By Ken Towery

We are indebted to David Kirk for the information that Billy Clayton has made the sort-of-anticipated move from Democrat to Republican this past weekend. He mentioned it over at Arwine's coffee corner Monday morning, and none of us had heard the news.

We checked with Austin upon returning to the office, and sure enough it was true. Billy made the switch with a minimum of fanfare, saying that he just felt more comfortable in his new political home, but that he was not going to run for governor on the Republican ticket, and that he would continue to help conservative Democrats, of which he was one until he made his switch, as well as Republicans.

The news explains at least one curious aspect of politics we have all witnessed in recent weeks, that being the frequent and recurring visits to West Texas and the Plains country by Mr. Jim Hightower, our hilarious Commissioner of Agriculture. Rumors of Clayton's possible switch have been circulating in certain circles for some time, along with speculation that if he did make the move, a race for Commissioner of Agriculture would be in the offing. Hightower's allies no doubt heard the same rumors, which could account for his increasingly frequent trips to this area. Billy may run, or Billy may not run, but in any case he will have served a public service if just the threat to run causes Mr. Hightower to get out on the farms and ranches. If he kept it up for 10 or 12 years, he might learn something about his job.

We would imagine, however, that if Mr. Clayton decides to run against Mr. Hightower, he won't be around long enough to complete his education.

We notice that the Department of Highways has placed some new topping on the road between here and Plainview. That is nice. It will make it even more pleasant for the folks up that way to come over here to do their shopping.

Now if they will just do the same thing between here and Lubbock, the folks over there can have a nice drive to Floyd County, where they too can shop and visit in pleasant surroundings.

We're not trying to be facetious, folks. Just setting the stage for another of our semi-regular exhortations on the value of supporting hometown endeavors. We don't want to admonish our readers, nor do we wish to bore them with constant repetition, but this is a subject we will visit from time to time simply because it is important if we want to build our community.

It is true of course that commerce is a two-way street. We do indeed sell a great deal to our neighbors in the near-by larger towns, just as we have a good bit of trade from folks in surrounding smaller towns and communities. There is no way we could, or should, curtail this traffic in commerce. We simply want to point out that growth generates growth, and that money is, along with motivation, a prime mover in growth. To the extent that more flows out than flows in, we are not helped. And sizeable sums are involved, make no mistake. The Tandy Corporation, headquartered in Fort Worth, claims that it generated $77,000 in sales from Lockney alone during 1984. Sales to people from Floydada amounted to $96,000. These sales were generated by retail outlets in Lubbock and Plainview, by and large. Think about it, and help when you can, any way you can.

I suppose by now that it is reasonably evident that we are by nature community boosters here at this shop. We take great joy in reporting those stories that have to do with our citizen's successes and accomplishments. We take no joy at all in occasionally having to report unhappy news as well. We take no joy in reporting, for instance, that one of our citizens was transported to Huntsville by our Sheriff. We are sure that the Sheriff takes no joy in having to perform that task. But a duty is a duty, and a newspaper is essentially a mirror of life in the community. As such we must, on occasions, report on things we would

HOME DAMAGED BY FIRE—Members of the Colston family watch as Floydada volunteer firemen wait for smoke to clear out of the attic of their fire damaged home on Saturday, July 13. The damage was contained to the kitchen, attic and roof of the dwelling when a short circuit in an electric can opener began the blaze.

Colston home suffers major damage in fire

A fire late Saturday afternoon caused an estimated $18,000.00 damage to the home of Billy Don Colston near Dougherty. There were no injuries to the residents of the home or to firefighters who worked to control the blaze. The fire, which was called in around 6:28 on July 13, has been attributed to an electrical short in an electric can opener.

Fire damage was confined to the kitchen area and the attic and roof above it. There was some smoke and water damage in adjacent areas of the house.

According to Carroll Sims, a representative of the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department, "The fire was fairly routine and came under control quickly in response to our efforts." Sims also expressed again the need for a larger water tank on the county fire truck. "We had some people bringing water in case we needed it in farm tanks and sprayers. In this case, it was not necessary because the house was so well sealed and tight that the fire grew slowly due to lack of available oxygen," stated Sims.

"Another problem we faced was lack of personnel. Department policy allows us to enter a house only in pairs with a third person outside to man the truck. The two who brought the truck out had to wait to enter the house until someone else arrived," stated Sims.

Dallas hosts train meeting

Delegates from all over the state converged in Dallas, recently, to gather information and share plans for the 1986 tours of the Texas Independence Express. This steam locomotive will depart from Dallas in June and again in August of 1986 as it makes its way across the state in celebration of the Texas

Sesquicentennial year. Due to the efforts of Sara Probasco the train will make a stop in Lockney on Friday, August 1, 1986, where around 200 passengers will disembark for a day-long "Train Day" celebration, to be planned and coordinated by Floyd County Arts Association.

Publisher announces staff changes

Editor resigns

Mrs. Carolyn Redding, who has served as Editor of both the Lockney Beacon and the Floyd County Hesperian during the last four years, has submitted her resignation effective Monday.

Ken Towery, Publisher of the two papers, said he accepted Mrs. Redding's resignation with regret.

"Carolyn has been a valued and trusted member of the staff, and her presence will be sorely missed," he said. "We found her to be highly capable and dedicated, and all of us here wish her well in the future."

Mrs. Redding said she has "thoroughly enjoyed my work during the past four years."

"Serving first as the editor of the Lockney Beacon and then as editor of The Floyd County Hesperian, I have gotten to know some of you from all over the county and learned to appreciate all of you. Besides my position affording me the opportunity to meet and make new friends, I have enjoyed renewing some old friendships. My biggest joy has been sharing in your news—your successes, your grandbabies, your weddings, your anniversaries, and your guests."

"I hope the paper has met with the fulfillment and spirit that it has been produced. It has been our pleasure," she said.

New duties posted

The publisher of the Floyd County Hesperian and the Lockney Beacon today announced changes in the newspapers' personnel responsibilities, following the resignation of Mrs. Carolyn Redding, who has served as editor of both newspapers.

Editorial responsibilities will be assumed by Mrs. Alice Towery Gilroy.

Rosemary Gonzales, a long time employee of the newspapers, was named Production Manager. She will have responsibility for makeup of the newspapers, their distribution and circulation, and other aspects related to production of the papers.

Mrs. Keith (Neta) Marble, of the South Plains community, was named Associate Editor of the two newspapers. Her current duties, where she is responsible for layout of the newspapers' display advertising, will be expanded to take in certain editorial functions. Mrs. Marble studied Journalism at West Texas State University and has been with Floyd County Newspapers for the past year.

Mrs. Pamela Armstrong, currently the reporter and Office Manager for the Lockney Beacon, will assume additional duties in servicing advertising accounts in Lockney.

Mackenzie Water Authority names new manager

James Horton McAlister has been selected to succeed Neil Taylor, retiring manager of Mackenzie Water Authority. McAlister was chosen from a field of six finalists after a total of 32 applications were considered. The decision to hire McAlister was made during a special called meeting of the board of directors on Saturday, July 13.

McAlister, 46, was born in Lubbock and graduated from Abernathy High School. He earned a bachelors degree in public administration from Texas Tech University. He has twenty years experience in management and has supervised and developed yearly budgets in excess of $20 million.

Coming to Lake Mackenzie from Conroe, Texas, McAlister was more recently manager of the City of DeSoto. He has also served as city manager for Huntsville and Tulia. His past experience includes serving as a planning officer in the office of the governor and working for Gibraltar Savings in Houston.

The McAlisters have four children, none of whom live at home.

Mackenzie Water Authority supplies city water for Floydada, Lockney, Silverton, and Tulia. Each city has two representatives serving on the board of directors. Floydada representatives include C.J. Payne and Lon Davis Jr. Lockney representatives are Owen Thornton and Robert McDonald. Payne and Thornton were members of the review committee which processed the applications and chose the six finalists for the managerial opening created by Taylor's retirement.

Floydada FFA students attend state convention

Nine Floydada FFA members made the long trip to the 57th annual Future Farmers Convention in Houston last week. Brian Sanders, Brent Williams, Coy LaBaume, Don Chesshir, Haney Robertson, Roger Alldredge, Lane Cheek, Tim Burns, and Shannon Barbee attended.

Barbee and Robertson were the two voting delegates from Floydada. They cast their votes along with 1600 other young FFA members on such issues as officers for the year to come and for sweetheart of the convention.

More than 2000 award winners were recognized during the convention with over 1600 of them earning Lone Star Farmer degrees. Local recipients included Robertson, Sanders, Williams, LaBaume, and Chesshir. Two local members who did not make the trip also received the award: David Payne and Jon Garrett.

Recreational and Fun Night included performances by regional winners in the talent competition. Four young men from Floydada, known locally as "The Gravediggers," performed in the Astro Arena for the event. Although they did not garner one of the top three positions, the band provided an enjoyable interlude of fine music for the large audience. Members of the group are Brian Sanders, Roger Alldredge, Tim Burns, and Lane Cheek.

Lisa Smith, local FFA Sweetheart, also represented the organization during the convention.

The theme for the week-long event was "Keep Agriculture #1...Support FFA and Vocational Agriculture." The time between July 9 and July 12 was dedicated to that purpose and saw over $525,000.00 in scholarships presented to youngsters who plan to continue their education in agriculture related fields.

Vocational agriculture instructor Allen Akers accompanied the group to Houston. He was assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sanders, chaperones, along with their daughter Crystal.

Akers stated, "I think the trip went really well. The students conducted themselves as they should to represent their school and their city. We can all be very proud of them."

Masons install officers

Area Masons gathered in Floydada Friday night to witness the joint installation of new leaders for Masonic lodges in Quitaque, Tulia, Abernathy and Floydada.

Well over 100 were on hand to see the Masonic Grand Master for all Texas, George R. (Bob) Scott, of Waco give the charge to Bill Gray of Floydada, Bob Brown of Tulia, Ronnie Hamilton of Abernathy, and Grady Tyler of Quitaque, as Worshipful Masters of their respective lodges.

Also being installed in their new duties for the Floydada lodge were Roger Vinson as Senior Warden, Rex Yeary as Junior Warden, Doyle Walls as treasurer, Kenneth Pitts as secretary, C.L. Berry as chaplain, Wayne Russell as senior deacon, Deryl Evans as junior deacon, Bobby Rainer as senior steward, Mac Willson as junior steward, and J.K. Holmes as tiler.

Masons from Waco, Austin, and as far away as Missouri, were also in attendance at the ceremonies, where introductions were made by Floydada's J.M. (Jimmy) Willson, himself a Past Grand Master of all lodges in Texas. The Installing Marshal for the occasion was Furman Vinson, of Flomot, also a Past Grand Master.

A steak dinner preceded the installation, and the ceremonies were followed by a program of patriotic musical selections featuring soloist Lee Battey, with Dell Gray at the piano.

Masons in this country support a wide range of charitable and benevolent activities, spending a daily average of $1.8 million, the bulk of which goes to non-Masons.

Floydada's Lodge #712 was first chartered in 1891, with W.O. Menefee as its first Worshipful Master.

New duties posted... Continued From Page 1

Mrs. Juanita Stepp will continue as the principal news reporter for the Hesperian, but certain other of her responsibilities will be assumed by others, in order that she may devote full time to news coverage for the paper.

Miss Dee Williams will assume the responsibilities of the classified department.

The duties and responsibilities of others associated with the newspapers will remain essentially unchanged, according to the publisher.

The position of advertising manager is currently open, but the publisher said he hoped to have an announcement concerning this in the near future.

"We are currently interviewing prospects for that job, in the hope that we can find an experienced and dynamic person who knows the field and can be of assistance to our advertisers," the publisher said.

Farabee appointed to committee

Lieutenant Governor Bill Hobby announced the appointment of Senator Ray Farabee to the Texas Coordinating Committee on State Health and Welfare Services. This committee is responsible for conducting an on-going study and analysis of services and programs for all health related agencies. related to the health field. "Senator Farabee, with his knowledge and experience, will be an asset to the decision making process," stated Hobby.

Farabee is chairman of the Senate State Affairs Committee and serves on the Legislative Audit Committee. His term on the coordinating committee will be completed on December 31, 1986.

rather not have to report.

One such occasion was a recent forced sale of a house in Lockney by agents of the Internal Revenue Service. The house was owned by residents of Abilene. We have had calls from readers who feel that we should not have run the story, as if our not running it would have changed anything, or as if it could have somehow been kept secret had we not done so. The facts of the matter are however that it was all a matter of public record. The IRS ran ads announcing the sale, notifying the public of the time and place. The sale was held on public property, in the County Courthouse, with public officials in charge. The sale was open to the general public, and was attended by members of the general public. All we did was accurately and factually report what transpired at a public event presided over by officials of the government.

As we said earlier a newspaper, particularly this newspaper, takes no joy in reporting unhappy events. But if it is going to do its duty in informing its readers of what goes on, particularly when those events involve governmental actions that impact upon the lives of our citizens, we have little choice. Except, of course, to hope that we never have to report on such events again.

Spotlight on Texas

Texas has become the envy of many other states. And it's not just because of our mouth-watering chili and mesquite-smoked barbecue.

Our state is now attracting more and more businesses to head-quarter or locate a major operation here. Corpus Christi was just chosen as the new U.S. Navy base for the battleship Wisconsin. And support warships will be stationed in the Houston-Galveston area. The annual economic impact is expected to top $250 million.

No longer is our state a land of only oil and agriculture. While those industries still play major roles, they are now part of a varied big picture, which includes the banking, defense, computer, tourism and telecommunications industries, to name a few.

Regardless of their locations within Texas, the influx of new businesses is a boon to the whole state. New businesses increase the state's tax base and create new jobs for all Texans.

Attracting new businesses

Helping to draw new businesses to Texas are the state's abundant resources, good climate, excellent transportation and hard-working residents.

For example, good transportation was a dominating reason for Southwestern Bell Telephone's recent decision to locate a major distribution warehouse in Lancaster, south of Dallas. The new 490,000 square foot complex will serve all five of our company's states.

In addition to transportation, telecommunications facilities are also important in many business relocation decisions.

Southwestern Bell Telephone is proud to offer top-notch telecommunications in the 450 towns it serves in Texas. For the eighth year in a row, we are investing more than $1 billion in new construction to meet Texas' growth and to continue adding state-of-the-art communications facilities.

Reasonable phone rates

Also, Texas residential telephone rates are among the lowest in the nation. In fact, a recent study conducted by an investment brokerage firm — Smith Barney — found Texas had the lowest average monthly residence bill among the 18 states surveyed.

From 1975 to 1984, the average residential phone service for most Texans increased only 44 percent. During that time, the Consumer Price Index rose 93 percent, gasoline went up 117 percent, medical costs increased 184 percent, while natural gas prices rose 239 percent.

In fact, statistics show it actually takes a smaller percentage of earned income to pay for telephone service today than it did 25 years ago.

Even at our current proposed increases, Texans will continue to enjoy quality communications at affordable rates.

What makes Texas grow? It's a lot of factors, from its highways to its telecommunications services to its state government that actively works to promote economic development.

It's also good people, including Southwestern Bell Telephone's 35,000 Texas employees. We're proud of our traditions of service in the state since the late 1800s. And we're confident of our abilities to continue meeting the needs of our growing state.

TRINITY CHURCH GROUNDBREAKING—Ira Sullivan, Mayor Parnell Powell, Alton Rose, Paul Westbrook, Reverend G.A. Van Hoose, and M.E. Williamson each turned a spade of ground for the new Trinity Church Building.

Groundbreaking held for Trinity

A groundbreaking ceremony for the new church facility of the Trinity Church was held in Floydada on Sunday afternoon. The July 14 ceremonies culminated a two year campaign to secure the funds for the new church building. A site just south of the present church on the "Y" in Floydada has been designated for the interdenominational church.

The group, though small in number, has done an amazing job in their short period of existence. They began meeting in the Senior Citizens building in November of 1983 with a small group of people and moved to their present location on March 4, 1984. The church officially began with 35 charter members. The Reverend G.A. Van Hoose serves as pastor.

The board of elders is made up of Paul Westbrook, Alton Rose, M.E. Williamson, Rainey Varner, and Ira Sullivan. Under their leadership, the congregation has raised about half of the funds required to complete their new church building.

Construction is to begin immediately with the survey and staking out the building site. The new building will be located on a five lot parcel donated to the church by Paul and Dartha Westbrook.

Liftoff closes reading program

The cloudy skies over the courthouse were brightened for a moment last Wednesday, July 10, when the participants in the Floyd County Library's summer reading program sent aloft multi-colored helium balloons as part of the closing day activities. Attached to each balloon was a tag bearing the child's name and address and the request that whoever finds the balloon return the tag, telling where it was found. Judging from the way the balloons took off to the southwest they may travel quite a distance!

Following the launch the children returned to the library for refreshments and a drawing for prizes. Winner of the grand prize, a book of poetry for children, was Tavia Hearon. Other winners received coupons good for free drinks at My-T-Burger.

This summer's reading program was one of the library's most successful, with over 30 enrollers. Those receiving certificates for perfect attendance at the six-week program were Amanda Jo Fawver, Priscilla Peralez, John Poffinbarger, Mike Poffinbarger, Frankie Maldonado, Betty Rose Drummond, Jon Dean Drummond, Jeremy Hill, Tavia Hearon, Shelia Hearon, Casey Carthel and Corey Carthel.

There are several people who deserve special recognition for their contributions to this year's reading club. They are Alissa Hambright, who did storytelling for the 4 to 6-year-olds; Sharon Vickers, who donated the helium for the balloons; the folks at My-T-Burger for donating the free drink coupons; and Janice Lloyd, who supplied the refreshments on closing day. Many thanks to all these fine people!

UP, UP, AND AWAY—Youngsters in the summer reading program trooped out onto the courthouse lawn to send aloft helium filled balloons.

Former Floydada resident retires as librarian to become archivist

Florrie Conway, a former Floydada resident, has officially ended an era by resigning her position as director of learning resources at Wayland Baptist University to begin working as archivist for the institution. Conway has been head librarian and assistant professor of library science at the Plainview university since 1955.

During her thirty year tenure, Conway has seen the expansion of the library facilities as it grew to encompass new ideas and technologies. The journey from a library of bound volumes to a multi-media learning resource center has been "most rewarding and fulfilling," according to Conway.

Conway lived in the Lakeview area of Floyd County as a girl. Her parents were Ollie Mitchell Conway and Blanche Price Conway. Her mother served the county as treasurer from 1936 to 1945. The present location of Lakeview Gin was a part of the family land in years past.

Upon graduating from Floydada High School in 1937, Conway entered Wayland, at that time a junior college. She completed two years before going to Baylor University on a scholarship to earn her bachelor's degree. She had the distinction of being the highest ranking Wayland graduate to attend Baylor. She earned a master of library science degree from the University of Texas in 1955.

While studying for the masters degree, Conway worked for the Travis Avenue Baptist Church in Fort Worth, the Memorial Baptist Church in Temple, and the First Baptist Church in Plainview. She continues to be an active member of the Plainview church.

Dr. David Jester, president of the university, expressed his admiration for the many years of service and support Conway has given the university. He also conveyed the gratitude of the institution for her assistance and cooperation in preparing the new multi-million dollar Learning Resources Center now nearing completion at the campus center.

A fitting tribute to the unselfish devotion of the retiring librarian was made by her hometown of Floydada. An anonymous donation made possible a stained glass frame which will grace the front of the tower on the learning center.

Conway is looking forward to her retirement although she says "I can't just go home and keep house. I intend to keep busy. The work as archivist and the research and cataloging necessary to organize the papers and records of the university will be an enjoyable challenge for me."

MRS. DENNIS CLAYTON BURNS

Collis-Rodriguez wed

The Embassy Suite Atrium in El Paso was the site for the 1 p.m. wedding ceremony uniting Mitzi Ann Collis and Roberto Rodriguez III on July 6, 1985. The exchange of vows was ready by Don McNicol, pastor of the Church of Christ and uncle of the bride.

Parents of the couple are Wanda Collis of El Paso and Gene Collis of Dallas and Mr. and Mrs. Roberto Rodriguez Jr. of El Paso. The bride is the granddaughter of Annie Lee Kelli-son and Ora Collis, both of Lockney.

The bride descended from the fourth floor to the atrium in a glass elevator and was escorted by her father to a natural plant setting in the atrium. Her ivory chiffon gown was designed with an English net yoke. Ruffles trimmed in satin ribbon accentuated her shoulders, cuffs, melon sleeves and chapel length train. Matching wrist length chiffon gloves, edged in satin ribbon accented the classic bouffant skirt. Her wreath and veil headpiece was created by the bride's aunt to accent her matching bridal bouquet.

Maid of honor was the bride's mother, Wanda Marie Collis of El Paso. Her waltz length pink lace dress featured a boat neckline with elbow length puffed sleeves and trumpet skirt. She carried a bouquet of white rose and pink flowers.

Bridesmaids, Sanda Anne Barcana, Leslie Mae Summerford and Carolyn Leticia Mora, all of El Paso, wore waltz length dresses of pink lace with square necklines and long sleeves. Their fitted waists, accented with a V, fell to a circle skirt. They carried bouquets identical to the maid of honors'.

Music for the ceremony was provided by Martha Seymore of El Paso, organist and soloist.

Acting as best man for the groom was his brother, Willie Rodriguez of El Paso. Groomsmen were Mario Porras, Henry Zubiate and Pat Mulvey, all of El Paso.

A reception on the eighth floor Acapulco Room of the Embassy Suite Hotel followed the wedding. Reception assistants were Sandy Collins, Jeannie Edwards, Lucia Rodriguez and Don Widdowfield.

Registering guests was Daisy Rodriguez, sister of the groom.

Tables were set with three paper mache vases filled with Mexican flowers and laid on bright colored placemats. The four-tiered bride's cake was highlighted with a hand blown glass heart and love birds. The groom's table held a chocolate cake.

An eight-piece Mariachi band played during the receiving of guests and cutting of cakes. This was followed by a disc dance after the reception.

A wedding dinner was then served to all guests following the dance. The groom's parents hosted the meal in the backyard of their home. The couple left following the dinner.

The bride is a special education teacher in the Los Angeles area and the groom a civil engineer in road design for the county of Los Angeles. Both are graduated from Eastwood High School in El Paso and the University of Texas at El Paso, where she was associated with Zeta Tau Alpha and he with the Civil Engineers Club.

Other courtesies honoring the couple included a bridesmaid luncheon in the home of the groom's parents and a pool party, hosted by the bride's aunt, Beth McNicol.

The couple will reside in Los Angeles, California.

MRS. ROBERTO RODRIGUEZ III

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a formal gown of white silk organza. The bouffant skirt was also accented with rows of satin ribbon and ruffles ending in a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion was attached to a caplet of illusion enhanced with seed pearls and silk roses. She carried a cascade bouquet of rubrum lilies, white roses, and English ivy.

Honor attendants were Miss Angela Bush, maid of honor, from Buford, South Carolina, and Susan Burns, sister of the groom, bridesmaid from Fort Worth. They wore identical tea length gowns of mauve crepe-de-chine, fashioned with boat-shaped necklines, puff sleeves, and full gathered skirts accented with wide sashes at the waist. They carried cascade bouquets of rubrum lilies and English ivy.

Best man was Dale Burns, Fort Worth, brother of the groom, and Craig Carthel, Houston, brother of the bride was groomsmen.

The sanctuary was decorated with a large arrangement of mauve and white gladiolas, carnations, roses and daisies with fern and pyracantha. Miss Sherry Salmon registered guests.

A full buffet reception was served following the ceremony in Channel Hall at the church. Banquet tables were laid with white linen cloths and decorated with arrangements of fresh flowers. The serving table was also laid with white linen cloths and held a large bouquet of status, daisies, roses, and carnations arranged in an epergne, a wedding gift of the bride's parents, and white tapers. Salads, sliced meats, fresh fruits, wedding cakes and punch, prepared by Mrs. Carthel, were served to approximately 170 guests.

Mrs. Leonard provided wedding music throughout the meal. A special tribute was given to Mr. John T. Carthel, grandfather of the bride, as he was asked to play his special rendition of "Mush pot", a traditional folk tune, on his harmonica, accompanied by Joyce Wilson.

NOTICE OF INTENT TO IMPLEMENT RATES

General Telephone Company of the Southwest in accordance with the Public Utility Regulatory Act and the Rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas gives notice of its intent to implement new exchange access rates for the provision of shared tenant and tenant resale services.

These proposed rates are applicable to customers of General Telephone Company of the Southwest, excluding hotel/motel customers, who provide local exchange telephone service of General Telephone Company of the Southwest to their tenants or patrons on a resale or shared use basis. This resale or sharing arrangement is normally provided utilizing a customer-provided PABX or other similar stored control switch capable of common control processing or other features commonly associated with a PABX "Smart" switch.

These proposed rates are designed to recover costs on a usage basis for local exchange telephone service access and are identical to General Telephone's "Optional Measured Service" rates. The monthly access rate will be $28.95 per trunk line and the usage rates are as follows:

Over	Up To and Including	Band	Set Up	Full Rate Period Each Minute
0	7 miles	A	$ .025	$ .015
7	14 miles	B	.035	.021
14	21 miles	C	.050	.030
21	28 miles	D	.070	.042
28		E	.090	.054

As this is a new service offering, we are unable to determine the number of customers who may be affected. Currently, there are no known prospective customers. Until any customer utilizes this new offering, there will be no effect on the revenues of the telephone company, and in any event, the telephone company does not expect revenues to be affected by more than 2 1/2 percent. These proposed rates, where applicable, will provide tariffed local exchange access to customers who then will provide shared or resale services to tenants.

These proposed rates have been suspended by the Public Utility Commission of Texas and will become effective as proposed or modified by order of the Commission on a date to be determined by the commission.

The proposed rate schedule is on file with the Commission for public inspection and is also available at any business office of General Telephone Company of the Southwest.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N Austin, Texas 78757. Our electronic hand gun reduces worker fatigue and chemical loss (up to 40%). The old squeeze gun reduces increases worker exhaustion, thereby increasing the likelihood the workers will not carefully avoid spraying the herbicide on crops. Our electronic hand gun has a timer set for a brief burst. The worker is forced to fire once for each weed. Herbicide is neither wasted nor applied to growing crops.

A big man is one who makes us feel bigger when we are with him.

The business of living is not to get ahead of others, but to get ahead of ourselves.

A deaf ear is the first symptom of a closed mind.

Absolute freedom is being able to do exactly as you please without considering anyone else...except your spouse and the kids...the company and your boss...neighbors, and friends, the police, the government, the doctor, and the church.

There are two kinds of fools. One says, "This is old, therefore it must be good." The other says, "This is new, therefore it must be better."

The world does not require so much to be informed as to be reminded.

"If one only wished to be happy, this could be easily accomplished; but we wish to be happier than other people, and this is always difficult, because each of us believe others to be happier than we are."

ERNEST FOWLER

Fowler retires after 16 years as city judge

Ernest Fowler, who rose from seven-year-old shoe shine boy to one of Lockney's most respected and admired men, retired last week as Lockney's city judge.

Fowler and Irene, his wife of 60 years, are moving to Plainview due to Irene's health, and to be near his daughter and sister. He has served Lockney as city judge for sixteen years.

Born in 1904 in Miles, Texas, Fowler moved to Lockney in 1909 with his mother and her three other children. Fowler's mother, known in Lockney as Mrs. Dell Fowler, moved to Lockney to be with her father after losing her husband. Within a month, her father died and she was left trying to support her four children. "My mother worked hard at various jobs to take care of us kids," says Fowler with pride. "She told me that any job you do is honorable as long as it's honest. In August of 1913 she became the fifth postmaster of Lockney and served as postmaster for nine years."

"I still have the commission signed by Woodrow Wilson, framed and hanging on the wall," he notes.

To help his mother, at the age of "seven or eight" Fowler went to work shining shoes at a Lockney barber shop. "I don't remember the name of the shop," says Fowler, "but it's called Rudy's Barber Shop now. The chair I shined shoes in is still sitting in there. I worked at that job until I was eighteen years old and put myself thru school at 10 cents a shine."

After leaving school Fowler worked at various jobs, and married Irene Webster on July 4th, 1925. Around 1930, Fowler went to work for Higginbotham-Bartlett. He managed different stores for them, starting in Idalou and then moving to Ralls, Floydada, and Littlefield. "Every time you were moved it was an advancement," said Fowler. "After twenty years with Higginbotham-Bartlett, I started my own shop in 1955. For 14 years, I ran the Fowler Hardware Store in Lockney, until 1969 when I retired and became the judge."

When asked what he enjoyed the most and the least about his job as judge, Fowler replied, "I enjoyed the association with the personnel that ran the office. They made going to work very pleasant. I did not enjoy having to fine citizens."

"Everybody came to town on Saturday's back then, and the field hands would come in to the barber shop to take their 'Saturday night bath.' It was my job to clean up after the field hands. I don't know if you should put this or not," said Fowler with a grin, "but the tubs were so grimy when they were through that I had to clean the tubs with coal oil."

When asked what he enjoyed the most and the least about his job as judge, Fowler replied, "I enjoyed the association with the personnel that ran the office. They made going to work very pleasant. I did not enjoy having to fine citizens."

Claude Brown, of Brown's Department Store, echoed the sentiments of many Lockneyites when he said, "Ernest Fowler is a fine man. I've known him for many years and Lockney will be losing a fine upstanding and honest individual."

presented before the Regional Review Committee on Wednesday, July 10. The council appointed Roy Howell to the Lockney Housing Authority Board of Directors to fill the unexpired term of Carroll Anderson who has moved from Lockney.

In other action the council approved two, five-day permits. Weldon Fannon received one for selling snow cones five Saturdays, and James L. Worley, a representative of Plainview Home Improvement, to sell steel siding and carpents. The loan of the folding chairs at the Lockney Community Center to the Floyd County Fair Board was approved, provided that the community center is not rented at the time of the fair.

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

It was supposed to be the hostages last night in Beirut, and their captors decided to throw a party for most of them at a seaside hotel called the Summerland. Under the eye of ABC television, 32 hostages and 8 Shiite Lebanese guards sat down to a festive dinner of hamburgers, club sandwiches, orange juice and soft drinks. At the end of the meal, the hotel management brought out a large sponge cake decorated with the words: Wishing You All A Happy Trip Home.

Late the next morning William Eagleton, the U.S. ambassador to Syria, drove out to the border crossing on the Beirut-Damascus Highway. He waited on the Syrian side under a hot desert sun. He was expecting a busload of hostages to arrive at any moment. More than four hours later a BBC radio broadcast reported that the hostages were still in Beirut. Mystified, Eagleton turned back toward Damascus.

Nabih Berri, the moderate Shiite leader who had assigned himself the job of a negotiation for the militant hijackers, had offered to send the Americans to Damascus for safekeeping. On Saturday something went wrong and the hostages had to spend another night in Beirut. Some U.S. officials had the theory about the last-minute snag. They had reason to believe that Berri was making a last-ditch effort to win the release of seven other Americans, who were kidnapped off the streets of Beirut during the last 16 months.

On Sunday Berri's militia announced that all obstacles had been removed. The hostages mustered up for a ride to Damascus and freedom.

Care Center Capers

Howdy neighbors!

We are extremely happy at Lockney Care Center this week. Herman, our wandering turtle, who was reported lost last week, is home safe and sound. Michael Rodriguez and Tony Gandaria showed Herman the way home. They were awarded a $10 reward.

It's been a busy week around here. You know, time sure flies when you're having fun like we are.

Monday, the R.S.V.P. van took us to Plainview. There we took a leisurely tour of the 7th Street Park. And then it was on to my house where the passengers met my dog, Rufus. Onward bound once again, we found our way to the 24th St. Mr. Burger. They kindly offered us ice cream to help us get home on our long journey to the big city of Lockney. We'd like to thank them for the treat.

Tuesday was spent preparing items for the fair. We took bamboo fans, arranged silk flowers on them and then added a bow. They are on display at the Care Center and may be purchased for a $5 donation.

Wednesday, we had an ice cream party. The residents really have a thing for ice cream. They declare that in this hot weather that ice cream is the only way to go.

Thursday we had a movie and popcorn. They like popcorn almost as much as they like ice cream. The movie was "The Natural" starring Robert Redford. It is an epic tale of a baseball player who makes a comeback later in life. The residents really enjoyed the movie, because they all love baseball. It also had romance and drama mixed in. The women like the romantic parts. It reminded them of their younger days.

Friday was the all-time favorite bingo game. Everyone won a prize, and great fun was had by all. The competition is getting fierce in our weekly bingo games.

Well, time to start another week. See you next week.

Tina Brockman
Activity Coordinator

Reminder: We still have tickets for the drawing which will be held Wednesday. Everyone is encouraged to come by the Care Center and contribute to the fence fund.

Bake Sale

The residents of Lockney Care Center are having a bake sale, Friday, July 19th beginning at 9:00 a.m. at the Care Center. All family members are encouraged to bring their favorite recipes to the home by 9:00 a.m. Friday morning.

HERMAN'S QUOTE FOR THE WEEK...

Remember when...
...the only hazard presented by insecticides was running into the flypaper?
And
...bicycles and chickens came fully assembled?

LOCKNEY LOCAL

Visiting with Pat and Dottie Stansell and Joe and Peggy Nance, this past weekend were their children, Scott and Jody Stansell of Lubbock. Richie and Debbi Reecer visited with Donald and Mavis Reecer. Saturday they went skiing at Lake Mackenzie.

Lockney Briefs...

Lonnie Scott and his daughter, Lavern Thompson, returned Saturday from a three-week trip to Wenatchee, Washington, to visit with Lonnie's son, Sonny and Pat, Scott and Kelly. The trip also included five days touring with Sonny and Pat into parts of Canada.

Crime prevention discussed

Terry Farhlender of the Lubbock Police Department was the featured guest speaker of the Lockney Rotary Club on Friday, July 12. The program dealt with crime prevention in the home.

Farhlender began his program by stating that "Neighborhood Watch programs do work, but it takes involvement of the citizens. It also takes making your home as crime resistant as possible to discourage the criminal."

"Watch programs take three things to work: local citizen involvement in crime prevention; neighbor watching out for neighbor; and the most important, the reporting of any suspicious activities to the local law enforcement officials," said Farhlender.

He also made several suggestions to make your home harder to break into. The first was having good locks on all doors. Installing deadbolt locks on all exterior doors is best. The deadbolts should have a 1 inch throw and he said double key locks are the best. These locks must be opened by a key from both sides of the door. He also recommended keeping a key to the inside lock near the door but in an inconspicuous place.

He also recommended either solid core or metal doors on entrances to the home. "These doors are much more substantial than a hollow core door which can easily be broken through."

Farhlender said that windows should also be secured. "Even if you like to sleep with the windows open, by putting screws, angled downward, into the frames of the windows, this will allow the window to be opened but only a small opening. By putting the screws in the frames, the criminal will only be able to raise the window to that point, and he would then have to gain access by breaking the glass which would make noise. The criminal does not want to draw attention to himself by doing this."

He also suggested that fence gates be padlocked and that adequate lighting be installed around the home. "By making your home more secure, the criminal, to gain access, would have to make noise or take longer to enter the home and both noise and time are the criminal's enemy. Make it as hard as possible to gain access to your home," said Farhlender.

He also recommended the use of Operation I.D. in protecting the property in the home. "Operation I.D. involves using an engraving tool to mark easily removed property in the home with a Texas drivers license number." He said that by marking it with the drivers license number, it is much easier for the police departments to trace stolen goods. The Texas police departments can trace a drivers license number in a matter of seconds whereas the social security number might take months to trace.

"Mark TVs, stereos, VCR's, and like items in two different places. The first in a easily seen place and the second in a place where a criminal would not think to look. By marking in two places, if one of the numbers is removed, there will still be a number marking the item in another place where the owner could identify it. We recover lots of property during the course of our investigations but are unable to return much of it because the owners cannot provide the proof of ownership we need."

Farhlender closed by commenting, "Citizen awareness is the best way to prevent crime in your town."

Let's talk.

Information about your changing telephone service from Jim West, Manager-Community Relations

Spotlight on Texas

Texas has become the envy of many other states. And it's not just because of our mouth-watering chili and mesquite-smoked barbecue.

Our state is now attracting more and more businesses to headquarter or locate a major operation here. Corpus Christi was just chosen as the new U.S. Navy base for the battleship Wisconsin. And support warships will be stationed in the Houston-Galveston area. The annual economic impact is expected to top $250 million.

No longer is our state a land of only oil and agriculture. While those industries still play major roles, they are now part of a varied big picture, which includes the banking, defense, computer, tourism and telecommunications industries, to name a few.

Regardless of their locations within Texas, the influx of new businesses is a boon to the whole state. New businesses increase the state's tax base and create new jobs for all Texans.

Attracting new businesses

Helping to draw new businesses to Texas are the state's abundant resources, good climate, excellent transportation and hard-working residents.

For example, good transportation was a dominating reason for Southwestern Bell Telephone's recent decision to locate a major distribution warehouse in Lancaster, south of Dallas. The new 490,000 square foot complex will serve all five of our company's states.

In addition to transportation, telecommunications facilities are also important in many business relocation decisions.

Southwestern Bell Telephone is proud to offer top-notch telecommunications in the 450 towns it serves in Texas. For the eighth year in a row, we are investing more than $1 billion in new construction to meet Texas' growth and to continue adding state-of-the-art communications facilities.

Reasonable phone rates

Also, Texas residential telephone rates are among the lowest in the nation. In fact, a recent study conducted by an investment brokerage firm — Smith Barney — found Texans had the lowest average monthly residence bill among the 18 states surveyed.

From 1975 to 1984, the average residential phone service for most Texans increased only 44 percent. During that time, the Consumer Price Index rose 93 percent, gasoline went up 117 percent, medical costs increased 184 percent, while natural gas prices rose 239 percent.

In fact, statistics show it actually takes a smaller percentage of earned income to pay for telephone service today than it did 25 years ago.

Even at our current proposed increases, Texans will continue to enjoy quality communications at affordable rates.

What makes Texas grow? It's a lot of factors, from its highways to its telecommunications services to its state government that actively works to promote economic development.

It's also good people. Including Southwestern Bell Telephone's 35,000 Texas employees. We're proud of our traditions of service in the state since the late 1800s. And we're confident of our abilities to continue meeting the needs of our growing state.

Swiss native visits area with Kleypas family

Gary and Sharon Kleypas of the Providence Community have had a very interesting visitor for the past week: Antoine Chautems of Switzerland.

Chautems is a 20-year-old apprentice cheesemaker in his native country. He had planned to visit the United States through an exchange work program but was unable to get all of the necessary paperwork done in time, so he paid his own way and came to the United States arriving on March 22. Before coming to the U.S. he had written to several families and received all receptive answers from those he wrote. All would be glad to have him visit them on his visit to our country.

He met the Kleypas family while staying with an uncle of Sharon's in Stamford, Texas, who invited him to come to the Lockney area. He has been very busy seeing as much of our area as possible. Accompanying Gary and Antoine on many of the area tours is five-year-old, Jeff Kleypas, who has nicknamed their visitor "Hot Shot."

In his native country, the visitor's family owns a 45 acre farm on which they raise dairy cows. Also in the area in which he lives they raise corn, sugar beets, tobacco, wheat and rape seeds which are grown for the oil. The rape seed oil is used much like our salad oils.

In comparing our farming techniques to those in his country, Antoine said that they don't have turnrows. "In my country the crops are raised in fields where there are only inches between each crop. We farm such small areas that all the land is used for crops."

Another area in which he made a comparison was in the size of farms. "In my country we farm small farms with small tractors, and we work all day long. Here, you farm large areas with large tractors, and you also work all day long."

One local custom he found interesting was the morning break at the coffee shops. "Here the farmers go every morning to the coffee shop or to the coop for coffee. In my country, we are dairy farmers, so we work mornings and take a break at about 11:00 a.m. We have a glass of wine and an appetizer."

On his family's farm in Switzerland, Antoine's older brother runs the farm. "It is customary for the oldest son to take the family business." They have dairy cattle and crops, and they own two hectares of forest land. (A hectare is equal to 2.471 acres in the U.S.) The wood is used for heating and is also sold for paper products. They live in the French speaking town of Champauroux.

Since his brother runs the family farm Antoine had to seek out another occupation. He chose cheesemaking and has been an apprentice cheesemaker for the past three years. As an apprentice, he is paid while he learns; with his earnings he has paid for his trip to the United States.

In comparing his country's cheesemaking to that of the United States, Antoine said, "Here the most important thing seems to be production, not quality. In my country, we make quality cheeses; we don't center on mass production." He said the taste of cheese here is nothing in comparison to the taste of cheese in his native land. Commenting that he did not like cheese as a child, Antoine felt it ironic that he chose cheesemaking as his profession. In his profession they make cheese, butter, and yogurt.

Having been involved in dairy production, Antoine found touring the dairies in our area interesting. "Dairies here are very mechanized. In my country we do not have the advanced machines they have here. We do have mechanical milking, but it is not as advanced as the machines you have here."

There were several comparisons that Antoine commented on. Schooling was one of the things he referred to which is quite different in the United States.

"Here you get out of high school at about 18 years old. In my country that comparative education ends at 16 years of age. When we get out at 16 years old, we choose a profession and apprentice, or some choose to attend the universities. In my country there is a different university for each chosen profession: doctors, teachers, ministers. It is also possible to attend the university for professions like mine, cheesemaking. But it is much easier to find a job if you apprentice than if you attend the university, because at the end of the apprentice period, I will have the experience to be a cheesemaker. Those who attend the university must gain their experience after they leave school." He also commented that he feels the system in his country is a good system.

Antoine also compared churches here to those in his native country. "In my country the preachers are paid by the state, and they don't have to work as hard as your preachers do. In my country you may hear the same sermon two or more times a year. It does not matter whether you like the preachers and what they are saying, because they are paid by the state. Here the preacher must please the people at their church, or they are let go. Preachers here work harder to please the people than they do in my country." Antoine is a member of a Protestant church in Switzerland.

Antoine has traveled to many cities in the United States since his arrival in March. He began his trek across the U.S. in New York City. He also visited Washington, D.C. Three weeks were spent on a dairy farm in Ohio, another five weeks on a dairy farm in Iowa, one week in Kansas City with his cousin who lives there, one week in Dallas, three weeks in Stamford and one week in Lockney.

Of all the places he has visited Antoine said he liked Texas the best. "The people are the nicest I have met. I had heard lots of stories about things being bigger in Texas and had not planned to visit Texas originally, but after I wrote a family in Stamford and agreed to come, I'm very glad I did."

Antoine has found several things he likes in Texas. Rodeos and country music are his favorites. He commented that young people seem to listen to lots of country music. "Most of the young people in my country are still listening to disco music." He said the smaller towns in Texas are his favorites. "I like the smaller towns best. And the people are so friendly towards me."

Food was another thing Antoine likes in Texas, even though we do "different" things with cheese than they do in his homeland. In his country "they don't really cook much with cheese," he said. "It is eaten as much as it is here. They do use it to make fondues, but, for the most part, they don't cook with cheese. "We fix sandwiches for picnics about two times a year, and that's about all. We don't fix hot sandwiches like you do here." He also mentioned that in his home they have potatoes every day, and they eat as much cheese as they do meat in his home.

Antoine was planning to leave the Lockney area on Thursday and head for the west coast. He is planning to see the Grand Canyon and spend a few days in San Francisco and Los Angeles before flying home on July 30.

SWISS NATIVE VISITS—Gary and Jeff Kleypas introduce Antoine Chautems, a native of Switzerland, to the art of harvesting cucumbers. Antoine has been a guest in the Kleypas home at Providence for the past 10 days and he was planning to leave Thursday for the West Coast where he will catch a plane on July 30 for home.

Markets in Hong Kong

By Dottie Stansell

Editor's Note: The following is an account of Judy and Clar Schacht's recent trip to the Orient. The series will be continued through several issues of The Lockney Beacon.

We stopped at Aberdeen Bay, which is where the "boat people" live. The population there is down to about 5,000 people. The government is trying to relocate the families into Federal Housing apartments. The junks are moored like a giant parking lot. It looked like you could step from boat to boat. Individual travel was done in small sampans. The education level is very low among these people, because they leave for extended fishing trips.

They have two separate school sessions in Hong Kong, one from 8:00 a.m. to 1:00 p.m. and the other from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. Some are all boy and some are all girl and some are coed. After five years of secondary school, a student must take a test to be able to continue their education.

One of the stops on our bus tour was Stanley Market. This is an open air market consisting of some alleys and a

The last stop on our tour was to a jewelry factory. They had a large showroom with about fifty sales people. We toured the work area, which consisted of several large rooms with rows of cubicles and workers at each cubicle. For lunch, most of the workers stayed at their work area and scooped in a bowl of rice with chopsticks.

After our return to the hotel, we did not feel very adventuresome, so we visited a Pizza Hut close by. It was small and crowded but the food was good. A large pan pizza with drinks was around $5.00. The remainder of the afternoon was spent shopping.

It's rather boggling the number of shops there are. Besides individual shops, there are numerous shopping centers with four multi-level shopping malls within a block and a half of our hotel. Many hotels have several levels of shops in them. After finding a bargain and trying to return to a particular shop, we were afraid that we wouldn't be able to find our way back to the store, and after a while all those Chinese really do look alike.

At a reception that evening, we had our first taste of authentic Chinese food.

SHOPS AROUND EVERYWHERE. Individuals shops line the streets, many hotels have several levels of shops, and numerous shopping centers have four multi-level shopping malls.

side street. Here were designer name clothes: Izod, Polo, Nike, Gloria Vanderbilt, Members Only, Jordache, etc. These all sold for a fraction of their cost here. I'm not sure whether they were fake, black market or what, but Izod and Polo shirts sold for $2.00 to $3.00; Members Only jackets were $7.50, silk ties were $1.80. They also had the ever present silk kimonos, satin sheets and hand embroidered tablecloths. There were some produce and flower stalls, a dozen roses ran about 50 cents.

For such a large city, Hong Kong, does not offer much in the way of recreation. There is a race track open on Wednesdays and Sundays, two small public beaches, an amusement park and a golf course. There are probably small private facilities scattered around.

There are five different types of Chinese food, and I don't know what we had, but it was not to our taste. It looked great, but we were definitely unimpressed.

For entertainment, there were fortune tellers, grasshopper making from reeds, fan painting and Chinese noodle making.

The next day bright and early, we left on our days trip into Community China. We traveled by hydrofoil to Macau on our days trip into Communist China. We traveled by hydrofoil to Macau Macau covers 2.1 square miles and has a population of 450,000, 80% of which is Chinese. Macau was very dirty and crowded. Along one of the main thoroughfares the road was lined with tarp covered lean-to's where people lived.

SOME 5,000 "BOAT PEOPLE" live at Aberdeen Bay, down from several million. The government is relocating the families into Federal Housing apartments. Many of their ancestors lived and died without ever having touched their feet on soil.

IRS recordkeeping rules to include farming operation

Recent tax legislation changes recordkeeping rules for vehicles used in business operations, including farming and ranching.

Dr. Ashley Lovell of Stephenville, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System, reviews these new rules which are effective with the 1985 tax year.

Adequate records or sufficient evidence to corroborate the taxpayer's own statement must be kept, says Lovell. This means that the IRS cannot require daily contemporaneous logs of the use of automobiles. It also means that taxpayers are not required to maintain trip-by-trip logs and records that include each element of substantiation standards for justifying deductions.

Recordkeeping requirements for cars and pickups for the '85 tax year are the same as before the stringent requirements of the 1984 Tax Reform Act, notes the economist. In some instances, uncorroborated statements by taxpayers have been permitted to support business deductions. However, recordkeeping requirements refer to an account book, diary, statement of expenses or similar record in which the information as to each element of expense is recorded at or near the time of the expense.

According to Lovell, records completed close in time to when the expense is incurred have much more credibility than evidence created years later, such as in preparation for an audit.

For the 1986 tax year, a taxpayer will have to have adequate records or sufficient evidence corroborating his or her statement to support credits or deductions for "listed" property, including automobiles. The records must substantiate not just the amount of expense, but also the time and place of travel or use of the property and business purpose.

Beginning with the current tax year, taxpayers will be required to answer a series of questions on the appropriate income tax form or schedule regarding business use of vehicles and other listed property, adds Lovell. Even though most questions will be in a "yes" or "no" format, some will require numerical information such as mileage and percentage of business use.

The Treasury Department is required to issue new regulations about provisions of this tax legislation no later than October 1. Specific questions regarding various provisions of the new law should be directed to a tax accountant or CPA, advises Lovell.

GRASSHOPPERS are an escalating problem in some areas south of Lubbock. These Lubber or Jumbo grasshoppers are getting quite large, making them more devastating and harder to kill. Generally, damage is confined to field margins but can extend considerable distances out into the field under heavy infestation pressure. Management of this pest is not easy and there are no "surefire" cures. Since this grasshopper is wingless, insecticide baits can be particularly effective. Spraying can provide relief but must extend out of the field and into the adjacent ditches, fence rows and pastures to be effective. Sevin 80S, Sevimol, Sevin XLR and ULV malathion are good materials and have very few restrictions which would cause problems with livestock and grazing.

Sorghum sales increased

A grain sorghum promotion team recently returned from South America with assurance that more Texas grain will be going to that continent this year. Venezuelan livestock producers will be importing up to 500,000 metric tons of U.S. sorghum between now and September. That is more than twice as much as they purchased in all of last year. Colombian feeders have just completed a contract for 20,000 metric tons for delivery this month.

The sorghum team spent the last two weeks of June working with livestock producers, feed manufacturers and government officials in Venezuela, Colombia and Peru. They conducted seminars with poultry and swine producers in all three countries. The mission was a sorghum promotion project of Texas Grain Sorghum Producers Board (TGSPB).

Members of the team were: Weldon Shelton, a Lamesa, Texas farmer and TGSPB director; Elbert Harp, executive director of National Grain Sorghum Producers Association; Dr. Tom Sullivan, Poultry Nutritionist at the University of Nebraska and Erick Erickson, Latin American Director for U.S. Feed Grains Council. Arrangements were made by Erickson and Manuel Rodriguez, USFGC Country Director for South America with offices in Caracas.

In the seminars, Dr. Sullivan compared U.S. Yellow (low tannin) sorghum to the brown (high tannin) type grown in most of South America. Brown sorghum is grown in tropical regions because its high tannin content is distasteful to birds, making it "bird-resistant". The tannin also reduces the nutritional value by as much as 30%. The nutritional value of U.S. yellow sorghum is much closer to corn than to brown sorghum.

Harp gave instructions for a simple "bleach test" to differentiate between brown and yellow sorghum. The test is necessary because—in spite of their color names—the two grains often look alike. When treated with a mixture of potassium hydroxide and household bleach, yellow (low tannin) sorghum turns pearly white while brown (high tannin) sorghum turns black.

Livestock feeders in Venezuela are well aware of U.S. sorghum's superior value but feeders in Peru think all sorghum is the same low quality as that grown in their country. Peru has not imported sorghum for about 12 years and Peruvian feeders use sorghum only when they are required to. When the team told Peruvian poultry and swine producers of the high value of U.S. sorghum and its price advantage, the feeders asked to see it demonstrated. Plans are being developed for demonstration trials this fall.

Robbins attends workshop

Randall Robbins, local teacher of vocational agriculture at Lockney High School, recently attended a short course at Sam Houston State University. The workshop was held July 1-2 and focused on pregnancy diagnosis by palpation.

The primary concepts taught during this short course was identifying the stages of pregnancy by rectal palpation and studying the definite physical changes of cows and heifers when pregnant. This course involved both the classroom and laboratory setting.

The classroom setting was used to determine the definite guideposts in each state of pregnancy. The laboratory setting was used to determine the length of pregnancy on live animals.

The instructor for the short course was Dr. Murry A. Brown, professor of agriculture at Sam Houston State University.

When and if to water

When the weather turns dry, don't just turn on your lawn sprinkler and then gripe about your high water bill.

By watering, fertilizing and mowing your lawn properly, you can reduce your water bill as much as 40 percent, says a turfgrass specialist.

"Conservation by the homeowner provides the only solution to high water bills and excessive water demands during our hot and usually dry Texas summers," says Dr. Richard Doble with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

In small cities where industrial demand for water is low, lawn watering may account for as much as half of all the water used during summer months. Even in larger cities, lawns get 30 to 40 percent of all the water supplied by municipalities.

"Most Texas lawns use about 2 inches of water per week during the summer and most of this usually comes from irrigation," Doble says. "However, as little as 1 inch of water per week can keep lawns alive and green."

Exactly what can a homeowner do to reduce his summer water bill?

"First, water your lawn only when grass starts to show signs of drought stress," explains Doble. "Look for discoloration and wilting. If leaves roll up in the late afternoon and footprints remain after walking across the lawn, then water within 24 hours."

"Once you've decided that your lawn needs watering, do it right," he emphasizes. "Most homeowners don't water their lawns properly. They either water too often, cause grass to develop shallow roots and making it a prime target for insects, diseases and temperature extremes, or they water too infrequently and apply too much water at one time, resulting in a lot of runoff."

"When watering, soak the soil to a depth of 4 to 6 inches," recommends the specialist. In heavy clay soils, watering for 15- to 20-minute periods may be necessary to prevent excessive runoff.

"Cutting back on lawn fertilization can also reduce watering," says Doble.

"Mowing less often and cutting your grass at taller heights also will help keep your lawn in better shape during hot, dry weather," adds Doble. "St. Augustinegrass lawns do well when mowed at a 3-inch height, and bermudagrass lawns can be cut at a 2-inch height."

COTTON TALKS

Directors of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. July 10 approved a 1985-86 budget of $335,100, elected a total of eight directors to fill ten positions on two committees, and approved the appointment of chairmen for two committees still in the formative stage.

Kenneth Wofford of Lockney, Larry Nelson of Tulia, Don Bell of Wolforth, and Frank Jones of Lamesa were chosen to serve on the organization's nominating committee. All were re-elected. The four will serve with three past presidents, Caswell, Ivey and Joe D. Unfred of New Home.

The Board also made crystal clear its continued strong support for Cotton Incorporated, despite recent opposition to a proposed 1985 increase in the producer assessment that finances CI's research and market development efforts. Objection to the proposed assessment rise, discussion revealed, was based on a belief that the timing was wrong, not on dissatisfaction with CI's work or lack of understanding of the need for increased funding.

The proposal, made by the Cotton Board and submitted to USDA for approval, calls for an increase in the producer assessment from $1 per bale plus four-tenths of one percent. USDA is expected to rule on the proposal later this month.

Elected to the PCG Executive Committee were Bert Williams of Farwell, Bennie Clauch of Bula, Henry Kveton of Petersburg, Bell of Wolforth, D.C. Newsom of Plains and Jones of Lamesa. Williams, Newsom, Kveton and Clauch were members of the 1984-85 committee. Bell and Jones are new members, replacing Randy Arnold of Spur and Tommy Lacy of Seagraves.

These elected members will serve with current officers, including President Tommy Fondren of Lorenzo, Vice President Myrl D. Mitchell of Lenorah and Secretary-Treasurer Jarrell Edwards of O'Donnell, and with two recent past presidents, Gary Ivey of Ralls and Gerald Caswell of Brownfield.

Pesticide Safety

Pesticides are indispensable to our high-output agriculture. When used only as directed, they repay users with higher, better quality yields at minimal risk to safety and health.

- Use the correct pesticide and applying equipment for your particular pest problem.
- Read and follow label directions. Make sure co-workers do too. QUESTIONS? Contact your dealer or agricultural authority.
- Wear appropriate personal protective equipment to prevent harmful contact with chemicals.
- Mix pesticides accurately and carefully. Clean up spills, and return unused pesticides to safe storage.
