

Industrial corporation wins approval

BY PATRICK CLARK

The Floyd County Commissioners, meeting in special session yesterday, approved a resolution creating a Floyd County Industrial Development Corporation.

The vote was unanimous. The proposal to create the corporation was presented to the commissioners jointly by the Lockney and Floydada Chambers of Commerce.

The Lockney Chamber was represented by president Gail Kring and the Floydada Chamber by manager Susan Garms.

The members of the corporation, who will serve six year terms are:

- Kring
- Garms
- Lawson Rowell of Lockney
- Fred Thayer of Floydada
- Herman Graham of Muncy.

The five will meet in about two weeks to officially sign the petition creating the corporation. The meeting was delayed because Rowell is out of town.

At the end of the six year terms, the county commissioners may either reappoint the members of the corporation or name new members.

The corporation will work with new and existing businesses on locating in Floyd County or expanding existing operations in the county.

The corporation will issue bonds on behalf of the business. The bonds will be bought by private financial institutions which will lend money to the businesses at a lower rate of interest than the current prime lending rate which is now around 20 percent.

The private financial institutions lend money under the bonds at a rate of between 10 and 13 percent. The money is available at a lower rate of interest because the interest paid the financial institutions by the business is tax free.

There is a limit of $10 million on each bond sale per business.

Once the corporation approves a bond sale for a business it must then be approved by the county commissioners and the Texas as Industrial Commission.

Neither the corporation nor the county have any liability should the business fail. Once the bonds are sold, the financial arrangements are solely between the lending institutions and the business.

The bonds can be used only for manufacturing companies and not for retail businesses.

The commissioners' vote followed a presentation by Sylvia Clark of the South Plains Association of Governments (SPAG) on the state's laws on industrial development corporations.

Clark said the reason the state had set up the industrial development corporation program, "with the intent of stimulating capital investment and create jobs."

The program, Clark went on, "makes smaller communities more competitive with the more wealthy areas."

Clark said that while Lockney has been in the forefront in the current push for creating an industrial development corporation it made more sense to create one county-wide corporation than one for Lockney, another for the City of Floydada and a third for the county.

Kring told the commissioners that Lockney was particularly interested in seeing the corporation formed at this time because "we have an industry that wants to locate in Lockney and we'd like to attract this industry to come on in."

In addition, Kring said the Tye Company and Ansley and Son in Lockney might want to use the industrial development corporation in the future for expansion purposes.

County attorney Kenneth Bain, who looked over the state's industrial development corporation laws while the commissioners were considering the proposal said, "I think it's a good idea and I recommend that the court go ahead and sign," the resolution creating the corporation.

After the resolution was approved, Judge Choise Smith told the commissioners and audience, "I'm proud to see the whole county go into this rather than have Lockney or Floydada do it alone. I think it's going to be a real good thing."

After the members of the corporation sign the petition creating the corporation in about two weeks, Clark, Garms and possibly Kring and others will take the paperwork to Austin to personally walk it through the Texas Secretary of State's office and the Texas Industrial Commission to speed up the final approval process. The corporation will then be in the position to begin business.

It seems likely that the first issue the new corporation will deal with is a proposal by cousins Nelson and Jake Wofford of Lubbock to build a $6 million steel sucker rod plant at Lockney.

The cousins, who are Lockney natives, presently operate a wooden sucker rod plant in Lockney. The wooden rods are used on windmills while the steel rods are used on oil wells.

The two hope to build their steel rod plant on a tract of land just west of the Lockney city limits and south of highway 70.

The two Woffords hope to use the new industrial development corporation to build their plant which they said would employ 45-60 people. They'd like to be in production by the first of the year.

Kring and Clark planned to meet with the Woffords yesterday to discuss the next steps in the plant project in view of the formation of the industrial development corporation.

Garms also said there is already a lot of interest in the industrial development corporation.

"We have four different industries thinking about expansion," Garms said, "and they're looking at the industrial development corporation."

Garms said she could not disclose the identities of the four industries.

Application withdrawn

Hail drive ended

The Texas Water Commission (TWC) has allowed the Plains Weather Improvement Association (PWIA) of Plainview to withdraw its application to conduct a controversial hail reduction-rain enhancement project over portions of Floyd, Hale, Castro and Lamb counties.

TWC chairman Felix McDonald allowed PWIA to withdraw its application without water board action despite objections from the Citizens for Natural Weather, which opposed the PWIA plan, and TWC hearing examiner Jon Green.

Green, who had conducted a four-day hearing in Plainview last March on the PWIA request had recommended that PWIA's application for the project be denied.

Attorneys for Citizens for Natural Weather had wanted the TWC to accept Green's recommendation so that the PWIA application could not be renewed in the future.

However, McDonald said it had been TWC policy to allow any applicant to withdraw an application without negative action by the TWC.

The PWIA made the request to withdraw the application in a letter to the TWC.

The letter, signed by association president Royce Carthel and attorney Gene Owen, said the reason for withdrawing the application, made March 5, 1980, was because, "the applicant does not have the financial resources to further prosecute its application."

In the letter, Carthel, from Plainview, claimed that Green's findings following the hearing contained what PWIA officials feel are incorrect conclusions. The letter asks that no action be taken towards either approving or denying the PWIA application.

Green concluded in his report following the hearing that the PWIA project would reduce the overall rainfall in both the target area and downwind of the target area.

PWIA officials said that if the TWC had accepted Green's recommendation and denied the application it could have had an adverse affect on any future weather modification projects throughout the state.

Carthel said the PWIA has no current plans to seek another hail suppression permit in the future and probably will have no future plans until the state "Continued On Page 3"

FISD plans no tax hike

JERRY WILLSON

The Independent School District (ISD) has made a preliminary tentative 1981-82 school budget for current operations. FISD's budget called for $2289.23 per student based on the "1255" students in average daily attendance in 1979-80.

The average salary for classroom teachers paid by FISD in 1979-80 was $12,641 which was 4.0% percent above the minimum salary prescribed by the state. The average among all school districts in Texas was $14,101 per classroom teacher, or 13.7 percent over the minimum.

There was an average of one teacher for each 11.6 students in FISD, as compared to a statewide pupil-teacher ratio of one to 16.5.

School districts are permitted to levy local property taxes above the local share of the Foundation School Program and to use the proceeds to "enrich" the program prescribed by the legislature. In 1980-81 the average school district levied property taxes five times the amount required for the Foundation Program and used the funds to enrich the program by an additional $695 per student. Enrichment from local taxes in FISD was $597 per student.

Cathey said cuts in the budget were made in postage, central office supplies, all-school equipment, maintenance supplies and repairs, cafeteria deficit and a revamping of the data processing system through the Region XVII service center. Utilities were also cut.

Cathey said $65,000 went to the county appraisal office and to re-appraisals but this year only $32,800 will be spent for appraisals with the new appraisal districts.

There were no cuts made in teachers', students' and instructional supplies.

Last fall school districts adopted budget for 1980-81 calling for spending averaging $1,928.95 per student for current operations. FISD's budget called for $2289.23 per student based on the "1255" students in average daily attendance in 1979-80.

Non-professional employees received raises this year. Workmen's Compensation funds were raised. More testing materials necessitated an increase as well as the hiring of an elementary counselor, with one-half of her salary paid by the federal government and the other paid by FISD.

The Whirlwinds In New Dimensions of Study program received $6450.00 in state funds. The board also shifted $6500 for new band uniforms and $5000 for resurfacing the high school tennis courts. A $5,000 down-payment was also budgeted for the purchase of the new central office building.

The projected enrollment is 1800. The projected Average Daily Attendance is 1235. The ADA count aids in determining the number of teachers paid by the state and the number of teachers paid by FISD. FISD employs 60 teachers and 24 teachers labled excess employees because their salaries are paid by local revenues.

Cathey said equalization revenue was $50,000 as compared to $8,000 last year.

Exemptions shift tax

School districts reported the loss of $133 million of tax revenue through exemptions for homesteads, plus the loss of $86 million of revenue from valuation of land according to its productivity value. In some districts privately-owned vehicles have been exempted, but the revenue loss was not reported.

All but 15 school districts reported homestead exemptions mandated by the state law for a revenue loss of $122.7 million. The loss was four percent more than the districts reported in 1979-80.

Local exemptions for the elderly were reported by 211 school districts for a

Fire training cuts city rates

Floydada firemen have made it possible for city residents to receive a discount rate on fire insurance.

Their attendance at fire training schools is one of the requirements for a key rate for the city.

This past week five members of the department attended the 52nd annual Firemen's training school at Texas A&M in College Station.

The 30-hour course consisted of classroom work and actual fire fighting on the field.

There were 1955 students attending from 21 states and 5 countries. "Anything pertaining to fire fighting they've got," remarked Floydada Fire Chief Bobby Welborn, who attended the school for the tenth year, is one of the instructors in the Firefighting II course.

He participated in a full day of fire fighting exercises including LPG fire control and pressure pit fires.

Another Floydada fireman, Dinks Eckert, served as instructor in the Firefighting I course which covered exercises in garage and cottage fires.

The city pays the expenses of three men to attend the school. They were Welborn, Eckert, and Jimmy Marquis.

The fire department sponsored Mike Reeves and John Guzman. Guzman also received a sponsorship from the Farm Bureau.

The training school used 362 instructors from many different areas in the U.S. A&M supplied a 93 member support staff.

U.S. Both paid and volunteer firemen attended.

"It doesn't matter whether they're paid or volunteer," Welborn said, "when they get to College Station they're all fire fighters. It's really something."

The training field is approximately 60 acres. Every type of fire is simulated. There is even a ship for on board fire fighting experience.

The first priority is safety. Welborn explained that a lecture period is held "before you fire the project. Then there's the demonstration," Welborn said. "There is a safety officer on the field at all times. If he sees anything wrong he comes over and straightens you out right quick."

The work is dangerous even in the control situations. A first aid station is located on the field and an ambulance is standing by at all times. There were no severe injuries this year.

Our 468 city officials and interested observers attended the demonstrations Wednesday which are designated as visitors day.

The credit hours earned by each fireman are applied toward his certification. The certification program was begun in 1975. The basic certification for volunteer firemen is 160 hours.

Fourteen members of the Floydada fire team are certified. Several others are close to meeting the requirements.

Other schools attended by the Floydada firefighters are held at Lubbock, Canyon and Abilene. There are two day courses. The school at A&M is the most complete covering five days.

World cotton producers have one-upped the U.S.D.A. by bringing in an estimated 65.5 million bales for the 1980-81 period, 300,000 bales over the most recent U.S.D.A. estimate. U.S. production remained at its previous of 11.1 million bales. The significant increase in the world and foreign figure is due, in large part, to Chinese production of 12.4 million bales, well over the U.S.D.A.'s original estimate. Total foreign production is now figured at 54.3 million bales - an all-time high. China also claims credit for the cotton consumption figures, also revised upward to record levels of an estimated 66.2 million bales, slightly over the 65.6 million bales consumed during 1979-80. Total foreign consumption is pegged at 60.4 million bales, of which China is responsible for 15.5 million with the U.S. credited with consuming 6 million bales plus.

Methodists to view 'Reflections of His Love'

REFLECTIONS OF HIS LOVE, a new film highlighting the life and ministry of Joni Eareckson, will be shown on Sunday, August 2, at the First United Methodist Church, 203 West Kentucky. The color feature, produced by World Wide Pictures, the film ministry of the Billy Graham Association, will be shown once, beginning at 8:00 p.m.

Miss Eareckson is the star of a recent theatrical motion picture, JONI, which relates the story of her diving accident, as a young girl, which left her paralyzed from the neck down. It chronicles her struggles to piece together her life and her faith in God, in spite of the devastating circumstances.

In REFLECTIONS OF HIS LOVE, Miss Eareckson, who is also the author of two best-selling books, JONI and A STEP FURTHER, tells of the great transformations that have taken place in her life because of her willingness to accept all of the things that have happened to her.

A remarkably talented young woman, Miss Eareckson is an artist of great merit, as well as an author, actress, and singer. She has learned to draw and paint with a brush held in her mouth. Her works have been displayed for exhibitions, as well as on a number of network television programs. More recently, her illustrations and paintings have become the basis for a major line of greeting cards, plaques, and framed prints.

REFLECTIONS OF HIS LOVE introduces the viewer to "the real Joni Eareckson. We meet her parents, her sisters, and her friends. We gain insight into the thoughts of the actors who played major roles in the movie, JONI, and we learn of her new personal ministry, Joni and Friends."

The determination and the depth of trust and faith that this young lady has developed can serve as an inspiration to us all. Although she is a quadriplegic, and does not have the use of her legs or arms, we actually witness her drive a van in this film. It's much more than a great physical and technical feat—it's a credit to her inner spirit.

The members of First United Methodist Church extend an open invitation to the community at large to attend this special screening. There is no admission charge. We feel everyone who attends will be touched by the remarkable life and witness of Joni Eareckson. It's really an unforgettable experience.

revenue loss of $8.4 million. Exemptions for disabled veterans and surviving spouses accounted for another $1.9 million of revenue loss.
The revenue loss from valuation of agricultural land on a productivity basis amounted to more than $86 million in 721 school districts. This was more than twice the $33.5 million loss reported in 1979-80 when use of productivity valuation was optional, and used by only 383 school districts. It became mandatory on January 1, 1980.
State totals mask the impact in some suburban and rural districts. In 110 school districts, productivity valuation of land cut the tax base by 25 percent or more. In these 110 districts, assessed valuations were reduced 41.5 percent by productivity valuation.
While school property tax levies increased by an average of 18.8 percent last year, there probably were few "average" taxpayers and many "exceptions."

Daniel, Henderson wed in double-ring ceremony

In a formal ceremony solemnized at 7:00 p.m., Saturday, July 18, Miss Dawn Sharon Kaylene Daniel and Mr. Daryl Hardin Henderson exchanged wedding vows at the First United Methodist Church in Quanah, Texas. Officiating the double-ring ceremony was the Rev. Hugh B. Daniel, father of the bride, and the Rev. Wesley Daniel, uncle of the bride of Littlefield.

The unity candle and brass candleholder were placed in the center of the altar, outlined by votive candles interwoven with garland. Slant candelabra and spiral candelabras flanked to each side of the bridal party. Behind the cross a large candelabra arched over the bride and groom which provided a soft glow for the recital setting.

Roady Spoonmore of Dallas and Joan Vestal of Quanah presented traditional pre-nuptial music and selections of the bride. The vocalist, Donna Swaringen of Lubbock, sang "Surely The Presence of The Lord Is In This Place", "Dave's Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The processional was "Trumpet Tune in D Major" and "Bridal Chorus." "The Wedding March" served as the recessional.

Presented in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a Victorian gown of white silk organdie and jeweled peu d'ange lace. The high rise bodice was appliqued in the jeweled lace and featured an Elizabethan ruffle at the neckline. The long lantern sleeves gathered to narrow cuffs.

The controlled skirt softly shirred and encircled at the hemline with a wide border of jeweled lace.

A detachable train flared from the shoulder yoke to chapel length. A veil of long petal tiers of illusion were worked throughout with tear drops of seed pearls and fell from a laced covered camelot headpiece. The soft veiling draped atop the entire length of the train.

The bride carried a cascade bouquet of white jaspette orchids and stephanotis, entwined with lemon leaves. Miss Kim Hickcox of Atlanta, Georgia was the maid of honor for the wedding ceremony. Her handkerchief cut pink gown was fashioned with a blouson bodice with flowing sleeves and skirt, completed by matching pink ballet slippers laced at the ankles. She carried a single votive candle encircled with fern accented with baby's breath. She also wore baby's breath in her hair.

The other bridal attendants were Miss Carol Lance and Milinda Chambers of Quanah, Miss Cheryl Coker of Brownwood, and Mrs. Kim Cooper of Ralls.

The attendants were attired identically to the maid of honor in gowns and shoes of pink. Each wore baby's breath in their hair, long seed pearls adorned their dresses, a brides gift as votive candles were carried.

Lighting the candles before the ceremony were Jennifer and Amy, twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth McNabb of Quanah. They were attired in floor length pink gowns off the shoulders and pink wrist corsages. Pearls, a brides gift completed their wedding attire.

The groom was attired in a light gray tuxedo, trimmed in dark gray with a pink sweetheart rose and stephanotis boutonniere. Bud Henderson, father of the groom serving as best man, was in a matching grey tuxedo. Groomsmen were Ted Young of Pecos, New Mexico, Church Drake of Quanah, Mike Melton of Vernon, and Buzz Cooper of Ralls.

Performing duties as ushers were Dane Daniel, brother of the bride, Andy Attaway and Dink Wilson of Quanah, Carl Foley of Grobeck.

For her daughters wedding day, Mrs. Daniel selected a formal length gown of burgundy and pink with a floral arrangement of silk flowers and five tapered candles, which was given to the bride.

Name cards with wedding bells motif were placed at each place setting.

The menu included taco salad, melon balls and homemade fruit ice cream. Those attending were the honoree, LaDelle Noland, her mother, Mrs. Sandra Noland, Nesa Jackson, Lisa Welborn, Lisa Noland and the hostess, Ima Jean and Jeanie Powell.

Many people have been asking me about drying and blanching in the microwave oven. The only foods which can be successfully dried in the microwave are herbs. Drying requires an outlet for moisture to escape from the oven, and microwave ovens currently on the market are not built to handle this problem. Blanching can be done successfully in the microwave, but I do not recommend it if you have a large amount of food to blanch. Small quantities may be microwave - blanched conveniently, but you must follow directions EXACTLY.

Steps to Blanching:

1. Prepare vegetables as you would for cooking.
2. Measure amount to be blanched and place in glass casserole.
3. Add water as directed.
4. Cover casserole.
5. MICROWAVE as directed in chart. Timings are for 600 to 675 watt microwave ovens set at cook, high, or full power setting.

6. Stir about halfway through cooking time.

7. Let vegetable stand in covered casserole 1 minute.

8. Empty vegetable into ice water to stop further cooking immediately. Once the vegetable feels chilled, spread on towel/ing to absorb excess moisture.

9. Package in freezer containers or pouches. Seal, label and freeze quickly.

Wood entertains guests Sunday

BY MRS. MURRAY JULIAN
South Plains, July 27:

Dinner guests Sunday after church services at the home of Mrs. Mamie Wood were the Rev. and Mrs. Cecil Osborne, her mother, Mrs. Corda Taylor of Muleshoe, Mrs. Gertrude Smitherman, who was an overnight guest with Mrs. Wood, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy also of Floydada, as was Mrs. Bonnie Moore. They all spent the afternoon visiting.

Mrs. Sally Reeves is getting along well at this time. She was at her sons, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Reeves, to spend the day Thursday. We were so glad to hear, also that Mrs. Carol Bell was brought home from the hospital in Plainview on last Thursday a week ago, and is doing fine.

Mrs. Bruce Julian (Janet) and boys, Clay and Wade, arrived here at the home of Mrs. M.M. Julian to spend the coming week, while Bruce is in Dallas attending a school at SMU the past two weeks. She is also visiting her folks—the Edell Moores, and the Kendis Julians. She brought Tim home Sunday, after his Dad had flown him up there to Perryton to spend the past week with Clay and Wade.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Kinnibrugh are spending the past week-end and part of this week, out at Ruidoso, New Mexico and guests with them are his brother, Mr. and Mrs. John and Valarie Kinnibrugh and John Mark and friend from Truscott and Vera. They are due home this Tuesday.

Mrs. Richard (Nina) Sanders and her sister, Mrs. Gene Evans of Plainview took their mother, Mrs. Mary Gresham, also of Plainview, down to Rising Star (east of Abilene) to spend Monday through Wednesday of last week with her sister, Mrs. Nina Grisham, and she visited there while Nina Sanders and Gene Evans spent most of that time in Brownwood and vicinity. The family all had a good reunion and visit together.

Sunday at the South Plains Baptist Church several visitors were present who were once members of the church, and Mrs. Bill Beedy was at one time pianist of the church for many years. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Beedy and Mrs. Gertrude Smitherman, all of Floydada, were church visitors. Renee Sanders was present although she does not get to attend often, as she comes out from Plainview. Mr. and Mrs. Gary Morris, parents of Gary and wife, were also visitors from Plainview. We were too happy to have Mrs. Cordy Taylor here for Sunday morning and Sunday night services.

This Friday, there will be a Baptist Men's Meeting held down at the Baptist Encampment with main speaker of the evening, Bailey Smith. The meal will be served at 5:00 p.m. Women will be guests of the men for the evening entertainment of music and speeches.

Sunday, July 19th, Mrs. Mamie Wood attended the surprise birthday dinner in Lubbock at the home of Sandra Burnett, held in honor of Mamie's daughter, Mrs. Juanell Teague. Mamie had spent the week-end in Lubbock at the home of her daughter and family. Mrs. Bonnie Moore accompanied her there, and she spent the week-end with her old friend, Mrs. Emma Holloway, who lives there in Lubbock on 54th Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Kendis Julian went to Post Sunday afternoon to meet Mr. and Mrs. Terry Julian and Dickie and Mitzi Julian who had spent last week there in Roscoe with the Terry Julians. Mitzi returned home with her folks.

Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham is at home again this week-end after a satisfying, wonderful trip across a lot of this part of the United States. She went with her brother, Warren Cyfert of Giddings, and other family members, and they camped out, from the starting of the trip. They left in May, and the nights through the Rockies, and the remote parts of Utah, Colorado, and back to South Dakota where their sister, Ruth and family, live were cold. We will get her story

Allsup's stores plan MD fund drive

Allsup's Convenience Stores, Inc., participants in the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, will conduct pre-telethon activities during the month of August, according to Kurt Verlei, Director of Public Relations. The Company will display collection canisters in all 207 Allsup's Convenience Stores throughout New Mexico, Texas, and Oklahoma.

"This is a very important part of fund raising prior to the telethon," said Verlei. "The Association receives no tax supported grants nor does it seek or receive fees from patients or their families," Verlei added. "Their programs are funded almost entirely by private contributors and corporations and, of course, through the Labor Day Telethon."

The Muscular Dystrophy Association is currently seeking causes and cures for 40 crippling neuromuscular related disorders. Free diagnostic services, therapeutic and rehabilitative follow-up care are provided by Muscular Dystrophy Association's 230 clinics at no cost to any individual suffering from one of the diseases covered by the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

Allsup's will also be conducting the Allsup's Doorbell Brigade. Area youngsters are encouraged, on August 29 and 30 to visit their local Allsup's store and pick up a collection packet. After collecting donations for Jerry's kids and returning them to the store, Allsup's will give them a free fountain drink of their choice.

Editorial

It is the day for every citizen of Floyd County to stand and give a shout of applause to our county commissioners for their far-sightedness in the creation of the Floyd Industrial Development Corporation.

Preparation is being backed by the Chamber of Commerce and the Lockney Chamber of Commerce.

Chambers, chamber manager in Lockney, and Gail Kring, chamber manager in Lockney, have worked together on this project. It particularly impressed that the chambers have chosen to work for the good of the entire county. This is an important first step.

Rev. Michael O'Connor's

Perspectives

Having been forced to leave another gathering in tears? Because of our "need" to know, we have developed an attitude which says we have a right to know. From that has come the concept that certain people are public people and therefore whatever happens to them is to be published for all the world to see.

I suppose there is a certain amount of truth or merit to that position, but it is more likely that our natural inclination towards being busybodies is more involved than our right to know. If we think we have the right to know what is going on in some people's lives, then it is only a short step to thinking we have some sort of right to know what is going on in anybody's life.

When there is a genuine concern for the welfare of others, then gaining information about them is useful, though that still does not give us a "right" to that information. Any other motive needs to be examined. Perhaps some things we think we need to know would be better left unknown.

Margie Savage's

My Savage World

One day I was cleaning the kitchen sink with ammonia. The household hints book said it would work very well. The stains were disappearing and so were the fumes—right up my nose. I was breathlessly gagging, coughing, and whizzing.

My husband, who was in the living room watching the "Galloping Gourmet" on TV, yelled, "Honey, something sure smells good. Are you making pear soup for supper?"

Not daring to answer for fear my voice would squeak through my rustling vocal cords, I ignored this remark. I quickly turned on the faucet, washing the foul liquid away. I hoped it would clear the drain's pipes as well as it had mine.

Sure enough, I heard a gurgling, gargling, coughing sound as the liquid reached the throat of the drain.

The book contained other useful hints for using ammonia. But I thought it best to wait for a gas mask before I tried them.

However, I noticed that my skin felt loose and saggy and my pores were enlarged. I looked in the book.

There in chapter five, under "Loose and Saggy Skin," it said, "If your skin feels loose and saggy and your pores are enlarged from ammonia exposure, the white of an egg will tighten it and make you beautiful."

I got the egg. First, I tied a red bandana, Aunt Jemima-fashion, around my hair to keep the egg out. Then I dapped the cold slimy goop all over my face. I accidentally got a little of the yolk in with the white giving my skin a tawny glow.

I could feel my skin tightening—tighter and tighter.

The next experiment would be with lemons. What could be safer? Besides, they matched my face, both in color and texture. I also needed a fish so I could take away its natural smell.

"Do you know the best way to keep a fish from smelling?" my daughter quipped.

"Yes, rub it with lemon juice," I said as I massaged the fish.

"Cut off its nose." She giggled as she ran out the door, letting the cat in.

Cut off his nose, indeed. I'd cut off his whole face. I never could stand a staring fish. As I gave it a whack decapitating it, I felt needles of pain climbing my leg.

The cat grabbed the fish and ran. I ran and grabbed the cat. I let him keep the fish. I wasn't about to argue with a grizzly beast named Bear. I tossed the cat and the fish out the door.

The book said if I would grind the lemon in my garbage disposal, it would give the kitchen a fresh smell. Then I remembered I didn't have a garbage disposal. I tossed the lemon into the sink anyway. It would probably clean as well as the ammonia, I reasoned.

By now, I was feeling quite weary. Not even consulting the book, I took a cucumber from the fridge, chopped off a couple of slices, ran my husband out of his easy chair, sat down, propped up my feet, and placed the cucumber on my tired eyes.

My husband sniffed around a little and went into the kitchen. There he saw the fish head, the chopped cucumber, and the mashed lemon. With a worried voice he asked, "Honey, would you like to eat out tonight?"

My goodness, I was beautiful already! I began untying the bandana. "Sure, just let me wash the egg off my face," I said as I took the cucumbers from my eyes.

Carol Lea Clark's

It's Not Easy

I was 18 the first time I flew in an airplane.

I talked my parents into paying for the trip to see a college boyfriend several hundred miles away by saying that I might never have the chance to fly again.

After all, they hadn't been on airplanes at that time. It just wasn't something that people did everyday.

Now I have lost count of the times I have flown, though I'm sure it is no more than average these days.

My daughter is only two and she has flown across that country three or four times, the first when she was less than six months old. She takes it for granted that flying is the way you go to see people.

So much of her vocabulary is of things that didn't exist when I was her age.

Photocopies, are an everyday occurrence. She wants "côpez" of the artwork she brings home from nursery school.

She easily works the tape player in the car, playing her favorite tapes. Only occasionally does she decide to take apart the tape or the player to see how it works.

I suppose by the time she is a teenager she will have a home computer that will hold her school work and a complete collection of 1990's equivalent of the Beatles.

I fully expect that when she is 18, she will plead that she needs to take the space shuttle to see her college boyfriend who is studying at Space Station University.

She'll probably tell me that it may be her only chance to go into space.

sents millions of responsible people enjoying that common good.

Respect for Law and the desire for Order must be gained in childhood. Having a "friend at headquarters" helps.

But the heart of the matter is our early discovery of God. His love for us... His expectations of us... the hopes and promises that give life its highest meaning.

Headquarters for moral and spiritual growth is the Church, with its program of religious education. There can be found our most enriching friendships.

Law and Order. Lately we've been making those words sound grim. Because we've all been painfully aware of moral deterioration in our society.

Actually Law is a friendly word. It connotes a sense of community in which each is willing to adapt his behavior to the common good of all.

And Order is a happy word. It repre-

IRS test deadline approaching

Applicants who wish to take the 1981 Internal Revenue Service Special Enrollment Examination must have their applications postmarked no later than August 17, 1981, the IRS said. No extensions of time to file for the examination will be granted.

The examination is scheduled to take two days: Monday and Tuesday, October 5 and 6, 1981. It is given annually in each IRS district to qualify persons other than attorneys or certified public accountants to represent clients before the IRS.

The application fee has been increased to $50 for those taking all four parts of the examination, and $40 for prior year examinees taking fewer than four parts. All checks must be made payable to the "Internal Revenue Service."

Those interested in taking the examination should request a free IRS Special Enrollment Examination application packet. The packet contains Publication 486 which outlines the general requirements for enrollment and identifies sources of tax information which are helpful in preparing for the examination. The examination will include true or false, multiple choice, and problem-type questions. The packet also includes Form 2587, "Application for 1981 Enrollment Examination;" Publication 693, "Special Enrollment Examination Questions and Answers;" Treasury Department Circular No. 230, "Regulations Governing the Practice of Attorneys, Certified Public Accountants, Enrolled Agents, and Enrolled Actuaries Before the Internal Revenue Service;" Publication 1054, "Highlights of Rules for Tax Return Preparers;" Publication 1140, "Special Enrollment Examination Background Material for Applicants;" and a Form 4190A which is a special order form for requesting Special Enrollment Examination Study Materials.

Prior year issues of Form 2587 will not be accepted because of certain revisions made to the form for 1981. Publication 486 and the Special Enrollment Examination Study Materials packet can be ordered by calling IRS. In Dallas, call 742-2440; in Fort Worth, call 335-1370, and elsewhere in Texas, call 1-800-492-4830.

Few windfall profits tax returns filed

The Internal Revenue Service said that very few Federal excise tax returns for crude oil windfall profit tax have been filed from persons who received income from producing oil wells in 1980.

District Director Richard Voskuil said that IRS had expected to receive several thousand Forms 720 from the northern Texas district. "They were due June 1, and we received less than a thousand," he said. "We suspect that many persons may not recognize the requirement for filing an annual excise tax return."

Essentially, taxpayers who did not have enough windfall profit tax withheld during 1980 should file Form 720, Quarterly Federal Excise Tax Return. He suggests that all royalty owners and oil companies, as well as estates, trusts, and others receiving income from producing wells, should review the requirements for filing the return.

To determine the under-withheld amount, subtract the total of the amounts entered on line 4, Part IV, from the total of the amounts entered on line 3, Part IV, of all Form(s) 6248. The amount should be reported on the line entitled Annual Return under Crude Oil Windfall Profit Tax.

Taxpayers with questions about the filing requirement may contact IRS. In Dallas call 742-2440; in Fort Worth call 335-1370; elsewhere in Texas 1-800-492-4830.

EDNA PHILLIPS

Phillips gives endowment to Wayland Baptist University

(Editor's Note) Edna Phillips has been a Floyd County resident since 1907. She has taught school all around the area. She retired from teaching in 1972. Mrs. Phillips has provided an endowment for Wayland Baptist University for a student interested in Christian education and teaching. She has written a brief autobiography for the Hesperian.)

When I was converted at eleven years in Martha, Oklahoma, a voice from the Lord said, "loud and clear you are to be a missionary to China." My father rejected so I promised the Lord to give my all to teaching which has been a blessing in my life; also am thankful that God helped me to leave an Endowment Scholarship Fund to Wayland Baptist University for some worthy person in Christian Education or in teaching.

I began my teaching profession at the age of seventeen years by taking a State Examination which gave me a four year State Certificate, from that I went on teaching winters and attending college in summers with correspondence courses to prepare for the future.

I did all my teaching in the Floydada area my first school was at Campbell in 1915 with a salary of $35 per month; also taught a number of years at Starkey, Sandhill in rural schools.

In 1933 when I received my Bachelor of Science degree from West Texas University I went to Cone, Texas where I taught twenty years; then to Floydada Elementary school where I taught twenty-six years until retirement in May 1972 by giving fifty-two years to my beloved profession. During this time I attended Texas Tech and received my Masters Degree in Primary Education in 1954 which increased my salary from the early days. I enjoyed the years of school teaching it was my life and what I loved.

In all my teaching I tried to build character and Patriotism in my students.

In the First Baptist Church at Floydada I taught Junior boys and girls for forty years. Then I was drafted to teach an adult ladies class which was a pleasure for there were no discipline problems.

I also did some traveling went to see the Passion Play in Germany in 1970.

Then in 1973 accompanied by my daughter, we toured the Holy Land and stood in the cave where Joseph, Mary and the Christ child stayed while in Egypt.

In 1972 I received a plaque and a gold bell from the state of Texas representing fifty-two years of dedicated teaching service.

My aim was to get Senior Citizens together to discuss their problems and lay plans that would make life more enjoyable and helpful to them. I served two years as promoter until my health failed I have had a long and happy life.

CCC grain pricing policy announced

A policy geared toward minimum disruption in market prices was announced recently by Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block for the sale of Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) uncommitted stocks of corn and grain sorghum.

Only a portion of the stocks will be sold at the minimum sales price, under the policy. Bids on additional increments will be accepted at succeeding higher prices, or at later dates.

"I think it is important to note that we will not be selling from these inventories, even at the minimum price, until we are certain that the market will not be greatly disrupted," Block said. "This scale-up pricing strategy will allow the market to determine how much and where grain will be sold, once we decide to sell."

The minimum sales price, which will vary by location, will be calculated as follows: 115 percent times the county loan rate plus carrying charges for interest, storage, and handling -- except for certain inland and port terminal locations which will be shown in the offering. The carrying charges will be 54 cents per bushel for both corn and grain sorghum. The national average minimum sales price will be $3.13 per bushel for corn and $3 per bushel for grain sorghum.

There were 199 million bushels of corn and 13.9 million bushels of grain sorghum in the uncommitted CCC inventory as of July 2. Most of the corn was purchased by the CCC to stabilize markets after the Soviet grain embargo was announced. The grain sorghum was forfeited to CCC under the price support program.

Farmers and livestock feeders will be encouraged to bid on CCC stocks under a new procedure which allows bids to be accepted on quantities as low as 1000 bushels. County ASCS offices will serve farmers as a source of information in regard to these sales.

The offering for sale of corn for unrestricted use at the market price, but not less than 105 percent of 145 percent of the 1980 loan rate for the States of Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Tennessee, is deleted effective 8:00 CDT July 27.

Effective 8:00 CDT July 27 a nationwide offering of CCC-owned corn for unrestricted use has been added to the July 1981 Monthly Sales List. The minimum sales price for corn is as follows:

UNRESTRICTED USE SALES: (Storable, Bulk, Basis Instore)

The minimum sales price that CCC will consider for acceptance is the market price, as determined by CCC, but not less than the formula price which is 115 percent of the 1980 county loan rate for U.S. No. 2 yellow corn when stored, plus 54 cents carrying charges, plus transit value, if any.

Loan differentials will be applied in determining the formula price of the corn.

Telephonic offers to buy will be received by the Kansas City Commodity Office, Houston Branch Office or the Portland Branch Office during any business day between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m., local time. No collect phone calls will be accepted. Telephonic acceptance, if not immediate, will be made as soon as possible but not later than 9:30 a.m. central time (market opening) of the next business day. A written confirmation of sale will follow.

The minimum quantity CCC will consider for acceptance is 1,000 bushels.

CCC reserves the right to reject any or all offers received.

GENERAL

The Commodity Credit Corporation (hereinafter called CCC) invites offers to purchase yellow corn from CCC for unrestricted use. Offers will be received and sales will be made on a first-come, first-served basis. The order of receipt of offers and sales will be determined by CCC.

SUBMISSION OF OFFERS

The basis of the offer is "storable, bulk, instore." The minimum sales price that CCC will consider for acceptance shall be the higher of the market price, as determined by CCC, or the formula price which is 115 percent of the 1980 county loan rate for U.S. No. 1 yellow corn where stored plus carrying charges for interest, storage and handling. The carrying charges will be 54 cents per bushel, if applicable, premiums, discounts and transit values shall be applied when determining the formula or market price.

An instore sale means that CCC will surrender to a buyer, in return for payment, ownership of grain in a specific warehouse. Since the buyer receives ownership of the grain in the warehouse, the buyer, and not CCC, must pay the warehouseman to load the grain out. Storage and related charges after transfer of title will be at the rate agreed upon between the buyer and the warehouseman and are for the account of the buyer. Title and risk of loss passes to the buyer upon receipt of payment by CCC; therefore, if the buyer requires that the commodity be insured, he must make any necessary arrangements with the warehouseman. Any difference in quality and/or quantity as shown on the warehouse receipt or applicable loading order and that delivered by the warehouseman will be a matter solely between the buyer and the storing warehouseman.

If another basis is desired or required, the basis and terms of the sale must be adjusted accordingly. For example, an f.o.b. buyer's conveyance sale means that CCC will pay the loadout charges and the buyer will furnish the rail cars or trucks at the storage location. If CCC and the buyer agree to an f.o.b. buyer's conveyance, the sales price and terms must be adjusted to reflect the change in the basis of sale.

MINIMUM QUANTITY

The minimum quantity CCC will consider for acceptance is 1,000 bushels.

WHERE AND WHEN TO SUBMIT OFFERS

Telephonic offers will be received during any business day between the hours of 8:00 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. local time. No collect calls will be accepted.

Inquiries and offers to buy corn stored in the States of Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Connecticut, Delaware, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New Mexico, New York, North Carolina, North Dakota, Indiana, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, South Carolina, South Dakota, Tennessee, Virginia, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming should be directed to: United States Department of Agriculture, Agricultural Stabilization Conservation Service, P.O. Box 2415 Washington, D.C. 20013.

Information needed for the burcellosis program

The Texas Animal Health Commission and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station are seeking information from the state's livestock producers and cattle auction markets to assist in a cost-benefit study for the Texas burcellosis program.

Two thousand cattlemen and 161 livestock auction markets are being contacted by mail in this effort.

"We are seeking information which we can incorporate into the Texas burcellosis program to make it more practical for the cowman," Dr. John Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, explained. Cooperating in this project is Dr. Neville P. Clarke, director, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, College Station.

Of the 2,000 livestock producers, half of them will involve quarantined herds for beef and dairy.

Open Holes Still A Hazard

This article was taken from THE CROSS SECTION, a publication of High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1.

All rescue attempts finally failed. Only a high powered microphone captured the last small whimpers of six-year-old Alfredo Rampi before his death. The boy had stumbled and slithered more than 200 feet down a 16 inch abandoned well hole near his grandparent's home in Frascati, Italy. His body wedged into the well's narrowing mud wall, then slipped another 80 feet beyond the grasp of desperate rescue operations. He died perhaps only hours later while rescuers and the entire nation kept vigil and hoped for a miracle.

Earlier this year the body of 22-month-old Chris Brents was also found at the bottom of a 40 foot open hole with a ten inch casing. It was just a few yards from his Louisiana home.

These tragic losses might have been prevented if those open holes had been adequately covered. Such grim well sites, or to locate them in conjunction with other programs of the district.

The table below lists a record of open hole investigations for each county since 1970. It indicates vigilance is still needed to remind landowners of their responsibility to protect human and animal life. Pollution of the aquifer is also a serious potential threat which can occur through these abandoned well holes.

The staff will continue its surveillance with the help of topographic maps, replacement well permit records and visual clues. They will monitor reminders underscore the importance of the High Plains Water District's program to locate and cap abandoned wells within our 15 county service area.

District rules and state law require landowners or operators to properly cover any well, cistern or hole that is more than ten inches and less than six feet in diameter. The covering must be permanent and withstand a 400 pound weight. The law also requires that any abandoned well or hole ten or more feet deep be completely filled or capped at the ten foot depth with a permanent plug and filled from the plug to the surface.

In the water district service area in excess of 11 hundred abandoned or uncovered wells have been closed since 1951. Over half that number were discovered and closed since 1978. District engineer technician, Obbie Goolsby, was recently commended by the Board of Directors for his lead responsibility and diligence in locating and in getting covered more than 550 open wells in the past three years.

The search intensified in 1970 when the district completed a survey of Parmer County to locate all existing and abandoned wells. It took nine years for district staff to completely drive out the service area of each of the 15 counties to identify abandoned
