SMALL BUSINESS— A RESOURCE WE MUST PROTECT

You can look around the square of any Texas town and see the backbone of the state economy—and of the national economy. It's small business and it provides half of all jobs. By the current state definition there are 260,000 in our state—that's 97% of all Texas businesses. The small businessman and woman not only provide jobs and pay taxes; their independent tradition also helps explain the enduring quality of our democratic form of government.

The state of Texas recognizes the importance of small business and has programs to help it. But we can do better.

For one thing, we can abolish the sales tax on utility bills which now falls basically on small business owners. Large manufacturing and processing firms don't have to pay the tax, but the grocer, retailer and florist do. It is not fair.

My opponent opposed doing away with this tax in the last session of the legislature. The tax will bring in an estimated $220 million in 1984-85. But when you compare that with the extra $5.1 billion the legislature will have to spend during that time, I feel we can do without the tax and the revenue it will bring. And, as Lt. Governor, I would support its repeal.

I would also support putting into effect recommendations of the small business task force initiated by the Governor. Two of these recommendations are especially appealing. One is to help small business borrow money at better rates. Most small businesses which fail do so because they are under-capitalized. To help that situation, franchise tax money would be deposited in participating banks, which would, in turn, make loans at lower rates to small businesses.

The other recommendation is that we form a group of small business development centers at colleges and universities statewide. Money for these centers would come from the U.S. Small Business Administration, the state and participating schools. The centers would provide training, counseling and other help to small business owners so that they could be more competitive in the marketplace.

If you have any thoughts on this, I'd like to hear them. Please write me at 1213 W. 34th Street, Austin 78705.

Letter to the Editor

There are various reactions to excessive heat. Some individuals are far more sensitive than others. A vast percentage of these individuals are the children of our public schools. These students are accustomed to air conditioned situations, yet from 9 to 10 during the school year, they are required to sit in classrooms where the temperatures often reach the excessive heat of 90° to 100°. During this time they are expected to think and produce. It takes a while to realize how much it depletes energy, just being there, yet we want them to perform under these conditions. We know that fans or air conditioning work for adults in their performance. Kids are people, too, so why not give them the same advantage? It is their job and how well they do it depends on their working conditions. If they are obligated to be in the classrooms, then they should be given the advantage. If you visited the classrooms? You should, and not just 5 or 10 minutes. Try to be there for 2 to 3 hours in one some afternoon to see how your mind functions when in the heated atmosphere where the children spend their time. Andrews Elementary there is no cooling system in any classroom unless the fan the teachers themselves have to supply. Surely there are enough concerned parents and interested citizens who care enough to do something to improve this situation.

MRS. LARRY ANDERS

Wedding vows unite Jackson, Anders

Nesa Jackson became the bride of Larry Anders during a 7:00 p.m. wedding ceremony on Saturday, September 11th held at Highland Baptist Church in Lubbock, Texas. The Elders Jim Jackson, father of the bride, and George Johnson, uncle of the bride, read the vows that united the children of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Jackson of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. John Anders of Lubbock.

The soft glow of candlelight and the fresh look of ferns created an ideal setting for the wedding ceremony. Five 15-branch fan candelabras dressed with green silk ferns decorated the altar. Bird cages with greenery and alabaster doves decorated the piano and organ.

Musical selections were provided throughout the ceremony by Penny Bertrand of Floydada, organist, Lynn Pyles of Graham, pianist, and Whitney Womack of Lubbock, harpist. Vocalists were Kathy Taylor, Bobbie Rector, both of Crosbyton, and Lynn Pyles. Selections presented were "Whither Thou Goest", "Purer in Heart", "Surround Me With Love", "Create In Me", "Teach Us Dear Lord", and "Variations on a Welsh Theme", a harp solo.

Escorted and presented in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Victorian style wedding gown of white organza with accents of peau d'ange lace. The fitted bodice was designed with a bertah collarlet of scalloped lace ruffling, highlighted by tiny seed pearls. Long tapered sleeves repeated the scalloped lace ruffling with cuffs falling over the hands. The full circular skirt was sprinkled with beaded lace medallions and swept into a chapel train. The entire hemline was encircled in a circular flounce of self fabric attached with lace scallops. The wedding ensemble was originally worn by the bride's sister, Rhonda Richards. The bride carried an all silk cascade bouquet of spice and peach day lilies, white orchids, and stephanotis showered with silk gypsophila.

Serving as matron of honor and maid of honor were Rhonda Richards and Brenda Anders, both of Lubbock. Other attendants were Susan Cadenhead of Morton, Becky Fawver of Lubbock, LaDelle Gowens of Muleshoe, Laura Hurley of Lubbock, and Wanda Whitsett of Colorado.

Their gowns of spice colored chiffon and qiana were fashioned with a spaghetti strapped bodice attached to a full line skirt. A matching chiffon capelet completed the design. A matching pill box hat, designed in honor of the special occasion, was worn by the matron of honor. An arrangement of spice and peach silk flowers adorned the hair of the other attendants. They carried brass chamber lights dressed with spice and peach silk flowers and ribbon.

McLin Stanton of Idalou honored the bride by serving as flower girl. She carried a parasol covered with peach tulle and accented with spice silk flowers and ribbons. Jennifer Jones of Plainview and Shelley and Amy Johnson of Idalou served as candlelighters for the ceremony. They carried brass torches decorated with silk flowers and ribbon.

The groom was attired in a black tuxedo with tails, charcoal pin-striped pants, and a white pleated shirt. The entire ensemble was accented with black bow tie and cummerbund. Allen Hall of Dallas attended as best man. Serving as groomsmen were Steve Bloyd of Lubbock, Jerry Cramer of Ft. Worth, Jimmy Jackson of Lubbock, Kenneth Kemp of Waco, Chip Phillips of Dallas, and Larry Richards of Lubbock. Formal black tuxedos with pleated white shirts, black bow ties, and cummerbunds adorned the groom's party. Acting as ushers were Jeff Olson of Lubbock, C.J. Shayne of Houston, and Steve Turner of Lubbock. Rex Johnson of Idalou attended as the ring bearer.

Presiding at the registration table were Julie Faulkenberry of Floydada and La Tonya Johnson of Idalou. A brass lantern accented the other arrangements gathered for the guest table.

A reception was held at the Highland Activity Center immediately following the ceremony. The setting was lots of gleaming brass and candlelight. The bride's center table featured a nine-tiered, fountain wedding cake with three tiers on top of the fountain and staircases leading down to the other six heart-shaped tiers. Champagne colored icing, spice silk sweetheart roses, and fresh greenery topped with porcelain doves accented the cake. The center table was covered with an ivory antique satin cloth draped with an ivory Queen Ann lace overlay. Clusters of brass candlesticks with crystal votive cups, peach candles, and greenery accessorized the table.

A matching table on each side featured floor length ivory cloth and white allusion drapes gathered up at intervals with English ivy and ivory bows. Spice fruit punch was served from a footed crystal and brass punch bowl. Other brass appointments adorned the two tables. Lattice work and greenery set the tables. A color photograph exhibited from the bride's table. Brenda Wells, Chris Williams.

BY LINDA EMERT

The weather has been hot enough to dry the grain and corn, so some of the farmers can get it in out of the fields.

Monday was a holiday for most people. There was not much going on.

Tuesday we had a great group for Bible Study. We are studying in Psalms.

Wednesday we played bingo for a good while. The winners this week were as follows, Emmitt Lawrence and Sue Thompson, both tied for first place. Both won five games each. W.C. Cates won four games. Una Clark and Vera Duke both won three games a piece.

Thursday the residents enjoyed playing games. We played three or four different games.

Friday we had two real good films. The residents enjoyed the films very much. And they always want their popcorn while they watch the movies. They would miss that popcorn if we were out.

Here is a list of visitors for the week: Burmah Probasco, Sherry Colston, Dana and Jo Lee Ellis, Betty Draper, Analee Brown, Mrs. Bonnie Julian, Kim and Jo Lee Ellis, Gene Baird, Jason Bailey, Otis and Dana Ellis, Edna Patton, Beverly and Deniece Williams, Illa Belle McPeak, Shannon Paty, Dixie, Tate and Zacha Harris, Edd and Dorothy Neff, William C. Bits of Humor, Trivia, and an occasional Word of Wisdom

A tourist asked a merchant in a little West Texas town, "Does it ever rain around here?" "Oh yes," the native replied. "They got a half-inch a couple of weeks ago about thirty miles up the road, but I was busy, and couldn't go."

One beautiful morning a man in the country remarked to a native, "A day like this really makes a person feel like working." The native drawled, "Well, now, I wouldn't go so far as to say that, but I will say it makes a body feel like he OUGHT to."

Weather forecaster: someone who tells you what's going to happen tomorrow, then tells you why it didn't.

If you can manage to make mistakes when nobody is looking, you stand a fair chance of becoming successful.

Somehow or other, wrong cards were attached to two imposing floral wreaths at the florist shop. The one that went to a men's store moving to an expensive new building read "Deepest Sympathy", and one intended for the funeral of the town's leading banker read "Good Luck in your New Location."

VA News

Certain disabled veterans holding National Service Life Insurance policies are entitled to a waiver of the premiums.

The statutory disabilities which permit such waivers are the permanent and total loss of use of both feet, both hands, both eyes, one foot and one hand, one foot and one eye, one hand and one eye, hearing in both ears, or the organic loss of speech, said the Director, Waco Veterans Administration regional Office.

However, the insurance waiver is not automatic, he stressed. The veteran, or someone acting on his or her behalf, must file a waiver claim with the VA. Further, the disability must begin before the veteran's 65th birthday after the application date for the insurance and while the insurance is in force.

For further information, telephone the Waco VA Regional Office toll-free number listed in your telephone directory.

Face the fact and remember God forgives. Then let Him! Before this ad was placed we started praying for you because we care. Give us a chance to share.

Whirlwinds improving

BY COACH L.G. WILSON

I thought the team improved over last week's game, both offensively and defensively. The team was a lot sounder than last week.

I was pleased with the execution of the shotgun offense. I was also pleased with the condition of things in the defense.

The team gave a tough battle, even when they got behind they came back. Although they were playing a team that was physically stronger, they held their own. We could have won this game as easily as we lost it.

Muleshoe will be as tough of a team as Frenship. They are a different type of ball club. They depend on quickness rather than physical strength.

Frenship edges Winds

The Whirlwinds saw their first defeat Friday against the Frenship Tigers. The Winds showed promise in the first quarter when a 25 yard Mark Hatley pass connected with Grant Turner. But the PAT failed.

The Winds held their territory well and in the first half of the second quarter a Donnell Weeks field goal left the score 9-0 until just before the half. Frenship received the kickoff and put six points on the scoreboard after an eight yard drive with quarterback Brent Davis bringing in the final 22 yards on a keeper play. The PAT was kicked in by Johny Hernandez.

The third quarter was fairly uneventful with no great gains by either team. The Winds lost a fumble half way through the fourth quarter yet the Tigers were not able to capitalize on it when the Wind defense held.

A 60 yard scoring run by David Payne and PAT by Hernandez finished the game with the final score 14-9 Frenship.

The Winds fought hard against a stronger team. Even after the final touchdown by Frenship the Winds fought hard and made a gallant effort to come back.

WHIRLWIND captains this week are [L-R] Shannon Smith, Tackle, Sr. and Donnell Weeks, Safety, Quarterback, Halfback, Sr.

Local

Well folks and Yocal as I sit here my face red as a ripe tomato I am almost too embarrassed to write this column. The time is 5:30 p.m. Monday afternoon just waiting to see if the Cowboys will be my only salvation of last weeks predictions. I just don't understand what could have happened. I talked with the coaches personally and had their word that each of the teams I picked would come through.

The Longhorns came close but no roses. Seems the Petersburg Buffalos had more to say about the outcome.

The Raiders of double T probably has as red a face as I.

The Winds fought valiantly but were outmanned in the end.

The Oilers were Bengalized by those folks in the striped helmets. I missed this one bad but had the competitiveness spirit to at least predict it. Yocal seems to have been to chicken or unknowledgeable to have a say about the Oilers.

But alas, let us not bemoan the situation any further and get on with the business at hand and give you betting folks the inside track on this next weeks fearless football forecast from the fabulous famous foremost forecaster of Floyd County.

The Longhorns face the rejuvenating Mustangs of Olton. The Mustangs are stepping up in class but not up to the class of the Longhorns. Coach Purser has put PRIDE in HORNS. You fans come out and view Lockney's first victory of the year. Horns 27 Mustangs 14.

Texas Tech plays at home and will need all the support their fans can bolster. This will still not be enough. Air Force 34 Tech 17.

The Oilers face Mr. Zorn of Seattle this week. Although a Kenny Anderson he is not, enough passer and scrambler he is. Seahawks by 10.

The Irving Cowboys face the always hard hitting birds of St. Louis. The birds can't fly fast enough or high enough.

& Yocal

Well Local, I do believe I slipped my dropper this past week, in fact I'm running barefooted in the sticker patch. I know you think I'm a brick shy of a full load and rightly so. But how was I to know that New Mexico could shut out the Red Raiders of Tech land. Oh well, I had the point spread right anyway. Those boys at the domino hall must know more than how many spots are on those ivory rocks. Final score New Mexico 14 - Texas Tech zip. Air Force should lord it over Tech by 10 points in Saturday night's game at Jones Stadium.

We were both close when it came down to Lockney and Petersburg. That ought to show you the game isn't over until the gun sounds. Close of game Longhorns 14-Buffs 14. The Longhorns ought to stampepe over Olton by 14 points in Friday night's bout.

I hate to be an "I told you so" but I did - Frenship's Tiger's milk was too much for the Winds Friday night. Penalties and fumbles can sure turn a game around. Better for the problems to come at the beginning of the season, however. Frenship 14 - Winds 9. The Winds should be roaring next week though, when they taken on Muleshoe. I figure they should beat Muleshoe by 7 points.

Well, now, Dallas let us down

Cowboys by 17 points. High scoring game.

Now for the Winds, will they come back after a disappointing loss the those not so friendly boys from Frenship. This week the Winds face the also disappointed Muleshoe Mules. The Mules were tripped by Levelland. This test of the gridiron will be close. Both teams are highly rated but look for the Winds to be on top by 3.

Now Yocal see what you can do to get yourself out of the also rans. These predictions should more than bring me back to 500.

This week I do not have time
To sing you a rhyme
I have given you more clues
Than I ever would choose

This week I will say
And this is no hay
I farmed for a time
Before I started this rhyme.

Tuesday morning and the Cowboys
let me all the way down.

Monday night in a high scoring clash against the Pittsburg Steelers—Steelers 36 - Cowboys 28. All the yelling in the world couldn't push them over the top. I predict the Cowboys will ricochet back against St. Louis on the 19th by 13 points.

I'm looking for a come-back by the Oilers when they meet the Seattle Seahawks in Sunday's game. Houston by 7 points.

The President of my fan club came up with this week's rhyming' clue. Yocal, yocal he's our man, he can predict, yes he can. He's got hair upon his face, he's good with tools and in a race.

Local, if we don't do better this week, we better go back to "Wheaties"!

Junior Varsity turned back by Frenship Tigers

BY COACH MIKE COCANOUGH

The Frenship junior varsity managed to edge by the 'Winds junior varsity last Thursday. The final score 23-6—Frenship.

The Winds were first on the board with six points in the first quarter. A 30 yard Joey Kemp pass to Dale Minner led to the first touchdown, the PAT was not good.

In the second quarter the Tigers capitalized on a blocked punt. The tigers recovered, scored and made the PAT. Once again before the half another punt was blocked with the same results. The two point conversion left the score at the half 15-6 — Frenship.

Late in the game during the fourth quarter, the tigers once again scored on a 20 yard run. The blocked punt broke our back, we had a few minutes we had a few minutes punts hurt the most. Outstanding player Joey Kemp and [Name obscured] Arellano.

Landscape & Gardening

By Benny Butler County Agent

WIDE TREE EPIDEMIC
 Epidemic proportions. Floyd County has lost several hundred trees next year unless we do something to save them. The single culprit as to the illness, root damage, nutrient deficiency, and lack of water all contribute to the problem. Jett dealt with these problems in an article on his column on "Shade Tree Defoliation Damage". I will not try to solve these problems in this column. Instead, zero in on one problem - iron deficiency.

Iron deficiency occurs and is noticeable this year than in previous years. Perhaps it would be better to say that "deficiency" is a bad word to use. There would be much more iron in our soils than we have, but for one reason or another, it is not "available" for the trees to use. This condition is called iron deficiency (greater than iron deficiency) and it interferes with the absorption of iron by the trees. It occurs most often on soils that are high in lime (alkaline).

Iron deficiency can also be caused by over-irrigation, or bicarbonate in irrigation water. Both have a high pH and a high lime content. This presents an unusual wet spring. These two factors, with the unusually wet spring, have played havoc with iron in the soil. It is even more noticeable in well-watered trees. Our water is very high in lime. This is not to say, however, that you shouldn't water your lawn. Lack of water before they are iron deficient.

As you can see, ammonium sulfate fertilizers are the most effective fertilizers for lowering soil pH in terms of the amount of nitrogen they supply. Fertilizers that leave a basic residue in the soil and that should be avoided on our soils include calcium nitrate [Ca (NO<sub>3</sub>)<sub>2</sub>], sodium nitrate [Na (NO<sub>3</sub>)<sub>2</sub>], and potassium nitrate [KNO<sub>3</sub>]. Always check the nitrogen source on a bag of fertilizer before you buy it.

Using acid-forming nitrogen fertilizers won't solve your pH problem overnight, but it is a prime consideration in the overall process. If you are going to fertilize anyway, you might as well use one that will lower the soil pH as well as supply nitrogen.

That pretty well covers the first part of the game plan in correction iron deficiency: lowering soil pH. Now let's look at the second aspect of the game plan: supplying additional iron. Before iron compounds are applied, you should be certain that the observed chlorosis is really iron deficiency. There are many factors that will cause leaves to stress and turn yellow. One of the most common injuries that is mistaken for iron deficiency is injury from one of the triazine herbicides (Pramitol, Atrazine, Milogard, Evik, etc...). Be sure you consider this before proclaiming iron deficiency as the culprit.

Two principal types of iron-containing compounds used to furnish iron to plants are: (1) Iron chelates, and (2) Inorganic compounds containing iron in soluble form. Ferrous sulfate (also called copperas) is such a compound. You can buy iron chelates and ferrous sulfate at stores that sell garden supplies and fertilizer.

Iron Chelates - Iron chelates are organic compounds containing iron. The iron remains available to plants when the chelates are placed in the soil. The iron in chelates costs much more per pound than the iron in ferrous sulfate, but the amount of chelates required for control of chlorosis is much smaller than the required amount of ferrous sulfate, and the cost of treatment with chelates need not be greater. Iron chelates are marketed under various trade names and in various formulations. Some are applied to soil, other to foliage. Some of those intended for application to soil are for high-lime soils, and some are for iron-deficient soils.

If you decide to use an iron chelate, get one that has been formulated for your particular conditions and purposes, and follow the directions on the package.

Ferrous Sulfate - Ferrous sulfate and similar compounds that contain inorganic iron furnish soluble iron to plants. However, when they are applied to the soil, much of the applied iron becomes unavailable to plants. Consequently, applications must be much in excess of amounts actually required by the plants. The iron is made unavailable by the same factors that cause iron chlorosis initially (high pH, interfering elements, etc.).

Adding ferrous sulfate to the soil actually does more good by lowering the soil pH than by supplying iron. The sections that follow ("Treating Soil" and "Treating Foliage") refer to treatment with ferrous sulfate.

TREATING SOIL
 For trees, shrubs, vines, flowers, and vegetables, the solution is prepared by dissolving ferrous sulfate in water at the rate of 1 pound of the chemical per gallon of water. Thus, if you find that you need 25 gallons of solution, you will know that you need 25 pounds of ferrous sulfate.

Trees - Before treating the soil in which a tree is growing, determine how much ferrous sulfate you will need. A convenient way to do this is to measure the diameter of the periphery of the tree at the drip line. If the treatment is to be made while the tree is dormant, you will need 1 gallon of ferrous sulfate solution for each foot of the diameter of the periphery. For example, if the diameter is 25 feet, you will need 25 gallons of solution. If the treatment is to be made during the growing season, you will need 1/2 gallon of ferrous sulfate solution for each foot of the diameter of the periphery.

After obtaining the necessary amount of ferrous sulfate and preparing the solution, proceed as follows:
 - Dig holes around the periphery at intervals of about 3 feet.
 - Dig each hole deep enough to hold a gallon of liquid.
 - Pour 1 gallon of ferrous sulfate solution (1/2 gallon if treatment is made during the growing season) in each hole.

Let it soak away.
 - Fill each hole with water once or twice; let it soak away.
 - Refill the holes with soil.
 The summer after treating the soil, watch for symptoms of chlorosis. If chlorosis persists, take these additional steps:
 - Spray the foliage once or twice to gain temporary improvement.
 - Repeat the soil treatment when the trees are again dormant.

Treating Slender and Small Trees - Treatment holes around tall, slender trees should be 2 instead of 3 feet apart. Apply 1 gallon solution per hole as for other trees.
 To treat small trees, apply the solution in 6-inch-deep trenches around the peripheries of the trees, but dig the trenches no closer than 1 foot from the base of the tree.
 The amount of solution required is determined as with larger trees except that the minimum dosage is 1 gallon per tree if treatment is made while the tree is dormant, and 1/2 gallon per tree if treatment is made during the growing season.

Treating Soil When Plants are Dormant
 If you have decided on soil treatment as the means of controlling iron chlorosis in perennial plants, treat the soil in the winter or in early spring, while the plants are dormant. Treatment at this time is safer and more effective than treatment during the growing season. When dormant, some plant species tolerate concentrations of iron that would be toxic to them during the growing season.

TREATING FOLIAGE
 Quick but short-lived results are obtained by spraying ferrous sulfate solution on the foliage of plants affected with iron chlorosis. The amount required is much smaller than that required for application to the soil. However if chlorosis is severe, frequent applications to foliage are required to keep plants green and healthy.

Preparing Spray
 To prepare 50 gallons of spray -
 - Dissolve 2 pounds of ferrous sulfate in 50 gallons of water. (A stronger solution would burn some plant varieties).
 - Add 2 cups of a mild household detergent. (The detergent acts as a wetting agent and increases the effectiveness of the spray).
 To prepare 3 gallons of spray, dissolve 2 ounces of ferrous sulfate in 3 gallons of water and add 2 tablespoon of detergent.

Applying Spray
 Spray treatments can begin any time during the growing season but are most effective when starting early in the season.
 Thoroughly wet the foliage of the plants with spray. If you spray large trees, you will need a good power sprayer. A compressed-air sprayer is recommended for treating other plants.
 Several treatments are necessary during a season. Spray at 2- to 4-week intervals until symptoms disappear; then spray whenever symptoms reappear.

If spray solution gets on flowers, it may stain and ruin them. To prevent this, direct the spray away from flowers, or spray when plants are not in bloom.

Early Spraying of Annual Plants
 It is not necessary to wait until symptoms of iron chlorosis appear before spraying annual plants with ferrous sulfate solution.
 If you know that annual plants of a particular species, planted in a particular area of plot, are likely to develop chlorosis, spray them within 10 days after they emerge from the soil. Repeat the treatment within 2 weeks. If chlorosis develops, spray chlorotic areas again; repeat in 2 weeks if necessary. This procedure prevents stunting of plants, and it prevents reductions in yield that would result from iron deficiency.

Should you go ahead and spray your trees this late in the year? I would say yes. Relieving the iron deficiency now will allow the tree to store more food for winter, and will give it a head start next spring.

SUMMARY
 Now you have the complete game plan for controlling iron deficiency in your trees and other plants. There are two major objectives: lower the soil pH to make more natural iron available, and supply additional iron. Lowering the pH involves using acid-forming nitrogen fertilizers, applying soil acidulents, and being careful not to apply anything that will leave a basic residue in the soil. Supplemental iron can be applied thru the soil or the foliage. Foliar applications give faster results, but are only temporary.
 Remember: no one of these practices by itself will cure the problem. It takes a team effort to win the battle against iron deficiency.
 Further information on iron deficiency can be found in the Extension Bulletin L-435, "Iron Chlorosis", and in the USDA Bulletin #102, "Iron Deficiency in Plants". Both are available free at the County Extension Office.

PODWORMS DAMAGE IN SOYBEANS HEAVY
 Podworms in soybeans reached treatment levels in several fields in the county during the last two-week period. Up until that time, podworm damage had been evident, but damage was minor and worm populations were well below treatment levels. However, podworm infestations increased rapidly over a period of days and many fields have now had extensive pod feeding ranging as high as 65-70% pod damage. One podworm per foot of row is the treatment level for soybeans and several of the fields in the county that we have checked range between one and seven worms per foot of row with most fields averaging about 2-3 per row-foot. Worm activity has finally slowed down due to the cooler weather.

I have had several questions concerning how long it will take the pods that are now being set on soybeans to mature because some fields had had so much pod damage before they were sprayed that only blooms and 1/2 inch-long pods remained. Because of the large variation in characteristics of varieties in the different maturity groups grown in this area, that is not a very easy question to answer. However, we can take one variety that is commonly grown in Floyd County to use as an example and each grower can then estimate the maturation period of pods for his particular variety using the sample variety as a basis for comparison. Since Ring Around's Mitchell 450 was the State Soybean Yield Contest Winner from Floyd County last year, we will use it as an example.

Flowering in soybeans is initiated in this area, when the photoperiod or daylight period, drops to less than 14 hours. According to Agronomists at Ring Around Seed in Plainview, the bean filling period of a pod set by an early bloom lasts about three weeks. Stress (lack of moisture, light or fertility; too much heat; or physical damage) during this period increases the time required for bean filling and decreases yield by reducing the number of beans per pod and pod size. The bean filling period of a pod set toward the end of the flowering (bloom) period can be as short as two weeks because soybeans are called short-day plants and rate of maturation of beans increase as the photoperiod or day-length decreases. This means that although many Floyd County Soybean growers have lost the older pods damaged by worms, the pods that are now being set in varieties comparable to Ring Around's Mitchell 450 still have time to produce fully-developed beans even if an early October freeze occurred this fall (providing the soybeans were not stressed during this period of time). Leaf-drop is already occurring on many of the early-planted soybean fields and some of the late-planted varieties are cutting out, so the yield potential has already been determined.

Soybean growers in the county - particularly those who planted late - that have fields with greater than 60-70% pod damage have a difficult decision to make concerning the future of that crop. Each producer knows how much he already has in that crop and that alone may lock him into putting as much money as he has to invest that crop in order to get it to harvest. Even with 70% pod damage, earlier planted soybeans with blooms and small pods being set should probably have been sprayed for podworms, possibly watered again since it hasn't rained in order to avoid moisture stress, and harvested if no more significant podworm damage occurred before maturity. Some late-planted fields should also have been treated the same way if plants were loaded with blooms and small pods. However, several of the fields we checked the last three weeks were planted so late (mid-July) that the only thing the worms had to feed on were blooms and small pods because there were no pods over 1/4 inch long on the plant yet. In this case, growers should think twice before spending money to spray, irrigate and combine a crop that has very few blooms and small pods left on the plant. What few late blooms there are on the plant will mature according to Extension and Ring Around Agronomists, but will there be enough beans cut to even pay the extra $35-$40 per acre that could be spent on that crop between the time the worm infestation was first discovered and the time the soybeans get to the elevator if they are sprayed, watered and custom cut - particularly when the soybean market is already depressed from the increase in planted acreage this year?

In this situation, some entomologists and agronomists in the area have been recommending that the severely damaged late soybeans that are practically all foliage and not beans either be baled for hay, grazed out or plowed under as a source of mulch and fertilizer (green manure).
 Growers with fields in this category will have to decide whether to harvest their soybeans or fall back on one of these other three alternatives, but only the growers themselves can make that decision because they are the only ones who know how much they have in that crop, and how much they can afford to lose on the crop if it comes to that.
 For those growers that do decide to abort the crop and fall back on one of the three alternatives that I mentioned earlier, I have discussed the problem with an Agronomist and a Beef Cattle Specialist and they provided the following information that might be of benefit to you in the next few weeks:
 - Soybeans to be baled for hay should be cut when most of the protein is still in the leaf, not in the pod; cut when pods are small before the beans are 1/2-1/2 filled; (most late-planted fields in Floyd County were ready to cut 1 1/2 to 2 weeks ago, so some of the protein may have moved to the pod; However, the soybeans can still be cut for hay because the protein will still be retained - it's just that the hay will be a little less palatable and more stemming.)
 - Soybeans are difficult to cure because of the high amount of moisture in the stalks, so crimp the stalks as you swath them so they will dry quicker.
 - Bale early in the morning when the leaves are a little damp so that leaf loss from bales can be prevented - most of the protein is in the leaf.
 - Soybeans hay yields should average between one and three tons per acre. The average yield of soybean hay in the United States is 1.4 tons per acre.
 - Value of hay is difficult to estimate because most soybeans in this area are combined - not baled, but soybeans hay is second only in protein and feeding value to alfalfa hay and this should make the hay worth at least $55-$60 per ton.

 - Alfalfa hay has about 18-20% protein while soybean hay has about 12-16% protein.
 - Soybeans can be grazed out by cattle, but much of the value of the soybeans as a feed is lost due to the trampling of many of the plants by the cattle before they are actually grazed.
 - Plowing soybeans under for green manure would be the cheapest alternative since no known market for soybean hay is available and the value of nutrients returned to the soil would be realized in the next crop to follow.
