School board accepts budget

Floydada school board formally accepted the local maintenance budget for the year ending August 31 at their regular meeting Tuesday night. The budget has been approved by a 6-1 vote.

Members tentatively approved the proposed plan for the year ending August 31 at a meeting last month and have been studying the proposed plan for several weeks.

Members also set August 24 as the date for a meeting to approve the budget. There will be no tax increase.

The meeting is slated for 7:30 p.m. at the National Bank of Floydada to amend the 1980-1981 budget.

Transportation insurance was awarded to Farm Bureau. The opening of sealed bids, accepted resignations from FHS math aide: Carolyn RCA math aide: Those who were for employment were Duncan math aide: Shelda library aide: Penny Undergarten and Janie Beebe.

Canon said only one teacher is needed. A depository was received from the National Bank of Floydada.

Consumer's Fuel Association received the bid for fuel for transportation.

Bell Dairy Products received the bid for milk products.

City Auto won the bid to purchase four busses from the school district.

CRIME CALL
983-5200

Crime call is offering a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of individuals who broke into Mrs. Edwards home at 519 West Lee in Floydada.

Antiques and other items were stolen in the July 16 break-in. Information about the break-in can be reported to Crime Call, 983-5200.

City council keeps tax rate

The city council voted not to raise the tax rate in 1982. Wayne Russell made the motion that the rate remain at 40 cents. Frank Breed seconded the motion and the vote carried unanimously.

Another complaint about odor within the city limits was heard. This time residents along South Wall street complained about the butane smell in their neighborhood coming from a gas station.

The last complaint of odor within the city was from residents in the area of cattle truck parking. The city filed a complaint against the cattle trucking company. A jury trial however, found in favor of the trucking company.

Harley Vick, representing the residents complaining about the butane smell, was advised to take the complaint to the Air Control Board.

Paul Westbrook had asked that the city release two lots in the block of land donated by Geraldine Murray and Bert Massie for the city park.

The two lots, number 13 and 15 in block 132, are south of the Massie Activity Center near the highway. City Manager, Bill Feuerbacher, said that because of the location, the lots were not used as part of the park or any other city uses.

Westbrook owns the property adjoining lot 15.

Council voted to release the lots back to the Massie estate so that they could be sold to Westbrook.

Lynn Sparkman, of McMorris and Associates, the city engineers, opened bids for water line extension to the new elevated water tower. The job was awarded to low bidder, Taylor Company of Amarillo.

Roger Garms, the manager of Energas, discussed the proposed rate increase with council members. At his suggestion, a resolution was passed to give the City Council more time to study the proposed rate.

Council voted to ask for bids for fencing in three areas. Feuerbacher informed the council that there has been some vandalism of city trucks and machinery. He proposed fencing an area adjacent to the warehouse to protect city property.

He also proposed a fence for the sewer lift and for the new water tower.

Hightower gets Floyd County

Governor William Clements is expected to sign a bill tomorrow that will change Floyd County's congressional district for the second time in less than a decade.

The bill, approved by the Texas House Sunday on an 86-14 vote and by the senate Monday on an 18-13 vote, moves Floyd County from the 17th Congressional District of Charles Stenholm (D-Stamford) into the 13th Congressional District of Jack Hightower (D-Vernon).

A spokesman for the Governor, who had supported the bill, said there was no chance the bill would be vetoed.

Hightower, who represented Floyd County for eight years in the Texas Senate, said he was pleased the redistricting issue was settled at last.

"I'm sure glad this is settled and Floyd County is back in my district," Hightower said. "I'm delighted. I represented Floyd County for eight years in the state senate and I've got a lot of good friends in Floyd County."

Some Floyd County residents felt that if the county's district was going to be changed, it should have been moved into the 19th congressional district of Kent Hance (D-Lubbock) because Floyd County has more identification with Lubbock than it does with Amarillo, which is also in Hightower's district.

But Congressman Hightower doesn't agree.

"I think the economic interests of Floyd County are very similar to that of surrounding counties in my district," Hightower said.

The Congressman said each county in his district faces similar problems.

"The problems facing Floyd County are the same as the problems facing the country. First we have to lick inflation and interest rates have to level off and begin going down," Hightower said.

"Floyd County is a great agricultural producing county and farmers all over are facing inadequate prices for their commodities," Hightower said.

"The farmer has to pay high costs for energy and everything he buys," Hightower said. With the low prices he gets for his commodities the high costs are devastating for the farmer."

Hightower's nearest office to Floyd County is in Amarillo in the old Post Office building. He also has offices in his hometown of Vernon and in Wichita Falls.

Congressman Hightower will speak to a combined meeting of the Floydada Lions and Rotary Clubs on Wednesday August 19 at noon. He will also be at the Floydada National Bank at 1:00 p.m.

Mackenzie ahead of schedule

Water from the Mackenzie Reservoir will be coming to Lockney, Floydada, Tulia and Silverton sooner than expected.

The manager of the Mackenzie Water Authority, Neil Taylor, said the reservoir may be able to provide water to the four towns by late 1983. It had been forecast earlier that water would not be available from the reservoir until 1984.

Taylor said the Farmers Home Administration loan of $7,363,000 approved last month came just in time to keep the water project moving ahead.

The reservoir was built without federal or state funds after the voters of Floyd, Swisher and Briscoe Counties approved the project in 1969.

Inflation and a lack of rainfall almost killed the project.

Silverton nearly dropped out of the project when it almost ran out of water. However, Silverton drilled five new wells to provide water until the reservoir begins functioning.

Since 1970, because of the water shortage, Silverton's population has dropped 10.5 percent while Tulia's has declined 4.9 percent.

However, the combination of water in the future plus lake recreation has pushed Lockney's population up 11.5 percent and Floydada's up two percent.

Taylor said he believes completion of the project will mean population in-

Each weekend, Taylor said, large crowds are coming to the reservoir for recreational purposes.

With the reservoir drawing people from Lubbock and Amarillo, a new park and campground are being built and Taylor said the two boat ramps and the beach are being given thorough maintenance to keep the area safe and clean.

As agreed in the November, 1980 bond election for Mackenzie, residents of the four towns will not receive a tax increase until after they begin receiving water from Mackenzie.

When service begins, a tax increase will be needed to pay for the $3,405,000 in general obligation bonds for the raw water pump station and lines to bring the treatment station.

Water contracts with the four cities will pay the $11,326,000 in revenue bonds for the construction of high rise pumps, the one-million-gallon storage reservoir near Rock Creek, and the treatment plant and transmission lines to the four towns.

Taylor said that engineering contracts should be awarded by March of next year and work should begin by June of next year.

One of the first problems that will face the engineers will be the purchase of right-of-way for transmission lines near highway 86 and farm road 378.

Taylor said all four towns should begin receiving water at about the same time, depending on the engineering contracts awarded next year.

Cotton crop progressing well

The cotton crop across the area is making excellent progress. Most of the crop is ahead of schedule when compared to crops planted prior to 1976.

"Rains have generally been beneficial for cotton plants and will help fruit retention. However, recent rains have increased pest problems," said Dr. James F. Leser, Area Extension Entomologist of Lubbock. Aphids (mainly the cotton aphid with colors ranging from yellow, to green, brown and black) have increased to very heavy levels in many fields across a wide area. Heavy numbers may stop plant growth and encourage excessive fruit shed.

Some aphids appeared on area cotton crops about two weeks ago before last week's rains.

County agent Jett Major said Crosby county was affected and the aphids move gradually to Floyd County.

Major said the rain has made the condition worse as aphids reproduce faster in cooler, damp weather.

Major said the most affected crops were in fields on the east side of the county.

But agriculturalists really don't know for sure what the aphids will do. Also, just because some fields have heavy aphid infestations doesn't mean all aphid infested fields may need treatments.

A limited treatment program in the heaviest fields or portions of fields is recommended.

Some suggested chemicals farmers might want to look at for aphid control include: Orthene at 1 1/2 oz. per acre, Lorsban at 1/8 pint per acre or perhaps Systox at 1/2 pint per acre.

Don't use Di-Syston as some people have suggested. It's use is illegal once cotton is blooming. Some people have even tried lower rates," said Leser. What we are after is aphid suppression, not eradication. This will buy needed time and minimize beneficial insect and spider kill.

Avoid using most of the standard aphid insecticides unless you want to wipe-out your "beneficials." Also, avoid using Systox in ground rigs.

"If farmers have to treat for bollworms and want to knock out aphids - the pyrethroids will give good aphid suppression," said Leser.

Will the aphids go away, and if so, when? Aphids will probably be around for awhile. Hard, driving rains can knock them back sometimes, and hot, dry weather conditions can hold them in check.

"But, generally, the aphid predators and parasites are going to have to bring the aphids under control - and their numbers are variable across the area. Some fields have good aphid predator activity and some aphid mummies showing up, but many others have poor beneficial activity," said Leser.

Aphids can develop wings and fly to new plants or new fields. "If you ride a motorcycle, you already are well aware of the swarms of winged aphids in the air. Many aphid infestations "crash" because of their own crowding, and not because of any other factors," said Leser.

The biggest worry facing producers with aphid treatment decisions is the danger of setting off a bollworm outbreak. "How do you set off a bollworm outbreak? By killing most, if not all of the bollworm predators in a large area with aphid treatments. Many of the aphid predators are either poor bollworm predators or are not bollworm predators. These include lady beetles and syrphid fly larvae. Fields heavily infested with aphids and with good aphid predators could still easily get into bollworm trouble.

Bollworms tend to lay eggs low on aphid infested plants, making detection and control difficult. Aphid predators are not going to search for scattered bollworms when dense colonies of aphids are readily available on their banquet table.

"If aphids are heavy, bollworm predators light, and you want to treat, feel more at ease to use low rates of the suggested aphid control chemicals," said Leser.

The bottom line is that farmers don't know if aphid control will pay. Aphid control sometimes can increase bollworm problems, but the decision to control aphids must be the individual's.

Two species of aphids, or plant lice, feed on cotton plants; the cotton aphid and the black cowpea aphid. Natural control by predators, parasites and unfavorable weather is usually effective in holding populations below damaging levels.

Heavy infestations of aphids can cause young leaves to curl downward, older leaves to turn yellow and shed, and squares and small bolls to shed. Severe infestations early in the boll maturation period can cause defoliation and premature boll opening, resulting in incomplete development of fiber.

Honeydew excreted by the aphids can drop on fibers of open bolls. A black, sooty fungus sometimes develops a honeydew deposits during wet periods. Fiber from such bolls is stained, sticky, of lower quality and difficult to harvest.

Pioneer earnings are up

(AMARILLO) — Pioneer Corporation achieved record 1981 second quarter earnings and revenues, the diversified energy resources corporation announced.

For the three months ended June 30, Pioneer earned 76 cents per share, an increase of 26.7 percent from the comparable figure a year ago. Net income for the quarter was $28.4 million, up 26.8 percent, and consolidated revenues amounted to $308 million, a 31.2 percent increase.

The revenues and net income were the highest Pioneer has ever attained for any second quarter.

Pioneer's profitability in the second quarter rested principally on the performance of its operations in oil and gas exploration and production, natural gas special contract sales, natural gas liquids extraction, and contract drilling for the petroleum industry. K.B. Watson, president and chief executive officer, said.

"Those operations have led the corporation to 2 1/2 year—10 consecutive quarters—of consistent earnings growth each quarter over the comparable period a year earlier," he said. "They are also the segments of Pioneer's business that are receiving the most emphasis for expansion this year."

Watson said revenues from oil and gas production increased 64 percent in the second quarter over the same period a year ago. During the quarter, the corporation's petroleum exploration and production subsidiary, Pioneer Production Corporation, participated in 28 wells, including 13 completed as gas wells and six as oil wells. At the end of the quarter, Pioneer had interests in 50 onshore and five offshore wells being drilled or completed.

Pioneer production is a member of a group that was the high bidder on seven blocks offered at the federal offshore lease sale in July. Pioneer's interests in those blocks range from 15 to 20 percent.

Watson also announced that construction proceeded on schedule during the quarter on a new Pioneer Gas Products Company gas processing plant near Sweetwater, Texas. That plant is expected to begin operating in October. In addition, the company has begun a modernization project for another plant, with completion planned for the spring of 1982.

Pioneer's contract drilling subsidiary, Sharp Drilling Co., Inc., completed construction in the second quarter of a new rig, owned by a limited partnership with Sharp as the general partner. When the quarter ended, Sharp was constructing two other partnership rigs for use by the company's new Rocky Mountain division. Two more rigs will be added to the fleet during the last half of this year.

Watson reported that Pioneer's board of directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 22 cents per share, payable September 2 to stockholders of record August 20, 1981.

Draft registration is continuing

Young men who reach their eighteenth birthday are required by law to register with Selective Service at any U.S. Post Office.

Registration is a simple process. Within 30 days of his 18th birthday, a man fills out a registration form which asks only for name, address, phone number, social security number, and date of birth.

The purpose of registration is to have available on a computer the names of men born in 1960 and later years, who could be contacted quickly if there ever were a national emergency and congress were to declare an induction.

Peacetime registration will save the United States at least 4 weeks time in mobilizing its manpower in an emergency. This is especially important with today's all volunteer force. There are only 2 million men in the Armed Services today, but we would need many more men quickly should an emergency arise - for example, in World War II we had 10 to 16 million men bearing arms depending upon the stage of the conflict.

Registration and revitalization of the selective service do not signal a return to a draft. They are simply emergency preparedness measures. President Reagan is firmly committed to making the all volunteer force a success, supporting incentives to recruit and retain volunteers.

To date, nearly 6 million men have registered. Failure to register is a felony, punishable by a maximum penalty of a $10,000 fine and/or five years in prison.

BRON DUNAWAY work in their home as they prepare for a showing today and tomorrow at Plainview's Joy

Dunaways display calligraphy, frames at Plainview bookstore

The couple has combined talents with ingenuity and a business sense to create "Handwritten calligraphy and frame shop." Ellen Dunaway, 817 Mission, will be featured at the "Joy Bookstore in Plainview today through August 13 and 14. Her work is scriptural and thoughts," said Mrs. Dunaway. She has purchased calligraphy courses three years ago. He has purchased pens and paper and a light board for carefully planned printing and praised his teacher, Jerry Snyder. He said that he began as a way to do better bulletin boards at school where he is a high school science teacher. He estimates that he spends at least one to three hours on each work. He begins by using graph paper to plan the design and often matts his works after completion. Mrs. Dunaway has made several interesting matts and decorations that are added to the calligraphy pieces to give them a finished look. She uses a technique called paper quilting. The Dunaways offer custom sayings, descriptions and birth announcements. They also take a variety of pieces with them to various art shows. This year, the couple has been to Snyder, Floydada, Lockney and Lubbock showings.

They have plans to attend shows in Muleshoe, Lubbock and Hereford. Mr. Dunaway will teach calligraphy classes in Hereford. The Dunaways work is carried in stores in Midland, Amarillo, Hale Center, Plainview, Lubbock and Odessa. "We have frames available, at a limited source; Most of our frames are custom frames with a 2 to 3 week wait depending on supplier availability," said Mr. Dunaway. Mr. Dunaway said the calligraphy pens are precision instruments that have nothing to do with the way one actually writes. He uses two techniques, the copper plate and the advanced dipped pin methods. He will teach both methods when he begins his Floydada classes in the fall.

Double ring ceremony unites Hardin, Finley

The First Baptist Church of Floydada was the setting for the wedding of Rosemary Hardin and Jimmy Wayne Finley Saturday, August 8. Dr. Floyd C. Bradley, pastor officiated at the 8 o'clock p.m. double ring ceremony.

The bride, a graduate of Floydada High School, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dwight Hardin. She attended Wayland Baptist University and is a senior at Texas Tech University. The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Wayne Finley, is also a graduate of Floydada High School and is a senior at Texas Tech University. The couple will be at home in Lubbock following a wedding trip to Ruidoso and Santa Fe, New Mexico.

Prelude music was provided by Mrs. David Seay, organist and Mrs. Mack Hickerson, pianist, both of Floydada. Mrs. Hickerson also accompanied soloist Barry Watts of Lubbock as he sang "Sunrise, Sunset" - Harnick-Bock, "Longer" - Fogelberg and "The Wedding Hymn" - Burns. She also accompanied Harvey Allen of Floydada as he played a harmonica solo, "Edelweiss" - Rodgers, "Hymn To Joy" - Beethoven was used as the processional. The traditional marches were used for the entrance of the bride.

As wedding guests entered the church foyer, their names were secured in the bridal book by Kara Copeland of Floydada.

Large plaques of woodwardia fern placed high in the baptistry above the choir loft and large palms of commadore foliage formed the background for the exchange of vows. A brass arch candelabra flanked by a pair of brass tiered candelabra holding floral arrangements of burgundy gladiolus and pink killian daisies gave an impressive candlelight to the ceremony. Woodwardia fern covered the pulpit area and brass baskets holding arrangements of burgundy gladiolus and pink daisies completed the nuptial scene. The bridal aisle was decorated by brass candelabra with burgundy and pink trim.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white knit chiffon gown designed by Alfred Angelo of New York. The bodice featured a Queen Anne neckline accented with pearls and sequins. The entire bodice was covered in re-embroidered Chantilly lace and dropped to a scalloped waistline. The pleated bishop sleeves gathered to a cuff of re-embroidered lace accented with pearls and sequins with covered button enclosures. The waistline fell to a chiffon skirt with Venice lace and pearl appliques adorning the front. An inverted "V" design outlined in re-embroidered lace was center front and draped to the back. The hemline was finished in a row of re-embroidered lace and encircled the cathedral length train. Inside the inverted "V" shape on the train were accordion pleats that extended the length of the train.

To complete her ensemble, the bride wore a matching white veil. The capulet was covered in re-embroidered lace with a double layer of silk illusion gathered to the capulet. The edges of both layers of illusion were finished in re-embroidered lace.

She carried a trailing bouquet of silk sweetheart rose buds, stephanotis and baby's breath. "Something old" was a linen handkerchief carried by the bride's mother in her wedding; "something borrowed" was a string of fresh water pearls borrowed from her cousin, Mrs. Mike Giesecke. "Something new" was a pair of diamond earrings, a gift from the bridegroom and "something blue" was the traditional wedding garter, a gift from her aunt, Mrs. Norman Muncy. Pennies minted in the year of the bridegroom and bride's birth were carried for good luck.

Mrs. Mark Hart, Stinnett, served as matron of honor. Other attendants were Mrs. Mike Giesecke, Pamela Muncy, cousins of the bride, Kay Lyn Rainer and Jana Finley, sister of the groom, all of Floydada, Mrs. Rick Covington of Lubbock and Kimm Dillard, cousin of the bride, of Lubbock served as junior bridesmaid. The attendants wore gowns of burgundy chiffon fashioned with a scoop neckline. The attached capelet fell in handkerchief points. From the natural waisted bodice flowed a ballerina length handkerchief skirt. The junior bridesmaid wore a gown of pink organza with a V-neckline edged with a double flare ruffle. A full A-line skirt with a deep flare ruffle at the hemline caught up in the back to give a bustle silhouette. The attendants wore headpieces of forward clusters of burgundy lilies of the valley and velvet leaves holding a shoulder length veil of illusion. The junior bridesmaid wore a headpiece of clusters of pink lilies of the valley and velvet leaves.

The attendants carried cascade bouquets of rubrum lily blooms showered in pink pixie carnations, alstroemeria lily blooms and small Mary Devor rose buds. Serving as best man was Sheldon Sue, of Floydada. Groomsmen included Jonny Finley, brother of the bridegroom, Terry Willson, Kerry Pratt, Hugh Miller, all of Floydada, and Rick Covington of Lubbock.

Mrs. Hardin was escorted by Terry Willson, Mrs. Finley escorted by her son Jonny.

The bride's mother wore a carpet length dress of dusty rose chiffon and the groom's mother wore a carpet length dress of mint green knit. Each wore corsages of Mary Devor miniature rose buds to complement their dresses.

Grandparents attending the wedding were Mrs. Robert Garrett, Mrs. Jess Daniel, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Finley all of Floydada, and Mr. and Mrs. B.C. Hardin, Sr. of McAdoo.

RECEPTION

Following the ceremony a reception was given by the bride's parents in the Wall Street parlor of the church. The bride's table was covered with an ecru lace cloth. Prediction: It'll be Childress again

BY BILL GRAY
Once again, District 3-AAA will be one of the better balanced districts in Region I for the 1981 season of Texas High School football. It will be difficult for a team to go undefeated in District play, a feat accomplished by newcomer Childress in the 1980 campaign. Tulia appears to have the best overall material, with Abernathy, Floydada, and Childress about evenly matched. Idalou and Lockney could be real spoilers, and a co-championship, or even a tri-championship seems very possible. The Tulia-Floydada contest on November 13 could well be for "all the marbles."

Here is a team-by-team breakdown, and (this writer's opinion) what may be in store for our "Friday Night Heroes" this Fall. (Teams rated in order of predicted finish)

1. TULIA: Veteran team with experience at skill positions, especially at fullback and receivers. Strong at defensive ends — weak at linebackers and defensive secondary.

Summary: Mediocre defense could allow lots of points, but with potent offense, Hornets could be involved in several high-scoring games. (Predicted season record: 8-2)

2. (Tie) ABERNATHY: Well-balanced attack, featuring potential All-State tackle, Rick Houston. Unproven quarterback, but good depth at running backs. Solid, but not outstanding defense.

Summary: Could challenge for title if QB and receivers come around. (Predicted season record: 6-4)

2. (Tie) FLOYDADA: Strong nucleus of Seniors for leadership. Could have outstanding QB in district in Todd Beedy, who has good size plus experience. Several talented underclassmen, including Mike Salazar and Donnell Weeks, should step in and contribute a lot. Offense is questionable, due to lack of depth, but could have the premier defense in the district. Once again opens district play against defending champion Childress. A solid win here by the 'Winds could set the stage for a real dogfight!

Summary: Could be throne time again for L.G.'s troops if key people stay healthy. (Predicted season record: 7-2-1)

4. CHILDRESS: Lost host of skill performers to graduation. Lack of depth at running backs could hurt, but has one of the best in the area in Donald Sims. Five defensive regulars return, but the ranks of experienced players are rather thin.

Summary: The Bobcats are tough to beat at home. Winning tradition and Coach Charley Johnston could make the difference. (Predicted season record: 7-3)

5. LOCKNEY: Several outstanding players at skill positions (running back and linebacker), but lack of depth and experience will hurt. Lots of enthusiasm, plus playing arch-rival Floydada at home could contribute to success.

Summary: If they can beat or tie Floydada, the 'Horns could be trouble for the rest of the district. (Predicted season record: 4-5-1)

6. IDALOU: Seven starters return, but inexperience and lack of depth will plague both sides of the line of scrimmage. Underclassmen up from the JV will need to come through. Boasts one of the largest linemen in the district (Rosenda Esquibel) and QB Henry Vega returns, but Vega may be hampered by having to go both ways.

Summary: Could be the year for the 'Cats to dip under .500 if younger players can't come through and fill in. (Predicted season record: 5-5)

FDA EXPANDS WARNING ON CANNED MUSHROOMS

The United States Food and Drug Administration has expanded an earlier warning regarding four-ounce cans of mushrooms processed by Oxford Royal Mushroom Products and distributed under 45 brand names plus eight unbranded labels. The mushrooms may contain the toxin that causes botulism, a sometimes-fatal food poisoning.

FDA is advising consumers to check all four-ounce cans of mushrooms they have at home for the two-line code on the lid. On the top line of the code, the first letter would be A through L. The second letter is K followed by three numbers, so the top line of the code on recalled cans could be, for example, DK113, AK128, GK126, or EK129.

The bottom line of the code has the letters P or LP followed by the numbers 1 or 2, for example, P1, P2, LP or LP2.

Consumers with mushroom cans with these codes should return them to the place of purchase. The mushrooms should not be eaten or opened.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion or national origin.

Tips for veterans on schooling

BY D.G. AYRES

If you're a veteran planning to enroll in or return to school this fall under the GI Bill, the Veterans Administration has a useful check list to help keep those VA education benefits coming regularly:

- *Double check your choice of courses to be certain they will count toward your education objective.
- *Register early. VA and your school need time to process your registration so that GI Bill checks can be started your way promptly.

- *Avoid dropping classes after registration.
- *File for your GI Bill benefits as early as possible.

- *If you have to interrupt your education, notify VA promptly and advise the date you expect to return to classes.
- *If you change addresses, notify VA promptly. Of course, you'll want to notify the school and the post office, also.

- *Submit transcripts to the college admissions and records office immediately after application is made. This will speed up the school's certification to the Veterans Administration.
- *If you have any questions about the GI Bill or eligibility for it, contact the nearest VA regional office, veterans county service officer, or a

Farmers are taking steps to stop providing free room and board. Insects - who hole up in stored wheat, are going to have to look elsewhere for a boarding house because of preventative measures. The measures will be used by farmers and storer since many growers are holding wheat. Measures include removing all old grain, chaff and debris from inside and around bins. Wheat held for a month or more will be treated with malathion. To control meal moths, many will hang a dichlorvos (DDVP) plastic resin strip per every thousand cubic feet of overspace in the top of each bin. These strips will be replaced every six to eight weeks until the grain mass cools down to about 50-degrees. For infestation which has already occurred, the dichlorvos strips will be used and, in addition, bacillus thuringiensis is recommended, raked into the grain surface to control larvae. Finally, grain in wooden bins will be sealed off with covers of polyethylene plastic sheeting.

IN THE CHURCH OF YOUR CHOICE

"FAITH, HOPE AND LOVE"

"AND NOW ABIDETH FAITH, HOPE, LOVE, THESE THREE, BUT THE GREATEST OF THESE IS LOVE" (1 Cor. 13:13).

St. Paul had been discussing, in I Corinthians 13, some of the miraculous signs that were to vanish away as God's revelation became complete. But faith, hope and love, he declared, would abide as a triune evidence of true Christianity.

These three are all we need in the present "dispensation of the grace of God." Any church where faith, hope and love are found in full measure is a "full" church. It may have but few members, but what greater blessing could it wish for than faith, hope and love in abundant measure?

Faith, hope and love are a trinity often referred to in St. Paul's epistles. Each is of first importance in its way, and none can exist without the other two.

FAITH is of primary importance. "WITHOUT FAITH IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO PLEASE GOD" (Heb. 11:6), and how can there be hope and love without faith?

HOPE holds the central place among the three. Hope in the Bible is more than a wish, it is the opposite of despair, an eager anticipation of blessings to come. Hope is the Christian's experience, his living with eternity's glory in view.

LOVE is the crowning glory of the three: it is the fruit of faith and hope, and is greatest in the sense that it is "the bond of perfectness." Moreover, love is eternal, for some day for every true believer "faith will vanish into sight; hope be emptied in delight" and love will reign supreme.

Landscape & Gardening

FATHER TIPS FOR GARDENS

As Texas mid-summer heat can be waning to early fall vegetable gardeners. However, for a successful fall garden, many vegetables must be planted during high temperature conditions in order to mature during late or early winter.

To avoid this problem, set out your own transplants. Finding a good healthy transplant can be done by purchasing your fall vegetable seeds and growing your own plant. Vegetable seed may be planted in flats, coffee cans, milk cartons, peat pots or peat pellets in areas that can protect them from the heat. However, to avoid transplanting, most gardeners prefer seeding vegetables directly in the garden.

The biggest problem with this is poor seed germination due to summer heat. This can be cured simply by modifying the garden seeding area. In Texas, bedding the soil prior to seeding or planting is important. After bedding the garden and marking off rows, take a hoe or stick and make seed furrows. Apply water directly in the seed furrow and allow it to soak in, then scatter the seed evenly along the furrow.

After the seed are sown, cover them with a material such as compost, potting soil, peat moss or vermiculite. These materials will provide a better environment to help the seed germinate and grow. Light colored material will help keep the seeding area cooler. It is very important during germination not to allow the soil around the young seedlings to dry out.

Once the plants have emerged, a protective shade or cover made of board, cardboard or shade cloth, on the west side of a row, can help protect the plants from the afternoon summer sun. When the plants reach one to two inches tall, they should be thinned to the proper stand.

A publication titled "Growing Your Own Vegetables" is available from the extension office. It is a USDA bulletin numbered 409. Come and ask for it.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agriculture Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, religion or national origin.

HOMEOWNER'S FRUIT AND NUT SPRAY PRACTICES

Insects and diseases reduce the quality and quantity of fruits and nuts harvested each year by homeowners. A few carefully timed applications of fungicides and insecticides used in combination with certain cultural practices can reduce insects and diseases.

Cultural Practices—Healthy plants are less susceptible to insect and disease attack. Follow a well-balanced fertility program; select well-adapted varieties and practice proper pruning and other cultural practices conducive to optimum tree growth.

Proper clean-up around trees is extremely important in reducing plum curculio, hickory shuckworm, brown rot of peach and pecan scab.

Pesticide Safety—Before using any pesticide, carefully read its entire label. Note any special precautions, such as the need to wear special protective clothing when applying the chemical. Take necessary precautions in pesticide applications to avoid any unnecessary chemical contact.

Mix pesticides in a well-ventilated area or out of doors. Avoid chemical contact with skin and do not breathe chemical vapors.

Apply recommended pesticide dosages. Using less pesticide than recommended may result in poor control, and using more than recommended may result in excessive residue or plant damage.

Store pesticides in a secure area away from pets and children. Prepare only the amount of pesticide for an application. Properly dispose of any unused diluted sprays or pesticide containers and never store pesticides in unmarked containers.

Spray Equipment—A number of sprayers on the market satisfactorily apply insecticides and fungicides to plants.

Pressure-type sprayers range in size from 1 to 10 gallons. Because of cost and handling ease, most homeowners prefer 2½ to 3-gallon sizes. Hose-on sprayers are least expensive but require a high volume of water, moderate pressure and a convenient water outlet.

Once a sprayer has been used, it becomes a used pesticide container and requires proper handling and storage. Proper cleaning will prolong its life. Applying insecticides and fungicides with a sprayer previously used to apply herbicides may cause plant damage.

"PIX" LOOKS PROMISING IN COTTON

In a wet crop year such as 1981 has been up to now, cotton often makes a lot of vegetative growth and not much else. But use of a growth regulator can provide some relief of that problem.

"Pix, a growth regulator developed several years ago, holds a lot of promise for cotton, particularly in a wet year," points out Dr. Bob Metzger, cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"When applied as the first few white blooms appear, Pix reduces plant height, increases lateral branching, and makes for a more uniform cotton crop," explains the specialist.

This growth regulator has been used in studies involving both picker and stripper variety cottons throughout Texas, notes Metzger. Lint yields were equal or higher than untreated plots when adequate moisture was available during the early bloom period. However, Metzger cautions that using the product when cotton is under moisture stress can reduce yields.

In addition to having the potential for improving yields, Pix creates a more uniform crop that enables more effective defoliation as farmers get ready to harvest. Furthermore, harvesting efficiency is increased due to the crop's uniformity, says the specialist.

"Field demonstrations and studies this year with Pix should provide a wealth of information because of the kind of weather conditions we've had," notes Metzger. "We will be able to get some good comparisons between treated and non-treated fields, and this information will help us develop better guidelines for using the product in the future."

According to Floyd County Extension Agent Jett Major, four Pix field demonstrations have been set up in Floyd County this year. It is too late to apply Pix in most field in Floyd County this year, but those interested in learning more about this cotton growth regulator can call the County Extension Office at 983-2806.

Screwworm watch continues for Texas

Wet weather during the spring and early summer of 1981 has enhanced the screwworm problem in northern Mexico, reports Ken Langley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Screwworm program officials in Mexico have noted an incidence of positive screwworm cases in the northern Mexican states of Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, Coahuila, Chihuahua and Durango. A total of 20 positive worm cases have been identified approximately 35 miles south of the Texas-Mexico border.

"The adult screwworm fly is a very strong flier," says Dr. Cliff Hoelscher, Extension entomologist in College Station. "Research shows that the adult fly can travel distances greater than 200 miles," reports Hoelscher. "Nearness of the Mexican infestations poses a real threat to Texas livestock producers and pet owners."

Early detection of possible new screwworm infestations is the first line of defense against this flesh-eating insect pest.

County agent Langley says "We have the technology to eradicate any new infestations, but we must be able to detect the pest before populations spread. Livestock producers and all pet owners are urged to send all larvae samples to the Mission USDA laboratory for identification.

"We appreciate the strong support of Texas producers who have increased their surveillance for this pest during 1981." The Mission Screwworm Lab has reported that 30 percent more samples have been submitted for identification this year than for the corresponding period of 1980.

Collection containers are available from offices of county Extension agents. The Extension Office is located on the Courthouse Square in Floydada.

No screwworm cases have been identified in Texas since May 22. Your help is urgently needed to keep Texas free of screwworms, Langley adds.

Field day to be held by NPRR

Growers having to make the most of a limited irrigation water supply will be interested in the 1981 Annual Field Day at the North Plains Research Field near Etter on August 19. Cecil Regier, manager of the Research Field says high and low pressure sprinkler systems will be compared, improved furrow irrigation and furrow diking will be shown, and the best corn, sorghum and cotton varieties and hybrids will be

Pesticide applicators to be recertified

The more than 9,800 Texans currently certified as private pesticide applicators in the Texas Department of Agriculture (TDA) Amarillo and Lubbock districts will be receiving recertification forms soon, commissioner Reagan V. Brown has reported.

The forms will help TDA update department files on licensed applicators.

The TDA Amarillo district includes the following counties: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Armstrong, Donley, Collingsworth, Parmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Hall, and Childress.

The TDA Lubbock district includes the following counties: Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cottle, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Garza, Kent, Stonewall, Gaines, Dawson, Borden, Scurry, Fisher, and Jones.

The recertification program, begun in June, terminates with these last two districts, Brown said. All 116,000 private applicators in the state will be recertified.

"TDA has been certifying applicators for five years," noted Brown. "We're sending renewal notices to applicators to update files with current addresses, and delete persons that are inactive, deceased or no longer farming. In addition, the current list will enable us to send these applicators timely information and keep them up to date on current laws."

The recertification program resulted in part from Senate Bill 602, introduced by Senator Bill Sarpalus of Hereford. The bill amends the Texas Pest Control Act, which sets procedures for certifying pesticide applicators.

The ten-week recertification schedule is on a county by county basis and it may be that applicators in some adjoining counties may not receive their renewals at the same time, Brown said. "In addition," Brown noted, "although many of the applicators have moved and may not have received their forms, they are not relieved of their responsibility to get recertified."

"If they read about the program or hear about it through a neighbor, they should contact the nearest TDA district office or their local county agent for the appropriate forms," Brown said.

"Only private applicators currently certified by TDA are involved in the program," Brown emphasized. "Commercial and non-commercial applicators are not included, as they are required by law to have their licenses renewed annually."

Applicators do not have to be retrained or attend meetings, and there is no fee involved, Brown continued. Even new applicators who have recently received their pink certificates need to fill out the application. The new certificates are blue and will be dated.

"If an applicator charges a fee and sprays for the public, he needs to get a commercial or non-commercial license," Brown said. "Certificates are issued to individuals, not to a farm, ranch or nursery. The certificates are also valid in New Mexico, Arkansas, Louisiana, Colorado and Nebraska."

Questions on these and/or other areas should be directed to the Texas Department of Agriculture, attention Charlie Rogers, P.O. Box 12847, Austin, Texas 78751 or any of the twelve TDA district offices.

CCC offers sorghum for sale

Farmers and other interested persons will be eligible to purchase Sorghum from the Commodity Credit Corporation starting July 31, 2:30 p.m. EDT.

Jack Stansell, Chairperson of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, said the CCC will offer sorghum for unrestricted use sale at market prices, but not less than the formula price which is 115 percent of the county loan rate for sorghum where stored plus 97 cents per hundredweight carrying charges.

"The minimum quantity that will be considered for acceptance is 560 hundredweight," Stansell said.

According to Stansell, offers will be received and sales will be made on a first come, first serve basis.

Interested persons should contact the county ASCS office as soon as possible for further details. The office is located at 211 E. Missouri Street, Floydada. The telephone number is 806-983-3763.

Lubbock Experiment Station plans field day September 8

Research on potential new money crops, as well as on cotton, and scientific developments to help High Plains farmers cope with weeds, insects and weather will be demonstrated September 8 at the 72nd annual field day of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station (TAES) at Lubbock and Halfway.

The Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center just north of Lubbock International Airport is the host this year, said Dr. Bill Ott, resident director of the station. The annual program alternates between the facilities here and at Halfway, in cooperation with the High Plains Research Foundation.

Five major displays are planned on the tours of the research plots and facilities of the center on FM 1294 at I-27 (Amarillo Hwy.). Dr. Tom Archer, research entomologist at the center and field day chairman, said they will illustrate research being conducted on grapes, cotton, ways of combatting drought conditions, weed control and bollworm control.

Also featured on the tour will be tests being conducted at the center on crop varieties, soil fertility and insect control; stations where research scientists and Extension specialists can answer questions about irrigation and fertilization, and a display of equipment and machinery.

Tours will begin at 1:00 p.m. and end at 5:00 p.m.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Agricultural Research Service of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Professional staffs of these participating agencies will be on hand to answer questions and discuss problems with agricultural producers, home owners and gardeners, Archer said.
