

Butler receives ten year sentence, King gets probation

Former assistant Floyd County Extension Agent, Benny Butler, was delivered Tuesday, July 9th to the Texas Department of Corrections in Huntsville by Floyd County Sheriff Fred Cardinal.

Butler will begin a 10 year sentence following a felony conviction in the 110th Judicial District Court in Floydada on July 3rd.

District Attorney, Randy Hollums told the Hesperian that Butler may be eligible for the "shock probation," wherein he may apply for probation after not less than 60 days. At that time a determination may be made by the sentencing judge, George Miller, as to whether his remaining sentence will be served on probation.

Also in District Court last week, 30 year old Lynda King was given three 5-year sentences, probated for 5 years, on three charges of passing forged checks. Mrs. King, also known as Lynda Davis, was convicted of passing forged checks at Buddy's Food Market and at Shop Rite.

The 5 year sentence will be served on probation, but if probation is revoked she will have to serve the full sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections. Ms. Davis is a Floydada resident of three months.

Preliminary school budget totals $4 million

Now that the hostages are back, the question arises. What to do?

I hate to be a pessimist on these matters, but I don't see much that we will end up doing. That is not to say that there are not some things we should do, or possibly could do, but rather that we don't see much that will be done.

Before going further it probably should be said that the Administration handled this crisis about as well as it could have been handled under the circumstances. Lives were at stake, and prudent people do not go around risking the lives of captives just because the t.v. types try to influence the course of events in their fight for audience ratings.

But when all is said and done this whole problem of attacks against American interests, and Americans abroad, has got to be addressed in some rather fundamental ways. Given the nature of those who engage in terrorist attacks against us, there is little assurance that retaliatory attacks somewhere down the line will ever be effective in preventing future attacks. Most of the terrorists are people who hold human life in very low esteem. Unless we can get to the specific perpetrators, there will be little change in their overall activities. Among people who believe the pathway to their Heaven is paved by displays of violence against "infidels", the threat of retaliation is of little consequence.

My own thinking has undergone some changes in this. There was a time, a few years ago, when I was somewhat involved in what happened abroad, when those happenings affected Americans and American interests. Terrorists were operating then, as they are now. A group known as "M-19", if memory serves, had grabbed some Americans down in South America. My arguments within the inner circle was that we ought to retaliate in similar fashion, grabbing a larger group of relatives of the terrorists, and announce publicly that we would dispatch them on a one-for-one basis, should any of the hostages be harmed.

Needless to say, my arguments did not prevail. And probably for good and sufficient reasons. The counter-argument was that we are a "civilized" nation, that we just did not do things that way, that the country would never stand for it. I still think it was a good idea in that particular case, since we knew at least some of the leaders in "M-19".

The Mid-East is a different problem however. In that troubled region it is not merely a question of dealing with a group of community terrorists. The whole matter of our relation with the state of Israel comes into play. Because Israel is regarded as a client state of America's, the sins of Israel, as far as Israel's enemies are concerned, have been and will be visited upon America. Israel did not make the matter any easier by publicly announcing they would release their Moslem prisoners if the United States would let it be known, publicly, that we wanted her to do so. While the United States was trying desperately to say there was no "linkage", the Israelis were indicating just the opposite.

In doing so they made the point that the Moslem extremists have been trying to make. They know they are not powerful enough to directly influence a course of Israeli action, but they are led to believe that by hitting at America they can in turn indirectly influence the actions of Israel. That, to me, is a dangerous situation. It says there is likely to be more, not less, terrorism directed at American interests until the fundamental problem of peace in the Mid-East is solved. And that is what makes me a pessimist when it comes to us ever "doing something" about terrorism in the Mid-East.

We could hit a training camp in Lybia, we might hit one in the Bekaa valley in Lebanon, and perhaps we should, but I don't think that alone will prevent future acts of the kind we have just witnessed. No nation has been more ready than Israel to engage in

A $4,004,326.00 preliminary budget was presented to the Floydada Independent School District board of directors during the July 8 regular monthly session. Superintendent Jerry Cannon told board members that the proposed budget is up approximately 8% over the budget for last year. Funds for the proposed 1985-86 school year will be generated from a variety of sources, including 20% from local taxes, 10.8% from federal money, and 66% from state sources. 74.04% of the proposed budget will be devoted to salaries. The career ladder allocation is listed as $48,000.00, an increase of $12,000.00 over last year. Also included in the preliminary budget is a building emergency fund of $20,000.00 to be used in the event of an emergency such as the heating system failure at Duncan Elementary which occurred last winter. A surplus of $96,822.00 should be available at the end of the year if the budget is adopted as it stands and no catastrophe occurs. A budget work session is scheduled for July 22 at 7:00 p.m.

The school calendar has been adjusted to include a no school day on March 10 or 11. The day will be used for teacher competency testing. The exact date has not yet been set according to Cannon. Spring break will be the week of March 17-21 this year; a special holiday has been declared for April 21 honoring the Texas Sesquicentennial.

Jimmy Collins, assistant to the administrator, reported on the progress of summer maintenance programs. "The high school has new curbs and gutters, and work should begin in a few days on the new sidewalks. Principal Ronnie Wood has been working on the commons area and has planted trees and installed benches to make it more appealing," stated Collins.

"The junior high has also been the site of considerable activity," he continued. "The gym doors have been painted and the press box at the stadium is being paneled on the outside with metal to alleviate the need for repeated painting. Floors of the old home economics rooms have been stripped of the old tile and the hardwood floors are being redone at junior high."

Other improvements, according to Collins, include the installation of the bell and clock system at Andrews Ward, general cleaning, painting, and fixing up. The floor for the P.E. facility at Duncan should be ready to pour in the next few days.

The board accepted resignations from Katie McAdams, Mike Bodey, and Bobbie Bodey. Approved for employment were: Sue Chesshir as migrant aide at Duncan; Suzanne Wyrick for special education at Duncan; Kay Cage for Chapter 1 Reading at Duncan; and Jett Cheek as band aide for band director, Paul Stapp. Cheek will be compensated as a regular aide, but will receive a $1,000.00 bonus due to the many extra hours involved in his position.

Board members approved a resolution allowing the Floyd County Appraisal District to continue to operate on a budget year running from September 1 to August 31. The only other action taken at the meeting was the decision to take bids on a 1955 Ford pickup the district wants to sell.

Rural fire service becomes issue

Fire Marshall, Bobby Welborn made his report to Floydada city council members concerning his meeting with Floyd County commissioners court earlier this week. Welborn told those present at the July 9 council meeting, "The County has set aside $32,000 to be used by the Floydada and Lockney fire departments for the purchase of rural fire trucks."

The problem, according to Welborn, is that an entire new rig is needed in Floydada. A new truck with the proper water hauling capacity and equipment is estimated to cost from $56,000 to $58,000.

"They told me we would just have to work something else out. There is nothing to work out. $16,000.00 will not begin to purchase what we must have to effectively fight a rural fire," stated Welborn.

City Manager Bill Feuerbacher said, "The county pays $250 per month for rural fire protection and agrees to furnish the rural fire truck. Our fire department covers 2/3 of the county but receives only 1/3 of the money allotted for trucks." Feuerbacher went on to add, "We pay the upkeep and repairs, furnish the men and gas, and they get the benefit."

Councilman Leroy Burns suggested instituting a charge for rural runs such as other area cities already have. Welborn then told the council that records are being kept to account for the actual cost of service in rural areas. This would enable the city to arrive at a fair charge.

Councilman Wayne Russell then suggested requesting a joint meeting with the county commissioners to attempt to arrive at a solution. The council agreed to actively pursue such a meeting.

The city agreed to solicit bids for installation of wet valves and fire hydrants at the intersections of 3rd and Grover, Crockett and Wall, and 2nd and Mississippi. A valve and hydrant is also required in the alley behind Caprock Motor, Parker Furniture, and the First National Bank. Another valve is required on the Ralls highway reservoir to allow usage of the old water system in case the supply from Mackenzie is interrupted.

The council also decided to implement plans for a water project which has been under consideration for several years. This project would provide the installation of a 14 inch water main in the east sections of Floydada to facilitate fire protection of water circulation.

The City of Floydada will send three firemen to the annual state fire school at Texas A&M College July 22-26. Council members approved payment for food, lodging, and travel expenses for the men. Attendance at the school qualifies the city for a discount on fire insurance coverage.

Bids were opened for the rebuilding of the intersection at Mississippi and Wall Street. High Plains Pavers was the only bidder, submitting a bid of $17,001.00. Action on the bid was delayed until a later date.

Bids were opened for painting the brick walls and all windows at City Hall. There were seven bidders. Wardrup and Associates of Lubbock bid $9,200. T&S Paint Contractors of Lubbock bid $5,565.00, while O&D Storm and Sons of Borger and Amarillo bid $3,854.00. Wylie Griggs of Floydada bid $3,650.00 and Johnny Joe Garcia of Plainview bid $4,120.00. Dale Griffin of Floydada bid $2,517.00. Mid-Continent Restoration

FLOYDADA HIGH SCHOOL TWIRLERS—Shana Seymour and Lana Batey flank the first place trophy the squad earned at the W.T. workshop. Jane Willson and Ludustia Leatherman display the plaques they also won.

FHS twirlers win big

The Floydada High School twirlers came home the proud possessors of several first place awards when they attended a workshop at West Texas State University at Canyon. Their prizes included a first place trophy for the best majorette line and firsts in old routine, new routine, most improved line, and best skit.

The twirlers this year include junior Lana Batey, who was an alternate last year, and sophomore Shana Seymour, returning for her second year as twirler. Sophomore Jane Willson is also a second year twirler with Ludustia Leatherman completing the squad. She is a first year twirler and a sophomore.

Twirlers from 17 schools participated in the week long activities held June 30 to July 5. The girls were divided into three classifications: beginning, intermediate, and advanced. The Floydada four were placed in the intermediate category and acquitted themselves very well in their first workshop as a team.

Ludustia Leatherman and Lana Batey earned individual awards in the Drill Downs. Leatherman received a 1st place for her efforts in the event and Batey was awarded a 4th place.

Tax appraisal district meets

The regular monthly session of the Floyd County Central Appraisal District was held on Wednesday, July 3. Board members Fred Zimmerman, III; Eddie Teeter; Jack Lackey; and Tom Duval were in attendance along with chief appraiser, Shiela Faulkenberry.

The proceedings were routine as motions were made and passed to approve the minutes of the previous month's meeting as read and to provide for the payment of the monthly bills.

Faulkenberry reported that new ruling concerning the operation of appraisal districts in this state now mandate that a district must operate under a budget year running from January 1 to December 31 each year. "We can continue to function with our present budget year only if 3/4 of the voting entities in this county will authorize such action," stated Faulkenberry.

Board members were urged to bring the matter to the attention of their respective entities at their next meeting for prompt action. Entities which will need to authorize the continuation of the present budget year will be the cities of Lockney and Floydada, the county, and the school districts.

Commissioners veto overtime pay

County auditor Bobbie Hamilton and Commissioner Thomas Warren reported briefly on the items covered at a recent seminar on the Fair Labor Standards Act. The seminar, held in Amarillo, covered many areas of concern to county officials. Among the revisions and new provisions covered are the classification of personnel according to job category and the determination of exempt or non-exempt status for overtime pay.

After hearing that overtime compensation will not become mandatory until October, the court voted not to pay overtime for the 12 hour shift which dispatchers for the Sheriff's office work on Saturdays. The entire matter of overtime compensation will be considered during budget planning sessions as the court attempts to classify employees and determine who must be paid time and a half for overtime work. These extra expenditures will have to be figured into the budget for salaries during the next fiscal year.

The county treasurer, Glenna Orman, presented the quarterly and monthly reports of the financial condition of the county for the court's approval. The month of June shows the county revenues at $870,120.24. Added to a beginning balance of $182,322.79, this creates a total of $1,052,443.03 from which expenditures of $948,322.70 were made, leaving the county accounts with a balance of $104,288.33 at the end of June. The county also has $939,000.00 on deposit in CD's which have earned $52,980.97 in interest this year.

Hamilton's report was basically the same with the exception that the revenue sharing funds are operating on a deficit after the addition of wiring and a beam for the elevator project last month. Further complicating the revenue sharing funds, the allocation notice for the next payment shows the revenue to be $900.00 less than was expected, creating a total deficit balance for the funds of $1,256.54.

Commissioner Jack Lackey cast the only dissenting vote on the transfer of $200.00 from the general surplus fund to the Law Library Fund for payment of accounts due on books for the facility. "I vote against it," stated Lackey. "We never had a law library until Judge Miller came, and I don't feel that it is necessary now."

Floydada and Lockney had representatives of the fire departments meeting with the court to discuss the proposed purchase of two new rural fire trucks. Bobby Welborn of the Floydada organization requested a complete new rig at an estimated cost of from $56,000 to $58,000. The court recommended that other options, such as a new chassis with the old tank and pump mounted on it be considered. Welborn stated that the present truck is "unstable and the 250 gallon tank is not adequate to fight rural fires."

Lockney representatives Robert Webb and Jerry Johnson told the court that they were satisfied with their equipment, but needed a new truck to mount it on. The present Lockney fire truck has a 900 gallon tank with a separate pumping engine and a spare motor in the event it is needed.

Both departments were urged to work through Bobbie Hamilton in obtaining further information and gathering estimates for their proposed purchases. The court has already set aside $32,000.00 towards the purchase of two new rural fire trucks. The funds were designated in the present budget with $16,000.00 going to each fire department.

Hamilton, acting in her capacity as auditor, pointed out to the commissioners that a review of the county insurance has revealed a few areas of deficiency in the coverage. The court authorized her to secure estimates and information which would correct the oversight.

A proposal submitted by South Plains Association of Governments was rejected by a unanimous vote. The proposal asked the court to authorize and approve a resolution agreeing to the Governor signs new laws

1986 may be the year in which family farmers find acquiring land and expanding their holdings much easier. The provisions of House Bill 196, which Governor White signed into law earlier this month, will become effective on September 1, 1986 if Texas voters approve a constitutional amendment in November of 1985. The amendment would authorize the sale of general obligation bonds by the state to fund the Farm and Ranch Finance Program established by HB196.

The bill, sponsored by Representative Pete Patterson and Senator Bill Sarpalio, establishes a low-interest loan program with fixed rates for up to 40 years for the purchase of farm or ranch land. The program is scheduled to be administered by the Veterans Land Board using procedures similar to those of the Veterans Land Program now in operation.

The low down payment and low, fixed interest rates may be very effective in assisting the young farmer in acquiring acreage according to the supporters of the bill. It should also help established family farmers and ranchers who wish to expand their holdings.

"The Farm and Ranch Finance Program poses no financial risk to the state since it retains title to the land purchases until the loans are paid off, so I hope Texans will vote their approval for the program in November," stated White.

The Texas system of justice also received a few added twists during the recently ended legislative sessions. Current law, which does not authorize the parole board to make defendants repay counties for the expense of their own prosecution, will be changed effective September 1, 1985, as a result of the passage of Senate Bill 59. Sponsored by Representative Bill Blackwood and Senator Ted Lyon, the bill was signed into law by Governor White last week.

The bill would allow parole boards to require persons placed on parole to repay the county in which they were tried for any fines, fees, or other costs imposed by the courts, including the cost of county paid public counsel. This would shift the burden of maintaining the criminal justice system in the state to the individuals whose cases are being processed. Another bill signed into law last week would allow the Texas courts to offer greater protection to victims of family violence. HB2160, sponsored by Representative David Petronella and Senator Craig Washington, amends the Family Code to ensure the confidentiality of family violence shelters and other safe houses.

Currently, the courts may provide protection by issuing protective orders prohibiting the accused from visiting certain places, but these orders must specifically describe the locations placed off-limits. Effective August 26, 1985, the courts will be allowed to issue orders which do not include the address and telephone number of the protected person. The new law further guarantees the confidentiality of shelters and safe places by allowing for the omission of their location from the public record.

In the same field, Senate Bills 371 and 48 create new ways of dealing with the problems of child abuse. SB371, sponsored by Senator Chet Brooks and Representative Stan Schlueter, establishes a children's trust fund within the state treasury to provide grants to local community groups for child abuse and neglect prevention programs. The fund will be supported by one half of the legislatively mandated increase in marriage license fees. The fee for a license will increase from $7.50 to $25.00. A nine member council will oversee the expenditures from the fund.

SB48 authorizes background checks for criminal records for persons working in day care centers or running such facilities as well as other persons working in direct care of children. The carefully crafted bill, sponsored by Senators Ted Lyon, John Sharp, and Representative Erwin Barton, protects the rights of those being investigated while permitting the Department of Mental Health a limited access to criminal records involving crimes against children. The bill makes Texas eligible to receive $800,000.00 in federal funds to train day care employees.

"These two bills will safeguard the physical and emotional well being of children in Texas. Texas child care workers confirmed almost 37,000 cases too many," commented the governor upon signing the bills.

creation of an agricultural development corporation. The proposal stated that the purpose of the corporation would be to promote agriculture and inform the public about agriculture. The request was rejected after reading the entire proposal and determining that some of the proposed items in it could be detrimental to the county or obligate the county in financial areas.

A resolution voting for five candidates to the board of directors of the Floyd County Appraisal District was passed. The five on the ballot were Tom Duvall, Adrain Helms, Jack Lackey, Eddie Teeter, and Fred Zimmerman III. A second resolution concerning the fiscal year of the district was also approved authorizing the district to continue to operate on a budget year from September 1 to August 31.

retaliatory strikes, or even pre-emptive strikes. But the record indicates that has not made them immune from continued terrorist attacks.

What then should we do? Or probably more to the point, what should we try to do.

As far as the communist terrorists are concerned, the kind that killed our Marines in El Salvador for instance, we may as well recognize that they will be with us for the foreseeable future. Terrorists acts from that quarter will be aimed at us as long as we resist their efforts hither and yon around the world.

As far as the Mid-East is concerned, we should redouble our efforts to find a reasonably satisfactory solution to the fundamental problem of peace between Israel and its surrounding Arab neighbors. In the meantime we ought to revitalize the "covert" division of the CIA, or some similar group, and assign them the task of infiltrating and dealing with terrorist groups. That agency's covert operations were decimated by Congress during the 70's, and even with all we have suffered of late there seems to still be a reluctance to get back into the "dirty" business of undercover operations. But if we must rule out overt action for policy reasons, and rule out covert operations for ethical reasons, we will become essentially helpless in dealing with those who mount attacks against us around the world.

The only other alternative to meeting these attacks headon, it seems to me, is to withdraw to "fortress America", curtailing our efforts to support those who believe as we do, and essentially withdrawing from the world of trade and commerce. Which is exactly what our adversaries would like to see happen.

Texas Department of Public Safety patrolman Doug Whitworth met with the court at his request to discuss county coverage on his days off, holidays, and when he is busy outside the county. The matter is of concern since Whitworth is the only law enforcement official in the county who is certified to administer a breath analysis test for DWI arrests. No solution was arrived at, although County Judge Choise Smith did indicate that it would be beneficial to the county to have another officer certified within the county.

The county cannery facility in Lockney was declared officially open for the season. The cost of cans will remain the same and the cannery will close on November 30, "or at such time as it runs out of funds," according to Judge Smith.

Hamilton informed the court that the bank accounts for adult and juvenile probation departments has been turned over to the departments by order of Judge Miller. He ordered the change to facilitate the operation of the probation offices which serve counties other than Floyd.

The final items dealt with at the July session were the approval of the purchase of an edger for use on the courthouse lawn and the scheduling of a budget session on July 22. Time for the session will be announced later this month.

Lamplighter is historic structure

Texas is a vast country with an intriguing and diverse history. Visiting historical sites within the state can be a fun summer vacation or an enjoyable weekend excursion. A great place to begin is right here in Floydada. A new touring directory lists the Lamplighter Inn owned by Dorothy and Johnnie Hotchkiss. The Inn, built in 1913, is acknowledged for its use as headquarters for traveling salesmen as well as being the regular lodging for regular railroad men working in the area.

Simpson named representative

Daphna Simpson of Floydada has been named to represent the Floyd County division of the American Heart Association, Texas affiliate, at the Annual Meeting of the Membership in San Antonio, July 12-14. She is a second year volunteer with the Floyd County organization.

Simpson will be among over two hundred delegates, officers, and board members who will gather at the St. Anthony Inter-Continental Hotel to review the activities of the association. Policies for guidance of the board of directors will be formulated and directors and officers will be elected for the 1985-86 fiscal year.

The annual meeting will mark the 50th anniversary of the American Heart Association in Texas. This "Golden Celebration" will be enhanced through the presence of a number of special guests who will call on delegates to note the progress and success of the association over the past fifty years, and to make solid plans for the future. The single-minded mission of the association is to prevent premature death and disability due to heart disease and stroke.

After delegates are welcomed to San Antonio by Mayor Henry G. Cisneros, they will hear a keynote address by T. Boone Pickens, founder and president of Mesa Petroleum Co. of Amarillo. Astronaut Drew Gaffney, M.D., a payload specialist for the Spacelab Life Sciences flight scheduled for early 1986, will address delegates at the research luncheon. The highlight of the annual meeting will be the awards dinner where awards will be presented to the top heart association volunteers.

PLAYGROUND EXPANSION—Volunteers recently put the finishing touches on the playground expansion project at the Texas Migrant Council facility in Floydada.

Migrant school play area improved and expanded

The children's playground west of the Texas Migrant School in Floydada has recently been expanded. Volunteers from several area cities pitched in to accomplish the task as an improvement for the school which provides day-care and pre-school learning experiences for the children of area migrant workers.

The newly remodeled facility was nearly doubled in size by the project. The hard gravel surface of the smaller playground has been replaced by a cushion of softer Texas soil. Staff members at the school indicated that grass is to be planted on the yard to further improve the surface.

The play equipment was moved to allow more space between the large outdoor toys for safety sake. The extra room will help avoid unnecessary injuries to the children playing in the area.

"We came to help with the project so that the playground will be better for the children," stated Joel R. Barrajas, a volunteer from Crystal City. "The extra room and the softer surface will be great for the safety of the children."

Other volunteers donating time and effort to the project were Phillip Negrete from Eagle Pass, Carlos Arispe from Hart, and Amador Castillo from Cotulla.

Franklin and Williams pledge marriage vows

Wedding promises between Karrie Lynn Franklin and William Todd Williams were recited during a 4 p.m. double ring ceremony July 6 at the First United Methodist Church of Floydada. The Rev. Earl Blair, pastor, read the exchange of vows.

Parents of the couple are Dewayne and Pat Franklin and Elmer Dean and Martha Williams, all of Floydada.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a magnificent gown styled of white silk organza and lavishly trimmed in both Venise and Chantilly laces. The Queen Anne neckline was outlined with a row of silk Venise lace, which also embellished the bodice in the front, being embroidered in seed pearls. A narrow row of the Venise lace circled the waistline and ended in a low v at the dropped waistline in the back. The back of the bodice featured a circular yoke of the sheer organza outlined with a narrow row of the Venise lace. Covered buttons extended from the neckline to below the dropped waistline in the back. The full sheer sleeves were also fashioned of silk organza and gathered into fitted cuffs which also had covered buttons at the wrists. A double ruffle of the Chantilly lace bordered the cuffs and extended over her hands. At the top of the full sleeves, a ruffle of the Chantilly lace formed a cap effect over the sleeves. The full skirt was styled also of silk organza and featured a double flounce of Chantilly lace at the bottom in the front which, as it circled the skirt, was joined by two additional ruffles of lace which dipped up on the sides where a cluster of silk flowers was accented by narrow satin bows. Identical clusters of flowers and satin bows were at the cuffs of the sleeves. The full skirt flowed into a cathedral train in the back.

Her wide-brimmed picture hat was lavishly trimmed in silk Venise lace to match her dress. Two rows of the lace edged the brim. Each of the flower designs of the lace was centered with seed pearls. Further Venise appliques adorned the brim. The crown of the hat was overlaid with soft imported illusion.

Venise appliques embellished the crown, made more lovely by rows of seed pearls outlining the embroidery motif of the lace. A large bow of the illusion was at the back of the hat, topped by a silk flower. The hat was completed by illusion streamers in the back.

The cascading bridal bouquet was of Dutch flowers. White baby mums, stephanotis, Bristol fairy baby's breath, rosario alstroemeria and bridal pink roses were nestled in English ivy and lemon leaves.

Following tradition, the bride carried her great-grandmother's handkerchief as something old; her attire was something new; her mother's pearls were something borrowed; and her garter, made by her great-grandmother for the bride's mother's wedding, was something blue. For good luck, she wore two pennies in her shoe bearing the couple's birth dates. Also for good luck, she wore her grandmother's wedding ring.

Teresa Franklin, sister of the bride of Floydada, served as maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Tammy Leatherman of Floydada and Kim Franklin, cousin of the bride of Amarillo. They wore floor length rose colored taffeta dresses with chiffon overlays. A double tier neckline was worn off the shoulder, with a bustle back and a cascade of ruffles. They carried colonial nosegays of bridal pink roses, rosario alstroemeria, white daisies and baby's breath tied with pink and white lace ribbon. Baby's breath was worn in their hair.

Flower girls, Betty Ann Jones, cousin of the bride of Seminole, and Tasha Boggs, cousin of the groom of Amarillo, wore short soft pink dresses with light ruffles and pleated skirts. They carried white lace baskets of rosario alstroemeria and white daisies and wore wreaths of baby's breath and pink ribbon on their hair.

Mothers and grandmothers wore corsages consisting of rosario alstroemeria.

Monty Williams, brother of the groom of Floydada, acted as best man.

Chad Williams, brother of the groom of Floydada, and Danny Nutt of Floydada were groomsmen. Weldon Shook, cousin of the bride of Seagraves, was ring bearer and Rex Reeves of Lubbock and Sammy Bradley of Floydada escorted guests.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with white accessories and wore a pink rose and alstroemeria boutonniere, while the groomsmen and ring bearer wore grey tuxedos with grey accessories. All male members of the wedding party wore boutonnieres of rosario alstroemeria.

The altar area was centered with a 15-branch arch brass candelabrum decorated with pink gladiolas, pink Hawaiian anthuriums and white daisies on a bed of plumosa fern and Bristol Fairy baby's breath. Flanking the arch were a pair of 15-branch spiral candelabra similarly decorated. Two large baskets of pink gladioli, pink anthuriums, rosario alstroemeria, white daisies, and baby's breath enhanced the scene. Four floor palms completed the front. The aisle was decorated by pew bouquets of daisies, baby's breath and plumosa fern tied with pink bows.

Shelly Teague, cousin of the groom of Pampa, presided at the registration table, which was draped with a pink tablecloth trimmed in lace. Featured on the table were the bridal book, a pink feather pen and two pink roses in a bud vase.

While guests were being seated, Diana Wilson played the following selections on the piano: "You and I," "Truly," "Still," "Open Arms," "Tonight I Share My Love," and "The Rose." While the parents and grandparents were being seated Christine Wilson played the piano while Diana vocalized "Endless Love." She then presented "The Wedding Song" while the couple lit the unity candle. Misti Orman was organist.

A reception followed the ceremony. The registration table was draped with a pink cloth trimmed in lace. A picture of the bride, the bridal book and a pink feather pen set were displayed.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace tablecloth, with pink chiffon, joined at the corners and in the center with daisies. A three tiered wedding cake was decorated with pink roses and daisies. Topping the cake were three bells surrounded with pink flowers. A pink shurbet punch was served in a crystal punch bowl. Nuts and pink mint hearts were also served. White napkins with silver bells were embossed with the couple's names and wedding date. Centering the table was a fresh bouquet of pink gladioli, pink anthuriums, rosario alstroemeria, daisies and baby's breath in a crystal basket vase, which was given to the bride by her grandmother. Presiding at the bride's table were DeAnn Evans, Sandra Pate and Gwen Smith, all of Floydada.

The groom's table was laid with an off white lace cloth. Focal point of the setting was a bright colorful fruit arrangement made by Elaine LaBaume. Also served was a cheese block and iced tea in a crock. Serving at the groom's table were Terry Nelson, cousin of the groom of Floydada, and Laura Nutt of Floydada.

The baskets used in the wedding and a collage of pictures of the bride and groom were placed throughout the reception hall.

Rice bells were distributed by Tiffany Bennett and Kristi Bennett. They carried small baskets accented with pink bows.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents in the reception hall of the church on July 5.

For a wedding trip to Dallas the bride wore a pink checked dress and a corsage of rosario alstroemeria and pink rose, given to her by the groom. The groom left in blue attire.

The couple will be at home in Floydada upon their return.

The bride, a 1985 graduate of Floydada High School, is employed by Williams Florist. The groom is a 1980 graduate of Floydada High School and attended West Texas State University. He is employed by Lighthouse Electric.

Jodie Smith feted with luncheon

Jodie Smith, bride-elect of Keith Hight of Lockney, was feted with a bridal luncheon held in Lubbock at Creatively Yours on Wednesday, July 3.

Hostesses for the occasion were Mrs. Scott Faulkenberry, Mrs. Bob Hambricht and Mrs. Jack Jordan.

An antique theme was carried out with tables draped in French lace with silk flower arrangements and appointments of depression glass. Those attending wrote favorite recipes and messages to be filed in a hand painted recipe file given to the bride-elect.

Other guest attending the luncheon included Mrs. Choise Smith, mother of the bride-elect; Mrs. A.L. Smith, grandmother of the bride-elect; Julie Faulkenberry, Christi Norrell, Mrs. Jim Waller and Karen Weber.

Schuster and Weller exchange nuptial vows

MRS. KENNETH WAYNE WELLER

Christina Margaret (Christi) Schuster became the bride of Kenneth Wayne Weller during a 7:30 p.m. wedding ceremony June 28 in the First Baptist Church of Groom, Texas. The exchange of vows were read by the bride's father, George Schuster, pastor of the Main Street Church of Christ, Lockney.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. George Schuster of Lockney and Raymond and Charleen Weller of Groom.

Highlighting the altar area were two spiral candelabras flanking a heart shaped candelabra. A brass stand held the unity candle and two side candles. Candelabras were entwined with greenery. Floral arrangements were on the piano and organ, with accents at the front pews.

Escorted and given in marriage by her brother, Benjamin Schuster, the bride chose a Victorian style formal white gown of organza, satin, and lace. The high sheer neckline had a ruffle of lace around the neck and at the yoke where it joined the satin bodice. The sheer organza sleeves, wrist length, were accented with lace appliques. The white satin skirt was overlaid with seven tiers of Valencia lace which swept into a chapel length train.

She wore a wide brimmed hat, with an attached pouf that extended to a fingertip veil. It featured crystal pleating and Venise lace and pearls.

Maid of honor was Rhonda Martin of Sudan. Serving as bridesmaids were Beth Norman of Rusk, Texas, Sheila Wilson of Paducah and Annet Waxler of Groom. Kathleen Strickland of Weimar, Texas was flower girl. Lighting candles were Amber Orr, cousin of the bride of Lubbock, and Kathy Weller, niece of the groom. Bridal attendants were attired in deep pink formal length gowns featuring white lace bodices and full length lace sleeves. Attendants carried bouquets of pink roses, burgundy starflowers and baby's breath with bows. Candelighters wore pink rose wristlets.

Wedding music was presented by

Mrs. Rick Burton of Groom, organist; Harold Orr, uncle of the bride of Lubbock, soloist, and Rhonda Martin of Sudan.

Acting as best man was Terrell Britten of Groom. Groomsmen were David Weller of Pampa and Richard Weller of Groom, both brothers of the groom, and Brent Thornton of Groom. Seating guests were Ben Schuster of Lockney, Brent Thornton of Groom, David Weller of Pampa and Richard Weller of Groom. Kyle Weller, nephew of the groom of Pampa, was ring bearer.

A reception followed in the fellowship hall of the First Baptist Church. Kay Barclay of Woodsboro, Texas secured names of guests. Reception assistants were ladies of the Church of Christ.

Serving tables were both draped with pink tablecloths. The bride's table was highlighted with a three-tiered wedding cake supported by white pillars. A fountain was featured on the bottom layer and a bride and groom stood on the top layer. Pink and burgundy flowers accented the white icing. A punch bowl sat in a grape vine wreath accented with pink and burgundy flowers and bows, designed by Reeda Cay Smith.

A german chocolate cake and coffee from a silver service were served at the groom's table. An antique pink and white satin glass basket with silver handle called "Brida Basket" completed the setting. Other flower arrangements were scattered throughout.

Following a wedding trip to Red River, New Mexico, the couple is at home in Groom, Texas.

The bride, a graduate of Sudan High School, attended one year at Abilene Christian University. She is presently assistant manager at Allsup's in Groom.

The groom is a graduate of Groom High School and electronics school. He is employed by Dean Burger of Pampa.

The Golden Spread Grill in Groom was the site of a rehearsal dinner on Thursday night, June 27, hosted by the groom's parents.

Above is Fay Krugh with Pat Walker ten years after reducing with our program. She says "I felt like I was at the end of my rope... really going under for the last time, when my physician suggested I try Pat Walker's figure correction program." "I got a new lease on life. Not only did my back problem and headaches improve, but the pounds melted away. I went from a size 16 to a 6 and lost 44 pounds and 59 inches and after ten years it is still lost."

THE FARMERS ELECTRONIC WEED CONTROL rig, a new and futuristic spray system developed by Ted Heard, owner of Farmers Electronic Company, gets a workout on a farm near Dougherty. According to its developer, the new system covers twice as much land with half as much chemical as the old systems, and requires one less person to operate. The system involves an electronic eye that is positioned directly over the crop row and automatically detects any weed that stands above the crop. All other weeds are sprayed with electronic handguns metered to kill individual weeds. This, according to Heard, prevents the problem of hand

DECLARE WAR ON WEEDS

Control your weeds with the Farmers Electro-Chem Sprayer. All weeds above the crop are sprayed automatically. The weeds below the crop level can be sprayed by our electronic handgun. Retire your spray buggy. SAVE time, labor and over 50% of your chemical. You'll need to see our spray system to appreciate the newest design for weed control.

UP WITH AGRICULTURE

By David Garst

Walk into any grocery store, and you may hear people complaining about the cost of food.

Actually, Americans spend only about 15 percent of their disposable income on food. This is less than for taxes to support our government. It's less than in any other country. Food, here in the U.S., is a bargain, thanks to our efficient food production and distribution system.

Unfortunately, not everyone benefits equally from this efficiency.

Recently, in honor of National Agriculture Day, a non-profit group in the Midwest sold bread on the steps of city hall for a nickel a loaf—the approximate price farmers receive for every loaf sold in the supermarket. This was not the first time that the group had staged such an event. Ten years ago, they sold "nickel" bread on those same city hall steps, also in honor of Ag Day.

The interesting thing is that while consumers pay more for bread today than ten years ago, the farmer receives less.

Statistics show that in 1974, the price of wheat was at $5.25 a bushel, and a loaf of bread cost the retailer less than 40 cents. The farmer received 5.4 cents per loaf. In 1983, the price of wheat was at $3.67. The farmer received only 4.3 cents per loaf, while retailers paid about 40 percent more.

The truth is, our prolific production is a double-edged sword. By being efficient producers, farmers ensure that Americans enjoy low food prices. The price of food has risen much more slowly over the past few years than the price of other things. Farmers pass their efficiency on to consumers.

By being efficient, farmers lower the price they receive for their products... and yet they are experts at producing bumper crops. Their mountains of grain force the value of this grain down. Add to this the fact that a strong U.S. dollar is suppressing exports, and it's easy to see why it's tough today for farmers to make a profit.

The truth is, efficiency is not fair to farmers. Farmers take it on the chin financially so the rest of us can eat like kings for pennies a bite.

Americans work only 17 minutes to earn one pound of pork, three minutes to earn one pound of bread, and five minutes to earn one dozen eggs. This is in sharp contrast to the Chinese, who must work 500 minutes to earn one pound of pork, 200 minutes to earn one pound of bread, and 375 minutes to earn one dozen eggs.

If we had to shop for groceries in any other country, we'd see that food prices in America are not too hard to swallow.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO IMPLEMENT RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas gives notice of its intent to implement new exchange access rates for the provision of shared tenant and tenant resale services.

These proposed rates are applicable to customers of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, excluding hotel/motel customers, who provide local exchange telephone service of General Telephone Company of the Southwest to their tenants or patrons on a resale or shared use basis. This resale or sharing arrangement is normally provided utilizing a customer-provided PABX or other similar stored control switch capable of common control processing or other features commonly associated with a PABX "Smart" switch.

These proposed rates are designed to recover costs on a usage basis for local exchange telephone service access and are identical to General Telephone's "Optional Measured Service" rates. The monthly access rate will be $28.95 per trunk line and the usage rates are as follows:

Over	Up To and Including	Band	Set Up	Full Rate Period Each Minute
0	7 miles	A	$.025	$.015
7	14 miles	B	.035	.021
14	21 miles	C	.050	.030
21	28 miles	D	.070	.042
28		E	.090	.054

As this is a new service offering, we are unable to determine the number of customers who may be affected. Currently, there are no known prospective customers. Until any customer utilizes this new offering, there will be no effect on the revenues of the telephone company, and in any event, the telephone company does not expect revenues to be affected by more than 2 1/2 percent. These proposed rates, where applicable, will provide tariffed local exchange access to customers who then will provide shared or resale services to tenants.

These proposed rates have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission of Texas and will become effective as proposed or modified by order of the Commission on a date to be determined by the commission.

The proposed rate schedule is on file with the Commission for public inspection and is also available at any business office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumers Affairs Division at (512)458-0223 or (512)458-0227, or (512)458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Our electronic hand gun reduces worker fatigue and chemical loss (up to 40%). The old squeeze gun reduces increases worker exhaustion, thereby increasing the likelihood the workers will not carefully avoid spraying the herbicide on crops. Our electronic hand gun has a timer set for a brief burst. The worker is forced to fire once for each weed. Herbicide is neither wasted nor applied to growing crops.

Gill layette shower held

The home of Aigene Barker in Lockney was the scene Saturday afternoon of a layette shower honoring Mrs. Brett (Judy) Gill and infant daughter, Corye Beth.

The baby's grandmothers, Judy Birdwell of Dimmitt and Wilma Gill of Silvertown, and the baby's aunt, Cheryl Birdwell, of Lorenzo, were special guests.

Judy Gill was given a corsage made from pink, blue and yellow baby socks.

A white batiste cloth embroidered with flowers in pastel pink, blue and yellow was used on the serving table. A pink basket holding ribbons in the same colors had streamers attached to colored helium-filled balloons which floated over the table. Crystal appointments were used to serve various cookies and finger sandwiches, fresh fruit platter with dip, and banana punch.

On the hostess list with Mrs. Barker were Mmes. Melanie Beachy, Robin King, Molly Huffman, Cindy Ford, Charlotte Mitchell, Sherry McDonald and Kathy Kellison. Their gift to Mrs. Gill and the baby was a mechanical swing.

"Laugh Lines"
 Bits of Humor, Trivia, and an occasional Word of Wisdom
 BY DON & SARA PROBASCO

A big man is one who makes us feel bigger when we are with him.
 The business of living is not to get ahead of others, but to get ahead of ourselves.

A deaf ear is the first symptom of a closed mind.

Absolute freedom is being able to do exactly as you please without considering anyone else...except your spouse and the kids...the company and your boss...neighbors, and friends, the police, the government, the doctor, and the church.

There are two kinds of fools. One says, "This is old, therefore it must be good." The other says, "This is new, therefore it must be better."

The world does not require so much to be informed as to be reminded.

"If one only wished to be happy, this could be easily accomplished; but we wish to be happier than other people, and this is always difficult, because each of us believe others to be happier than we are."
 ...Montesquieu

We cannot always control what happens to us in life, but we can control the way we respond to it.
