

Home destroyed by fire

BY SHELLY HARRIS

Linda Poole was alone in her mobile home Friday morning. Her four children were at school. Her husband, Lloyd, was at work.

The mobile home was located a mile-and-a-half southwest of the McCoy Community and the family had lived there for three years.

Linda was cleaning house. "The Price Is Right" was showing on the T.V. screen. As she went back and forth through the house checking on the clothes in the washer and dryer she would watch snatches of the program.

She was also watching a county road crew working just down from the house. There was a maintainer, and a scraper and a crew of three or four men.

Linda had put in a tub of blue jeans, and walked back to the utility area in the center of the mobile home. Smoke was coming from behind the washer and dryer somewhere.

Linda jerked the plugs from the wall and went to the telephone to call her husband. She was told that he couldn't be reached by phone.

Concerned, she went back to check the appliances. This time there was smoke in the adjoining bathroom, she could hear a crackling sound and suddenly flames shot out from behind the water heater.

Linda raced to the front door, stumbled outside, and ran screaming for help from the county crew.

The first one she reached was the man on the maintainer. By this time flames, fanned by the wind, could be seen underneath the center section of the mobile home.

They turned the butane tank off, and one of the men held Linda back, keeping her from trying to get her purse out of the house. The bedroom was now blazing.

The car parked in front had to be pushed out of the way, since the keys were inside the house. The fire department was on its way. Men were pulling flaming debris away from the garage to keep it from burning.

Linda stood by helpless. In fifteen minutes the mobile home, that would have been paid off in less than a year, and the possessions accumulated over 17 years were gone.

The intense heat melted metal objects, the refrigerator was reduced to half its original size, furniture was unrecognizable, personal possessions were ashes.

When the fire department arrived they began the task of saving the outside buildings, the garage was undamaged. The cellar had caught fire, but was immediately put out. When the firemen opened what was left of the washing machine, the wet blue jeans were flaming.

"I just thank God it wasn't the night before," Linda said Tuesday, her eyes still showing shock. "if we'd have all been asleep, I don't think we could have all gotten out."

People, hearing about the fire, began bringing clothing and useful items to the Raymond Poole, a brother-in-law, home and radiator shop.

Mary Poole, Raymond's wife, said that people had been very kind. "Everyone has been helpful," she said. "it means so much and we are so thankful for all they've done. Some people just brought things in and set them down and we don't even know who they were."

The week before, Raymond and Mary Poole were awakened in the night by a fire that burned a next-door neighbors garage to the ground. That fire was at the Gordon Kirtley home.

Linda, Lloyd and their four children: Eddie, ninth grade; Larry, sixth grade; Lavonna, fifth grade; and Lonnie, kindergarten, went to Lubbock to stay with her parents, W.E. and Sue Walker. The children have been enrolled in school there until the family decides what they will do.

Anyone who wishes to donate clothing, or furniture or any usable items may take the things to the Radiator Shop at 407 E. Houston, telephone 983-2285 or to the Raymond Poole home, 309 W. Tennessee, telephone 983-5610.

"The kids have taken it very well," Linda said, "but right after Christmas like this...it was so hard watching a little girl scrounge through the wreckage looking for her Christmas."

Congressmen to intercede in behalf of local doctor

U.S. Congressmen in Floydada community ceremony, Saturday, will be a delegation of county judges and hospital board members to intercede in the deportation process against Floydada's newest doctor, a citizen of Turkey, has been ordered by the Immigration Department to depart by February 12. His temporary visa expires.

Representative Charles Stenholm and Jack Hightower seemed very confident they could halt the deportation of Dr. Acar, said Joe Rice, Caprock Field Administrator, "and promised intercession on his behalf."

"The ruling by the Immigration Department to strip the issuance of permanent visas to foreign doctors unless they come into the country on the basis of a temporary visa, according to Rice, Acar came to the United States after the law was changed and he was given only a temporary visa. Acar is a general practitioner in Floydada. He has passed all legal requirements for practice in the United States and Georgia and is licensed to practice in the U.S. Air Force. "Floyd County is classified as a manpower shortage area where physicians are concerned," Rice said. "This is not news to the population of the county as they have suffered because of it. We are now in a position of having excellent physician coverage in our community and the Immigration Service is attempting to deport one of these fine doctors."

"Doctor Acar's practice has shown a great increase and his reputation is superb," said Rice and added that in the four months Dr. Acar has been in Floydada his practice has quadrupled. "Floydada is very lucky to have such a fine physician and family man in the community," Rice said.

Rice also praised the Congressmen for their, "open ear to the problems that face our rural area."

He said that the Congressmen have aided two other area communities in keeping doctors caught under similar rulings.

Rice added that they have received much support in behalf of Dr. Acar and that it is important that the Immigration Service realize "how important he is to our community."

Ag problems discussed at Lighthouse opening

By Jim Reynolds
Crosbyton Review

This nation forgets that "agriculture is an industry which provides 20 percent of the gross national product." Congressman Charles Stenholm of Stamford told hundreds of persons gathered Saturday afternoon for open house at the new Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc., headquarters in Floydada.

Stenholm and Congressman Jack Hightower of Vernon delivered dedicatory addresses at 1:30 p.m. before the throng of Lighthouse members and other guests viewed the 21,000 square foot facility.

Con. Stenholm reminded the group that "there is a depression in agriculture, that's a fact." However, he pointed out that the nation and agriculture have been in distressed eras in the past and "we've always pulled ourselves out by the bootstraps."

As LEC Manager Alton Higginbotham and board members stood behind the speakers amid a northeasterly breeze, both congressmen pledged to continue to work toward an improved situation for agriculture.

LIGHTHOUSE ELECTRIC COOPERATIVES new facility in Floydada.

PRESS CONFERENCE

Area media representatives were given an opportunity prior to the dedication and open house to visit with the two congressmen. The 30-minute press conference, attended by The Review editor and three radio representatives, dealt solely with agricultural problems.

"Is Secretary of Agriculture John Block a strong representative of farmers and does the President value his opinion?" the duo was asked.

"The Secretary is not as strong in the administration as the representative of an industry representing 20 percent of the gross national product should be," Con. Stenholm believes.

Con. Hightower added the nation actually hasn't had a "secretary of agriculture to represent the farmers in a long, long time." He added that the secretary of agriculture "has not been a cabinet member of equal stature in some time."

Going a step further, Hightower said that, in essence, the secretary of state, secretary of the treasury, and director of the budget make decisions which should fall to the secretary of agriculture.

MARKETING PLANS

Asked to review his "20-10-20 plan" for marketing of cotton, a proposal which is rapidly capturing the attention of West Texas farmers, Con. Stenholm pointed out that this is still "a skeleton plan" with the final proposal being released by February 15.

The Stamford congressman notes that another proposal is receiving attention, but that he would not comment on it because "I don't know all the details." He added that "we've got to have a set-aside (acreage) up to 25 percent" for another plan to improve prices to be effective.

Con. Stenholm was somewhat optimistic that better news for producers might be forthcoming from Washington.

He hinted at the possibility of a federal loan program, possibly tied to a set-aside.

One of the press corps pointed out that "farmers are now being closed out" by the economic situation and that some of these individuals are "good managers with a proven track record." He asked what the future holds for farmers.

Con. Hightower replied that several weeks ago a number of farmers in his district received letters from Farmers Home Administration which clouded their future loan considerations. Hightower, Stenholm, Con. Kent Hance and others met in Hightower's office with the FmHA Administration head, who was asked to examine the situation in Texas. The investigation showed that "Washington didn't know" the number of Texas farmers whose positions were jeopardized by the national FmHA policies. FmHA is now trying to "allow farmers to keep farming."

Noting that "it's sad" a number of farmers are quitting the business, Con. Hightower related that "the American taxpayer is the real loser."

Con. Stenholm noted that even with a record wheat crop, U.S. farmers will sell more of this commodity than they raise. The idea, he said, is not to allow Russia and other countries to take advantage of the present situation and purchase American wheat "as these depressed prices."

EDUCATION PROGRAM

The Review editor pointed out that the U.S. government has, in recent years, followed a cheap food and fiber policy. What type of education program is needed to show the administration and the American public that depressed agricultural prices do not necessarily mean cheap food and fiber prices because producers — farmers and ranchers — receive so little of the finished price? For example, if the price of cotton increased appreciably, the price of a pair of Levi's would be raised by only pennies if other costs along the line were not hiked. The same is true in relation to wheat and bread prices.

The congressmen could not answer this question because they are constantly striving to drive home this point to high government officials.

Property tax deadline nears

An important deadline occurs this month for property owners in Texas. Kenneth Graeber, executive director of the State Property Tax Board, reminded Texans that local property taxes assessed for 1981 by cities, counties, school districts and special districts must be paid by the end of January.

"Taxes not paid before February 1 are delinquent and penalty and interest begin to accrue," Graeber said. The state tax administrator noted that delinquent 1981 taxes will incur a 6 percent penalty and 1 percent interest charge on February 1.

Combined penalty and interest charges will total 9 percent in March, 11 percent in April, 13 percent in May, and 15 percent in June. Total penalty and interest on delinquent taxes reaches 18 percent in July, 19 percent in August, 20 percent in September, 21 percent in October, 22 percent in November, and 23 percent in December.

If not paid until January 1983, delinquent 1981 property taxes would be subject to a combined 24 percent penalty and interest charge. And, Graeber noted, the interest would continue to increase by 1 percent per month.

In addition, if a taxing jurisdiction or appraisal district has contracted with a delinquent tax attorney, its governing body may add an additional penalty to any tax delinquent on July 1. The additional penalty may not exceed 15 percent of the taxes, penalty and interest due.

Graeber pointed out that some home rule cities may have different delinquency dates for 1981 taxes. "The Property Tax Code does not affect a city's delinquency date for its 1981 taxes if the city charter or ordinance provides an earlier delinquency date," he said. He also noted that if a taxing jurisdiction or appraisal district has contracted with a delinquent tax attorney, its governing body may add an additional penalty to any tax delinquent on July 1.

He would meet you at the door, say "Just have a seat" Then go through the process of making you look neat He would help you take your coat off hang it on the rack, always being careful not to show you his back. He would put a clean cloth around your neck. An apron would be placed on your shoulder. It wouldn't show a speck He would ask about your folks. He was interested in them. He would ask you, "have you lost some of your vim?" He would clip the hair off one side and then the other. He would tell you about going to New Mexico to visit his brother. He would trim the back. He wasn't in a hurry. He would stop his razor, tell you not to worry. He would shave down the sides, wipe the lather on his hand. And wonder if your wheat had come up to a good stand. He let you look in the mirror. "Is that too short?" "Shucks, that looks just fine," would be your retort. He would trim your eyelashes, cut the hair from your nose. Not ever mentioning your breath didn't smell like a rose. He would lather your hair, take you over to the sink. He would get soap in your eyes, you couldn't see a wink.

He would go over your face, pull out a wild hair. It surely would hurt, nearly cause you to swear. He would give you a massage, put oil on your hair. Off came your apron, look you over in despair. Gosh, he left too much hair behind your left ear. He'd go over it again and say so everyone could hear. "Be better to your family, don't be such a grouch." As he shaved down the sides, gave you a little nick. "Ouch!" He would give you a hand, as you became aware. There was another waiting for your place in the chair. Then while you looked in the mirror and straightened your collar, He stood there holding out his hand for your hard-earned dollar. He would fold it carefully and tuck it away. And turn to the next customer. "Have you had a good day?" He has served long and well I sure can attest. For all of his years he has done his best. So now he has completed a hundred years on his journey. It sure has been a pleasure to have known "Warnie"

Perspectives

Once again the anniversary of the Supreme Court decision which opened up the abortion issue has come and gone with both sides taking a few shots at each other. The President told those against abortion that they had to get themselves organized. A new poll showed that some seventy percent of all Americans are in favor of abortion, and an even higher number feel that the decision to have an abortion lies with the woman and her doctor.

An awful amount of paper has been used to defend and condemn abortion. It is not my intention to add to that debate at this time, although I hold strong views on the subject. Instead I want to take issue with the poll and the wording of one of the questions.

The decision to have an abortion should not lie solely with a woman and her doctor. An abortion is a significant, life affecting decision. Even women who are firmly in favor of abortion report strong feeling associated with having an abortion. The woman contemplating such an action must realize that she is not the only person affected by the decision.

These factors make it a necessity that women electing for abortion receive counseling from some other source than just their physician, and that counsel should extend to the period following the abortion. Physicians are busy people and rarely have the time to do this kind of extended counseling.

Who should do the counseling? To begin with a minister. Like it or not abortion is a religious issue. Strong guilt feeling often accompany the contemplation of an abortion. Unfortunately, many preachers are tempted to mediate condemnation rather than grace. Women should seek a minister who will lovingly and firmly direct their thinking, without condoning or condemning the action.

What if the woman isn't religious? Ministers are still an option. Many are highly skilled and trained in counseling techniques, and they would be able, because of their perspective to introduce elements of thought the woman has not considered.

Obviously there are other valuable sources of counseling, and I am somewhat prejudiced toward the services of ministers, but the point remains the same, the woman and her doctor are not the only ones who ought to be involved in the decision to have an abortion.

Jim Hightower thinks farmers do not deserve foul weather commissioner

Jim Hightower, Democratic candidate for Texas Agriculture Commissioner, said that the only thing Reagan Brown has done about better prices for Texas farmers is to applaud the freeze that last week devastated Florida citrus crops and that will, by his estimate, increase citrus prices by 10-15 percent. Hightower's comments came in response to Brown's announcement in Beaumont last week that frost damage to Texas crops has been minimal and that Texas citrus producers "deserve to make some money" as a result of the extensive damage to Florida production.

"What all Texas farmers deserve is an Agriculture Commissioner who does more than rely on the weather to get better prices for them," Hightower said. "Unfortunately, the small boost they'll get from this natural disaster comes out of the hides of Florida farmers and at the expense of already hard-hit consumers all over the country. If, instead of praying for good weather over the past five years, Reagan Brown had used his office to fight on behalf of all Texas farmers, they might be getting a better price for their crops and be better protected against natural disasters. They wouldn't have to depend on the misfortunes of other producers."

"We are lucky that the big freeze did not hurt Texas agriculture very much," Hightower noted. "If it had, I don't think we would be hearing a word out of our Commissioner. And for good reason. His inaction has helped put all Texas farmers, citrus and row crop producers alike, in a precarious financial position."

"There are many things Brown could have done over the past year alone that would have helped to solve the farm income problem that has cost Texas more than 26,000 farmers since 1970. For instance, the Reagan Administration and the U.S. Congress have done away with the federal disaster payment program that has protected many farmers from crop losses brought on by bad weather. The program has now been entirely replaced by federal All Risk Crop Insurance."

"But to be covered, farmers must purchase it at the beginning of their production year — adding yet another cost to skyrocketing production expenses. Out in West Texas, for instance, a cotton farmer might pay as much as $25/acre to get maximum coverage; that adds maybe another $18,000 that a farmer must spend just to get a crop in the ground. And most banks will not lend to farmers who aren't insured."

"Getting rid of disaster payments removes another incentive for farmers to participate in federal set aside programs — and that will ultimately increase surplus production and keep farm prices down."

To make matters worse, farmers who've been hurt the most by past years of bad weather must pay higher premiums than do farmers who've been luckier and fared better.

"Where was Reagan Brown when the Congress removed the disaster program from the 1981 farm bill and replaced it with his costly insurance program?" Hightower asked.

"A West Texas farmer recently told me that the new crop insurance would work fine — if farmers got a decent price, one that at least covers production costs. Where was Reagan Brown when the Congress wrote the new farm bill, a farm liquidation act that undercuts already sagging commodity prices? Must we continue to rely on bad weather and hard luck in other states and other countries to raise Texas farm prices?"

"And remember, Texas isn't always so lucky. Thirty years ago, frost destroyed the citrus industry in the Rio Grande Valley. And drought devastated row crops and cotton all over Texas in 1980. As Agriculture Commissioner, I'd do more than pray for rain or warm weather. With farm groups, I'd lobby the U.S. Congress to re-establish the disaster program and make sure that it protects hard working family farmers. I'd lobby for a federal emergency farm bill that would raise commodity loans so that they at least cover production costs. And I'd explore what Texas, working in conjunction with other big farm states, might do to put a reasonable floor under farm prices," Hightower concluded.

Letter to the editor

Dear Editor, I would like to give your law enforcement a pat on the back and a very big thank you.

I was in Floydada Saturday driving a school bus for the U.I.L. meet that was held there.

I received an emergency call that my oldest daughter had been in a car wreck. I had no way of getting to her so the Sheriff was called and he sent one of his men to take me and my youngest daughter to the hospital in Abertnath.

There is no hospital there. This is where we were told she was. The very patient officer stayed on his radio until he found my daughter in Lockney. She had been hurt bad. The officer has a house in Lockney and said we could use it while she was in the hospital.

My daughter is home now and doing very well.

Thank you very much for your help and God Bless you, Mr. Hamilton.

Strake against gun control

Former Secretary of State George Strake came out strongly against gun control as a measure to combat crime in Beaumont recently and accused Lt. Governor Bill Hobby of sympathizing with the liberal Texas Chapter of the American Civil Liberties Union, which is in favor of gun control.

Strake, who is a candidate for the Lt. Governor spot, claimed, "crime in Texas has risen 131 percent during the Hobby years and the public outcry is reaching epidemic proportions."

"A tough judicial system is what stops criminals and crime—not gun control," said the 46-year-old Houstonian.

Strake called a recent request by a Houston city councilman to have the city look into banning certain handguns, "as fundamentally flawed as it is well intentioned. Banning handguns only bans the right to self-defense because criminals cause crime and victims get victimized."

"Liberal groups like the ACLU that want to take away your constitutional right to own firearms are only showing their compassion for the perpetrators of crime instead of its victims," Strake said.

Strake accused Hobby of "behind his no-vote record" to his real views. "The fact that he helped raise $60,000 for the November of 1980 is a firm indication where Hobby's real sympathies lie. They don't lie with the average citizen who fears for his life and property."

added. "It's time Hobby stands up and what he believes in." Strake said. Strake delivered his remarks at a morning press conference in Beaumont concluding a three day campaign in east Texas.

Collins files for U.S. Senate

Today in Austin, Jim Collins officially filed as a candidate for the U.S. Senate. Collins, a conservative, is challenging incumbent Lloyd Bentsen in the 1982 Senate race.

"This year's U.S. Senate election gives Texans the clearest choice in decades between a liberal and a conservative," Collins said. "Lloyd Bentsen is trying to fool Texans with his conservative rhetoric but his liberal voting record cannot be hidden."

Collins said Texans need another Senator in Washington who will consistently vote for less government spending. He noted that Bentsen voted two times out of 145 votes from 1970 through 1980. Bentsen's inability to say "no" to increased spending cost taxpayers $2.2 trillion for the ten year period, Collins said.

"I believe that we must cut wasteful government spending and help President Reagan in his efforts to build a national defense second to none."

"I believe that we must support individual liberty rather than federal intervention in people's lives. That is why I am running for the Senate. Texans will have a conservative choice in 1982."

Collins already has over 3500 voters committed to his campaign over 3000 contributors.

Baptist Church of Lockney

Murle Rogers is new pastor

John Jenkins was the former pastor. Jenkins moved to Morton to pastor the First Baptist Church there in October.

Dr. Strauss Atkinson of Plainview, an area missionary and member of four other Baptist associations, had been serving as interim pastor at Lockney. Sunday, January 24, Dr. Atkinson, R.C. Mitchell, deacon chairman, Gail Kring, building committee chairman, and Les Ferguson, treasurer shared in the honor of burning the note on the new addition to the building during the morning worship service.

That addition was voted on in May, 1981 and the construction was completed in December, 1981. It consists of a courtyard and a new Sunday school wing. A special offering taken January 17 paid the balance due on the note.

Tentative plans for an open house at the church is being made in the early spring.

Church to show film

First United Methodist Church is offering to all interested men and women a unique opportunity to view a series of films called "His Stubborn Love."

Joyce Landorff, noted speaker, author, and teacher speaks to the multitude of problems facing women in today's world.

The films will be shown each Sunday night at 6:00 p.m. beginning January 31, 1982 in the sanctuary and continuing for six weeks.

Don't miss this excellent chance to hear Joyce Landorff. Everyone is invited.

FORTY YEARS OLD AND STILL GROWING

At an age when many people are slowing down, the electric cooperative continues to grow. Increased demand for electricity calls for larger services, upgraded facilities and the equipment to handle them. The cost continues to grow as well. The pole that could be put in place for $35 in 1968 costs $137 today.

But the purpose today is the same as it has always been, dependable power at its lowest possible price. That hasn't changed in 40 years.

have a microcomputer by 1990.

If you are overwhelmed by these predictions, you are probably wondering what the microcomputer has to offer as a utilitarian appliance in today's household. Imagine sleeping soundly on a crisp autumn night. Suddenly all of the lights come on in your bedroom and "Gus" the computer that runs your house announces that there is a fire in the area of your water heater. Fast action by "Gus" permits you time to prevent extensive fire damage.

A few hours after you have returned to bed, "Gus" announces that it is time to get up. While you reach for the cup of coffee that "Gus" started perking according to your programmed instructions, "Gus" reads each family member's schedule for the day.

Once out of bed, you ask "Gus" to give you a brief summary of the world events for the previous day, your bank account balance, a summary of your investment portfolio, several possible menus for the evening—based upon an inventory of food in the cupboard and refrigerator, and a list of the gifts given over the past five years to your niece, so that you can shop for her birthday gift after you finish a few other errands.

Once "Gus" has provided you with these items of information you are now ready for him to help you with your daily exercise routine. As you tell "Gus" which areas of your body you want to specifically work on this morning, "Gus" identifies suitable exercises. "Gus" also gives you a brief summary of your diet of the past few days, food suggestions for increasing or decreasing nutrient intake and a caloric analysis of foods eaten yesterday.

"Gus" continues to assist you throughout the day by managing your budget, telling the weather, chatting with your father in Poughkeepsie, New York, interfacing with your work processor to complete the invitations for the barbeque on Saturday, and analyzing the tax options resulting from recently passed tax bill.

Many of these activities of "Gus" are possible today. Some will be possible in the next five years. Voice synthesizers, fiber optics, extensive data banks, and information networks are already well-developed.

Most people have been willing to allow computers to do bank statements, credit card billings, mass mailings and other business related activities, but have not applied these capabilities to managing activities in the household. Some people still envision a computer to be a room-filling machine of blinking lights and strange noises which only specially trained electronics geniuses can operate. In reality, the microcomputers of today are reliable, small, inexpensive, and easy to operate. They can be a welcome household manager if: 1) the right piece(s) of equipment are purchased based on an analysis of current family activities, needs and future projections, 2) adequate software is purchased or designed, and 3) the household members are willing to spend time learning to use the appliance.

Did you know that despite the fact that we are all proud of our heritage in this great State of Texas and the fact that our children attend 12 years of school and maybe more, that there is only one year in which Texas History is taught apart from the overall histories that include much, much more?

Teachers of Texas History were honored January 26 all over the state by service clubs, Chamber of Commerce, historical commissions and societies and patriotic groups for imparting to students an understanding and increased awareness of the unique Texas Heritage.

January 26 has been proclaimed Teachers of Texas History Day by Governor William P. Clements, Jr. The day is the birthday of Mirabeau B. Lamar, the Father of Education in Texas.

Carolyn Whittington, a native Lockneyite, is the Texas History teacher in Lockney Junior High School. She was raised on a farm near Lockney, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clark Harris and graduated from Lockney High School.

Having received a degree at SMU in art, she worked in commercial art for a number of years, but upon returning to Lockney she found that it was not feasible to pursue that profession.

Carolyn began teaching Texas History on an emergency certificate. Since that time she has acquired her masters degree from Texas Tech University in education.

In addition to her history classes, Carolyn teaches 7th and 8th grade art classes and she is also one of the teachers embarking on the new program for the Gifted and Talented.

Carolyn makes her home in the Pleasant Valley community with her two children, Ronnie who is 9 years of age and Rainey who is 6.

Upon being asked why she chose this subject, Carolyn indicated, with eyes that glistened at the mention of the subject that she liked history. Texas history best of all, and she liked teaching on the seventh grade level.

Carolyn's goals for the students include teaching them a respect for the past and to appreciate their heritage. She stated that it was one of the most surprising points to her students that our heritage was not made up of some 2 or 3 racial groups, but some 35 to 40, and because of that our heritage has been enriched and it is so unique through their influence.

Carolyn said she tries to show her students that they all should have a natural liking or interest in our state's history because our history determines Carolyn's students make projects during the year. Some of those are exhibited in the Floyd County fair each fall. Last year Amy Nance showed the way we react and causes us to make the decisions we make. And, she said, our state is a very important state in the United States.

Spanish castle she had made of sugar cubes and won a first on it.

Carolyn states she finds she can more vividly illustrate to her classes some of the more important facts by using films and slides. Monday, February 8 her classes will be viewing "The Alamo" with John Wayne. Last year the Boy Scouts made a trip down the Brazos River and made a presentation to the classes on their trip.

Each October the Lockney classes are taken for a visit to the West Texas Panhandle Plains Museum at Canyon. Usually they combine that with a picnic lunch in the Palo Duro Canyon. Palo Duro was the scene of the last battle with the Comanche Indians. Because of the importance of the canyon, it provides an excellent setting for an Indian study. They also make some small items using Indian beads.

Texas Heritage Resource Centers have been organized and established to further emphasize the importance of Texas History courses and to assist history teachers. These centers provide access to a wide variety of Texan books and materials. Activities are sponsored by the Texas Historical Foundation highlighting Texas patriotism, pride and free enterprise — Texas Style.

Carolyn highly recommended those vacationing in the San Antonio area to take their children and visit the Institute of Texas History in the Hemisphere Plaza. Annually at the beginning of August, exhibits from nationalities such as the German, the Greek, the Italian, the Spanish, and many more are presented with their native food, costumes and dances to show how that particular ancestry influenced Texas. The Lockney Texas history classes plan to do something on that order on a smaller scale toward the later part of the year.

Also later this year these classes attempt to draw out more of the history by obtaining personal business correspondence from the area, particularly since 1900.

Carolyn indicated that they always very grateful to anyone kind enough to share anything their classes such as personal letters, even vacation films or slides of them. They are most useful in alerting students to the storehouse of knowledge that may be obtained through history of their very own nation.

Allen invited to TCU Honors Collegium

Texas Christian University is recruiting scholars the same as running backs this spring, and among the limited group invited to its first annual Honors Collegium February 4-6 is Norman W. Allen of Floydada.

Only students with SAT scores above 1100 (ACT 26+) and strong rank in high school class are being invited. Dr. Henry Kelly, TCU Honors Program director, points out that "exchanging ideas and acquiring new understanding of problems confronting today's students are but part of this exploration of critical issues."

Activities will include a three-hour student/faculty collegium; a fireside chat with Dr. Michael McCracken, TCU dean of arts and sciences; and classroom experiences with Honors students and faculty.

Located on a 243-acre campus in southwest Fort Worth, TCU has a full-time faculty numbering 350 and a student body of some 6,500 students from 48 states and numerous foreign countries. Bachelor's degrees are offered in more than 40 academic and professional fields, with master's degrees in 45 areas and the Ph.D. in chemistry, English, psychology, history and physics in addition to theological graduate study in Brite Divinity School. TCU hosts active chapters of Phi Beta Kappa and Sigma Xi as well as many other honorary academic societies.

Whirlwinds drop two

The Whirlwinds dropped two out of town games against Tulia, January 19 and to Lockney, January 22.

FHS never had control over the game at Tulia but kept within ten points of the Hornets. Tulia had a 33-23 lead at the half and went on to keep this lead well into the fourth quarter making the final score 67-60 in favor of the Hornets.

Leading the scoring was Weeks with 20 points and Rainwater with 10 points.

The first half of the Longhorns, Whirlwind battle was all Floydada as they never fell behind Lockney. But in the second half the Longhorns took the lead by the end of the third quarter. The Winds closed the Longhorn lead and were ahead by one point with 6:40 to go in the final quarter. But FHS was unable to go ahead and started falling behind giving the victory to Lockney 58-45.

Wind's take Childress

The varsity boys started district play on the right foot as they defeated Childress 68-63 at Graves Gym January 15.

FHS took an early eight point lead at the end of the first quarter. As the half ended, Childress had only cut the lead to five points making the halftime score 30-25. The Winds kept the lead for the rest of the game and went on to win.

Rainwater lead the scoring with 28 points while Weeks had 17 points.

Little Dribblers to try to organize again

There will be a meeting for parents of any children who are interested in playing little dribblers basketball, on Monday night, February 1, at 7:30 p.m. This meeting will be held in the community room of First National Bank, Floydada.

At a recent meeting, held for the public, there were not enough interested parents to get reorganized and started for the 1982 year. If this program is to be continued, it is up to the parents of EACH child who will be participating in the program, to do their part.

Anyone interested in coaching a team of either boys or girls, please contact Gary Brown.

Lockney eight-grade beat Plainview

The eighth-grade Lockney boys played the only game scheduled Monday night beating the Plainview Calvary Christian Academy 32-28. Scoring for the Shorthorns were Melvin Shivers—9, Jerry Mathis—8, Johnny Torres—6, David Sutterfield—6, Raymon Cortez—2, and Trent Gant—1.

South Plains News

South Plains residents enjoy spring like weather in January

BY MRS. MURRAY JULIAN
South Plains, January 25:
We are having beautiful days, like spring weather, but so very dry. Our whole panhandle country is dry, so we are wishing for some of the snow that the north and east parts of the nation have been having. Ski areas in Colorado are in the finest condition for skiing they have been in years. In telephone call from Evergreen, Colorado they spoke of very deep snow in the mountains.
We extend congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Zach Cummings and grandparents here Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings in the birth of a baby girl, born to the Zach Cummings last Thursday, January 21 in a Plainview hospital. She was named Courtney Kay and weighed over eight pounds. Courtney has an older brother, Adam who is two years old.

Jones Taylor, brother of J.P. and Ursel Taylor, in our vicinity was in the Central Plains Hospital last week, but was hoping to get to go home on Sunday.
There was a good attendance at Sunday School and church at the South Plains Baptist Church Sunday, with Mrs. Cecil Osborne (Joyce) able to come to the church services for the first time since her surgery several weeks ago in Lubbock. She is getting along well. Her mother, Mrs. Cordy Taylor of Muleshoe was at church, and other visitors were Mrs. Leah Lackey and children.

Mrs. Hazle Powell who formerly lived in South Plains has been in the Caprock Hospital in Floydada since Thursday of last week, but is hopeful of getting to come home this Tuesday. She with her family now reside in Floydada.
We extend our congratulations and best wishes to the Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, Inc. in Floydada, who held their Open House ceremonies, Saturday afternoon, 2:00-5:00 p.m., January 23, with many from our area attending the dedication of the beautiful new building. Mr. and Mrs. K.D. Julian and Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham were among the many who were at the dedication, from here. Charles Stenholm and Jack Hightower were the guest speakers.

Father of Ira Henderson of South Plains, Mr. Henderson, underwent surgery at the Lockney Hospital Saturday in Lockney, and we trust he is doing well at this time.
Lyndell Roberts, brother of Mrs. K.D. Julian, was brought home from the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock on Friday of last week, and this Tuesday is reported to be getting along well at his home in Floydada. We pray for a complete recovery for his hip surgery.
We offer our best wishes to Lori Young and Lonnie King of Amarillo who are to be wedded February 20, at the First Baptist Church Chapel in Floydada. Lori is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis and Marjorie Young and grew up in South Plains. She is employed in Amarillo as is her groom-to-be Lonnie King. Rev. Nathan Mulder from here will perform the wedding ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. John and Valerie Kinnibrugh from Gilliland came Saturday and spent that day and Sunday visiting here with brother, Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn and Bobbie Kinnibrugh.
Jimmy Harper, 74, of Haskell passed away January 18, at the Stamford Hospital, and was laid to rest Wednesday, January 20, with services held at 3:30 p.m. in Floydada at the Calvary Baptist Church, and interment at the Floydada Cemetery. He had been ill a long time. One of his daughters, Mrs. J. Franks Parks (Brenda) of Hereford has relatives here Mr. and Mrs. I.H. Parks of South Plains, and Mr. Harper resided here several years. We extend sympathy to all the relatives.
Mrs. Mamie Wood attended the services for Mrs. Lillie Bishop, 93, of Floydada, on Monday, January 25th, at the First Baptist Church. Mrs. Bishop has passed away Sunday morning at 6:00 a.m.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Upton attended the 50th anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lavinia Brown of Lubbock, who was born January 23, 1887, held in Floydada at the home of daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Wanda Pat Graham. The Golden Reception was from 1:30 p.m. to 4:00 p.m. Saturday, January 9th. Many of our area were present to extend wishes to the couple who lived in South Plains for many years with their daughters.
Mr. and Mrs. Dan and Patsy of Albuquerque are brand new parents of a baby son, Matthew Albuquerque, weighing 6 lbs. 10 ounces. Congratulations to the new parents. Patsy's mother Mrs. Margaret of Albuquerque, New Mexico is a nephew of Mrs. Letha Mulder area.

Brewers and friends make use of good weather

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN
Weather wise: The days are clear and sunny. The wind still blows, but the last few days have not been so cold.
It has been "hog killing" weather for the Henry Brewers. Saturday several men came in to help. Among them the Earl Andersons of Plainview, Ervin Brewer of Lubbock, Glenna and Millard Watson and Rudolph McCurdy.
Wednesday Mrs. Brewer and Mrs. Glenna Watson were in Lubbock seeing the youngest Brewer daughter, Peggy Ayers, who is recovering from surgery.
Our not too well friends: Mrs. Ashton is about the same, Mrs. Sally Carpenter getting better very slowly of Lockney Rest Home, Wiley Rogers, doing better at home. Opal Rogers in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, seems better.
Mrs. Ava Jackson is having a spell of tonsillitis.
Mrs. Ethel Warren and Mrs. Leo Frixall visited Mrs. Fulkerson Sunday P.M. Mrs. Mayfield has gone to Lubbock today.

There is more sickness and death. A funeral this afternoon is for a long time resident of Mt. Blanco and Floydada, Mrs. Earl Bishop. A long useful life has come to a close, a marriage of 76 years. Our friends, the descendants, have our sympathy.
Julian Edmondson and son Ronald of Borger visited awhile with Mrs. Fred Battey Sunday. Then went on to visit other relatives in Matador.
I had a phone call Sunday nite with my daughter, Margaret Ryman of Hubbard. She informed me several days ago they had a 6 inch snow. They hardly ever have snow. Roads and school closed for a day or two. Don't you know the kids had a ball!
The Sr. Citizens all day 3rd Thursday was well attended. Our 100 year old member, Mr. Hilton, was remembered at dinner. There were almost 100 present. But since last meeting our president, had passed on, so we were sad, too.

Our sympathy goes out to the Bishop family in the death of Lillie Bishop, 93, whose services were held Monday morning at the First Baptist Church in Floydada with Dr. Floyd Bradley and the Rev. Perry Zumwalt, officiating. Burial was in the Lakeview Cemetery.
Services for Carrie Carthel were held at 2:00 p.m. in the West Side Church of Christ in Lockney Tuesday. The Carthels were at one time residents of Cedar Hill.
Services for Guillermo Arredondo, 48, of Cedar Hill were held at 1:00 p.m. at San Jose Catholic Church in Lockney with the Rev. Terry Burke, officiating. Burial was in the Lockney Cemetery under the direction of Moore-Rose Funeral Home. Arredondo died at 1:00 a.m. Wednesday in the Lockney General Hospital after a lengthy illness. He had moved to Floyd County in 1957 from Campbetta. He was a Catholic. Survivors include his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester Arredondo of Cedar Hill, four brothers, Louis, Alfredo, and Sisto of Cedar Hill, Julian of Lockney and two sisters, Josefina of Roswell and Felita Gonzales of Taft.

Peat Kelley visited Wilma Hodge in Quitaque Tuesday and on her way home she visited Mr. and Mrs. Elvie Lackey.
There will be a Public Auction Sunday January 31, 1982 starting at 1:30 p.m. of Antiques and Collectibles at 117 E. 6th, Plainview, inside the courthouse.

Hambright receives 15-year award

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation honored six employees Friday for periods of service ranging from ten to 25 years, totaling 95 years of service. C.W. Nall, Jr., District Engineer, presented an award to each of the six employees at the Supervisors' meeting in the District Office.
Sam H. Bullion, Maintenance Construction Supervisor III, of the Lubbock northeast maintenance office and Herbert R. Quisenberry, Maintenance Technician III, of the Littlefield maintenance office received 25-year awards.

Gordon N. Hambright, Maintenance Technician III, of the Floydada maintenance office received a 15-year award.
Ten-year awards were presented to Herbert E. Whalin, Maintenance Technician III, of the Muleshoe maintenance section, Laura C. Clark, Clerk III, of the Levelland maintenance section, and Victor G. Bullard, Maintenance Technician III, of the Lamesa maintenance section.

Quilantan honored with birthday dinner in Lubbock Sunday

BY JOYCE WILLIAMS Mrs. Earl Bishop died early Sunday morning, January 24, at Caprock Hospital. Funeral services were held in the First Baptist Church in Floydada Monday afternoon...

meeting in Lubbock Thursday and stopped by afterwards for a supper of Mom's cooking, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flukie Smith.

If you want to see some glum faces, just go around any gin office and listen to the cotton farmers talk about their cotton checks. Low, low, low. Thirty-two cent cotton and the Kiplinger Agriculture Newsletter says 1982 farm income will be about 15% to 20% lower.

Weather has been cold, sunny and dry this week, with a warm up predicted. Everybody's talking about needing rain.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith of Plainview came over Sunday afternoon to visit with Ruth and Don Harrison.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne McHam and boys dropped in to visit his mother, Mrs. Alvie McHam, in Floydada whenever they are in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Smoky Quilantan were in Lubbock Sunday for dinner at El Chicos, in honor of Smoky's birthday.

Verlon Wright and Judge Choise Smith were among the visitors at the Lighthouse Electric Coop. Open House Saturday. This beautiful building is a miracle of economics.

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Reed and daughter, Darlene, and son, Kelly, of Panhandle, visited Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Randy Bertrand and family for dinner and watching the Super Bowl game.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Bunch of Carrollton visited here last weekend when Mrs. W.H. Bunch came home from the hospital.

Hunter Smith's seventh grade basketball team won over Tulia Monday night.

Brandon and Jason Harrison, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Rex Harrison, attended a birthday party for Nathan Whittle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Whittle, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Harold Bertrand and other ladies of the Baptist Church served dinner to the Bishop family Monday before Mrs. Earl Bishop's funeral services.

Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bertrand went to Plainview Friday to play racquetball. On their way home they stopped in Lockney to pick up Connie Lou's grandmother, Mrs. Annie Cunningham, and brought her to their house for an afternoon's visit.

Judge Choise Smith attended a tended Church in Crosbyton Sunday morning. In the afternoon they went to funeral services for Mrs. Ella Finley at Moore-Rose Chapel in Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. Fowler Estep, formerly of Lakeview, and Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Dennison of Lubbock came by Monday evening after Mrs. Earl Bishop's funeral, to visit with Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Hartsell. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thurston also went to the Hartsells to see their former neighbors.

Competition helps the consumer. Last fall when Mrs. Q.D. Williams was touring New England, she dropped her instant developing camera on the cobblestones in front of Betsy Ross' house in Philadelphia, smashing the ejection mechanism.

It was not a guarantee condition of the manufacturer, Kodak, but she mailed it to their Dallas address asking if it could be repaired, and she'd pay all costs. Kodak and Polaroid are in a lawsuit, each trying to oust the other from the instant camera market. Well, to Mrs. Williams' pleasant surprise, Kodak returned her camera, fully repaired, at no charge, plus an envelope full of stamps to reimburse her for the three stamps she had spent for, plus a strap, and a note saying they had continued to remember her for many years since customarily treated so generously.

Mrs. Simpson named county's new judge

Mrs. M.L. Simpson Jr. has succeeded her late husband as Castro County Judge.

The County Commissioners' Court appointed her to the top county post Friday over 15 other applicants, and she took the oath of office Saturday morning.

Mrs. Simpson, Polly, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smitherman of South Plains.

Her late husband, County Judge Simpson, Jr., passed away on December 24, 1981.

64th District Judge Jack Miller administered the oath of office to Mrs. Simpson Saturday, January 9, at 9:30 a.m. in the District Courtroom before an audience of more than 50.

Castro County Attorney Davis was master of ceremonies, and Mrs. Simpson's pastor, the Rev. Edward Freeman of the Presbyterian Church, gave the invocation.

Mrs. Simpson's oldest son, Joe Bob Sanders, said on behalf of the family, "We love you an awful lot, and we're not prejudiced, but we think you're going to be the best judge in the whole state of Texas."

Before administering the oath of office, Judge Miller told Mrs. Simpson, "Of course, it (the county judgeship) is the leading county office, and your personality and leadership, the atmosphere which you bring to this office, will permeate down through all the other county offices and set the tone for the entire county government."

"I think that it is important, as you also step into the judicial part of your job, to note that we ought to think that justice is blind, but there are four 'I's' that you always need to keep open. You should make all of your decisions intelligently, impartially, independently and immediately."

"I know that you've had lots of practice bringing up a wonderful family, and you will need this to carry over in your work with the public, because the general public will be looking to you for guidance, and to seek solutions to many types of problems."

"You have already established yourself with the commissioners' court, and they have endorsed you after giving due consideration to the very distinguished and qualified applicants for the job. I also want to extend my commendation to you and encourage you every way that I can in the carrying out of the duties of your office."

Mrs. Simpson's appointive term will run until next January 1.

An Amarillo native, Ballengee earned a business administration degree at the University of Texas, and began work at Southwestern as an accounting department clerk in 1949. In 1951, he was advanced to chief clerk, and was appointed personnel manager in 1957. With the acquisition of the Company's first data processing capability in 1961, Ballengee became Southwestern's first director of data processing. He was named director of finance in 1972, and assumed the responsibilities of financial vice president in 1973.

Ballengee's activities in community and business affairs have included: executive board member of the Boy Scouts of America and of the Amarillo United Way, member of Amarillo Community Council, and the administrative board of the Polk Street Methodist Church. He was elected to the First National Bank of Amarillo board of directors in November, 1981.

Also in its meeting, after the annual shareholders meeting at the firm's headquarters in Amarillo, Texas, the board declared a regular quarterly dividend of 37½ cents per share on the Company's common stock and regular quarterly dividends on all series of preferred stock.

The common stock dividend is payable March 1, 1982, to holders of record at the close of business on February 16, 1982. The preferred stock dividends are payable May 3, 1982, to holders of record at the close of business on April 20, 1982.
