Representative Jack Hightower was pleased yesterday that the four new counties included in his present congressional district are the new redistricting bill passed by Governor Clements.

Hightower spoke at a joint meeting of the Floyd County Rotary and Lions Clubs last night.

"I served in the Texas Senate, representing three of the four new counties being added to the district," Hightower said. "I have a lot of very good friends in Kent County. I'm delighted to be able to represent them."

In this short period he has become a senior member of the Texas delegation, serving on the crucial House Appropriations Committee. Hightower also serves on the Subcommittee on Agriculture, Rural Development and Related Agencies as well as the Subcommittee on State, Justice, Commerce and Judiciary. In 1980, these committees considered budget requests of over $21 billion, many directly affecting the people and businesses of the 13th District.

The redistricting plan for the 13th Congressional District raises from 33 to 37 the number of North Texas counties represented by Hightower.

Jack Hightower was first elected to represent the 13th District of Texas in November, 1974, and has won reelection ever since. He began his fourth term with the 97th Congress which convened in January, 1981. He has worked with and helped make history through four Congresses and three presidents.

As a consistent supporter of Texas colleges and universities, Mr. Hightower was asked by Governor Daniel to serve on the Board of Regents of Midwestern University in 1962 which he did until elected to the Texas Senate; he now serves on the Baylor University Board of Trustees. In May of 1977, Congressman Hightower was honored by Howard Payne College with an honorary Doctor of Laws degree.

Mr. Hightower is married, the father of three daughters and is an active churchman. He has served on the Board of Directors of the Baptist Standard. He is considered by his colleagues an effective advocate for American free enterprise, a strong national defense posture that will ensure our security at all times and he has argued repeatedly for greater domestic energy development. He has been consistently given high marks by farmers and small business groups for his supportive voting record and constituent service and he has long supported the Texas Right-to-Work law and vigorously opposed the trend toward tolerance of pornography and drug abuse.

Pipeline survey begins

Crews are surveying in Floyd County to decide where a gas pipeline should be laid across the county.

Sam Newcomb and Mark McWhorter, two representatives of Delhi Gas Pipeline Company, met with county commissioners to show them the proposed route they would take in laying the 24 inch pipe.

Commissioners made it clear that the county only had easement on the county roads. Court also asked for a letter of agreement to be given to them at a later date outlining the specifics of the project.

McWhorter said that the laying of the line is still in the planning stages. They do, however, have surveying contracts signed with all the land owners who will be effected in Floyd County.

The proposed gasline will generally follow a line from the southwest part of the county to the northeast.

After the surveying is done (this will include other counties as well as Floyd) the next step will be for Delhi to contract to buy right-of-ways. At that time they will negotiate the damages to be paid to the land owner prior to construction.

Newcomb said this will be a tax advantage by having the pipeline in Floyd County. County taxes paid by the company will spread the tax base.

He also said that there would probably be more exploration for oil in the county.

"If anyone did find oil here there wouldn't be a market for it" he said.

Other business taken up by the court included a discussion of the coming budget.

Main point of the discussion was that either taxes were going to have to be raised next year or county projects will have to be cut back.

Commissioners were reluctant to raise the tax rate.

Motion was made that the court authorize Judge Smith to give public notice for the adoption of the county budget for the regular September 14 meeting of the commissioners court at 2 p.m.

The motion also included instructions to give notice of getting the revenue sharing hearing (for proposed uses) at 1:30 the same day.

Eagle Squadron commemorated

The famed Eagle Squadron for the Royal Air Force will be commemorated in London.

Floydada photographer Vernon Parker served as a member of the prestigious group during World War II.

Final site selection for the monument was awarded to Westminster City Government.

The site is in Berkley Square in the heart of the West End near the U.S. Embassy.

The British Air Ministry originated the idea for a memorial. The project was then directed by the British Petroleum Trust Fund.

Models were selected from several London architectural firms.

The Eagle Squadron Association approved the final model.

Estimated memorial completion date is 1983.

Funding for the project came from the British Petroleum Fund and the European Ford Company. As many as 300 other British and American firms are supporting the project.

Marble panels on three sides of the monument will list the names of each squadron and pilots in each.

Charles Sweeney, an American living in London and head of a Public Relations Firm organized and promoted the Eagle Squadrons for the RAF the same way his uncle, also named Charles Sweeney, organized the Lafayette Escadril of American pilots, for France in World War I.

Sweeney has worked closely with the Eagle since World War II, helping arrange their reunion in London in 1976. He is the European representative of the American Eagles Association and chairman of London Memorial Project.

The late Clayton Knight, illustrator of World War I planes, was Sweeney's right hand man in the U.S.A. getting the word out to American pilots to join up and fly for the RAF.

The Clayton Knight Committee, hired legal counsel to assist Americans signing up to leave the country during wartime. Pressure was put on the pilots by the FBI and Immigration Service, until finally sanctioned by the State Department.

Many museums have honored the famed squadron with exhibits that include vintage uniforms, gear and other original memorabilia.

Museums that include the display are the Smithsonian National Air and Space Museum in Washington D.C. and the Royal Air Force Museum in Henley, London, and the Wright Patterson Air Force Museum in Dayton, Ohio.

Other museums are the International Aerospace Hall of Fame in San Diego and the National War Museum in Ottawa, Canada.

Exhibits are planned for the Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, the Confederate Air Force in Harlingen and the English Village in Long Beach, California.

"The Eagle Squadrons" is available in the county library and the libraries at the First Baptist and Methodist Churches and high school.

This book, written by Vern Haugland was a bestseller in England and was published in five other countries.

Time-Life Books plans an issue of a book titled "Military Volunteers Since 1812 - Soldiers of Fortune" that will feature the Eagle Squadrons.

Parker said the Eagle Squadrons have requested to be listed as volunteers, not soldiers of fortune.

Parker said, "We flew for $88.00 a month, not much fortune there."

Bus trip cancelled due to rain

BY DOROTHY NEFF
We're so glad to have Mrs. Nora McNight home from the hospital.

Rain! Rain! Rain! If you ask any of our residents, they will tell you. We've had enough and they are ready for the sun to shine.

We didn't take a bus trip Wednesday because of rain, however we gathered in the lobby to play games and enjoyed cookies and coke. Those attending were Una Clark, Emmitt Lawrence, Mamie Gray, W.C. Cates, Iva Simpson, Claude Hughes, Juanita Bailey, Sue Thompson, Sallie Kreis, Mamie Daniels, Vera Duke, Myrtle Roy, Willie Stambough, and Verna McSwain.

Thursday was birthday party time and we had a full house, had to put extra chairs in the dining room to seat everyone. The City Park Church of Christ ladies hosted the occasion. Cake and punch was served to all residents, employees and a number of friends and relatives of honorees.

Honorees this month were Susie Mooney, 94, Dovie Rushing, 77, Sallie Kreis, 84, Sue Thompson, 79, Leonard Elliott, 70, and Willie Russell 74.

We also seated Dorothy Coleman at the honor table because she was Employee of the Month and this was her birthday also.

We were all set for two good movies Friday but the projector light bulb went out so we just sat around and ate popcorn and talked.

Icy Biggs had some good news from Lubbock this week. Her son-in-law, Mari- ce Goodman, is some im- proved. We're all hoping he will be able to come visit us before long.

Miss Sarah Cline attended a school reunion and visited with a niece in Silverton this week.

We were all saddened by the death of Mrs. Ora Gilliland. Mrs. Gilliland had been in and out of the hospital for several months. We would like to extend our deep felt sympathy to her family.

Visitors included: Mary E. Wilson, Flo Ella Jarboe, Marie Baxter, Velma Stevens, Jimmy Stevens, Char- ley L. Berry Sr., Frances Badgett, Mrs. J.D. Hart, Hazel Bradley, Vella Acy, Melissa Nash, Elvin and Lovelle Childs, Donny Hazelwood, Kathy Hazelwood, Lucille Sisson.

Eula Hoffman, Lucille Daniel, Miss Hazelwood, Mr. Alvin R. Cooper, Corene Stewart, Andrea Bradley, Marion Bailey, Gladys Collins, Kelly and Kim Nixon, Pearl Formby, Billy Probasco, Burmah Probasco, Marie Baxter, Nealey Richardson, and Wiley Rogers.

Burgie Savage's My Savage World

Going to the lake is not exactly my idea of a fun vacation, but my husband says it is the ideal place to catch fish. So we went to the lake.

I had heard about the alleged fish that my husband claimed he was going to catch. Some people have seen them, some people claimed to have caught them, and some people have actually eaten them. The fish are said to be 21 inches long and weigh anywhere from 50 to 150 lbs. They are not sharks or crocodiles. They are called catfish.

There are certain characteristics of a catfish lake. It must always be shallow, rocky, and hard to get to. It must never have any facilities such as a dock, a water faucet, or shade. It must always be hot and have lots of weeds, snags, and mosquitoes.

After driving approximately 250 miles, we found the ideal lake. It had one gnarled tree (a catfish lake can have one tree as long as it's big enough) that was rocky, hard to get to, and hot.

We had stopped at a bait store 99 miles away and bought some worms. The store owner said, "guaranteed cold worms." I had been looking for a "guaranteed cold coke," but they didn't have any—just worms.

The worms were up to their eyes in hot water. The perch immediately went to bite. Catfishermen hate perch. We threw them all back.

The favorite food of a catfish, according to rumor, is dog food. While my husband was buying cold worms, I had bought a 39-cent can of dog food. We took our hooks with the dog food. It kept dissolving. My husband got impatient and threw the whole can in the water just as a catfish grabbed his bait. It was a big one, about 27 inches long and about 2½ lbs.

I was so excited until he remembered that he had just "baited" the hole with the dog food. We took the fish and scurried back to camp.

My husband cleaned the fish, he commented on how fat she was. I knew she was green around the gills and she still had crackers crumbs on her whiskers. I knew she was suffering from morning sickness. She was not happy about becoming a mother.

She was enough, when he cut her open there were hundreds of eggs. She was trying to help him by producing hundreds of baby catfish for him to catch. He was repaying her by eating her. He tossed her eggs to the hungry bugs.

"You're throwing away caviar," I choked between my tears. She would have been a fine little mother.

The fish cooked deliciously brown and crisp, but I couldn't eat a bite of her. She only made my husband greedy. He wanted more catfish.

The next morning, we put on our floppy hats, dark glasses, and wore sunglasses around our necks. We were cleverly disguising ourselves as bird hunters so we could sneak back to our "baited" hole without looking like tourists. We tiptoed over the zillion sharp rocks. Lo and behold! Bird hunters surrounded the water and were catching "our" catfish.

My husband said it was too crowded for him. We packed our gear and went to another ideal catfish lake.

The Rev. Michael O'Connor's Perspectives

A friend of mine tells of reading a Time magazine report on the Detroit zoo. It seems that they have added four security guards to the force. The reason? To protect the animals from the visitors.

In the past two years a baby wallaby was stoned to death, a duck was killed by a steel-tipped hunting arrow, and a pregnant reindeer miscarried after being sent into a panic when teenagers threw firecrackers at her.

Some people have found a new sport, throwing cigarette butts on the backs of the alligators and watching the reaction to the burns the animals receive. And somebody popped a tennis ball down the throat of a hippo begging for peanuts. Like the old lady who swallowed the horse, the hippo is dead, of course.

The writer of the article quoted the zookeepers as wondering who should be caged. Of course this incident is only a symptom of our society. Man's cruelty to everything keeps on increasing.

Miami has become the new murder capital of the world, animals are abandoned at an incredible rate, the environment is attacked, the list goes on and on.

We face much indifference to these problems. If the mass of people feel there is little they can do, or if they just don't care, it becomes very difficult to solve any of the various dilemmas confronting us.

Even worse is the active opposition that others take toward solving the problems. There is a subtle opposition in the attitude that we don't really have that serious a problem.

Then there are the more active forms of opposition. One of the newest has to do with the current freedom binge we are on.

An oil company ad shows a mountain climber attempting a difficult climb, touts the benefits of being free to risk things, and warns that if we let the government regulate, we lose a certain amount of freedom.

We are seeing this anti-regulatory attitude becoming more and more prevalent. We do not want to be protected from ourselves.

Granted that some regulations make little sense, still we must have some rules to protect us, especially those of us who cannot protect ourselves.

The next time you feel like complaining about the pollution laws, or the speed limit, or the building codes, or whatever, imagine that you are an alligator with a burning cigarette on your back.

Would you want protection?

Carol Lea Clark's It's Not Easy

If I can believe what I hear on television news, the annual inflation rate in July was only about 5%. I guess that news should be cause for rejoicing.

Still, I can't help but still feel uneasy. I remember when President Nixon declared a wage and price freeze because he thought a 5% inflation rate was unacceptable.

And, all this talk about inflation rates seems so remote. I just know that a few years ago I could go to the bank to cash a check for $10 which was ample spending money for several days. Now the $10 barely pays for the gas it takes to go to the bank and back.

I remember thinking it quaint to hear my parents talk about buying hamburgers for a nickel when they were children. I give away my age because I can't get used to paying more than 39-cents for a hamburger, the average cost for years when I was a child.

I suppose my daughter still will remember the good old days when she could buy a hamburger for a dollar-and-a-half.

Already she has difficulty understanding the purpose of pennies. She asks Daddy for a nickel or a quarter when they go to the store because that's what most of the gum machines take these days.

She thinks that pennies are things that you store in a jar like gum drops, except they aren't as easy to eat.

I wish that I had a solution for inflation, but I don't. I guess that I'll just keep trying to enjoy my 39-cent hamburgers which cost $1.50 and hope that I get used to the idea before the price goes to $2.

And I'll just keep saving my pennies. All those copper pieces have sort of a nice glow in a glass jar. And it makes a great doorstop.

Lloyd Bentsen

Talk to your friends and neighbors, or for that matter, talk to anybody anywhere in this country. Unfortunately, odds are that in no time you'll find someone who has been recently victimized by crime.

The FBI reports that crime touched 30 percent of our nation's households in 1980. The bureau also notes that violent crime rose by 13 percent from 1979-80 — the largest increase in 12 years.

Coupled with this surge in crime is a rise in the average American's level of frustration with our legal system's ability to deal with criminals.

The National Opinion Research Center at the University of Chicago, a leading social research center, found that in 1972, two-thirds of the American public thought that the courts were not dealing harshly enough with criminals.

By 1978 the center found that a whopping 85 percent of Americans felt that way.

Is it any wonder that we do? The number of crimes committed in this country every year runs in the mind-boggling tens of millions — around 40 million in 1978 alone.

In Texas last year there were 2400 murders, 30,000 robberies and over 250,000 burglaries.

Quite simply, I think we should stop apologizing for punishing criminals and start putting them in jail. I think that the American people would agree that our system of justice is far too soft on crime.

Recently I cosponsored a Senate Resolution, unanimously approved, which zeroes in on the need to make crime-fighting a national priority.

I don't think this resolution understates our national problem when it stresses that "crime has reached epidemic proportions in the United States and is spreading like a cancer across our nation."

We can do something about crime in this country. We can not just continue to turn our backs on it.

I have introduced two measures in the 97th Congress which I think are important and will make a solid contribution to anti-crime efforts.

One of these provisions is a stiff solution to a growing fact of life — a great deal of crime is committed by people out on bail for another crime.

Right now, judges can give such criminals concurrent sentences for their multiple crimes. Suppose someone is convicted of three armed robberies and sentenced to 10 years for each robbery. He would serve only 10 years if the sentences run concurrently, or at the same time.

But I think those sentences should run consecutively. Under my measure, that criminal would serve 30 years in prison.

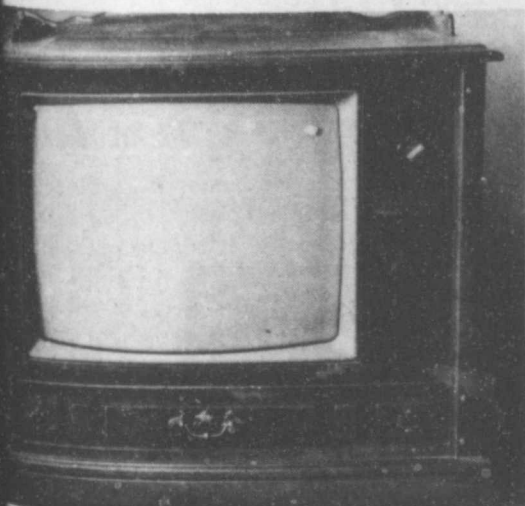

Another Bentsen bill would sharply stiffen the penalty for pilots involved in drug smuggling. My measure would raise the fine they pay, revoke their flying licenses and send them away to prison.

I think that the recent resolution on violent crime indicates that the U.S. Senate means to go to work on this issue and pass some meaningful legislation. The Senate is on record and the American people demand it.

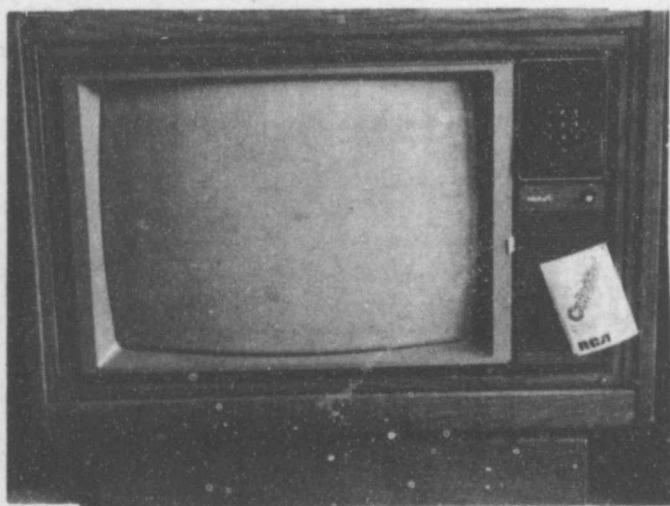

The challenge now is to get some new and tougher anti-crime measures on the books.

The electronic age isn't just coming to the farm - it's here in a big way. Computers in agriculture have become a reality. Individual producers - farmers and ranchers - are reaping the benefits of home computers programmed for such applications as farm records, budgeting, yield records comparison, test plot market information. Also, many are using separate electronic information sources connected directly to their home computer. Individually-owned satellite receiving installations are bringing to the farm and ranch not only a universe of entertainment and information, but also are a direct tie-in for continual market and weather updates, special USDA reports and conferences, etc., via satellite and recorded on the home computer terminal. At least on the farm and ranch, in matters of technological and electronic matters, the phrase "the sky's the limit" is as antiquated as a horse drawn plow.

...McHam was ... weeks ago at Crosbyton. He had just re- cently returned from California where he attended his brother's funeral. On Sunday, he decided to go to Roaring Springs and pick peaches. His family accom- panied him. After picking their fruit, on the way to the car he was stricken with a heart attack and died right there. Mr. McHam lived in the old Johnson house owned by Mr. Ferris of Crosbyton. He is survived by his wife and several sons and a daughter.

Mrs. Georgia Mae Erickson was hostess at Casa del Sol for the Mt. Blanco community party last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Monte Williams of Ft. Sill, Oklahoma, met Mr. and Mrs. Q.D. Williams and guests at Roaring Springs Sunday afternoon.

The Neff reunion was held at the Massie Activity Center Sunday.

The Floydada Country Club was the scene of the Hammonds reunion Sunday. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hammonds, Mr. and Mrs. Lanny Glasscock, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pyle, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Pyle, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Smith and David Pyle of Floydada. From Ver- non-Thalia area came Mr. and Mrs. Meryl Moore, Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Henry, Mr. and Mrs. Keith Maxwell of Cleburne, Mr. Bill Roy Henry, and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammonds, and son Jimmy and Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Hmmonds. All shared a covered dish luncheon in the party room of the Coun- try Club.

Mrs. Gene Smith stayed several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pyle, following surgery two weeks ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Warner Johnson of Brownwood visited Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pyle Monday evening.

The Primitive Baptist As- sociation is scheduled to start today, Thursday, at the Harmony Plains Foundation at Cone.

With all the rains our community has been getting, one activity is to be observed on various dirt roads leading to the highway that is - getting the car out to the pavement. Sometimes it looks like a reunion at the gin, or cars parked near Quilantan's, as neighbors on dirt roads prudently park the family sedan as a life line to jobs in town, church or school while shuttling back and forth through the mud in the pick-ups.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thurston were Sunday hosts to their daughter, Johnny and her husband of Lubbock.

REMEMBER your loved ones with a living memorial to the Caprock Hospital Auxiliary Memorial Fund. Mrs. Ben Whitaker, Treasurer.

NOTICE AS TO BRAND REGISTRATION

Every resident of Floyd County, having a cattle brand registered, or re-registered, since August 30, 1971, and prior to August 30, 1981 with the qualification hereinafter noted, must re-register such brand within 6 months after August 30, 1981 in order to preserve such brand.

Relying on an erroneous interpretation of the law coming from an ordinarily reliable source, this office has advised applicants for brand registration, or re-registration, that registration or re-registration of a brand within 6 month prior to August 30, 1981 would be effective to preserve the brand for 10 years after August 30, 1981, or until August 30, 1991.

The Attorney General has now ruled that any brand registered or re-registered prior to August 30, 1981, whether within 6 months or a greater period prior to August 30, 1981, must be re-registered within 6 months after August 30, 1981 to preserve it until August 30, 1991.

To avoid the unintended consequence of inconvenience and expense to brand registrants, resulting from the erroneous interpretation of the law on which we acted, we are with the approval of the Commissioners Court, amending our records to show all brands registered, or re-registered, since February 28, 1981, that is, within 6 months prior to August 30, 1981, as having been registered or re-registered on September 1, 1981, which will preserve such brands until August 30, 1991.

Accordingly, if you have registered or re-registered a brand at any time subsequent to August 30, 1971 and prior to February 28, 1981, you must re-register it within 6 months after August 30, 1981, to preserve it. If you have registered or re-registered a brand since February 28, 1981, your registration or re-registration is now effective as of September 1, 1981, and will preserve your brand until August 30, 1991.

Accordingly, if you have registered or re-registered a brand at any time subsequent to August 30, 1971 and prior to February 28, 1981, you must re-register it within 6 months after August 30, 1981, to preserve it. If you have registered or re-registered a brand since February 28, 1981, your registration or re-registration is now effective as of September 1, 1981, and will preserve your brand until August 30, 1991.

Afraid You're Going Deaf?

Chicago, Ill.—A free offer of special interest to those who hear but do not understand words has been announced by Beltone. A non-operating model of one of the smallest Beltone aids of its kind will be given absolutely free to anyone requesting it.
Send for this free model now. It is not a real hearing aid, but it will show you how tiny hearing help can be. The actual aid weighs less than a fourth of an ounce, and it's all at ear level, in one unit.
These models are free, so we suggest you write for yours now. Again, we repeat, there is no cost, and certainly no obligation. Thousands have already been mailed, so write today to Dept. 15344, Beltone Electronics Corp., 4201 W. Victoria, Chicago, Illinois 60646

Card of Thanks

Since my uncle and the legal guardian of my estate did not notify me that my granddaddy had died until after he was buried, I was not allowed to come to his funeral or even send flowers in his memory, so I would like to take this opportunity to say thank you to the many wonderful people who befriended my granddaddy, grandmother and daddy during their life times. I have many wonderful memories of the people of Floydada that I met during my early childhood visits there and the brief time I attended school there. I love you all and may God give you His richest blessings.

Thank you, Lydia Collins Granddaughter of Walter and Lydia Collins and daughter of Van Collins

The family of John Wesley Walker wishes to express heartfelt thanks for all the flowers, food, calls, visits, and cards during the recent loss of our husband and father. We will always remember each of you.

Sincerely yours, Inez Walker Joe and Joyce Walker Beth and Bill Turner Shirley and Ronnie Murray

I would like to thank all my friends and neighbors for all the lovely cards and gifts during my stay in the hospital, and your telephone calls have been greatly appreciated.

Thanks again, Bea Britton

We wish to thank all of our friends and neighbors for the food, flowers, and kindness given to us during the loss of our loved one.

Winds continue work

Scrimmage tonight, reception follows

BY L.G. WILSON

Fall football practice is going good and the Winds are in the middle of their second week of two-a-day workouts. The Winds continue to look good and their execution is improving from day to day.

Competition for several positions are being waged by several boys. We don't have as much quantity as in past seasons but top quality at every position. Not much depth but enough to establish some good battles for starting positions.

Some of the better position battles are at offensive ends where four good ones are competing. Ronnie Minner and Carlos Rainwater are currently holding down #1 spot but Calvin Coleman and Grant Turner are pressing them.

Robert Nixon is set at one tackle but a real battle between Wynsdell Davis, Billy Collins and Wayne Morren has developed for the other position.

Guards are a solid position with Norman Allen and Ricky Heflin looking real good and back up help being provided by Walter Brooks and Richard Vela.

In the backfield Todd Bedy has taken over at quarterback. He is running the show. Jim Waller who missed last year is improving by leaps and bounds. Marty Covington (currently running fallback) and sophomore Mark Hatley give added strength to this position.

At center Chris Fulton is back and doing good after missing last season with a knee injury. He's especially good on his head-up alertness on the line of scrimmage. Jessie Cedillo is a capable back-up at this position.

In the backfield we have several good prospects. At fullback position Mark Nutt (currently out with a non-football injury) and Donnell Weeks along with Covington are doing well.

The tailback position in our new 1 formation attack is handled by Bruce Williams, Todd Beatty and Weeks. Mike Salazar gives us a solid slot man with back up help from Garland Easter and that man Covington again.

Today, Thursday, at 5:30 p.m. we scrimmage Petersburg there. We are anxious to see what we can do offensively in this scrimmage. Our younger kids, (JV and Frosh) will start the scrimmage and the Varsity or interested group will play about 6:30 or 7 p.m.

When the scrimmage is over the...

Landscape & Gardening

By Ken Langley

THE PEACHTREE BORER

The Peachtree borer, Synanthedon exitiosa (Say) can be one of the most destructive insect pests of peaches in Texas. Damage occurs as a result of the larvae feeding around a tree's base just under the bark. Severe infestations reduce tree vigor and can kill a tree if allowed to continue uncontrolled for several years. Populations that average more than one larva per tree should be treated. Control is achieved with a single late August application of insecticide if Lorsban R is used.

Biology and Habits

Peachtree borer eggs are laid on the bark near the soil line of a peach tree. Hatch occurs in about 10 days. Newly emerged larvae bore into and feed in the bark cambium for 10-14 months. Mature larvae migrate from the tree out into the soil for a distance up to 12 inches and form a bullet-shaped puparium just below the surface. Eggs are generally laid in August or September with adults emerging the following August/September.

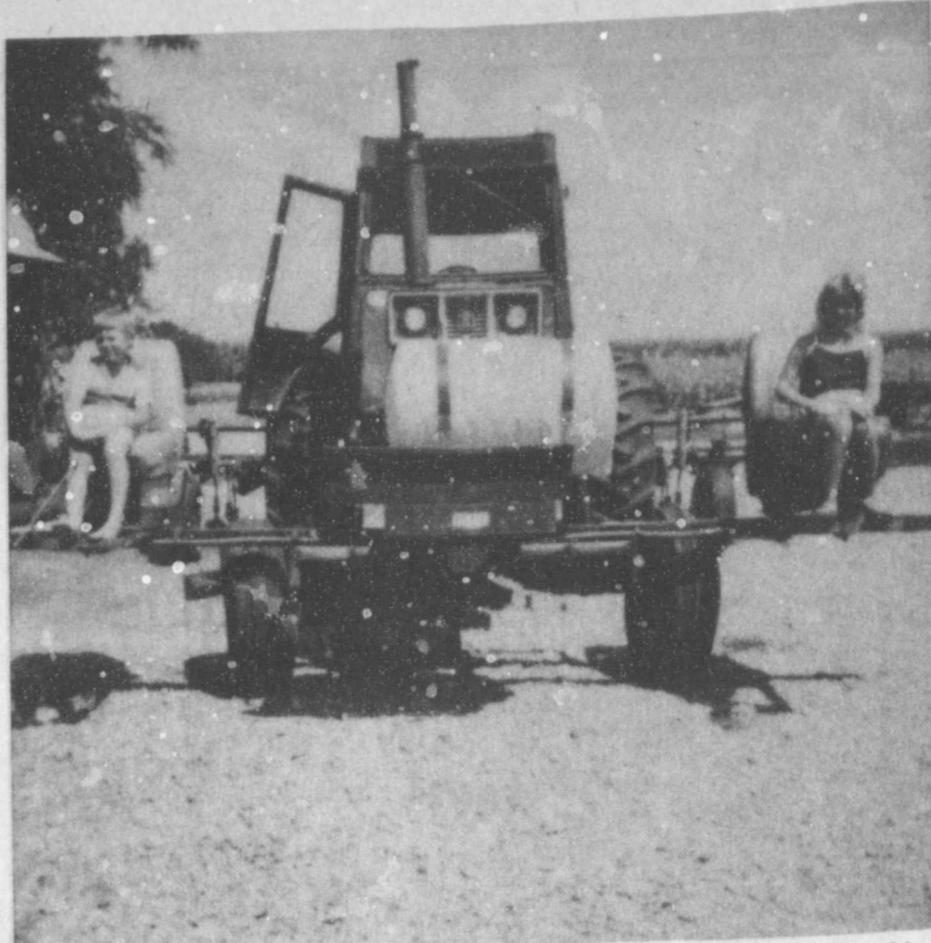

Adult peachtree borers are small moths with a wingspan of 1-1 1/2 inches. The female is larger, solid black with a single orange abdominal stripe. Males are black, not quite as robust as the female and have numerous yellow lines on their thorax.

After emerging from pupae, adults rest for a short period of time before mating. The mating sequence begins with the search for a mate where the male seeks out the female. The female emits an order (pheromone) attractive only to males of the same species. Using the odor, the peachtree borer male will locate and mate with the female. Egg laying follows in a few days. It is that period of time from oviposition to larval hatch that the peachtree borer is best controlled with insecticides.

Research has demonstrated that a single late August application of the insecticide Lorsban will effectively control the peachtree borer. It is applied at a treatment rate of 5 teaspoons Lorsban 4E per gallon of water or 3 quarts of Lorsban 4E per 100 gallons of water (3 lbs. active ingredient per 100 gallons water). Treatment is made by thoroughly wetting the base of each tree (about 1/2-1 gallon) with the spray mixture.

Insurance deadline for small grain producers nears

Small grain producers in Texas will need to decide soon if they wish to sign up for Federal Crop Insurance.

The insurance, available from any local Federal Crop Insurance Corp. representative, replaces the disaster payment program that has been in effect in recent years. Producers interested in insurance protection should contact local FCIC representatives for the sign-up deadline. The FCIC program is sponsored by the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"Federal crop insurance protection is available to all wheat and barley producers in Texas and to oat producers in the northern blacklands and central areas of Texas," points out Dr. James Ahrenholz, economist in management with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

The economist notes that there are three levels of insurance coverage available to producers. These are based on 50, 65 and 75 percent of the farm's average historical yield.

Producers can also make three price (per bushel) selections: wheat—$2.50, $3.50 and $4.50; barley—$2.00, $2.25 and $2.60; and oats—$1.20, $1.40 and $1.70.

"Premium rates for the 50 and 65 percent level of coverage include a 30 percent reduction as a program subsidy," notes Ahrenholz. "The premium for the 75 percent coverage level includes a reduction which is 30 percent of the 65 percent level premium."

The economist gives this example in explaining the crop insurance program. If a farm in northern Texas has an average historical yield of 25 bushels of wheat per acre, the producer can select coverage levels of either 12.5, 16.5 or 19 bushels (40, 65, or 75 percent of the historical average, respectively). If he chooses the 19 bushels per acre coverage and a price level of $4.50, his premium, for example on a Cooke County farm including subsidy, would be $7.75 per acre.

Premiums will vary according to the coverage and price level chosen by the farmer as well as by the location of the farm, says Ahrenholz.

For the cost of the premium, the farmer (in the above example) is buying income protection (at the selected price) for himself when his crop yield drops below the 19-bushel level. If his yield is reduced to 10 bushels, then he will receive an indemnity for nine bushels (19 minus 10) at $4.50 each for a total of $40.50 per acre.

"In addition to providing protection from all unavoidable hazards, the crop insurance program offers several other aspects," notes Ahrenholz. "The premiums are tax deductible, they need not be paid until the crop is harvested, and the insurance policy can be used as collateral."

"Crop insurance is one way farmers can protect themselves against some of the adverse financial consequences of a crop loss," says the economist.

Cows need minerals

Regardless of the type of forage cows are grazing, they all need minerals, says a range specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. Most cows don't get enough phosphorus, magnesium and potassium from grazing, so they should be fed a mineral mix free choice the year round. Minerals, especially phosphorus, are short in dry forage and do not meet the requirements of lactating cows. A mineral mix should contain 8 to 12 percent phosphorus, not more than 20 percent salt, and magnesium oxide, plus potassium during the winter months.

4-H projects help youth make wise decisions

4-H projects are the "backbone" of the 4-H program.

Projects help 4-H members grow because, as a member he studies and works, he learns by doing, says Ken Langley, county 4-H program coordinator with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Skills are learned and developed through practice such as sewing a dress or baking a cake. Publications and other project aids, project meetings, talks with parents, leaders and others all help members learn. But projects are real-life experiences that help 4-H'ers learn to make wise decisions.

First a member must decide which project to take. Then he must decide a lot of things as he is doing the project. In gardening that would include such things as the location and what vegetables to plant. These decisions help members feel responsible for their own actions and give them personal satisfaction.

Learning to work with others is another benefit of a project, says Langley. The work is done in or near the home where family can work and be together. As members work together, they share ideas and help each other. They learn to compare their work with what other club members are doing. In some projects, club members own their projects. When they do, they learn to care for their property and respect other's property.

Most 4-H projects are set up to meet the needs of boys and girls of different ages—beginners, juniors and advanced members. As a member grows older and makes more progress, he has a chance to make more of his own decisions and do work that he could not do at an earlier age.

Besides the development of skills in a certain area, a 4-H project offers the 4-H member fellowship, leadership growth and personal development. The 4-H project, the most important part of the 4-H program, offers 4-H club members the opportunity for head, heart, hand and health development through many avenues of participation in 4-H, notes Langley.

Enrollment in 4-H is free and available to all Floyd County youth ages 9-19. Clubs are established in Floydada and Lockney. Some project areas available are foods, clothing, beef, sheep, swine, horse, recreation, gardening, dog, livestock, judging and woodworking. Many other self determined areas are also available to youth in Floyd County.

For more information come by the Extension Office on the Courthouse Square or call 983-2807.

4-H has something for you!

Extension service names brucellosis veterinarian

Continued concern over the disease brucellosis in Texas cattle herds has prompted the appointment of a veterinarian by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Assuming the new position on August 1 was Dr. Jimmy L. Howard.

Howard will be giving leadership to a statewide educational program concentrating on the serious problem of brucellosis that affects many cattle herds in our state, said Dr. Daniel C. Pfannstiel, Extension Service director, in announcing the appointment.

The veterinarian will be working closely with county Extension agents and county program building committees as well as various industry and related organizations in mapping out educational programs and related strategy to cope with the brucellosis problem. Howard also will be working closely with Extension veterinarian Dr. James Armstrong in overall programing efforts.

A native of Floydada, Howard has worked in the veterinary medical profession for a number of years. For the past year he has headed the diagnostic services section of the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory at Amarillo. He was assistant professor of clinical veterinary medicine at the University of Illinois for a year-and-a-half and held a similar position at Kansas State University for four years. He also was in private practice in Amarillo for 11 years, was a consultant veterinarian there for a year, and spent two years in veterinary research with the O.M. Franklin Serum Co. based in Amarillo.

Howard holds a B.S. and M.S. degrees in animal science from Texas Tech University and a DVM from Texas A&M.

He is a member of the American Veterinary Medical Association, High Plains Veterinary Medical Association, American Association of Bovine Practitioners, American Academy of Veterinary Consultants and Academy of Nutritional Consultants.

Great Plains Conservation marks silver anniversary

August 7, 1981 was a historic day for farmers, ranchers, soil and water conservation district directors, and all who depend upon agricultural products for our food and clothing.

That date was the silver anniversary of the Great Plains Conservation Program, Jon J. La Baume, district conservationist for the U.S. Soil Conservation Service for Floyd County said this week.

"Just 25 years ago, on August 7, 1956, President Eisenhower signed into law the bill authorizing the program," La Baume said. "It is available to producers in the ten Great Plains states—stretching through the Nation's breadbasket from North Dakota to Texas."

GPCP helps farmers and ranchers solve problems of wind and water erosion, drought, and other resource-related problems with technical and financial aid based on conservation plans tailored to each farm or ranch.

"Grass seeding, terraces, diversions, grassed waterways, livestock water facilities, irrigation pipelines, tailwater pits, windbreaks, cross-fences, and livestock grazing programs are among GPCP practices on which a landowner can receive technical and cost share assistance," La Baume said.

The conservation practices in a GPCP plan are scheduled to be applied over 3 to 10 years. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has assigned leadership of the program to the Soil Conservation Service.

The first Great Plains contract in the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District was signed by Virgil Skinner. The contract was signed on December 19, 1957.

In 1980 there were 11 contracts covering more than 11,000 acres on the ten Great Plains states.

La Baume stated that the program has developed since 1956. It has provided contracts on 83,465 acres. At the present time 100,000 acres remain to be finished. The program has 183 cancellations for various reasons.

Herman R. King, District Conservation Director for the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation Service, said, "It has been a great program for Floyd County."

Leslie Nixon Jr., SWCD board chairman, said, "The program has been a great help to the SWCD."

"All problems are being solved," Nixon said. "The program has been a great help to the SWCD."

Since the program has been in operation, wind erosion has been reduced, soil has been protected, and the program has been a great help to the SWCD.

The program has been a great help to the SWCD. It has provided contracts on 83,465 acres. At the present time 100,000 acres remain to be finished. The program has 183 cancellations for various reasons.

La Baume also stated that the program has been a great help to the SWCD. It has provided contracts on 83,465 acres. At the present time 100,000 acres remain to be finished. The program has 183 cancellations for various reasons.

"The fact that the average price of beans to farmers is about a dollar higher per bushel now than at this time last year should encourage producers to forward contract at least part of the crop," points out Johnny Feagan, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "This would assure a profit on part of their crop and reduce their risk."

"How much of a money-maker Texas soybeans prove to be this year will depend on the weather during the rest of the growing season, the overall U.S. crop and export demands," points out Feagan.

The total U.S. crop will likely exceed 68.7 million acres, with some double planting behind wheat still under way. That acreage is 2 percent below last year. About 15 percent of the acreage is estimated to be double-cropped, and these acres usually produce lower yields. This, in conjunction with expected lower yields from late plantings, should keep the national average yield somewhat below earlier USDA predictions of 29.5 bushels per acre.

The Texas crop will likely total 700,000 acres, about the same as last year. It would have been up considerably with favorable spring weather.

Regarding exports, world demand for oilseed crops is up about 4 percent. That's important, notes Feagan, since more than 60 percent of the U.S. beans are exported. However, the demand for soybeans and soybean products has slowed somewhat in recent weeks due to reduced livestock feeding and higher vegetable oil stocks. Meal prices are currently just under $200 per ton.

"The strength of the dollar against foreign currencies and high interest rates also have contributed to curtailing exports of soybeans and soybean products," notes Feagan. "In addition, inventories of soybeans and their products are much higher than earlier estimated. Of course, the general state of economic conditions around the world also is having a dampening effect on the soybean market."

The Soviet Union, a major importer of U.S. beans in the past, is currently negotiating with Brazil for its soybean needs, so the U.S. will have to look elsewhere. China has not filled its needs and could brighten the export picture, notes the economist.

Gasohol bill passed by overwhelming majority

farmers and consumers enjoying a major victory Tuesday when the legislature passed the gasohol bill by overwhelming majorities. Texas Union President Mike Moeller said, "After six years of effort the bill will provide a temporary five cent exemption for gasohol from the present time to the end of the present time 9 active on the final day of the 30 day period."

The Texas Grain Products Cooperative, and Diamond Shamrock. The measure was sponsored by Representative Dan Kubiak and State Senator Bill Sarpalius. "The gasohol bill was not only a priority bill for the TFU, the measure will help create a new industry in Texas, which in the long run will provide an alternate source of energy and a new tax base," Moeller predicted. "As a leading agriculture and energy producing state, Texas should now come to the forefront in alcohol fuel production from renewable sources of energy."

The exemption from the five cent motor fuels tax begins January 1, 1982 and lasts until 1987. At that point, the tax is phased in at the rate of one cent per year. "With the exemption established in 1982, it will immediately help out the small producers already operating in Texas and help establish the market when the other large cooperatives begin producing alcohol in the next two years," Moeller said. "Every gallon of imported OPEC oil we avoid buying through the production of American made alcohol will bring us that much closer to energy independence" Moeller declared.

In addition to the small plants already on line or in the planning stages, three cooperatives have been formed in Hutto, Muleshoe, and Farwell to produce alcohol on a large scale basis.

is a future-oriented working force

oriented "force" is working in Texas and the nation. Leslie Nixon Jr. who also serves on the SWCD board signed a contract to install diversion and terraces, he will begin these projects this coming year. "All problems aren't solved in the Great Plains," La Baume said. "The program has been successful in wind erosion has not caused any damage of the dust since the 1930s and the drought of the 1950s."

with the Extension Service, the parent organization of 4-H. "4-H youth are benefitting from educational programs in one or more of some 60 project areas ranging from aerospace and health to photography and veterinary medicine," notes the youth leader.

Young people in 4-H clubs learn and grow under the direction of almost 22,000 trained volunteer leaders who meet with them in almost every Texas community, says Pelham.

County Extension staffs provide 4-H program direction and management in every county of the state. They are backed by the expertise of highly skilled Extension specialists headquartered either in area offices or on the Texas

A&M University campus. Texas A&M, in turn, is a part of the nationwide land-grant system which involves 52 other colleges and universities. The program receives further support through this link as part of the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"State, county and federal support, then, combine to make 4-H a unique organization," says Pelham.

"But it's the support of private citizens, organizations, corporations, and foundations whose assistances make it possible to multiply 4-H public resources many times over.

"Every 4-H'er is learning and growing through the development of his head, heart, hands and health. 4-H is shaping tomorrow's world," emphasizes Pelham.

GSPA and TCGA have established a fund to finance legal action against USDA unless this policy is reversed. Corn and sorghum farmers are contributing to the fund at a rate of $250.00 per million pounds of production. (A "million pound" producer stands to lose up to $5,000.00 because of these sales.) #### Center News

Many Center residents away on vacations

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN
August 16, 1981:
Last week's news predicted rain, now we've had it. Nice slow rains, night and day. No hail. Wonderful. Today the sun came out.

Vacation days are fast coming to a close. Church crowds are down a bit, as many are taking visits to relatives or friends in other areas. Seems like a short summer.

On the church bus today the similarity of every landscape was weeds. Did you ever see so many weeds? Looks like everybody is gone from home. But the rains have been so nice.

It is nearing Center reunion time but last year the yearly reunion was ruled out. Now we meet every two years. So not in 1981, next we meet in 1982.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Carpenter have as house guest a teenage granddaughter who flew in from Boston last week, Sara Henry. She knows it rains in West Texas now.

Mrs. Claude Carpenter, now in Lockney Rest Home, is doing fine.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson visited her parents, the Henry Brewers, this Sunday afternoon. Just dry enough to get in the garden for beans and tomatoes that needed to be picked.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Cone of Wichita Falls spent the weekend with Mrs. Leo Frizzell.

Mrs. W.L. Hartline spent Saturday in Plainview visiting her daughter June and family, the Bob Landrys.

Mr. and Mrs. Hal Thomas were in Post this Sunday visiting a brother-in-law who had just re-entered the Rest Home after a siege in a Lubbock hospital. He and wife were there when his wife passed on.

Mr. and Mrs. J.K. Holmes visited Mr. and Mrs. Plumlee Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Warren visited his mother, Mrs. Ola Warren Sunday afternoon before attending the nite service at First Baptist.

Mrs. Zane Loftin of Tulsa spent Saturday nite with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Sandifur.

Ma Green and the Rymans had the pleasure of having supper last Monday evening, with Sarah and Doug Chandler of Lubbock. Then Doc, Margaret, and Nancy brought me home and spent the rest of the nite. It rained on us all the way home.

Apartments contributed to WTSU Baptist as married couple housing

A major contribution from a Wayland Baptist University alumnus and former Plainview resident will significantly reduce the institution's shortage of married student housing, says Dr. David Jester, the President of Wayland.

Mr. Charles C. Pierce, Sr., a West Texas native who now resides in Dallas, has turned ownership of the Pierce Apartments at 408 West Seventh Street in Plainview over to the University for use as housing for married couples, according to Mr. Joe L. Provence, director of married student housing.

The gift is a direct result of appeals by the president for assistance in alleviating the University's ever-growing problem of housing prospective married students.

"At the beginning of summer school we had 21 married couples without housing and since then we have had five other married applicants for admission needing housing," Jester explained. "As of now all of them have been taken care of because of the good work of our staff and students, and the generous gift of Mr. Pierce. Fortunately, the University can now accommodate some more prospective married students."

Holland brothers promoted

There are two Major Hollands in the 136th Tactical Airlift Wing of the Texas Air National Guard stationed at Hensley Field, Dallas, but not for long.

David R. Holland, a 1966 graduate of Floydada High, has just been promoted to Major, while older brother Chuck Holland, a 1960 grad of FHS, is awaiting final approval of his elevation to Lt. Col. Both served active duty roles in the Air Force.

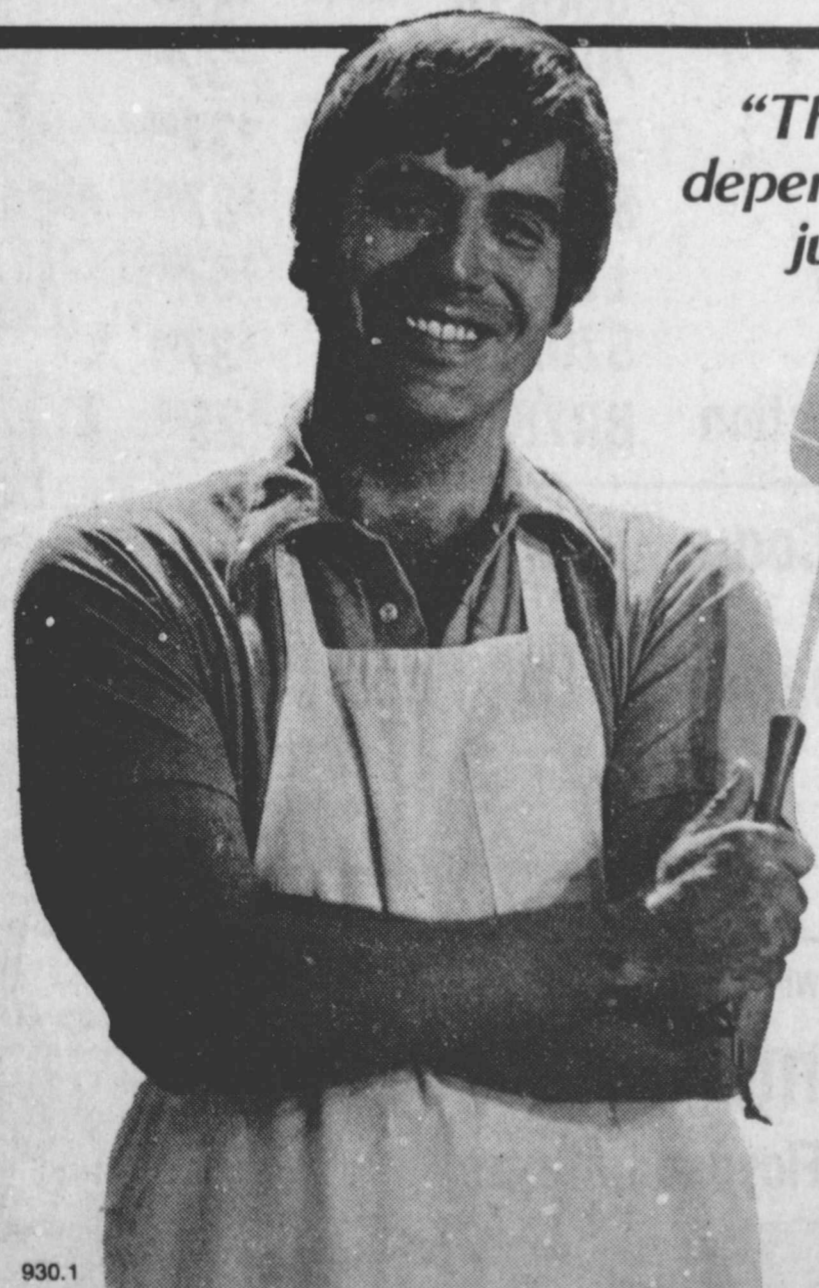

David, who graduated from Texas Tech in 1970 with a journalism degree, is Public Affairs Officer for the 136th and just returned from two weeks annual training in Central and South America.

Flying out of Howard AFB, Panama in support of the Air Force's Volant Oak program, David, escorted news media from the Dallas-Fort Worth area to Panama, Lima, Peru; La Paz, Bolivia; and Asuncion, Paraguay. He also made a trip to Haiti and the Dominican Republic.
