

Life of a country musician

By Don Williams
As Told To Kelly Delaney

The hot afternoon sun shined like a piece of sizzling cornbread in the mid-southern Tennessee sky. The heat and humidity were relentless as I sat atop the tractor, mowing the field behind our house. Sometimes, when the work was hard and the temperature near 100 degrees, I almost wished I had never moved my family out into the country. Yet, my dual life as an entertainer and husband-father, meant that I had to make our time together as a family count for all it was worth.

I had prayed to God for guidance and this move to the country was the decision he led me to. The hardest thing for me, as far as my career and my family is concerned, is separating the two—keeping one away from the other as much as possible. I really want my family to be a family. I don't see how that can be if my children are constantly bombarded with comments like, "Hey, your daddy is a star!"

So, two years after I started releasing records, we moved out here to the farm, in the hills west of Nashville. Prior to this we lived in a subdivision in the city. I really felt like timewise I was always competing with the neighborhood kids. Daddies can't compete with the neighborhood kids. If I wanted the boys to help me with something or for us to spend some time together, it was always—get it finished as quickly as possible—because there was always a yardful of kids waiting for them.

I could see the need in them for guidance. I had to spend so much time away from home touring and performing I knew that unless the situation was controlled, they might never learn the values of a Christian upbringing. It would take both my wife, Joy, and I to own up to the task at hand.

This always troubled me, because I think when you're a kid there's a whole lot of things you can learn, and the process is very natural. If they didn't learn the principles of life as children, they would have to learn them as adults, and then it's very painful. I prayed frequently that the boys, Gary and Timmy, would understand that this is the only way we can live and be a family.

As I continued mowing, I heard a little voice practically hushed by the drone of the tractor's motor. I looked in the direction of the voice. It was my youngest boy, Timmy. He was frantically waving his arms, trying to get my attention. I shut down the tractor and mopped my brow with a handkerchief. I could feel the sweat dripping out of every pore in my body.

Timmy ran over to me and said, "Daddy, there's some tourists out in the driveway and they want to know if they can come up to the house and take some pictures and stuff."

There are a lot of people who come out to the house at different times. They drive by slowly and look. Once in a great while someone will get out and come up to the house.

This was one of those times. I was in no mood to deal with a carload of tourists. I sighed, licked the salty perspiration from my lips, and said, "Well . . . no, I don't think so."

"Okay," he shrugged and toddled back up the hillside.

I cranked 'er over again and continued mowing. Soon I was back- engrossed in my thoughts of what I wanted to represent to my children. I had seen the potential for some inadvertent type of harm if my children viewed me as Don Williams—the entertainer, and not as their daddy. I want the father part of it to far outstretch the recording artist aspect. The only way this could be, as God had indicated, was to keep my family life private.

We had tried a couple of things—like performing at school benefits—since we moved to the country. I wish I could do more of them, but I recognized after both incidents that the boys were coming home from school and talking a lot about what the other kids were saying about their daddy—"Hey, he was terrific! Your daddy is a super singer!" I wanted to set a moral example for my boys and I could never do this if they were confused about just who and what I really am.

Setting an example and raising the boys in a Christian environment have always been important to me. When I was a boy, I was kind of driven away from religion because it wasn't really anything I could live. I hardly saw anyone who was living what they professed. Rather than claim to be something I wasn't, I figured I'd be better off to get away from the whole thing.

I did for a long time. Then an event occurred which changed my entire life. It was at the end of my career as a member of the Pozo Seco Singers. Joy and I had been living in Nashville at that time. We had resolved ourselves to the fact that the musical part of my life was over. We moved back to our hometown of Corpus Christi, Texas, where my father-in-law and I started a furniture business.

We visited with a friend of ours, Chuck Merrill, who is a minister in Austin. He's been close to us for a number of years. In fact, he actually helped us salvage our marriage at one point. Chuck has always been a special example to me. He was the first person I met who seemed like he had a grasp of what the Bible was all about, yet he had incorporated it into his life in terms that made it a little easier to live.

Before my experiences with Chuck, the only time I talked to my God was if something was wrong. Chuck has been an encouragement to me. He's got a real gut understanding about how to plug into life and how to relate to God.

Since those days, we have moved back to Nashville and I've had a career as a solo artist. Now, I can thank God for all his blessings and talk to Him a whole lot more than just when something is wrong. Joy and I really turn it over to God when something doesn't go the way we'd like it to, because there's usually a reason and it'll show up at some point.

We've attempted to apply the spiritual knowledge we gained from Chuck to raising our children. We have tried not to be too rigid. By that I mean, the church I went to, and the way I was raised, promoted the attitude that if you didn't belong to that particular church, you were doomed to go to hell.

We still go to the same church I grew up in, but we don't promote those kinds of attitudes in our kids. I guess what it boils down to is I don't think I've got it all figured out. I don't think I know enough about it all that I can fold it up and stick it in my pocket and say, "I've got it and anybody who doesn't see it like I understand it is in a bad way." I feel like we all have to constantly question ourselves, search for the answers, and hopefully keep growing.

But, I think there are a lot of people who don't feel that way about it. They don't like to be tested and pushed into situations where it's gray. Life is not just black and white. That was the essence of what I learned from Chuck!

As I mowed the field, thinking of my own religious development, I suddenly realized a good 15 minutes had passed and Timmy had not come back down the hill. What had happened? Did he run the tourists rudely off? Did he give in and were they traipsing through our home? Finally, it just got the best of me. I had to know the outcome. Was it black, white, or somewhere inbetween?

I turned off the tractor. I listened to the silence of the country and felt a slight breeze filling the air with the scent of freshly-mown clover. When I reached the top of the hill I saw Timmy sitting in the front yard whittling on a stick. I walked over and sat down beside him. "Well, what happened?" I asked. He looked up sheepishly at me, grimaced, and said, "Daddy, I just couldn't go over to those people and tell them no."

"Well, what did you tell them," I pressed.

His eyes turned warmly serious as he said, "I just went to the car and talked to the man. I told him, 'You know, my daddy is really a quiet person, and he really likes his privacy. You understand, don't you?' The man said, 'Yes, I do understand.' Then he got in the car and they drove away."

I just couldn't believe it! Here was a 9-year-old boy who not only was able to understand my feelings, but also he could express them so as not to hurt the feelings of others. I hugged him and silently thanked God for helping all of us to have a greater understanding of each other.

As the boys get older, I know there will be trying times ahead. But I could see in this tiny, seemingly unimportant incident that my prayers were being answered. My sons were beginning to pay attention to life around them, to other people. This little boy could see what other people were going through and what they feel.

Margaret Collier was honored Tuesday afternoon with a reception given by the Commissioners court and courthouse employees.

It was 40 years to the day September 15, since Margaret began working at the courthouse.

"I always thought that if anyone did anything like this for me, I'd feel like crying. But I don't," she said her eyes shining, "I feel like clapping my hands."

The cake, served to about 60 guests, had the courthouse designed in the icing. A decorative book was inscribed

County Court Records.

Margaret has served as County Clerk since 1943. She had worked in the clerks office since 1943. Margaret lived in Lockhart and back and forth.

She moved to Floydada after taking office. "I was here when the courthouse burned," she said. "I was here when we moved back in the 1950s. It was hard those years, but I've always enjoyed it."

Shooting under investigation

Sheriff's department is investigating a shooting which took place Monday at the Brooks Oil Co., on the west end of Floydada.

The scene was Floydada Police Chief Newton, who answered a telephone call at 6:16 p.m. and then put in a call for back-up. The next call he made stated that there had been a shooting, and that he was taking an injured man to the hospital.

Sheriff Fred Cardinal and deputies arrived at the scene minutes later. They found only one weapon, a 22 pistol, in the possession of Ray Brooks, station owner.

According to oral statements, Lewis

Ray Williams, Floydada, had been shot twice as he was standing in the doorway of the station. One bullet wound was in the stomach, the other in the shoulder. He was taken to Caprock Hospital and then transferred to a Lubbock Hospital.

According to one source he has been released by the hospital and has returned to Floydada.

On finding only one weapon at the scene, Sheriff Fred Cardinal arrested Ray Brooks on a charge of attempted murder.

At 8 p.m. that night Brooks went before County Judge Choise Smith. At the recommendation of District Attorney Randy Hollums, Judge Smith set bond at $25,000. Brooks made bond immediately.

Sheriff Fred Cardinal stated that his department is investigating, but they really don't know what happened.

Chief Newton had made previous plans to be gone from Floydada for about two weeks. He was scheduled to leave Friday evening.

After taking Williams to the hospital, Newton made a statement. He then left town as he had planned.

According to Sheriff Cardinal, neither Brooks nor Williams have made statements. They are expected to do so on Wednesday, the day of this writing.

It is expected that Chief Newton's statement will be presented to the District Attorney at the same time.

"Until then, and until we do some more investigating, we don't know what happened," said Sheriff Cardinal.

Films will be screened in the church. Titles of the films, and the dates scheduled, are:

Anderson is chosen Crime Call president

Carroll Anderson, Lockney, has been elected president of Crime Call of Floyd County, Inc. for the ensuing year.

Other officers elected during the Crime Call board meeting at the Community Room of the First National Bank were: Bill Gray, Floydada, as vice-president; and Fred Thayer, Floydada, as secretary-treasurer.

Gary Brown, Floydada, was elected to the board.

A financial report by Thayer gave a balance in the reward money fund of $2528. That includes monies deposited in both Floyd County banks.

Reward money paid out at the end of the fiscal year in May was $250.

Crime Call was formed in June of '80 as a citizens program to aid law enforcement in the county.

The Crime Call program is coordinated through the Sheriff's department, but is run strictly by citizens.

A telephone line, open 24 hours a day, is manned by the Sheriff's department.

Anyone wishing to give information on a crime may call that number and never have to identify themselves. No questions are asked other than about the crime reported.

If the information results in the arrest of the criminal the informant calls back to set up a location or drop-off for the reward money offered for that crime.

Chamber Clips

BY SUSAN GARMS

Nominations are now being taken at the Chamber office for "Person I Would Most Like to Be Stranded in an Airport With" (apologies to English majors.)

The Dallas Cowboy Trip for 1981 went off without a hitch, almost. After a fun weekend, 82 of us got back to Love Field in time to eat, check baggage and prepare to board our plane. However, weather delayed the flight for an extra two hours. Let it never be said though that this group was stuck for something to do. People watching, rating and occupation and hobby guessing were enjoyed by quite a few. Then after take-off we were treated (?) to a test flight of one of Six-Flags newest rides "The Plane Panic Plunge."

Small Business Looks Up—a majority of top officers in U.S. small businesses report that over the previous 12 months, they have not been able to charge their customers prices that kept pace with inflation, according to a poll by Heller/Rober Small Business Barometer. Yet they are more optimistic about sales and profits than they were a year ago, according to a report in NATION'S BUSINESS, business advocate magazine of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce.

An insurance workshop will be held in the Chamber office this Thursday to train agents in the procedures and marketing of the new group insurance plan now offered to Chamber members. Tax rate set at last year's level

Monday's Floyd County budget hearing adoption lasted until almost 7 p.m. as county commissioners wrestled with meeting a budget without raising the tax rate.

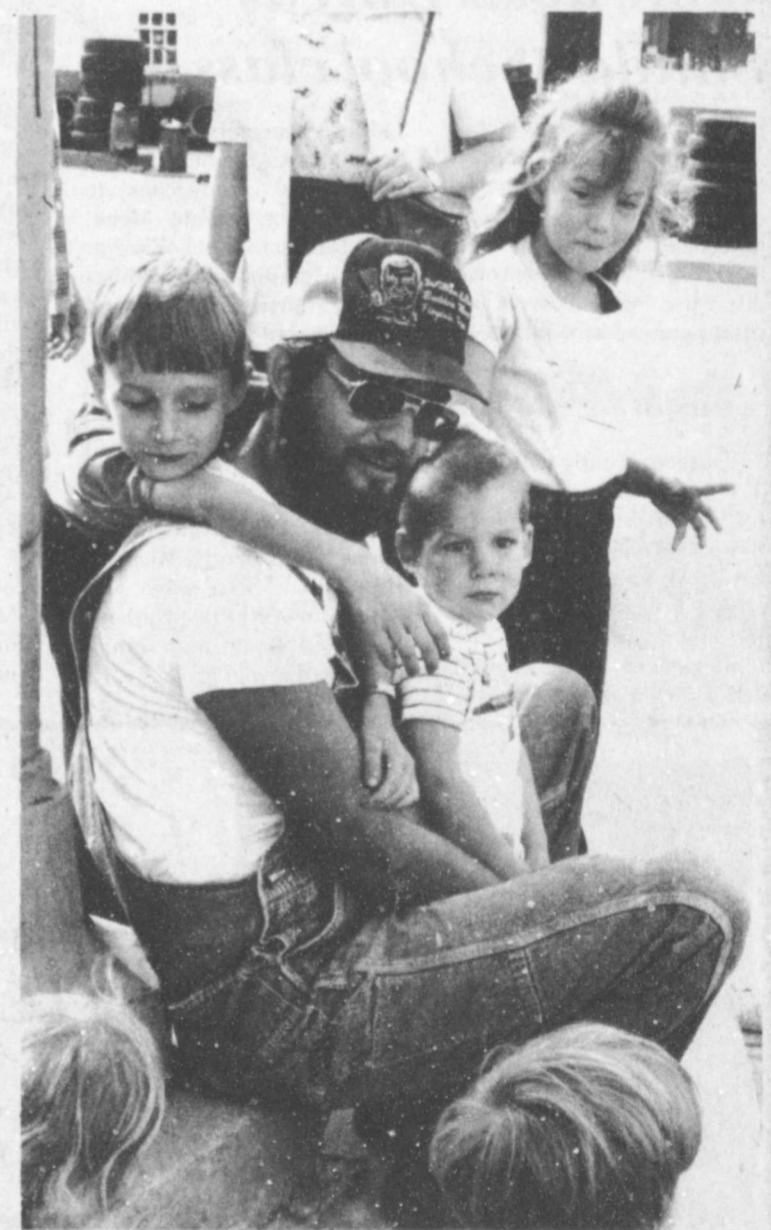

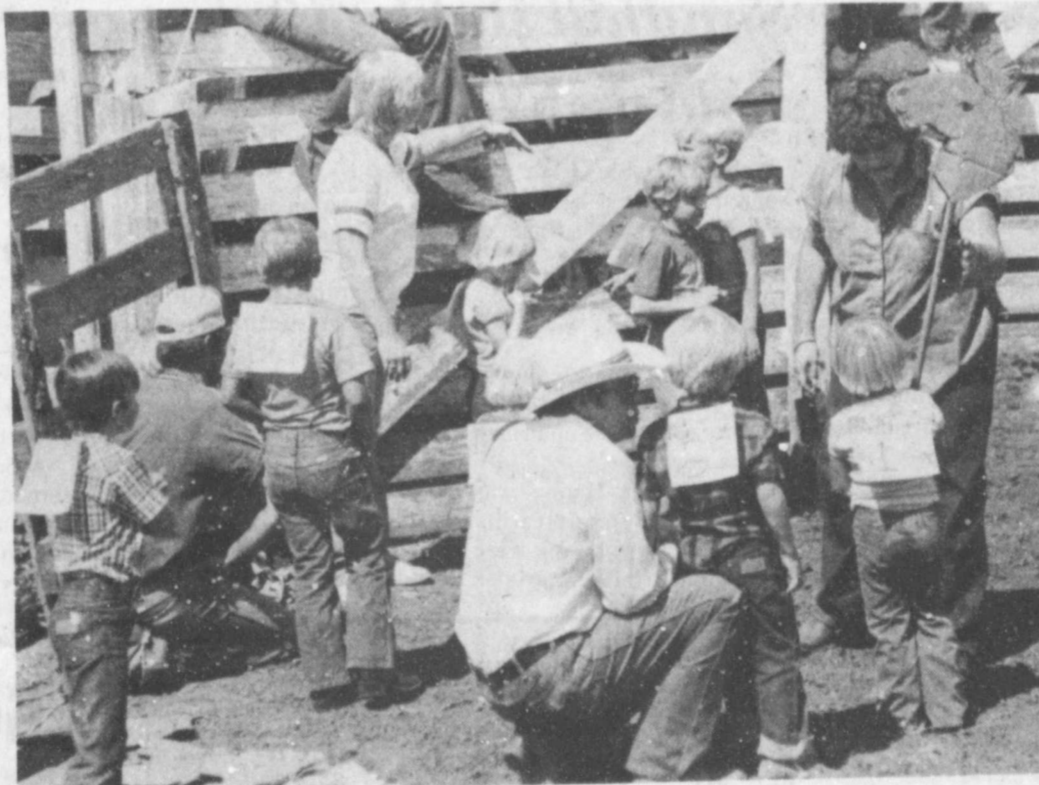

Motions were made and died for lack of second. Motions were then adjusted and passed or failed by split vote with Judge Choise Smith giving the deciding vote or nay in the budget adjustments.

Finally motion was made by Bob Jarrett that the adopted budget be approved and the tax rate be set at 31 cents, the same as last year. It was seconded by Thomas Warren. The vote was all in favor.

A complete article of the court meeting will be in next week's edition.

Hats off to all the folks who participated in and helped to make the Floyd & surrounding counties 28th Annual Fair a great success!

Today's Lifestyles

By Marilyn Tate

County Extension Agent

I was amused recently at a comment my Dad made as we were walking out of a grocery store together. He said, "You know, I get stronger all of the time. I used to be able to carry $5.00 worth of groceries, but now I can carry $50.00 worth."

It's too bad more of us can't have that kind of light-hearted attitude about it. If you are one of those people who finds grocery shopping to be a big stress on the mind as well as the pocketbook, try these tips to help lessen your tape total.

Save all coupons you see for items that you use regularly. Coupons can trim dollars of the total grocery bill, but they are no savings if you buy items with them that you do not use. Remember that many coupon offers are made just to get you to try new products, so be careful not to fall for that gimmick.

Develop a filing system for your coupons so you can see what you have easily and quickly when you are writing out your grocery list. I have found that highlighting the expiration dates on new coupons when they are filed eliminates a lot of hassle later. Discard all unused coupons after the expiration date.

Look for refund offers on products when you shop. These offers are often high enough to almost off-set the price of the product. If you normally buy brand A, but brand B has a $1.00 refund offer, it would certainly be worth your while to change brands for the week.

You can also save money by learning what foods are tax-exempt and which ones are taxable, since five cents is added to each dollar spent for a taxable item. For example no tax is paid on powdered tea, but there is on tea with sugar added.

Generally speaking, if an item is human food for home food preparation and is not already "made up," it is tax-exempt. This also includes fruit drinks which are at least 70 percent natural fruit juices and powdered orange-flavored instant breakfast drink, sugar, cocoa, and nuts.

Taxable items include other fruit drinks, ades, and punches which include less than 70 percent natural fruit juices regardless of whether they are purchased canned, powdered, or as a frozen concentrate. Foods or meals already prepared and ready to eat are taxable. Sugar or chocolate-coated nuts are taxable even though the sugar, cocoa, and nuts are not taxed.

Sales tax is charged on the full regular price of merchandise purchased with "cents-off" coupons issued by manufacturers. When the coupon is issued by the store, tax is paid on the price after the "cents-off" have been deducted.

Lakeview News

BY JOYCE WILLIAMS

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Norris over Labor Day weekend were his sisters and brother and families. These included: Mr. and Mrs. John Largent of Midland; Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Seigler of Springdale, Arkansas; Mrs. Oleta Potts, Lakewood, California; Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Norris and Jon of Carlsbad, New Mexico; their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Waters and Tracee also of Carlsbad; Mrs. Mary Day and Carrie of Irving; Mrs. W.J. Wilks of Floydada; and Bill and Ozena's son, Shannon, of Amarillo. They all enjoyed a big Sunday dinner together and stayed nights with various relatives in Floydada and Crosbyton.

Mr. and Mrs. David Hard and daughters, Salinda, Sandy and Sara Jane, of Plainview, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Hart the Sunday before school started. Mr. and Mrs. P.L. Hart visited Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Parack on Thursday evening. They also visited Mrs. Lula Green after she came home from Caprock Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harrison kept four of their grandchildren last week. These were Heather and Alicia Howard, children of Gail and Bill Howard of Aiken; and Jennifer and Chad Givens, children of Sue and Ted Givens of South Plains.

Janice Hanson came home for her grandfather Kinchloe's funeral, and stayed with her parents, Bill and Lillian Smith. They ate Sunday dinner with Ruth and Don Harrison. Other dinner guests were Mr. and Mrs. Max Harrison, and daughter Tracv, also Stacy Smith. Mrs. Travis Dunn and Jean came from Lockney on Monday, also Mrs. Weldon Jones of Hale Center, to visit Ruth and Don Harrison, and gathered vegetables.

Ruby and Blanton Hartsell thought they had retired from the vegetable business, but Mother Nature decided otherwise. The good rains this summer brought up volunteer tomatoes and they are working and selling as hard as ever.

Kay and Conley Bradford of Hampton, Virginia, returned home before Labor Day, with their children, Paige and Scotty. They had visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hammonds. While Kay and Conley were here, her sister, Gay Lynn and her husband, Chuck Carpenter and son Cody, of Canyon, also visited Ruth and Weldon. Mr. and Mrs. Billy Hammonds of Thalia, and Mr. and Mrs. George Davis of Vernon visited here last Monday.

Our community received 7/8" to 1 1/2" of rain last Monday (Labor Day) and rain and hail fell over parts of the area Sunday evening. Grass is knee high, weeds are flourishing, cotton is starting to open slowly, hay is being cut and turned, prairie dogs are building high ridges around their holes (expecting rain or snow?) and cattle are putting on heavy coats. Mesquite beans carpet the canyon in the heaviest growth in many a year. The weather is brisk today, more like late October or November.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldredge attended the Battey reunion at the M.A.C. the Sunday of Labor Day weekend. Their children, Karen and Tommy Klein and sons of Lubbock, also Mark Alldredge, were here for the reunion.

Monte Williams, Pete Coloway and Speck Brian, of Ft. Sill, Lubbock and San Angelo, visited Mr. and Mrs. Q.D. Williams Sunday, and went dove hunting at Roaring Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackie Ward of Lubbock, visited Johnny's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thurston, Labor Day weekend.

Mrs. Mary Neff was taken to Lubbock last week by Ona Ruth Neff for her check-up and received a good report.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

BY DOROTHY NEFF

We would like to thank the Dorcas Sunday School class of the Calvary Baptist Church for the bananas and cookies.

We would also like to thank Debra Fawver for the tomatoes and peppers. The residents have really enjoyed them.

There were several changes made last week while I was on vacation. The dining room had been painted and the furniture moved. We got a P.A. system. The Calvary Baptist Church donated the system. The First Assembly of God Church donated the speakers and the First Baptist Church donated the mike. Sonny Holmes and Steve installed the system. We certainly will enjoy having this in our home and wish to express our thanks to each church who takes a part in this project.

Mrs. Sarah Cline was able to go back home to live this week. We all wish her the very best at home. It is always nice to see residents go back home to live and carry on their lives.

This weeks visitors included Mr. and Mrs. James Russell, Sherry Colston, Nealey Richardson, Wiley Rogers, Hazel Bradley and

Kim, Elvis and Lovelle Childs, Lois Jones, Jack and Babe Dillard, Dixie Tate, Zacha Harris, Evelyn Crull, Burmah Probasco, Beady Owens, Merlene Breeding, Deeota Odum, Charley L. Berry, Sr., Lucille Sisson, Melisa Martin, Alvin R. Ledbetter, Margaret Daniel, Marie Baxter and Gene Baird.

Williams leads in scoring Whirlwinds stop Frenship, 21-8

The Floydada Whirlwinds, led by running back Bruce Williams who gained 188 yards on 24 carries, stopped Frenship 21-8 at Frenship.

The triumph upped the 'Winds record to 2-0 for the young season.

Williams, who scored two of the 'Winds touchdowns, was named 3A player of the week by the Amarillo Globe-News for his sparkling performance against Frenship.

Floydada used two Frenship turnovers to set up their first two touchdowns before Williams ripped off a long run for the 'Winds' final score in the third period.

The defeat dropped Frenship to 0-2 for the year.

Floydada's Ronnie Minner intercepted a Brent Davis pass at the Floydada 45-yard line and returned it 40 yards to the Frenship 15 to set up a one-yard TD run by quarterback Todd Beedy in the first quarter. Donnell Weeks kicked the PAT.

Later in the quarter Norman Allen recovered a fumble at the Frenship five and, one play later, Williams went the distance. Weeks kicked the PAT.

Frenship moved within six points in the second period when it drove 55 yards for a

TD, the final four coming on a run by Comas Godfrey. Brent Davis then passed to Ronnie Nelms for the extra points, leaving the score 14-8.

But Williams put it out of reach in the third period with a 32-yard scoring sprint. Weeks kicked the PAT to close the scoring. Williams could have easily have gone over 200 yards rushing had he not have had six runs called back on penalties.

Floydada will host Post Friday at 8 p.m. in the season's third contest.

Coach's Comment

Winds are showing flashes of greatness

BY L.G. WILSON
The team continued to show flashes of being a good club. I am concerned about our moments of poor play on defense and lack of concentration on offense. We must condition ourselves to a total effort the entire game. Our offensive line had an other fine overall effort. The 3rd quarter drive of 85 yards consuming 6 minutes of the Wind advantage Frenship had was a combination of fine running and excellent blocking. To me this was the turning point of the game. All of the yardage was on the ground and equally distributed inside and out. If our line continues to execute like this I believe we can move the ball on anyone. The blocking of Mike Salazar and our fullbacks Mark Nutt and Donnell Weeks showed a vast improvement.

Frenship had a good sound football team so we now know a little more about ourselves. We will be able to compete with anyone one our schedule but to win, it will take an all out effort each time. Our team this year is designed both offensively and defensively to take advantage of our team speed. Speed really comes forth when one is hustling so the more we hustle - the more apparent our speed. This week's ball game with Post will be a good one. They have a fine team — quick and speedy — no one has been able to score on them so far this year. They are ball hawks on defense and scramblers on offense. It will take an all out effort to defeat them.

We came out of the Frenship ball game with several boys slowed, because of knocks and bruises, but nothing serious. However your workouts are hindered when you have key boys not able to go full speed. This hurts you more earlier in the season when you are still in the learning process. We believe everyone will be able to go at full speed Friday night.

Jr. High ball games will be at Wester Field, Thursday between Floydada and Post. 7th Grade will play at 5:30 and 8th grade at 7:00.

agri-facts
Tax benefits - and then some. Farmers and ranchers should feel some economic relief with the passage of the administration's tax bill. Foremost are changes in the estate tax over the next six years. At the end of that period, the unified gift and estate tax credit will reach $192,800, permitting up to $600,000 to be excluded from estate taxes. The tax rate is also cut for larger estates, and the fair market value of qualified real property will also be liberalized. New depreciation procedures should also prove helpful, allowing faster writeoffs for buildings, tile drains, fences, etc. Buildings may be depreciated over 15 years and other assets, including special purpose structures, drain tile, etc., in 5 years. Farm machinery also falls within the five-year category.

"Justified Without A Cause"

God tells us in His Word that believers are "justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus" (Rom. 3:24). The word "freely," here, does not mean "without cost," but "without cause." The same original word is so translated in John 15:25, where we find the words of Christ: "They hated Me without a cause."

Thus sinners hated Christ "without a cause," yet God justified sinners "without a cause." How can this be? Let's see:

What had Christ done to earn the enmity of men? Nothing whatever. He had been kind and good, had helped those in distress, had healed their sick, had made the dumb to speak, the deaf to hear, the blind to see and the lame to leap for joy. Why, then, did they hate Him? The Bible says they hated Him "without a cause," i.e., without any cause in Him. The cause of their hatred lay in their own evil hearts.

But on the other hand, what have sinners done to merit justification before God? Again the answer is: Nothing whatever. They have broken His commandments every day, lying, stealing and committing hundreds of other sins. Yet in love God gave His Son to die for them on Calvary "that He might be just and (at the same time) the Justifier of him that believeth in Jesus" (Rom. 3:26). He loves and justifies believers "without a cause," i.e., without any cause in them. The cause is to be found in His own compassionate heart, for "GOD IS LOVE."

Thus those who trust in Christ, who died for our sins, are justified without a cause, by God's grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus.

"GOD COMMENDETH HIS LOVE TOWARD US IN THAT WHILE WE WERE YET SINNERS CHRIST DIED FOR US" (Rom. 5:8).

"BY THIS MAN IS PREACHED... THE FORGIVENESS OF SINS, AND BY HIM ALL THAT BELIEVE FROM ALL THINGS, FROM WHICH YE COULD NOT BE JUSTIFIED BY THE LAW OF MOSES" (Acts 13:38,39).
