Floyd County pioneers gathered for Old Settlers Day

Returning former Floyd County pioneers and native residents alike came together Saturday for a record attendance of the 1985 Old Settlers celebration. Registration got underway at 9 o'clock with Jonelle Fawver, Floyd County Tax Assessor and Collector, assuming the duty of registering more than 550. The weather was in perfect cooperation with temperatures rising over the 90 degree mark.

Traditionally the oldest pioneer woman, man, and couple were chosen for 1985. Mrs. W.A. Lovell, 92, was named the Oldest Pioneer Woman. Wamie Hilton at 103 led the way as the Oldest Pioneer Man.

Frank Brown introduced the Outstanding Pioneer Lady, Mrs. A.P. (Bernice) Barker. He began by giving clues to her identity. She was born in a dugout in 1896 at Della Plains. She lives in a house her husband built for her as a bride. He concluded with, "She is an outstanding citizen by adding to the quality of life." Her two sons, Barry and Art, and their wives were with her to receive a certificate of award.

John Key West was introduced to the audience as the Outstanding Pioneer Man of 1985 by Hubert Frizzell, treasurer of the Floyd County Pioneer Association. Frizzell's summation of the man to be recognized was, "He is the kind of a man a country must have to survive and grow." West said in his acceptance that he felt someone older should receive the honor, but he said with much emotion evident he was honored. His wife Madge; his sister, Vaughn Murff, and his son and wife, Johnny and Sherre West were with him for the presentation.

Outstanding Pioneer Couple was recognized as Mr. and Mrs. W.F. "Bill" Sauls who live on a ranch near Quitaque. Bessie Sauls, 77, was recognized as having been native born. Her husband was referred to as an adoptive son of Floyd County of some 40 years.

The Sauls were recognized as having shown their hospitality to so many. Mrs. Sauls said in her response to the honor, "Surprise, surprise! All our friends kept checking with us all week, asking if we were coming. And now it all comes together. It was because of this."

This year's guest speaker was J.I. Goins, a former Floyd County resident. He was born in 1903 and attended first grade at the old Marshaw school house. His family moved to Floyd County in 1902 from Lee County, Virginia. They came by rail to Childress and then here by covered wagon. He graduated from Lockney High School in 1922, attended WT in Canyon, and later received his law degree in 1928 from the University of Oklahoma. He has served as county judge of Love County for six years and then district judge. He has practiced law since 1947 in Ardmore, Oklahoma, with the firm of Goins and Smith. He has served on special appointment under Chief Justice of the Supreme Court.

Goins message was a tribute to the Floyd County people. He brought in bits and pieces of American and Texas and then concentrated on early Floydada. He asked listeners to imagine Floydada as it were in the early 1900's.

"There were no paved streets, no brick buildings, no cars or tractors, no telephones. The homes were no more than four rooms, bare rooms. The Bibles were kept out and kerosene lamps were used. Water was carried in from a windmill."

Goins referred to the hardship of pioneering people. "Cheap land did not guarantee a life of ease. It took hard work and perseverance."

Goins and his wife Rose were joined by relatives and friends for his address.

Lon Davis, Jr. presented a certificate of award to Geraldine Massie Murry of Pennsylvania. A native of Floyd County, Mrs. Murry was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W.M. Massie. Having lived away since her marriage many years ago, Mrs. Murry was recognized for having established the Massie Activity Center in Floydada and for the many monetary donations and donated items to the Floyd County Museum. Mrs. Murry's two sons, Martin and Bill, accompanied her.

The Cogdell family were recognized for their benevolence in memory of Martha Ann Cogdell through the Cogdell Foundation. Many gifts have been made including the Cogdell Clinic in Floydada and the Cogdell Clinic and the modern medical equipment in Lockney. Since the members of the Cogdell family were unable to attend, Hubert Frizzell accepted on their behalf.

Dewayne Hatley of Los Angeles, California, was the former Floyd County resident having traveled the most miles to attend the Old Settlers Day. He traveled approximately 1200 miles.

C.H. "Charlie" Owen, Jr. of Waco came forward to reveal he was probably the only man in the audience who was born on the courthouse square.

A slight merriment to the festivities came when Jim Tye fainted at the pavilion and had to be transported to Caprock Hospital. He was "overcome by heat" according to a spokesman from the hospital. He was dismissed Monday.

OUTSTANDING PIONEER COUPLE—Mr. and Mrs. W.F. "Bill" Sauls were recognized as the outstanding pioneer couple at Saturday's festivities. Bessie Sauls is a native of Floyd County and her husband is an adoptive son. The couple was honored for their hospitality to all.

Floydada High graduates seniors

Floydada High School seniors celebrated the end of their high school careers with a commencement ceremony on Friday, May 24. The theme of the service this year was "Trials plus Perseverance equals the Bowl of Cherries." Salutatorian Lisa Smith challenged her fellow class members to dare to dream as they look forward into their futures.

Greg Thompson, class valedictorian, titled his speech "The Bottom Left Drawer". He contends that the bottom left drawer of a desk contains the best of all things, the blank sheets of paper waiting to be filled with all the wonders of the world. He went on to say that each of this year's seniors has a bottom left drawer and has the potential for filling the blank sheets wisely and well.

Foreign student, Lars Alkemade, made a moving farewell to the Thompson family and the students he has been so closely associated with this year. His classmates presented Lars with a parting gift and their best wishes for his future.

Superintendent Jerry Cannon and principal Ronnie Wood presented each graduate with a diploma when they crossed the stage as their name was called. Cannon expressed the pride of all school faculty for the "job well done" by the students.

Diana Wilson performed the processional and the recessional on the piano. Misti Orman presented a piano solo, "Clair de Lune" by Claude Debussy. Lisa Enriquez gave the invocation, and Jill Willson gave the benediction. The ceremony concluded with the singing of the school song by the graduating seniors.

Floydada highways receive additional new street lights

Two of the many highways entering and leaving the hub city of Floydada are now safer for motorists, according to Mayor Parnell Powell. "Earlier this month, city boys completed the installation of new street light on the highway south of town to Ralls and on the highway going to Lockney," he stated. "The increased lighting should make the areas easier to drive through safely after dark."

A total of 25 additional lights have been installed. A series of nine double lights now illuminate the Ralls highway, and three single lights have been placed on the Y where Hwys 70 and 82 intersect. Two double lights have been added to the existing illumination of the Lockney highway.

The mercury vapor lights, costing "almost $30,000" according to state highway maintenance supervisor, Don Gowen, were furnished to the City by the state. The equipment is funded through the Texas Highway Department Highway Safety Lighting Program. "This is only one of many ways the State Highway Department works with local communities to make driving on our highways safer for our citizens," said Gowen. "We furnish the necessary lighting equipment, and the local people provide the installation."

Powell expressed the city's gratitude for the lights and complimented city workers on the prompt installation of the lights. "The city is just real proud to have new lighting on these highways, and we are certain the additional light will make our highways safer for local travelers as well as those who come from far away," said Powell.

City employees responsible for the installation of the lights were Connie Galloway, Floydada superintendent of distribution; Jessie Morales; David Rodriguez; and J.D. Wilson.

Auction raises over $1,000 for Pioneer Association

The Floyd County Pioneers Association raised over $1,000.00 with an auction held May 25 as part of the Old Settlers Day celebration. Twenty-four items of art, crafts, and antiques were sold to the highest bidder by some well known area auctioneers. Kenneth Gregg, Sam Fortenberry, Tom Assiter, and Tim Assiter contributed their time and efforts for the auction. They also added money to their contributions as their family members were successful bidders on several items. The proceeds of the auction will help the pioneers pay for the 20 foot extension to the pavilion which was recently completed.

Donors for the event and the item each donated included E.A. Bonner, who donated a wooden bread box; and Ruth Walker, who donated a crock jug. Cynthia Bybee contributed a wooden clock with battery operated movements. Ruth Reeves donated a Dresden 'Plate' pillow, and Johnnie Quisenberry donated a crib quilt. The item bringing the highest single bid of the day was a pewter and marble statue contributed by Tulia craftsman Kenneth Wyatt. The skillfully crafted piece sold for a final bid of $170.00.

new rainproof for our roof, and a stovepipe.

Mama took us two children to C. Surginer and Son Hardware which was where the museum is now. Mama was a good talker and could strike a pretty good bargain. At that time we needed a new 4 burner oil cookstove, so she talked him down on the price and had him throw in a tea kettle and bread pan. I sure had a time riding his tricycles up and down the wide alleys. Mama went by the racket store and bought some hair pins, face powder, and such like just before we left.

Late in the afternoon, Papa came with the wagon and we loaded up and went home with our goods. Papa tended the team. Henry was home and milked the cows. Mama cooked supper on the new oil stove. So we ate supper, a tired but happy family.

TEXAS MIGRANT COUNCIL GRADUATION—Youthful members of the TMC Headstart program took preparations for their graduation very seriously on May 23 as they donned cap and gown for the ceremony. The youngsters will be moving into the public school system in the fall to attend kindergarten.

A country boy goes to town

Dear Sir,

Enclosed is check for $13.50 to pay for our subscription for another year.

Most of the time we are a week late in getting the Hesperian but always look forward to receiving it.

As Bruce was born and raised in Floydada we really enjoy reading what the old timers have to say, especially Will Martin, he describes everything exactly as it was.

Thank you for the Hesperian old timers write ups, they're great.

Sincerely,
Mr. and Ms. Bruce E. Edwards

Early Days
by Will Martin

I suppose the boys and girls of today are not as thrilled to go to town as they are to go to some area lake boating or fishing. Living two and one half miles from town, it was a great thrill as a child, to get away for a while from the farm scene. We usually averaged going to town about four times a year during the times I was from about six to ten years old. I shall try to tell of an average trip in those days, where we went, and what we bought.

The night before we aimed to go to town, Papa and brother Henry would take a coal oil lantern, go out and catch a few hens and fryers, and put them in a coop to sell the next day. I was so thrilled! I could hardly sleep that night I was so eager to go to town.

As the day dawned, and we had eaten breakfast, Papa and Henry loaded the chickens in the wagon and put in a bucket of eggs. Then they hitched the horses to the wagon. After Mama dressed herself, Annie Lee, and I in our Sunday clothes, we all got in the wagon taking a couple of cane bottom chairs to sit in, and off to town we went. We started in time so Henry could ride to school with us. When we got to the town section, we could hear the big brass first bell ring; Henry knew that meant he had thirty minutes to walk three fourths of a mile. Papa decided to take the chickens and eggs to A.D. White's Produce and Grocery Store which was located somewhere near where First National Bank has their drive in window now. After they weighed out the chickens, we went in the grocery part where they counted out the eggs to help pay on the groceries we were going to buy.

In those days the grocery clerk would take out his sales pad and pencil. The person buying would tell him each article they wanted and how much of each. The clerk would write it down. When you said that was all, the clerk would go to the shelves, bring what you wanted, lay it on a big long counter, then go back and sack up whatever you wanted in bulk from such as potatoes, beans, and coffee.

We had a small coffee mill nailed to the wall at home to grind the whole grain coffee. Later the stores got large mills with large wheels and would grind it for you. But that ground at home just as you needed it would be fresher.

When the clerk had everything he would weigh up the bulk sacks and then count the cost of everything we got. Papa would buy sugar in one hundred pound sacks at 4 or 5 cents per pound. A few years later in World War I it went to ten cents per pound.

On this trip the clerk would take off the price of the chickens and then Papa either paid the difference or had it charged until we could get out some cotton or sell a yearling or shoat. The clerk either gave me or Annie Lee a ten cent sack of peppermint candy. We loaded the groceries in the wagon. Papa took the wagon and team east of the square, tied up the horses and fed them. No one ever bothered anything in someone's wagon in those days.

There were other grocery stores in town, but the only one I can recall is Brown Brothers located where Arwine's Drug and Goen's Insurance is now. Fred Brown once said, "It was years after Ed and I quit business before we found out from the Weights and Measures Department of the U.S. Government that fourteen ounces didn't make a pound." he was joking, of course.

Mama, Annie Lee, and I went to Mathis and Martin, on the corner where Sears Catalogue Store is now. Mathis later sold out and the store was called J.G. Martin Dry Goods. Papa carried his lister and turning plow points to Mr. Bosley's Blacksmith Shop to have them sharpened, which I remember as being just south of the present Fire Hall. I think Wayne Russell's grandpa had a shop east of the square, and there possibly were three other shops in town. Electric welding and the trip hammer were unheard of then.

While Papa went to the shop, Mama was in the dry goods store picking out all of us a pair of shoes, Papa a pair of overalls, me a new Sunday suit, and something for the baby that she couldn't make at home. The store had shelf after shelf of bolt cloth for sale, mostly gingham and calico. I think it was about 5 cents per yard. Mama and most all the women of that day made their dresses and their men's shirts. This was before the cloth meter so the clerk would hold the open end of the cloth with their right hand, stretch as far as they could reach with the left hand up to their nose, and the distance between hands would be a yard. The process was repeated until they got as many yards as you wanted.

When Mama would get as many yards as she needed, we would settle up and go out on the street just at dinner time. But before we leave the subject of the dry good stores, I want to make mention of how much I enjoyed the pretty colors. And, oh, how wonderful all those things smelled!

There were, according to my memory, four hotels in town: Uncle Johnny Callahan's just south of Bosley's Blacksmith Shop, the Commercial or Daily Hotel which is the Lamplighter Inn now, another where the bank's parking lot is now, and I think one on the south side of the square. As I remember, they all had large brass bells that would start ringing at dinner time. I surely did enjoy those bells. I suppose they rang at supper time. I never was in town at that time of day. There were ladies operating boarding houses near town also. Mama knew most all these women that operated these eating places and often visited them but never ate a meal there. Mrs. Callahan and "Ma Mitchell" were two that I remember.

All these places fed the business clerks, travelers, drummers (salesmen), and possibly people from the country who could afford to eat. I think they could eat for about forty or fifty cents per person. We would go to the grocery store, get two cans of sardines for four or five cents per can, fifteen cents worth of crackers and some times cookies. And all of us would go to the back of the store and sit on boxes or crates to eat dinner. If Papa had a little money, it was in a long purse with pennies, nickles, dimes, quarters, halves, and silver dollars. I can't remember any paper bills in those days.

After we ate our dinner, Papa picked up his plow points. If I remember right, they charged him about fifteen cents each. Then he went to a tin shop, got a

NEWS for Older Americans

The Veteran Population

In the last census, it was determined that of the 28 million veterans in the United States, some three million were over 65 years old. By projecting that figure it has been determined that by 1990, 7.2 million veterans will be over 65 years old and by the year 2000, some nine million will be over 65.

The Veterans Administration health care budget has fallen from 12.5 percent of the total VA budget to an estimated 8.6 percent from 1975 to 1985. According to the House Veterans Affairs Committee, "There is evidence that an artificial 'cap' has been placed on the resources available for outpatient treatment, resulting in a denial of treatment to eligible veterans in some cases, and in other cases resulting in inappropriate admission as an inpatient, an opinion shared by the Veterans of Foreign Wars."

At its 85th National Convention, the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States, resolved to prevail upon Congress to pass a budget and appropriation for the Veterans Administration which will fully fund and maintain the integrity of the benefit and entitlement programs and an enhanced Veterans Administration hospital and medical care system.

According to Cooper T. Holt, Executive Director of the VFW, veterans deserve this because of past sacrifices. "They were subjected to military law and were a special breed, committed to fight to the death for the ideal of freedom around the world. The veteran could not be flat footed nor lame—he could not be uncertain or short of vision. He had to be as perfect as possible—not only physically perfect but mentally alert. He had to be smart; he had to be able to read and write; he had to have some talent. Objectors such as David Stockman were excused. Furthermore, the veteran had to be morally fit—no criminal record; he could not be perverted; he could not be unstable. Only the brave were selected and only a nation of ingrates would forget their sacrifices."

Many Americans feel that veterans should not have earned benefits should not have them taken away. They are writing their opinions on this issue to their legislators at the House of Representatives, Washington, D.C. 20515, and the U.S. Senate, Washington, D.C. 20510.

Use Ag Chemicals Safely

Ag chemicals, indispensable to modern agriculture, can multiply crop yields or protect from pests. They must be used with care and appropriate protective gear:

- Read and follow label directions and instruct workers on use. Call the dealer or Extension Service with questions.
- Protect yourself when using ANY chemical. Wear trousers, sleeved shirt and hat, preferably a hat that cannot absorb dusts and liquids. Wear impervious gloves and boots, if needed. For questions on type of clothing, check the label or ask your dealer or county agent.
- Use the respirator recommended for the pesticide formulation being applied.
- When using anhydrous ammonia wear goggles designed for it. Carry a squeeze bottle of water in a shirt pocket and 5 or more gallons of clean water on the applicator, as the only effective first aid measure for ammonia in your eyes or on your skin.

- Do not trim trees near power lines.
- Do not set ladders or scaffolds near power lines.
- Do not shoot at insulators on poles, towers or structures.
- Never climb on or go inside a substation fence. Call SPS to help you retrieve anything thrown into the substation or caught in its fence.
- Avoid using electrical tools like lawn mowers or hedge clippers when grass and leaves are wet.
- Be careful when digging. Call SPS to find out if there are any buried electrical lines in the area.

Country Sampler begins pioneer days

A sample of the musical history drama entitled "God's Country" was presented to a sizable Floydada audience on Thursday, May 23, in Duncan cafeteria. The episode presented was a comical version of Aunt Hank Smith's encounter with a postal inspector in the early days of Crosby County. The Crosbyton Sesquicentennial Committee, under the auspices of the Rio Blanco Heritage Foundation, made a delightful story come alive for the local audience.

The full six episode musical drama covering a 16 year span of Crosby County history is expected to be presented for Labor Day in 1986 during the Sesquicentennial celebration. Another sampler episode will be presented on Labor Day, 1985, as part of Crosbyton's contribution to the Sesquicentennial celebration.

On hand for the performance was County Judge Choise Smith, the great-grandson of the "Aunt Hank" in the period piece. He introduced other Smith descendants in the audience including two aunts, his wife Kay Dean, and his son Dean before complimenting the cast on their delightful performance.

Olin Watson, of the Floyd County Historical Museum, gifted each cast member with a Floyd County Medal as a memento of their debut in Floydada. The museum sponsored the presentation and served lemonade and cookies following the performance.

Roger Alldredge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldredge, graduated from Floydada High School last week.

8th grade graduates included Dean Smith, son of Judge and Mrs. Choise Smith; Tammy Bertrand, granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Bertrand; Tiffany Gentry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Gentry; Carlos and Marcus Riojas, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Riojas, Sr.

About 1 1/2" of rain this week.

A large crowd of Mt. Blanco, Lakeview, Floyd County, Motley County and Crosby County people gathered Thursday evening at Duncan Elementary School cafeteria to see the play, "Aunt Hank and the Postal Inspector." The "sampler" told the story of the casual, but practical way the pioneers had of delivering the United States Mail, by whichever cowboy happened to be riding by the Rock House. There was Lula Teague, Judge and Mrs. Choise Smith and son, Dean, Mrs. Q.D. Williams and grandchildren, Austin and Ashleigh Williams, all the Applings, Mr. and Mrs. Wayland Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Hendricks, Mrs. Viola Brown, Mrs. Georgia Mae Smith Erickson, a large delegation from Crosbyton, several from Matador. The Floyd County Historical Museum directors served homemade cookies and ice cold lemonade (from a hand painted stove crock) on a red checked tablecloth. Mrs. Charley Wheeler of the Crosbyton Museum handed out membership cards to prospective members of the Rio Blanco Historical group. Georgia Mae Erickson has given land to the incorporated group, to be used as an outdoor amphitheatre for the enlarged play. The complete play, using local talent, will be presented to the public on Labor Day 1985, and be ready for the Texas Sesquicentennial in 1986. Those Crosby County people really know how to have a good time and help you have one too. Those Blanco Canyon Christmas parties are just like a continuation of what was going on 50 or even a hundred years ago and this play they are working up is a real hum-dinger. Be sure to go and see it.

Lakeview people enjoyed seeing Alma Holmes of Duncanville, back in Floydada for graduation of her Willson granddaughter, and Old Settlers Day.

Not very much, I'm afraid. Sunday was a nice day. Seems like spring is here. Good! We missed the Hollis Payne's but our new members, the Recklings, helped us out. We hope the Paynes are having a good time.

Now that school is out the younger locs of younger "old folks" are taking vacations.

Old Settlers came off Saturday. I don't remember a bigger crowd, but I couldn't stay long, so I didn't see any very old friends. The new shade was good. I did get to register, and surely all were there if they were not sick.

The Thomas Warren's and daughter and family of Muleshoe got together, at the reunion, I guess.

I hope to hear from Mrs. Ashton before another week.

Dawn Attebury came over one afternoon rejoicing over a trip she was planning to take from Lubbock to Houston by plane next day. We hope she has a good time.

Mrs. Anthony Latta called at the Green home today. She has been so faithful since I have been indisposed. So has Mrs. David Latta.

Mrs. Eula Battey is doing well after an injury months ago. So is Mrs. Ola Warren. Some of our group are Alma Dunn, Mrs. Clay Muncy, the Brewers, Mrs. Roe Jones, Francis Mitchell, the O.G. Mayfields, Mrs. Plumlee, Mrs. Wiley Rogers, Mrs. C.M. Meredith, Louis Anderson, and Opal Rogers.

Let us remember the sick.

C.H. [Charlie] OWEN, Jr., 72, of Waco made a boast at Saturday's celebration that stood without a challenge. He claimed he was the only man in the crowd born on the courthouse square. Owen was born at the city hotel operated by "Ma Mitchell."

YOUNGEST BIDDER—Kelsey Assiter, 2, was definitely the youngest bidder at Saturday's auction held under the recently extended pavillon. She is the daughter of Tim and Robin Assiter. She was bidding for her grandparents, Tommy and Joy Assiter. Auctioneers Sam Fortenberry, Kenneth Gregg, "Spanky" Assiter, and Tim Assiter donated their time and talents toward auctioning donated items for fundraising for the Floyd County Pioneer Association.

FARTHEST DISTANCE—Dewayne Hatley of Los Angeles, California, was the former Floyd County resident traveling the most miles to attend Saturday's pioneer reunion, having come some 1200 miles.

SOUTH PLAINS NEWS

by Mrs. Murray Julian

South Plains, May 27th:

This Monday, May 27th, beginning at 2:00 p.m. and going through 5:00 the Vacation Bible School will be going on at the South Plains Baptist Church throughout the week. The time each day will be 2-5:00, Monday through Friday. Parents night will be Sunday evening at 6:30 p.m. The Rev. Cecil Osborne is director of the VBS, and teachers will be Connie Johnson and Gaile Henderson, who will teach the middle older children. Jolene Cummings will be teaching the pre-school and kindergarten children; Nina Sanders is songleader for the VBS, and is in charge of refreshments for the children during the week. Joyce Osborne is secretary for the school, and the Rev. Cecil Osborne is directing the weeks VBS. This is an important week for your children, as they study the Holy Bible and learn to be better Christians.

We welcome Raymond and Nina Upton home to South Plains after a month of absence in Lubbock and in the hospital there. We are so glad to have them back with us. Shelby and Margaret Calahan went to Lubbock Sunday afternoon to bring them home.

There has been little wind the past few days, but the days have been just beautiful, and farmers are getting their crops in the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton and Juanita Teeple and Mrs. Helen Teeple went to Marrera, Louisiana to visit Mr. and Mrs. Bill and Rhonda Teeple Parker on Wednesday, May 8th. On Friday Dwight, Brian and Keith Teeple flew to Marrera, where they all attended the wedding of Richard Lee Reddout and Pamela Jane Collins in the First Assembly of God Church in Kenner, Louisiana on May 11. The wedding reception was held in Lake Marina Tower in New Orleans. Pamela is the daughter of Mrs. Joyce Collins of New Orleans, and Richard (Ricky) is the son of Mrs. David Reddout of Springfield, Missouri, and the grandson of Leighton and Juanita Teeple. Dwight and family returned home by plane on Sunday, and Leighton and Juanita returned back home on May 16th.

Mrs. Terry Julian (Leona) and son, Dickie Roscoe, visited here in the home of Mrs. M.M. Julian from Sunday to Tuesday of this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Marc and Barbara Smitherman from Knoxville, Tennessee were here visiting their relatives all last week. They visited the Phillip Smithermans, the Ernest Smithermans and Monty Smitherman. They were to fly home on Sunday of the past weekend.

Mrs. Charlene Starke has returned to work at the South Plains School, and is doing fine since her recent surgery at the Plainview hospital.

At 8 o'clock Wednesday morning, May 15, if you had looked out east from South Plains you would have seen many cars winding their way to the pretty backyard of Mrs. Mamie Wood where her annual "Breakfast at Mamie's" was held. The wind was chilly, but with jackets on, everyone joined in the festivities. The backyard was lovely with tables and decorations. A delicious breakfast of chili cheese squares, sausage roll-ups, blueberry muffins, dishes of fruits, every kind of jelly, rolls and hot coffee were served.

Hostesses with Mamie Wood were Dot Cummings, Letha Mulder, Ruby Lee Higginbotham, and Mildred Hamm. It was a delicious breakfast and abundant food. After the breakfast the crowd went indoors for the program with a heartwarming loveable book review given by Judy Dunlap. "A Mother's Touch," by Alice Arndt, is a story with traditional helps of love, and she said, "Keep your new baby with you, close at hand. Babies are loaned, not owned. Build traditions, especially Christian blessings in a happy environment, for home is where you learn." We are reminded of the needs of children as the little boy who ran into the kitchen crying, "Right now I need someone with skin on."

Hostesses who assisted Mamie Wood were Mildred Hamm, Letha Mulder, Ruby Lee Higginbotham and Dot Cummings. Guests at the breakfast were Syble Teeple, Ruth Trapp, Muri Mayfield, Bonnie Julian, Mary True, Gertrude Smitherman, Neva Smith, Madge West, Atha Sue, Judy Dunlap, Virginia Taylor, Bobbie Kinnibrugh, Jewel Fortenberry, Joyce Osborne, Bonnie Moore, Mary Corley, Katharine Ball, Eva Cresswell, Pat Stewart, Arlene Crowover, Margaret Kitchens, Kathleen Thornton, Margie Sue, Oleta Wilson, Winnie Beedy, Carolyn Redding, Letha Mulder, Mildred Hamm, Ruby Lee Higginbotham, Dot Cummings, Flossie Beedy and hostess Mamie Wood.

Mrs. Ruby Lee Higginbotham spent several days this past week in Lubbock with her son, Bud Higginbotham, who was ill with a virus.

Those who went to Plainview Saturday night for a delicious supper and evening together were Mr. and Mrs. Philip Smitherman; their son, Monty Smitherman; another son, Mr. and Mrs. Marc and Barbara Smitherman from Knoxville, Tennessee; Mrs. Susie Autrey from Silvertown, Mr. and Mrs. Donald and Jane Bean, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest and Ruth Smitherman, all of Floydada.

We were sorry to learn of the passing of Bonnie Moore of Floydada, who passed away Friday morning after a brief illness. She was laid to rest Saturday in the Resthaven Memorial Park in Lubbock, with memorial services Saturday at 2:00 p.m. at the graveside. Gleyne Earle Cummings and Ruby Lee Higginbotham from here went to the services. The First Assembly of God Church of Floydada's pastor Rev. Lynn Bond officiated at the services.

Aileen Smitherman, who now lives in Dimmitt, and others of her family were here visiting Sunday with Ernest and Ruth Smitherman.

Old Settler's Day in Floydada was Saturday with beautiful weather. Young and old enjoyed this time. Many from here attended and enjoyed all the festivities.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby and Regina Craddock of Sundown came to spend the long holiday week-end with her parents, Nina and Richard Sanders and children. Regina attended Baptist Church services here Sunday with her mother and brother.

First wheat delivered

The first load of 1985 wheat was delivered to Producers' Cooperative Elevator Wednesday, May 22, according to cooperative manager, Bob Vickers. The wheat was cut May 21 and transported from a Francis Brothers farm in the Flomot area in Motley County. The 1730 bushels were delivered to the Dougherty facility to market. It tested 13 moisture; test weight was 60 lbs. to the bushel.

Jerry Batty delivered the first load of Floyd County wheat to D&P Grain at Lakeview Tuesday at 2:30 p.m., according to elevator owner, Roger Poage. The grain was harvested from Batty land surrounding the elevator by Billy Hinkle, combiner. Test weight was 61 lbs. to the bushel, and the moisture content was 11.90%.

Poage reported two other fields being harvested to his knowledge now for Frank and Rex Breed. Wayne Collins is combining a field of wheat north of Lakeview, and Doug Galloway is working on the James Lee Nichols farm.

Poage reported market price for wheat at present is about $2.85 a bushel with the loan price at $3.10.

Stockholders meeting held

Producers held their annual stockholders meeting Wednesday. 275 attended the dinner meeting catered by Danny's Fius and Hens.

Winners of the major door prizes were Travis Jones, winner of the shotgun; Rick Heflin, winner of a VCR; and Doug Galloway, winner of a Zenith 25" color TV.

New directors elected were Kenneth Willis and Melvin Lloyd. Other board members are Bill Hardin, Rob Heflin, and Kay Crabtree.

Planting date affects grain yields

A number of studies in the Great Plains area indicate that the major cause of yield variations in grain sorghum production is the number of seed per head according to Dr. Dan Krieg, crop physiologist for the plant and soil sciences department of the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University. Experimentation with various management practices and grain sorghum varieties has been conducted over the past several years to determine the effects of planting dates, nitrogen fertility, and water management on high plains grain sorghum yield. Krieg indicates that proper treatment of the grain sorghum plant will yield about one tenth of a pound of grain per head. Test involving four different hybrids differing in maturity from early to medium-late types yielded a 25% increase in pounds per acre on irrigated grain sorghum and a 10% increase on dryland grain sorghum.

Grain Sorghum Development

Grain sorghum development occurs in three distinct phases, the first stage being vegetative development following germination. The second and most critical portion in the life of a grain sorghum plant begins with the development of panicle branches followed by the development of individual florets. During this phase, the plant is highly susceptible to stress such as high temperatures and water deficits. Stress will reduce the number of florets and ultimately, the total yield. The third stage of development begins with full flowering and ends when the grain is mature. Water stress during the period when the grain is filling decreases photosynthesis, but minimally effects seed weight unless the stress is extreme as the plant draws mainly on carbon and nitrogen compounds stored in the stem and lower leaves to fill the grain. With this in mind, the formula for grain sorghum yield becomes grain yield equals the number of heads per acre times the number of seeds per head times the seed weight.

Planting Date

Grain sorghum development is very responsive to accumulated energy, calculated as heat units. The process from planting to flowering involves the accumulation of about 700 heat units. When planting occurs in early May, 70 to 75 days are needed to amass the required heat units. Planting in early June decreases the time needed to accumulate the necessary heat units to 60 or 65 days. Krieg maintains that the number of seeds per head increases when the planting date is moved from May to June, causing as much as a 30% increase in the number of seeds per head. The test plots contained less heads per acre, but Krieg explains that the critical factor is the production of more seeds in less days with less leaf area. Less leaf area is important in that water use by grain sorghum plants is a combination of leaf area and time. Planting in early June may have the potential of reducing total water use before flowering. This will result in increased water use efficiency and profitability.

Nitrogen Fertility

Dr. Krieg also notes that nitrogen fertility management can alter productivity and water use efficiency. About 300 pounds of nitrogen are required per acre in order to produce 7000 pounds of grain and 7000 pounds of forage material. Krieg contends that the application of one third to one half before planting with the remaining one half to two thirds divided and applied several times during the second phase of development will provide the most dramatic increase per unit of nitrogen used. The major yield response will again be an increased number of seeds per head produced.

Water Management

During the critical second phase of grain sorghum plant development, water management is critical. Recent research shows that grain sorghum plants need eight to ten inches of water to produce a harvestable yield response which increases by 600 to 700 pounds of grain per inch of water applied to each acre above the 8 to 10 inch requirement. The management of plant population based on water supply is very necessary. The end result of proper management in all areas should be a higher seed number and a greater potential yield from a smaller population of plants with less water and nitrogen.

Commodity Credit Corporation loan values of predominant High Plains cotton qualities will be closer to the national base loan rate in 1985 than in 1984. According to officials of Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., this is the first year-to-year improvement in that relationship since 1978 and only the second since 1971.

Discounts for the shorter staples and lower grades in 1985 are down as much as 200 points (two cents per pound) from those in effect for 1984. Most discount decreases, however, are in the 50 to 175 point range, with an average drop of almost 120 points on the 105 quality combinations tabulated by PCG.

Discounts for low micronaire cotton in 1985, however, are up from 10 to 30 points over last year.

The 1985 loan premiums and discounts, released recently by USDA, apply to a national base loan rate of 57.3 cents per pound for SLM 1-1/16th inch (41-34) 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire at average location. The national base 1984 loan was 2.3 cents lower at 55 cents, to which a 20 point location differential was added at High Plains warehouse locations. USDA says 1985 location differentials will be announced later, probably within two to three weeks.

Assuming the same 20-point location adjustment this year, which may or may not be forthcoming, the 41-34 base loan for the Plains will be 57.5 cents. This increase plus the lower discounts on average would raise loan values for High Plains cottons by over $15 per bale over 1984.

"And if prices this fall hover at or just above the loan level as is widely predicted," adds PCG Executive Vice President Donald Johnson, "the increase will give a welcome and badly needed boost to producer income."

Premiums and discounts assigned to the loan program, according to USDA, reflect an average of 1984 loan figures and spot market quotations for the August through February period of the 1984 marketing year. The chart below shows a comparison of premiums and discounts in the 1984 and 1985 loan programs.

Allen presents memorial service

This year's memorial service was given by Judy Allen. She reflected on two of the more outstanding citizens of the county who had passed away during the year.

Judy and Janet Lloyd sang two duets "Amazing Grace" and "When We've Been There 10,000 Years" accompanied by Ella Stapp on the piano.

The memorial service is reprinted for the benefit of our readers in its entirety with the list of names who were named:

As we pause at this time to remember those who have passed away since last Old Settlers Day, my thoughts immediately go to Uncle Albert Mize. There are so many good memories of Uncle that come to mind. Many holidays and special occasions were spent with Uncle and Auntie, with others of the family. We would be gathered around a table loaded with good food or sit in front of the television watching football games. Sometimes we would just sit and visit and listen to his stories of growing up in Arkansas or of his part in the cavalry along the Texas-Mexico border.

Uncle was a deacon for many years first at Cedar Hill and then at First Baptist here in town. Until his health prevented his coming, you could count on seeing him sitting there during the worship service. I would be rich if I had a dollar for every game of "84" or "Pitch" that I had seen Uncle play. He really enjoyed winning a game of "84", but could also laugh it off if some mistake prevented it.

After Auntie and Uncle moved to town, there were several occasions on Saturday morning when I would look up and here would come Uncle walking along - possibly with his cane during the late times - just barely getting along, but walking the 4 blocks from their house to ours. He didn't want a ride home - he needed the exercise, so after resting a bit, here he would go back home along the same route.

Yes, we miss those who have passed away, but our lives are so much richer for their having passed away.

Elaine Hardy of Lockney passed away this year, too. Hers was a life of much sickness but she, too, left behind a legacy of courage and strength. The Lockney Beacon carried a couple of poems that she had sent to her Sunday School class a few weeks before her death that exemplifies her life, and I would like to share one with you. It is by Helen Steiner Rice entitled "The Way to God."

"If my days were untroubled and my heart always light, Would I seek that fair land where there is no night, If I never grew weary with the weight of my load, Would I search for God's Peace at the end of the road; If I never knew sickness and never felt pain Would I reach for a hand to help and sustain; If I walked not with sorrow and lived without loss Would my soul seek sweet solace at the foot of the cross; If all I desired was mine day by day Would I kneel before God and earnestly pray; If God sent no "winter" to freeze me with fear Would I yearn for the warmth of "Spring" every year; I ask myself this and the answer is plain If my life were all pleasure and I never knew pain I'd seek God less often and need Him much less, for God is sought more often in times of distress, And no one knows God or sees Him as plain As those who have met Him on "The Pathway of Pain."

The memorial list for 1984-85 is: Joseph Perry Earp, Mrs. Abbie E. Grubbs, Oscar C. Jacobs, Mrs. Jewel Aubrey Miller, Mrs. Mae Belle Phillips, Mrs. Velma Solomon, the Rev. Paul R. Fullerton, S.E. Hearing tests

set for Lockney

LOCKNEY: Free Electronic hearing tests will be given at the Lockney Community Center on Thursday, May 30th, from 10:00 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Larry Lindsey, licensed hearing aid specialist, will be at the Community Center to perform the tests.

Anyone who has trouble hearing or understanding speech clearly is welcome to have a test using modern electronic equipment to determine if his loss is one which can be helped. Some of the causes of hearing loss will be explained, and diagrams of how the ear works will be shown.

Everyone should have a hearing test at least once a year if there is any trouble at all understanding speech clearly. Even people now wearing a hearing aid or those who have been told nothing could be done for them should have a hearing test and find out whether the latest methods of hearing correction can help them hear better.

The free hearing test will be given Thursday from 10 a.m. to 12 noon at the Community Center. If you can't get there on Thursday call 293-8585 and arrange for an appointment at another time. In-home testing is also available.

The Disabled American Veterans asks you to remember our war dead on MEMORIAL DAY

DAV Vietnam Veterans National Memorial Angel Fire, N.M.

Letter to the Editor

I lost both legs and an arm in Vietnam, but many sacrificed far more than I in America's wars and other armed conflicts. Since our country's founding, a million and a quarter servicemen and women gave up life itself.

Memorial Day is their day -- a day on which we're asked to remember the immense sacrifices that paid the price for our way of life. Such memories come naturally to those of us who served in times of war and armed conflict. Most of us saw others die in combat. We can't ever forget them.

The federal observance of Memorial Day falls on May 27 this year. Many municipalities and veterans' organizations, however, prefer to observe Memorial Day on the traditional May 30 date.

Thank you,
Chad Colley
National Commander
Disabled American Veterans

FRENCH PROCESS MAKES PERFECT

French processed cheeses, called fromages fondus, are perfect for so many occasions. Some, mild and smooth, are just the thing for a quick lunch—either melted in a sandwich or munched with a crisp apple. Yet others—subtly flavored with herbs, enhanced by fruits or syrups, or decorated with nuts or seeds—make attractive additions to any hors d'oeuvre tray or dessert table.

Some are soft, others hard; some are sliceable, others spreadable. Almost all are blends made with a fine French gruyère as the base.

Processed cheeses offer many advantages. They are well-priced, convenient and, because of the processing, have exceptional keeping qualities.

On an appetizer tray, serve a selection of fromages fondus with classic French pre-dinner drinks. Lillet, a smooth and fragrant French vermouth, or Pineau des Charentes, a tasty, spicy blend of Cognac and new wine are perfect examples of these. And Kir is always a favorite—just a few drops of crème de cassis (black currant liqueur) added to a chilled white Burgundy wine.

If you prefer a fancier presentation instead of serving the cheeses on their own, try a cube of one of the herb-flavored varieties skewered on a toothpick with your favorite raw vegetable—broccoli florets, cubes of zucchini, whole cherry tomatoes—and top off the spear with a Nicoise olive.

Sweeter fromages fondus can be cubed, rolled in crushed nuts or cookie crumbs and skewered with fresh berries.

For something more elaborate still, make a classic French omelet and fill it with your favorite cheese; sweet—with a tablespoon of French preserves—or savory—with lightly sautéed shallots or leeks and red peppers.

No matter what time of day or what occasion, it's always the perfect time for processed cheeses from France.

Card of Thanks

Our thanks to all our friends and neighbors for all your prayers, thoughts, food and flowers during the illness and death of our Mom, "Granny Marr".
 An extra special thanks to Dr. W.J. and Gary Mangold and the nurses and staff of Lockney General Hospital who cared for her so sweetly.
 The Marr Family

Friendship is not merely one of life's ornaments, it is one of the very essentials upon which life is founded.
 We wish to thank our friends, Bro. Hal Farnsworth and Sue for the prayers, visits, flowers, food and the many cards for us both while we were in the hospital and home. We love all of you.
