights cause. When we come to celebrate Independence day we need to be careful about denying anyone their proper freedoms.

More importantly to me, we need to be bringing people to an understanding of what real freedom is, the kind that Jesus offered. And with that understanding of freedom, we need an understanding of the responsibilities that go with any kind of freedom.

Freedom never means we can do anything we want. The founding fathers understood that, and undertook to build a responsible society.

On this July 4th, let us work for the same things.

It's Not Easy

Carol Lea Clark's

I particularly liked July. I know it is supposed to be a sun and fun month, but I don't like July when the temperatures are in the 100's, and the humidity is unbearable. I like the month of my birthday, but I don't like it when it is so hot.

My parents predetermined that I would not like July when they were in the Carol, which means Christmas. I was born on the first day of the year, in the month of July.

I dislike the month because of the heat. The humidity is unbearable. I don't like the world as it is in the month of an East Texas summer. I don't like the best air conditioning. It makes much difference in the humidity, and just made a lot of difference.

gets too cold in the winter. For July, I'll find an identical cottage somewhere in the South American sunbelt where it never varies from the 70's in July, even though it's winter. I'll buy two matching boats and have one delivered to each location. Never again would I have to be too hot or too cold.

It would be perfect as long as I could stand being a little bored.

Lubbock selected for conference

Texas delegates to the national White House Conference on Aging have selected Lubbock as one of five regional sites for a series of open forums on aging they will conduct in June and July.

The forums will assist the Texas delegates in preparing for the Washington conference (Nov. 30-Dec. 4), an event held every 10 years to mold U.S. policies on aging issues.

The Lubbock forum will be held July 9, beginning at 9:30 a.m., at Lubbock Christian College. Serving as coordinators for the meeting are Dr. Gail House and Gayle McComb of Lubbock, two of the 76 delegates who will represent Texas at the national conference.

Citizens with special concerns about older Texans, especially those residing in the Panhandle, South Plains, and North Texas region, are invited to participate in the Lubbock meeting, according to Mrs. Chris Kyker, Texas conference coordinator.

Recommendations for resolving some of the major problems facing the state's elderly, as proposed at the recent State White House Conference on Aging, will be reviewed and validated at the regional forum.

From these recommendations, specific action plans will be developed for meeting priority needs of older Texans, at local, state and national levels.

My Savage World

The walls in my daughter's room are held up with cellophane tape and paper. If she ever takes the posters and pictures down, the room will collapse.

The walls are completely covered with all her favorite TV stars: B.J. and Bear; the Dastardly Duke Dynasty, Bo, Luke, and Daisy; Albert and Jonathan (who, incidentally, are real brothers) of "Little House on the Prairie;" Mork and Mindy, and, of course, little Arnold of "Different Strokes."

Scattered among all of these famous people are cats. There are black cats with green eyes, white cats with blue eyes, and yellow cats with yellow eyes. There is a sprinkling of rabbits, monkeys, polar bears, puppies, and pigs.

The ceiling even has a picture of a sunset. No wonder she never wants to get up in the mornings, she thinks it's time to go to bed.

If I weren't afraid the ceiling would fall, I would exchange the sunset for a sunrise and maybe a picture of a rooster. Knowing my luck, the rooster would probably crow and wake me at dawn and she would sleep right through it.

Somewhere between all those pictures are some windows and a door. She complains about the room being so hot.

I can understand that. She hasn't been able to find the windows for two years.

Sometimes when she has stayed in there a long time, I wonder if she can find the door.

But I'm sure she hasn't lost the record player. I think kids become deaf as soon as they become teenagers because none of them can hear a note of "music" unless it is turned up very loud. They also can't hear their mothers when they tell them to turn down the noise.

I knocked on the door to tell her to turn the volume down. I heard a crunching sound. The caulk smell of sheet rock was coming underneath the door on little wisps of white vapor.

I knew it. The walls were falling down.

"Mother, help! I was trying to move B.J. over so I could have room for a new Bear and the whole room is falling."

I carefully opened the door and handed my teenage daughter a roll of cellophane tape.

Social Security News

BY VIRGINIA DEWITT

In the continuing debate of reduced government spending versus adequate income levels for the truly needy the subject of misspent taxpayer dollars often arises. The Social Security Administration is very concerned about misspent taxpayer dollars. The Social Security Administration pays assistance checks through the Supplemental Security Income (SSI) program for the aged, blind and disabled. The SSI program is based on a person's income and resources. If there is a change in a person's income or resources, the chance of that person receiving the correct amount is not good.

Each person who receives a Supplemental Security Income check is provided with a list of events which need to be reported to the Social Security Administration.

Some examples of events which need to be reported are a change in a check a person has been regularly receiving, a gift such as a car or a piece of furniture, a change of address, or a change in the composition of the household.

The best and easiest way to report these changes is by telephone. An adjustment in the amount of the check can be processed quickly thus avoiding misspent taxpayer dollars and if the change causes an overpayment the amount the person needs to repay will be smaller. A smaller overpayment will mean the truly needy will have adequate income to meet their needs and also the Social Security Administration can avoid misspent taxpayer dollars. Since we review everyone's eligibility periodically, a prompt report of a change in circumstances will avoid the hardship of repaying a larger overpayment.

To report changes that might affect the Supplemental Security Income check, please call 293-4371 or stop by our office at 1401-B West 5th Street, Plainview.

If you have social security or medicare questions you may call our toll-free number for more information. The number is 1-800-392-1603. Teleservice will save you time, energy and money!

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Postal Service issued its first orders to use the voluntary but still controversial ZIP code.

The service gave assurances that the "ZIP plus 4" is "completely accurate" and hopes that mailers will address their practices on a "case-by-case" basis to their needs to use it over the next several years.

The use, particularly by mailers, will enable mail processing to become more efficient and economical and hold down the frequency of future rate increases, it added.

LOCKNEY

In a Buy-and-Sell Agreement involving life insurance purchased on the lives of partners or stockholders to fund an agreement to purchase that portion of the business, are the proceeds taxable as included in the insured's estate?

If proceeds of the agreement policy are not payable to the insured's estate, and the insured has no incidents of ownership in the policies or his life, the proceeds are not includable in the gross estate and, therefore, not taxable. The value of his partnership interest or the corporate stock which he holds is includable in his estate, however, and is subject to Federal estate taxes. Incidents of ownership would be precluded by a provision in the agreement prohibiting the insured from surrendering or borrowing on the policy or changing the beneficiary.

Motley gets grant

In early June the Motley County Library Board received word from the Texas State Library that their application for an Establishment Grant had been accepted. The County Commissioners signed a contract with the Texas State Library at their meeting on June 8, and soon the Board will receive funds to purchase books, furniture and equipment.

The Grant will total $16,300 and is to be spent within a one-year period. The Board plans, however, to have most of the money spent by the time the library opens its doors to the public this fall. The grant money will allow the library to get off to an excellent start with new shelving, a new card catalog, $7,500 of new or almost new books, among other things. Board Chairman Darla Gwinn and the rest of the Board are to be congratulated on making successful application for this well-deserved grant money.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank each and every one of our friends, neighbors and relatives who helped to make our 50th Wedding Anniversary such a memorable occasion. Your remembrances - your calls, cards, flowers and gifts have been so greatly appreciated and have collectively created an unforgettable experience. After all the kindnesses that have been shown us during this time of rejoicing and observation with our children, we are reminded of some of the reasons why we selected this community with such wonderful people to make our home. Thanks again for memories we will treasure throughout our lifetime. Grady & Lorena Dunavant

IF YOU SEEK FOR HAPPINESS, YOU WON'T FIND IT

The world is filled with bored people. They live boring, meaningless, purposeless, visionless lives. They are part of the great rat race...going through the motions of living. They exist, but they have never really begun to live. Vast multitudes of people are disillusioned, confused and frustrated with living because they have concentrated all their efforts in the relentless pursuit of happiness. Happiness, alone, is an illusive dream.

Happiness is a serendipity. Serendipity has to do with the happy faculty of finding something you were not looking for. Strive for happiness and you won't find it. On the other hand, look for ways to make someone else happy, and happiness will inevitably come to you. Seek to build your character, and your happiness will take care of itself.

Happiness is not to be found in the excesses and indulgencies of this humanistic world. You won't find happiness in a bottle, a needle, the theatre, the big-time sporting event, or in the bulging bank account.

Real happiness is only to be found in knowing Jesus Christ...and in being properly related to His Body through Christian service!

Clara Barton founded American Red Cross

THE AMERICAN RED CROSS
The Red Cross is celebrating its 100th birthday. This is the first of four articles written by S.W.

Clara Barton (1821-1912) one of the most famous Americans has produced, founded the United States Red Cross Society. She had devoted her life to humanitarian work and became deeply interested in the work of the American Red Cross during the War of Secession. It was due to her efforts that the Bureau of Records, to assist in the search for missing soldiers, was organized.

Miss Barton went to Switzerland, where she came to know the Geneva Convention. Encouraged by them and inspired by the work of the Swiss Red Cross during the Franco-German War, in which she was a nurse, she returned to America in 1873 and began at once to organize a national organization of Red Cross Societies. She became its first president and held the position until 1904.

The American Association of the Red Cross was first organized in 1881. It was incorporated as a District of Columbia Corporation in 1881. It was incorporated as the American Red Cross in 1893, and was given charters by the Congress in 1900 and 1905.

The Charter and its amendments provide for close relations between the Federal government and the Red Cross, which, with Miss Barton at its head, has been largely to disaster relief for the first twenty years of its life.

Center gets relief from hot weather

J.E. GREEN

Hot and cloudy this week. I think we are in for a hot summer. Sunday has gone by and the church was well attended. There were some absentees.

Recently sick in the Lockney hospital. Mrs. Sally Carpenter, Mrs. Vera Meredith, and others were praying for their recovery.

Mrs. Frizzell made a trip to Wichita Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. J.I. Jackson of Quanah, Friday, visited with his mother Mrs. Ava Jackson. They were on their way to Ruidoso.

Mrs. Anthony Latta visited Mrs. Green awhile one p.m. Friday nite Green's granddaughter and husband, Sarah, and Doug Chandler, of Hubbard came by. Early Saturday they went on to Lubbock.

Mrs. Leo Frizzell dined Sunday with Mrs. Ethel Warren.

organizations throughout the enlightened parts of the world, originally rendered aid to sick and wounded soldiers on battlefields and military hospitals in time of war. Their mission was to supplement with their trained physicians and nurses the work of the regular military organization.

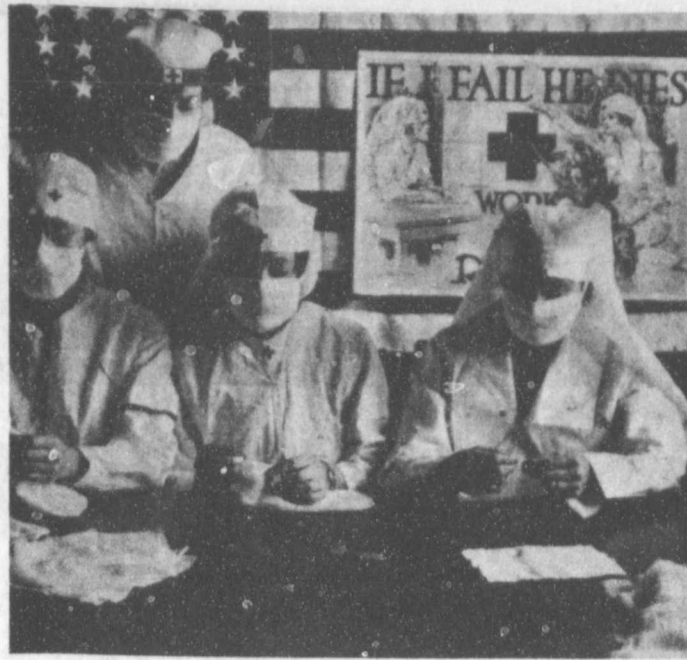

The movement to prevent needless suffering in war had become so popular a part of the world's work that 43 countries bound themselves by treaty to respect the Red Cross and to preserve its absolute neutrality when in service.

The Red Cross makes no distinction as to nationality, race, religious beliefs, class, or political opinions. It endeavors only to relieve suffering and gives priority to the most urgent cases of distress. The Red Cross is neutral in all matters. The Red Cross is independent in order to be able at all times to act in accordance with Red Cross principles. The Red Cross is a voluntary relief organization. There can be only one Red Cross Society in any one Country. It must carry on its humanitarian work through its territory. The Red Cross is a world wide institution in which all Societies have equal responsibilities and duties in helping each other. Every dollar given to the Red Cross must be accounted for to officials of the government.

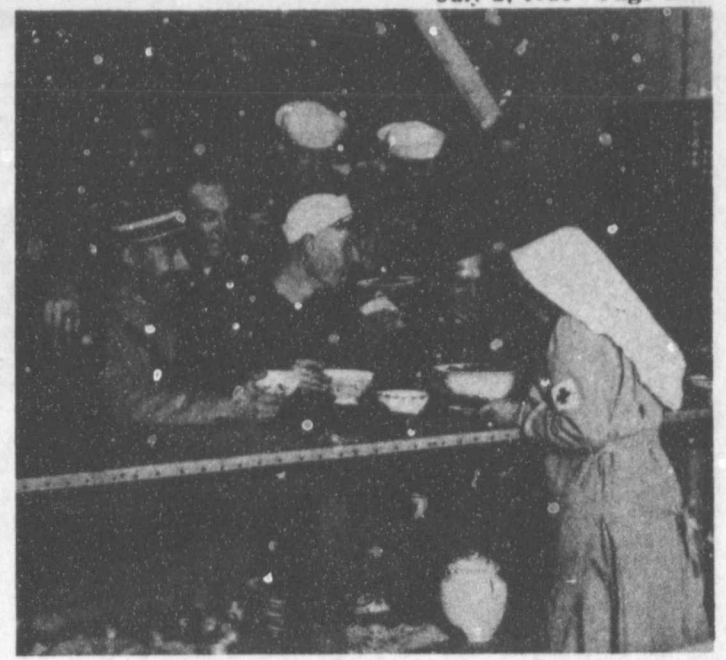

The President of the United States is the honorary President of the Red Cross Society; but the detailed operations is in the hands of officers of a Committee, whose chairman is named by the President.

In 1913, Congress voted $400,000.00 toward the erection of a National Red Cross building in the City of Washington, conditioned on the raising of an additional $300,000.00 by the Society. This task was easily accomplished.

Next week: Depression Years and World War II.

DURING WORLD WAR I, American Red Cross volunteers made warm garments and medical supplies for the troops up front. Here, in Butte, Montana, the workers made face masks.

Wayland appoints Miller assistant cage coach

Sally Miller, a teacher-coach in area public schools for the past seven years, has been named assistant women's basketball coach at Wayland Baptist University. Dr. David Jester, president, announced.

Miller, a 1973 Wayland graduate, is the first full-time assistant ever in the Wayland women's program. She will also serve as a lecturer in the Division of Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

"I'm tickled to death to have Sally on the staff," said Cathy Wilson, third year head coach of Wayland's Flying Queens. "She is a close personal friend, has an excellent rapport with kids, and I think she'll do a super job for us."

A native of Panhandle, Miller has been in the Petersburg school system for the past year after a six-year stay in Floydada. In addition to teaching elementary physical education at Petersburg, she also was basketball coach for seventh through ninth grades, junior high and high school tennis coach, and varsity volleyball coach. She also served as sponsor of the Petersburg High School senior class.

At Floydada, Miller was varsity basketball and track coach for three seasons, compiling an overall 51-31 cage record and taking the Whirlwinds to the bidistrict championship in 1974. She was a world history and physical education teacher her last three years at Floydada High, and coached ninth grade basketball two years as well.

A four-year letterman in basketball, tennis and track at Panhandle High School, Miller played two years for the Wayland Queen Bees and was student trainer for the Flying Queens for two years. She was also a member of the Wayland track team one year, was active in Theta Alpha Psi sorority and the Student Government Association.

Holder of the bachelor of arts degree with a major in physical education and a minor in history, Miller is a member of Petersburg's First Baptist Church.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Miller of Panhandle.

Official figures just released by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service (TCLRS) show 1980 cotton production in the 25 High Plains counties represented by Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, at 2,017,300 bales of 480 pounds net weight.

The 1980 crop-year yield was 733,300 bales below the 2,750,600 bales produced in 1977 and almost 1.2 million below the all-time record of 3,215,400 grown in 1977.

Planted acreage according to TCLRS was 4,523,900, almost equaling the previous high of 4,565,000 seeded in 1979. But after about 12.5 percent of the crop was lost to drought and other adverse weather, only 3,959,900 acres were harvested in 1980. Yield per harvested acre came to 244.5 pounds in 1980, the lowest yield per harvested acre since the 199.9 pounds harvested in 1952 and well below the average of 356.3 pounds per acre for the ten-year period 1970 through 1979. The highest average per-acre yield ever achieved on the Plains was 513.2 pounds, recorded in 1965.

Hale County's 243,000 bales led the area in production. The second, third and fourth places were taken by Lubbock (213,200), Lamb (184,200) and Floyd (173,800). Per-acre yield leaders in 1980 were Parmer County (450 pounds), Hale (430), Castro (414) and Lamb (394).

The chart above shows planted and harvested acres, yield per harvested acre and total production in 480-pound net weight bales for each of the 25 PCG counties.

Public hearing to be held by the TAHC in Lubbock Monday

A public hearing and meeting of the Texas Animal Health Commission will be held in Lubbock, Monday at 10 a.m. in the Bronze Room of the South Park Inn, John Armstrong, Kingsville, chairman, Texas Animal Health Commission, said today.

"The hearing is the first in a series to be held throughout Texas in the A and B Control Areas of the Texas brucellosis control program," Armstrong said. At present, there are 134 counties in the Class A control area and 120 counties in the Class B control area.

"These public hearings will be held to address the progress of the program for the preceding quarter as well as receiving recommendations regarding overly burdensome regulations published in the Texas Register, and recommendations to and complaints of the program to the Texas Animal Health Commission," Armstrong said.

Other topics for discussion during the meeting include poultry regulations, 1982 budget, report on the USAHA brucellosis committee meeting in Denver, Colorado, quarantine feedlot requirements pertaining to bonded Mexican heifers and amendments to the Texas brucellosis regulations.

Floydada Livestock Sales joins cattlemen's voluntary program

The Floydada Livestock Sales Inc. of Floydada, has joined the statewide cattlemen's voluntary program to finance more aggressive beef promotion, said Don McCandless owner.

Beginning July 1, the Texas cattle industry will implement the voluntary 25-cent-per head beef promotion investment program.

Don said that under this new system, 25 cents will be collected on cattle and calves sold through participating markets, packers and order buyers. The funds will be remitted entirely to the Beef Industry Council of the National

Live Stock and Meat Board for use in national programs of research, education and promotion.

"We are very pleased to assist producers by contributing this personal service in strengthening the cattle industry," the local market owner said.

The investment plan was endorsed recently by five Texas livestock organizations: The Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, Texas Cattle Feeders Association, Texas Farm Bureau, the Independent Cattlemen's Association and the Livestock Marketing Association of Texas.

HARVESTING CORN

Sweet corn is a common item in most American home gardens. It provides a delightful addition to everyday meals, and in season the roasting ears are enjoyed for picnics and cookouts. Since the days of the Pilgrims, corn-on-the-cob has been a popular American favorite. Sweet corn - either fresh, frozen or canned - may be served as a separate dish or used in succotash (an American Indian dish), custards, puddings, fritters, souffles, and stuffed peppers, or added to soups and chowders. Sweet corn may also be used in relishes and mixed pickles.

Most gardeners will regard sweet corn as an essential item in their garden and take great pride in the good nutrition and eating pleasure it affords.

Sweet corn should be harvested when the kernels are in the milk stage. At this stage the silks are brown and dry beyond the end of the husks and the ear has enlarged enough to fill the husks tightly to the tip. The kernels are about as large as they will become, but they are still soft, tender and filled with an opaque milky juice.

With some experience the optimum maturity for harvest can be recognized by sight and feel. The husks should never be disturbed to peek at the corn as this will permit insects and birds to invade the ear.

Another way to estimate harvest time is to note the date of silk emergence on the earliest plants in a row, then harvest those ears 17 to 24 days later. The number of days from silk emergence to prime harvest will vary according to weather conditions. If days and nights are exceptionally warm, prime maturity may be reached 17 or 18 days after silking. If cooler weather prevails during this period, it may require 22 to 24 days.

After picking, sweet corn can usually be stored in a cool place for a few days. For best quality, it should be picked early in the morning and refrigerated immediately. It is prepared for serving by boiling for 15 to 20 minutes (degrees F) for 2 to 3 minutes. Moderate reduction in cooking time is recommended.

To harvest corn, bend the ear as close to the stalk as possible without breaking the stem. Grasp the ear with one hand, base and bend it sharply to one side with a sharp wrist. The inexperienced user should use both hands; hold the ear with one hand and use the other to pull it off. With practice and the ears of most varieties can be pulled off with one hand.

Many of the modern optimum fertility and plant. The top ear will be one, and it will reach the day or so ahead of the rest. Under such conditions should yield 120 bushels per acre. Farmers face irrigation decisions

LUBBOCK—It's decision time again for High Plains cotton farmers who irrigate their crop: When should they begin watering?

The stage of growth of the plant is one key to its water needs, said Dr. James R. Supak, area cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The accompanying chart illustrates the approximate rate of water use during various growth stages of the cotton plant, he said.

"Generally, the crop uses less than 0.1 inches a day until the first or second week of squaring," the cotton specialist said. "After that, the demand for water increases rapidly and can easily reach 0.4 inches or more a day at peak bloom."

Adequate soil moisture during the heavy fruiting period from mid-July to early August is essential for good production, Supak emphasized. Moisture stress during this period will reduce both fiber quality and yield, he cautioned.

Numerous research studies on the number and timing of summer irrigations have been conducted by agronomists with the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station and USDA-ARS at Lubbock. Generally, these studies show that a preplant (4 to 6 acre-inches) plus one or two summer irrigations (4 acre-inches per irrigation) are adequate to produce profitable yields, the Extension specialist said.

The optimum timing of summer irrigations is a rather complex matter, Supak noted. "Generally, irrigations before first bloom is not recommended as high moisture levels prior to this growth stage tend to encourage vegetative growth and delay maturity." The initiation of irrigation is usually determined by such factors as availability of irrigation water, the water needs of other crops being grown and weather conditions, he said.

As a general guide, he suggested that a single summer irrigation be timed to coincide with bloom initiation. Early maturing determinate varieties frequently need to be watered before bloom to avoid premature "cutout." On the other hand, irrigation timing of the later maturing, indeterminate varieties appears to be less critical and can frequently be delayed until one to three weeks after first bloom.

"Again, keep in mind that these are generalizations that can be modified by weather and other factors," Supak said. Many farmers with limited water often plant a portion of their cotton acreage for an early maturing variety and the remainder to a late variety. Irrigation is initiated in the early variety (as early as the 1/3 to 1/2 grown square stage) and continues across later maturing cotton. In this manner, both varieties receive water at or near the growth stage where it can be efficiently utilized in fiber and seed production.

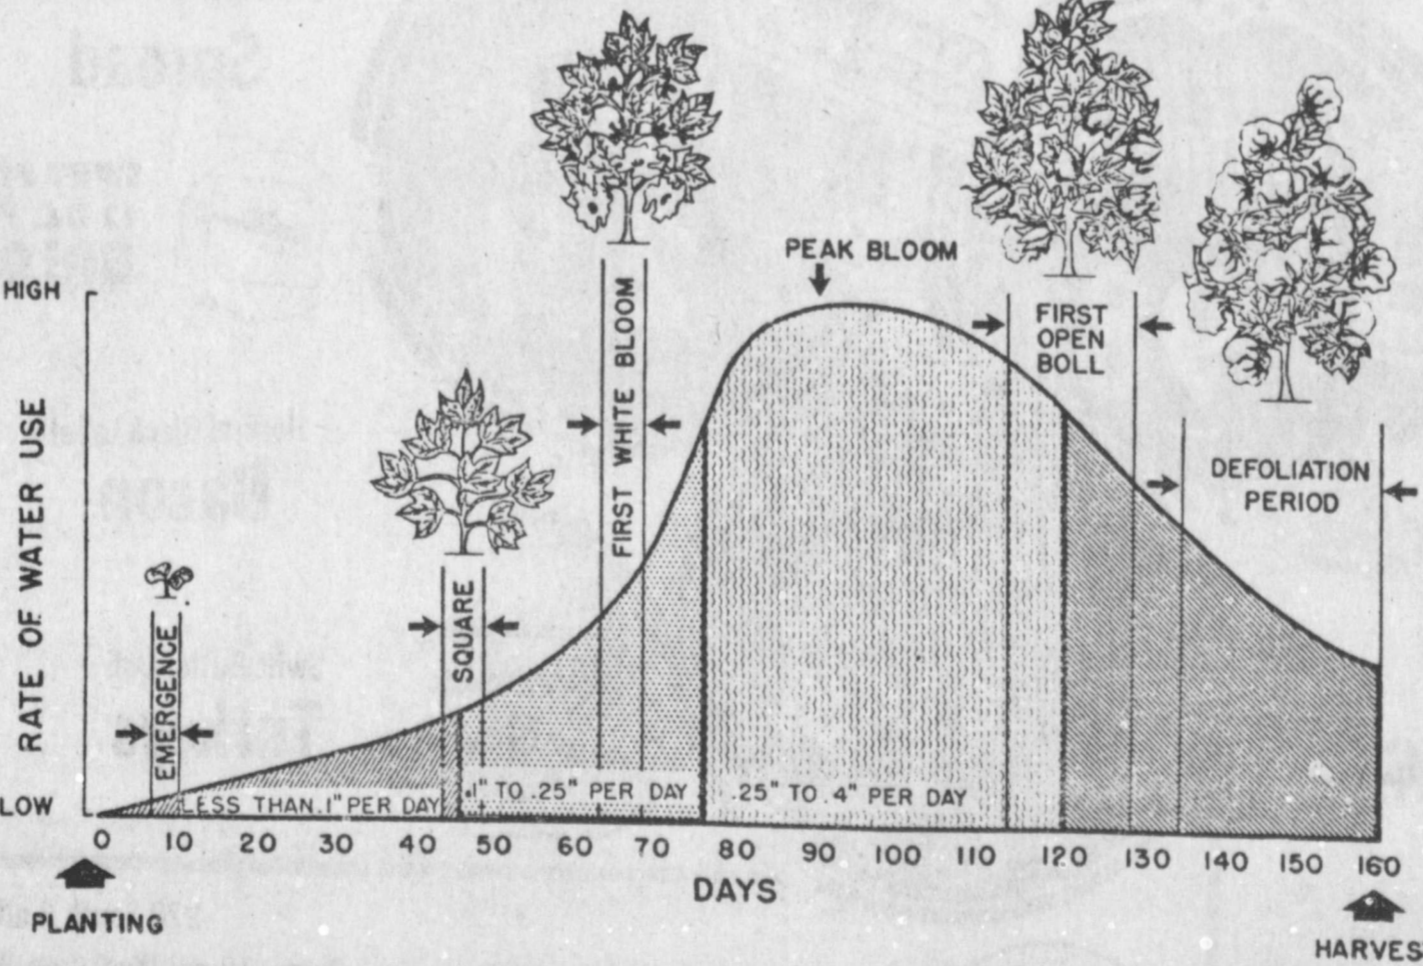

"Where two summer irrigations can be applied, the recommendation is to apply the first at bloom initiation and the second two to four weeks later, as determined by water availability and rainfall. The last irrigation should be applied before mid-August," Supak said.

The need for a second summer irrigation is often questionable, especially in the northern counties of the South Plains, the cotton agronomist said. "Granted, in hot, dry years such as 1980, that second irrigation can pay great dividends. Under more typical conditions, however, the September rains and resulting cooler temperatures tend to negate much of the benefit from a second irrigation." In the "bad" years, the extra watering can contribute to excessive growth, delayed maturity and ultimately reduced yields and fiber quality, Supak warned.

Alternate furrow irrigation is a practice that helps achieve timeliness and efficiency of irrigation, the Extension specialist said. This method is effective in early (pre-bloom) irrigation where soil moisture reserves are only partially depleted. It also leaves a dry furrow that can be diked to help conserve rainfall, he added.

Sprinkler systems allow timely application of irrigation water and many have higher application efficiencies than furrow systems. There is a tendency, especially with the center pivot system, to initiate early irrigation. Frequently, sprinkler systems are started at the first sign of mid-afternoon wilt with little or no consideration of the overall soil moisture situation or stage of growth.

Light, frequent irrigations early in the season tend to reduce root development and enhance vegetative growth. Consequently, during the peak water use period the crop may become stressed and shed fruit because the irrigation system can't meet the moisture demand and the plant roots aren't sufficiently developed to utilize all available soil moisture, Supak said.
