Republican runoffs, and state law prohibits anyone from voting the primary of one party and then voting in the runoff of the other party the next month.

The statewide runoff in which there may be the most interest in Floyd County is that between Austin attorney Garry Mauro and Midland state Senator W.E. "Pete" Snelson.

Snelson, a 20-year veteran of the state legislature, led a four-man field in the primary with 30.8 percent of the vote. Mauro, a 33-year-old former executive director of the state Democratic Party, was close behind with 28.9

State Representative Dan Kubiak of Rockdale and Paducah rancher George Fore trailed in the primary and both endorsed Mauro after the primary.

U.S. Representative Jim Mattox of Dallas and former assistant U.S. Attorney John Hannah of Tyler meet in the attorney general's runoff to see who faces Republican state Senator Bill Meier of Euless in the November election.

Mattox got 35.8 percent of the vote in a four-man field to Hannah's 29.5 and may be helped if a runoff between two republican candidates for Congress in Dallas brings a heavier turnout there.

Former state senator and former West Texas State University president Max Sherman, who finished third to Mattox and Hannah, has endorsed Hannah in the runoff.

City police made an arrest around 12:45 p.m. Saturday after being called to respond to a report of a shooting with a man down at 523 East Missouri.

Sgt. Raynard Macha arrived on the scene and located the victim who was shot twice in the head with a small caliber handgun. The assailant was also on the scene and was arrested at the

this report. The incident involved a domestic argument between two brothers. Earlier that day the other brother had been assaulted with a shovel resulting in being treated for injuries at Caprock Hospital.

A charge of attempted murder was filed against Freddie Leadon and bond was set at ten thousand dollars.

Another local Floydada man was arrested for DWI after he totaled out his pickup in an alley after striking a telephone pole. Three traffic accidents were investigated by city police during the Memorial weekend.

The June 14 breakfast will be the beginning of registration for the Cowboy trip and the itinerary will be planned this year to enlist both individuals and new businesses. Roger Garms heads the membership committee.

"Raisin' A Ruckus!" film excerpts

The '82-83 program of action will be handed out in pamphlet form to members at the breakfast. The pamphlet will tell what the chamber did last year, what it expects to do this year, and just exactly what a chamber is and does.

The director of the "Raisin' A Ruckus!" musical will be at the breakfast with his guitar and film clips of the performance which is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. the following night. June 15, at the football field. Gate admission is $2.00. The country music road show, produced by South Plains College and sponsored by the Chamber, will feature a 12-member cast and more than 50 classic and contemporary country music hits. It is a spectacle of music, lighting, costumes, skits and dance which run the gambit of country music tastes.

"Those in the audience who really are not strong country music fans will find melodies in the show which they will' enjoy and relate to," says Helen Roberts, the show's scriptwriter and choreographer and also a professor of speech and drama at SPC. "You just can't beat the quality of music which goes into the show."

John Campbell representative of church at national conference

A local man was elected to represent his church district at the national convention of the Christian Methodist Episcopal Church.

John Campbell was an alternate delegate from the North West Texas Conference. He is a layman in the Friendship Chapel in Floydada.

The two-week conference was held at the Cook Convention Center in Memphis, Tennessee.

For the first time in national church history, five Bishops were elected at one time. Nine general officers were also

The outstanding significance of the elections, to Campbell, was that two Bishops were elected from Texas.

"I think they are the first elected from the state of Texas," Campbell said, "in my memory, at least."

Bishop Lakey, from Dallas, was the editor of the Christian Index. The Index is a weekly pamphlet mailed to all church members.

Bishop Oree Broomfield, Dallas-Ft. Worth area, was pastor of the Cedar Crest Church. It is one of the largest churches located in Dallas. His replacement as minister has not been announced.

One general officer was re-elected from Texas.

The national conference takes place once every four years. There were nine districts in the national church and a tenth was added at the conference. The new district includes Jamaica and Africa.

Campbell said that the election process of the Bishop's took most of the weekend, and that he was unable to do much sight-seeing in Memphis. They did visit many churches, some 100vears old

Some 3000 delegates and members attended the beginning session of the national conference, and "there was standing room only for the elections held," Campbell said.

"It was quite an experience...being there for the first time," Campbell said. S.T. Sneed, minister of Friendship Chapel, was also an alternate delegate to the conference and he and Campbell traveled together. Rev. Sneed lives in Campbell holds two district offices in the North West Texas area. He is Secretary of the Joint Board of Finance and Secretary of the Layman Council.

The Annual Conference for the district, held once a year, will be in Amarillo on June 21-25.

Campbell came to Floydada as a child and has worked at Kirk and Sons for 28 years. He and his wife, Louise, have two children. Althea, freshman at FHS; and Cornealius, 8th grade.

Handicapped to receive homebound training

This community is about to join others in a nine-county area which receive the services of a homebound teacher provided by Central Plains MH/MR for children from birth to three vears of age.

Central Plains MH/MR recently received additional grant money for its Rural Infant Education Program (RIEP) and is able to reach new towns in the region it serves (Bailey, Briscoe, Castro, Floyd, Hale, Lamb, Motley, Parmer and Swisher).

The children who are the special concern of the Rural Infant Education Program are those who need education and habilitation because they are physically and/or mentally handicapped or because they are high risk infants. They must be in the age range of newborn to three years of age and live in one of the

The program itself is geared to teach parents and their children in the following areas: daily living skills (such as dressing, feeding and toilet training); gross motor skills (physical abilities. like sitting alone, crawling, walking, etc.); fine motor skills (grasping and releasing objects, use of small muscles to manipulate objects); language (beginning with the development of cooing and babbling and learning to speak in sentences); cognitive skills (developing thinking skills and problem-solving skills); sensory training (training in developing the five senses), and many other areas, according to the child's

Mrs. Pam Baker, the homebound teacher who will serve this area, explained the services also include a transdisciplinary assessment by a team of professionals working with the parents. Mrs. Baker said the team includes a speech pathologist, physical and occupational therapists, a physician, a social worker, a psychologist and an education specialist. In explaining the focus of the program, Mrs. Baker said a high risk infant was one "born as a result of a problem or high risk pregnancy. Often the mother is under 17 years of age or over

"Sometimes, too, there are problems with diabetes or high blood pressure in the mother, or a family history of inherited disorders. In some instances,' the teacher continued, "there might have been a structural problem in the mother's pelvis, or the mother might have been very underweight or overweight. Sometimes a mother and child do not have the same RH blood factor and there are severe problems at birth. Then, of course, there are infections, addition or consumption of drugs, a history of previous miscarriages or stillbirths or unwanted pregnancies all of these are high risk factors.

Those are some of the problems in a pregnancy that may bring a child to RIEP. Others are present at the birth

"If a child if premature or has a very low birthweight," continued Mrs. Baker, "there may be a slower than normal maturing process. We can help to stimulate the child to achieve his or her best. Sometimes, at birth, a child doesn't breathe at once and the deficiency of oxygen can injure him. Other conditions include breech births, the unusually large size of an infant or even an extremely long labor. Cesarean sections often mean some complications in the health of the infant.'

Mrs. Baker also said that, during the first four weeks of life, a child may become one designated "high risk" because of serum bilirubin over 20 mg 100 ml or an exchange transfusion, a toxemic mother, maternal diabetes, sucking or swallowing difficulties, failure to thrive, convulsions, cyanotic attacks or severe apneic spells (babies sometimes "forget" to breathe), PKU, abnormal neurological signs and severe illnesses and injuries.

Mrs. Baker noted that, during the postnatal period, a single parent or a very young mother (under 17 years of age) may have special problems with a newborn. Additionally, the premature child or a sick newborn who has had a

Changes In Commissioners' and Voting Precinct Lines

The following is believed to be a substantially correct summary of the recent major changes made in Commissioners' and Voting Precinct lines in Floyd County as such changes bear on the forthcoming elections. There are additionally certain minor changes in boundaries, in most instances apparently due to inadvertence on the part of the draftsman, but detailing such minor changes would require too much space for this brief summary.

Baker No. 13 and Southeast Floydada No. 23: The area of the former Lakeview Precinct No. 15, previously added to Southeast Floydada, has now been shifted to Baker Precinct No. 13.

Southeast Floydada No. 23 and Southwest Floydada No. 1: Within the City limits of Floy dada, the area South of Virginia Street and East of 3rd Street as far South as Crockett Street has been detached from Southwest Floydada and added

Southwest Floy dada No. 1 and McCoy No. 22: The area of the former Starkey Precinct No. 2, previously added to Southwest Floydada, has now been shifted to McCoy No. 22.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and Northeast Floydada No. 24: The area of the former Northwest Floydada No. 19 North of Virginia Street, West of 3rd Street, and West of U.S. Highway 70, has been added to Southwest Floydada; the remaining area of Northwest Floydada, lying North of Virginia Street, and East of 3rd Street and East of Highway 70, has been added to Northeast Floydada, in effect abolishing Northwest Floydada No. 19.

East Lockney No. 5, West Lockney No. 18, and Lone Star No. 8: East Lockney has been drastically reduced in size, and, as so reduced, has been transferred from Commissioner's Precinct No. 2 to Commissioner's Precinct No. 3. Except for an enclave extending East from Main Street to include Lockney General Hospital, and a similar enclave one block wide North and South, extending East from Main Street to include the West half of the City Hall, Main Street remains the boundary between East Lockney and West Lockney from the North City limits South to Shurbet Street; all that part of East Lockney South of Shurbet Street, West of the Lone Star Highway, and South and West of the Santa Fe Railway, has been added to West Lockney. All that part of East Lockney North of the Flomot Highway, and East of the Lone Star Highway, plus an enclave on the West side of the Lone Star Highway to include the County Machinery Barn, has been added to

The boundaries of the following voting precincts appear to be substantially unchanged: Dougherty No. 20, Harmony No. 16, Allmon No. 3, Sandhill No. 4, Providence No. 7, South Plains No. 9, Cedar Hill No. 11, and Goodnight No. 17. Because the changes in lines other than those affecting East Lockney and West Lockney can have no possible impact on any contested race within the County, election officials in other precincts can safely exercise reasonable discretion in determining the residence of voters in view of the unavoidable confusion resulting from the brief time between the changes and the elections.

Mail theft can be prevented

The following informative article was submitted by Ed Wester, Floydada postmaster. "It will help people to realize that a elderly or retired person can have devastating emotional and financial significance. Mail is most volunerable at the point of delivery. An extra effort should be made by mail recipients to know their carrier's schedule and make every effort to be at home to personally accept delivery on a fixed schedule which is known by the addressee and criminals as well. Have a neighbor retrieve your mail if you cannot be available and do the same for your neighbor. Also, deposit your mail for collection at a post office or collection box. If this is inconvenient, place letters on your house letterbox for collection shortly before your carrier arrives. Your personal mail can be used most effectively to defraud your bank, consequently creating a very inconvenient situation. Make every effort to protect your incoming as well as outgoing mail by using these common sense suggestions.

Crime prevention can be a community effort. Everyone receives mail almost on a daily basis. This provides common grounds for neighbors to become better acquainted and watch out for each others mail and mailbox. If a concentrated effort is made to protect your mail, potential mail theives will not be given the opportunity to make you a victim.

I would like to say something about the fact that the Rodeo Queen contestants are no longer required to "RIDE A HORSE'

What else is a RODEO Queen supposed to do?! That's like having a beauty contest and picking the ugliest

It's bad enough that the Queen was picked on her SALESMANSHIP instead of her riding ability like most rodeos pick their Queens.

Besides all that my 85 year old grandmother has ridden our horse - you can't tell me a 13-17 year old girl couldn't ride a horse!?!

So far everyone I've talked to about the queens not riding had the very same reaction as mine "Just Couldn't Believe Their Ears!!!"

Dear Editor:

During the Floydada Junior High School awards ceremony last Tuesday. it was noticed that the only athletic recognition given was in the form of individual tennis awards.

We would therefore like to have this letter printed to recognize all participants in all athletic programs.

To all Floydada Junior High School students who participated in 1981-82 athletic programs:

Although you were not recognized in last Tuesday's award ceremonies; we feel that it should be realized that you devoted untold hours and effort to this aspect of school activities. That very effort and devotion made each and every one of you outstanding. Without your dedication and willing participation, the athletic successes of your school would not have been possible.

While we believe that scholastics are of primary importance in school curriculum, we also think that athletics play an integral part in your total develop-

Therefore, we salute you for your time, effort, and school spirit; and urge you to continue to develop, both scholastically and athletically.

REVIVING WICKER FURNITURE

Reviving wicker furniture takes only the proper cleaning, repairing and refinishing techniques that almost anyone can do.

Wicker, used at one time only for porch furniture, has found its way into every room in the house. Because it is cheerful, lightweight and easy to maintain, it blends with almost any style of furniture. Its open work construction also makes it a popular choise for furnishings for small areas.

Wicker is a "generic" name for any furniture made of woven reeds. Ratten, for example, is a reed that belongs to the palm family. Unlike bamboo, which is hollow, rattan is a solid wood. The core of rattan is used in furniture for structural support, while the peel is used to lash the supporting elements

Unfinished rattan or wicker has a pleasant tan-ivory appearance, although it can be painted and repainted as needed. Designs range from whimsical reproductions of Victorian motifs to modern. It can be shaped into chairs, tables, stools, mirror and picture frames, headboards, baskets and other

Wicker or rattan furniture is made by wrapping or weaving strips of reed over a wood or steel framework. As in other types of furniture, there is a great deal of variation in quality and price in both new and used wicker pieces. Overall strength of the piece should be carefully checked by close examination and by applying weight from different positions. Flimsy, wobbly pieces are difficult to strengthen where a light-weight wood frame is used. Better quality new wicker may have steel framework.

Used wicker that has been abused. that sags, has holes or slits in several places, or that appears to be generally bad condition is rarely a bargain at any price. Because of the way wicker is made, it is difficult to repair severe damage. Used wicker that's in reasonably sound condition, however, may be restored to use quite easily.

Begin by giving the piece a thorough cleaning. Wicker collects dirt, dust and grime quickly, so chances are few pieces should be spared a good clean-

Wicker that has been neglected may be dry and brittle. A good scrubbing will give the reed flexibility and make repairs easier, remove loose paint, and ready the surface for a new finish.

Use a good stiff scrubbing brush and a solution made of one gallon of warm water, one-fourth cup detergent, and either one-half cup TSP (trisodium phosphate) or one-half cup sal (washing) soda to wash down the wicker. Add one-half cup household bleach to the solution to remove any traces of mildew.

Work out-of-doors or on a plastic drop cloth to protect the surrounding area from spattering. Rinse well with clear water to remove all traces of the washing solution. If you work outside. rinse with a fine spray from a high pressure water hose.

Allow the furniture to dry thoroughly since any dampness is the interstices of the wicker will prevent a new finish from adhering. An air compressor, handheld hair dryer or vaccum cleaner can be used to speed up drying at joints and from around the frame.

In restoring wicker furniture, after a careful cleasing, the piece should be studied carefully from top to bottom, inside out, to determine repairs that need to be made. The most common types of repairs that are required by old wicker furniture include (1) regluing and strengthening framing, (2) reattaching loosened reed wrappings, and (3) reweaving or mending holes and

Old glues in joints can easily release if the furniture piece has been used outdoors or in high humidity. New glue can be forced into loosened joints by using a glue needle or a hypodermic syringe filled with a tight-bonding furniture glue. Joints should be clamped or bound with strips of rope or an old tire tube until thoroughly dry. Don't attempt to break apart a solid joint to apply glue to a loose one. With a hand drill and a small bit, insert a hole into the loose joint so that glue may be forced in with the syringe. Sections of the woven wicker should not be removed from the frame since it may fray out or the shape become distorted.

Through use and drying out of the wood, the reed in wicker furniture often becomes brittle, breaks and unwinds from the frame. Reattaching loosened reed is a repair that can be easily made by the do-it-yourselfer. If the loosened strip of reed is still strong and is all there, reattaching it to the frame is simple. Begin by pulling a warm, wet cloth along the length of the reed for several minutes to make it more flexible and to prevent its breaking while being rewrapped. Coat the portion of the frame to be rewrapped with a tightbonding furniture glue and begin carefully wrapping the length of reed around the exposed frame. Secure the end of the reed in place with a staple or a small brad.

When reed bindings have broken loose to expose sections of the framing. new replacement reed must be purchased. For smooth wrappings, soak the new binding in warm water until it is pliable. Remove the old loose reed, cutting it off at the point where still securely attached to the frame. Cut it off at the underside or in the least noticeable place. Apply glue to the exposed frame, attach one end of the reed strip with a brad or staple, and wrap the remainder around the gluecoated frame.

Woven sections of wicker are subject to splitting and damage by punctures or holes. Where damge is not extensive, it is usually possible to weave in a patch or replacement reeds that will not be conspicuous.

Short strands of reed can often be found underneath the furniture piece. If loose, they may be clipped and used as replacement reeds for small repairs.

Begin by soaking lengths of the new reed in warm water to make it pliable. Towel dry it and on the underside of the piece, glue the new strip onto one of the old ones. For added strength, wire or bind the two pieces together and follow the weave as closely as possible.

Reweave holes as you would darn a hole in a sock. To end off the patch, attach the end of the strip to one of the original reeds by gluing and binding the reeds is severed but still intact, work glue around over both sides of the damaged area, being careful to force glue between the broken strands.

Next week I'll continue with Refinishing Wicker Furniture.

South Plains News

Bible School to be held at South Plains

BY MRS. MURRAY JULIAN South Plains, May 31:

Commemorative services are being held this day, over the country, to honor the dead; those who have given their lives for their country and this is Decoration Day, a holiday for many, with schools being out for the summer; and post offices are closed. This is the last day of a long week-end. Many from here have gone to lakes, while many farmers are busy in their fields, after the heavy rains of last week. On Friday night many in our community got as much as 3 inches, while to the southcast and to the north they got about an inch. Some hail was reported around Ira Henderson's home, but there was no damage to speak of, just floods or rains across fields.

Sunday visitors at the South Plains Baptist Church included the pastor's grandchildren, Jennifer and Jaime Somers of Mineral Wells, Ruby Higginbotham's granddaughter, Shea Higginbotham of Lubbock and Mrs. Bessie Bradford of Amarillo who was there, as were the others, for the morning and night services. Mrs. Bradford spent the weekend with Mrs. Mamie Wood.

South Plains Baptist Church held the services for the Lockney Convalescent Home Sunday afternoon May 30 at 3:00 p.m. Mrs. Jerry Chappell was at the piano and Reverend Cecil Osborne spoke to those at the home. It was a beautiful day, with lovely weather, and those who were there from the South Plains Baptist Church were Rev. Osborne, Mrs. Mamie Wood, Mrs. Bessic Bradford, Mr. and Mrs. Lillie Maye and Grigsby Milton Jr., Mrs. Darla Chappell, Mrs. Bonnie Julian and Mrs. Ruby Higginbotham.

Miss Deneen Johnson was among the forty-eight students of the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing who reœived their diplomas at graduation excreises Friday night, May 28th, at the First United Methodist Church. July 13th, Deneen will take the State Examinations. We extend our congratulations and best wishes to Deneen.

South Plains Hobby Club will have the June meeting of the club at the home of Mrs. Mamie Wood with the annual, "Breakfast at Mamie's," Wednesday morning June 9 at 8:00 o'clock. This will be the last club meeting of the spring, as there will be no meetings in July and August during the summer Vacation Bible School will be held at the South Plains Baptist Church June 7th to June 11th, from 2-5 each day in the afternoons. Family night will be at the church on June 13th, at 6:30 p.m. Kay Bethel will be Director of the Va cation Bible School; Nelda Staples will be director of the pre-School children; Connic Johnson is Director of the kindergarten, 1st and 2nd grades, and Janis Julian is Director of the 3rd, 4th, 5th and 6th grades. Cookies and punch will be served to everyone during the afternoon, and you are asked to help, please, with the refreshments. Please bring cookies to church, or punch ingredients. Call Nina Sanders if you can

Old Settlers Day Memorial

(Ed. note, the following is the memorial speech given by Judy Allen at the 1982 Old Settlers Day ceremony. The Memorial List is included.)

As we gather at this time to reflect on the past year and remember those who have passed away since the 1981 Old Settlers Reunion, I think of various individuals and what they have meant to this community. It seems to me that when Nina Copeland died suddenly in June of last year soon after the reunion that the entire community was affected. She was such a good person and was loved by everyone who knew her. Her musical talents were enjoyed through the years by so many. She had played the piano and organ for many weddings. church services, civic functions, and funerals and every person present was blessed by her quiet control of any and every situation and the contributions her talent made to the occasion. Her passing was a great loss to Floydada.

People of all ages have died during the past year -- children, middle-aged and elderly. Two teenagers died from long illnesses. Michael Cawley of Lockney and Sheryl Perry of Floydada, formerly of Lockney. These youngsters were brave to the end and have made lasting impressions on their fellow classmates as well as on the adults who were fortunate enough to know them and to witness their examples of courage.

As I know many of you have, I, too, have lost family members. Aunt Sally Reeves, an aunt on my mother's side of the family, died in August. She had lived a good life and was happy to the last, living on her ranch and being able to enjoy each new day there. Were she alive today. I feel sure she would be sitting out there with you enjoying seeing old friends again.

Then it was a great loss to me when Uncle Woodrow Wilson died in February. He was a fun person to be around as so many individuals from all walks of life here in Floydada and all around the county would testify. Whether on the streets downtown, in church, at the gin playing dominoes, on the farm, at the sale barn, or at home, he could come up with something to say to lift your spirits. Just a few days ago Daddy was recalling stories of their growing up and some of the experiences of their younger years. Uncle Woodrow's passing leaves only one brother (Walton) and two sisters (Winnie and Edna Beth) of a longtime Floyd County family.

There have been some die who were born in Floyd County and lived all their comers to the area. Some were born in Floyd County, but since moved away.

There were some who lived long and fruitful lives, some who had only begun to live. Some who had been sick for a long period of time, some who were healthy up to a sudden death. Whatever the case, we know that we miss these who have gone on during the past year. but we also know that our loss is their gain. Each one has made his mark on

Green returns to Center Comm.

BY MRS. J.E. GREEN

June 1st, 1982: Hello, everybody! I am home again after being away three weeks. We were met Friday by a very wet yard, tall grass and weeds!

Sorry I missed the Old Settlers. Maybe I'll make it next year though three graduations of my grandchildren are scheduled for 1983.

But we are proud of the rain Thursday, tho I did not mind missing the

When I am away I worry about my sick friends or relatives and they are always in our prayers.

We hear Mrs. Ashton in Lockney is doing very well, that Wiley Rogers is better, but sorry to hear that Otis Anderson is in Caprock Hospital and hope he will soon be better.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard Watson visited Sunday with her parents, the Henry

Monday the parents accompanied by some of their clan left for Levelland to visit her brother, Buren Forman, who resides in the Levelland Rest Home.

The Massic Activity Center was host of the Annual Huckaby Reunion Sunday. A part of that are Mr. and Mrs Burl Huckabee, Mrs. Ola Warren and Mrs. Fred Battey and former Centerites, the Earl Huckabees of Dumas. All these and descendents were present, 70 in all. This also included the Thomas Warrens and other local members. A good time was had by all.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Anderson had their own family Reunion Sunday, when their children and grandchildren all came. These included five young grandsons, but no granddaughters.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mayfield arrived home Sunday, May 23 from a visit to Henrietta with their son, Gene and family. They attended the Henrietta High School graduation where their granddaughter, Paulette was Valedic-

Mrs. Helen Melton of Plainview visited Sunday with her mother, Mrs. Roe

Weekend visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Marion Carpenter were a grandson and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jamie Boteler of Dallas.

Mrs. Hal Thomas is home from a Lubbock hospital where she had been for several days. Their children Sue and Milton Mensch and son, David, came Saturday and returned to Lubbock Sunday.

Mrs. Ethel Warren is visiting her son John and family near Lubbock. My sister Mrs. Gertrude Mass ingill of Phillips and her daughter, Mrs. Annette McDaniel and daughter Jamie of Amarillo just dropped by on their way south to Lake Whitney and other Hill Country points. They are to be back with me later.

On Sunday May 9th, Mother's Day, my granddaughter and family, Doug and Sara Chandler and small son they call Bo came over from Lubbock after church. Sara said she planned to fly to Albuquerque Monday and she thought I should go along. Tho I had never expected to get on a plane I decided to go. When we reached Lubbock I knew a friend of yesteryear who had lived in Lubbock for years, Mrs. Elsie Latta, had died and Sara and I visited at the daughter's home, Mrs. Alice Teeple and family. Interment was to be in Floydada. Our sympathy.

We were scheduled to fly Monday morning, left after 11 and headed for N. Mex. via El Paso. It was a beautiful day only windy. It didn't excite me tho I sat by a window. There were about 100 people - like riding on a bus. To be guests of the Clyde Greens of Peralta where we would also see Elmer and Gretchen Shore and one week old daughter, Sara Louise, my second great-grand! She is so beautiful! How we enjoyed them all.

Another trip was scheduled that week. I had meant to accompany the Clyde Greens to Waco for the Baylor graduation on Friday where Kenneth Mark was to get his degree, so we all but the baby and parents, Sara and Bo flew to Dallas Tuesday; we drove Wednesday to Plainview, then Thursday to Waco and Hubbard. Friday to Waco and one of the biggest of two biggest graduations ever. We went back to Hubbard later and I staved 2 weeks with Margaret and fmaily. Donna and Jamie and Beth brought me home, then they went to Lubbock. Be it every so humble.

VALEDICTORIAN SPEECH BY CHAD PERNELL

Ladies and Gentlemen: I picked the subject of my speech tonight from an essay I was asked to write in English Class. The Texas State Teachers Association, for which Mrs. "D" is a member, sent out the material from Austin for students, to challenge their thoughts, on the topic: Liberty and Justice for all--Impossible without Public Schools. After having done research on the topic, I thought it would be a good and interesting topic to share with you, tonight. We sixth Graders have completed our equirements for graduation. This completion means a new beginning for us in our Educational adder. With the education we have received in Elementary School, it is very evident that Liberty and Justice for all is definitely impossible without public schools.

We, as American Citizens, realize that liberty is one of the greatest assets that any Nation in the world can possess. When we compare our Nation with Russia, and other foreign countries, we can immediately see a vist difference in Liberty and Justice in Public Education. We also realize without the help of public schools and teachers, our young people would not have respect for their country. It would be very difficult to maintain liberty and justice.

I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, and for the people, whose just powers are derived from the consent of the government. I therefore believe that it is my duty to my Country to love it, to support its constitution, to obey its laws, to respect its flag, and to defend it against all enemies.

Our public schools are good examples of liberty. Liberty means the condition of being free to express our thoughts and opinions. My Country's future lies in my hands and in the hands of my schoolmates and friends. Before very long we shall be choosing our leaders by voting in town, state and national elections. Before long, we shall be dreaming the dreams that result in wonderful new inventions, or doing the work that produces new things. We shall be riding the planes and manning the rockets and spaceships. It will be our job to decide what role our country will play in world

For many years my country has stood before the world as a symbol of freedom. Now people in less happy lands are saying, "We too want to be free." Personal liberty has proved a good thing for America.

Our America could never have been so GREAT without good schools, good teachers, good --parents, and good public officials.

CONTROL BAGWORMS NOW

Bagworms are one of the major pests of jumipers and other trees and shrubs in the South Plains. Insecticide control is most effective in late May and early June when the bagworms are small.

In the spring, bagworm larvae emerge from hatching eggs inside last year's bags and begin feeding on leaves. Soon they begin to construct their own protective bag of silk, twigs and leaves, making them camouflaged and hard to see. As the larvae and their bags continue to grow, control becomes more difficult.

Bagworms feed throughout the summer months, building their bag until the bags are about 11/2 inches long. In the fall, the bagworms become adults, mate and the females lay eggs inside their bag. They then overwinter in these bags in trees and shrubs.

Since the bagworm only completes one generation a year and spreads very slowly from plant to plant, picking the bags off infested plants in the winter will help alot toward controlling this pest. But if bagworms were present on the plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good that an insecticide will be needed this

Insecticides which can be used on control bagworms include sevin, dursban, diazinon, malathion, dylox, and orthene. The biological insecticide, Bacillus thuriengensis, can also be used. To obtain effective control, tho-

TOMATO VARIETIES

A number of high quality tomato varieties are available with resistance to many diseases. Two of the more important diseases are fusarium wilt and root knot nematodes.

Fusarium wilt is a fungal disease that causes wilting followed by rapid death as plant reaches the fruiting stage.

Chemical control is not effective. Use resistant varieties if this disease is to be eliminated. Root knot nematodes are another serious problem in many Texas gardens, including Floyd County gardens. They form galls or swellings on the root system that stunt tomtoes and make them appear poorly fertilized. Planting resistant varieties and fumigating insure the best production. If tomatoes are the only vegetable to be grown, planting resistant varieties is sufficient for control.

Three important letters follow certain tomato variety names. "VFN" means they are resistant to verticillium wilt, fusarium wilt and root knot nematodes. Examples of VFN tomatoes are Bigest, Bonus and Better Boy. If only "VFN" is used, the varieties are resistant to fusarium wilt and verticillium wilt but not nematodes. Spring Giant is an example of a VF tomato.

Blister beetles can be serious problem in Texas

Blister beetles can be a serious problem to different classes of livestock, but their toxicity is most severe in hor-

The beetles cause severe blistering of the esophagus, stomach and intestinal tract of animals

"Blister beetle poisioning in horses is manifested as a severe colic," points out Dr. Clifford Hoelscher, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System.

"Cantharidin (toxic chemical produced in the beetle) causes severe blistering of the mucus lining in the animal's digestive tract and other internal tissues," explains the entomologist. "The chemical is not broken down in the digestive process and must be excreted in the urine." Postive diagnosis of animal poisoning is possible by tissue or urine analysis at the Texas A&M Veterinary Medical Diagnostic Laboratory in College Sta-

A local veterinarian can suggest treatments for poisoned horses, says Hoelscher. Drenching animals with mineral oil to help protect the digestive tract lining is a first step in treatment.

"Clinical symptoms in other livestock types include a general depression, loss of appetite and constant urination," Hoelscher says. "Expressed symptoms depend on the amount of cantharidin in the feed (mainly hay), general vigor of the animal and its species."

About 35 species of blister beetles occur in Texas, notes the entomologist, and all produce varying amounts of the toxic chemical. This area is presently under study.

beetles of a certain species, the animal can die within 12 to 24 hours, emphasizes Hoelscher.

"It's important for hay and feed producers to determine if beetles are present in a field before hay is cut," explains Hoelscher. "Infested hay fields can be treated with insecticide, but the effectiveness of this has not yet been determined."

So, Hoelscher recommends these producer management strategies to reduce losses: inspect individual hay fields for adult blister beetles before harvesting, don't harvest beetle-infested areas of hay fields, and be sure a field scout can readily distinguish blister beetles from other insect species.

"Knowledge about the problem is the key to reducing animal losses from blister beetles," he says. "Know what blister beetles look like, what to do with an infested field, and how to get help in treating poisoned animals."

Spurgeon named Extension County Entomole

A new county Extension agent for pest management has been named to serve Crosby and Floyd counties.

Dale Spurgeon, a native of Quincy, Illinois, and a graduate of the University of Missouri, will begin his duties June 1, it was announced by Billy C. Gunter and Dr. Catherine B. Crawford, district directors for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. Spurgeon will be headquartered at Crosbyton.

Spurgeon comes from a farming background and has extensive experience in corn, soybean and grain sorghum production, said Dr. Mike Mc-Whorter, Extension entomologist and pest management leader, College Sta-

COTTON INJURY FROM HAIL

Last week's severe weather which brought anywhere from 3 to 6 inches of heavy washing rains and some hail to the Floyd County area caused heavy damage to cotton acreage in the County. Wheat, corn, onions, and sunflowers were also damaged by hail in the Southern half of the County during the heaviest rain which fell last Thursday.

If a producer's cotton crop suffers hail damage, he will have to consider several factors in determing whether to replant. Among these are growth stage, type and extent of injury, and seasonal conditions. A first point to consider is how much of the field was damaged. A hail storm can reduce the plant population to only two seedlings per row foot in 40-inch row, or about 25,000 plants per acre, and the crop can still produce a normal yield, unless, of course the crop is poorly distributed or has long skips. Another point in determining whether to replant is how much damage there was to plants. Plants having only traces of leaves will recover better than those with no leaves, but a seedling with no leaves can still make a crop. If the stem is intact, free of breaks in the bark and the seedling has sound buds, recovery is still possible, although it will be slower than plants having at least some leaves. However, if the stem is shattered and the bark loosened or broken at points below the leaf buds, then recovery is impossible. Any regrowth hinges either on the sound terminal bud (the growing point) or auxiliary bud located at the point of leaf attachment. Because of the young seedling's ability to recover, hail injury in late May or early June will cause less yield loss than in July or August when the plants are more mature and replanting becomes impossible. A crop can recover from damage in early to mid-June to the point that the injured plants are difficult to distinguish from undamaged plants. Also young cotton that survives early hail damage is often more mature at first frost than a crop that has been replanted. When a cotton field is destroyed, the producer has no choice but to replant. But in most hail storms, the crop is usually only partially injured, making the decision more difficult.

REPLANTING HAIL DAMAGED COTTON

are faced with the task of replanting their crop, realizing that planting in June usually means less than average yields even with normal growing conditions for the remainder of the growing season. For these producers, the most important decision is which cotton varieties to use and what cultural practices might be applied that will accelerate the maturity of the crop. Producers in Floyd County should consider varieties that are early to very early in maturity. Some of these varieties are listed below:

As for planting rates in late planted cotton, remember that germination and emergence will be enhanced by warm, moist soil conditions. Generally, seedling rates of 15 to 18 lbs. of good quality seed per acre-or 5 to 6 seed per foot of drill-are more than adequate for optimum stands.

Residues of preemergence herbicides can be a problem in replanting especially in sandier soils. Caparol and Lasso can be leached downward by Rainfall and can cause seedling injury in replanted cotton. Normally, this problem can be avoided by replanting in the furrows (not in the original bed). The replant icorporated herbicides are not a problm in replanting to cotton.
