The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

Oh, the joys of being a weekly newspaper. Part Two:

Just when one thinks everything is going right, something goes wrong.

We finally were able to get one of our typesetting machines repaired and operating. That required getting one of those fancy technicians out of Amarillo at $100 per hour, including his travel time. We brought on board a new, additional, and highly efficient typesetter, and were on our way to getting out another priceless edition of the paper.

Sure enough, something else went wrong with the same machine. We were back to square one. Between scouting the state for another machine, worrying about what we were going to have to leave out of the paper, worrying about the upcoming deadline, we limped along with the one machine still operating, hoping it too did not decide to quit. If this gets in print, it will be an indication that we made it.

But it's not all bad. In fact it is most enjoyable. Mostly because we think we are doing something worth while. Once in a while someone tells us we are doing a good job, and that is reward enough. Today a couple from Columbus, Indiana, Ross and Pauline Crump, dropped by the office to visit and say they enjoy the paper and this column. We even appreciate the comments of those who differ with us from time to time. Like a nice, quiet lady who came by to gently chide us for a recent column we had, in which we had some kind words for the Floydada City Council's hard-nosed attitude aimed at cleaning up the town. A man's home is his castle, she said, and besides, some folks just didn't have the resources to paint up and fix up, and things like that. We agreed with all that, but pointed out that as a youngster we grew up in a very rural home with no running water or electricity. Nevertheless, we were taught that no matter how poor we were...that even if we had nothing but a cracker box to sit on, we could at least get up off that box and sweep out from under it occasionally, like every day. She agreed with that too, so we parted friends, I think.

We'll make it, though. We just noticed an ad in a trade journal about a typesetting machine for sale up north of Dallas. Cheap. Sort of. We called about it. The present owner is, or was, in the weekly newspaper business. Oh, well.

From the Good News Department: Our Church Page project has finally gotten off the ground, and with today's edition we offer our first effort. It took a while to get it organized, but I believe the wait will be rewarded. We will be going in alphabetical rotation and it fell the lot of Rev. Bill Beachy, Pastor of First United Methodist Church in Lockney to be first in line. His message may be found on the Church Page and we commend it to your reading.

I suppose we ought not to allow any major national crisis to come and go without commenting, even when it is not anywhere near the top of our list of things to worry about.

There is currently a big flap going on about how much money our government ought to spend on finding a cure for an illness called AIDS. The other night on T.V. a "reporter" shouted a question at the President as he was walking from somewhere to somewhere. Why was the President spending such an insignificant sum, the reporter wanted to know, to find a cure for the disease. The President replied that he did not think $126,000,000 per year was an insignificant sum. That was obviously a reply they were hoping for, because in the next sequence of the story, the cameras flashed back to the studio, where the anchor persons proceeded to point out that the $126,000,000 "paled by comparison" to what the government was spending on cancer research, and that it truly was an insignificant sum, despite the president's reply. In fact, they attacked the story with such gusto one would think they might have a personal interest in the outcome.

Well, I don't know. Obviously we ought to work for a cure, simply because we need to know all the answers on how to protect society at large. If the problem could be kept contained inside that peculiar community where it seems to thrive, this scribble could hardly care less. Perhaps the money now being spent on research will tell us how to do just that. In which case it will be money well spent.

STEEPLE JACK AT WORK - Bob Teague guides the ropes as Phil Baasch shinies up the flagpole at the Floyd County Courthouse. The pair are from Steeple Jack Service in Selma, California and they make the circuit every three or four years to paint poles in eleven western states. Says Bob, "A pole like this costs about $130.00 to paint if it is in good condition." The highest pole they have done is in Calapatia, California and is 184 feet tall. The Floyd County pole is about 30 feet tall.

Arwine Drug closes doors

After doing business in Floydada for over 61 years, the doors of Arwine's Drug Store closed for the last time on Friday, September 27, 1985.

Says owner Gene Arwine, "I am closing because it is time for me to do other things."

Arwine has been commuting to and from the Dallas-Fort Worth area for the past five years. He first conducted a two year long courtship with his wife Martha. Their three year marriage has also been a long distance affair, as she continues to reside in the Dallas area. Arwine's future plans include making his home with his wife.

One injured

Gasoline truck and car collide

An encounter between a 1985 Ford Escort and a gasoline transport truck last Friday resulted in the driver of the car being taken to Caprock Hospital by ambulance. The incident occurred 16 miles east of Floydada on the Matador Highway at about 3:30 p.m. on September 27.

According to Floyd County Deputy Raymond Hamilton, "The car, driven by an out of state driver from Kansas, attempted to pass the gas transport truck when it was making a left hand turn, resulting in a collision."

The gasoline truck, belonging to Brooks Oil of Floydada, was being driven by Stanley Sanders. The out of state driver was treated and released with only minor injuries. Damage estimates to the vehicles were not available.

Harvey Tardy receives ten years probated

Harvey Tardy, age 80, of 802 West Marivena in Floydada, was sentenced to ten years on a charge of indecency with a child. Tardy entered a guilty plea to the charge in an appearance in 110th District Court on Wednesday, September 25. Judge George Miller heard the case.

According to Floyd County District Attorney Randy Hollums, "Tardy was sentenced to ten years on the charge with the sentence to be probated over a period of ten years."

In addition to the usual conditions imposed on an individual on probation, two special conditions have been added to Tardy's probation. The first extra condition states that "The defendant shall not remain in the presence of any person under the age of seventeen (17) years of age without the supervision of another adult. The second special condition states "The Defendant shall not go around places frequented by any persons under the age of seventeen (17) years of age without the supervision of another adult, including but not limited to, parks, schools, day care centers, playgrounds, sporting events, etc."

Appraisal Dist. is presented audit report

The Floyd County Appraisal District met October 2 and all members were present to hear the audit report given by Orland Gilbert.

According to Shiela Faulkenberry, Chief Appraiser of Floyd County "Everyone was very satisfied with the audit report. It came out to the penny. Mr. Gilbert said that it was the best audit he had ever done."

Put on the agenda for the next Appraisal meeting will be a discussion on how to collect information to tax personal property vehicles. According to Faulkenberry, "We used to get our information off of the car registration list in the County Tax Assessor-Collectors office. Now we have been informed by Jonelle Fawver, Tax Assessor-Collector, that she would rather not supply us with that information anymore. So we will have to find a new way to gather the information."

The Arwine Drug Store has been a family owned and operated business since the mid 1920's when J.A. Arwine came to Floydada. The present operator assumed the business from his Father and says, "Speaking both for my Father and myself, I would like to express our appreciation for the many friends and customers we have been associated with over the past years."

Arwine's son, Mike lives in Floydada and plans to remain here. He is a mechanic for Don Hardy Race Cars, Inc. The remaining inventory of Arwine's has been purchased by Thompson's Pharmacy. Thompson's will also have the prescription lists and accompanying medical records for the Arwine customers.

"I have loved the people here and cared about what happened to them," said Arwine. "I was happy to make the necessary arrangements to see that they are well looked after when I close."

Arwine indicated that the decision to close was a difficult one to make, but stated, "The time has come for me to move on to other things. I do want everyone to know that I appreciate their business, their support, and their friendship throughout the years and that I have enjoyed working with and for them."

A REAL MESS—This 1985 Ford Escort came away the real loser in a collision east of Floydada last Friday, September 27. The driver was treated and released from a local hospital.

Floyd County native is October bank artist

JILL WARREN

The October guest artist at the First National Bank, Floydada, is Jill Bertrand Warren, daughter of William and Faye Bertrand. Jill was born and grew up in Floyd County and is a graduate of Floydada High School. After receiving her college degree from Texas Tech University and marrying Martin Warren, she now resides in Tahoka with her husband and three children.

At an early age, Jill's interest in art was evident. During her school years, her art projects and posters, her drawing and other artistic ability won awards and approval from the school and the community.

For several years, being the mother of three small children, Jill found it difficult to pursue her art; however, in 1980, she began to devote more time to this venture. She works in oils primarily, and enjoys painting landscapes and still life. Her painting of Quail received commendation and favorable comment at the recent Floyd County Arts Ass'n. Art Festival. The artist has done commissioned work for Tahoka people who requested ranch scenes.

Jill Warren studied under Christian Seidler, and she has taken numerous workshops from other artists; however, "My main source of information is continued study of art books," claimed Jill. "I am always trying to expand my knowledge and add to the talent that I enjoy so much."

The First National Bank encourages everyone to see the display of paintings by Jill Warren beginning Monday, October 7, during regular banking hours: Monday-Friday, 9:00 a.m. until 3:00 p.m.

PEPPER CAFE-Delma and Sylvester Garcia are behind the counter at the Pepper Cafe to greet customers with a cheerful smile and a kind word as they serve meals each day.

Anderson takes first place in football contest

Mike Anderson took top honors in the Floydada Football Contest this week. He missed two games and guessed the tie breaker score at 48. He will receive $10.00.

Cornelius Campbell also missed two games, but his tie breaker score of 42 made him the second place winner and he will receive $6.00.

The third place and $4.00 goes to Sarah Sanders who missed three games. She guessed the tie breaker score at 52 to edge out four other entries who missed three games.

The honorable mentions this week go to Jason Arney, Julie Arney, Jean Hale, and Heather Henderson. They incorrectly guessed three games, but had tie breaker scores lower than that of Sarah Sanders.

Winners may pick up their checks at the Hesperian Office on Friday, October 4.

'Youth for America' is 4-H week theme

One of the longtime goals of the 4-H program has been to help youth between the ages of 9 and 19 become productive citizens and leaders of this nation.

The 1985 theme of National 4-H Week, "4-H for Youth for America," reflects the program's commitment to that goal. National 4-H Week is October 6-12.

"This year's theme reflects the basic concept of 4-H, which is to help youth acquire the knowledge and skills to become better citizens," points out Tom Davison, state 4-H program leader for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. The Extension Service conducts the 4-H program in Texas, with support from Texas A&M University and the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

"4-H is an informal educational program that reaches out to all youth," Davison emphasizes. "It has a positive impact on their lifestyles and plays an important role in developing life skills. 4-H helps youth get in touch with the real world, providing information on science, technology, food and fiber, natural resources and nutrition."

"In addition, the 4-H program has a positive impact on families of members, volunteer leaders and communities," the 4-H official points out. "4-H provides the 'spark' that often ignites people to work toward worthwhile goals and objectives for a better quality of life. In many communities, I have seen 4-H 'make things happen,'" says Davison.

Texas boasts some 165,000 4-H members from all walks of life who are engaged in projects and activities that range from "A to Z," notes Davison. These youth benefit from the some 15,200 volunteer leaders who share their expertise, talents and time. 4-H is a grassroots program, adds Davison, that revolves around the local club, of which Texas has 3,463. It is based on the "learning by doing" concept.

'Winds lose to powerful Littlefield

[Note: This writer was unable to make the trip to Littlefield for last Friday's game. Joy Lawson wrote an account of the game, which will follow this brief "editorial." Many thanks to Joy for her assistance. Also, I want to thank Dale Lawson for his excellent pictures so far this year. Keep up the good work, Joy and Dale. You are both appreciated!]

Before I get into Joy's account of the game, I do wish to make a comment or two. First, how does one write a sports story when the hometown team is on the short end of a 56-0 game? Better writers than I have tried it and I know the dilemma they have faced.

Rather than approach the issue from a negative standpoint, I would prefer to offer a positive approach. Yes, we got soundly trounced! Or, as Jerry Moore said after Tech's thrashing at Baylor last week, "We got a good country lickin'." 'Nuff said! That game is over and there are still five tough ones to go. Let's stay behind this team and support the players and coaches. That's what high school football should be about anyhow. Muleshoe comes to town this week following a similarly disastrous 49-0 shellacking by Friona. The Mules will be hungry for a victory. If the 'Winds are equally motivated, we're just likely to see Floydada's first win of the season!

Bill Gray

The state-ranked Littlefield Wildcats posted their fourth straight win of 1985 with an impressive 56-0 victory over the visiting Floydada Whirlwinds. Littlefield received the opening kickoff and the Whirlwind defense held well in the initial series. After an exchange of punts, the Wildcats drove for two first downs before fumbling. Floydada was unable to capitalize on the turnover and punted again to Littlefield. On the 'Cats third drive, Lloyd Champion went to the air and connected with Mike Pierce for a 55-yard touchdown. The PAT by Pierce was good.

The next Floydada possession ended as Ronnie Willard picked off a 'Winds' pass. Once again, 'Cat quarterback Lloyd Champion tossed a 59-yard scoring strike - this time to Willard. Pierce converted again and the score read 14-0. Littlefield. Floydada missed a golden opportunity in the first quarter when Thomas Delgado recovered a 'Cat fumble on Littlefield's 35-yard line. A seven yard carry by Clay Lowrance, followed by a late hit penalty, put the 'Winds on the Wildcat 17-yard line. Three incomplete passes by Shannon Barbee put an end to Floydada's scoring threat.

Littlefield added another score late in the first quarter. The powerful Wildcat offense, scoring almost at will, logged three more TD's before halftime. The Whirlwind offense continued to be plagued with pass interceptions and an inconsistent ground game against the aggressive 'Cat defense.

In the third quarter, Wildcat defender Ronnie Willard picked off another Floydada pass and had clear sailing for a 50-yard TD romp. Littlefield ended their scoring barrage with another TD late in the third quarter. The fourth quarter saw little activity with the Whirlwinds still unable to generate any consistent offense. Final score: Littlefield Wildcats 56, Floydada Whirlwinds 0.

Littlefield defeats Breezers 12-0

Thursday, September 26, the Floydada 8th Grade Breezers faced a tough Littlefield team in Littlefield. Both teams were able to move the ball well the first half, yet neither managed to put any points on the board.

Opening the second half, Littlefield drove 70 yards to score first in the game. The touchdown came on a 15 yard run up the middle. The two point conversion failed. Littlefield lead 6-0 at the end of the third quarter.

A breezer drive downfield came to a halt when they fumbled the ball. Littlefield took the ball to the one yard line, but was unable to score against the Breezer defense. With the ball on the one, the Breezer offense took over. On a second down and nine, the ball was knocked loose by a Littlefield defender and the Wildcats recovered in the end zone for a touchdown. The two point conversion failed and Littlefield led 12-0.

The Breezers made it to the Littlefield 20 on the next series of plays, but again fumbled. Time ran out with Littlefield the winner, 12-0.

Outstanding defensive players were Frank Suarez, Robby Green, Ray Garcia, and Zach Nutt. Outstanding offensive players included Jay Mendoza, Kelly Wood, Harvey Soliz, and Roy Garcia.

"The Breezers played a good game overall," said Coach Tim James. "But turnovers hurt us throughout the game."

The Breezers will face Muleshoe on October 3 at 6:30 p.m. in their first home game. The Breezer record now stands at 2-1.

Ferguson and Reker exchange nuptial vows

Kelli Jean Ferguson and Kevin Charles Reker were united in marriage in Christ the King Cathedral in Lubbock on September 28 at 2:00 in the afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Monsignor James A. Comiskey.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gene Ferguson of Floydada. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Reker of Midland, Texas.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a formal gown of white silk organza. The sweetheart neckline and bodice were covered with silk venise lace and the bracelet length sleeves were covered in schiffli lace. The full skirt was finished with wide schiffli lace scallops holding a chapel length train.

For her headpiece she chose a wreath of silk flowers and pearls with a two tier chapel length veil of illusion with pencil edges. The traditional cascading bridal bouquet was of bridal white roses and baby's breath accented with lemon leaves and matching white ribbons.

Following tradition, for something "old" the bride wore her grandmother's, Georgia Finley, wedding ring. The bride's attire was "new." A gold bracelet belonging to her mother was something "borrowed" and the bride wore a "blue" garter. For good luck, she wore two pennies in her shoe bearing the couple's birth dates.

Leanne Beights, sister of the bride, of Colorado City, served as matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Bunnie Freels of Austin, Penny Rainey of San Angelo, and Donna Reker, sister-in-law of the groom, of Midland. They wore formal dresses of daphne rose chiffon over taffeta. The fitted bodice was fashioned with a soft drape around the front neckline and a low cut back. The short sleeves were softly draped. They carried a single long stemmed rose accented with baby's breath.

Marvin Moore, of Midland acted as best man. Keith Reker, brother of the groom, of Midland; Dave McGuire of San Antonio and Jimmy Robertson of Lubbock were groomsmen.

Ushers were Ken McCubbin, Lubbock; Karl Reker, brother of the groom, of Midland; Dennis Maiorino, Midland, and Mike Beights, Colorado City.

Scripture from the Old Testament was read by George Finley, uncle of the bride, of Floydada. All male members of the wedding party wore grey tuxedos with grey accessories and red rose boutonnieres.

The groom was attired in a white tuxedo with white accessories and wore a white bridal rose with baby's breath boutonniere.

Highlighting the altar area were two large ornate urns filled with white gladiolas, spider mums, lilies, rubum lilies and pink anthuriums. To the right of the altar area was a white Grecian pillar holding the unity candle in an arrangement of greenery. On the left was a group of five large standing candles decorated with plumosa fern, large floor palms, greenery and white satin bows. Backing the altar area was a traditional wedding banner.

Lee Finley, aunt of the bride, presided at the registration table, which was laid with a white lace cloth. Assorted flowers arranged in a basket highlighted the table. Also featured on the registration table was a bridal book that was made by the bride's sister, Leanne Beights, and the couple's wedding programs.

While guests were being seated, Steve Williams, Lubbock, played wedding selections on the organ. Christi Norrell, Lubbock, was the pianist. "The Wedding Song" was presented by Susan Turner, also of Lubbock.

A reception followed the wedding in the Parish Family Center. The bride's table was covered by a gathered sheer white cloth and adorned with sheer white swags caught by pink bows and was highlighted with a four-tier cake of white confection separated by a pink flowing water fountain. The three tiers above the fountain were accented by cascades of pink roses and pink garlands. Pink strawberry punch and coffee were served from silver appointments. Rose napkins were embossed with the couple's name and wedding date. Presiding at the bride's table were Brenda Hefflin, Floydada; Daina Hanna, Amarillo; Kayla Josey, Lubbock; and Shann Ferguson, cousin of the bride, of Graham.

The groom's table was laid with a grey satin pleated cloth. Focal point of the setting was a banana nut cake decorated with the groom's monogram. Assorted cheeses, fruits and finger sandwiches were served from silver trays. Serving at the groom's table were Jane Robertson, Lubbock; Susan Brooks, Dallas; and Tracy Jones of Lubbock.

A rehearsal dinner was given by the groom's parents at the Lubbock Country Club on September 27.

For a wedding trip to New Orleans the bride wore a white semi-sheer cotton shirt-waist with a red rose corsage and red accessories.

The couple will make their home in Midland upon their return.

The bride, a 1985 graduate of Texas Tech University, is employed by Sakowitz. The groom also attended Texas Tech University and is a geologist.

The groom's parents hosted a pool-side barbeque at their home in Midland for members of the wedding party following the ceremony.

Her Elizabethan style sleeves came to a ruffle at the wrist. The chiffonet skirt had a chapel length train trimmed with rows of clung lace ruffles and pearl buttons. She wore a French alencon lace tiarra band covered with pearls and crystals. Her two tiered chapel length veil was accented with lace appliques and crystals.

She also wore pennies in her shoe signifying the dates of birth of her and the groom.

Maid of honor Minerva Torres, sister of the bride of Lockney, was attired in an off-white full length satin dress featuring sleeves scalloped in three tiers. The bodice was trimmed with lace, satin ribbon and accented with crystals. She carried a nosegay of pink and white roses, miniature carnations, stephanotis, accented with baby's breath and burgundy, pink and white satin streamers.

Mary Ann Torres, sister of the bride of Lockney, and Lisa Gonzales, cousin of the bride of Lubbock, served as flower girls. They wore pink floor length dresses designed similar to those of the bride and bridesmaids. They featured ruffled sleeves and wrap around sashes at the waist. and rosary and Mr. and Mrs. Mario Gonzales of Fort Worth for cushions.

Wedding music was provided by the Gonzales family of Plainview.

A dinner and reception followed the ceremony at the National Guard Armory in Plainview. This was then followed by a dance.

The meal, prepared by Mrs. Julia Chapa and Graciela Saucedo, was served by Becky Smith, Rachel Rios, Eloisa Rios, Minnie Guerrero and Ramona Rodriguez.

The bride's table was draped with a white lace tablecloth and pink underlay. All tables were centered with burgundy candles encircled with pink and burgundy flower wreaths.

The table holding the wedding cake was covered with a pink cloth and beige lace overlay, imported from Mexico. It held a five tier cake decorated with stairways, a fountain and burgundy and pink flowers.

Seventh grade Breezers fall to Littlefield Wildcats, 8-0

The 7th Grade Breezers traveled to Littlefield to face the Wildcats on Thursday, September 26. The Breezers played a good defensive game, but lacked the spark needed on offense to win.

Pete Martinez did a fine job at running back and Brian Teeple played well as offensive quarterback, but turnovers really hurt the offense.

The defense played well, allowing only 8 points by the Wildcats. Coach Rex Holcombe complimented Larry Galvan and Mike Poffinbarger for their performance on the defense.

Lalo Delgado and Eber Blakey recovered fumbles for the defense and Harvey Espinoza intercepted a pass which he returned for 45 yards as well as recovering a fumble.

"The Breezers need to correct a few mistakes and work a little harder to return to their winning style," according to Holcombe.

The team now has a 2-1 record and will play their first home game on October 3 at Wester Field. Their opponent will be Muleshoe.

Texas water act affects farmers and homeowners

Farmers and ranchers as well as homeowners have a direct stake in the 1985 Texas Water Act and the upcoming constitutional amendments.

The two amendments on water resources will be placed before Texas voters at the November 5 general election.

"The 1985 Texas Water Act focuses on water conservation in cities and in agriculture, water supply development, protection of bays and estuaries, flood control and the creation of ground water districts," points out Dr. John Sweeten with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Sweeten, an agricultural engineer in waste management and chairman of the Extension Service's major program committee on water utilization and conservation, notes that Article 1 of the Act calls for cities that apply for state water development funds to establish water conservation programs that can include education, drought contingency plans, lawn watering restrictions and plumbing codes. Municipal education and technical assistance programs would be provided by the Texas Water Development Board as well as other local and state agencies.

Article 2 outlines financial assistance programs and expands the existing water loan assistance program to allow expenditures for water conservation, flood control, drainage, subsidence control, chloride control and desalination in addition to water development and to allow direct appropriations as well as revenue bonds. State loans administered by the Texas Water Development Board could be used to guarantee local water bonds or pay the local share of federal cost-sharing projects.

According to Sweeten, Article 3 of the Act creates a $10 million Agricultural Soil and Water Conservation Trust Fund. Half of the interest on the principal is to be appropriated among various state agencies for agricultural water conservation programs, including technical assistance, education, demonstration, equipment, grants to underground water conservation districts, research, desalination and weather modification. A pilot farm loan program ($5 million for two years) will be used for improved irrigation systems that conserve water.

If voters approve Proposition 1 on November 5, the state of Texas could issue an additional $980 million of Texas Water Development Bonds. Approval of Proposition 2 would mean that the state could issue $200 million of Texas agricultural water conservation bonds for low interest loans to farmers subject to legislative review of the $5 million pilot loan program and approved by two-thirds vote of both houses of the legislature.

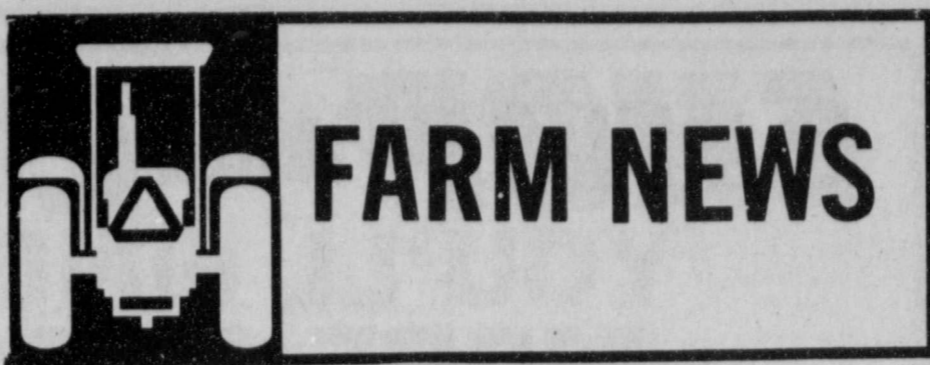

Technology for improving irrigation water use efficiency from about 60 percent on the average up to 80 to 95 percent is available to farmers, but capital costs generally present an economic obstacle to its adoption, says the agricultural engineer.

"The passage of the 1985 Texas Water Act would provide for a statewide commitment to water conservation and development programs that would have far-reaching effects on farmers and ranchers as well as homeowners," Sweeten points out. "It would open the door for more concentrated educational and research projects aimed at more effective municipal and agricultural use of the state's present limited water resources as well as the development of additional resources. Also, the current statutory limitations on interbasin transfer of water are maintained."

"Water problems have plagued many areas of the state in recent years due to drought conditions, population growth and increased per capita consumption," notes the engineer. "A year ago, towns and cities with two million Texans had to impose either voluntary or mandatory water use restrictions. Thus the need for a workable statewide water plan is paramount."

Livestock entry restrictions eased

Restrictions for entry of horses, cattle and swine from three Colorado counties due to vesicular stomatitis are being eased, Dr. John W. Holcombe, executive director, Texas Animal Health Commission, said.

Edwards shows cow & calf

Floydada High School student Chad Edwards took a cow and calf to the 1985 Tri-State Fair in Amarillo last month. The Simmental cow, who was shown as a heifer in Houston in 1983, acquitted herself quite well in Amarillo.

Edwards' entry took first in the Junior Class and in the Open Class in his division of the cow-calf show. The calf also earned honors in the calf show.

Edwards first purchased the cow for a 4-H project in 1983. He used money earned at local livestock shows to make his purchase. Thanks to the generous investment local farmers and businessmen make in support of the local shows, and to artificial insemination, Edwards has seen his original investment grow to include not only a prize winning cow, but a prize winning calf as well.

Folk medicine & remedies assist modern researchers

Ancient physicians depended on plant remedies for their medications and today's pharmacies still carry many of those same remedies.

Dr. Charles E. Shields, of the Texas Tech University Health Sciences Center family medicine faculty, said that during Hippocrates' time the First Compendium of Plant Remedies listed over 700 cures, but probably 10 times that many were in use.

Shields said that today's medicine still is tightly woven into the plant remedies of folk medicine. Many of the plants used in ancient times have continued their place in folk medicine as well as taking a spot in today's modern pharmacy.

"So many of today's most useful medicines have come from plant remedies," Shields said. "As a matter of fact we can attribute about 70 percent of all our medicine today to plants."

"In Cleopatra's reign aloe vera was used on minor cuts and stings for its soothing properties," he said. Today it's the foundation of a major cosmetic industry in South Texas. It still can be used as treatment for skin problems, even X-ray burns."

Shields said modern science has found that plants intended to treat one ailment can actually be more effective for something else.

"The Madagascar Periwinkle was thought to lower blood sugar levels, but in the 1950s researchers found it would stop blood tumor growth," Shields said. "Today it is one of our most effective weapons against leukemia."

Shields said a major problem with many plant remedies is that they eventually were used for criminal purposes or abused.

"The opiates are a prime example of plants that, used correctly, were a major source of pain reliever in ancient times," he said. "But we all know what has happened. Even though opium is truly a real medicine, it is best known as an illegal narcotic."

Shields warned that folk remedies — often derived from plants — can be dangerous and should not be combined with physician prescribed medications. Shields said many folk remedies seem to work, even though modern science can't take them apart and determine why.

"It's kind of like a pizza. When you put everything together it tastes right, but the individual ingredients don't produce the same effect."

Shields cited an example of a patient given blood thinner.

"We couldn't understand why we weren't able to regulate the medication until one day she mentioned her aunt was giving her an herbal tea that also had blood thinning properties as one of the ingredients," he said.

The main concern physicians have about a growing use of folk remedies is that people will be encouraged to turn away from treatments that have medically established effects.

Shields said medical science should continue to keep an open mind about folk remedies and try to determine if they have some legitimate use, he said.

"Even if we don't know why or even if the plant remedies help people, we can't ignore their value," Shields said. "One must consider even a placebo effect these remedies can have. I believe there is no harm in taking a medicine if it makes you feel better as long as it doesn't harm you."

FFA is vital in rural areas

Future Farmers of America have been playing a vital role in positioning rural communities to generate off-farm income which has become so vital to American farmers, an official of the U.S. Department of Agriculture has said.

Willard "Bill" Phillips Jr., director of USDA's Office of Rural Development Policy, told an FFA conference on community development in Washington, D.C. that "strong rural communities will provide off-farm income opportunities which have become important for many American farm families."

Phillips said that projects undertaken by the FFA Building Our American Communities program since its inception in 1971 have helped provide stronger communities and infrastructure, with projects like constructing a helicopter landing pad for emergency medical care or improving community fairground facilities, that today are being used as agricultural communities diversify their local economies.

"An entrepreneurial strategy must be developed by rural communities to help them in the 'boom and bust' cycle which has long characterized U.S. agriculture," Phillips said.

No part of America is more suited for the emerging entrepreneurial economy than rural America, Phillips said. "The early entrepreneur was a small family farmer who risked all to build and determine his own future."

Phillips urged the FFA members to review their work in the Building Our American Communities program and look for indigenous opportunities to produce off-farm income for their communities. He concluded by telling the future farmers, "Rural development has become as important to agriculture as price supports."

Boulter offers wheat amendment

As the House of Representatives prepares to debate the 1985 Farm Bill, Congressman Beau Boulter (R-Tx) announced that he will offer an amendment on behalf of wheat producers.

The amendment would require the Secretary of Agriculture to announce any wheat acreage reduction or set-aside program by May 1, rather than the current July 1 deadline.

"This is a simple amendment that will have a dramatic impact on the wheat farmers it affects," Boulter said.

In a letter to his colleagues requesting support for the amendment, Boulter stated that "in farm country, the beginning of the next crop is on harvest day, not on planting day... a farmer needs to know what next year's program will require in order to make prudent decisions regarding his crop."

Boulter's letter goes on to explain that the current July 1 announcement date does not give wheat farmers enough time to make adequate plans for the next crop. In winter wheat states such as Texas, the harvest season begins in May, and 25% of the harvest is completed by June 1. "By July 1, when programs are currently announced," Boulter explained, "our wheat farmers have harvested 75% of their wheat. Clearly, the current announcement date is no help to our wheat producers. You can't plan the crop after 75% has been harvested."

Social Security News

by Terry J. Clements

Social Security beneficiaries often become confused with the retirement test, the rule which determines how earnings will affect checks. The retirement or earnings test is that provision referred to when the question is asked "How much can I make and still get my checks?" It is true that there are sometimes complications that arise concerning the types of income that count in the earnings test or in applying certain exclusions. Still, the basic concept of the retirement test is simple.

First, there are exempt amounts established each year, one for persons under age 65, and a larger amount for individuals age 65 and over. For 1985, the figures are $5400 for those under age 65 and $7320 for those 65 and over. If a persons' earnings do not go over the exempt amount, then all checks will be payable for the year. If the earnings are over the exempt amount, one-half of the extra is withheld from payments due for the year. For example, a person age 63 whose earnings for the year are $6400.00 would have $500.00 of his benefits withheld, (6400 - 5400 = 1000 ÷ 2 = 500).

The retirement test is enforced through the annual report process. An individual first gives an estimate of expected earnings for the year either on the initial application of benefits or by way of the annual report. This is the basis for which payments are made for the year. Here is another example: A beneficiary who is age 67 estimates $9,000.00 is entitled to a social security check or $400.00 per month. The "excess" earnings would be $840 (9000 - 7320 = 1680 ÷ 2 = 840). Since the beneficiary benefit amount is $400.00, no checks would be payable for January or February. Although $360.00 would be due for March, partial checks are not paid until the annual report is filed after the close of the year.

An annual report is normally sent to each working beneficiary in the first quarter of the year. At that time, the individual can use the figures from the W-2 forms of the previous year (or tax returns, if self-employed) to report to Social Security the actual earnings. The person then makes another estimate for the current year.

A working beneficiary is taking good advantage of the retirement test to receive social security and have only part of the earnings affecting the check amount. However, care should be taken to make sure the annual report with SSA is filed before April 15 of each year and to make estimates as accurate as possible.

Good News For Bad Times: Anxiety

by Bill Beachy

Every person has experienced situations when high levels of anxiety are possible. I have found that when I experience these situations and the anxiety that accompanies them, I generally don't function very well. Consequently I had to take a hard look at the problems I experienced, the symptoms caused by the problems and then ultimately seek a remedy. Please allow me to share my findings with you.

First of all there are problems. We all have them. No one is immune. The problem with most problems is how we handle them or how they handle us. There are times in our lives when genuine concern is appropriate, i.e., poor health of a loved one, etc. But the way to handle these genuine concerns is to say, "Lord this is your problem, help me handle it. We all have problems and the problem is to know how to handle them, worry free."

Secondly, when we have problems and don't handle them very well then symptoms become evident. It becomes hard to sleep, we are cranky and irritable, we lose our appetite and at times we even become sick. During these times our prayer life is most generally thrown out the window. The type of anxiety which we often experience is the futile, frustrating, debilitating attempt to bear the burdens of life. Something we all need to know is this type of worry and anxiety is unnecessary and uncalled for.

Finally what is the remedy? Let me share three steps. Get rid of the what if's. What if I lose my job. What if the bad times get worse, etc., etc. We can all say so what to the what if's. Not in an I don't care attitude but with an I care enough attitude not to be anxious about it; "Lord it is in your hands."

The second portion of the remedy is healing. My 2 1/2 year old son Michael is going through a stage in which he believes there are monsters in the back bedroom of our home. He refuses to go into that bedroom by himself. Slowly we are trying to give him the love and affirmation which will help heal this problem. What are the monsters in your life? Are you a perfectionist? Are you to logical and objective? Are you irresponsible? Are you uncaring and don't know it, or unknowing and don't care? Before emotional healing can take place a need for it must be recognized. So, examine your motives and causes for anxiety.

The last portion is Scripture. Philippians 4:6-7, "Have no anxiety about anything, but in everything by prayer and supplication with thanksgiving let your requests be made known to God. And the peace of God, which passes all understanding, will keep your hearts and your minds in Christ Jesus."

Anxiety makes us prisoners. A relationship with Jesus Christ sets us free not from problems, but from the stranglehold they can have on your life.

Austin Warns of War

(The following, written in journalistic style, is an account of events 150 years ago this week in Texas' fight for independence from Mexico. Dates are according to the calendar of 1835-1836.)

By Fred and Eleanor Pass

San Felipe, Texas, Sept. 28, 1835- Fear and uncertainty grip Texas colonists today. Stephen F. Austin warns them of war.

Events in Mexico City are forcing Texans to make a dreadful choice: Submission to a dictator. Or revolution.

By controlling a puppet Mexican congress, President Antonio Lopez de Santa Anna is establishing himself as a dictator. He distrusts settlers from the United States and intends to strip them of their weapons. He vows to impose strict military rule upon all Anglo settlements in Texas.

To enforce his threats, the president has ordered his brother-in-law, General Martin Perfecto de Cos, to take command of the Mexican garrison of several hundred men in San Antonio. Cos and 400 men landed Monday at Copano Bay en route there.

Delegates representing all Texas precincts will meet in a Consultation in San Felipe Oct. 16 to determine a course of action.

Austin's presence will influence that course. He returned to his home here earlier this month, after long imprisonment in Mexico, convinced that war is Texas' "only resource."

This is a full change of mind for Austin. His has been the strongest voice for peace against those calling for revolution.

It was for peace that Austin made the long journey to Mexico City in 1833 to ask that Texas be declared a separate state with its own constitution. He also urged repeal of a law prohibiting immigration from the United States and sought better mail service and tariff exemptions for colonists.

These are reasonable requests of citizens wanting to remain loyal to Mexico. Austin spent months pleading for their approval. All were denied.

While returning home, he was arrested and placed in a 13-by-16-foot, windowless cell in a Mexico City prison. Though never charged of a crime, he was held in isolation almost a year.

Finally released on bail but confined to the city, Austin witnessed the scheming work of Santa Anna in becoming dictator. He told the president that if large numbers of troops are ever sent into Texas such an act would mean revolution.

Today, despite his warning, Mexican troops are coming.

Upon returning home, Austin wrote to other precincts that "war is our only resource...we must meet in general consultation and organize a system of defense."

Most Texans had followed Austin in search of peaceful solutions to their problems. Now they seem relieved that, if such becomes necessary, he is here to lead them in war.

"History Day at the Ranch" is scheduled

By Marisue Potts

An on-site history program, "History Day at the Ranch," geared primarily for school children, but also of interest to adults, is scheduled for the last two Saturdays in October, the 19th and 26th. The sesquicentennial project of the General James Smith Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas will be held at Cottonwood Mott, ranch headquarters of Mrs. W.E. Burleson which is located between Floydada and Matador. To avoid disappointment history buffs are urged to make reservations early by calling Mrs. W.E. Burleson (806 983-3624) or Mrs. S.C. Burleson (806 983-2977) for scheduling information.

Twenty-five Floydada Junior High students of Mrs. Sallye Lyles as well as other students from as far away as Lamesa and Lubbock are planning to attend the lectures, displays and demonstrations by costumed volunteers representing the early settlers of this Caprock area: the Indians, the Comancheros, the ranchers, and the nesters.

The rugged, two to three hour tour (with tours spaced throughout the day) will begin at the line camp house, site of two historic shoot-outs. Judge Billy Joe Whitaker, Motley County historian, and Judge Jay Johnson of Tulia, descendant of a participant in one fight, will be on hand to tell the stories while Johnny Stevens, the last manager of the ML&C Co., will outline the history of one of the largest ranches in Texas from his first hand experience.

At this point the visitors will climb into pickups and travel across ranch feed roads to view the remains of ca. 1900 half-dugout where Edna Leonard Waybourn, assisted by Mrs. Douglas Blackburn, President of the General James Smith Chapter of DRT, and other costumed members of DRT, will relate the story of the Fields family and how Mrs. Waybourn's father, Frank Leonard, came to purchase it in 1903. When not demonstrating pioneer cooking on the dugout hearth, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell will set up a quilting frame for a fifty year old quilt pieced by Mrs. Campbell's mother. Mrs. Campbell will be joined by Mrs. Josephine Hamilton and others in demonstrating the art of quilting.

Once back at the camp the group will hear a brief history on the Apache, Kiowa, and Comanche Indians who camped on Mott Creek and in the general vicinity by Wayne Parker who will illustrate his talks with artifacts he has found in Crosby County. Taking over for Wayne one day will be Choise Smith, Floyd County Judge and grandson of early pioneer Hank Smith and Otho Stubbs, western artist from Turkey who specializes in the history of the Comanchero era.

Pitching their tipi underneath the cottonwoods of Mott Creek, authentically costumed Buckskinners will give a short talk on the Mountain Men era of 1840, demonstrate the art of black powder shooting, and answer questions on their clothing, equipment, and lodging.

A few of the cowboys, such as Tutt Garnet, Banny Brandon, and Wild Horse Warren, who worked for the Matador Ranch at some time before its dispersal in 1951, will be sitting around the campfire on their bedrolls, spinning yarns, answering questions and granting interviews to students from as far away as Lubbock and Lamesa about the year-round branding crews, the rank horses, the mean bosses and the dust storms. Bundy Campbell, grandson of the founder of the original Matador Ranch, will serve as coordinator of the cowboys, keeping the tales flowing and reasonably honest.

Cook Eddie Fortenberry and fire tender Donnie Bybee will be turning out the Dutch oven sourdough biscuits, while S.C. Burleson will be dishing up a sampling of cowboy grub, beans, cowboy stew and strong black coffee. As the visitors sit around the campfire balancing their tin ware, J.B. Cooper will be fiddling old favorites.

Last, but not least, some visitors may have the pleasure of riding around the pasture on mule skinner Kirk Brock's "school wagon" experiencing what it was like to bounce along to school in the open air. Also expected to be running around is Harold Campbell's trim buggy drawn by a high stepping white horse.

Tour guides will include Vance and Betty "Mrs. Barkley" Campbell, Jeanette Harrison, granddaughter of chuck-wagon cook Humpy Briggs, Carol Bell Reese, former Texas History teacher and sponsor, Lou Burleson and Marisue Potts. Carria Jones, Beverly Brock, Lucretia Campbell and Mickey Bostick are among those helping keep the pots filled and the problems solved.

"History Day at the Ranch" is not for everyone, but for those who have a pioneering spirit or a yearning to turn the clock back for a brief time, history is sure to come alive in the foothills of the Caprock.

LAKEVIEW NEWS

By Joyce Williams

October 3, 1985:

Mrs. Riley Teague attended a Davis family reunion of her mothers people, at Haskell over the week-end. She was accompanied by Mrs. Viola Brown, who visited her sister-in-law, Mrs. Carrie Brown, who lives in Haskell.

Mrs. Carl Mooseberg attended a baby shower honoring Mrs. Danny Nutt, Saturday morning, at the home of Mrs. Lorilla Bradley. Mrs. Monte Williams was one of the hostesses. Fresh fruit, a cheese tray with assorted wafers, pecan bar cookies, punch and coffee were served. Guests registered in the baby book. The refreshment table was covered with a white linen cloth. Educational baby toys were scattered around a centerpiece arrangement of garden flowers. The toys were presented to the honoree at the conclusion of the party.

A good inch and a half of rain fell over our community Saturday and Sunday morning. Monte and James Williams reported about three inches fell at Matador and Roaring Springs by Sunday afternoon. They went to Crowell to visit their uncle, Odell Williams, who is seriously ill in the Crowell hospital.

Wheat farmers are either glad they got their plants before the rain, or are ready to go as soon as the fields dry a bit.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Florence Van Hoose

Monday morning devotions were by Trinity Church. The singers were Rev. G.A. Van Hoose; Shirley Varner, Sabrina Varner, Deanna and Amy Westbrook, Dartha Westbrook. Rev. Van Hoose spoke concerning the purpose of a Christian here on Earth. In the afternoon we painted ceramics. The residents who painted were Myra Hall, Lucille Duncan, Opal Morrison, Mavis Willson, Estelle Eubanks, Bonnie Howard, Addie Lindley, Iva Simpson, Faye McMahan, Charlie Spence, Sally Sue and Emmet Lawrence.

Tuesday morning devotions were by Brother Neeley Richardson. The residents enjoyed the devotions and also the banana break. Neeley spoke about learning more of Jesus. In the afternoon we had a good time of Bible study, sharing and prayer.

Wednesday morning devotions were by City Park Church of Christ. The singers were Mary Hale, Beulah Baker, Mary Spears, Lorilla Bradley, Elva Blum, Eva Tackett, Eunice Hardy, Ruby Hartsell and Vernola Hanna. In the afternoon we went to Plainview on the bus ride. The residents who went on the ride were Florence Curry, Opal Morrison, Faye McMahan, Addie Lindley, Una Clark and Charlie Spence. We were treated to ice cream at McDonald's. We certainly do appreciate all the businesses who treat the residents to ice cream. It makes the bus ride more special.

Thursday morning devotions were by Rev. Earl Blair. He spoke about Jonah and his disobedience. In the afternoon Jo Bryant came and played Bingo with us. Bonnie HowarJ and Opal Morrison bingo'ed the most times this week.

Friday morning devotions were by Freida Simpson, Mrs. Withers, Virginia Cage and Mary Coreley. We appreciate the beautiful flowers that were delivered to the Nursing Home from the Swebston family. We extend our sympathies to this family.

This week's visitors included: Bobbie Rogers, Doree Kitchens, Julie and M.O. Connell of Waco, Hazel Bradley, Bill and Dell Gray and Winnie Neil.

"Laugh Lines"

Bits of Humor, Trivia, and an occasional Word of Wisdom

BY DON & SARA PROBASCO

If Patrick Henry thought taxation without representation was bad, he should see it WITH representation.

An opportunist is a person who goes ahead and does what others are talking about doing.

Each year it takes less time to fly around the world and more time to get to the office.

Why is it that we never consider anything too BAD to be true?

Some people are good losers. Others can't act.

As soon as the second person appeared on Earth, the rights of the first were cut in half. Now, divide your rights by the total population, and that explains everything.

Everybody wants to right the world. Nobody wants to help his neighbor.

Don't open a business unless you know how to smile. (jewish Proverb)

October certainly came in with a blustery winter air, didn't it? I guess this winter weather will inspire us all to keep moving... maybe to bundle up, get out of the house, and partake of some of the events going on all around us during October.

All of the elementary school children in Floyd County will have a treat on October 14th and 15th. As part of the regular school curriculum, they will be able to see a professional performance of "Hansel & Gretel", performed by Adventure Theatre, Inc. This delightful experience will be brought to the children as a gift from the Floyd County Arts Association. There will be one performance in Floydada on October 14th and another in Lockney on October 15th. No admission will be charged.

Around the area: Plainview Civic Theatre will present "Send Me No Flowers" on October 17, 18, and 19. (Some of you may remember this comedy which was made into a movie in the 60's starring Doris Day, Kock Hudson, and Tony Randall.) For information or tickets, call 293-3515 between 1-5 p.m. October 15-18.

"History Day at the Ranch" is being scheduled near Matador for October 19 and October 26 (both on Saturday). If any of you have missed this experience, you really owe it to yourself to go this year. It's an on-site "living history" program featuring tours, lectures, and demonstrations. Included are events at a Comanche campsite, a Buckskinner's camp, the Matador Ranch Line Camp, a Cowboy camp, and the ruins of a half-dugout. It is a rugged 2-3 hour tour, so be prepared to tough it. Advance reservations are required, and space is limited, so if you can attend, (or for more information) call Lou Burleson (983-2977).

Lubbock has a wealth of exhibits, lectures, music, dance and theatre going on throughout the month. To mention just a few:

There will be a Photography Show at the Fine Arts Center October 7-18. No admission charge.

High Noon Concerts will continue each Wednesday through October 16th on the Lubbock County Courthouse lawn.

Texas Tech University Theatre will present "Annie" October 10-14 and 17-20 at 8:15 p.m. (for information, call 742-3601).

Trent Arterberry, a master in the art of pantomime, will appear at the Allen Theatre (University Center) on Thursday, October 17 at 8:15 p.m. FREE ADMISSION, but you must pick up a free ticket to be admitted. Tickets will be available on Monday, October 7 on first come basis. (for more information, call 742-3610)

HENRY KISSENGER will speak on Wednesday, October 23 at Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. Tickets for this event will go on sale Monday, October 17.

Wolfgang Amadeus Mozart's fairytale opera, "The Magic Flute" will be presented by the Texas Tech Music Department on October 25 and 26 at the Allen Theatre (University Center) First performed in 1791 in Vienna, it has delighted audiences around the world ever since. It will be performed in English. Tickets will go on sale October 7.

On Halloween day, the Lubbock Symphony Orchestra will present two children's concerts at Lubbock Municipal Auditorium. These performances will be at 9:30 and 10:45. No admission will be charged. (for information, call 762-4707)

Our Floyd County Sesquicentennial Committee has been meeting and approving various events for 1986. There is still a need for more active participation in this committee. If your organization does not have a delegate who attends, please send someone to the next meeting. Among those events and projects already approved by the committee are:

A cemetery survey by the DAR. A set of commemorative coins by Floyd County Historical Museum.

Erection of a Permanent marker honoring the namesake of Floyd County (to be erected on Floyd Co. Courthouse grounds) by Floyd Co. Historical Commission.

Publishing of Sesquicentennial editions of two books, "The Best of Laugh Lines" and "150 Years of Tex-Mex Cooking", by Don and Sara Probasco.

"Train-Day, 1986" day-long event August 1, 1986, to welcome the old steam locomotive that's coming into Lockney that day, by Floyd County Arts Association.

An educational event March 7, featuring outstanding nationally-known speakers on the subject of the role that Masons have played in establishing communities and schools in Texas, by the Masonic Lodge in Floydada.

A summer Tent-show Melodrama by Floyd County Arts Association.

Plus, special designation of the Floyd County Fair, Old Settlers' Reunion, and the Burleson's "History Day at the Ranch" events as official Sesquicentennial observations.

In addition to such programs and projects, there are a wide variety of Sesquicentennial products, bearing the official logo, which are now available. (Everything from rolls of logo stickers at $.08 each, to tee-shirts in every size, to hand-made commemorative rifles.) These items may be purchased by clubs, schools, churches, businesses, and other such organizations for resale as marketable items and fund-raising projects. A complete list (with price information) may be seen at Floydada Chamber of Commerce, Lockney city Hall, and school superintendents' offices in each town, or by contacting this columnist.

According to law, no item bearing the official logo of the Sesquicentennial may be marketed in Floyd County without the permission of Floyd County Sesquicentennial Committee, nor may the logo be used in connection with any program or project without that permission. Illegal use of the logo may result in confiscation of the goods and closing of the project, so DO get permission of the Committee before planning to use the official logo and products.

HAVE YOU VISITED YOUR COUNTY LIBRARY LATELY? There are so many good books there, just waiting to be read by you. One in particular that comes to mind is AT MOTHER'S REQUEST, by Jonathan Coleman. This book is the astounding true story of murder and madness among one of Utah's wealthiest families. Franklin Bradshaw, an entrepreneur and multi-millionaire dubbed "Utah's Howard Hughes" because of his miserliness and eccentricity, was 76 years old when he was gunned down by his grandson at the request of Bradshaw's daughter, Frances Schreuder. Author Coleman reconstructs in detail the extraordinary tragic lives led by the Bradshaw family. We learn of Franklin's loveless, decades-long marriage to mentally ill Bernice Jewitt; of the life-threatening heart ailment of the couple's daughter Elaine; of their son Robert's lobotomy and early death; and of daughter Frances' sociopathic behavior. Brimming with psychological insights, the book is slated for a CBS-TV mini-series.

Love a good Western? If the answer is "yes", then the Floyd County Library invites you to check out LONESOME DAYS by Larry McMurtry. In this newest novel from McMurtry, a cattle drive from Texas to Montana captures the history of the American West in a truly epic fashion. Two former Texas Rangers have been running a ramshackle stock operation near the Mexican border with a lot of work and not much success. When they hear rumors of free-wheeling opportunities in the newly opened territory, they decide to break camp, pull up stakes, and head north. Their dusty trek is filled with troubles and violence. McMurtry's novel takes almost every tradition of the nineteenth-century western...the good-hearted scoundrel lady, friendly and unfriendly Indians, Mexican bandits, strong-backed frontier folk...and gives each one new life and vitality. Don't miss it.

Did you know that the first public library came into being in Alexandria, Egypt, at around 300 BC? Originally designed for general reference use, it was much as large libraries are today...an organization with an administrative staff headed by a chief librarian that acquired books on all subjects for the use of all qualified readers. Although the collection had to start from scratch, books were swiftly acquired...highhandedly. Whenever someone landed on the shores of Alexandria with books in his luggage, the royal agents checked them over, picked what they wanted, and carted them off to the library. There they were copied and the COPIES handed back to the owners, while the precious hand-made originals went on the shelves with a special indication "from shipboard". As the search for books broadened, families who inherited the books of known scholars would hide the volumes in underground trenches, rather than see them fall into the king's clutches.

By the second century AD, when the Roman Empire was at its height, there were a dozen libraries in Rome alone, and others said to be found in practically all major cities. When the ancient world collapsed, great quantities of the Greek and Roman writings disappeared along with so much else. It was only by the greatest good fortune that enough of these early writings survived to point the way to many of the indispensable tools of learning now being transferred to microchips in the new computer age of instant and eternal retrieval.

My, don't we take a lot for granted! Read something worthwhile to your children this week, and to yourself!
