Quitaque woman killed in accident

Shirley Ross, a 73-year old resident of Quitaque, was killed early Monday morning in a fatal collision with a tractor trailer rig about five miles north of Floydada at the intersection of Texas Highway 207 and Hollums Pit road. Justice of the Peace, R.H. Ford from Lockney, pronounced the victim dead at the scene about 7:35 a.m.

The accident occured about 7:00 a.m. when a truck, driven by David Lee Kilpatrick of Nocona, entered the flow of traffic heading in a northward direction and was struck by the southbound van. Department of Public Safety Officer, Doug Whitworth, said, "There is a stop sign at the intersection, but we have not vet determined if Kilpatrick failed to yield the right of way. Whether he stopped at the intersection or not, he still had the responsibility to yield to traffic on the highway. All I will say at this time, is that charges are still pending against the truck driver. County Attorney, Kenneth Bain, is looking into the matter and a decision will be made at a later time."

The driver of the van, Sam Davis Ross, age 77, was removed from the wreckage by the ambulance crew from Caprock Hospital working with the Floydada Fire Department members who responded to the accident call with the aid of the jaws of life. An hour and a half was required to free Ross from the twisted van. He was first taken to

Co-op Gin holds annual meeting

The members of the Floydada Co-op Gins, Inc. elected two directors to their board Tuesday evening, September 25. Eddie Smith was elected to the post vacated by Roger Dawdy who hasmoved to Honey Grove. Tom Anderson was re-elected for another term. These two were nominated by a committee headed by Harold Bertrand. The other nominees were Michael Hinsley and Jakey Younger. No nominations were made from the floor.

Don Williams, an accountant from the Lubbock accounting firm of Williams, Adair, and Rodgers, gave the report on the financial status of the co-op. "At this time," he stated, "the co-op is posting an income of $60,000 to be credited to the member shares. This is a favorable comparison to last year's loss posted of $370,000.'

Williams imparted general information on what local farmers could look forward to in the way of tax obligations in the coming years. "The majority of any tax increase is going to have to come from the people earning between $15,000 and $70,000. This will directly affect most independent farmers. Social security contributions will be on the rise at the same time." he stated. Ray Ferguson, manager of the co-op, gave an optimistic report on the crops this year and on the gin operation. "We are ready for a good crop," he said.

Richard Marler is guest columnist in Port Arthur News on House Bill 72

Editor's Note: The following is a guest column published in the Port Arthur News Tuesday, September 18, 1984, authored by Richard Marler, head football coach at Stephen F. Austin, in an open letter to Texas Gov. Mark White, responding to White's recent criticisms of schoolboy football coaches over their reaction to House Bill 72. Having been raised and attending schools in Floydada, Marler is the son of Orville and Lynn Marler.

Dear Gov. White:

After reading your allegations toward coaches and administrators denouncing House Bill 72, I have a few things I'd like to get off my chest. From talking to a cross section of my colleagues, I'm confident my thoughts reflect the feeling of more than just coaches.

You say you are going to push aside coaches and superintendents who do not fully, 100 percent agree with you. It seems you have learned your lessons well from H. Ross Perot. But if you think your strong-arm tactics scare us,

Teachers, coaches, counselors, administrators and other school-related personnel are sick and tired of being pushed around, abused, belittled and underpaid. So let's talk about your record, Mr. White.

You promised teachers a 24 percent salary increase three years ago. What you gave us was false hope and little

You promised no tax increase while you were governor. What you gave us is the largest tax increase in Texas history. You used education as the reason for that increase in taxes but what you failed to tell the public was that more than 50 percent of the money was going to highways.

You promised that our utility rates would go down after you became governor. What you gave us are higher rates — and promises from our utility companies that those rates will soon be going even higher.

Treasurer attends conference

Glenna M. Orman, Floyd County Treasurer, along with some 125 other county treasurers attended the 36th Annual Texas County Treasurers' Conference in Amarillo, September 17-20, 1984. President Vesta Leonard of Gatesville, Coryell County Treasurer, called the conference to order.

At the conference in Amarillo, more than 200 county treasurers were awarded certificates for the completion of 20 hours of classroom training mandated by House Bill 570, which the County Treasurers' Association was instrumental in passing in 1983. In compliance with the continuing education bill, county treasurers received training in finance, management, governmental accounting, and computerization when they attended classes in April at Texas A&M University in cooperation with the V.G. Young Institute for County Gov-

Safety systems save lives

A Department of Transportation ruling being phased in over three years beginning September 1, 1986, will require automatic occupant restraints in all passenger cars manufactured for sale in the United States. This ruling will be rescinded if states representing two-thirds of the population of the U.S. enact mandatory seat belt usage laws before April 1, 1989.

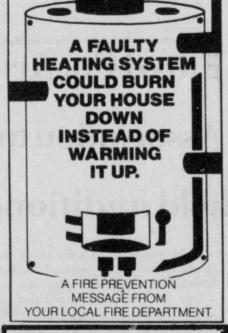

This ruling was passed to save thousands of lives and encourage the development of new methods of protecting automobile drivers and passengers. The present methods available can reduce the risk of injury or death substantially. Simply putting on a seat belt when riding in or driving a car can reduce one's chances of being hurt or killed by as much as fifty percent according to the National Highway Traffic Administration.

Child safety seats are even more effective when used properly. Every child under the age of five should be restrained in a federally approved child safety seat. It is the safest way for a child to travel.

Texas is one of forty-one states enacting laws requiring the use of child safety seats. Beginning October 31, 1984, Texans will be required to use child safety seats for children newborn to four years old. Fines will range from $25 to $50 for noncompliance. An offense will be dismissed if the offender can show the court proof of acquisition by purchase, loan, or rental within ten days of the offense. The state will not begin assessing fines until January 1, 1985, although warning notices will be given to offenders in the interim. The Texas law permits only two exceptions: a person operating a vehicle for hire, such as a taxi driver, will be exempt or a person transporting a child in a vehicle in which all seating positions equipped with child safety seat systems are already occupied will be exempt.

Use the safety systems available to protect yourself and others when you drive or ride in a vehicle. It could save your life or the lives of those you love.

You promised us that you supported the idea that all government officials should be elected. What you have done is abolish the elected State Board of Education and given us one personally appointed by Gov. White. (By the way, the State Democratic Convention in June almost unanimously supported our present elected Board of Education.) You say coaches are more interested in winning than educating our children. If you really believe the scholastic provisions of H.B. 72 promotes better education in Texas, Gov. White, then I would suggest you read and consider some of the following flaws in the bill.

* Students in honors classes are allowed to fail a course and still compete. How does this provision promote better education?

* Many students who originally signed up for harder classes before school started are changing their schedules to easier classes because they want to be able to participate in extra-curricular activities - activities that are also educational and beneficial, activities that parents and educators have always thought were an important part of the total educational process. Does this promote education?

* Worst of all, Gov. White, you helped pass and are promoting a scholastic eligibility bill that actually rewards a student for not passing. A student can enter high school in the ninth grade, get by the first six weeks passing everything and be able to complete a fall football or volleyball season, then fail everything the rest of the year and end up with no credits. Beginning next fall the student can participate in football or volleyball without repercussions - and could continue this process for four straight years! Does this promote better educa-

* At the end of the third, six weeks grading period, which is the end of the first semester, it is possible to punish a good student and reward a poor

Here's how it works. Students A and B are enrolled in algebra. Student A makes 88 (B) the first six weeks, 88 (B) the second six weeks, but the third six weeks he makes a 68 (D). For the semester Student A has an 81 (B-) average, but he can't participate for the next six weeks in extra-curricular Student B makes 60 (F) the first six weeks, 60 the second six weeks and 70 (D-) the third six weeks. He receives a 63 (F) for the semester but he can participate for the next six weeks. Does this promote better education?

Gov. White, it appears to me that you have more than enough problems and false promises to deal with, instead of trying to be an expert on education.

I promise you, Gov. White, that superintendents, principals, teachers, counselors, bus drivers, maintenance workers and head coaches are more interested in the education for our children than you are. We have much more at stake - our livelihoods, our families and our futures.

LOUIS AND FERNE ANDERSON

Hometown business operated by Andersons

Louis Anderson and his wife Ferne operate the Anderson's Department Store at 120 West California in Floydada. They were both born and reared in this farming community. With the exception of two years spent in the Marines, two years with Gabriel's in Spur, and two years in Plainview working for Beall's Department stores, they have lived in Floyd County all of their lives. "We wanted to make this our home and raise our children here," says Anderson. "So we came here when the opportunity to manage the Beall's here was offered to me. Anderson managed the store for nineteen years before leaving the company and opening his own store in the old Hagood's location in October of 1977.

Anderson's carries a fine line of men's, women's and children's clothing along with household goods, such as Canon and Fieldcrest towels and bedding. Some of their clothing brands are Wrangler, Haggar, Van Husen, Campus, Main Street, Hanes, Graff of California, and Lee. "The clothing is good quality with reasonable prices," said Mrs. Anderson.

Anderson enjoys his business. "It is a different feeling, but a good one, to run your own store," he said. "We appreciate our friends and our customers and are very happy to see them and serve them"

The store offers free alterations on regular merchandise. Alterations may also be arranged at a small charge for purchases for special occasions at no

SOUTH PLAINS NE

By Mrs. Murray Julian South Plains, September 24:

Rev. Cecil Osborne is getting along very well since his recent stay in the hospital, and if all goes well he will soon be back in the pulpit. He has gained weight, and his indomitable spirit helps all of us.

The weather has been excellent the past few weeks and crops are growing well. Crops are better this year than the past few years, anyway.

Mrs. Lora Bethel went to Lubbock this Monday where she is entering the St. Mary's Hospital and will undergo major surgery, then she expects to be in the hospital until Monday of next week, Oct. 1st. We send all good wishes to her during this time in the hospital. Her mother from Plainvew will be staying here with Lora's and Rogene's children, Robert and Amy, and keep them in Another neighbor, Mrs. Nina Upton will enter St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock on Thursday of this week for surgery on one of her eyes. She plans to be in the hospital only a couple of days, and will have an eye implant. Best wishes to Nina as she goes into surgery.

Mrs. Letha Mulder went to Amarillo Sunday to her daughters, Mrs. Jerry Taylor and family, to visit a few days as Mrs. Mulder's granddaughter, Candy Taylor hurt her foot in an accident. We hope she soon gets well.

Autumn is here, and with it snow and cold rains up in Colorado and Wyoming and in Montana. Weather in Colorado last week was much like our weather as your correspondent was up there all last week, and found the nights cool, but the days in Denver were much like ours have been.

Mrs. Juanita Teeple was hostess in her home on September 12, for the Hobby Club, with a program on candlewicking. The next club meeting will be on October 10th, at the home of Mrs. Sara Probasco, and the program will be given by Sara, on "Something New With Glass." Roll call will be glass cleaning hints, so look up your favorite way of cleaning glass, and be able to tell

Mrs. Bonnie Julian returned Saturday afternoon from a wonderful vacation in Colorado, spent with her sister, Mrs. Bernice Sandusky. She accompanied her children Terry and Leona Julian from Roscoe on Friday, Sept. 14th, as the young folks went on an extended trip through Colorado, including Estes Park, Vail, and all through the mountain area. They came back home through Denver picking up their mother and came home through Conifer, Saguache, South Fork, Wolf Creek Pass, Pagosa Springs, etc., clear down through Santa Fe and towns in New Mexico. As they went up the eastern route they traveled through Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, Colorado and the golden aspens were just glorious, everywhere a maze of beautiful colors and the streams are full. We went from the plains and hills of Kansas to the great mountain ranges in Colorado. We saw mountains in Western Colorado and New Mexico that were white with snow. We visited on the way with Bruce and Janet Julian, Clay and Wade and Mrs. Jerry Moore in Perryton, and in Denver we were with Mrs. Bernice Sandusky and other relatives. One night they spent in South Fork, Colorado on the way home where a hunter had been lost for 4 days, and they spent in Santa Rosa, New Mexico, returning home on Saturday, Sept. 22.

Sterling and Gleynne Earle Cummings returned home from a lovely trip to Europe last week-end, and we hope to have the news next week of their overseas holiday.

At the South Plains Baptist Church Sunday, speaker for the morning and evening services was Dr. Ricky Johnson, who is with Christian Ministries at Wayland College in Plainview. Visitors during morning services from Texas Tech University at Lubbock were Kristi Julian, Charles Street, Andrea Prinsington, and Mitzi Julian. They spent the week-end here with Kristi and Mitzi's parents, the Kendis Julians and Tim. We were so happy to welcome Mamie Wood home, as she came in for the evening services at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Sylvin and Bobbie Kinnibrugh went to Lubbock this Monday to attend the 67th annual Panhandle South Plains Fair in Lubbock.

We are happy for the First Baptist Church in Floydada as they have a new pastor, Howell Farnsworth, who was pastor in Iowa Park. His wife is Sue, and they have two children, Phillip and Company, in accordance with an order from the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice it has filed a tariff to reduce the monthly rates for the Switched Access portion of the company's intraLATA Foreign Exchange (FX) Service offering that was implemented starting June 1, 1984. SALESMAN HONORED—Ray Farabee [left] presents Morris Cartlidge with a copy of the resolution that honors him on his 50th year as a traveling boot salesman. The resolution was passed by the Texas Senate during a recent special session.

Texas is over supplied with apartment complexes

Texas is over supplied with apartments. From end to end and side to side, the number of apartment dwellers is decreasing while more apartments are being built. All these extra apartments are good news for the renters, but Texas apartment owners are finding it a bitter pill to swallow. If no apartments were constructed during the next two years, the current over supply would see the state through.

Where did all these apartments come from? The problem is complex. An increase in the number of multifamily homes being built resulted from high occupancy rates in the early 1980's and from 1981 Economic Recovery Tax Act. The rise in the number of renters came about when Texas responded to the mid 1970 increase of the price of foreign oil by heavily investing in oil and gas exploration. This made Texas a prime place to look for work, and with the national economy in a bind, people flocked to Texas for work. Apartment living was preferred by the younger, more mobile population.

The second rise in the price of foreign oil was a result of the Iranian crisis. Interest rates rose along with the oil prices this time. This unique set of circumstances left many money institutions with money which needed to be invested in something that would yield a high return and remain a safe investment. The 1981 Economic Recovery Act added fuel to the fire by reducing the time period a building must be depreciated from 30 - 50 years to 15. Investors in building projects became recipients of a large tax break. By forming syndicates, investors were able to retain the tax break, but spread the liability for the capital gains among themselves. This made more and larger amounts of money available to finance apartments. Permits for apartments increased 86.2% between 1980 and 1982.

About the time apartment construction began to soar, oil prices began to fall and the Mexican peso was devalued. The Texas economy also experienced a period of slowed growth. The need for extra workers decreased and along with it, the need for apartments. With all these negative indicators, the building industry has persisted, with more and more apartments being erected because of the tax shelter and capital gains

A survey of the apartment associations in Texas shows that 13 out of 25 believe that the rate of occupancy in apartments will decline in the future. Present rates range from 70% occupied in Midland to Austin's rate of 89%. Most of the apartment associations expect occupancy to decline, while rents remain about the same. This is deceptive because rents that do not rise with inflation are in reality falling. Inflation is expected to average 5.8% annually during the next two years, so rent receipts would be reduced by that much. This has prompted some agents to offer concessions such as free rent to induce renters to sign leases in an attempt to keep their units occupied. This in turn lowers the value of rented dollars received.

Construction of apartments has slowed and will tend to slow even more in the future if Congress extends depreciation periods as a means of lowering the national deficit. Whatever the decision, Texas landlords face some lean years. Rents will not be likely to rise as fast as inflation, and rent concessions may be offered more frequently. Rental property values may not rise as rapidly as they have in the past.

The future is uncertain for the Texas apartment owners, but one thing is certain, the Texas renter will be the beneficiary of excessive apartment construction in past years with newer apartments for lower rent.

Senate honors boot salesman on his 50th anniversary

The Texas Senate, during its recent special session, passed a resolution by Senator Ray Farabee of Wichita Falls honoring Morris Cartlidge for his 50th year as a traveling boot salesman.

Cartlidge calls on three accounts in Floydada: Dyson's Boot and Shoe Shop, Hale's Department Store and Davis Farm Supply. He currently works for Texas Boot Company based in Lebanon, Tennessee, for whom he has worked for 30 years. Prior to that he worked for Olsen Stelzer Boot Company and Red Wing Shoe Company.

Having graduated from John Tyler High School in 1923 and playing football and in the school band for Baylor University, he began selling footwear in a Waco Shoe Store in 1924 while working his way through college. He became a traveling salesman in 1934.

When he first went on the road in 1934 for Red Wing, he purchased a Chevrolet coupe for $629. Lots of things have changed since then including the price of cars. During his long and distinguished career, Cartlidge has traveled more than two million miles and sold more than 1.5 million pairs of boots while earning accolades for honesty and integrity from his many customers.

One thing that has not changed is that Morris Cartlidge is still working. "I live in a country of great opportunity, work for a good company, and call on wonderful people. As long as I feel good and enjoy it, I'm going to keep on

HOME ECONOMICS TODAY

By Mary True

INTEREST AND INFLATION AFFECT YOUR INVESTMENTS

Interest and inflation can perform amazing feats with your money. Over time, inflation can whittle away your nest egg, while interest can make it grow. Other things being equal, when interest and inflation rates are balanced, they cancel each other out.

It's important to know about these rates because with any long-term investment, your goal is to gain more from interest than you lose to inflation. Keeping track of interest and inflation helps you choose among today's wide variety of confusing financial options.

The point is you must make a choice. If a relative died and left you a $10,000 check, you could put that check in your safety deposit box. If you took it out 15 years later and cashed it, the bank teller would give you $10,000. But if inflation was running at five percent, in 14 and ½ years, your money would buy only $5,000 worth of anything.

Or you might instead buy a savings certificate with your $10,000 that pays you 10 percent fixed annual interest, compounded. In ten years you'll have almost $26,000. A five percent inflation rate over those years would reduce the value of your money, but you would still come out ahead.

Figuring the value of costs and benefits that occur at different points in time is a confusing business. Yet it's probably the most important concept anyone with any financial resources at all needs to grasp. It's a good way to make comparisons among investment strategies, retirement annuities, houses, and insurance policies.

You have to keep in mind not only the interest and inflation rates that have occurred or that you think will occur over the years, but also tax consequences, future income expectations and intangible values such as personal satisfaction.

Nobody ever said this was simple. You can find help at the public library, or from your financial advisors. Most financial or accounting books have tables that list present and future values for various interest and inflation rates over various numbers of years.

Educational program conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serve people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

NOTICE

Energas Company hereby gives notice of its intent to implement new rates for domestic and commercial type customer classes residing in the unincorporated areas of its West Texas System. It is anticipated that the new rates will result in approximately a two tenths of one percent (.2%) increase in Energas Company's gross revenues, which increase is not a "major change" as defined in Section 43 (b) of Article 1446c, V.A.T.C.S.

A Statement of Intent to change said rates was filed with the Railroad Commission of Texas on or about September 21, 1984, and is available for inspection at the Company's Amarillo office, 301 S. Taylor Street. Further information may be obtained from the Railroad Commission of Texas, Gas Utilities Division, P.O. Drawer 12967, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

The proposed increase will not become effective until or except to the extent that the same rates are approved for service within the municipalities on the West Texas
