JAMES M. [JIMMY] WILLSON, JR.

Willson installed as Grand Master

Different titles are worn by different Floydadians. On Saturday night one of our citizens was bestowed with a title that is the only one of its kind in the state of Texas.

That title was given to J.M. (Jimmie) Willson as he was installed as Grand Master of Texas Masons. It is the highest office attainable in the Texas

Willson was elected from the 225,000 membership during a two day meeting of Masons in Waco December 4th and

The session ended Saturday with the installation ceremony. Many members of the Floydada Lodge attended the meeting.

Willson was born in Hale Center, attended school in Floydada, and graduated from Southern Methodist University in 1943 with a BBA degree. He served in the army from 1942 to 1946.

Willson, and his wife, Ann, have five children; and six grandchildren.

They are active members of the First Methodist Church of Floydada where he has served as Sunday school teacher for 18 years. He also serves as trustee of the church and is a member of the Board of Trustees of the Methodist Home in Waco, and serves as treasurer of that body.

Active in community affairs, he has served three terms on the City Council of Floydada and two terms as mayor. He is a member of the Rotary Club and has held many offices in that organization. A past president of the Floydada Jaycees, he is also a past director of the Floydada and West Texas Chambers of

He is a past commander of the American Legion Post in Floydada, and has been registered with the Boy Scouts of America for forty-eight years, having received the Eagle, Silver Beaver, and in Floydada Lodge 712 on February 22, 1947, and served as Worshipful Master during the 1956-57 year. He served as District Deputy Grand Master of District 96 in 1958.

Other areas of service include three years as State Regional Conference Coordinator; three years as Area Workshop Chairman, Area E-3; and Chairman of the Finance Committee in 1978. He was elected Grand Junior Warden in

A member of Floydada Chapter No. 227 R.A.M., he served as High Priest in 1961-62. He was Deputy Grand High Priest District 39 in 1963, and Grand High Priest of the Grand Royal Arch Chapter of Texas in 1978.

Willson was coroneted with the 33rd Degree, Inspector General Honorary, at Dallas in December, 1965, and is a charter and life member of the Lubbock Scottish Rite Bodies. A life member of Khiva Shrine Temple, he is an honorary member of El Mina and Maskat Shrine

The year long duties of Grand Master will require a great deal of travel across the state of Texas; an occupation that Willson is well acquainted with.

Women's Chamber blood drive announced

The Womens Division of the Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring its annual Christmas Blood Drive on December 15 in the Community Room of the First National Bank from 4-7 p.m.

According to a Donor Resource Specialist, the need for blood is now a desperate situation. The Christmas holidays will add an additional burden to the already short supply for this area. Recently the South Plains Blood Service of Lubbock had to issue an emergency call for blood donors in order to meet routine demands.

Caprock Hospital is one of many area hospitals who benefit from this nonprofit blood donor program. The patients of Caprock Hospital who need blood are charged only for the expenses of processing the blood - not the blood

People between 17-and-65-years-old may donate blood. People over 65 years old may be accepted as donors at the discretion of the hospital.

You must weigh at least 110 pounds least eight weeks since you last made a donation.

You may not give blood if you have or

-Hepatitis -Current active disease of heart, lung, kidney, liver, stomach

-Internal malignancy (cancer) within past 10 years

—Diabetes requiring insulin

-Habituation to injectable drugs You may be temporarily deferred from giving blood if you have had: -Acute symptomatic flu, cold, or upper respiratory infection -Close contact with hepatitis in past 6 months

-Tattoos in past 6 months

-Active infection or disease presently requiring medication

-Vaccinations in past 24 hours; some vaccinations have longer deferral per-

-Major surgery or blood transfusion

—Dental surgery in past 3 days -Pregnancy in past 6 weeks

-Lived in malaria area in past 6

It is best that you eat a substantial meal before giving blood preferably one low in fats. Fasting is not recommend-If you are taking vitamins, hormones, birth control pills, diet pills, anithypertensive medications, or antibiotics for acne, vou may give blood unless otherwise deferred. Blood bank personnel will also ask for vour Social Security number for identification purposes.

The Womens Chamber is striving for a goal of 35 pints and are counting on the support of the citizens of Floyd County. They would also like to thank everyone in advance for their donation.

of her life to teaching the vouth of Floydada. Her belief was that through education, all children may reach beyond their expectations.

In order to honor her, and to reaffirm her belief in education for all, a scholarship fund is being gathered in her name so that each year a young person who is economically unable to attend college may do so.

The fund has been set up at the First National Bank. Tom Farris, bank president, has been named as treasurer of the committee for attaining the Annie Taylor Scholarship Fund.

Al Galloway is head of the committee. which consists of Mayor Parnell Powell. Norma Feuerbacher, Worth Howard, Rev. and Mrs. Otis Cook, Jr., and

Each member of the committee was assigned a group or individuals to contact who would be interested in donating funds to initiate the Annie Taylor Scholarship.

It is likely that there will be people in Lubbock interested in taking part on the project since Mrs. Taylor's son, Charles, is principal of Posev School in that

Rev. Cook pledged his support and that of the Mount Zion Baptist Church. In 1978 the church members presented Mrs. Taylor with a gold plaque for services rendered in Floydada. The plaque read: "The greatest sign of knowledge is the ability to teach others.

What this community owes you cannot be paid in money.'

That is true. Perhaps a way of repayment would be the continuing education of vouth. in Annie Taylor's

The committee specified that the scholarship would not be limited to black students, but could be used by any deserving voungster. Anyone wishing to take part in the scholarship fund may contact any committee member or see Tom Farris at the Floydada bank.

Child Welfare Board asks for children's funds

The Floyd County Child Welfare Board is requesting additional donations totaling $80 to provide Christmas gifts and a party for foster children currently under its care.

Donations can be given to Tom Powell in Floydada and Jerry Klein in Lockney. Checks should be made payable to the Floyd County Child Welfare Board and designated for Christmas.

"Money for Christmas is not available through state and county funds." said David Seav, finance committee chairman. "We want these children to have Christmas like any other child, and the only way we can do this is through public donations."

Some businesses, clubs and groups have already provided some funds, but this additional amount is needed to cover anticipated costs.

In the face of a projected recordbreaking cotton harvest, Murray Williams of Altus, Oklahoma, Chairman of the Cotton Board, and W.T. Robertson of Holly Ridge, Mississippi, Chairman of Cotton Incorporated, recently offered their views on how producers can aid their own industry.

Their advice stems from experience. Both cotton producers, Williams, who farms in southwestern Oklahoma, and Robertson, who farms in the Mississippi Delta, are strong supporters of cotton's research and promotion program.

"Considering crop projections, we have to do everything we can to promote demand," said Williams, who will complete his second and last term as Chairman of the Cotton Board on December 31. "At the same time, we must continue research to reduce costs and improve efficiency from the farm to the mill so that cotton can regain adequate profitability.'

'We all know the tremendous challenges that the cotton producer faces today: low prices, high interest rates and a huge crop. The fact is there has never been a more important time than now for cotton research and promotion programs," Williams explained.

A concern expressed by Robertson is the research and promotional push behind synthetics. Currently, the synthetic industry's research and promotion budget out-paces cotton's by almost $15 to $1.

But, thanks to advances made by cotton's "self-help" program, both Williams and Robertson are optimistic about the industry's future. "When adding up that a 15-year decline in overall market share has been arrested; that just as new equipment and systems have solved cld problems, existing problems can be overcome through continuing support of the program. There is light at the end of the tunnel based upon long term projections for increased demand," stated Wil-

Robertson is quick to add that, on the research side, cotton has made good progress ranging from expanded technical assistance to foreign textile mills to research into hybrid cottons and cottenseed. Programs are continuing to improve efficiency in production and processing.

In addition, emphasis is being given to combai byssinosis which both producers call one of cotton's most serious problems. Toward this end, Cotton Incorporated is currently in an $8 million accelerated program involving both government and industry.

Robertson also reports that greater emphasis will be given to international markets in 1982. Cotton Incorporated's first European office will open in London next year. And the Cotton Board has recently received approval by the Secretary of Agriculture for Cotton Incorporated to open an office in Osaka, Japan, to serve the growing Far Eastern market. This office is scheduled to open in early 1982.

These new overseas offices will complete Cotton Incorporated's network to more effectively provide worldwide technical assistance to textile mills and to expand U.S. cotton's share of these markets.

"All of us must work together." Williams stressed, "in building the most successful cotton and research promotion program possible. The reason is clear: if cotton is to continue to make strides then greater advances in cotton research and promotion must be made.

"Some producers feel that the 'other grower' should carry the burden. Obviously, with the challenges we face, we need total producer support. In my opinion, the per bale assessment is a real bargain today, even in this time of inflation. Believe me, the grower gets his money's worth."

Funded and directed by U.S. cotton producers through per bale assessments, the Cotton Board based in Memphis, Tennessee, oversees the cotton research and promotion program and contracts with Cotton Incorporated to carry out actual projects. Cotton Incorporated has marketing offices in New York, research facilities in Raleigh, and additional offices in Dallas and Los

Volunteerism-A key link in extension programs

Without hard-working volunteers, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, a part of the Texas A&M University System, would be much less effective in carrying out its informal educational programs in agriculture, home economics, and community and youth development.

themselves in the way they involve volunteers in planning, organizing and implementing local educational activities." says Denmark.

This year alone, some 63,000 Texans have been involved as Extension volunteers. This includes about 18,000 serving on county program building committees, 23,000 in organized homemakers clubs and more than 22,000 in 4-H programs and activities.

For Extension's agricultural programs, farmers and ranchers volunteer their land, labor and equipment to test and demonstrate new ideas for the benefit of their neighbors. They voluntarily provide information about their farming and ranching operations and in many ways contribute their time and talents to the success of Extension programs, notes Denmark.

IT'S A FACT

A well trained horse for farm and ranch work is hard to find. So the Texas Agricultural Extension Service has developed a "Ranch Horse School" to help producers learn how to breed and train top quality work horses. This may suggest that even the popular "threewheeler" can't replace the versatile ranch horse. Helping farmers and ranchers to raise and train work horses is another example of "The Extension Way & People Helping People."

In a summary of test plots, the product showed first pick yields of up to 95 percent, three weeks earlier in the season, as compared to 75 percent from untreated fields. Growers using the product on an experimental basis report up to 25 percent more high-quality cotton from the first pick, ac-cording to the company. That should mean higher prices and happier farmers ... and better quality cotton for everyone.
