

FLOYDADA WHIRLWIND BAND won a II at Regional contest at Jones Stadium yesterday. Seventeen bands shared with only three receiving a I.

Post and Slaton will be Floydada's district
District alignments changed

Under the new district alignments for 1982-83 and 83-84 announced by the University Interscholastic League early this week, the Floydada Whirlwinds will greet two new foes on the gridiron and say goodbye to two old ones. Post and Slaton will enter District 3-AAA and Tulia and Abernathy will move over to compete with Dimmitt, Friona, Littlefield and Muleshoe in District 2-AAA.

The eleven allowed in the past, thus depriving open dates to teams that play a full 10 game schedule. In order to have an open date, a school would have to schedule only nine games during the season.

The UIL classifications are based on enrollment figures. The UIL says class 5A schools have an enrollment of 1310 and up, Class 4A 645 to 1309, Class 3A 270 to 644, Class 2A 140 to 269 and 1A 139 and under. A high school with less than 85 students may enter six man football.

Schools in Region I who moved either up or down in classification include Pampa, down from 5A to 4A, Olton, down from 3A to 2A, and Vega, Forsan and Ropes, who all dropped from 2A to 1A.

While announcing the new UIL alignments locally, Coach L.G. Wilson also released the planned Whirlwind football schedule for the coming 1982 season, which is as follows:

Non-district games—September 3 Dimmitt; September 10 Frenship; September 17 Muleshoe; September 24 Tulia; October 1 Littlefield. District games and locations are: October 8, Lockney, here; October 15, Childress, there; October 22, Post, here; October 29, Idalou, here; and November 5, Slaton, there. November 12 is Bi-district.

Following is the Region 13A lineup by districts:

District 1-AAA -- Amarillo River Road, Boys Ranch, Dalhart, Canadian, Perryton and Spearman.

District 2-AAA -- Abernathy, Dimmitt, Friona, Littlefield, Muleshoe and Tulia.

District 3-AAA -- Childress, Lockney, Floydada, Idalou, Post and Slaton.

District 4-AAA -- Denver City, Lubbock-Cooper, Lubbock-Roosevelt, Seminole, Tahoka and Frenship.

Delegates attend TSTA Convention in Lubbock

District 17 of the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA) held its annual convention and House of Delegates at Monterey High School in Lubbock, Thursday evening, October 29.

Delegates to the meeting from the Floydada Educators Association of TSTA were Audrey Spence, Norma Feuerbacher, and Tom Powell. Other teachers and support personnel also attended the meeting. Each person who attended had a choice of sectional meetings to participate in.

Wenona Thompson, Floydada school employee is chairperson of district 17's paraprofessional organization. Sally Galloway, also from Floydada, elected chairperson for next year.

During the banquet a style show was given by clothing stores that give TSTA members a 10% discount. The stores gave gift certificates as door prizes. The grand door prize, a 19" color TV, was won by Roberta Hardin of Floydada.

The main speaker for the evening was Joyce Juntune, the Executive Director of the National Association for Gifted Children. She spoke on "Asking the Right Questions." She described types of teaching a teacher needs to do in the classroom to meet the needs of different kinds of learners.

The House of Delegates met at 8:00 in the Monterey High School Auditorium. District President Dick Lawson presided over the business session. New officers for the coming year were elected. Other business included changes in the district constitution. One new change in the constitution gave the District Executive Committee the option of holding a convention each year or just having a House of Delegates. Formerly, both were requirements. Two recommendations sent to state committees were to freeze state dues and review the Bilingual Education program.

County votes "for" Amendment four

With all 17 Floyd county voting boxes complete, the count on the seven constitutional amendments voted on Tuesday was approval by a substantial margin on six of them and a definite "no" vote on one.

Rejected by local voters was Amendment 3, which would set up a financial committee to handle state expenditures while the Legislature was out of session. The vote was 324 For and 546 Against.

A total of 1,055 out of the 4,791, or 22 percent, of the county's registered voters showed up at the polls to make their preferences known on the seven proposals. Although it was a light vote for this important election, it was just three percentage points under the maximum of 25% that was forecast to cast votes in the West Texas area.

Total Floyd county vote on the seven amendments is as follows:

Amendment One, A local option program of redevelopment tax exemptions, 460 For and 434 Against.

Amendment Two, providing land title relief, 661 For and 234 Against.

Amendment Three, setting up a state financial panel, 324 For and 546 Against.

Amendment Four, Water development plan, 955 For and 100 Against.

Amendment Five, Farm product tax exemption, 682 For and 236 Against.

Amendment Six, Home owners tax exemption, 529 For and 364 Against.

Amendment Seven, Veterans land program, 504 For and 391 Against.

Amendment Four, designed and sponsored by Texas House Speaker Bill Clayton, which would have set aside half of the state's surplus revenues after budget financing for a fund to develop water projects throughout the state, was an overwhelming favorite of Floyd countians, as it was expected to be over the entire West Texas area, as the local vote indicated approval by a nine-to-one margin.

The proposal appeared to be losing by a large margin state-wide, however, as the East Texas--and the Houston area vote particularly--was being counted after the polls closed Tuesday night. According to a Texas Election Bureau report, with 233 of 254 counties reporting, 205 complete, showed Amendment Four being defeated by 234,946, or 43% For, and 316, 279, or 57% Against.

TSTA banquet at Duncan Robertson will speak

The annual fall banquet of the Floydada Educators Association (TSTA) will be held Tuesday, November 10, at 6:30 p.m. in the Duncan Cafeterium. The guest speaker for the evening will be Burnham A. Robinson, state president of the Texas State Teachers Association. Robinson will be speaking on topics which are of importance to all school employees. At the end of his address, Robinson will be answering questions from the audience.

Burnham Robinson, a speech and language specialist for Fort Worth ISD, became president of the 95,000 member Texas State Teachers Association on July 15, 1981.

Robinson has 18 years' experience as a curriculum writer and career education program researcher. He received his bachelor's degree from Tennessee A&I State University (Nashville), and has completed post-graduate work at the University of Hawaii (Honolulu) and North Texas State University (Denton), leading to a speech and hearing therapy certificate at the latter.

The meal for the evening will be a pot luck Mexican supper. Any school employee, whether a member of TSTA or not, who would care to attend is invited. Bring a guest, a covered dish, and come on! TSTA members should make a special effort to attend.

Dick Lawson, President of District 17, will also be in attendance. The Floydada Educators Association would like to take this opportunity to publicly recognize Dick for the hard work and dedication he has put into his year as President. Through his leadership, TSTA continues to be the "Majority that will make it happen."

Deer season outlook is promising

The upcoming deer season promises to be everything that last year wasn't.

Good forage and better than normal weather conditions should result in better quality deer than a year ago and more of them, according to a Texas Agricultural Extension Service wildlife specialist.

Hunters can even expect better antlered deer from the improved nutrition which is a major contributing factor to their condition.

"Last year's drought effectively reduced the deer numbers in over-populated areas," explains Dr. Dwight Guynn. "This year there is more food for each animal which translates into good antler growth for bucks and higher fawn crops for does."

Higher fawn crops generally means the deer herds are immediately beginning a population increase. Hence, Guynn stresses that landowners and hunters can work toward a larger female harvest this year in order to keep down the increasing deer population where desired.

"Failure to harvest more does in the past seasons led to over-populated conditions in many parts of the state that results in large die-offs similar to what happened when the drought hit last year," Guynn says. "Historically, deer harvests in the Hill Country have been about 10% of the population per year. However, we recommend that 20-25% of the deer population be harvested annually just to compensate for reproduction and keep the population from increasing beyond the food supply."

Guynn, a certified wildlife biologist, says it's getting harder each year to predict the type hunting season that hunters can expect. Weather conditions and food availability are major considerations. With a good acorn crop and lush green forage available, deer will feed mostly at night and bed down during the day, making hunting more difficult.

He says an early frost or scarce food conditions during the season usually cause deer to roam more during daylight hours to seek food. Deer would then be more visible and available to hunters. They could also be more easily drawn to baited stands.

Guynn reminds landowners that deer census techniques and spotlight counts can be used to better determine deer populations and evaluate proper harvest levels. More can be learned about these techniques along with aging methods, harvest record systems and harvest recommendations through local county Extension agents or Texas Department of Parks and Wildlife officials.

Deer season opens in most Texas counties at sunrise on November 14.

Halloween carnival deemed a success

BY SUSAN GARMS

Approximately 300 people braved the weather and attended the Halloween Carnival downtown last Saturday.

Most everyone had a good time at the various booths and concessions at the stores of sixteen merchants who participated.

By now the bats have returned home and the makeup has been scraped or sanded off and the poor souls at the spook houses who had been so badly "wounded" have surely healed.

Thanks to all who participated, many of whom are already talking about

"next year." The Azteca has reported the most tickets with 995! It was a good day for Chalupas.

There were 84 in the costume parade and the judges had a difficult time choosing for prizes. Because of the inclement weather the parade was cut down to the immediate area of the judging stand and then the prizes were awarded.

Winners in the 10 and under category were: 1st, Mysti Bertrand, cat; 2nd, Casey Vickers, clown; 3rd, Jennifer Rodriguez, witch. In the 11-18 category, the winners were: 1st, Bobby Tinsley, monster; 2nd, Corey Ford, old man; and 3rd, Pam Woody, cat.

KINDERGARTEN WINNERS—Winners from kindergarten in the Spirit Coloring Contest were [l-r] Luis Ybarra [K-1], 1st place; Michalle Garcia [K-1], 2nd place; and [K-3], 3rd place.

2ND GRADE WINNERS—Duncan Elementary Spirit Coloring Contest winners from the 2nd grade were [l-r] Becky Turner [2-B], 1st place; Ray Garcia [2-B], 2nd place; and Lupe Solis [2-A], 3rd place.

FIRST GRADE WINNERS—Spirit Coloring Contest winners from the first grade were [l-r] Tlan Younger [1-C], 1st; and Traca Lemons, [1-E], 3rd.

3RD GRADE WINNERS—Duncan Elementary Spirit Coloring Contest winners from the 3rd grade were [l-r] 1st place Olga Gonzales, [3-B]; 2nd place, Missy Hearon, [3-B]; and 3rd place, Caryn Jones, [3-B].

THESE GHOSTS AND GOBLINS are some of the parents of Duncan Elementary students, who participated in a Spook House on Friday before Halloween. The principal, Mr. Bob Copeland was Dracula. Others helping were Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Gilliland who donated fluorescent paper and several high school students also participated.

SPIRIT COLORING CONTEST WINNERS from R.C. Andrews Elementary were [l-r] Kelli LaBaume, 2nd place; Danny Caballero, 3rd place; Jill Smith and Menton Janie Rios.

Compared to the heat pump, gas heating can save you $226 per year on your utility bills. We want to thank the Sunshine Sunday School class for the bananas, and cookies. Mrs. Ruth Duncan visited with the residents as we gave each a banana. The cookies were given to each resident Friday during the movie.

The residents who ride the Senior Citizens bus and myself would like to wish Grady Freeman a quick recovery. We really miss taking that outing each Wednesday.
We didn't have a big winner in bingo this week, however, Mrs. Vera Duke won two games, Mrs. Una Clark, Geñeda Roberts, Olie Miranda, Emmitt Lawrence, A.G. Eubanks and Mr. W.C. Cates all won one game each.

I would like to thank the nurses aids for decorating the home for Halloween and giving a party for the residents Halloween night. Everyone enjoyed the little spooks. Employees were dressed in their costumes and served pumpkin pie to the residents.
We want to thank Bama Coward and her G.A. girls of the First Baptist Church for treating of residents with candy Thursday afternoon. The twelve girls came in Halloween costumes and visited with the residents as they treated them.
We want to thank Mrs. Ham Smith for the pink and red geranium plants and Worth Howard for the pots to put them in. They look so nice in our lobby.
We have a new resident in our home, Mrs. Florence Simpson, lives in room six, down the west wing. Mrs. Simpson will need your visits.

dinners are disappointing in terms of taste and some are quite expensive! Solution — make your own.

The aluminum TV dinner trays can be purchased in most grocery stores. When you have leftovers, fix up a TV dinner. Cover with heavy duty aluminum foil or slip the tray into a freezer bag. Be sure to label your dinner. Freeze it for future use.

Homemade TV dinners should be reheated at 350 degrees until the food is hot. The length to heat will depend on what you have — a casserole will take longer than fried chicken.

Some foods are not suitable for reheating in a home-made TV dinner. Broccoli that is completely cooked is a good example. Cabbage and other leafy greens will develop stronger flavors. Usually, corn on the cob will become hard if fully cooked and frozen. Do not try to freeze tossed salad. You can make a fresh one while your home-made TV dinner is cooking.

Breads freeze well. It is better to package biscuits, rolls, muffins and other quick breads separately. Sprinkle the bread lightly with water and wrap tightly in aluminum foil. Reheat at 350 degrees and serve.

Make your own entrees. Small aluminum pans can be purchased. When you have one or two servings of your main dish left — freeze it. You will find it is a real time saver when you need a quick meal for your husband while you go to a meeting or for the children when you enjoy a night on the town.

Home-made TV dinners or frozen entrees usually taste better and are liked better because "Mama made it!"

Bradley elected to board

Floyd C. Bradley, pastor of First Baptist Church in Floydada, was elected to the Executive Board of the Baptist General Convention of Texas (BGCT) during the BGCT annual meeting in Waco October 27-29.

The Executive Board, composed of laymen and ordained church leaders, conducts the business of the 2.2 million-member BGCT between annual sessions.

The BGCT owns and operates eight colleges and universities, an academy, eight hospitals and four children's homes.

This work is supported by the Convention's 4,400 churches and missions, which will give more than $45.4 million this year through the Cooperative Program to help share Christ's love throughout the world.

Besides the institutions, the Convention helps support the work of more than 5,000 missionaries in the United States and almost 100 foreign countries.

Illegal immigrants to receive benefits U.S. and welfare programs

States and local communities may soon have to give illegal immigrants all the benefits and welfare programs they give to U.S. citizens, if two cases currently before the Supreme Court are not overturned.

FAIR, the Federation for American Immigration Reform, has entered these cases by filing an amicus curiae (friend of the court) brief supporting the State of Texas in the cases of Plyler vs. Doe and In Re Alien Children, to try to prevent such a conclusion. The cases of Plyler vs. Doe and In Re Alien Children were brought by lawyers representing children who are illegal aliens. The lawyers contended that illegal aliens were Constitutionally entitled to receive free public education in the United States. The United States Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit has upheld their contention, and the State of Texas is appealing to the Supreme Court.

The importance of these cases have not yet been fully understood by much of the public. FAIR argues in its brief that free public education is the wedge which could open all public services and welfare to illegal immigrants whose very presence in the United States is against the law. It also argues that offering public services such as free education will entice even more people to come illegally to the United States in the future.

The lawyers for the appellees have said that the case involves a narrow issue, that it applies only to education at public expense for illegal immigrants. But in their arguments they claim that illegal are protected under the "equal protection" clause of the Constitution. This clause has been used to prevent states from excluding some groups of American citizens from social welfare programs unless there is what the Supreme Court has called a "rational basis" for their exclusion.

American minority groups have achieved equal access to education, welfare, health services, public housing, and so on, through the "Equal protection" clause of the Constitution. If illegal immigrants are also covered, they too cannot be denied these programs unless the states have a "rational basis" for such a denial. And the fact that illegals are in the U.S. against the law, that they have no right at all to be here, or that including them in social programs would mean that some American citizens would not be able to receive the programs, would not be considered a "rational basis" for exclusion.

brink of devising new federal policies to deal with illegal immigration. A decision that illegal aliens who establish residence in this country are constitutionally entitled to an education at public expense could handicap these efforts for two reasons.

"First, it could increase illegal immigration directly. Migration results from the complex interaction of 'push' and 'pull' factors. If overpopulation and underdevelopment are the 'push,' job opportunities, high wages, and available government benefits are the 'pull.' A guarantee of a free education in the United States for their children would not only be added incentive to millions of parents throughout the world but would also encourage illegal aliens who might otherwise return home after a temporary period of employment to bring their families and settle.

provided benefits by illegal aliens already here, at the very time governments at those levels are cutting back in response to taxpayers initiatives and shrinking federal assistance.

"The decisions of the lower courts, if sustained, would validate for the first time the claim of illegal aliens to important public services. It would increase the pull factors which draw illegal aliens to this country and almost surely increase the incidence of their use of government services even if their numbers do not grow. At stake in this case is the promise of the United States to its borders, and, in a sense, its future. A decision which would at once strip this power and leave the United States with the fundamental principle of our government

ROBERTA HARDIN, Floydada, was the winner of a television set at the October 29 at the TSTA convention in Lubbock. Roberta's ticket to the dinner was the winning number. "This is the biggest thing I've ever won. It was exciting," she said.

Joseph Zengerle and Marc Reardon, FAIR's lawyers, wrote in the brief filed before the Supreme Court: "The dilemma presented by the cases now before this Court is symptomatic of the quandary in which current circumstances place the entire country. No one wishes to deny these claimants an education for their children. But lines must be drawn to secure respect for the law, because otherwise the opportunity for the country to respond effectively to (illegal immigrants) can be critically handicapped at precisely the moment when national leadership policies appropriate to the times.

"These cases thus come to the Court as the President and the Congress are on the Second, such a decision could, at the very least, open to legal challenge state and local government efforts to prevent illegal aliens from utilizing various government programs other than education. A likely consequence of such challenges would be...a resultant increase in the utilization of state and locally

"AWAY WE GO" as Todd Beedy takes off of the quarterback sweep during Friday nights game against Idalou, which Floydada won 10-9.

Winds squeak by Idalou

A determined effort to win the District 3-AAA Friday night Idalou game was forgotten something... Floydada can pass.

Most of the evening Wildcats were aiming to the Whirlwinds and Bruce Williams on the end zone but on two passes quarterback Todd Beedy reversed things on the field goal by Donnell Williams with 1:56 to go as the team took a hard-fought victory.

Williams puts Floydada in the 3-AAA standings at 3-0 and 3-0 in the title match tomorrow night in Abernathy.

Though Idalou did win the Winds out of the game on the ground, FHS led 150 yards overland Williams getting 105 on the ground. Beedy, on the ground, ignored the snub and hit six out of seven attempts, including a 33-yard touchdown strike in the third quarter to set up a winning field goal.

Idalou didn't have an idle moment as the Wild- cats over 300 yards but fell behind in one of the biggest categories—turnovers. The Winds pounced on Idalou fumbles and intercepted two passes.

There was an exchange of punts that led to the first points.

Idalou started when an intercepted pitchout by Beedy and Idalou claim the FHS 47. On the play, however, Idalou's Sherman, returned the punter when he ended a 47-yard run with a fumble. Covington jumped on the Floydada at its own 10.

Williams plays later Beedy back to pass and Beedy intercepted for at midfield and returned to the Floydada 17. Floydada defense held Idalou on a 10-yard penalty held Beedy out of the end zone with 7:40 to go in the second quarter Sherman on the drive with a 34-yard field goal.

Idalou was primed to put the ball on its next play when the 'Cats' from their own 13 to the Floydada 47. However, and eight from that point, quarterback Henry Vega tried for the scoring bomb and Ronnie Minner came up with the interception for Floydada on the Wind eight yardline.

Floydada drove the 92 yards in seven plays which included a 22-yard burst by Williams that got things rolling on the second play of the drive.

Beedy and Minner set things up for the score with a first down on the Idalou 49. The quarterback hit Minner on a nine-yard sideline shot on the first play. On the next play Minner appeared to run the same route but turned up field at the last second and Beedy lofted the ball over the receiver's shoulder and the result was a 40-yard run-pass combination for six points.

Weeks booted the extra point with 4:39 left in the half.

Neither team could mount a serious threat in the third quarter but when a fourth down gamble from the Idalou 27 failed for the Winds in the fourth quarter the Wildcats set off a 70-yard march for a touchdown.

Idalou's drive seemed stalled when it faced fourth and eight from its own 46, but Vega hit Francis on a pass for a first down at the Floydada 41. On the next play Sherman found a hole, broke a tackle in the secondary and rambled the rest of the way in for the six points with 4:39 left in the game.

With a loss already on their district record, the Wildcats were determined to put things out of field goal reach and a tie, by going for the two extras. Sherman's run for the two was stopped short and Idalou held a 9-7 lead.

Floydada got the ball back with 4:31 left in the game on its own 35 and quickly ran into trouble with a third and seven from its own 37. Beedy went to the air on the next play and hit Carlos Rainwater just over midfield. As the senior flanker turned up field, the Idalou defender missed the tackle, and Rainwater legged it to the 'Cat 11 before being dragged down.

Idalou wasn't about to allow the touchdown as three straight rushes by Williams only gained ground to the nine yardline. Facing fourth

Coach's Comment

BY COACH L.G. WILSON

Preparations for Abernathy had to take a back seat Monday with the announcement of the new U.L.L. District alignment. With only 10 possible dates to get our allotted 10 games the phone lines were busy. Following in the new district for the Whirlwinds the next two years and the schedule for the 1982-83 school year with the sites to be reversed in 1983-84.

Sept. 3	Dimmitt	There
Sept. 10	Frenship	Here
Sept. 17	Muleshoe	There
Sept. 24	Tulia	There
Oct. 1	Littlefield	Here
(All the above non-dist. games)
Oct. 8	Lockney	Here
Oct. 15	Childress	There
Oct. 22	Post	Here
Oct. 29	Idalou	Here
Nov. 5	Slaton	There

(Dist. games) (Tulia and Abernathy out and Post and Slaton added.)

Starting with next years schedule both the first and second place teams will advance into the play-off system. For this reason the regular season will end one week earlier than usual.

On last week's ball game with the Idalou Wildcats, I feel we were fortunate to come out winners no more fired up than we were. It has always been a mystery to me how this can happen to teams, but it is a constant thing that plagues teams from the pros on down through Jr. High. Idalou had a tough aggressive team with one of the top running backs (James Sherman #44) on the South Plains. Thanks to fighting, determined bunch of Whirlwinds, we are still in contention for the district crown. Let's all get fixed up for the Abernathy Antelopes this week and get that district championship back home.

THE WINDS J.V. suffered their first loss of the season Thursday night to Abernathy at a score of 12-0.

Cowboy wives donate proceeds to children

When volunteer stressed as at national's social solution to the wives of the cowboy football team third year in a unique idea to help children.

The direction of the wife of the middle line players' wives have Dallas Cowboy Family Fitness Guide Nutritional Cookbook. Proceeds from the book go directly to benefit the special learning handicapped children of Happy Hill Farm Children's Home. In its six years of operation, the Farm has never taken state or Federal funding. Bob Breunig serves on the Farm's Board of Directors.

"The past two seasons we've produced a very successful cookbook, featuring favorite Cowboy recipes and candid snapshots of players and their families," said Mary Breunig. "This year we've put together an entirely new kind of book called a 'family fitness guide.'" The Dallas Cowboy Wives' Family Fitness Guide contains helpful hints on how the Cowboy families maintain maximum health year-round. It features exercise routines, calorie-counting charts, a guide for measuring the effectiveness of various sports and exercises, and a variety of health tips. The book also contains information about the Cowboy families' exercise and sports activities, and candid pictures of the Cowboys and their wives and children. "This year the cookbook section contains more salad and vegetable recipes, as well as some special health drinks and whole-grain bread ideas," says Mary Breunig.

Their cookbook idea was quite successful, and more than 36,000 copies of the first two editions have been distributed to every state in the country.

Bob and Mary Breunig have worked with the Farm almost from its beginning, assisting the founder and director, C. Edward Shipman, and his wife, Gloria, in providing a home and vocational training center for a group of learning handicapped boys and girls.

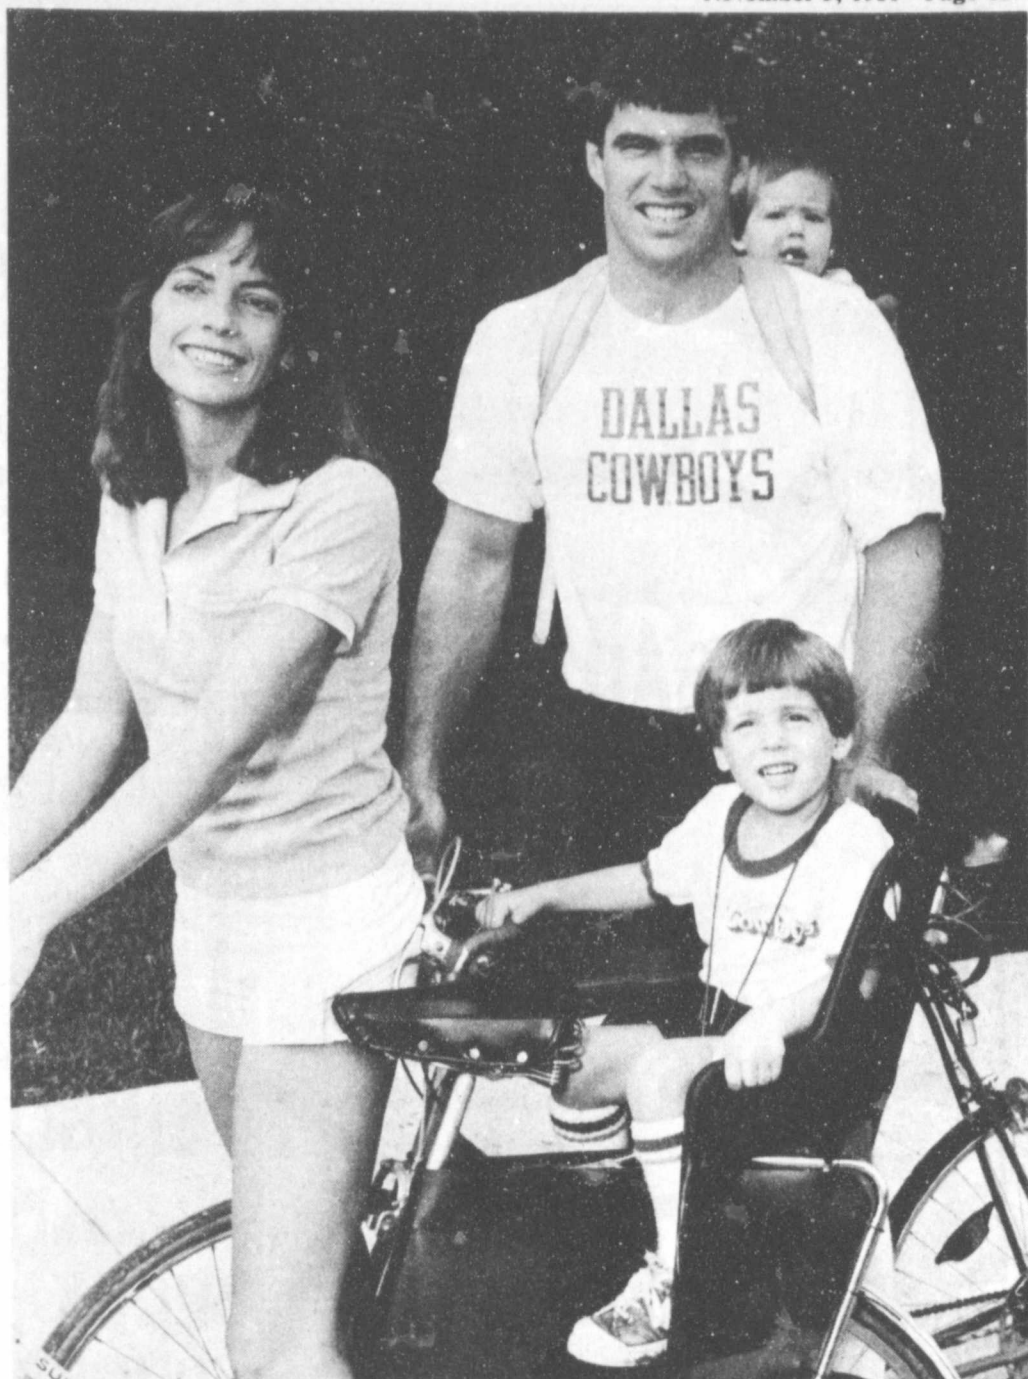

Happy Hill is a 266-acre working farm on the edge of the Dallas-Fort Worth Metroplex. Their program contains a heavy emphasis on vocational training. The children may obtain a high school diploma, if they qualify, but all of them are learning practical job skills, such as auto mechanics, furniture building, and farming. Happy Hill Farm Children's Home and the Academy are licensed by the appropriate state agencies.

The Farm is multi-denominational and has a strong emphasis on moral and spiritual values. Operating funds come from hundreds of individuals, churches and corporations from throughout the state. Several foundations have assisted the Farm in its capital program. A new living unit for eight more children and a chapel have just been completed.

The Farm's Director, C. Edward Shipman, says that the Family Fitness Guide is certainly in keeping with the Farm's emphasis on a healthy, wholesome lifestyle. "We raise much of what we eat here on the Farm, and our animal herds provide us with our own meat, eggs, and milk," says Shipman. I hope the book will encourage people to join with us in our campaign for better health and fitness." According to a Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs, Americans are eating too much of the wrong kinds of foods. Six of the ten leading causes of death can be linked to diet. The Dallas Cowboy Wives' Family Fitness Guide and Nutritional Cookbook is attempting to suggest, to those who will listen, some helpful ideas on exercise and nutrition—and while you're helping yourself, you will be helping the Farm's special boys and girls.

To get a copy of The Dallas Cowboy Wives' Family Fitness Guide and Nutritional Cookbook, order it directly from the Farm for $9.95 each. Write: Dallas Cowboy Wives' Family Fitness Guide, Happy Hill Farm, Star Route, Glen Rose, Texas 76043.

LUNG CANCER IN MEN

Lung cancer is the number one cause of cancer deaths among men. In the last thirty years, there has been a 400 percent increase in women's lung cancer deaths. By the late 1980's, lung cancer is expected to be the number one cancer killer in women.

Another element for increased wheat yields: phosphorus. Increased use of nitrogen on fallow winter wheat, eco-fallow wheat and on continuous-cropped areas means growers should be highly attentive to the second most limiting element - phosphorus. Recently completed University of Nebraska research has indicated phosphorus-deficient soils can yield 8 to 12 bushels per acre less wheat than those fertilized, according to the recommendations of soils labs. Strict attention should be paid to the phosphorus content, according to the Nebraska agronomists. Phosphorus can increase tillering, improve winter hardiness by better root development and generally advance plant maturity. Calculations also indicate higher yields are accompanied by lower production costs and higher net profits per acre.

Plenty of cotton calls for marketing strategies

COLLEGE STATION — Cotton, cotton everywhere—and what to do with it.

That's the dilemma facing Texas cotton farmers.

"Because of this year's bumper cotton crop, cotton supplies are plentiful, the demand is weak and prices are below the cost of production," points out Dr. Carl Anderson, economist in cotton marketing with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

Thus farmers are trying to decide what to do with this year's crop—sell now, hold and hope for a higher price, or try to work a delayed pricing strategy.

"Deciding when and at what price to sell is not easy," says Anderson. "However, developing a 'feel' for the market and following a good marketing program can pay off big.

"With a current depressed cotton market, many farmers are trying to decide whether to place cotton under the government loan program or to try a delayed pricing strategy such as the seller's call contract," notes the economist.

Under the government loan, cotton comes off the market and provides some cash flow for farmers. But it costs about a cent a pound per month to hold cotton in the loan program. Eventually, it has to move to market, so the loan program may not help market prices that much.

Under the seller's call contract, the farmer's price for cotton is tied to the futures market price, explains Anderson. This gives the farmer an opportunity to actually establish a price for his cotton after delivery. However, the farmer must be sure to understand contract terms and conditions.

Here's how it works. The farmer agrees with a broker or buyer to deliver his cotton and to transfer ownership at that time. In Texas, terms of most seller's call contracts call for a cash advance to the farmer of an amount equal to the loan value at delivery time. Also, most contracts specify the loan value as a price floor.

"Once he delivers the cotton, the farmer has no further storage costs but he can participate in a market upswing," explains the economist. "The seller's call contract specifies that the farmer's price will be a certain number of points off a given futures month. The farmer decides the date for the price relationship to the futures contract month."

Anderson gives this example. Assume a farmer selects the March 1982 futures for his contract. If cotton in the March Strict Low Middling 1-1/16-inch futures contract is trading at 68 cents a pound and the farmer's current spot price is 58 cents for the same quality, his spot price is fixed 10 cents under the March futures contract if he signs a call contract. Thereafter, if the March futures goes up or down, the farmer's price will be 10 cents a pound less.

"A seller's call contract should allow for changing to a new contract month for a small fee," notes Anderson. "This allows the farmer to watch the market and sign the call contract when the difference between the futures price and spot price is relatively small. In other words, the smaller the difference between the two market prices, the better off the farmer is."

To use the seller's call contract wisely, a farmer must follow changes and reasons for changes in both the futures and spot markets, emphasizes the economist.

"The key point to remember is that the farmer benefits from the call contract when prices increase," notes Anderson. "However, the spot price must have been fixed under the call contract or there would be no price protection in a falling market."

While both the loan program and the call contract can benefit a farmer if market prices increase, carrying costs tied to the loan can be excessive, depending on the length of storage. On the other hand, the call contract offers immediate transfer of cotton and gives farmers more flexibility in a changing market, believes Anderson.

FALL FRUIT TREE SPRAYING CONTROLS DISEASES

Fall is often the time when fruit tree care is forgotten or neglected, but it's a critical time for controlling many peach and plum tree diseases to insure a good crop next year. Applying fungicide now can stop or reduce three of the six diseases that attack peach and plum trees in Texas. These are peach leaf curl, bacterial leaf spot and bacterial canker.

Puckered and distorted peach tree leaves that were either bright red or light green in diseased areas last spring were due to peach leaf curl fungus. The only time to effectively control this disease is in the fall with a copper-containing fungicide such as Kocide 101.

Timing of the fall spray is critical for effective control and for avoiding tree damage. Copper is a metal and may cause severe defoliation unless applied correctly.

Spraying should be initiated when 70 percent of the leaves fall off the tree. Spraying too early will cause leaf shed or cause the spray to be ineffective later.

Bacterial leaf spot and bacterial canker can be partially controlled by fall spraying with a copper fungicide, but again it's important to spray at the right time to prevent foliage burn.

Bacterial leaf spot affects both fruit and foliage. The infection causes fruit to crack and leaves develop angular spots drop out. Bacterial canker will kill trees slowly. Infected trees will have gum or wax forming on the trunk and main limbs.

Fall spray in the Panhandle-South Plains area of Texas is most often applied from late October to November 15.

Fall spraying is important to the health and production of fruit trees, because there's no other time when 50 percent of peach and plum tree disease can be controlled with one spray.

Owning and grazing stocker calves not automatic profit

There's little good news about stocker cattle enterprises for this fall and winter.

"High costs relative to livestock prices offer a dim outlook for owning and grazing stocker calves," says Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Such operations have experenced substantial losses the past two years.

"When venturing into the stocker cattle business, accurate cost and return estimates are crucial," notes Lovell. "Valid decisions in choosing the most profitable combination of calves and grass are dependent upon accurate production cost estimates and correct expectations of the future cash market prices for calves."

Estimating livestock and production costs is usually more difficult than anticipating stocker prices. Lovell offers this example for a limited-profit picture. A 45-month-old cow with a 1200-pound calf would have to gain 250 pounds for 75 cents a pound to realize a $6.06 profit. Either a lower price, a lower rate of gain or average expenses would lower the profit. (This example is based on a purchase price of 68 cents a pound, a 1.25 percent death loss, 16 percent rate and 1.25 acres of winter wheat costing $103 per acre.)

In the above example, a variable cost of 67.5 cents a pound is needed to cover total costs.

Rather than the usual grazing stocker until May, Lovell offers these options for evaluation:

1. Graze wheat from fall winter but remove calves early to graze on a grain or forage crop.
2. Pull calves off small pastures in winter and ship them to larger pastures—oats and rye grass and legume mixture.
3. Spread the price risk by using multiple purchase of calves or multiple marketings in the year.

Just how stocker operations this year's dilemma will have an effect on the future of the stocker cattle business, Lovell

Don Marble selected to lead Target 2000

Dr. Don Marble of South Plains has been selected to help lead The Texas A&M University System into the 21st century as a member of the TAMUS Target 2000 Project Committee.

The Target 2000 Project brings together more than 250 prominent Texans and other friends of the university from around the nation to undertake a comprehensive study of the goals and objectives to be attained by the system by the turn of the century.

The Texas A&M University System, with an annual budget of $528.6 million, includes four academic units — Texas A&M University, Prairie View A&M University, Tarleton State University and Texas A&M University at Galveston; four agricultural agencies and services — the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the Texas Forest Service and the Texas Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory; and three engineering services and agencies — the Texas Engineering Experiment Station, the Texas Engineering Extension Service and the Texas Transportation Institute.

The project includes task forces on academic institutions, agricultural agencies and services, and engineering services.

Cotton industry tours planned by EOC

The development of the cotton industry on the South Plains will be explored through a series of tours planned by the Enrichment Opportunities Committee of the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Association.

The first tour day, Wednesday, Nov. 11, will begin with a 9 a.m. coffee and a film on the cotton industry presented by the National Cotton Council at The Museum of Texas Tech University. After the film, the tour bus will leave for the fully automated Friendship Cooperative Gin in Wolfthorpe. Cost of the tour is $6 and reservations must be made by Friday, November 6. Other tours will be January 20 to the Littlefield Denim Factory, where the local cotton is converted into cloth, and February 17 to the Texas Tech University Textile Research Center.

Tours are limited so early reservations should be made by sending a check for $6 for each tour to the Women's Council of the West Texas Museum Association, P.O. Box 4499, Texas Tech University, Lubbock, Texas 79409.

For additional information, contact the WTMA office at 742-2443.

Government to plan set-aside program

With a lot of cotton being produced this year, prices are down. This dilemma may lead the government back into agriculture to create a cotton set-aside program—a program in which farmers would be paid not to grow cotton on a certain amount of their land.

"Interest in set-aside programs always increases when production is up and prices are down," says Dr. Ron Knutson, economist in marketing and policy with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Since Secretary of Agriculture Block recently announced a 15 percent wheat set-aside, interest has grown regarding a similar program for cotton."

Such a program would be optional for cotton farmers, explains Knutson. If they opted to participate, they could not plant cotton or any other crop for harvest on the deferred acres. Failure to set aside the acreage specified once in the program would result in the farmer losing any benefits from farm programs, including target prices and loans.

How much would a set-aside program help cotton prices?

"Based on past experiences with set-aside programs, a 15 percent set-aside would result in only a 3 to 5 percent decrease in production," points out

Knutson. "This reduced production would roughly increase cotton prices by 5 percent."

One reason why production would not be reduced more with such a set-aside program is that only one-half to two-thirds of the farmers normally participate. Also, those who do put their poorest land into the program and increase inputs on the remainder of their land to boost production.

So, cotton farmers and their organizations need to ponder the possible effects of a set-aside program as they study the issue, suggests Knutson.

IT'S A FACT

Animal engineering is working to help improve the quality and quantity of mohair garments while boosting producer profits. Selective breeding demonstrations conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and ranchers are providing convincing evidence of the economic value of selecting breeding. Getting high producing, high quality Angora goats together through selective breeding systems increased last year's profits $6.25 per head for at least 20 West Texas goat producers. This is another example of "The Extension Way—People Helping People."

Farmer swathing cane at Cedar Hill

Traca was among those who won places in the coloring contest last week at school. She won third place in the first grade and her picture was displayed in the window at the Hesperian office.

The election was held Tuesday in the Fellowship Hall of the Cedar Hill Baptist Church with Martha Taylor acting as judge and Latricia Fortenberry, Grace Lemons and Norma Welch as clerks. Shawna Wolfe, daughter of the late Cliff Gilly was killed Friday evening when she and her husband Jaime Wolfe of Martinville were sponsoring a group at a church rally on a hayride and the trailer was struck by a car. Shawna and Jaime were taken to the hospital in Indianapolis and Shawna died on the way. It was expected that Jaime would be dismissed Monday and funeral services would be at the Assembly of God church in Martinville where he pastors. Shawna was 31 Thursday. Her body will arrive in Floydada Thursday and funeral services will be at the Assembly of God Church Friday at 2 p.m. and interment will in the Floydada Cemetery. She is survived by one sister Melonie Parsons of Floydada.

Edna Gilly went to Lubbock Friday to attend to business.

Mrs. Peat Kelley and Norma Welch visited Whitney Tucker Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Conner visited J.B. and Cecil Whitehead in Floydada Friday afternoon.

Patsy Boone of Lubbock spent from Wednesday until Sunday with her parents, Tom and Gladys Fortenberry. Elwauna Taylor of Lockney visited with them Saturday afternoon.

Many times the troubles that are the hardest to bear are those which never come at all.

Requirements set for food stamps recipient

The U.S. Department of Agriculture issued new rules requiring food stamp recipients in large metropolitan areas to show photographic identification when receiving their food stamps. Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block said the new photo ID system "will play an important role in joint efforts by the U.S. Department of Agriculture and Justice to crack down on abuse of the food stamp program."

Under the new rules, USDA will no longer replace food stamps reported lost or stolen, Block said these and other major anti-fraud measures are part of the Reagan administration's overall effort to eliminate fraud and abuse in the federal food stamp program.

State welfare agencies will be required to institute photo ID systems within a year in food stamp project areas with 100,000 or more recipients, unless they get an exemption from USDA's Food and Nutrition Service. Smaller food stamp project areas may also be required to install photo ID systems if the FNS and USDA Inspector General's office finds it useful to protect program integrity.

"The new photo ID system is principally designed to prevent the issuing of duplicate benefits," Block said. "For example, if a food stamp authorization card is stolen from the mail, the photo ID requirement can prevent an ineligible person from using the authorization card to obtain food stamps illegally. By recording and cross-checking ID numbers, the new system will discourage individuals from attempting to get a double allotment of food stamps by reporting their first authorization card lost or stolen and requesting a second."

"Individuals caught defrauding the government in this program are subject to both criminal and civil penalties. Further, under new legislation recently passed, individuals would be required to pay back any fraudulent benefits received by having future benefits reduced," Block said.

The City of New York, which has had a significant problem with duplicate food stamp issuance, will be the first to implement the new photo ID system. New York plans to begin using the ID system November 1, in conjunction with other new controls which have already cut the rate of authorization card replacements by two-thirds.

In New York and other areas where the photo ID card is mandated, all food stamp households will be required to have a member or an authorized representative of the household get and use the ID card as a condition of eligibility. Exceptions can be made for such cases as an elderly or disabled person who is unable to come to the food stamp application office.

Other new rules will tighten procedures for replacing food stamp coupons and authorization cards which recipients report lost, stolen or destroyed.

Under the new rules, coupons reported lost by or stolen from recipients will no longer be replaced. However, in certain disaster situations such as floods or fires, destroyed coupons may be replaced once in a six-month period. In the past, any food stamp recipient could receive a replacement for their food stamps if they were reported lost or stolen. Such a policy has led to widespread abuse in some areas.

Limits will be placed on the frequency and condition under which local welfare agencies can replace authorization cards lost in the mails or destroyed in a fire or similar disaster.

Block said these new rules represent only the start of a number of new procedures the Food and Nutrition Service will be issuing in the food stamp program designed to reduce fraud, improve program management and assure that benefits go to those actually in need.

The new rules are published in today's Federal Register.

A NEW COOK IN THE KITCHEN

There's a new cook in the kitchen... a cook who's preparing food for fewer people (often only himself or herself), has less time to spend over the stove and who can select from a multitude of food options other than "home-cooked" to get dinner on the table. This new cook is a reflection of the changing structure of the American household.

Since the beginning of the century, the average household size has declined from 4.76 to 2.81 and is expected to drop to 2.6 by 1985. While the female member of the family is still likely to do most of the cooking, she now has less time to spend in the kitchen. Today, 60% of women, ages 20 to 64, work outside the home. And 53% of these women also have children.

Today's consumer has the option of selecting from an increasing variety of convenience foods. In 1900, all bread was homemade. Frozen food made an entrance in 1929. And, the first cake mix was introduced only 30 years ago.

These changes mean families do less home cooking and, therefore, purchase staples, such as flour, in smaller packages. In 1930, the 25-pound sack of flour was the best selling size. Today, it's the 5-pound sack. Many consumers prefer even smaller sizes, such as the 2-pound sack and 13.5-ounce shaker of Gold Medal Wondra® flour.

While home cooking hasn't ceased, recipes must be quick and easy. Here's one that makes good use of leftover turkey or chicken. A real time-saver comes from using Wondra flour, which lets you mix the cream sauce in seconds because it dissolves instantly and lump-free in cold water.

TURKEY TETRAZZINI

- 1 package (7 ounces) thin spaghetti
- 2 cups turkey or chicken broth (cool)*
- 2 cups half-and-half or milk
- 1/2 cup Gold Medal Wondra® flour
- 1/4 cup margarine or butter
- 1 1/4 teaspoons salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 cups cut-up cooked turkey or chicken
- 1 cup sliced pitted ripe olives
- 1/2 cup slivered almonds
- 1 cup shredded Cheddar cheese (about 4 ounces)

Cook spaghetti as directed on package; rinse under running cold water and drain. Heat oven to 350°. Mix broth, half-and-half, flour, margarine, salt and pepper in 3-quart saucepan. Heat to boiling over medium heat, stirring constantly. Boil and stir 1 minute. Stir in spaghetti, turkey, olives and almonds. Spread in ungreased rectangular baking dish, 12x7 1/2 x 2 inches. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake uncovered until hot and bubbly, 25 to 30 minutes. 6 servings.

*Chicken broth can be made by dissolving 2 chicken bouillon cubes in 2 cups boiling water. Or use canned broth or broth from cooked chicken breast meat.
