Caprock Hospital receives wheelchairs from auxiliary

Caprock Hospital Auxiliary donated two wheelchairs to the hospital. In the past several years the Hospital Auxiliary has contributed over 17 thousand dollars worth of equipment to the hospital. Some of the equipment includes a blood gas analysis machine, a heart monitor, a portable X-ray machine, and an X-ray generator. They also have done the Ambulance Fund, the Jaws Fund, and various scholarship programs. The auxiliary has also purchased eight wall mounted blood pressure cuffs for the hospital at a cost of about $800 which will be delivered at a later date. "The hospital staff and doctors appreciate the support the Auxiliary has given," Joe Rice Caprock Hospital Administrator said. "I would also like to add my personal thanks to the auxiliary and to the people who have written letters of continued support of Caprock Hospital." The Caprock Hospital Auxiliary welcomes new members who feel they can contribute their time and energy for the betterment of the hospital.

School board hears ruling

Jerry Cannon explained the eligibility of John Foley, a junior transfer from Bryan, Texas. John's eligibility was questioned last week. Mr. Cannon proceeded to call Bill Forney, the head of the University Interscholastic League, for a ruling. The student's eligibility was checked very thoroughly by the Coaches and officials prior to his playing in the Tullia game. The controversy stems from John not being in the Floydada school system one year. He lives with his uncle and guardian, Mr. George Henry Ratliff and has the past two summers. Since John's parents do not live in the district and has not gone to this school for one year he was declared ineligible for one year by the districts UIL committee. The ineligibility has caused the forfeiting of the Tullia, Lockney and Childress ball games. This is the only penalty assessed the school and does not affect any other sport or organization.

Football contest winners

Halloween is just around the corner. Soon youngsters will be going from door to door for trick or treat. This week's winner already has his treat and it was no trick for him to win. Tommy Cathey of Floydada won first place this week with only three incorrect guesses. Second place this week goes to Sarah Sanders with four incorrect guesses. Third place goes to Jenny Paty also with four incorrect guesses but she missed second place by missing the tie breaker. Honorable mention goes to Tommy Cathey Jr. also with four incorrect guesses but missed the tie breaker. There are only two games left in the season. If you haven't entered you better turn to page 8B and enter before it is too late. Remember the deadline is 5 p.m. Friday and only one entry per person please. Also some of last week's winners have not picked up their checks. They may pick them up during business hours at the Hesperian office.

Only want responsible action? Concerned parents attempt to organize Recent controversies at Floydada School board polling of concerned citizens and last Thursday to explain in an orderly fashion - some possible objectives for this group. This will be an organization or group that will be open to all citizens. We are not forming to ask or demand discipline of any student now - or in the future. We are definitely not forming to ask for the resignation of any faculty member, administrative staff, or elected official. We only want responsible actions from our administrative and elected officials. We should drop all past issues for we need to start fresh - to be a positive influence on helping the policies and decisions of the board. We desire to help through community involvement in improving the educational process and environment in which the students and teachers must function. I would like to offer some possible objectives for consideration and discussion - 1. To work with all interested parties to improve and enhance the quality of education available in our school system. 2. To work with all interested parties to improve the environment existing in our school system to foster the achievements of today's students and tomorrow's leaders. 3. To work with all interested parties to promote the understanding and development of fiscal responsibility in all budgetary considerations for our school system. 4. To work with all interested parties to broaden and develop a better understanding in the community as to the overall operations of our school system.

Changes in commissioners' & voting precinct lines

The following is believed to be a substantially correct summary of the recent major changes made in Commissioners' and Voting Precinct lines in Floyd County as such changes bear on the forthcoming elections. There are additionally certain minor changes in boundaries, in most instances apparently due to inadvertence on the part of the draftsman, but detailing such minor changes would require too much space for this brief summary.

Baker No. 13 and Southeast Floydada No. 23: The area of the former Lakeview Precinct No. 15, previously added to Southeast Floydada, has now been shifted to Baker Precinct No. 13. Southeast Floydada No. 23 and Southwest Floydada No. 1: Within the City limits of Floydada, the area South of Virginia Street and East of 3rd Street as far South as Crockett Street has been detached from Southwest Floydada and added to Southeast Floydada.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and McCoy No. 22: The area of the former Starkey Precinct No. 2, previously added to Southwest Floydada, has now been shifted to McCoy No. 22.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and Northeast Floydada No. 24: The area of the former Northwest Floydada No. 19 North of Virginia Street, West of 3rd Street, and West of U.S. Highway 70, has been added to Southwest Floydada; the remaining area of Northwest Floydada, lying North of Virginia Street, and East of 3rd Street and East of Highway 70, has been added to Northeast Floydada, in effect abolishing Northwest Floydada No. 19.

East Lockney No. 5, West Lockney No. 18, and Lone Star No. 8: East Lockney has been drastically reduced in size, and, as so reduced, has been transferred from Commissioner's Precinct No. 2 to Commissioner's Precinct No. 3. Except for an enclave extending East from Main Street to include Lockney General Hospital, and a similar enclave one block wide North and South, extending East from Main Street to include the West half of the City Hall, Main Street remains the boundary between East Lockney and West Lockney from the North City limits South to Shurbet Street; all that part of East Lockney South of Shurbet Street, West of the Lone Star Highway, and South and West of the U.S. Highway 70, has been added to West Lockney. All that part of East Lockney North of the Flomot Highway, and East of the Lone Star Highway, plus an enclave on the West side of the Lone Star Highway to include the County Machinery Barn, has been added to Lone Star No. 8.

The boundaries of the following voting precincts appear to be substantially unchanged: Dougherty No. 20, Harmony No. 16, Allmon No. 3, Sandhill No. 4, Providence No. 7, South Plains No. 9, Cedar Hill No. 11, and Goodnight No. 17. Because the changes in lines other than those affecting East Lockney and West Lockney can have no possible impact on any contested race within the County, election officials in other precincts can safely exercise reasonable discretion in determining the residence of voters in view of the unavoidable confusion resulting from the brief time between the changes and the elections.

Perspectives

By the time you read this, National Pornography Awareness Week will almost be a matter of history. In a year full of weeks and days to celebrate, this one has received very little publicity, and I expect will have been much ignored by the general populace.

The idea of the week is to make people aware of the effects of pornography upon individuals and society. Churches were urged to observe the week, and the CBN network has been showing a series of programs designed to give us the facts concerning pornography.

The battle on this issue has been a long and for the most part, fruitless one. There are beginning to be some signs of improvement as some cities have managed to change selling regulations on various soft-core magazines or have entirely eliminated sales of sexually oriented materials. We are a long way from attaining any kind of real victory. I recently saw a sign in the window of a convenience store in a town not too far from here which read "Adult magazines now sold here, inquire at counter."

Perhaps the reason people do so little about the proliferation of sexually oriented materials is that we really do not understand the evil involved. While I would rather see a show full of sex than I would one of blood, that in no way lessens the need to do away with porn. Pornography is linked to violence in many ways, and certainly constitutes abuse of other people.

Unfortunately, the idea that magazines like Playboy and Penthouse are harmless and hurt no one continues to proliferate. To repress sales of these types of magazines is branded as an attempt to shove morality down someone else's throat, to return to a Victorian repression of sex, or abridgement of freedom of expression. All those are hogwash.

There are numerous studies showing the harm in porn. Certainly no one cries about morality where murder, rape, theft, etc. are concerned. It is best for society to restrict those activities, so with pornography. The dissemination of proper teaching about things sexual need not be eliminated simply because we do away with material that has a decidedly bent view on the purposes of sex. As for freedom of expression, we arrest people who walk around naked in public, who shout "fire" in public auditoriums, and who write private threats against the President's life. Expression has always been limited.

The sad thing is that an awareness week is needed, or that I would be defending those who seek to eliminate Porn. Those who deal in such material should be the ones on the defensive.

My vote won't matter

"My vote won't matter anyway." How many Texans will be saying that to themselves Tuesday, November 2, as they contemplate making the effort to get to the polls?

With the thousands and thousands of votes being cast, that may seem to be a persuasive argument against making the effort. But it couldn't be further from the truth.

A single vote in many cases has changed the course of history:

*Elizabeth II is Queen of England today because the British House of Commons voted some 250 years ago in favor of the House of Hanover, 96-95;

*one vote cost King Charles I of England his head in 1649;

*the U.S. Senate agreed in 1845 to annex Texas by a one-vote margin;

*in 1868 the U.S. Senate twice failed by a single vote to convict President Andrew Johnson in his impeachment trial.

While on the topic of British and American history, did you know that the United States might still be under British rule, but for one vote?

On September 28, 1774 the First Continental Congress in Philadelphia debated the "Galloway Plan." This plan would have made the American colonies into a British dominion ruled by a Parliament and a British governor.

Virginia's delegate, Patrick Henry, opposed the plan in an impassioned speech. The Galloway Plan was defeated by one vote.

After America became an independent nation, the power of a single vote continued as a major factor in electing its leaders.

HOW DO WE MAKE FARMING PROFITABLE AGAIN? A PERSONAL MESSAGE FROM RON SLOVER

I believe the basic problem in agriculture today is overproduction without a substantial market. We are simply growing more food and fiber than people want, or can afford. Yes, we could expand our exports more if nations like Japan would lower their trade barriers, but not enough to absorb the huge surpluses we grow each year. The Soviet Union is the only nation in the world which must import more than 5% of their grain needs.

There are two ways we can deal with the problem of overproduction. We can allow the present wave of bankruptcies to continue until enough family farms are destroyed to reduce production. Or, the congress can pass legislation requiring set-asides large enough to do the job.

I feel the seven years I was Farm Director for a television station gave me a good insight into the farm economy problem. We need to completely replace the 1981 Farm Bill with a new bill that follows the principles outlined below. Since Jack Hightower gave up his seat on the Agriculture Committee in 1979, he had no say in the writing of this bill. Had he stayed on that committee, he would today be the ranking member of the Livestock and Feedgrains subcommittee. I pledge to you that if

I am elected, I will fight for a seat on the Agriculture Committee in the new Congress.

1. LOAN RATES SHOULD BE SET NEAR THE ACTUAL COST OF PRODUCTION

Loan rates set market prices since buyers are generally unwilling to pay more than the government will for a crop. Realistic loan rates which reflect the high cost of production would help the farmer get a better price for his crop. Government spending for price supports and loans would be reduced if the farmer had an opportunity to sell his product for a reasonable price which included a margin for profit.

2. FAIR PLAY FOR THE FARMER

Government does few things well, but it's essential the farmer get some help from his government concerning exports. To expand marketing opportunities, it is necessary to remove restrictive trade barriers. If we are going to continue to import billions of dollars worth of electronics from Japan, for example, we must be able to export American beef to the Japanese public. We need assistance from the administration

WHEN YOUR RATES GO UP WE'RE THE FIRST TO KNOW

Because our rates go up first. When the people who generate electricity for the rural electric cooperative pay more for their generating fuels, when they install costly anti-pollution devices, when they do anything that affects the price of power, the costs are passed along to the cooperative and its member-owners. In a time of instability in the oil and gas market, such increases seem all too frequent. But the rural electric cooperative, through good times and bad, for more than 40 years, has provided power at its lowest possible price. It's a promise we make for the future as well.

From The Editor's Desk

by Wes Brown

I just finished writing the story about the organizational meeting of citizens and parents for better education in our schools. I have managed to get through much of the controversies thus far. But now it's time I made a few points.

I think such an organization is a good idea, provided they keep their intent not let things get out of hand.

It is a shame that it took a major incident like what has happened to get a people interested. I shudder to think what it would take to get citizens to our city, county and national government.

Going to rehash any past incidents that may have prompted such interest was done, was done. I once heard that trying to undo what has already happened is trying to unring a bell.

I would like to commend the Floydada School systems for standing up to recent controversies. Whether they were right or wrong does not matter. They did not shrink from opposition and run the other way.

I finally would like to comment on last Thursday's meeting itself. The evidence as I sat through the meeting. Several people came because they were curious.

The effect that the group was organizing to get jobs and demand that be taken on certain students. According to the statement of intent by the school board this was not true.

There were rampant that a mass walk-out at the Littlefield game or a picket by the school board. These were nothing more than vicious lies. Unfortunately, I do believe these lies rather than truth and fact because it is what they want to believe.

McCormick, who acted as moderator at the meeting, adjourned the meeting and wisely so. The situation was reaching a boiling point. After the meeting adjourned a number of people left immediately.

Several of those that left were people that tossed out most of the remarks concerning the organization.

The people that remained, visited with members of the school board, administrators and parents that were interested in getting this organization going.

I hope this group accomplishes what it has set out to do. I also hope the Floydada will continue to listen to facts and take an active interest in their own future.

SUE LOVELL

Lovell awarded scholarship

Sue Lovell, of Lovell-Collins Jewelry, recently won the Jewelers of America scholarship to be applied to the GIA diamond correspondence course.

Lovell said that GIA is one of the "most respected educational bodies in the United States. Each year they choose a jeweler for the scholarship." She will be able to grade diamonds and know the various qualities of diamonds when she completes the course.

The course is detailed and highly technical, according to Lovell, she should be able to finish the course in about 18 months.

She learned about the scholarship in a jeweler newsletter, so she decided to apply for it.

When she found out she was chosen she was "Thrilled, it's wonderful" to have won.

Letters to the Editor

There hasn't been a time in recent years that a display of "True Whirlwind Spirit" has been more important than in the next two weeks! A real "Winner" is one that will look eyeball to eyeball in the face of adversity and go on in spite of all odds.

It is unfortunate, due to a technicality in a player's eligibility, that the Whirlwinds' fate this year was settled by a district committee, rather than on the playing field. What has been done cannot be undone. It was a pure and simple, honest mistake (some of us make them, you know).

But, what can be done is this: Show our boys and their coaches that we, as fans, parents, and students, are behind them 100%! The real winners are not always identified by their number of victories. Rather, the pride and true heart of a team, the cheerleaders, band, student body, as well as the community, is best exemplified by their actions when they are on the short end as well as on the victorious end.

With this thought in mind, let us show our total support for our kids Friday night. When the "Winds come out of the dressing room, prior to the opening kickoff...let's form the biggest "Spirit Funnel" they've ever seen! Then, just see how that WHIRLWIND PRIDE will glisten!!

EDITORS NOTE: The following is an excerpt from a letter received by Floyd County Sheriff Fred Cardinal. He felt that in light of the recent controversy over the Caprock Hospital, this letter best exemplified the feelings of someone who has recently been in Caprock Hospital for treatment.

Dear Sheriff Cardinal:

May I take this opportunity to tell you how very efficient you were in this accident. I once upon a time was a nurse and I respected your actions. Also, that is one Cracker-Jack good hospital you have - well staffed and they all were so very considerate and kind to us. Thank you all.

Also, if my son, Wm. C. McKinley, is elected Sheriff on Nov. 2 here in Luna County - I hope he is as thoughtful and kind to strangers in an accident as one Fred Cardinal, Sheriff.

Sincerely,

Carolyn McKinley

Q: I have soft water at my home which I use to wash my car. However, my finish is beginning to look scratched.

A: The most common problem is not the water but the amount of water used to wash the car. Sand and dirt particles can get trapped in the sponge or mitt that is used and no amount of rinsing can get them completely out. Therefore, without proper water lubrication those dirt and sand particles are like washing the finish with sand paper.

KING MIDAS is horrified as he accidentally touches his daughter, Princess Dorothea and turns her into a gold statue in one of the suspenseful scenes from the National Children's Theatre production of the Greek fable, King Midas and The Golden Touch. This captivating play will be presented by Il Penseroso at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on Monday, November 1, in the Elementary Cafetorium.

Il Penseroso to present play

The Il Penseroso Jr. Study Club will present the famous story, "King Midas and the Golden Touch" at 9:30 a.m. and 1:30 p.m. on November 1 in the Elementary Cafetorium in Lockney.

Dramatized by Marian DePew Osterlander, "King Midas" featured a cast of professional adult actors of the original touring company of the National Children's Theatre Association of Dallas and New York. The play will be performed with beautifully painted scenery and with authentic colorful costumes and music.

Once upon a time, there lived a very rich King whose name was Midas. There were two things he loved more than anything else — GOLD and one little maiden who played so merrily around her father's footstool. But the more Midas loved his little Dorothea, the more was his desire for wealth and gifts to lavish upon her.

Thus, he gave all his thoughts and all his time to this one purpose. As he acquired more and more gold, he spent more time counting it and wishing it were easier to obtain. During one of these times, a "stranger" appeared and promised to give the King his wish — The Golden Touch — so that everything he touched would turn to gold. The next day when he awoke, everything turned out just as the "stranger" had predicted. Each time he touched something — curtains, chairs, clothes, flowers, food, even people — all became solid gold. The final blow came when Dorothea ran into his arms before he could stop her and...she turned to gold also. By this time, poor Midas was a miserable man and heartbroken, although everything about him was pure gold.

Suddenly, the "stranger" appeared again and Midas begged him to take back the golden touch. The "stranger" took back the power he had given Midas only after he promised to return everything back to its original condition. The King promised he would never love gold more than his fellow men. All were happy and more considerate of each other following such an experience.

Tickets will be on sale at the door on the day of the performance for 75 cents or may be purchased in advance by contacting any of the members of the club.

Be on the "lookout" for Miniature Monsters

On Sunday, October 31, miniature monsters will invade the neighborhoods and the cry, "trick or treat," can be heard throughout the land.

Major C.W. Bell, Region 5 commander for the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today, "Motorists and parents need to take precautions to protect children and prevent disasters this Halloween."

He suggests that small children be accompanied by older children or adults and tricks or treating be confined to their own neighborhoods.

Major Bell also stated, "Costumes should be light in color, short enough to prevent tripping and also be non-flammable. Facial makeup should be used instead of masks or hoods that restrict vision." Parents should not permit youngsters to carry jack-o-lanterns with lighted candles.

Children should be told to look in all directions before crossing streets and to walk, never run. A flashlight carried by the child can serve as a warning to motorists, and children should be instructed to use sidewalks when possible. Motorists should use extra caution in residential areas and look for children crossing streets in a haphazard manner. Parents should remind older children not to vandalize residences, businesses or vehicles. Drivers should take caution on this night and not permit passengers to throw objects such as water balloons, paper, etc. from the vehicle.

Major Bell reminds Texans that there were 752 pedestrians killed and 6,300 pedestrians injured in Texas during 1981. A pedestrian's chance of getting killed or injured are increased by 800 per cent at night. There were 83 youngsters under the age of 11 years killed as pedestrians last year. There were seven pedestrians killed on October 31, 1981. Major Bell stated, "If parents and motorists join together and think of children's safety, Halloween 1982 can be a safe and enjoyable evening for everyone."

Morehead's book released Oct. 1st

Editor's note: Mr. Morehead is the son of Mrs. E.J. Moorehead and his brother of Dorothy Hotchkiss of Floydada.

Richard Morehead's Fifty Years in Texas Politics, by the dean of Texas's political writers, will be must reading for all interested in politics and modern history.

The book published by Eakin Press will be released October 1.

Fifty Years in Texas Politics begins with the inauguration of Franklin D. Roosevelt as President and Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson as Governor in 1933 and covers the political history that followed into the administrations of Ronald Reagan as President and William P. Clements as Governor in 1982.

Morehead has known every President and been well-acquainted with each Governor during the period. When the writer returned as chief of The Dallas Morning News Austin Bureau at the end of 1978, every living governor except one who was out of the state attended the reception and praised Morehead's contribution to the living history of his time.

"You always asked the right questions. You asked them the right way, and you wrote the answers you got and the analysis of those answers with understanding, with professionalism, with objectivity and as much compassion as you could afford to those less knowledgeable than you," said former Governor John Connally.

"All of us that pass this way in an official or unofficial capacity will miss your talents your words, and your wisdom."

Now this respected journalist has compiled this background into a book, and added in typical Morehead fashion a look ahead for the remainder of this century based on the report of the Texas 2000 Commission.

Fifty Years in Texas Politics is straightforward reporting, plus numerous anecdotes from Morehead's experiences with politics, politicians and lobbyists.

The author strongly believes the nation's representative system will work well if the public can be made to understand the problems and alternatives.

Morehead tells what he thinks is right and wrong with government.

Most of the illustrations for the book come from Dallas News and library files, and bring back such memories as W. Lee O'Daniel's inauguration in the University of Texas stadium in 1939, President Johnson's rise to the presidency and his heavy imprint on both state and national politics, as well as fifty years of philosophical conflict from FDR's New Deal, through LBJ's Great Society, into Reaganomics.

Earlier in 1982, Eakin Press published Richard Morehead's Texas, a different style book which shows the author's versatility. It compiles true Texas tales written by Morehead, mostly first published in The Dallas Morning News, about armadillos, wild turkeys, writers, lawmakers, and other diverse and interesting creatures.

Richard Morehead and his wife, Judith, earlier wrote the Texas Wild Game Cook Book which is considered authoritative in its field. Morehead came from Plainview, in northwest Texas, studied at Wayland College, the Universities of Missouri and Texas, and worked for United Press International in Texas before joining the Dallas Morning News Austin Bureau in 1942.

His wide ranging expertise, long recognized by Dallas News readers, includes the civil rights struggle, energy, and the judiciary, the latter resulting partly from thirty-one years' membership on the Texas Judicial Council. All of these subjects are treated in Fifty Years In Texas Politics.

A DETAILED HOME INVENTORY COULD SAVE THOUSANDS OF DOLLARS

Most people cannot remember all of their home's contents following a major fire. The result is a potential loss that could amount to thousands of dollars.

The full amount of the 'contents' insurance you carry as part of your homeowner's or tenants policy is not automatically paid. You, the homeowner or tenant, must provide a detailed list of all items stolen or destroyed.

To prove to yourself how important a list can be, just take 10 minutes for a simple exercise. Sit down and itemize from memory everything in one room. Then compare your list against what's actually there. Most people find they've forgotten several things.

I suggest systematically going through every room listing each piece of furniture and clothing. In addition to the name of each item, you should also indicate, as accurately as possible, the date of purchase and the price. Then don't forget to keep your home inventory current by adding all new purchases and gifts.

An excellent method of describing the items listed in the inventory is to take color photos of everything, including inside closets, drawers, etc.

You should NOT keep the inventory list and photographs in your home. They will simply be destroyed along with everything else in the event of a fire, or possibly stolen if burglarized. Make a copy of the inventory for your use, but keep the originals in your safe deposit box.

Many insurance agents and companies have inventory forms you can request to help you organize your list.

After you have completed your inventory, discuss it with your agent to make sure you have adequate coverage. Also, make sure your jewelry is covered and will be covered on your home owner's policy. The few hundred dollars your inventory costs will save you thousands of dollars, and will save you the aggravation of a fire or theft.

Michael Hooks, associate archivist of the Southwest Collection at Texas Tech University, presented a slide show and lecture on the Southwest Collection.

mostly West Texas although it is beginning to include parts of eastern New Mexico as the program broadens. The Collection includes over 15 million leaves of manuscripts, 500,000 feet of microfilm and 3,000 taped individual interviews. Hooks said that the Collection has an active microfilm program because of the lack of space in the present facilities. Several documents from past U.S. Congressman George Mahon and various items from past Texas governor Preston Smith. Items from Floyd County include 35-40 taped interviews, 10-12 maps, five books, theses, and dissertations and a number of photos. The Collection has microfilm copies of documents from A. Duncan, J.M. Willson, Sr., Floydada Chamber of Commerce (from 1909-1962), The Floyd County Hesperian (from 1937-1965) and The Lockney Beacon (from 1908-1976). The Collection also has briefs and maps from Floydada seeking the location of Texas Technological College, now Texas Tech University. Hook said that the Southwest Collection is not a museum. Museums collect artifacts. The Collection gathers documents.

Letter to the Editor

Editor, On November 2 Texas voters are going to have a clear choice for the U.S. Senate between a man who has worked hard and effectively for Texas farmers in Washington and one who has been both ineffective and unconcerned about agriculture during his 14 years in Congress.

U.S. Senator Lloyd Bentsen needs and has earned our support. More importantly, we need him, because agriculture is the heart of our economy.

Lloyd Bentsen fights for Texas. He was one of the only four Senators who crossed party lines and consistently voted to end the Russian embargo in spite of opposition from both President Carter and President Reagan. He saved Texas farmers millions of dollars by fighting attempts to increase the loan discounts on our cotton. He has supported vital programs like agricultural research and rural electrification. His opponent has consistently voted against funding for agricultural research and was the only Texas Congressman to vote against restoring the REA program when President Nixon killed it in 1972.

Senator Bentsen has been a leader in the effort to cut wasteful spending, to reduce budget deficits and to lower interest rates. Agriculture is going through some tough times right now, and we need Lloyd Bentsen in the U.S. Senate.

Coach's Comments

By Coach I.G. Wilson
I can't remember when I've seen a better effort out of a group of boys—especially the first half. Post just wore our boys down by the end of the third quarter and it began to tell in our execution offensively and aggressively on defense.

I continue to be more than pleased with the progress our offensive linemen have made this year. They and Coach Parr have worked long and hard and progressed to the point where they are now, a plus unit instead of a minus. Those boys are Felix Soliz, Fernando Arvizu, Walker Brooks, Jesse Cedillo and Pat Lloyd.

We need to improve our overall defensive play, especially our front four in order to win these next two games. There will be a battle as every team has a slight chance of finishing tied for second behind Post. To do this the following would have to happen:

This week's game — Floydada would have to beat Idalou; Childress would have to beat Slaton; and Post would have to beat Lockney.

Next week's games — Floydada would have to beat Slaton; Lockney would have to beat Childress and Post would have to beat Idalou. Then we would have a 25 percent chance in the draw to represent the district.

Fumble costs Whirlwinds victory

Fumbles were the costly item for the Whirlwinds Friday night. Two of our fumbles were turned into touchdowns by Post and two other good drives were stopped via the lost ball.

Mark Hatley opened the scoring with a 12 yard run to put the Winds up by 7. Post countered with their own 62 yard drive capped by a 7 yard run by Milton Williams.

Floydada came back with a 60 yard drive but was stopped cold inside the 10 yard line. Donnell Weeks kicked his first of two field goals from the 22 yard line.

Post came right back with a 90 yard drive that put Post ahead for good.

With 1:41 left in the first half Weeks kicked a 25 yard field goal to give a half time score of 14-13 in favor of Post.

The second half was all Post as fumbles and mistakes caused by exhaustion turned into the 27 points scored. The Whirlwinds fought hard throughout the ball game.

Mike Salazar received a hip pointer early in the game and Bruce Williams was suffering from a sore back. This week the Winds take on Idalou.

Plow pans discovered on High Plains

An unusually high incidence of plow pans is being discovered on the High Plains. It is apparently more widespread than expected, and the pans are robbing farmers of valuable opportunities to store moisture. Plow pans are contributing to excessive runoff and soil erosion, extra irrigations and possibly even lower yields.

"It's not obvious, but it's there, a sneak-thief," says Mike Risinger, Soil Conservation Service soil scientist. "The top of the field will usually look pretty soft, fluffy, no weeds, and the trash plowed under. But hard packed just below the surface, about three to six inches down, is the top of a hardpan layer two to four inches thick that defies penetration by water, plant roots, and in some cases even the shovel."

Mike and Shorty Lancaster, High Plains Underground Water District field technician, have found hardpans all too often this year as they randomly cut the dirt across 15 counties to bury tubes and establish neutron moisture monitoring sites for the SCS/HPUCD cooperative annual soil moisture survey and moisture deficit mapping program. They expected to find some pretty wet soil profiles after the long, strong spring rains of March through June. Instead they found plow or tillage pans. The data they collected showed that 60 to 80 percent of the heavy rainfall received between March and July was lost to runoff. This was partially due to plowpans which severely decreased infiltration.

Comparing soil moisture measurements at 39 sites installed in March and remeasured in July, Mike and Shorty found only five had picked up more than two and a half inches of moisture. The rest showed less than one and a half inches of new moisture. The increase was surprisingly low after the eight to twenty inches of rain received during the monitoring period this spring. Twenty-three of the 39 sites had serious hardpans. The pans were so compact in some of the plots that it was difficult to dig holes to bury the tubes.

The problem is not isolated. SCS soil experts in Lubbock and Amarillo think it is much worse than expected. Fred Pringle, SCS soil scientist in Amarillo believes the plow pans are widespread. He says, "they exist to some degree over 25 to 30 percent of most fields at some time during the year; but in some fields they are present all the time, especially under disc-type operations."

Hardpans or plowpans are caused by compaction. It destroys the natural soil structure and closes off the small pores and channels which normally carry soil water. The most frequent cause is tire traffic from cultivation equipment or by the downward pressure from the cutting edge of a plow or disc. Tillage pans and plowsoles have developed on many of the fine sandy loams and silt loam soils in our area as the result of management systems that destroy the organic matter in the soil. Running tillage equipment over wet ground also causes severe compaction. Tandem and one-way disc plowed fields are most susceptible to pans because these operations only plow up the top six inches of the soil. A deep chiseling operation will break up the pan and allow water to enter at a much faster rate.

Fred Pringle has measured infiltration rates and found some of the lowest moisture intake on Acuff soils growing continuous cotton. Another study of infiltration rates on Acuff soil in cotton at Big Spring's Agricultural Experiment Station found that where traffic was confined and maintained to the same rows for three years, the result was a three-fold increase in infiltration rates in the untrafficked rows. An average measure of infiltration rates in four High Plains soils with and without hardpans (including Estacado, Olton, and Pullman clay loams and Acuff loam) showed dramatic decreases in water intake as a result of compaction. Soils with a pan took in one-fourth as much water in 12 hours. At that rate in a 12 hour set, an irrigator could only apply one inch of water instead of four inches in a soil profile without a hardpan. In a tailwater irrigation operation, hardpans increase runoff and erosion and require three or four times more pumping to get the same amount of water into the ground.

"This was a particularly bad year for pans," says Mike Risinger. "We had unusually heavy rains, wet fields, and lots of trips to fight sand. But we are not suggesting everyone go out and deep chisel. The first thing they need to do is to go dig some holes and find out how bad a problem they have. It may not be cost effective or even necessary for an operator to chisel an entire field. Possibly only the traffic rows need to be chiseled."

Mike suggests pushing a thin metal rod or electric fence post at least 18 inches into the soil at random sites over the field. If the rod cannot penetrate this deep, either conditions are extremely dry or a hardpan exists. Where more than half of the rows in a field are affected, the problem is severe.

A deep chisel operation may only be necessary once every few years over most of the field. It may be needed more often in rows traveled by equipment. But a deep chisel operation can pay for itself in increased stored moisture which reduces runoff and erosion and has the potential to increase yields and profits.

Status of the boll weevil in Crosby and Floyd

BY DALE W. SPURGEON
Extension Agent, Entomology

On September 9, I attended a meeting of the Boll Weevil Technical Advisory Committee in Lubbock. Discussed at this meeting were, among other things, the current status of the boll weevil and boll weevil programs on the High Plains of Texas. Using the information I acquired at this meeting, and from personal communication with Mr. Ed Dean, Director of Field Service, Plains Cotton Growers Inc., I will attempt to inform you of the current situation.

In the past, the boll weevil has attempted on several occasions to establish itself on top of the Caprock. To this point it has not been particularly successful, due to adverse weather conditions, and human efforts to prevent its establishment. A few years ago, I understand, many growers were quite concerned about the boll weevil moving up the cap. Concern seems to have lessened now, possibly due to the relatively low trap catches and low number of weevil infested fields recorded in 1979, '80, and '81. Let us not fall in to a false sense of security, the weevil is still out there, as demonstrated by the 1982 boll weevil survey work.

This year (1982), trap catches and field infestations were at a level comparable to those of our heavier boll weevil years, 1976-8. This resurgence may be due to several factors, some of which we do not fully understand. One factor which does appear to play a prominent role is the pattern of emergence of the overwintering weevils.

The Uniform Delayed Planting Date is a very useful tool for limiting to one degree or another the number of overwintering boll weevils which survive after spring emergence. By planting after a designated date, the grower can deny many overwintering weevils a suitable food source, thus many of the weevils will starve to death. Although I feel safe in saying that strict adherence to the uniform delayed planting date is beneficial in all cases, this tool alone may not be adequate to keep weevil numbers in check. The growing season of 1982 was such an instance.

Scientific data indicates that the first weevils to go into hibernation are the first to emerge in spring. Likewise, the last weevils to hibernate are the last to emerge.

Evidently, last fall a good number of weevils went into hibernation late, and thus emerged late in the spring. Emergence may have been further delayed by the late cold spring we experienced. This allowed a higher rate of survival of overwintered weevils, despite the uniform delayed planting date, than was desirable. Data indi-

Strike Is Over—The 4-month-old strike of the Waco General Tire plant by the United Rubber workers is over. The plant, where most Farm Bureau Safemark tires are built, is now back in operation. Safemark dealers will be supplied with tires on hand until the inventory from General Tire returns to normal.

Armed with a growth implant gun and admittedly flimsy evidence, Diane Broughton, editor of the activist magazine, Thumper, appeared on the nationally syndicated Richard Simmons show. Green Thumb program survives budget battle

For almost 1,000 older workers in the Texas Farmer's Union Green Thumb program, the "battle of the budget" came to a happy conclusion with the recent Congressional override of the President's veto of a supplemental appropriations bill.

The bill provides money for a variety of programs and agencies ranging from the defense department to NASA to Title V of the Older Americans Act, which funds TFU Green Thumb and other senior employment programs, according to Green Thumb Assistant State Director, John Willingham.

Speaking to 54 Green Thumb workers at a training session in Ralls on October 20, 1982, Willingham said the Congressional override "was decisive" in saving the jobs of more than 54,000 Title V workers nationwide. The workers are all 55 and over, low income, and provide services for libraries, schools, senior centers, museums and other public service agencies.

"Without the override, the only hope would have been yet another appropriations bill," he said, "and there were no real guarantees that another one would have been passed and signed in time to keep the program going." The new bill funds the program through June 30, 1983.

Green Thumbs had already received letters informing them that their last day on the job was to be September 24. Willingham said the letters had to be sent out because "there was no assurance that both houses would override the veto. What we've seen as a minor miracle." The override vote in the Senate was 60 to 30, exactly the two-thirds majority necessary.

"One more vote against the appropriations bill and the dismal news in your letters would have been all too true," he said. "And I'm afraid we all know that there aren't enough jobs out there in the private sector for 54,000 older workers."

Green Thumbs from Floyd County attending the training session at Ralls were Allen Rendon, Andres Solis, Marcelo Lara, Georgia Finley, June Van Cleve, Mabel Foster, Ethel Cross, Katherine Edwards, Petronilo Ortiz, Santiago Vrrutia.

Difficult times demand wise decisions... and strong decision-makers like Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby.

Texans are facing some difficult times. Now, more than ever, we need experienced, compassionate leaders in our state government.

EDUCATION.
 HOBBY will not be satisfied until our education system is the best in the nation. His efforts to improve the quality of public education for your children and grandchildren begin in the classroom. He is for improving teacher salaries and benefits. He is for giving more control to local school districts.

We need a leader like Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby who has our interests at heart. Here's how Hobby stands on the issues concerning Texans:

JOBS.
 HOBBY is working to create more and better jobs for Texans. He is making sure jobless Texans receive their full unemployment benefits. He is working to increase the efficiency to the Texas Employment Commission. He is stimulating economic growth and new jobs through responsible state spending and one of the lowest tax rates in the nation.

CRIME.
 HOBBY is for strong laws and certainty of punishment of criminals, backed by better training and pay for our police officers. He is supporting our courts to speed up trials of accused criminals. He is for improving our prison system and parole system.

Re-elect Bill Hobby

did you know?

The fuel cost adjustment pass-through is fair to our customers. Costs of coal, natural gas, and fuel oil Southwestern Public Service buys to generate electricity change frequently. Sometimes fuel costs go up, and — we're glad to report — sometimes they go down. As set forth by regulatory authorities, the fuel cost adjustment pass-through requires SPS to reflect those changing costs in each customer's monthly bill. The fuel cost adjustment is designed so that each customer is charged only for the fuel that was required to generate the amount of electricity he actually used. There is no profit for SPS figured in the fuel cost adjustment. The customer pays only the current price for that fuel.

SPS works hard to keep down the cost of fuel. Some people say that because fuel costs are charged directly to the customer, SPS has no incentive to keep fuel costs down. That's just not true. We have a commitment to keep electric bills as low as we can. Our customers are our partners, and we want to help them save money. Too, we always remember that electricity competes with other energy forms for the customer's dollar. So it's simply good business to keep the total cost of electric service as low as possible.

Coal-fired generating plants help you and SPS hold down fuel costs. SPS now has two coal-fired generating plants. The newest, Tolk Station near Muleshoe, Texas, has just come on line. Fuel costs at coal-fired plants are significantly lower than fuel costs at the older, natural gas-fired plants. On the average, in fiscal 1982, the fuel cost of a kilowatt-hour generated by natural gas was 3.178 cents. The fuel cost of a kilowatt-hour generated by coal was 1.803 cents. So maximizing use of Tolk and our other coal-fired plant, Harrington Station near Amarillo, will help us, as your partners, hold down fuel costs.

For answers to your questions, call or write your SPS manager.
 You and SPS, partners managing electricity, make the difference.
