Mackenzie water now a reality

By TERRY WILLSON

Lockney, Tulia and Silverton water via the Mackenzie project which received approval of $100 million in government loans on Tuesday.

Authority Board president Lon Floydada, made the official announcement Tuesday that Senator [Name] had notified him of the Home Administration loan program at 5 percent interest for 30 years.

Davis said, "This is the culmination of a project that began in 1962. A project that has gone through three different bond issues with a certain degree of failure. We have met success now and we feel that we are indeed fortunate to have these two agencies underwrite our project."

The Texas Development of Water Resources Board also granted the Mackenzie project $7,368,000 for the purchase of bonds at a rate of 5.6 percent for 30 years.

Mackenzie officials said $11,326,000 will be spent on the transmission phase of the project which will take water from the reservoir to a million gallon tank at Rock Creek.

Neil Taylor, manager of the water project, said $3,405,000 will be spent on the supply phase of project which will take raw water and treat it at the plant with the use of 24 inch pipes that run from Rock Creek to the reservoir for approximately seven miles.

Taylor said engineers have started preliminary planning and design and estimate 30 months until completion. The firm of Freese and Nichols, Fort Worth, will be in charge of the lay-out.

Taylor said, "Freese and Nichols are the best engineers in the state for this type of project. They have done engineering for water projects for some of the biggest cities in Texas."

Davis said the water board will accept bids in March 1982.

The water project has not been easy to obtain. Inflation and rising cost have been critical in moving ahead with the water pipe lines.

Silverton, the closest city to the reservoir, already is out of water. In May, the city council approved funds to drill five new water wells on the townsection in an effort to provide enough water until the treatment plant and transmission lines are in operation.

O.T. Owen Thornton, vice president of the water authority, said, "These loans are our last hope, we have no contingency plan and no other place to go."

The four million gallon per day treatment plant is tentatively scheduled for construction at the base of the dam to utilize workers at both facilities.

The Mackenzie reservoir was completed in 1974, but there has not been a tremendous amount of runoff collected since that date.

Chamber wants industry Members will prepare industrial prospectus

Floydada civic leaders met to discuss industrial development with Sylvia Clark of the South Plains Association of Governments last Thursday at the Floydada Chamber of Commerce office.

Members of the Floydada Board of Development and other interested citizens exchanges ideas and knowledge about various techniques for promoting industrial development and what is necessary to entice businesses to the Floydada area.

Clark said SPAG is forming a development fund for businesses expansion. She said Floydada can apply for SPAG grants to help Floydada businesses expand.

Those present were Tom Farris, Louis McDaniel, Ted Jordan, Bob Prock, Doyle Walls, Olin Watson, Bill Pickard, Bill Hale, Louis Pyle, Larry Barbee, Steve Kelly, Bill Feuerbacher and Roger Garms. Chamber manager Susan Garms hosted the meeting.

Lockney council to assist plant

BY PATRICK CLARK

The Lockney City Council, meeting in special session this week, unanimously passed a resolution showing its interest and pledging cooperation to the developers of a proposed $6 million steel rod plant just outside the city limits.

Under the resolution, the city pledged to install water, gas and sewer lines to the site at no charge to the developers. The cost to the city would be about $7,000.

However, sources report there has been some indication from private citizens that they would be willing to contribute funds for the site development.

or tomorrow about forming the county-wide industrial development corporation.

Kring said he hoped representatives of the two chambers could go before the county commissioners next week to ask for a resolution creating the corporation.

Kring has been talking to a representative of the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) in Lubbock about assisting the city or county in forming the corporation.

Speaking at a meeting of the Lockney Rotary Club last week, Sylvia Clark of SPAG recommended that the city and/or county establish an industrial development commission now, whether or not it is used for the proposed steel rod plant.

must then pass a resolution establishing the industrial development corporation. The corporation must have at least three members.

The county commissioners or the council may appoint people who serve on the corporation, but a SPAG spokesman said it is generally better if the commissioners or council accept the group that wishes to form the corporation.

The Texas Industrial Commission in Austin must then approve the local corporation.

Clark said the whole process of establishing the local industrial development corporation, with a little extra effort, could be completed within a month or less.

The corporation can then work with existing local companies or new businesses on expansion or new industry.

Only manufacturers may receive financing through industrial revenue bonds. Retail businesses cannot participate in the program.

Once the local corporation and a business workout a financing plan, the corporation then approaches a financial institution about buying the bonds. There is a limit of $10 million on industrial bond financing in Texas at the present time.

Window coatings are illegal

A few motorists may be confused over the use of glass coatings and one-way glass in motor vehicles.

However, the Texas Department of Public Safety reports that drivers should be aware of the law and exercise caution prior to altering the window glass of a motor vehicle.

Captain John Mason of the Motor Vehicle Inspection Service of the DPS in the regional headquarters for this area advised motorists not to put anything on the windshield or front side windows.

"No coatings, plastic, liquid or other materials may be put on the windshield or front side windows of any motor vehicle that has not been approved by the DPS," said Mason.

However, the DPS spokesman says glass coating materials may be applied to the rear window and the rear side windows if the vehicle has outside rearview mirrors.

Mason says no motor vehicle glass coatings are currently approved by the DPS for application on windshield or front side windows.

"Under state law, the DPS has the authority to approve, but due to the variations of the materials and the numerous methods in which they are applied, we simply cannot approve any of the coatings," he said. "Frequently we find these coatings to be dangerous since they often obstruct the driver's vision," he said.

Captain Mason said the glass coating materials are sometimes spray-on tint, metalized mylar plastic or other kinds of applicable materials.

"The use of curtains, blinds or stick-on novelty designs are not prohibited on rear windows, but common sense should be considered when applying these devices to a vehicle," he said.

"The driver must be able to maintain good external vision during the operation of any motor vehicle," said Captain Mason.

He said the one-way glass coating in vehicles is not generally a good idea, even when permitted, since the application of the materials greatly reduces and distorts vision, especially at night.

Lockney board hires new basketball coach

The Lockney Board of Education has hired Mike Martin of Hale Center as the new high school boys varsity basketball coach.

Martin will succeed Mike Leiby who resigned after one year to accept the head coaching position at Sweetwater High School.

Martin, who had been at Hale Center just one year, led the varsity to a 19-10 overall record last season and a 9-5 mark and a third place finish in district competition.

Martin has also coached at Spade, Hart and Frenship and has a 106-55 career record.

Hired as migrant aides were: Maria Arellano, junior high; Elida Leal, fifth grade; Linda Kidd, fourth grade; Bertha Martinez, third grade; Jose Peralez, second grade; Patricia Vela, first grade; and Millie Deleon, records.

The board also hired Margie Savage, who has worked in the school tax office, as a junior high math aide, and Dovie Davis of Lockney, as a junior high reading aide.

Hallmark said the district intends to be "as selective as we have always been," in hiring new teachers.

SPS files statement on new stock offering

Southwestern Public Service Company announced that it has filed registration statements with the Securities and Exchange Commission covering its proposed offering of $30 million in first mortgage bonds due in 1991, and 120,000 shares of cumulative preferred stock at $100 par value.

Net proceeds from the sale of the new bonds and additional preferred stock will be used to defray the cost of the company's construction program, including the payment of outstanding short-term debt incurred primarily in connection with such programs.

Southwestern Public Service Company, based in Amarillo, Texas, provides electric service for eastern New Mexico, the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas.

Dillon, Read & Co. Inc. is the managing underwriter of the bond offering but is the sole underwriter of the preferred stock offering.

Aid for rod plant

If the financial institution agrees to buy the bonds and provide the financing for the business, it charges the business interest at a rate now of between 10-and-13-percent, significantly lower than the present prime lending rate which is currently in the area of 20-percent.

The financial institution can offer the lower interest rate because the interest payments it receives from the business for the bond money is tax free.

Once the financial institution agrees to buy the bonds and provide the money to the business, the transaction is entirely between the institution and the business.

Neither the local industrial development corporation, the county nor the municipality have any liability for the debt if the business should fail.

The Texas Industrial Commission has final approval on all industrial bond transactions.

At present, the city and county of Lubbock, Plainview, Hale County and Brownfield already have industrial development commissions established.

It's especially important if you've been gone two weeks or more. Hydrogen Precaution — Simply turn on all your hot water faucets and let the water flow from each for two minutes BEFORE using your dishwasher or clothes washer and DO NOT SMOKE during those two minutes. This "hydrogen precaution" is necessary to avoid a possible explosion from the hydrogen buildup that might have accumulated while you were gone. In addition, it's wise to follow this precaution if you are moving into a residence in which the hot-water system may not have been used for two weeks or more. Farmers are having to water, and although the cotton looks good, it is very dry. Mr. and Mrs. Glen Whitfill of Sweetwater (Ruby Jewel) arrived here Saturday to spend the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Alvin Nichols, and stayed until Monday as they attended to some work around the Nicols home. Sunday afternoon visitors were her brother, Johns and Vera Cox of Lockney.

Julian, where Bruce stayed until Saturday morning then left for Dallas where he will be at SMU attending some classes until 2 weeks are over. Other ones visiting last week with the Julians here were Mrs. Vera Harper of McAllen, Mrs. Ruth Burnett of San Antonio, spent several days here, and Mrs. Terry Julian from Roscoe who came and spent the week with her folks here. Saturday they enjoyed lunch at the Ice House in Ralls.

Julian, her aunt, Mrs. Terry Julian of Roscoe and aunts, Mrs. B.F. Harper and Mrs. Ruth Burnett.

Mike, Tonya, Justin and Micah were present from Lockney, Don, Nancy, Brett Marble, and Fred, Carolyn, Kelly and Cindy Marble, and Keith, Neta, Dwayne and D'Lee Marble all were present from South Plains. Donette Marble was there from Lubbock and several of the relatives spent the night here with the Fred Marble's. Their next reunion will be held July 10th, in 1982.

Early Pritchett went back to Ruidoso this week where his wife, Mrs. Nell Pritchett, is staying. She needs to stay out there because of her allergies, and so Early goes back and forth to the farm, then back to Ruidoso. Reports were that it was quite cold last week out in Ruidoso.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank McClure went to Canyon on Tuesday evening where they went down into Palo Duro Canyon to see an evening of the great show, "Texas." They enjoyed the wonderful show very much, and it was the first time for them to see it.

Are we covered under our automobile insurance policy for this peculiar type of damage? It depends. If you carry Physical Damage coverage on your automobile policy there is a possibility that this damage would be covered. However, if the coverage is "named perils" and therefore would not cover this type of damage. However, if your automobile insurance is Comprehensive coverage, the carpeting would be covered, less any applicable deductible.

GLORIOUS PROSPECT

To the true Christian, one of the most wonderful passages in the whole Bible is Eph. 2:7 where we read of God's purpose:

"That in the ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us through Christ Jesus."

This passage appears the more wonderful when viewed in the light of its context.

Verses 2-6 tell how we were all once the "children of disobedience," and therefore "by nature the children of wrath, even as others." But then we read those wonderful words of hope, "But God."

"But God, who is RICH IN MERCY, because of His GREAT LOVE wherewith He loved us..." And the next verses tell how He has taken believers in Christ from the lowest position of condemnation and wrath and given them the highest place of favor and blessing in Christ at His own right hand in the heavens.

The simplest, humblest believer in Christ as His Savior has been given this position in the heavens, for God no longer sees him in himself, but in Christ, who died for his sins. This is why St. Paul so often writes about "those who are in Christ Jesus."

It is for the believer now to occupy this exalted position, to appropriate by faith the "all spiritual blessings" which are in Christ (See Eph. 1:3). Like Paul, he may be lifted by grace, through faith, above the troubles and sorrows of "this present evil age" and enjoy his position and blessings in the heavens in Christ. And even this is not all, for looking far ahead to the future, the apostle, by divine revelation, goes on to say (in Eph. 2:7) that God has done this all for us, "that in the ages to come He might show the exceeding riches of His grace in His kindness toward us through Christ Jesus."

occasionally by my bent toward being cynical. To get that way, especially to read the daily newspaper, or to watch the news on the old tube. There are large articles on hotel fires, killings, robberies, and on and on. There are articles about good people, but they seem to occupy very little space in the paper. This is a person to complain to about the media gives us is bad news. I don't sit there night after night, but I have recently run across a person who had cancelled their subscription because of the news. I am, I always try to be positive. I rarely actually read the society section of the paper, though I rarely actually read the society section of the paper. There are all the nice things to read, but I just recently hitched; the any working mother becomes an accidental child raiser. After all, raising a child is a full-time job. Whatever you do between nine and five that results in a paycheck, you are employed as a research assistant for a sleep experiment. That is saying nothing about any other job, dusting, or cooking that you do on the side. I have never made a conscious effort to do what seems like a full-time job. I work for two, or sometimes three, part-time jobs. I like to take naps, and spend endless hours in a hammock reading in the house of People magazine how people make a living by working. I am grateful for my lazy streak, and my growing up days playing with my Barbie and reading Seventeen magazine. I discovered a typewriter. I liked putting words in a row on a piece of paper. One thing led to another, like eating fettucini instead of

I searched and searched for a sign. I couldn't find one that said, "No Salesmen." I couldn't find one that said, "No Solicitors." All I could find was one that said "For Rent." But he wouldn't let me put that up either. Finally, after month of searching and hundreds of salesmen later, I found a sign that said, "No Peddlers." Just the right words on a black background with golden letter. It added a touch of elegance to our door. When customers came in, they vowed that they were not peddlers. So my boss got to asking if they "piddlers." That led to quite a few laughs. My boss thought he was quite clever for having thought up such a good joke. He took his knife and scraped the golden arms from the "E" making it an "I." So the sign really says, "No Piddlers." But what it really means is, "Piddlers Welcome." So if you're in the neighborhood and have some spare time, come on in. Jack loves to tell Piddlers about death and taxes. (I threw the part about death in, because if you're a salesman, it will be death if you come in.) On the other hand, Jack may need a good life insurance policy if he doesn't quit messing with my signs.

older couples celebrating anniversaries, giving hope that the newlyweds on the opposite page might actually make it in spite of the odds. Even Ann Landers and Dear Abby sometimes carry letters from people who are not having any problems and just wanted us to know that kind of critter exists. It obviously unrealistic to think we can ever hope to shield ourselves from the ugliness that faces us in the world, but we do not have to dwell on it. Such a personage as Paul, who had been involved in just about every kind of earthly ugliness had a solution. For himself he declared that his sufferings were not worth comparing to the glory he knew as a member of God's kingdom. To one of the churches, he sent the advice to center the mind on those things which were good, and true, and lovely. Escapist? Perhaps, but it is better than going around looking like we have sucking green persimmons. I think I'll go have a look at the flowers in my garden.

It's Not Easy

Also unfortunately for my lazy streak, having two incomes helps pay for the difference. I'm sure that my husband never expected to be in charge of the dish detail or to have to fold his own socks. And of course, I can't imagine a world without the pint sized perpetual motion machine that is my daughter. So, I wouldn't really change anything, but sometimes it just gets a little confusing trying to squeeze everything into the day. Who's going to read Donald Duck Goes To Hollywood, and who's going to remember to put the roast in the crock pot, and who's not too tired to wash dishes? The only person who doesn't seem confused by our trial and error division of labor is my daughter. Mommy is Mommy and Daddy is Daddy, no matter who is doing the dishes tonight. But then, she, too, is probably the only one in the family who wouldn't like to apply for an extended vacation as a subject in that sleep research experiment.

When the Senate and the House agree on this procurement bill, the action moves to the Appropriations Committee, which considers how much money actually to spend on defense in the next fiscal year. That bill also must be acted on by both houses of Congress. And for most of the nation's first 200 years, that was the end of the process. But in 1974, the Congress enacted legislation to force itself to look at the budget as a whole. Under this process, two "concurrent budget resolutions" passed during the year outline an overall budget ceiling and ceilings for each of the government's major departments. The first such resolution is passed in the spring. Each of the authorizing committees, such as the Armed Services Committee, estimates the total amount that should be spent in its area during the coming fiscal year. The Budget Committee takes all of these recommendations and weighs priorities among them to derive the total figure. This resolution must be agreed upon by both houses of Congress, but the first resolution is not binding upon the committees or the full Senate or House as they go about the traditional authorization and appropriations process.

We know very little about ozone, a gaseous ingredient of smog. Yet ozone plays an important role in the Environmental Protection Agency's efforts to control smog in communities across our nation. Smog is made up of oxidants or gases resulting from the exposure to sunlight of hydrocarbons and nitrogen oxides. They are emitted by everything from cars and refineries to decaying trees. When the Clean Air Act was written in 1970, Congress authorized the EPA to devise regulations seeking to control smog. The EPA then focused on the strategy of limiting the amount of hydrocarbons which are released into the air. However, EPA measures the amount of smog in the air by measuring the ozone, since it is a major element of smog. There is the rub. In Los Angeles, in 1970, the theory seemed to work fine. Reducing the hydrocarbons resulted in reduced ozone levels. But for a number of Texas cities ranging from El Paso to Dallas to Corpus Christi, the situation has been far different. In Houston, for example, hydrocarbon emissions were cut by 40 percent between 1974-78. But when the ozone in the air is sampled it is found that it has not been reduced accordingly. The disparity between measurements of hydrocarbon emissions and measurements of ozone levels in the air is only one of many problems with current federal strategies for dealing with air pollution.

As second-ranking Democrat on the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, I'm working on revisions to the Clean Air Act, which is due for reauthorization this year. As now written, the Clean Air Act seeks attainment of an unattainable standard. As a result, a number of Texas cities may never be able to consistently meet oxidant standards under the law. Houston, for example, currently meets the oxidant standard more than 98 percent of the time. The law, however, requires that it be met over 99.9 percent of the time. The strategy — to reduce oxidants in the air by reducing hydrocarbon emissions into the air — has failed to produce the ozone reductions we were told it would. Yet, the Clean Air Act compels the state of Texas to continue down this path. We have reached a critical point in development of this act. We must deal with the issue realistically. We must recognize that — for some areas and for some pollutants — attainment of air quality standards will be a goal and not a reality in the foreseeable future. We must reflect these realities in the act or suffer the consequences. If we seek the unachievable and disregard the realities, we destroy our credibility. This is not to say that we should not be moving toward the lowest reasonably achievable levels of pollution. We must do that, but there must be a balance between what we desire and what we can do.

Social Security News

Social security is an important source of income for families in which a worker dies, becomes disabled, or retires. However, many may not understand that social security is designed to provide only a base on which people can add other types of income—from pension, insurance, and savings and investments. Here are some things you should know for your retirement planning. Social security is designed to provide a floor of income protection and a base of income in retirement. It was designed to replace traditional sources of retirement income, but to enable people to use such sources to more effectively meet their needs. It is generally estimated that the average person needs about 65 to 75 percent of his or her pre-retirement income to maintain his or her lifestyle in retirement. Social security provides from 30 to 55 percent of pre-retirement income in initial benefits, not including benefits payable to dependents. The percentage of pre-retirement income replaced by social security will vary by a worker's average earnings. Those with lower average earnings will have a higher percentage of their earnings replaced by social security. But, in all cases, private pensions and insurance, savings, investments, and earnings continue to be important sources of retirement income. People reaching 62 this year need credit for 7 1/2 years of work for retirement benefits. No one will ever need credit for more than 10 years of work under social security. Reduced retirement benefits are available as early as age 62. People who retire at age 65 get full benefits. At age 65, people can count on Medicare health insurance to help with the higher cost of health care that comes with age even if they continue working. It's important that you recognize the full scope of your social security protection. Knowing what you are paying for through the regular deductions from your paycheck is the only way you can fully appreciate its real value to you. If you feel you need more information about social security, call our toll-free number 1-800-392-1603. We can provide leaflets and other materials that will help you understand the social security program. We can also arrange to have a social security representative talk to your church or club. Satellite television reception, utilizing a privately owned antenna and reception equipment is very much on the horizon, as we've mentioned, to bring entertainment, information and a new business tool to the farmer and rancher. And, although it's not one of the 90-odd channels you might receive with your own set-up, the U S D A is benefiting from satellite technology in faster and more accurate information on crop conditions, particularly in Russia, through Landsat and soon through NOAA-6, a meteorological satellite. A constant and accurate eye on Russian weather conditions and crops is a valuable tool in light of reconvened U S A - U S S R talks on grain sales. And how does the Russian wheat crop look? Good, according to the satellite - about 34 million hectares, down about 3 million from 1980, with an almost ideal winter and almost no snow cover.

Farm Safety Week

Proclamation

By the County Judge of Floyd County

To all of whom these presents shall come:
I, Choise Smith, County Judge of Floyd County, do hereby declare the week of July 25-31, 1981 as Farm and Ranch Safety Week in Floyd County, for the following reasons:

WHEREAS, work, play, travel (traffic) and home accidents involving Texas farm and ranch residents accounted for over 330 fatalities, thousands of painful and disabling injuries costing millions of dollars in 1980; and

WHEREAS, the President has proclaimed National Farm Safety Week and the Governor has proclaimed the same period as Texas Farm and Ranch Safety week; and

WHEREAS, during this week, a statewide farm accident prevention education campaign is being undertaken by the Texas Farm Bureau, the Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council, the Texas Safety Association, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and 4-H clubs, Texas Future Farmers and Future Homemakers of America, and the Young Farmers and Young Homemakers of Texas and the Floyd County Farm Bureau with the theme, "ENJOY LIFE-SAFELY"; and

WHEREAS, the latest National Safety Council Preliminary Accident Survey for 1980 indicates a 1% increase in fatal and non-fatal accidents, (an increase from 103,000 to 106,000 fatal injuries and costing $83.5 billion). The latest Agricultural data being 1979, more than 4,200 farm and ranch residents died and 380,000 were disabled in farm, home, public, and highway accidents with 1,900 (less than half) being work related. Of these, 1,150 fatal and 115,000 injury accidents were farm and ranch residents. The total cost of Agricultural accidents to farm and ranch people in 1979, exceeded $5 billion, and

WHEREAS, the 1980 Texas Farm Bureau Accidental Death Program records show that 330 death claims were paid in 133 different counties. Floyd County recorded one death claim under the Program. Traffic related incidents caused the most claims statewide, with 212 - (Auto/Truck-182, Motorcycles, Minibikes and Go-carts-20, Bicycles/Big wheels-2, and Pedestrians-8) other ranking causes of death were firearms, falls, drownings, aircraft crashes, tractors, machinery, fires & burns, choked/strangled, electrocutions, animal accidents and snake bites.

THEREFORE, I urge all farm and ranch families and those who serve agricultural producers to: read safety features in magazines and newspapers, observe product labels and operator manuals, be informed on what to do when emergencies occur such as severe weather, fire, poisonings, bleeding, drownings, etc. by having taken Basic First Aid, and CPR courses. Other preventative life saving courses available are the Defensive Driving and Home and Hunter firearm safety, thus, being more fully prepared to "ENJOY LIFE-SAFELY."

Signed Choise Smith
County Judge
Floyd County

County Judge Choise Smith has proclaimed July 25-31, 1981 as Farm and Ranch SAFETY WEEK in Floyd county, at the request of Delmas McCormick, Floyd County Farm Bureau President.

This marks the 38th Annual National Farm Safety Week, co-sponsored by the National Safety Council and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

The theme for the 1981 observation of Farm Safety Week is "Enjoy Life-Safely."

In his proclamation, Judge Smith said "accidents involving farm and ranch residents, employees and guests at work, in the home, at play and on the highways accounted for more than 330 Texas fatalities and more than 3300 disabling injuries, costing millions of dollars in 1980. Time, Planning, and Educational efforts using engineering ingenuity could help prevent much pain, expense and even death. National Safety Council accident surveys indicate that nearly half the accidents were traffic related, with home accidents, recreational accidents and work related accidents following. With 106,000 fatal accidents in the United States in 1980, and with agriculture accounting for more than 4,200, we need to endeavor stronger to "Enjoy Life-Safely."

In concluding his proclamation, the Judge urged all Agricultural producers, their families, employees, and guests to read, take training courses to prepare for a safer life or to administer to those who become involved in an accident. Therefore, we are more fully prepared to "Enjoy Life-Safely."

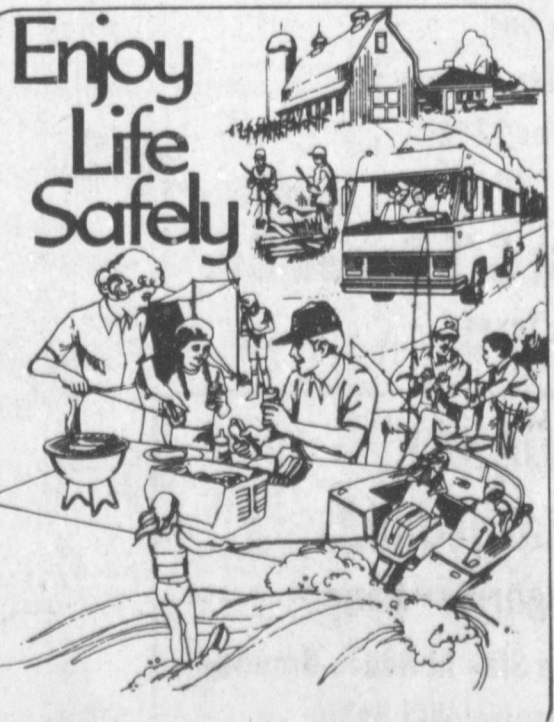

your farm depends on you...

FARM SAFELY

Safety awareness should be a way of life for farmers ... and not just on the farm. Your rural community offers many potentially dangerous areas where accidents can happen. When out boating, picnicing or just admiring your beautiful landscapes, be alerted to the fact that careless accidents aren't restricted to the farm. Be safety conscious both on and off the farm ... during work and recreation. Enjoy life, but do it safely!

Care Center News

BY VICKIE HUTTON
Thursday, was like Christmas with the arrival of our new equipment. We received new beds, new wheelchairs, water mattresses, air mattresses, wheelchair pads, shower chairs, and potty chairs.

This new equipment will be a tremendous help to the residents and make the nurses and aides job a lot easier.

Thanks goes to Deputy Olan Poteet for bringing us three movies to view. "Life in a Tropical Rainforest," "Venice," "Morris the Long Eared Moose." Those movies brought much enjoyment.

Wednesday we held a very successful bake sale. The proceeds will be put in the resident's activity fund. Thanks goes to all the staff who made and donated the baked goods and to everyone who bought the baked items. All the goodies had to be guarded closely or we would have had some volunteer samplers.

After our bus trip to the Providence

Community we enjoyed a juicy watermelon. While enjoying the watermelon, Mr. Charles Starkey of Flomot sent us some more of his delicious peaches. Thank you Mr. Starkey.

Our lucky bingo winners this week were Lee Whitley and Albert Poole. We had a new bingo caller and helper this week. Maria Arellano and Tammy Adams. Our thanks goes to them and to our regular caller DeLinda Glasson. DeLinda was unable to be with us Friday because she and her family went to Six Flags on vacation. We wish them a safe and happy trip and hope she will be back with us soon.

Our second new air conditioning system was installed Friday. A big thanks goes to the residents for bearing with us while the new system was installed.

The only comment we had came from Mrs. Myrtle Payne. "I'm as hot as a firecracker lit on both ends!" Now that is hot!!

SPS plans interconnect

A major, joint electric utility interconnection in New Mexico, linking the Southwest and the Western electrical grid, moved closer to reality with the signing of a formal letter of intent by Southwestern Public Service Company, Texas-New Mexico Power Company and El Paso Electric Company.

Further action awaits completion of engineering studies and is subject to approval of the board of directors of each company and of all regulatory bodies having jurisdiction.

Some 150,000-to-200,000 kilowatts of electrical energy would be supplied by Southwestern Public Service Company and fed into a new transmission line, tying the three New Mexico systems together.

Spokesmen for the three involved utilities have announced that their service territories would benefit substantially from the interconnection in two important respects: 1) electric power could be imported for their respective systems as necessary, and 2) surplus or off-peak electricity can be exported for re-sale in the Western grid, outside their systems. Such export sales could prove significant, because the Western grid primarily generates its power using fuel oil, as opposed to the less-expensive coal which fires Southwestern's new generating stations.

The three companies have allocated engineering funds for the project, but a specific work timetable has not yet been finalized.

Southwestern Public Service Company serves eastern New Mexico, the Panhandle and South Plains of Texas, the Oklahoma Panhandle and southwestern Kansas. Texas-New Mexico Power Company serves the southwestern quarter of New Mexico and 77 cities in Texas. El Paso Electric Company provides service for customers in south central New Mexico and West Texas.

 holes around the periphery at
 of about 3 feet. (NOTE: The
 of intervals - and hence the of holes - will be about the same number of feet in the diameter of the tree, because the circumfer-ence of a circle is about 3 times as great as its diameter.)

* Dig each hole deep enough to hold a gallon of liquid.

* Pour 1 gallon of ferrous sulfate solution (½ gallon if treatment is made during the growing season) in each hole) let it soak away.

* Fill each hole with water once or twice; let it soak away.

* Refill the holes with soil.

The summer after treating the soil, watch for symptoms of chlorosis. If chlorosis persists, take these additional steps:

* Spray the foliage once or twice to gain temporary improvement.

* Repeat the soil treatment when the trees are again dormant.

Treatment holes around tall, slender trees should be 2 instead of 3 feet apart.
 Apply 1 gallon of solution per hole as for other trees.

To treat small trees, apply the solution in 6-inch-deep trenches around the peripheries of the trees, but dig the trenches no closer than 1 foot from the base of the tree.

The amount of solution required is determined as with larger trees except that the minimum dosage is 1 gallon per tree if treatment is made while the tree is dormant, and ½ gallon per tree if treatment is made during the growing season.

Shrubs and Vines

Dig a trench 4 to 6 inches deep around each shrub or vine, or dig four holes 6 to 8 inches deep.

In digging a trench, follow the periphery, or drip line, of the plant, but keep the trench at least 1 foot from the base of the plant.

In digging holes, place them at equal intervals around the periphery, but at least 1 foot from the base of the plant.

The amount of ferrous sulfate needed
 by a shrub or vine ranges from 2 to 5 gallons. The amount needed by a particular plant depends on the size of the plant.

Pour the solution in the trench
 or holes. After it has soaked away. Refill
 the holes or trench with soil.

Flowers and Vegetables

To treat the soil in which large flowers (annual and perennial) and vegetables are growing singly, dig a trench 2 to 3 inches deep around each plant; keep it at least 1 foot from the base of the plant. Pour 1 gallon of ferrous sulfate solution in the trench.
 After it has soaked away, fill the trench
 with water once or twice, and let it soak away. Refill the trench with soil.

To treat the soil in which flowers
 (annual and perennial) and vegetables are growing in rows, dig trenches 2 to 3 inches deep on both sides of each row and about 6 inches from the base of the plants. Pour ferrous sulfate solution in the trenches at the rate of 1 gallon per 10 feet of row-½ gallon on each side of the row. The rest of the treatment is the same as for plants growing singly.

If either of these treatments is not fully effective, repeat in 2 weeks.

Lawns

Choose between (1) applying ferrous sulfate in solution and (2) applying it in dry form, then watering it in.

First Method. — Dissolve ferrous

sulfate in water at the rate of 1 pound of the chemical to 25 gallons of water. (A stronger solution could burn the grass.) Apply at the rate of 12½ gallons of solution to 100 square feet of lawn.

Second Method. — Spread dry ferrous sulfate on the grass when the grass is dry; spread it evenly by hand or with a fertilizer spreader. Apply at the rate ½ pound of the chemical to 100 square feet of lawn. Give the lawn a good watering immediately after the application; this is necessary to keep the chemical from browning the grass.

IRON DEFICIENCY IN PLANTS:

TREATING FOLIAGE

Quick but short-lived results are obtained by spraying ferrous sulfate
 solution on the foliage of plants affected with iron chlorosis. The amount required is much smaller than that required for application to the soil.
 However, if chlorosis is severe, frequent applications to foliage are required to keep plants green and healthy.

Preparing Spray

To prepare 50 gallons of spray-

* Dissolve 2 pounds of ferrous sulfate
 in 50 gallons of water. (A stronger solution would burn some plant varieties.)

* Add 2 cups of a mild household detergent. (The detergent acts as a wetting agent and increases the effectiveness of the spray.)

To prepare 3 gallons of spray,
 dissolve 2 ounces of ferrous sulfate in 3 gallons of water and add 2 tablespoons of detergent.

Applying Spray

Spray treatments can begin any time during the growing season but are most effective when started early in the season.

Thoroughly wet the foliage of the plants with spray. If you spray large trees, you will need a good power sprayer. A compressed-air sprayer is recommended for treating other plants.

Several treatments are necessary
 during a season. Spray at 2- to 4- week intervals until symptoms disappear;
 then spray whenever symptoms reappear.

If spray solution gets on flowers, it may stain and ruin them. To prevent this, direct the spray away from flowers,
 or spray when plants are not in bloom.

Early Spraying of Annual Plants

It is not necessary to wait until symptoms of iron chlorosis appear before spraying annual plants with ferrous sulfate solution.

If you know that annual plants of a particular species, planted in a particular area or plot, are likely to develop chlorosis, spray them within 10 days after they emerge from the soil. If chlorosis develops, spray chlorotic areas
 again; repeat in 2 weeks if necessary.
 This procedure prevents stunting of plants, and it prevents reductions in yield that would result from iron deficiency.

CONTROL WHITE GRUBS IN LAWNS

White grub worms that hatch from eggs laid by May or June beetles will soon be feeding on roots of Bermuda-grass and St. Augustinegrass in home lawns. Once grubs begin feeding, control measures should be taken.
 Treatment time varies with the particular area of the state and ranges from early July in South Texas to mid-August in the Panhandle. Homeowners in Floyd County will need to treat between late July - mid-August. Timing of application is critical for adequate control.

White grubs in excessive numbers can heavily damage lawns. Check for white grubs by cutting a square foot section of sod with a shovel and examining the roots and soil to a depth of 4 inches. Examine at least one square foot of sod for 1,000 square feet of lawn area. Chemical treatment is needed if there are more than four grubs per square foot of sod.

Diazinon provides adequate control
 and should be used at recommended

rates given on the chemical container label. The granular form is easier to apply and to wash into the soil than liquid or spray formulations. After using granules, drag the grass with a tow sack or water hose to knock them down to the soil. Then apply enough water to soak the granules into the soil.

Apply diazinon sprays at the rate of 25 gallons of water, including the insecticide, per 1,000 square feet to wash the insecticide into the soil.
 Wetting the lawn before spraying also helps. Always keep children and pets off the treated lawn until the grass is dry.

The key to white grub control in home lawns is proper timing of chemical applications and getting the insecticide through the grass to the root zone where grubs are feeding.

American Red Cross is still needed

(The fourth in a series of articles written by S.W. Ross)

The American Red Cross is now entering its second century. It has been a determined survivor, and will be a much stronger organization, providing even better services in the next century because the American people still have need for the American Red Cross.

This second century of the Red Cross will bring forth its legions of hard working men, women and children, who will take the Red Cross to heart, just as their predecessors did. The question has been asked many times: How is the Red Cross supported? The answer is: The American Red Cross delivers a wide range of services to people in need—thanks to the volunteers' contributions of money, time and blood from the American public. Approximately 93% of Red Cross monies received from annual fund appeals are derived in partnership with local United Ways and combined Federal Campaigns. Other sources of revenue range from disaster fund appeals and membership enrollment to foundation grants and government contracts. The financing of Red Cross Blood service comes principally from fees paid by hospitals that receive blood and blood products. There is never a charge for the blood itself, which is donated voluntarily by the American people.

Really, it might be said the Red Cross now is running a $200,000,000 business collecting and distributing whole blood and components and may wind up seeking the same sort of dominance in the manufacture of plastic derivatives.

The Red Cross blood program was originally underwritten by the annual Red Cross appeal; but in the early 1950's as demands for blood began to boom, both in volume and technical sophistication, the Red Cross decided it could no longer afford to support the program's resources and so has been converting to a cash-recovery system. These days the Red Cross provides blood at a price high enough to recover the cost of processing plus a charge for equipment, land and buildings and working capitals.

Today, at its 57 regional centers the Red Cross collects 5 million units of blood a year—about half of the United States total requirements. The Red Cross makes no pretense about the objectives of its regional centers: "To be total suppliers of the product needs of their region" is how the head of the Red Cross blood program puts it. A computerized system matches supply and demand for Red Cross blood on a national basis.

Where will the Red Cross go in the '80's and thereafter? George M. Elsey, president of the American Red Cross since 1970 is confident that the next 25 years will find the organization working energetically to keep its programs responsive to the needs of the communities.

If smoking, drugs, teenage pregnancies and pollution continue to threaten American health and welfare, the Red Cross will identify areas where it can help and develop programs to do so.

Mr. Elsey predicts that the community health needs will take several new twists as more Americans live longer. If he is correct, problems of the elderly may, indeed, become an important focus of the American Red Cross work.

The question is often asked: "Will there be money and volunteers to develop new programs and staff them particularly if inflation continues?" "Of course," says Elsey. "to think otherwise is to say Americans will stop caring and the history of the American Red Cross makes that highly unlikely."

MUCH HAS CHANGED since the Red Cross blood program started in 1947. The original microscopic method of matching blood has been replaced by scientific computerized methods.

REVIS PERNELL (left) receives her diploma from Gary Whittington, instructor, for successfully completing the Allsup's Assistant Store Manager Training Course. Held at the company's home offices in Clovis, New Mexico, the class is a requirement for all Allsup's assistant managers. According to Whittington, "The training prepares individuals for future advancement by teaching them proper food handling, cooked food procedures, store cleanliness and maintenance as well as public relations. It's designed to produce a more professional employee who can better serve the customer and community." Revis will return to her store at 102 E. Houston in Floydada to assume the duties of assistant manager.

Clements, guest speaker at dedication ceremonies

Governor Bill Clements will be guest speaker at official building dedication ceremonies for the new Employment Skills Development Center at TSTI-Amarillo.

Ceremonies are slated to begin at 10:30 a.m. July 24 at the new building site on the campus.

TSTI received a $1.75 million grant from the Economic Development Administration (EDA) matched by funds appropriated by the 66th Texas Legislature for the construction of the Employment Skills Development Center.

The center currently houses Aircraft Mechanics, Auto Mechanics, Diesel Truck Mechanics, Professional Truck Operations and Related Studies. The facility spans approximately 86,000 square feet and will accommodate over 325 students in any class hour.

In addition to Governor Clements, dignitaries participating in the ceremonies will include: Dr. Clifford Trotter, Minister, Polk Street United Methodist Church; Dr. James A. Bird, General Manager, TSTI-Amarillo; Dr. Jack E. Tompkins, President, Texas State Technical Institute; Milton Schiller, Vice-President for Development, Texas State Technical Institute; John Drummond, Director of Projects, TSTI-Amarillo; and Hugh Farmer, Deputy Regional Director, EDA.

Following the ceremonies, the building will be open for public tours and a reception.
