NEW LAKES IN FLOYD COUNTY? Much of Floyd County appears to be a lake following the heavy rains of Tuesday and Tuesday night. This field between the Floydada Livestock Sales and the airport on the Silverton highway bears witness to the oversaturation of the fields!

Rain drenches county

Since rain began falling in this area on Monday, there has been virtually no let up in over 48 hours. Rainfall amounts have been reported at nearly everything from 4.7 inches at Barwise to as much as seven inches at South Plains. South Plains also experienced some hail on Tuesday afternoon according to Keith Marble.

Neta Marble reported that Liberty Community had about 6½ inches of rain as of Wednesday morning with rain still falling. The Covingtons at Dougherty report a total of six inches as of 6:00 a.m. on Wednesday with heavy rain still falling. Craig Edwards at McCoy Community and Bill Race of Erick Community both report five inches of rain while Floydada, Lockney, and Cedar Hill have each had approximately six inches according to Bob Vickers of Producers Co-op.

The much needed rain has caused some flooding in low lying areas and may have damaged some of the young crops. Counties to the west of Floyd have been even more blessed with rain. Roads were under water and some were closed in the Tulia and Plainview area Tuesday evening. Lake Mackenzie had risen to over 97 feet in the past 24 hours. This is welcome news for the water district, whose level was below 90 feet before the rains came. Manager Neil Taylor reported over four inches of rain on Tuesday and said the lake could reach its highest ever level, exceeding the 105 foot maximum depth recorded in the past.

Tulia's rainfall totaled nearly six inches on Wednesday morning. Silverton was reporting nearly four inches and Quitaque had measured almost 5½ inches.

At press time, the Floydada sky showed signs of clearing to the west. Weather forecasts are still calling for additional rainfall through Wednesday.

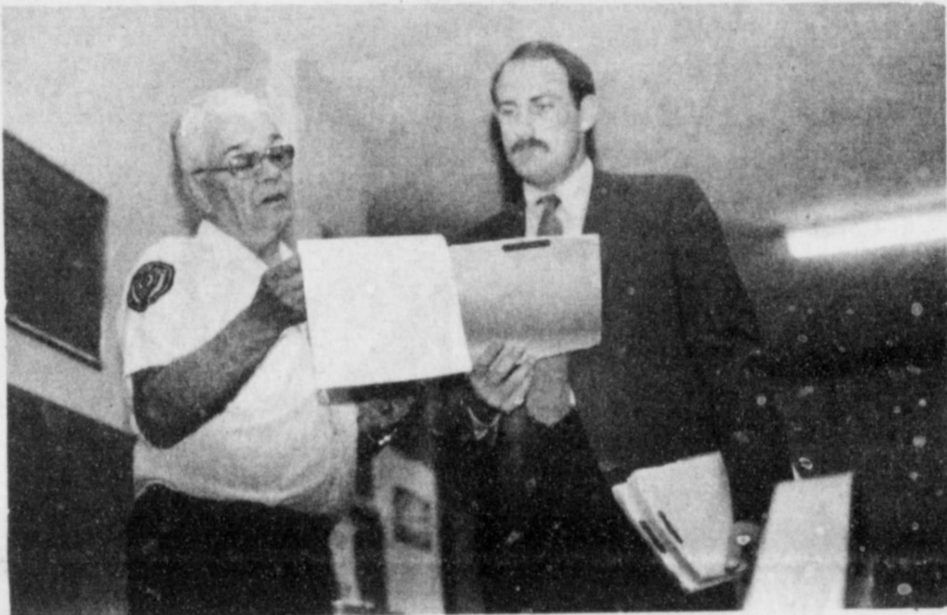

Property sold for taxes

A sheriff's sale conducted on the courthouse steps on June 4 at 11:00 a.m. resulted in three properties reverting to the taxing entities to whom the delinquent taxes were owed. Amarillo attorney Brent Sherrod represented the Floyd County Appraisal District and the taxing entities in the procedure.

Specific properties involved in the sale were: All of lots 1 and 2, block 20, Town of Floydada, Floyd County, Texas under the name of Willie C. Zavala and Glenn Jarnagin; All of lot 1, block 35, Original Town of Floydada, Floyd County, Texas under the name of Leon or Aslee Barnes; and All of lot 12, block 32, Original Town of Floydada, Floyd County, Texas under the name of Rufus Minnett and Jimmie Lee Minnett.

As there were no bidders on the property, ownership will be turned over to the taxing entities according to state law.

SHERIFF FRED CARDINAL conducted the Sheriff's sale of delinquent tax properties on the courthouse steps June 4 at 11:00 a.m. Amarillo attorney Brent Sherrod represented the Floyd County taxing entities in the proceedings which were held inside the outer doors due to the inclement weather Floydada experienced on Tuesday.

Police report two incidents

Acting Police Chief James Hale reports two incidents over the weekend which required ambulance service and hospital treatment. On Saturday evening at approximately 10:30 p.m., a woman was apparently struck by a car. The woman was treated and released at Caprock Hospital. The incident is under investigation according to Hale.

The second incident involved a young rider whose foot became entangled in the spokes of a bicycle wheel while she was riding on the handle bars. The child was treated and released from Caprock Hospital. The incident occurred near the Little Stand Grocery on the Silverton Highway.

May arrests total 37

Sheriff Fred Cardinal's office reports 37 arrests during the month of May. There were 12 arrests for driving while intoxicated, 10 arrests for public intoxication, two arrests for disorderly conduct, two arrests for forgery, and two arrests for theft. Two people were charged with aggravated assault with a deadly weapon and one of these was also charged with unlawfully carrying a weapon. Four persons were arrested on traffic warrants and one arrest was made for criminal non-support. One arrest was made for indecency with a child on a warrant from another county.

DEBRA, JENNIFER, and MARK ASHLEY

Love Fund established for Ashley

A Love Fund has been established at the First United Methodist Church for Mark Ashley. Mark underwent surgery for a brain tumor Thursday, May 30. He is expected to be returned to his home today.

He will return to Lubbock for a checkup and the removal of stitches next week.

At press time every effort was being exerted to make arrangements for a special treatment. Two avenues are being investigated. In either case Mark and his wife will be making an extended stay outside the United States and the medical costs, travel, and lodging incurred will be sizeable.

Floyd County folks have dug deep in their pockets to help in such instances before. Please do so again to help this young man receive treatment in time.

All contributions should be designated for the Mark Ashley Love Fund and sent to: First United Methodist Church, 203 W. Kentucky, Floydada, Texas 79235.

Sessions sentenced to prison on two counts

Vernon Lee Sessions, a Floydada resident, was sentenced on two separate cases in 110th District Court on June 3. His probation was revoked, and he will serve the remainder of a five year sentence for bribery of a peace officer. This sentence was the result of a 1983 incident in which Sessions attempted to bribe James Hale, then a police officer.

The second sentence was passed for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon. Sessions plead guilty of firing upon a vehicle being driven by Rathyl Jones on May 6, 1985. Judge George Miller ordered that the sentences be served concurrently. Sessions will be transported to Huntsville to be turned over to state department of corrections personnel.

District Attorney Randy Hollums prosecuted the case while Steven Hale acted as counsel for Sessions.

Electrical short causes fire

A fire which broke out at Consumer's Fuel early Sunday afternoon was apparently caused by an electrical short in the underground conduit leading to one of the pumps according to Fire Chief Bobby Welborn. Damages were limited to some tires and a light pole and were estimated at approximately $500.00. There were no injuries.

The Floydada Volunteer Fire Department made only one run during the month of May. The call was to a mobile home fire in the Evans Trailer Park. Damages were limited to $2500.00 in that May 6 blaze.

Congressman Beau Boulter Reports from Washington

BUDGET BATTLE BEGINS—DEFENSE REFORMS A PRIORITY

The House of Representatives has begun the process of developing the 1986 federal budget. As a member of the Budget Committee, I will be faced with many difficult budget decisions. And judging from the preliminary budget issued by the Majority on the Budget Committee, one very tough battle will center on the budget for the Department of Defense (DOD).

The budget being proposed by Budget Committee Chairman Bill Gray freezes defense spending, with no provision for inflation. This will cut into processing new defensive weapons systems that are currently in the research phase. These systems, such as the Strategic Defense Initiative, are vital to the proper defense of this country.

This type of freeze, in my opinion, is irresponsible. The most important duty of a government is to protect its citizens. This budget proposal would not allow for what I consider adequate national defense.

I could, however, support a compromise which would freeze the defense budget, allowing increases only for inflation, if it included provisions for major reforms throughout the DOD.

I am a member of the House Military Reform Caucus, and through my work on that Caucus, I have become increasingly aware of areas within the DOD budget in which substantial savings could be achieved without the loss of defensive abilities. There is little argument against the fact that our defense industry has become grossly inefficient. Currently, that industry works at about one-third efficiency, and the full cost is paid by our tax dollars.

For instance, current procedures do not allow for truly competitive bidding on many military contracts. Contract negotiations, which today make up the vast majority of all major system and spare parts procurement, should be brought into line with commercial competitive market prices.

One suggestion for doing this would be to have a system of dual source contracting, which would award a contract to the TWO lowest bidders, with the major award going to the lowest bidder, and a smaller part going to the second lowest bidder. This system, obviously, would increase pressure on a contractor to maintain the lowest possible costs while producing at the highest possible rate of efficiency.

Another suggestion may seem ridiculously obvious, but in fact, requires legislation to enact: cancel procurement of those weapons that have demonstrated their ineffectiveness in operational tests, using at least some of the savings to fully fund worthwhile weapons.

These are two of many recommendations made by the Military Reform Caucus and by the President's Private Sector Survey on Cost Control, also known as the Grace Commission. At the Pentagon, as well as throughout the entire federal budget, we must identify waste and inefficiency, and cut it from the federal budget.

If we do not, we will continue to lose ground to the Soviets not because of how much we are able to spend on our national defense, but because of how we spend it.

I.M.P. AND SYLVIA—Floydada High School student, Sylvia Adair is shown astride her horse I.M.P. [I'll Make You Proud]. Adair and I.M.P. will be competing in the Tri-State High School Rodeo Finals at Amarillo's Fair Park Coliseum June 6-9.

Adair makes rodeo finals

Sylvia Adair, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Adair, will be representing Floydada High School at the Tri-State High School Rodeo Finals held in Amarillo at the Fair Park Coliseum June 6-9.

Sylvia's representation is a result of qualifying in the top 15 high school students that have competed all year at high school rodeos.

The contestants come from all over New Mexico, Oklahoma, and Texas and compete for prize money, saddles, trophy buckles and most important, scholarship money.

Qualifying in the top 15 is a difficult task in that a student must maintain a B average. Grades are turned in to the High School Rodeo Association at the end of each six weeks.

Like an Olympic athlete, to be successful, a serious rodeo athlete must be totally dedicated, constantly working out and training especially when the events competed in include a horse, which Sylvia's do.

She and her horse "I.M.P." have been successful as a team because of the daily workouts no matter what the weather.

It has been difficult at times because of having to give up school and social activities but it has paid off in that, not only has Sylvia qualified for the finals, but she is one of the two freshman in three states that made it.

Any parent would be proud to have their child participate in the wholesome atmosphere the high school rodeo arena has to offer as there is a rigid code of dress and a definite code of manners.

Sylvia and "I.M.P." have traveled many miles this last year representing Floydada High School as the only member of the Floydada High School rodeo team. She has conducted herself always in a ladylike manner and has the true spirit of a tough competitor that can make Floydada proud.

Her horse's name says it all, "I.M.P." standing for "I'll Make You Proud."

Home is almost sold

Mrs. Asalee Barnes, a Floydada resident, is a widow with a problem. Like many other people, she did not fully comprehend the seriousness of the situation which resulted in numerous delinquent tax notices being delivered to her in the past years. A lack of response or action on her part brought the situation to a head recently. Her home was scheduled to be sold on the courthouse steps by the sheriff on June 4 at 11:00 a.m.

The problem is not new, nor was it totally unexpected. "I knew something would happen, but I never really expected them to sell my house from under me," said Barnes, who has been unable to work since she sustained a back injury in the late 1960's. She was employed by Deep Rock as a dishwasher for 10 years prior to that.

Social Security payments provided the only income for Barnes and her seven children following her husband's death in 1973. Leon Barnes more than 20 years as a farm laborer for Watson Jones provided that small bit of security which ceased upon the graduation of the youngest daughter from high school in 1981. In addition to her own children, Barnes has raised two grandchildren, the youngest of which graduated from Floydada High School this year. Social Security payments for the grandchildren have now stopped also.

"I was paying on my taxes a little when I could until I got hurt and couldn't work. I couldn't pay after that," stated Barnes. She receives food stamps, but no other form of public assistance or aid. The 58-year-old woman has never filed for any type of help other than food stamps and has been told that she will not be eligible to draw Social Security for herself until she is 62.

The Barnes children have helped and continue to aid their mother whenever it is possible for them to do so, but with the demands their own families and careers place on them, there is seldom much extra to contribute. One son pays her utility bills and another had agreed to pay $40.00 a month on the tax liability. He was unable to meet the payments and the current situation resulted.

A third son, Don R. Barnes, who lives in Las Vegas, Nevada, was notified of his mother's dilemma on May 30. He had until 11:00 a.m. on June 4 to pay the delinquent taxes plus any outstanding interest, penalty, and fees, or see his mother lose her home to a sheriff's sale.

Shiela Faulkenberry, Chief Appraiser for the Floyd County Central Tax Appraisal District, stated that portions of the delinquent taxes date back to 1969. "Mrs. Barnes has received from two to four notices a year from the attorneys plus the two notices this office sends out each year since 1982," said Faulkenberry. "The lawsuit was filed over a year and a half ago. This resulted in the agreement to pay $40.00 each month which was not honored. There was no alternative for this office but to proceed with the seizure and sale of the property."

Fortunately for Mrs. Barnes, her son Don was able to raise the required money and the delinquent taxes were paid in full before the sale could be held. A vacant lot next to the home was sold by Sheriff Fred Cardinal on the Floyd County Courthouse steps just after 11:00 a.m. on June 4 as well as two other parcels.

"It is most important that people realize that delinquent taxes must be paid, just as current taxes must be paid," says Faulkenberry. "We must follow through once we begin and unless payment is made, a person could lose their home."

Jack Robertson will display ranch photos during June

Photographs taken by Jack Robertson during "History Day at the Ranch" will be the featured exhibit at the First National Bank of Floydada for the month of June. The photos were taken in the fall of 1984 when the General James Smith Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas presented the project.

The use of sepia, or brown tones, gives Robertson's work a timelessness, making modern photos look as if they could be old. His eye for detail and his penchant for capturing the spirit or character of his subjects is revealed in this collection.

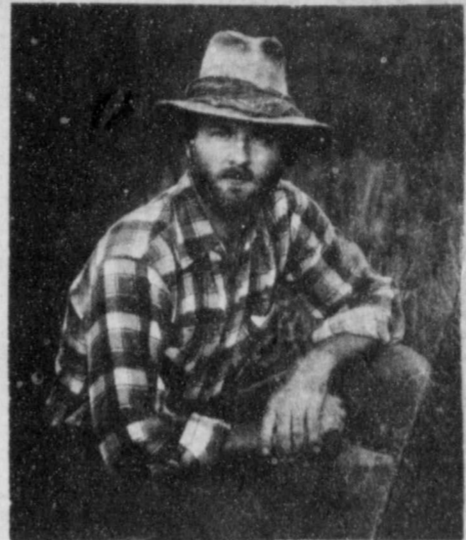

When asked in an on the job interview about his personal preference in subject matter, Robertson replied, "Next to portraits, I really like taking landscapes, being outdoors, using creativity with nature."

Young in years, but old in experience, Robertson has gained his expertise by taking classes at Southwestern in Weatherford, Oklahoma, LCC and Texas Tech in Lubbock, and working in a photo lab as well as in a camera store. He is an accredited member of the Texas Professional Photographers Association and of the Professional Photographers of America.

Robertson, originally from the Silverton area, is the son of the late Jack Robertson and Mrs. Gayle Robertson. He is assisted in his business, R. Photography of Floydada, by his wife Allison. She takes care of the secretarial duties and art work, including repairs, retouching, and restoration.

The First National Bank is proud to display this collection of photographs and wishes to invite everyone to come by and view the remarkable work of Jack Robertson between the hours of 9:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. Monday through Friday.

THE LADIES AT THE PALACE—Sarah Hinsley, Linda Hinsley, and Wanda Williams are waiting to see that their customers receive the best of service in the friendliest of shops at the new Hallmark store in Floydada.

Williams and 2 daughters open shop at The Palace

Wanda Williams and her two daughters, Linda Hinsley and Sarah Hinsley, have opened a Hallmark shop in Floydada. The recently opened business plans a grand opening with all the trimmings on June 14 at the 118 West California location. Utilizing the old theatre lobby as well as the name, Williams and company have created a cheerful and friendly shopping experience for local customers.

The inspiration for opening a Hallmark shop in the Floydada area came, according to Sarah, "from Aunt Nell. She has four shops in the Dallas area." Sharing the time and workload of operating the shop creates just the right atmosphere for the three ladies. They were looking for something to do that would still allow them the freedom to tend to necessary family obligations.

Says Linda, "We all had free time and felt the need to do something. This allows us the flexibility to have a business without any of us being overburdened."

Williams says, "We have found our new venture both interesting and exciting. Already we have been to market in Dallas, and that was a real experience." Sarah added, "We have certainly learned a lot about things that we had no idea could be involved when we started this."

The Palace features the Hallmark line of cards, stationary, party supplies, and gift items. This array of goodies will be supplemented by selections of Dakin stuffed animals, Precious Moments figurines, and Gorham crystal. A soon to be added attraction will be Russell Stover candy.

Items offered for sale are reasonably priced from inexpensive to more costly items. "We have several items which would fall within a child's budget when a gift is needed," says Linda. The opening of this shop should add a new dimension to the shopping community of Floydada. The ladies at The Palace invite everyone in to browse and shop.

Wanda Williams is married to Aldine Williams of Floydada Real Estate and Insurance. In addition to two daughters, they have a son, Dean. Daughters Linda and Sarah married brothers who farm in the Floydada area. Linda and Michael Hinsley have three children: Angie, Amy and Chad. As three seem to run in the family, Sarah and Kim Hinsley also have three children: Stacy, Kristy, and Todd.

"Women in Military" are topic of May DAR meeting

Buffalo Grass Chapter of DAR met Tuesday, May 28, at Lighthouse Electric. Thirteen members and six visitors were present. Anne Swebston presided over the meeting.

Lt. Col. Dan Gomez, Director of Personnel at Reese Air Force Base at Lubbock was guest speaker. He mentioned the contribution of Women in the Military. He said there have been approximately 280 women Air Force pilots graduated since 1978. The only limitation for women pilots is that they cannot fly on combat missions. Over 1000 women pilots served during World War II and the Korean war, flying ferry missions from the U.S. to Hawaii, the Far East and Europe, and were also used to train pilots. Many of the women also flew the C-9 Nightingale Hospital Planes. At this time there are several women serving as flight instructors at RAFB.

Lt. Col. Gomez is a 21 year veteran of the Air Force, planning retirement soon. He said that 13% of military enlistees reach 20 years of service; 35% of these retire at the 20 year level. The average length of service for commissioned officers is 24 years, for enlisted personnel is 22 years.

In speaking of Patriotism, Lt. Col. Gomez gave a quiz on the six flags which have flown over Texas, those of Spain, France, Mexico, Texas, the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy, and the U.S. Flag. He stated: 1. Too many of us take America for granted; 2. Be proud of your patriotism; 3. Be a Patriot.

After the refreshment break; the regent Anne Swebston continued the chapter meeting. Nancy Marble read the President General's message from the DAR magazine. She also reported that there were about 40 in attendance at the Genealogical Workshop held May 24 at the museum.

Due to the resignation of Emma Lou Whitaker, treasurer, Nancy Marble was elected to this position.

Mrs. Betty Campbell, Regent of Mary Baines McCoy Chapter DAR at Plainview was present and installed the following officers: Regent, Anne Swebston; Vice Regent, Janis Julian; Chaplain, Loretta Denning; Recording Secretary, Emily Johnston; Corresponding Secretary, Nova Evans; Treasurer, Nancy Marble; Registrar, Carolyn Marble; Historian, Ona Ruth Neff; Literarin, Margaret Wheeler; Curator, Susan Dunavant.

Those present included members, Loretta Denning, Susan Dunavant, Emily Johnston, Gladys Jones, Janis Julian, Ona Ruth Neff, Venoy Sanders, Anne Swebston, Emma Lou Whitaker, Blanche Williams, Eugenia Bethard, Sherry Colston, Nancy Marble; and visitors, Lt. CENTER NEWS

by Mrs. J.E. Green

Here comes another week, Tuesday, June 4, 1985. And this is a "dark rainy day!" I'd enjoy it if I felt better! But some nice things have happened, anyway.

Sunday afternoon was the medical school graduation in Lubbock which included my granddaughter, Ms. Sarah Chandler, M.D. Yes, my Margaret's daughter, the oldest. There must have been many graduates, I did not learn, but it was an impressive ceremony. I went over with part of the Ryman's who went over from here. The Greens were represented too.

Other company I had Saturday night was Annie Green of Peralta, New Mexico on her way to Brownwood to summer school. My company for Monday night supper were Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Green, Vic and Sue Green and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Latta. These also attended the graduation, along with the Don Clark Greens of Big Springs.

Dawn Atteberry is home from her flying trip to Houston for a week. Of course she had a good time.

Wednesday: We had a big rain last night, 3/4 inches. Good stay in weather and that is what we are doing today! More next week.

Onions: The fresh "sweet" difference

Onions are probably one of the most essential culinary ingredients and here in Texas where the bulk of the nation's spring onions are grown, supplies are abundant at this time of the year. These spring onions, named by the Texas onion growers as "SpringSweet", are refreshingly sweet and mild. Because of their mildness, they are easily enjoyed in their raw state, chopped or sliced in salads, adorning a juicy hamburger, added to relishes for picnics, and the list could go on and on.

Texas SpringSweet onions are predominantly yellow onions with tissue-thin skins. Although "juicy" is not a word ordinarily used to describe onions, it definitely describes this spring onion variety. The juiciness results from the onion's high water content, indeed a freshly-harvested characteristic.

An important fact to note is that the shape of the onion, flat granex or round grano, is not necessarily the indicator of sweetness. "People tend to relate sweetness to the flatter varieties since they grew up with the Bermuda onion," notes Paula Fouchek, Director of the Texas Fresh Promotional Board. "The onion varieties that are around today have those sweet Bermuda characteristics in a round onion and the time of the year they are grown, during the winter months in the Lower Rio Grande Valley, insure their sweetness."

This season, Texas onion growers have introduced a new onion developed by Dr. Leonard Pike of Texas A&M. Scientifically, this onion is known as the 1015Y variety. The industry, however, has started referring to it as the Texas "Super Sweet". Being introduced into the grocery stores this spring, the New "Super Sweet" variety is an extremely mild round onion that grows to a jumbo size. The industry expects about 2 million bags of this variety this season. Next season they anticipate even more, as more seed is available for planting, and plan to have them better identified in the supermarkets.

For onion lovers, this is good news. The other good news is that while you are enjoying the flavors of the spring onions, you are actually contributing to a healthy diet. Research has shown that an onion weighing 150 grams or 5.3 oz. contributes 15% of the U.S. Recommended Daily Allowance of Vitamin C, contains only 65 calories, has only 10 mg. of sodium while providing 200 mg. of potassium. Quite a nutritious story.

Nutritious and delicious, spring onions are a great contribution to any meal. Try these tasty onion recipes from the onion growers of South Texas while supplies are abundant.

Texas SpringSweet Onion Salsa

- 3 cups chopped Texas onions
- 3 cups diced tomatoes (firm pink)
- 2 diced avocados
- 2 teaspoons finely chopped chile serrano (fresh or canned). Use less if tastes do not run mildly hot.
- 3 tablespoons fresh, chopped cilantro
- juice of two limes
- salt and pepper to taste
- sprinkle with garlic salt
- Mix all ingredients. Makes approximately one quart. Serve with grilled meats, hamburgers, or as a dip with tortilla chips.

Chicken-Flavored Onions

- 6 medium Texas onions
- 2 teaspoons granulated chicken bouillon
- 1/8 teaspoon white pepper
- 1/8 teaspoon marjoram
- 1/8 pound butter
- Add white pepper and marjoram to small amount of water and stew onions until fork tender. Remove with a draining spoon. In the bottom of a covered casserole dish, sprinkle chicken bouillon granules. Place drained onions over granules, top with butter, cover to hold in heat. The onions will release their juices, the butter will melt and dissolve the bouillon. Baste the onions with juices. Serve.

SOUTH PLAINS NEWS

By Mrs. Murray Julian

South Plains, June 3:

Storm warnings have been apparent the past two days but we have had no rain here at South Plains. Farmers have been getting ready for the wheat harvest, and some of our farmers have already been cutting.

Saturday June 1 ushered in the month of June with little wet feet. Friday night there was a little shower, and there have been showers around us.

Vacation Bible School was held here at the South Plains Baptist Church each afternoon last week from May 27 to May 31, with Sunday night June 2, as parents night. Visitors among those we had were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bradford of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Bryon Ford of Lockney. There were 16 pupils at VBS last week; teachers were Mmes. Jolene Cummings, Connie Johnson, Janis Julian, Gaile Henderson, and Nina Sanders. Rev. Cecil Osborne was superintendent of the VBS, and Joyce Osborne was in the office keeping records, with Janis Julian doing the music, and Nina Sanders leading the singing and taking care of the refreshments which were furnished by church members. Sunday night visitors got to see a review of the work the children had done all the week, and they enjoyed the Bible stories, songs. It is wonderful to have a week of Bible work for the children.

Mr. and Mrs. Lillie Maye and Grigsby Milton and Mr. and Mrs. Darla and Jerry Chappel attended the Yearly family reunion held this past Sunday.

Miss Barbara Renee Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D.R. Sanders of South Plains and Joel A. Mills, of Midland, will be united in marriage on June 8, 5:30 p.m. at the South Plains Baptist Church in South Plains, with the Reverend Cecil Osborne officiating.

Mrs. Sylvin Kinnibrugh spent weekend before this at Truscott visiting with her sister, Mrs. W.S. Simmons, Mrs. John Kinnibrugh, and her daughter, Mrs. Marilyn Horne.

Ryon Smith, 4-year-old son of Brad and Shari Smith, was hurt in a pickup mishap two weeks ago, and was rushed to Methodist Hospital for his injuries. We just pray he continues to get along well. He has been home now for some time.

Birthdays guests at the home of Mrs. Letha Mulder last weekend were two of her sisters from Clarendon, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Land and Mrs. Lavoy McGaugh, and another sister, Mrs. Inez Minyard of Littlefield who spent Tuesday here. Other guests were Letha's family from here.

Hobby Club of South Plains will be held on June 13. Club members will gather at the South Plains Church at 8:00 a.m. and go to Canyon on a tour of the interesting Canyon Museum. The group will have luncheon at the Railroad Crossing.

Raymond and Nina Upton are back at their home after being away in Lubbock at the hospital for such a long time. Raymond is feeling well again, and we are so glad.

Mr. and Mrs. Bryan and Helen Karr have moved to Lockney from Bouvier, near Dallas, where they had lived for several years. We are glad to see them back out this way, near relatives and old friends.

Amid a background of natural greenery, wedding vows were pledged by Susan Diane Stansell and Randy Guin Emert on May 24. The Rev. Robert Ryan officiated at the late afternoon ceremony. Linda Stephan and Chris McCready served as the honor attendants.

The outdoor nuptial was held on the front lawn of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Savage, mother of the bride. The father of the bride is Barry Stansell of Floydada. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Keith Emert of Lockney.

Among those attending were the bride's grandmothers, Mrs. Lela Wayne Creek of Coleman and Mrs. Troye Massie of Floydada; the groom's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Emert of Dougherty and Mr. and Mrs. Guin Bailey of Lockney. Also present were her brothers, Kent Stansell of Lubbock and Jeff Stansell of Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma; his brothers, Brian and Anthony; and his sister, Nicole, all of Lockney.

Following the double-ring ceremony, a reception was held under the blossoms of a Japonica tree. The bride's table, featuring a lace overlay of pink, held a crystal punch bowl and both white and chocolate cakes. Miss Terry Bailey served about forty guests.

After a brief wedding trip, the couple will make their home in Silverton where the groom is employed by Briscoe Implement.

Mary Pickersgill — A Lady To Remember On Flag Day, June 14

The huge flag of stars and stripes which inspired Francis Scott Key to write our national anthem at Ft. McHenry in 1814 was made by a little-known Baltimore widow, Mary Pickersgill. She was 36 years of age at the time the Star-Spangled Banner was completed. Living in a small house, now known as the Star-Spangled Banner Flag House, Mary made the flag for the sum of $405.90.

The original flag, which measured 30 by 42 feet, is now on display in the Smithsonian's Museum of American History. Made from 400 yards of wool bunting and the largest American flag of its time, this national symbol had 15 five-pointed stars and 15 instead of 13 stripes, each almost two feet wide. The flag was so big it was sewn on the malt floor of Claggett's Brewery.

On Friday, June 14, National Flag Day, all Americans will have another opportunity to pay tribute to the symbol of our anthem and the patriotic woman who was its creator.

COTTON TALKS

Along with a variety of approaches to farm legislation that will influence the fortunes of agriculture in 1986 and beyond, leaders of farm and farm-related organizations now are studying the possible effects of a new "market loan concept" that would apply to commodity loans on any of the 1981 through 1985 crops.

The Senate Committee on Agriculture May 14 began consideration of two such proposals. Although slightly different, both under certain circumstances would permit producers to repay commodity loans at rates below the rate at which the loan was made originally. Legislation to effect such a change in the operation of Commodity Credit Corporation loan program has been submitted by Senators Thad Cochran (R-MS) and David Pryor (D-ARK) and by Rudy Boschwitz (R-MN) and David Boren (D-OK).

The Cochran-Pryor legislation (S. 1040) with respect to any cotton, feed grain, wheat or rice loan would allow the producer to repay the loan at the lower of the original loan rate or a rate set by the Secretary of Agriculture. The Secretary would set the repayment rate at a level designed to minimize loan forfeitures, reduce government storage costs, discourage excess stocks of the commodity and promote its competitiveness in domestic and export markets.

Boschwitz and Boren's bill (S. 1041), meant to accomplish the same objectives, spells out that the Secretary could offer a lower loan repayment level only when the price revealed by producers for the commodity in the previous 30-day period was less than 105 percent of the 1985 crop loan rate. A new repayment level could be established monthly "to reflect market conditions."

S. 1041 also specifies minimum loan repayment levels for each commodity and stipulates retention of the producer's obligation to pay interest on the entire proceeds of the original loan.

The minimum repayment rate for upland cotton is set at 50 cents per pound, 7.3 cents per pound below the 1985 loan rate.

Under either bill, any gain realized by a producer from repaying a loan at a rate lower than the original loan rate would not be considered a "payment" in the application of the payment limitation.

This latter feature, says Donald Johnson, Executive Vice President of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, is a definite plus for such a program. But, he adds, "The concept is new and most in the cotton industry, including PCG, are withholding support pending completion of a comprehensive analysis of its ultimate short and long term effects on market prices and producer income."

The Administration has expressed its opposition to the proposal, but the National Corn Growers Association, National Association of Wheat Growers, and the National Council of Farm Cooperatives, among others, are said to be voicing support.

ASSOCIATED PIMIENTO CANNERS

Serve A Country Supper of Chicken Breasts Baked In Pimiento Sauce

For a country casual company supper, even if you live in the city, here's a delightful menu. The chicken main dish gets you away from the usual frying, broiling, and barbecuing; yet it couldn't be simpler to prepare. Chicken breasts are baked, served on a bed of buttery noodles and topped with a savory cream sauce punctuated with tender strips of bright red pimiento for flavor and color.

Add a vegetable — such as French style green beans sprinkled with silvered almonds — and oven fresh corn bread. To complete your meal, serve coffee and hot apple pie for dessert. Or instead of coffee, prepare a pot of spiced hot tea as a flavor companion to the pie.

Send for a free colorful recipe brochure by writing: Associated Pimiento Cannery, Dept. DD, Box 73, Griffin, Georgia 30224.

Hamilton named specialist

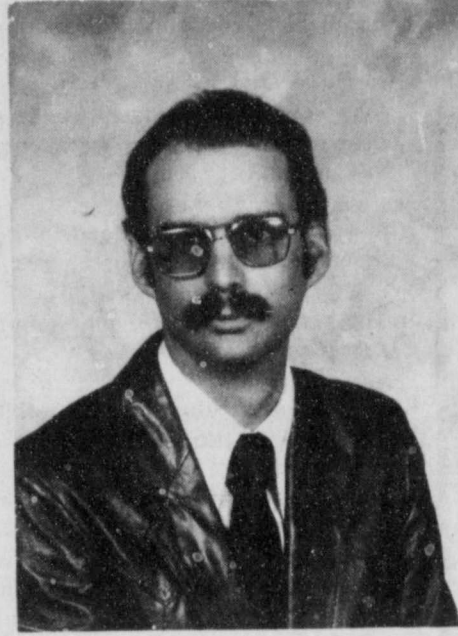

C. Ross Hamilton, a 29 year old Texas native, has been named Extension Swine Specialist at South Dakota State University. Hamilton's appointment was announced by John Romans, head of the Department of Animal and Range Sciences. Hamilton will conduct county or area producer meetings around the state and work with county agents.

Hamilton received his Ph.D. in swine nutrition from the University of Missouri on May 18, 1985, his master of science degree from Texas Tech University in 1979, and his bachelor of science degree in animal business in 1977 from Texas Tech University. He is a graduate of Floydada High School. He has been an instructor and a graduate research assistant at both Texas Tech University and the University of Missouri. He coached the livestock judging and meat animal evaluation teams for three years at the University of Missouri.

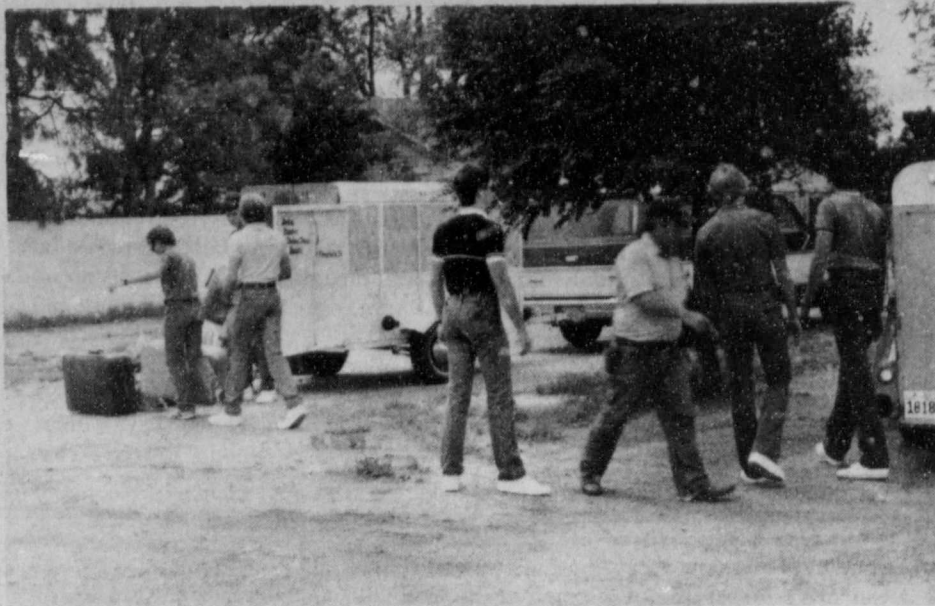

Hamilton intends to carry on much of the work of his predecessor, L.J. Kortan, who retired last year. He will be working closely with swine organizations throughout the state to continue improving the quality of pork from the live hog standpoint. He intends to accomplish this by working with the producers and the buyers. He will continue the Master Pork Producer Recognition Program as well as helping farmers with swine nutrition, looking at feeder pig production and health, and encouraging the use of production records.

Hamilton was raised on a crop and livestock farm in Floyd County. He is the son of Charles and Bobbie Hamilton. He married the former Phyllis Guffee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Corkey Guffee. The couple has two sons, Chris and Jason.

Farm value tops retail price

For the first time since 1978, the farm value of a typical basket of food increased more in 1984 than did the retail food price increase.

The farm value of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's market basket of foods rose 5.3 percent last year, points out Dr. Forrest Stegelin, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

However, because of depressed farm prices over several years, the 1984 farm value of foods was only 7 percent above the 1980 value, says the economist. During that same time, retail food prices increased 17 percent.

According to Stegelin, the farm value averaged 34 percent of the retail cost for a market basket of food. The farm share of the food dollar has declined in recent years because abundant food supplies held down farm prices while retail prices rose faster because of rising processing and distributing charges.

The farm-to-retail price spread rose 3.2 percent last year, about equaling the overall rate of inflation for the economy--3.7 percent, notes the economist. At the same time, food prices rose more slowly than the Consumer Price Index for all consumer products and services--3.8 percent vs. 4.3 percent.

As far as 1985 is concerned, Stegelin foresees a continuation of large commodity supplies and a moderate inflation rate that will keep food price increases in the 3 to 4 percent range.

Food prices will continue a trend of recent years by rising more slowly at supermarkets and grocery stores than at eating places and restaurants. The farm-to-retail price spread will continue to be the culprit in rising food prices, adds the economist. And retail prices of imported foods and fibers again will rise less than prices of domestically produced food and fiber.

Consumers can look forward to a continued hefty supply of wholesome food and fiber products at reasonable prices. Of any price increases, more of the food dollar will go to the farm-to-retail price spread than to the farm value, Stegelin says.

4-H attends roundup

More than 2,000 4-H members, adult leaders, friends of 4-H and county Extension agent will gather on the campus of Texas A&M University June 4-6 for the annual Texas 4-H Roundup. Several Floyd County youths are among the participants.

The 4-H'ers will be competing in 39 different contests and events, ranging from demonstrations in consumer and mechanical skills to livestock and horse judging and public speaking, says Gayle Hall, 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. The Extension Service is the parent organization of 4-H, a program for youth between the ages of 9 and 19.

Roundup activities will begin with the State 4-H Food Show and State 4-H Project Show on June 4th.

An opening assembly at 7 p.m. in Rudder Auditorium the first evening will officially kick off Roundup activities, Hall says.

Don Clark, an internationally known speaker from Salt Lake City, Utah, will give a keynote address on "self-competition."

4-H alumni, individuals, and businesses will be honored at the assembly for their long-time support of 4-H. 99 outstanding 4-H members will be awarded scholarships totaling more than a half million dollars.

Competition in various contests and method demonstrations will command attention the second day of Roundup. 4-H'ers competing in these contests must have won at the county and district level to qualify for state competition, says Hall. Roundup contest winners will be recognized at a special assembly in Rudder Auditorium that evening at 8 o'clock.

The State 4-H Project Show will be open for viewing beginning at 10 a.m. June 5 in the Memorial Student Center on the A&M campus. The show provides an opportunity for 4-H'ers to demonstrate their expertise in certain project areas which they have developed over the years, notes the 4-H specialist.

A special luncheon on June 5 will honor outstanding 4-H adult volunteer leaders from across Texas, two from each of the 14 Extension Service districts.

4-H'ers attending Roundup will be able to choose from a number of career workshops presented by the Texas A&M University staff on the final day. The workshops will include the fields of agriculture, engineering, business, and veterinary medicine.

Among those scheduled to attend from Floyd County are both Lockney and Floydada youngsters. Lockney students include Matt Mitchell, Wyman Rexrode, Matt Williams, Earl Brose, Clay Adrian, Gwen Lane, Robbie Ryan, and Lisa Terrell. Floydada students include Kellie Pitts, Matthew Redding, Shannon Edwards, Jana Lawson, Kim Zimmerman, Dean Smith, Hunter Smith, Jason Brown, Chad Edwards, Don Chessir, Angie Bertrand, Becky Reeves, and Stacey Smith.

Cotton loan rates set for High Plains cotton with micronaire discounts

Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., Lubbock, learned May 23 that the 1985 base cotton loan rate at High Plains warehouse locations will be 57.50 cents per pound, basis Strict Low Middling 1-1/16 (41-34), 3.5 to 4.9 micronaire.

That's 20 points above the national average 1985 loan rate of 57.30, and 230 points, (2.3 cents per pound) over the High Plains area 55.20-cent base last year. When applicable discounts are applied, the High Plains rate translates into a loan value of 48.00 cents per pound on the mid-range High Plains quality of Strict Low Middling Light Spot 31/32nds inch (42-31), 3.4 micronaire. The value of the same quality going into the loan in 1984 was 44.75 cents.

The 325-point loan price increases for this quality is the net result of the 230-point rise in the base, plus a 105-point drop in the grade and staple discount for 1985, minus a 10-point increase in the micronaire discount.

On average, PCG calculates that on staples 30 through 34, grades 21 through 53, the 1985 loan price increase over 1984 will come to about three cents per pound or $15 per bale.

Micronaire discounts in all groupings below 3.5 show increases over last year, ranging from 10 to 30 points.

The chart below shows a comparison of cents-per-pound loan values on the most common qualities of High Plains warehouses, plus a comparison of micronaire discounts.

Soybean price decline predicted

Soybean prices may be peaking soon at less than lucrative levels, so producers will want to bear that in mind as planting gets underway.

"We will likely see prices in the $5.80 to $6 per bushel range for a short while and then the tendency will be for them to move downward," says Johnny Feagan, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

If production costs run near the present soybean price, the loan price of $5.02 per bushel will be of little help in reducing a producer's risk, Feagan points out. So he urges producers to be discrete when planting their 1985 crop.

Texas farmers have indicated they will plant 8 percent less than the 450,000 acres of soybeans planted last year. Nationwide, soybean planting intentions stand at about 64.4 million acres, down 5 percent from last year.

"Weather will be a determining factor as to how many acres of beans are actually planted," says Feagan. "Also, the moisture situation after the wheat harvest will determine how much second cropping there will be in southern states."

Overall, Feagan expects lower plantings than currently estimated due to poor price prospects that are resulting from large supplies.

World oilseed production currently is up 12 percent from last year. With China, Argentina, Paraguay and Brazil all increasing oilseed production, U.S. exports of soybean meal dropped 22 percent during the past year. Although soybean oil prices have been somewhat higher due to reduced oil stocks, competitive oils have kept the pressure on the market.

Easy no-cook jam brings rewards

"Putting up" your very own homemade Fresh Strawberry Jam will be easy to do this season when you use this simplified no-cook recipe. Fresh Strawberry Jam
2 cups prepared fruit (about 1 qt. fully ripe strawberries)
4 cups (1-3/4 lb.) sugar
3/4 cup water
1 box Sure-Jell fruit pectin

First prepare the fruit. Stem and thoroughly crush, one layer at a time, about 1 quart strawberries. Measure 2 cups into large bowl or pan.

Then make the jam. Thoroughly mix sugar into fruit; let stand 10 minutes. Mix water and fruit pectin in small saucepan. Bring to a full boil and boil 1 minute, stirring constantly. Stir into fruit. Continue stirring 3 minutes. (A few sugar crystals will remain.) Ladle quickly into scalded containers, filling to within 1/2 inch of tops. Cover at once with tight lids. Let stand at room temperature 24 hours; then store in freezer. Small amounts may be covered and stored in refrigerator up to 3 weeks. Makes about 4-3/4 cups or about 6 (8 fl. oz.) containers.

Note: Any one of the following may be added to berries before adding sugar:
1/2 cup slivered almonds, chopped pecans, pumpkin or sunflower seeds or pine nuts (toasted, if desired)

1 tablespoon finely chopped crystallized ginger
2 teaspoons almond extract
1 tablespoon grated lemon, lime or orange rind

Bits of Humor, Trivia, and an occasional Word of Wisdom

BY DON & SARA PROBASCO

Genius begins great works. Labor alone finishes them.

The trouble with most of us is that we'd rather be ruined with praise than to be saved by criticism.

An example of tactfulness: An optometrist sent the following note to a patient of his, a baseball umpire: "I saw last night's game on TV. It's time for your new prescription."

The third day of a diet is the easiest. By that time you're off it.

Pray as if everything depended on God, and work as if everything depended on you.

The best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love to others.

One convenient thing about gardening is that if you put it off long enough, eventually it will be too late.

The same principal is true about horses and barn doors...and about locking your home against intruders...Don't wait until it is too late. Call us today!

Good Bugs For Bad Bugs

When insects invade a garden, many gardeners arm themselves rapidly for "battle with the bugs." On go the masks and gloves; out come the swatters, dusters and spray-guns. The summer-long war is on.

Yet such tactics usually produce what might be called pyrrhic victories: the pests are destroyed all right; but, in the process, "good" insects die with them—at the same time the insecticides drench the whole garden with poisons.

Left alone, nature can often handle the "bad bugs" pretty well, needing help only when a pest onslaught is severe.

Many predatory insects ("good bugs") and other small garden creatures, make up nature's "hit" squads against insect pests. Dozens of helpful insects eat other insects, day in and day out. You can, with care, aid nature by enlisting the help of these "good bugs" in your own yard. What are some of them and how do you get them on your side of the fence?

Mantids: Relatives of crickets and grasshoppers, mantids are not the pests their cousins are. They're often called "praying mantises" and their appetites for insects are voracious. To recruit them for a garden, you can buy mantid eggs. Or you can get them (in the winter) for free by collecting the eggs from a field. Look along the stems of shrubs and wildflowers for elongated or globular egg masses, the color of dirty styrofoam. Simply place the eggs in your back yard (never in your house) to hatch in the spring.

Ladybird beetles: These little yellow, orange or red, black and white beetles are familiar sights throughout most of North America. Both adults and larvae eat pests such as aphids and related soft-bodied insects. Wherever their favorite food is, "ladybugs" are apt to show up on their own. But beetles can also be bought and brought home to dine. Mail order seed catalogs often list these beetles along with their other offerings.

Wasp: Many people can't abide wasps (large or small or any color), but to any wasp-respecting gardeners not allergic to stings, wasps are valuable garden allies. Large common paper wasps—they go by the scientific name of Polistes—go for caterpillars in a big way and are actually one of the gentlest of large wasps. (Hornets, yellow jackets and other paper wasps are much fiercer, and most homeowners can't tolerate them at all.) Tiny, parasitic wasps (which can be purchased) lay their eggs on insect pests. Some wasps—like many bees, flies and butterflies—pollinate fruit and vegetable plants, assuring good crops.

Spiders: Although not insects (but arachnids), spiders too help control insect pests. When you see large, beautiful, well-constructed webs, don't destroy them. The spiders that spin these webs prey on moths, crickets and grasshoppers—feeding mostly (except for the Argiope group) at night. Spinners of tangled, poorly-constructed webs, on the other hand, are apt to be biters—which you can easily do without. Very small spiders are not necessarily good pest-fighters.

Predatory insects are territorial. That is, like foxes and bobcats, they stake out their own spaces to rule. So don't overload your garden with one kind of insect-ally. Many will simply starve, leave the garden or eat each other up. Just-enough predators keep pests away—without spraying.

"Laugh Lines"

Bits of Humor, Trivia, and an occasional Word of Wisdom
 BY DON & SARA PROBASCO

Genius begins great works. Labor alone finishes them.

The trouble with most of us is that we'd rather be ruined with praise than to be saved by criticism.

An example of tactfulness: An optometrist sent the following note to a patient of his, a baseball umpire: "I saw last night's game on TV. It's time for your new prescription."

The third day of a diet is the easiest. By that time you're off it.

Pray as if everything depended on God, and work as if everything depended on you.

The best portion of a good man's life is his little, nameless, unremembered acts of kindness and love to others.

One convenient thing about gardening is that if you put it off long enough, eventually it will be too late.

The same principal is true about horses and barn doors...and about locking your home against intruders...Don't wait until it is too late. Call us today!
