Final plans are being made for Homecoming 84 to be October 12 and 13, 1984. Invitations have been mailed out to 3,000 graduates and ex-students of Floydada High School. Invitations were not sent to residents of Floyd County because of local advertisement.

but that doesn't mean you are not cordially invited. The people who come from far away are sometimes disappointed if we "home folk" don't make an effort to show up. Unfortunately, even with the best of help and intentions, sometimes names are left off list or addresses are incorrect. If you know of someone who might be interested in coming to the homecoming activities, please let them know the whens and wheres. Festivities will begin at 3:15 p.m. on Friday with a pep-rally and crowning of a homecoming queen at the gymnasium of FHS and will end with a breakfast at Kings restaurant on Saturday night at 11:30 p.m. with lots and lots of fun and visiting in between. Watch the paper for a complete listing of activities.

If the national political writers and T.V. commentators are right, the Republicans are having difficulty in getting a handle on the Ferraro situation. They can't quite figure out just how to handle a campaign in which the opposing Number One candidate hides behind the skirts of the opposing Number Two candidate.

From where I sit, Republicans are not the only ones having trouble. The national political press, if we are to include television in the press category, seems to be having even more trouble than people running Mr. Reagan's campaign.

In a way, the national press is in a terrible predicament. When Geraldine burst upon the scene she inherited a ready-made halo, just waiting for an angel to wear. The press made her an instant heroine. Excitement followed her everywhere, particularly for people grown tired of the leaderless image of Walter Mondale.

Then came the financial problems. Her celebrated press conference, in which she sought to explain her peculiar attitude toward campaign finances, and her reasons for claiming an "exemption" from the laws Congress had enacted to avoid conflicts of interest, left almost as many questions unanswered as answered. In as strange a press conference as this writer has ever witnessed on television, the assembled throng of reporters booed the one reporter who insisted on asking probing questions, and ended by applauding Geraldine. Dan Rather et al., fell over themselves in pronouncing an end to the matter. Clearly they wished the whole thing to go away, for reasons the reader will have to judge.

It is all a very strange situation. Those who are running Mr. Reagan's campaign clearly don't want to touch the matter. They are no doubt hoping "the press" will pursue the story. But the national press, primarily liberal in its politics, sees no joy in pursuing a story that might rebound to Mr. Reagan's benefit.

I doubt the story will completely fade from the scene. Enough has already surfaced to cast doubt on her repeated statements that she knew nothing of her husband's dealings; that she did not benefit from them and does not benefit from them. That claim, of course, was the basis of her contention that she was exempt from the laws requiring full

Garcia is the new officer in charge

The officer in charge at the Floydada post office will be Ruben Garcia for two to six months. Garcia will be filling the vacancy left by Ed Wester when he retired last week. Garcia will be in Floydada until a new Postmaster is appointed.

"I am looking forward to being here and learning more about the overall post office operation. We have an excellent crew, and I think they can teach me a lot," said Garcia.

Garcia has been regularly assigned as the supervisor of mails at the downtown Lubbock Post Office. There his duties entail overseeing the daily work of thirty-seven carriers, two rural carriers and two truck routes. Garcia said, "The post office is working very hard to provide the best service for the lowest prices. We have to try to stay current on the necessary technology to do this, and we have to do a better job than our competition can."

Raised in the Abernathy community, Garcia is very much at home in a small farming town. He is also familiar with Floydada as he conducted a route check and inspection of the local post office in 1981.

Garcia and his wife, Mary Ann, have three children. The eldest, Ruben John, is a student at Texas Tech. Their two daughters, Sandy and Tricia, are high school students in Abernathy. He serves in the 413th Civil Affairs Company of the reserves as a first sergeant.

Garcia expressed his wish to be of service to the people of Floydada in any capacity he was capable. "If there is anyway I can help with any mailing problem, I'll sure be glad to do it."

Local School board amends budget at meeting

The Floydada Independent School District School Board met in a called session at 1 p.m. on August 30th. Alyne Evans presented the amended budget for the 1983-84 school year which shows the actual expenditures made by the district last year. The amended budget was approved and will be forwarded to Austin as required by law.

The board agreed to advertise for bids on the lowering of ceilings and installation of new light fixtures at the Junior High and R.C. Andrews Elementary. "This renovation should lower heating costs and enhance the appearance of the classrooms," pointed out Jerry Cannon, school superintendent.

Cannon reported that as of this date, enrollment in the district is down about forty students. The junior and senior classes are the smallest in many years.

A breakdown of the various classes is not yet available.

Submitted for final approval was the final draft of the student handbook. The only changes in the handbook required to comply with House Bill 72 were regarding absences and extra curricular activities. The handbook was approved unanimously after a general discussion.

Information was provided concerning the school board convention to be held in San Antonio September 29th through October 1st. Several members of the board are hopeful their schedules will allow them to attend.

Cannon reported that the gym floor at the junior high is in need of sanding and refinishing. The board members were asked to take a look at it and consider a course of action. He also reported that the Whirlwind bus, which had broken down in Dickens, had been towed to Plainview for a cost estimate to repair; none was available at meeting date.

Board members present were Weldon Pruitt, Fred Zimmerman III, Harvey Allen, Bill Orman, and Freddie Morren.

Sitting in on the meeting was Hulon Carthel, who will be sworn in on September 11, to fill the vacancy left by Bud Rainey who resigned when he moved.

Appraisal board votes to purchase new terminal

Floyd County Central Appraisal District Board of Directors met in regular session on Wednesday, September 5. In attendance were Chief Appraiser Sheila Faulkenberry, Chairman Tom Duvall, Secretary Adrian Helms, and members Jack Lackey, Fred Zimmerman III, and Eddie Teeter.

Mrs. Faulkenberry recommended that the purchase of a larger printer for the computer not be made. She stated "I think that after the installation and programming of our computer is complete and fully checked out, we will be able to manage with our present printer." A unanimous vote supported her recommendation and the printer will not be purchased.

Falkenberg requested authorization to purchase a third display terminal for the district. This acquisition would allow two people to work with the computer as well as leave one terminal free at all times to process payments and collections. The cost would be $1285. The board voted unanimously to authorize the purchase.

The personnel policy manual was presented and will be reviewed by the board. Zimmerman made a motion to have the document examined by a qualified attorney to avoid future legal complications. Helms seconded the motion, and it was passed by acclamation. This week financial disclosure. It matters little, to this writer at least, that she now comes forth with disclosure. The facts are that for years she improperly claimed the exemption, while serving as a member of the Congress that enacted the laws in the first place. It indicates an attitude that would and should be roundly condemned in others.

Everyone knows it is ungentlemanly to point out deficiencies in a lady, even if there is one. We were taught from childhood, or at least we were in my childhood, to put women on a pedestal and protect them with our honor, and indeed our life if necessary. There are many others, of my generation at least, who were taught the same thing. We were taught that women were the civilizing influence in society, keeping the aggressive tendencies of men in check. It was the woman, "in olden times" who had the task of instructing the young in such things as love, kindness, continuity, decency. That's the way it worked, and it worked well for everyone concerned, and for society.

Then along came the brutal and foul-mouthed Bella Abzug and her sisters in the feminist movement. To the surprise of many, both men and women, many other men and women rallied around, shouting "right on sister." The leadership of the feminist movement in those days was made up of women who were obviously mad at God because He did not make them man. As the movement developed, it was apparent that they were mad at God because He made man at all.

We've all had to adjust. I remember when the feminist movement was getting under way. I had a conversation with one of the ladies involved and relayed some of my thoughts as outlined above. Her response was "Did you ever stop to consider that maybe we don't want to be placed on that pedestal?"

To tell the truth, it had never occurred to me. I had always thought they would enjoy the position, that indeed they probably invented the system.

Perhaps things are a little more realistic now. Bella and her sister activists have proven, for instance, that not all women deserve to be looked up to. Perhaps they don't all deserve a place on that pedestal. But as far as I am concerned, old values die hard, and I believe most women still are deserving of that special place in our scheme of things.

That makes it doubly difficult to be even reasonably objective when dealing with the Ferraro-Zaccaro situation. How does one who believes in the inherent goodness of all women handle a situation in which Ms. Ferraro says she could hardly wait to "climb into the ring, put on the gloves, and mix it up with the guys"? Yet, when the occasion demands, as it did in her famous press conference, she can suddenly become demure, and helpless, and essentially throw herself on the mercy of the court.

I am certainly not of the opinion that no woman is qualified to be vice-president, or president, of the United States. Indeed, I believe there are many women in this country who would make us a better president than the men who are likely to be chosen in the future, and some who have been chosen for that position in the past. Some years ago I was what we might call a leader in the move to obtain the vice presidency for Anne Armstrong, the Texas ranch woman who served as Ambassador to Great Britain, and whom Reagan has named to the important Intelligence Advisory Board. Gerald Ford came very close to naming her his choice for vice-president, but inside polls at that time indicated a woman on the ticket would not be helpful. (Strangely enough, most of the negative votes on the survey came from women.) Ford picked Dole instead, and he helped even less, in the end. I still think Anne Armstrong would have been a good choice. She has all the attributes a president ought to have: courage, honesty, intelligence and vision. But the feminist movement would never have gone for someone like her. They prefer, obviously, the Ms. type. And Anne was no Ms. She was, in the final analysis, Mrs. Tobin Armstrong, and she made no apologies for it.

When all else is said and done, the first order of business will be to choose between Ronald Reagan and Walter Mondale. The next will be to look carefully at George Bush and Geraldine Zaccaro-Ferraro and decide which of the two would make us the better President in case worse comes to worse. I know it is not nice to say, but the truth of the matter is that not all potential assassins are locked up.

Gray named FNB artist

The First National Bank of Floydada is pleased to announce that Bill Gray, Leather Artist, has been selected as the "Artist of the Month" for September. Two years ago, Gray's works were selected for the bank's monthly showcase of area artistic talents. Since then, he has exhibited at numerous arts and crafts shows, winning awards from the Lubbock Art Association, Crosbyton Festival, Floyd County Fair, and had one of his works selected as an "Idea Sheet" for The Leather Factory, Chattanooga, Tennessee. He is a member of the Lubbock Art Association as well as a Charter Member of Floyd County Arts Association.

Gray explains, "Embossed and tooled leather articles go back into antiquity. The ancient Egyptians and Aztecs, the artisans of Rome, the bookbinders of the Middle Ages, our own American Indians, and the saddlemakers of today, all have marveled at the wonders of this ages-old art medium. Following World War II, interest in hand-tooled leather goods moved into the main stream of hobby and craft interests. 'Leather Pictorials' are a relatively new art form, progressing from an occasional horse head or snake on a tooled wallet to full-color landscape and animal scenes and other varied subjects. Although western-themed subjects are very appropriately depicted in leather art, contemporary and modern art can be produced on leather."

According to Gray, "Leather Art is a medium rarely used because so much time is required to produce the work."

(One of his works on display, "The Many Faces of Duke," required over 250 hours to complete.) He goes on to say, "First and foremost, the artist must have a thorough knowledge of carving and stamping the basic pattern onto the leather, with heavy emphasis on bringing out the third dimensional effect. Coloring and painting procedures are not unlike other art forms such as oils, pastels, acrylics, etc. However, special techniques of coloring have to be utilized on leather. It is important that a certain amount of natural leather shows through the colors, thus enhancing the highlights and dimension."

The exhibit will be displayed until October 1, and may be viewed during regular banking hours.

Tilson, Breed operate sale cafe

The Floydada Livestock Cafe is located at the Floydada Livestock Sales. Owned by Ouida McCandless, and leased by Sherry Tilson and Debbie Breed, the cafe reopened on July 11. Business hours are arranged to coincide with the times the livestock sales are being held. The cafe opens at 8:00 a.m. on the day of a sale and closes when the sale is over. Sale days are Wednesday. The cafe is open on Tuesday for the public and buyers.

The two ladies decided that a limited business like the cafe was just the thing for their busy schedules. Both wanted to work outside their home, but did not want to be restricted by full time work. "We felt that it was more important to have time to spend with our families," the two women agreed. With this arrangement, they remain free to attend to family obligations.

Sherry and Debbie feature a varied menu, ranging from sandwiches and other quick items to a plate lunch and chicken fried steak. Home cooking, moderate prices, and fast friendly service make the cafe a pleasant place to eat.

"I like being in business in Floydada very much," said Sherry. "Ouida McCandless has been really nice and cooperative. She has gone out of her way to help us get started."

Debbie Breed is married to Joe Mack Breed, a local cattle buyer. They have two children, Branda, who is eleven, and Jodee, nine. The family is active in area rodeos. Branda was Rodeo Princess at this year's Floydada Rodeo.

Sherry and her husband, Joe Mack Tilson, have three children. Jason is seven, Charley is four, and John Cody is eight months old. Joe Mack works for Floydada Livestock Sales and is president of the Rodeo Association of Floydada. The Tilsons attend the Methodist Church, where both teach a Sunday school class.

Debbie and Sherry invite everyone to drop in when they are in the area. They are always happy to see friends and welcome new customers.

SHERRY TILSON and Debbie Breed offer customers a pleasant meal at the Floydada Livestock Sales.

LAKEVIEW NEWS

By Joyce Williams
Thursday, Sept. 6, 1984:

Judge Choise Smith was honored with a birthday dinner Monday, at the Lubbock home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Flukie Smith. Other guests present included Mrs. Kaydean Smith and their children, Miss Jody of Texas Tech, and sons, Dean and Hunter.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pyle were in Thalia this past week-end to visit Louis' high school friend, Beverly Grey, who is seriously ill.

Guests in the Odell Breed home last week-end included their daughter, Shirley, her husband, Jerry Towler, and son, Brodie, of Lubbock.

Mrs. Fred Lloyd and Wanda May of Lubbock fished at White River Thursday. It was so hot the fish weren't biting.

Hot days and cold nights such as we are now experiencing will soon begin to turn the green leaves to gold, red, and brown.

Cotton blossoms are pinking up the fields. Bee men have their bee hives stacked near fields for making cotton blossom honey. Mesquite honey, with its stronger flavor and darker color, has already been gathered. Mesquite beans carpet the ground beneath trees for cattle and wild animals to munch.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Harrison and daughters, Tracy and Debby, at lunch on Labor Day with his parents, Ruth and Don Harrison. Debby is nursing at St. Mary's in Lubbock. Tracy will start classes at San Angelo State University this week.

Newlyweds, Pat and Steve Alldredge of Lubbock, were here Friday visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldredge.

Mrs. Nell Norvell of Hereford and her three grandchildren, Brett, and twin Brandi, also Shay Norell, visited Mr.

and Mrs. Bill Norris Sunday while Luther Norvell attended the Center-Fairview Communities reunion at the Massie Activity Center.

Mrs. P.L. Hart was honored with a surprise birthday dinner last week. Her daughter-in-law, Mrs. David Hart, prepared a full dinner and brought in to the honorees home. She was accompanied by David, and their children, Salinda, age 12; Sara Jane, 9, Sandy, 4, and son, Paul, one year old. Other guests included Vige Hart and Mabel Price.

Guests in the P.L. Hart home last week for the funeral of Mrs. Opal Hart included Mrs. Edith Hart of Amarillo. She was accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Tommy Creel and daughter, Dedie Creel, also of Amarillo. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hart and two daughters of Lubbock also visited the Faye Hartis.

Mr. and Mrs. Larry Seitz and daughter, Angela, of Oklahoma City, visited the Q.D. Williams Sunday and Monday. The Williams were surprised by a phone call late Friday evening by a lady who identified herself as Sandra, who had lived with them as a foster child along with her sister, Barbara, nearly thirty years ago, when she was in the third grade at Crosbyton. The girls had been adopted and had never made contact with the Williams all those years. But Sandra said she had never forgotten her life on the ranch, her friends at Brownie Scouts, her birthday party, the wild turkeys, horseback riding, hiking through the canyon and many other memories she had re-lived in her mind over the decades. The Seitz family attended services at the Crosbyton Church of Christ before driving out to Lakeview, where Smoky Quilantan went with them to the edge of the canyon to show them the way. She told of the years she had traveled over the world as a child of an Air Force family before settling in Amarillo where she had met her husband. He is an optician, with his own company in Oklahoma City. Even though so many years had passed Sandra, now called Linda, immediately fitted right into the family, just as she had quickly adopted when she was their foster child and pitched in with cooking and taking care of the household, which also included Ford Miller of Texas Tech Univ., here for a week-end of dove hunting. The Seitz family look forward to more visits in the future.

MARY POOLE of Floydada displays the trophy awarded to her for her participation in a skate-a-thon benefiting MDA. She placed fourth, raising over $285.

Information is needed for unmarked graves in Floyd County. Anyone who can furnish names, approximate dates and locations are asked to call the museum to aid in the cemetery survey which is underway.

A beautiful stained glass window has been added to the permanent art collection by Sara Probasco. The piece features glass from the City Park Church of Christ building.

Green Thumb ladies, Georgia Finley and Mary Adams, have filled the museum craft case with many beautiful handmade gift items and Christmas decorations.

Many genealogists have visited the museum this summer seeking information about their Floyd County relatives from the files and newspaper collection. A number of students have also used the records for their research projects.

A special thank you to Aaron Carthel for cutting the weeds at the Della Plain Cemetery.

The 1936 senior class quilt continues to bring former students to the museum to view this school memento. Other items of interest have been added to the museum during the summer months through the generous contributions made by museum supporters. Museum hours from September 10 through September 21st will be 12:30 to 5 p.m. Normal hours will resume after that date.

Summer museum visitors have included people from California, New Mexico, Montana, Arkansas, Missouri, Nebraska, Illinois, Virginia, Oklahoma, Washington, D.C., Alabama, New York, Japan and West Germany.

Mary Poole skates for MDA

Mary Poole, a Floydada woman, raised over $285 for MDA on Labor Day. Mary skated from 9 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. at the Plainview Roller Rink in a skate-a-thon to raise money for the charity. More than $2535 was raised during the course of the day. The leading money raisers were Becky Waller from Hale Center with $1000.90, Cindy McGaha of Plainview with $374.50, and Denise Jones from Plainview with $350. Mary Poole, fourth, received a trophy for her efforts.

The skaters had regular breaks while the audience was entertained with break dancing. Drawings were held for sweatshirts. Mary said, "It was really fun. I love to skate and I like to help people, so this let me do both."

Mrs. Poole is especially interested in the efforts to find a cure for the many diseases MDA is researching as she has inherited a disease of the connective tissues called myalgia rheumatitis. Extremes of heat and cold cause her pain, but she continues to be an active and caring person. Mrs. Poole says, "I am grateful that I am able to walk and talk and think and do. I hope I always will be. I think all the work I do with young people at church and around town helps to keep me young and active."

Mary works with her husband, Raymond in their business, Poole Well Service. He was one of her sponsors in the skate-a-thon.

Other sponsors were Hernandez Tire, Joe Aleman, Carla Schneider, Adams Well Service, CPA Edd Henderson, Caprock Motor Parts and Hardware, Bob Gilliland, Ray Brooks, Thompson Pharmacy, Hi Plains Farms, Brown Implement, Martin and Company, Builders Mart, Don Green, Louis Pyle, Dorris Jones, Wayne Russell, Lyda Smithey, Stovall-Booher Radiator, Consumers Fuel Association, Smokey's Barbecue, Our Place, My-T Burger, and J.S. Hale, Jr. Mrs. Poole wishes to thank all who helped in being able to raise money for such a good cause.

PUBLIC NOTICE

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc., has filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas (PUC) a proposal to reduce intrastate, interLATA long distance revenues to offset proposed increases in specialized service rates for private line, WATS, 800, OCC facilities and directory assistance services. The proposed tariff restructure will not result in any increases in the overall revenues of the Company. The proposed effective date for the tariffs is September 20, 1984. All customers and classes of customers will be affected by this filing.

The restructure in the basic long distance service (MTS) results in an overall decrease in the revenues received by the Company from such service of approximately $100 million. While this proposed restructure results in an overall decrease in revenue, certain MTS rates are proposed to be increased to more nearly recover the access charges approved by the PUC for such service.

AT&T Communications has also filed restructured tariffs designed to more closely recover access costs for private line, DATAPHONE Digital Service (DDS), OCC facilities, WATS, 800 and directory assistance services. These restructured tariffs result in an approximate overall revenue increase of approximately $100 million from increases in its WATS, 800, DDS, OCC facilities and private line rates, and institution of a charge for directory assistance.

The result of these proposed tariff changes and the restructure of our service offerings is to more nearly recover access costs from those services for which such access costs are incurred.

This proposed restructure results in no increase in overall revenue to AT&T Communications and is not a major rate change as that term is defined in Section 43(b) of the Public Utility Regulatory Act.

A complete copy of all tariffs and rate schedules is on file with the Texas Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene or participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

KILZ has been developed to replace pigmented shellac sealers-has unusual sealing, stain killing and adhesion properties. May be used over plaster, new wood, previously varnished or enameled surfaces, and is unequalled for blocking out stains. Unlike so-called water soluble stain killers KILZ holds water stains so often found on fire jobs.

Heavy Bodied Paint Remover
Klean-Strip

The very best remover you can purchase. It removes paint, enamel, varnish and synthetic finishes from wood, metal or masonry without creating a fire hazard. The fast acting, non-flammable formula makes it easy-to-use...wash-off or scrape-off multiple coats in one operation. Its heavy body consistency lets it cling to all vertical and overhead surfaces. No run-off. Stays wet longer for the big jobs.

$11.44

Thinner

Already in extensive use, it is recommended by professional painters whenever a high grade thinner is required. When used with paints, enamels and varnishes, you get an even flow and goes on easily and smoothly. It is unexcelled in cleaning brushes, removing paint and grease, dissolving wax and many other uses.

$3.37

Paint Remover

$18.69

Heavy bodied for all jobs, even stripping polyurethane finishes. Different from ordinary paint removers, because thickening agent holds the chemicals to the finish and enables them to lift it. Requires little brushing and no thinning like less expensive removers. Works on virtually any finish normally applied to wood, even marine finishes.

Electric Fence Wire

Made from electric furnace carbon steel. The tougher, stronger, longer-lasting steel. The wire is carefully drawn to exact gauge specification, and is then given a heavy, uniform coat of pure zinc to provide durable protection against rust. Not only does this protection prevent pitting or weakening of the wire, but rust-free wire offers less ohm resistance. This wire is equally effective when charged with either battery operated or high line controllers.

No more costly batteries to buy! Battery fully charged at all times assuring maximum shock up to 25 miles of fence. Day and night operation—even for 21 days of total darkness. Quality precision construction, fully weatherproof, portable and rustproof. Sealed unit and battery compartment. Excellent high and low temperature characteristics for uniform output voltage year round. 11 Listed Extended controller life. 21K gold plated contact points and other components last for longer when battery is always fully charged, in addition to greater shock output. # Over 100 attend area community reunion

The Massie Activity Center was the site of the September 2 Fairview-Center community reunion. More than 100 residents, ex-residents and relatives attended. Virdene McCarty of Amarillo and Lola Pohl of Matador, presided at the register.

Officers presiding at this year's reunion were Lee Burton, president; Louis Anderson and Floyd Montgomery, vice presidents; Rue Neta Holly Robertson, secretary-treasurer, and Murl Mayfield, reporter.

The officers and volunteers spent most of the morning arranging the center, visiting, greeting guest, and preparing the pot luck dinner.

The Rev. Ausie Watson gave thanks for a huge meal, assembled by all present, at 12:30 p.m.

Following the dinner, a business meeting of old and new business was held.

Lee Burton called the house to order with the old school bell from the Fairview school.

Kenneth Robertson read the minutes of the past meeting, they stood approved as read.

The Rev. and Mrs. Hollis Payne from Calvary Baptist Church conducted a musical program with solos, duets, and group singing.

The oldest man present was Charlie Spence, 93. The oldest woman was Mrs. J.E. Green, 94. The couple married the longest were Mr. and Mrs. Carl Denison, 65 years, with Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bagwell a close second. Traveling the furthest was Nadine (Lightfoot) Smith from Kingston, Georgia. The Lightfoot family was the largest with 20 present. The Green family was second largest.

The Rev. Ulman Moss, husband of Ruth Jordan Moss, presented an after dinner devotional. Ulman and Ruth have retired from Mission Fields and are now living in Cleburne, Texas.

During the business meeting, officers for the Labor Day 1986 reunion were elected as follows: Kenneth Robertson, president; Weldon Cumbie and Floyd Montgomery, vice presidents; Rue Neta Robertson, secretary-treasurer; Murl Mayfield, reporter; and Letha Lightfoot, memorial chairman.

Motion was introduced and approved to include the Campbell community in the 1986 reunion. This will now be the Fairview, Center, Campbell reunion.

Upon the motion of Mrs. Weldon Cumbie, it was agreed to have the reunion every two years in the same place and at the same time.

Letha Lightfoot suggested that Saturday night be reserved to set up tables, play 42, and have sandwiches and refreshments. This was agreed upon, so the 1986 reunion will begin on Saturday night.

The memorial list was read by Murl Mayfield and included 34 deaths since the 1982 reunion.

The Rev. Merle Weathers concluded the business meeting and former reunion with a prayer. Hollis and Jo Payne led the group in song.

The memorial list, for 1982, 1983, and 1984, included: Mrs. Charlie (Tootsie) Lewis, 9-1-82; Cargile Hayden (Pappy) Wise, Oct. 2, 1982; Maurine Mathis Jordan, Oct. 24, 1982; Mrs. Hal Owens, Thomas (Sudie Miller), Oct. 23, 1982; Aubrey Terrell, Oct. 11, 1982; Carl Plumlee, Nov. 1982; Doyle Sanderfur, Nov. 27, 1982; Maurice Campbell, Dec. 11, 1982; Ermon Welborn, Dec. 21, 1982; Harold Tubbs, Jan. 11, 1983;

CENTER NEWS

By Mrs. J.E. Green
September 3, 1984: Rt. 3, Box 169, Floydada:

Hello, everybody! I am home again, yes at "Home Sweet Home."

This time I left home because I was sick. I have never been sick much, but this time I took so many pills I forgot to count them. I was at my daughter's, her husband is a doctor and a good one. Everyone was so nice to me. But I am well now.

Besides we just couldn't miss the Center-Fairview Homecoming, and finally arrived Saturday, September 1st.

I was expecting all my children and sure enough they all showed up! Some of the grandchildren and great-grandchildren also came. It was a wonderful day and I guess the biggest crowd yet. More later.

Before we got to Calvary Church Sunday morning we felt there was rain in that cloud, and there was, a welcome one. We'll be glad for more.

I am sorry for so many blank "Center News" but I hope I'll be more at home now.

Mrs. Frizzell is at home, also Mrs. Alma Dunn.

The Brewers had a bunch one week ago. But yesterday no company. Clyde and Quita are here.

Tuesday: A clear day and windy. The Green group were 15 in the picture. One couple had already gone home. A happy day.

September 11 set for field day in Lubbock

Roots of scientific efforts and progress to support the area agriculturalist with production and marketing problems of the Texas High Plains will be demonstrated September 11 at the 75th annual field day and anniversary celebration of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station in Lubbock and Halfway.

The Texas A&M University Agricultural Research and Extension Center is the host this year, said Dr. Bill Ott, resident director of research at the station. The annual program alternates between the Lubbock and Halfway locations. This year's field day is being held in Lubbock in conjunction with the station's 75th anniversary activities.

The center is located north of Lubbock International Airport on FM 1294, just east of I-27 at the Shallowwater exit.

"What is usually a conventional field day has been modified this year to include a celebration of the station's 75th year of service to the Lubbock and High Plains area," Ott said.

Field tours will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will feature four major stops, said Dr. John R. Gannaway, TAES cotton breeder at the station and the field day chairman.

Major stops will feature a historical planting of cotton, grain sorghum and other crops; the latest research of water use efficiency; the development of drought tolerant cotton, hybrids and disease resistant cotton varieties; and new techniques and products for weed control.

Other areas featured at the field day will be a special tour of the station's vineyard, a display of computers and computer programs for agricultural use and laboratory tours which will display the latest technological advancements and research findings, Gannaway said.

In observance of the 75th anniversary, a slide presentation of the station's history will be presented in the auditorium. There will also be a display of old and new farm machinery, Gannaway said.

The field day is a cooperative presentation of TAES, the High Plains Research Foundation, the Texas Agricultural Research Service, and the Texas Forest Service.

Staff members of these participating agencies will be on hand to answer questions and discuss problems with agricultural producers, homeowners and gardeners.

Texas water problems increase with demands

Growing demands on decreasing water resources are causing very real problems for the people and the government in the state of Texas. The question foremost in the mind of practically everyone has to be whether or not the supply of water will be adequate for the present and future needs of our population.

Texas is geographically divided into eight regions of water-related concerns. All share some common problems, yet each seems to have some unique water problem. State wide, flooding is a dangerous problem. Some areas, such as the Panhandle, the Rio Grande Valley and central areas of the state suffer from flash floods. The Gulf Coast has a more constant flood threat from the ocean. Saline infiltration is a basic problem in all areas. Salt destroys water as a resource by making it unsafe to drink or use for industry and agriculture.

Water supplies are limited and being utilized at a rate which outstrips the natural recovery of water resources. The generally hot climate is not conducive to surface water storage, nor is rainfall a reliable source. With amounts ranging from eight inches or less on the Texas-Mexico border to fifty six inches or more on the Gulf Coast, there is usually too much or too little water everywhere in Texas. Water from below ground surface is expensive to retrieve and often contains such a high concentration of fluoride or nitrates that use for public consumption is impossible.

The Texas Department of Water Resources is responsible for providing adequate and safe water at a reasonable cost for the public, industrial, and agricultural use. This is no easy task. Conservation is recommended as the prime objective. Education must be stepped up to find more and better ways to use and conserve our vital water supplies. New facilities for waste treatment, water storage, and flood control must be developed and funded from within the government and from the private sector. The quality of our water must be protected from pollution and contamination. Heavy taxes have to be levied on the concerns which produce such materials and stiff penalties should be laid on the improper disposal of these hazardous wastes. An intensive need exists for research and development in the coastal areas of Texas. Protecting the habitat for the wildlife and sealife in these areas will also preserve it for our own benefit.

A reorganization of Texas water districts may be the ultimate solution to some problems. Creating new districts and making each district answerable to a state water authority would standardize the use and development of water supplies. A multi-state water resources committee should be formed to encourage co-operation among neighboring states for allocating shared water supplies and solving mutual water problems.

Ultimately, all the people of Texas must be made aware of the seriousness of the water shortages we face and all must work together to utilize our resources with care and thought to preserving this life giving fluid for the generations who follow.

Tractor ID can thwart theft of machinery

(Editor's note: This is the first of three articles on farm equipment theft.)

Already in a financial crunch, many Texas farmers are having to cope with another growing problem—tractor thefts.

"Tractor thefts in Texas are up 20 percent for the first half of 1984 compared to last year," says Dr. J. Fred Cross, of Stephenville, community development specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Texas farmers and ranchers have already lost an estimated $45 million to tractor thieves this year."

Cross says that tractor owners can reduce this loss by putting an identification number on the tractor.

Properly identified tractors can deter crime in three ways. A thief will often pass up a tractor with a prominently displayed identification number because it will be harder to sell as stolen property. If the thief is caught, the identification number will enable law enforcement officers to notify the owner that the tractor has been recovered. An identification number also can be used as evidence in court that the thief had possession of stolen property.

"The proper number to use for property identification in Texas is the owners driver's license number," notes Cross. "This number is preferred over other identifying numbers because it can be readily traced through the Texas Department of Public Safety computer system."

One's Social Security number is not a good number to use for identifying property since federal law prohibits the Social Security Administration from releasing the name that goes with any number. Another numbering system, often referred to as the Iowa System, is being used in several states but is not recommended in Texas, Cross says.

Marking locations have been standardized to make it easier for law enforcement officers to locate the identification number. Place the identification number on the rear of the differential housing, Cross says. If the center of the housing is not accessible, place the number on the right axle housing, on the top or rear.

The specialist advises placing the identification number on the tractor with a metal stamping tool. An arc or acetylene welder also may be used, but the stamping tool number is easier to read and harder to remove.

Before marking the tractor, sand pit or paint surfaces to insure a clear-cut imprint. Cross suggests making a stamp in wood to ensure the correct number and making a practice imprint on scrap metal to get accustomed to the surface.

When ready to proceed with the numbering, use a heavy hammer and make sure the imprint is legible. If the number is blurred, make a second imprint directly under the blurred number, advises the specialist.

Other farm equipment should be identified in the same way, says Cross. Extension Service publication B-1404, "Home and Farm Security—Machinery and Equipment Identification," shows the standard marking locations for farm machinery and equipment. The publication is available from any county Extension office.

In addition to putting identification numbers on farm equipment, Cross advises recording and safeguarding all serial numbers. These numbers also can aid in recovering stolen property although they are not useful as the driver's license number in identifying the owner.

Soil and Water conservationists to be selected to national finals

The outstanding soil and water conservation practices of farmers and ranchers from throughout the country are receiving widespread recognition through an awards program sponsored by the National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation and the Du Pont Company. A winner was selected from among the farmers and ranchers nominated in each state by coordinating committees of farm, conservation and government leaders.

"The awards program is designed to identify and honor farmers and ranchers who are implementing sound, cost-effective conservation techniques," says Emmett Barker, chairman of the Endowment. "By bringing their efforts to the forefront, we hope other farmers and ranchers will learn how to better use and protect our soil and water."

The conservation efforts of the 47 state winners will be reviewed by an advisory committee from the Endowment and 10 national finalists will be selected based on their accomplishments in soil and water resource management and pollution abatement. The 10 finalists and their spouses will receive expense-paid trips to a national awards ceremony, where three national winners will ultimately be chosen to receive $1,000 awards.

"America's soil and water resources are precious to us all," says Dale E. Wolf, a Du Pont group vice president. "And we are pleased to sponsor this program for the second year because it recognizes the conservation work of farmers and ranchers and encourages practices which will ensure that our natural resources are available to us in the future."

The national winners in the 1983 program were from Kentucky, Oregon and Wisconsin. The other finalists were from Indiana, Kansas, Maryland, Michigan, Montana, North Carolina, and Utah. Certificates of Award were presented in 1983 at a White House ceremony.

The National Endowment for Soil and Water Conservation, established June 1982, is a non-profit, privately funded, non-political organization dedicated to conserving natural resources and fostering a sense of stewardship for the land.

1934 drought...

After we finished, I took what little money I had and bought Mama a new print dress and Papa and I a new pair of overalls each. What little was left was spent for food. This was the last of June and no rain yet. In July I worked a few weeks with a rock crusher on the edge of the canyon. We dug rocks to go in the crusher. The rocks were sold for short roads and driveways, but people ran out of money and we had to quit. This was along the last of July and still no rain. We hardly saw a thunder head in the sky. Of course, we had no T.V.; we didn't even have a radio that summer to hear the temperature. I am glad we didn't because it sure was hot.

During that summer since it stayed so dry, some of the poor fellows were so deep in debt that they left their wives. They in turn sold the old plows, horses, cows, and most of the house furniture, or they would allow the bank to take over. Later the wife would take what things they had left and head for parts unknown. When a man left like that, the neighbors would say "the owls carried him off," since he usually left at night.

Of course, 1934 wasn't the only year things like that happened, but it was the worst for some and more of those kind of situations happened than some years. Some of the poor men worried themselves into a nervous breakdown. Drugs to treat at home were not available like we have today. So they just called them crazy and sent them to Wichita Falls. I wonder if they just elect them now and send them to Washington, D.C. Ha!

The cotton stalks got about five of six inches high that year and lived all summer with hardly any rain. Sometimes several feet apart there would be a square and a real small boll. At least ours and some of our neighbors did that way. Some just plowed theirs up in the late summer.

I went to Roaring Springs in late August and stayed off and on for about six weeks with my sister and her husband and children. There was a little cotton made in some areas and my two oldest nephews and I would pull boles. That would last only a few days and then we would run out of a job. We spent more time looking for a job than we did working. There were more hands than there was work. In the early part of September we heard we had a three inch rain at home. When we got home, Papa was the happiest man I ever saw. The cotton and feed took the second growth but never did any good it was so late. Papa cut his short feed with a hoe. If it hadn't been for the windmill to make a garden, I don't know how we would have lived that winter. There were not many jobs, and I worked very little.

But something in particular I noticed; everybody was not doom and gloom. Many people were optimistic, cheerful and some even made jokes of their hard luck.

While I was staying at Roaring Springs, we were so poor we went to the filling stations and begged used oil for our old cars. One day we come in from a day's work. When we pulled into a station that Ross knew well, we begged the old oil, thanked the man and then Ross said to him, "By the way have you got any old used gasoline that we can beg?"

Because we had no T.V. and there were very few radios, people went to visit more with each other than they do now. And I believe the church houses were much more crowded in those days than they are now.

SOUTH PLAINS NEWS

By Mrs. Murray Julian

South Plains, Sept. 3:
Labor Day is a quiet day, with no school children anywhere. Sunday was a wet, rainy day, leaving us about 1/2 inch rain around our community. The highways were very slick and muddy on the rural roads. This Labor Day it has gotten down to 58 degrees in our vicinity, and just 75 this afternoon.

There were many of the community who gathered at the Lockney Coop at South Plains at 12:00 noon, Friday, August 31, for a Growers Meeting for Velsicol, makers of Banvel, with a Chicken and Fish luncheon served to everyone at noon, and a business meeting afterwards.

We extend our sympathy to Mrs. Clara Mize, at the death of her husband, Albert S. Mize, 90, whose funeral services were this Monday morning, Sept. 3rd, at 10:00 a.m. in the First Baptist Church in Floydada with Dr. Floyd Bradley officiating. Mr. Mize had passed away Friday in the Caprock Hospital, and he had been in ill health for a long time.

Visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Cummings over the past week-end were their sons and families, including Mr. and Mrs. Zach Cummings and children of Dumas and Mr. and Mrs. John Cummings from Austin where they are both working, and also attending University of Texas. They were all visitors with their parents at the South Plains Baptist Church Sunday morning.

Presiding in the pulpit at the South Plains Baptist Church Sunday morning at the church hour and at the evening services was Brent Luck, senior Wayland Ministerial Student. Miss Kenda Morrison, and Lee Anne Graham, also of Wayland, were visitors. Miss Morrison is coming back for evening services also. Kenda's home is in Orange County, California, and Miss Graham is from Canadian.

Mrs. Keron Mauney of Lewisville, near Dallas, flew here for the long Labor Day weekend to be with her parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Cecil Osborne and attended church services here both morning and night Sunday, then this Monday she went to Lubbock where she took the plane back to Dallas and on to Lewisville.

Mrs. Gayle Henderson cooked at the school breakfast and lunch periods during the past week as Mrs. Nina Sanders was at the Central Plains Hospital with her mother, Mrs. Graham, who underwent major surgery, but we are glad to know she is doing better at this time.

Nice rain showers fell here Thursday, August 30, during the morning hours

Sr. Citizens Menu

Tuesday — Fried chicken, cream gravy, mashed potatoes, buttered broccoli, cornbread and butter, canned peaches, milk

Wednesday — Spaghetti with meat sauce, turnips and greens, tossed salad and dressing, French bread and butter, oatmeal cookie, milk

Thursday — Beef tips (BBQ), rice, carrots and peas, slaw and green pepper, roll and butter, apple crisp with topping, milk

Virus is present on South Plains

The Texas Department of Health and Lubbock City Health Department have recently alerted area physicians that the Western Equine Encephalitis virus is currently present on the South Plains. This mosquito-borne viral disease has long been known to occur here at this time of the year, and the recent rains have provided a favorable environment to dramatically increase the mosquito population.

Human Western Equine Encephalitis is milder than most other mosquito-borne forms of encephalitis and many cases go unrecognized. In more severe cases, symptoms range from fever and headache to meningitis and encephalitis. Severe disease is more common in infants and young children. Individuals who develop fever and headache should promptly consult their private physician.

Individuals should practice personal protective measures against mosquito bites. This includes avoiding areas heavily infested with mosquitoes, or if that is not feasible, wearing long sleeves and using repellent.

with lots of wind, thunder and lightning, and left around .30, and then again this Sunday morning gray skies again came and one half inch fell during the morning hours. We need lots of hot sunshine for the cotton right now.

We extend good luck and best wishes to Mr. and Mrs. Connie and Nathan Johnson, Troy and Tracey, who have purchased a new home on the highway to Cedar Hill, and have been getting settled there. They moved into the home after Kay and Royce Bethel had lived there.

We are glad to know Mrs. Mary Grisham of Plainview, mother of Mrs. Nina Sanders is recuperating since her major surgery last Thursday at Central Plains Hospital in Plainview. We extend best wishes for her recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Nathan and Connie Johnson were hosts at Sunday dinner to several guests including Brent Luck, visiting ministerial student and Miss Kenda Morrison and Miss Lee Anne Graham, all of Plainview.

When the school bell rang for the South Plains I.S.D. on August 27, it marked the beginning of a new school term under many new laws and regulations that resulted from the special session of the Texas Legislature.

Classes began at 8:15 a.m. and end at 3:30 p.m. and following state law, every student is expected to be in his or her desk every day of the school year except when too ill to be in school.

Five absences, with written excuses from home, will allow the student to be re-admitted to class. Absences over five days must be excused with a written excuse from a medical professional.

Daily attendance will be crucial to the student being able to make a 70 percent average in every class in order to be eligible for promotion. To help lagging youngsters, tutorial services will be provided where needed. Bus students will have a study period from 3:45 p.m. until the bus arrives from Floydada.

Kindergarten will be available on a half-day basis. The morning session begins at 8:15 and dismisses at 11:15 a.m. Those youngsters who are 5 years old on or before September 1, 1984 are eligible to attend. Also those youngsters who are 4-years-old before September 1, 1984 and can not speak English are eligible to attend Pre-K classes. Upon registration parents are asked to bring their child's birth certificate and health records.

Cafeteria services will be available for breakfast and lunch. Breakfast will be available from shortly before 8:00 a.m. for 25 cents. Lunch will be available at 12:00 noon for 50 cents.

The school bus at 7:45 leaves for Floydada each morning.

County Extension Council meets

Floyd County Extension Council met in the council room August 23 at 2 p.m. Mrs. Elvira Stewart called the house to order and presided in the absence of Mrs. Horace Carr.

The creed was given by all. Roll call was answered with Mrs. Stewart, by Mrs. Elmer Williams, Mrs. Ruth Trapp, Mrs. Syble Teeple, T.E.H.A. chairman Mrs. Bill Smith, Mrs. Helen Huffman, Mrs. O.G. Mayfield, and Mrs. Mark True, county extension agent.

Mrs. Williams read the minutes which were approved. Motion was made by the council to have an education exhibit at the fair. Motion was carried. It was also announced that Christmas in October will be November 3rd, so everyone is reminded to prepare now.

Lone Star reported that they had gone to Caprock State Park and gathered wild flowers and had a real good day. Homebuilders had met with Mrs. Trapp June 12 and decided not to make the mini tour. They adjourned for the summer to meet September 11 with Mrs. Kenneth Willis. The program will be "Kick the Caffeine Habit," by Mary True.

Harmony met with Doris Snodgrass as hostess on May 30. They went to Plainview July 9 for their mini tour. All three clubs met and went to Roaring Springs for a day. They had a picnic lunch by the beautiful pool there and all had a lovely day. They then came back by Matador, drove around and looked at the tornado damage. The group then stopped at a roadside park on the way home and had refreshments.

T.E.H.A. chairman Mrs. Bill Smith had lots of material from the district and state on the state meeting in San Angelo September 18-20. Mrs. Ruth Trapp, Mrs. Helen Huffman and Mrs. Bill Smith will be driving down as at the District meeting, the motion carried not to take a bus.

Floyd County was to send a notebook to go to Paraguay project. This notebook was sent.

In San Angelo, District 2 will be staying in the Inn of Concho. There was a motion made and carried that each club donate $10.00 to the delegates as the council was short on funds.

Mrs. True asked each program chairman to start working on programs for the 1985 yearbooks. Vice presidents were reminded to get busy now.

Mrs. True will be giving leader training September 17 at 2 p.m. in the council room. The program will be titled "A little sweetener in your life."

Council adjourned to meet October 11 at 2 p.m. They were all reminded of the Floyd County Fair September 13, 14, and 15.

CEDAR HILL NEWS

By Grace Lemons

We had two light showers this week amounting to about .4 of moisture.

Week-end guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Conner were their son, Dr. Stanley and Jan Conner, Michael and Doug Conner and daughter, Ann and Jan's son, Chris of Houston. The Conners also celebrated their 61st wedding anniversary.

Britney Gregory and Terry Lamb of Floydada spent Friday night with Traca and Twyla Lemons.

Funeral services for Albert Mize, 90, were held in the First Baptist Church in Floydada at 10:00 a.m. Monday with Floyd Bradley officiating. Mize died at 5:30 a.m. in the Caprock Hospital after a lengthy illness. He was born in Arkansas and moved here in 1937 from Earth. He was married to Clara Randolph in March 1925 at Earth. He was a member of the First Baptist Church in Floydada. He was a retired farmer and lived in Cedar Hill for a number of years and was active in church and civic affairs. He is survived by his wife, Clara; two sons, Steve of Stockton, California and George of Ruidoso, New Mexico; two brothers, Homer of Missouri and Clay of Oregon; six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. A large number of people from Cedar Hill attended the funeral.

Grace Lemons visited Sylvia Yeary in Lockney last Monday afternoon.

Albert and Evelyn Seay of Carrizozo, New Mexico were in Lockney and Plainview on business and spent Saturday and Sunday nights in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. Welch. Mrs. Peat Kelley joined them for breakfast Sunday morning.

Vikki Yeary entered the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock and underwent surgery on her arm that she broke last fall. We trust that the arm will heal successfully and she will have a speedy recovery.

Mychelle and Terry Harris of Lubbock spent the holidays with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Cephus Fortenberry.

Cole and Christy DuBois spent the weekend with the Phil Lemons family while their mother, Gayle attended a family reunion in east Texas.

Wanda DuBois spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Elvie Lackey in Silvertown. The Lackeys are both ill.

Mrs. Ruthie Clark of Plainview spent Thursday with her daughter, Edna Gilly where they were busy sewing. Juanita Teeple visited Edna Gilly Saturday.

The best way to promote a good cause is to give a good example.

Robert and Gwen Conner and girls, Holly and Robin of Amarillo joined the Jim Conners and Dr. Stanly Conners Sunday to help celebrate the 61st wedding anniversary.

School days can be the happiest days of your life-if your children are old enough to attend.

Nothing upsets a child more than to study the wrong lesson and learn something he wasn't supposed to.

Since the advent of sex education in the schools, the old fellow who drives the school bus can't tell whether the kids are talking dirty or just discussing their assignments.

When I was in school kids cleaned the erasers; now they dust the computers.

One thing that keeps a lot of kids from going to college is high school.

It's what we learn after we know it all that counts.

Learn from the mistakes made by others. You won't live long enough to make them all yourself.
