Commissioners examine county liability insurance

Insurance was the major topic of consideration for the second month in a row for the Floyd County Commissioner's Court. Insurance agent Sam Baker submitted a proposal from the National Indemnity Company through the Vantage Insurance Agency in Lubbock with all service work to be done by Baker Insurance Agency of Floydada. The dual proposal accounts for vehicle liability insurance and general liability insurance for the county.

The vehicle liability insurance will include all county vehicles registered for road use with $100,000-$300,000-$100,000 coverage. The annual premium for a years coverage will be $15,337.00. This expenditure was approved.

The second portion of the proposal covered general liability on all county operations with the exception of the sheriff's department. The premium for this coverage is estimated at $26,900.00 per year and was tentatively approved pending a firm premium quote.

The court also approved a $319 expenditure for liability insurance offering malpractice coverage for Randy Hollums in his capacity as District Attorney.

Fees to be paid to persons called for jury duty were raised from $7 per day to $12 per day effective January 1, 1986. An increase in ambulance fees from $350 to $500 was again tabled pending receipt of a report on ambulance service in Lockney. Caprock Hospital District had submitted the request for an increase late in 1985.

Don Sutterfield, Margie Fowler and Zahn Turner were selected for appointment to the salary grievance committee with Floyd Bradford selected as alternate. The four will be notified of their selection and may accept or decline at their discretion. If they choose to accept the appointment, they will serve on a panel with the elected county officials to mediate salary disputes if necessary.

Mona Bond, representing the FCS Federal Credit Union, appeared before the court to offer membership in the credit union to county employees. The court approved the proposal which places no obligation on the county or its employees while making membership in the credit union available to any county employee desiring to join.

The court agreed to a pre-purchase demonstration of the RCA teletype system being considered for purchase by the Sheriff's Department. A decision on purchasing the system at a cost of $3395 plus $379 for a battery back-up will be made following the on site demonstration. The service maintenance contract would cost $89 per month for five years on this system as opposed to the $182.00 per month being paid on the old teletype now in use.

A dispute of payroll compensation to road worker Monroe Schultz was resolved as requested by Precinct 4 Commissioner Jack Lackey. Schultz will turn over workman's compensation checks he received for work time lost due to a hand injury sustained on the job last fall. The money will be returned to Precinct 4 funds and he will receive his usual salary plus benefits from the county.

Lackey stated, "I want it handled this way so that Monroe doesn't lose anything on his retirement or health insurance. He has served the county faithfully for 18 years and I think we owe him this."

Receiving workman's comp in lieu of salary will disrupt the continuity of this employee's health insurance and retirement. I don't feel that this is fair to a long time employee," stated Precinct 2 Commissioner Bob Jarrett when he made a motion to handle the matter as requested by Lackey. Precinct 1 Commissioner Sam Spence seconded the motion which passed unanimously on the vote.

County Treasurer Glenna Orman

presented financial reports for the month of December, the quarter from October thru December of 1985 and the year 1985. County auditor Bobbie Hamilton reported that tax collections are 69% complete with $623,575 collected as of December 31. This amount represents 75% of the tax revenue budgeted for use in 1986.

Hamilton also reported that the county completed the year with $121,760.89 in surplus funds from the 1985 budget. These funds are revenues in excess of expenditures and are unbudgeted, unreserved funds to be carried over into 1986 in addition to the estimated beginning fund balances in the 1986 budget.

Farm work contracts were approved for L.D. Smith, Billy Kirk, B.B. Wilkes, James Cage, Orba Miller and Mike Hinsley.

Cost of building insurance for schools doubles

Insurance for the buildings in the Floydada Independent School District more than doubled in cost from 1985 to 1986. School trustees learned that coverage for the buildings will cost $34,268.00 when the only bid received was opened at the January 13 regular session of the board. The Texas Association of School Boards service facility submitted the single bid for the insurance contract which becomes effective January 23 upon the expiration of the current coverage which cost about $16,000 last year.

Another rising expense to be faced by the district is that of funding the career ladder program. The district anticipates the addition of 8 or 9 teachers, bringing the total number of Floydada teachers in the program to 32 or 33. The board approved using the 1984-85 career ladder committee for the 1985-86 school year selections.

Board members set the tuition rate for out of district students at $84 per month for the 1986-87 school year and agreed to employ Gary, Thayer, and Bowers to do the next audit of school financial records. A resolution to tax automobiles was also passed by the board.

April 5, the first Saturday in April was selected as the date for the school trustee election. Fred Zimmerman III and Don Hardy are up for re-election. In addition, one vacant position will be open following the resignation of Hulon Carthel during the meeting. Absentee voting will be held in the county clerk's office prior to the election.

In addition to Carthel's resignation, the board accepted the resignation of Polly Cardinal from her position as English teacher at the high school. Anne Carthel was approved for employment to fill the vacancy created by Cardinal's resignation. The board also hired Mary Emert as Title I Reading Aide at A.B. Duncan Elementary. Other action of personnel included the extension of Superintendent Jerry Cannon's contract for a period of one year.

A discipline management plan formulated for use in FISD schools was approved as read. The plan, mandated by House Bill 72, was developed by a committee comprised of administrative personnel, teachers, students, and parents. Members of the committee are: Jimmy Collins, administrative assistant; Ronnie Wood, high school principal; Charles Tyer, elementary principal; Gean Christopher, special education director; Ellen Enriquez, teacher; LaVada Garrett, teacher; Jamie Thayer, student; Sylvester Mendoza, student; Gary Brown, parent; and Adolfo Garcia, parent.

The plan must be approved by state authorities before being implemented by the schools. A six hour inservice is planned to instruct school personnel upon implementation of the plan.

Collins presented a report on tax collections informing the board that $64,230.39 has currently been collected. This represents 75.56% of the total levy as opposed to 66% collected at this time in 1985.

Attending the meeting were board members Don Hardy, Weldon Pruitt, Harvey Allen, Bill Orman, Freddie Morren, and Hulon Carthel. Also present were Superintendent Jerry Cannon and administrative assistant Jimmy Collins.

March of Dimes campaign set

The Floydada Mother's March of Dimes Campaign is scheduled for January 20 to January 27th. Campaign chairman this year is Guy Hazlett.

The Mother's March collects money to be used in support of the fight against birth defects. About 15 million Americans have birth defects and each year another 250,000 babies are affected.

Among the health problems these Americans suffer are mental retardation, blindness, deafness, missing limbs, defective blood cells, and body chemistry disorders.

Each local chapter retains 40% of the money raised by the campaign to support local and regional medical service programs and community professional education and public education. The remaining 60% is used to finance national research programs and services.

City approves decrease, slates special sessions

Acting on a lengthy agenda, members of the Floydada City Council approved a decrease in the minimum water bill charges for customers outside the city limits. Approximately 40 customers will benefit as their monthly minimum bill drops from the current $35 to $21.

Two special sessions for City Council have tentatively been scheduled for later in the month. The first, set for 7:00 p.m. January 21, will deal with the matter of an increase in the ambulance subsidy requested by Caprock Hospital District. The second will deal with the proposed rate increase requested by Southwestern Public Service. This meeting, scheduled for 7:00 p.m. on January 27, will also serve as a workshop for the 1986-87 budget.

The council passed ordinance #683.

People At Work...

GEORGIA FINLEY, of Floydada, has been greeting visitors and showing off the displays at the Floyd County Museum since June 1972. Georgia is paid thru the Green Thumb program, which utilizes the abilities of senior citizens. "I like my job," said Georgia, "because I like meeting the people that come in from all over to visit. I also enjoy hearing all the old stories from former residents who come in to see the museum. They tell me all kinds of interesting things about the county."

repealing ordinance #679 and requiring SPS to continue paying franchise tax on use of electricity by local gin facilities. Also adopted at the meeting was a resolution concerning rural sign control. This resolution allows the city to regulate billboards and signs erected within the city or the extra-territorial jurisdiction of the city which extends 1/2 mile past city boundaries.

Bob Alldredge appeared before the council to request clarification of city ordinances #637 and #638 dealing with the cost of licenses for amusement equipment such as pool tables and video equipment. Alldredge stated that he "is in the middle between the Texas Amusement Machines Commission and the city where these fees are concerned."

Apparently, the state inspector feels that city fees and licensing periods do not conform to state regulations. The dispute has arisen over game machines which Alldredge owns. The machines are in operation at Ruben's Drive In Grocery at 615 E. Houston.

City Attorney Steven Hale was instructed to contact the proper state authorities and arrive at a legal and equitable solution to the problem.

Problems with weed control on the land surrounding the sewer lagoons will be handled with a unique approach. Carlos Riojas met with the council and agreed to pasture goats on the land to eat the weeds. He will provide a hot wire fence to keep the animals in. Access easements to the sewer lagoons will be retained as is.

Bob Gilliland, Alan Fondy, and Wally Padgett asked the council to consider allowing them to supervise the summer baseball program. The three, along with Larry Noland proposed that they be responsible for grounds up keep as well. Council instructed them to submit the proposal in writing at the next regular session.

Acting Police Chief James Hale presented a written policy governing the rules, regulations, and procedures of the city police department. The policy was read and approved. Salaries for Patrolmen Darrell Gooch and Harold Snell were ratified with Gooch receiving $1200 per month and Snell receiving $1275.

Planting of oak trees scheduled

Floyd County Sesquicentennial Committee is sponsoring the planting of the two Texas Sesquicentennial oak trees in Floydada on the courthouse grounds on Friday, January 17, at 2:30 p.m. County Judge Choise Smith will be assisting with the ceremony in honor of Arbor Day.

A truck load of 5-foot oak trees were distributed, during the first week of December, by the Texas Forest Service to 247 Texas counties for special 1986 Texas Sesquicentennial observances.

The Service has been growing the trees for two years—in anticipation of Texas' 150th birthday celebration—and has offered a Shumard oak (red oak family) to each of Texas' 254 counties, for special Sesquicentennial planting projects.

In addition, Storm Nursery, Inc. of

Garza receives probated sentence

Jaime Garza, 18, of Floydada, pled guilty January 10 in the 110th Judicial Court to burglary of a building. The building, belonging to Kim Hinsley, was burglarized on December 31, 1985.

"Mr. Garza received a four year sentence which was probated for six years," said District Attorney Randy Hollums. "He will remain out on probation, but if probation is revoked he will go to the pen for a four year sentence. He was also ordered to pay restitution."

commented that an extension on police and public officials liability insurance be requested. This would allow the city to retain coverage until bids can be taken on all city insurance in October. Council authorized the action.

A contract with Laron Fulton was renewed for farming the city farm for 1986. The city will receive 1/4 on cotton and corn, 1/3 on all other crops except vegetables which carry a rental share of 1/6.

The city will advertise for bids on the sale of a 6x6 army truck with a 1000 gallon tank. Bids will be accepted with or without the tank. Bids will also be advertised for on the matter of seal coating paved city streets, and installation of the medium intensity runway lighting improvements at the Floydada Municipal Airport.

A public hearing was scheduled for the regular council session on February 11 concerning the MIR lighting at the airport. Anyone interested in commenting or learning more about the project is invited to attend.

The final matter of consideration at the Tuesday evening council session was a request that the council take action on the house west of Calvary Baptist Church. Church members attending the meeting expressed concern that the advanced state of disrepair of the house creates a hazard for the church. Council members voted to begin procedures for demolition of the structure.

Premont is giving a free Heritage Live Oak tree to each Texas county.

The Texas Sesquicentennial oak trees include a 2-year-old Shumard Oak, Quercus shumardii, and a Heritage Live Oak, Quercus virginiana. Both are natives of Texas.

The largest Shumard Oak in Texas, is 120 feet tall and has a trunk circumference (measured at 4 1/2 feet) of over 15 feet. It grows on the Alabama-Coushatta Indian Reservation near Livingston.

The largest Live Oak in Texas, is also tied for the title of largest on record in the U.S.A. It is growing near Rockport, on the Goose Island State Park. When measured in 1967, it was 44 feet tall, and had a trunk circumference of 422 inches.

Bank guest artist returns

The First National Bank, Floydada, has the pleasure of presenting for a return exhibit, Jean Green of Olton. The landscape artist who has studied throughout the country with numerous prominent artists, has developed a style and technique distinctly her own, one that is impressive and well accepted by viewers of her work.

Although born in Mansfield, Arizona, Jean Green considers herself a "true blue Texan". Her father, a farmer, moved to Paducah, then to Kress when she was five years old. She has lived in Olton since marrying W.G. Green in 1951.

Jean started painting when she was 12 years old. "My parents gave me a how-to book and an oil painting set, and I went from there," she related. She took art in high school, and has studied under Tom Knapp, Ruth Barnett, Ben Konis, Amarillo, Conny Martin, Lubbock, and Ann Harris, Houston. "No two people handle a brush the same way. I learned valuable lessons from every artist, but I had to develop my own style!" This is a philosophy the artist employs in the many workshops that she conducts annually.

The subjects Green enjoys painting the most are the old, weathered buildings and windmills and the vanishing scenes of her native Southwest. She is represented in various galleries, and her works hang in private collections throughout the country, including a painting in the capitol building in Austin.

The First National Bank encourages local citizens and those in the surrounding area to visit the lobby during regular banking hours and enjoy the exhibit of Jean Green.

Lakeview News

By Joyce Williams

Jan. 16:

Mrs. Violet Jones, formerly of Lakeview, suffered a stroke in her Plainview home shortly before Christmas. At the present time she is taking physical therapy in Amarillo. Her children have rented her an apartment in Plainview in the Christian Retirement Home where she will move when she has reached a satisfactory level of recovery.

Among the 4-H members present Monday evening, Jan. 13, at the regular meeting in the M.A.C., were Angie Bertrand and Austin Williams. Angie was on the program, telling of her experiences living with 4-H members in other states. Tate Glasscock reported on his pigs. Misty Bertrand is walking her show pigs everyday.

Mrs. Georgia Mae Erickson and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Muncy were among holiday guests at the Blanco Canyon party in the Bobby Adams home in Crosbyton.

All of Faye and William Bertrand's children were here Christmas Eve. These included Jill and Martin Warren, Lezlie, Will and Rebecca of Tahoka; Ronald, Betty Sue and Shelly Bertrand of Vernon; and the Lakeview bunch, Connie, Randy, Angie and Misti Bertrand.

The Randy Bertrands went to Panhandle on Christmas Day to be with Connie Lue's parents. Her sister, Kaylene Reed of Houston was there and came on to Lakeview for a few days visit.

Marshall, a Floydada native, for his contributions to the foundation. Plans for building a $200,000 indoor therapeutic pool to be named in honor of Marshall were announced Thursday, January 9.

The pool is being constructed to benefit medical patients at the rehabilitation center which serves recovering patients from New Mexico and West Texas. Marshall was a 1922 graduate of Floydada High school.

Club learns about Texas music

An interesting program on Texas music was heard in the chapel of the First Baptist Church January 9. From roll call it was learned that "Texas Our Texas" and "The Eyes of Texas" were the favorite Texas songs. Members repeated the pledge to the Texas flag.

Mr. Bill Smith, Director of Music at First Baptist Church gave a brief history of Texas music. That began with songs sung by the early settlers, mostly religious songs, and folk songs were popular. These grew out of emotions and every day life of cowboys and people in the west. In some larger communities people gathered for sing-songs during the 20's and grew into audiences that sponsored orchestras and even operas. Some of these became nationally famous. Texas has produced Tex Ritter, a famous writer and musican, also David Guion of "Home on the Range" fame, and many others. Pianist Van Cliburn is a Texan. Dallas and Houston are popular music centers.

In a brief business meeting, letters expressing thanks from Gristown, and from Floyd County, and Day Care Center were read. Election of officers was postponed. Club members were then invited to Mr. and Mrs. C.W. Denison's where they were served lovely refreshments. The club will meet next February 6, with Mrs. George Smith.

Timmons-Terry Westbrook say nuptial vows

Nuptial vows between Miss Laticia Timmons and Mr. Terry Westbrook were recited before a backdrop of five white trees highlighted with miniature clear Christmas lights and an illusion of snow created with angel hair, during a 2 p.m. ceremony December 21, 1985 in the Trinity Church of Brownfield. Reading the exchange of vows for the double ring ceremony was the Rev. Nick Taylor. Also decorating the altar was an area prepared for prayer and communion. The unity candle was accented with dusty rosebuds, white lace, burgundy velvet bow and cascading ivy.

Parents of the couple are Howard and Georgie Timmons of Brownfield and Paul and Dartha Westbrook of Floydada. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.A. (Bill) White, of New Home and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil (Emma Timmons) Pulliam of Wolfforth. The groom is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Walters of Lubbock and Mrs. Leila Westbrook of DePort. Other special guests attending the wedding were the bride's godparents, O.E. and Jean Floyd of Brownfield.

Musical selections were presented by pianist, Dell Gray of Floydada. She played various wedding selections before the ceremony. The groom also vocalized a song entitled "My Life to You." This selection was written by the groom as a special surprise for the bride.

For her wedding, the bride chose a magnificent gown styled of Matte taffeta and reembroidered Alencon lace. It was designed with a Sabrina neckline which was bordered in reembroidered Alencon lace and seed pearls. The fitted bodice was made with a center yoke and on each side of the yoke, softly gathered insets of the taffeta created a shirred effect. The bodice was also applied with Alencon lace and seed pearls. The back of the bodice was cut in a low V, and also was enhanced by Alencon lace and pearls. The bodice was designed in a low cut basque effect. The short sleeves were styled in a full puff, and had a unique folded cuff topped by a large bow of the taffeta with a silk flower in the center. Above-the-elbow gauntlets completed the dress, and they were also of taffeta, with Alencon lace trim at the wrists. The long skirt was edged in a row of the reembroidered Alencon lace, and flowed into a magnificent cathedral train in the back.

Her hat was a small-brimmed picture hat of white satin completely overlaid with Schiffli embroidery and lace. At one side of the crown was a silk flower enhanced by a pouf of Russian veiling with a unique cluster of pearl loops. The hat had a veil also of the Russian veiling circling the front of the brim, and at the back of the hat was a large pouf of illusion. A fingertip veil at the back of the hat completed the ensemble.

The bridal bouquet consisted of white silk lilies with lily-of-the-valley and ivy cascades with ribbons.

Following tradition, the bride carried a lace handkerchief belonging to her great-grandmother as something old. Something new was her wedding attire, something borrowed was her mother's white Bible, used in her own wedding and something blue was her garter.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Shawn Eldridge of Brownfield, Tracie Timmons and Tamara Timmons, both sisters of the bride of Brownfield served as bridesmaids. They wore tea length dresses of dusty rose crepe satin. The fitted bodices featured sweetheart necklines and above-the-elbow sleeves gathered in the center. A self fabric belt was accented with a rose bow and petals of satin. They carried bouquets consisting of dusty rose silk poinsettias with burgundy throats, dusty rose pods, ivy cascades and ribbons.

Flower girl, Kahra Bruton, cousin of the bride of Meadow, wore a burgundy satin dress and dropped ribbon love knots as she walked down the aisle.

All flowers for the occasion were especially created by family friend, Sandra McNabb of Ropersville.

The mothers of the bride and groom were also dressed in burgundy satin dresses.

Acting as best man to the groom was his brother, Larry Westbrook of Floydada. Groomsmen were another brother, Steve Westbrook, of Mt. Vernon and Scott Phillips of Michigan. Male attendants were attired in pearl grey tuxedos with dusty rose bow ties and cummerbunds. Father of the bride wore a black Pierre Cardin stroller with black bow tie and cummerbund.

The groom was attired in a classic grey cutaway coat with traditional striped trousers and pearl grey vest. His wing collar shirt and satin striped ascot completed his attire.

Escorting guests were Andy Timmons, cousin of the bride of Brownfield and Joe Reed of Dallas.

Alyson Fisher of Munday registered guests at a brass and wood registration stand, accented with a gray feather pen and the bride's throw-away bouquet. A marble top credenza in the foyer of the chapel was used as a gift table. A single bouquet of fresh flowers accented this table.

A reception following the ceremony, featured a separated three-tier wedding cake accented with dusty rose roses. The cake, designed with a lighted fountain at the base, was topped with a kissing bride and groom figurine and accented with white lace and dusty rose flowerlets and ribbons. The table, which was draped with white lace overlays over dusty rose tablecloths, was adorned at two corners with burgundy velvet bows. Completing the setting were a silver punch bowl, a silver coffee service and flatware. Burgundy and dusty rose napkins were used. Nuts and mints were also served by attendants, Donna Sims of Brownfield and Laura Simpson of Brownfield.

An off white tablecloth covered a smaller table holding a lace trimmed basket of "rice" roses of burgundy and dusty rose satin, created by Jean Floyd. The attendant's bouquets and the bridal bouquet were used as decor at this table.

For traveling, the bride chose a black velvet skirt, orchid silk type blouse, black accessories and a full-length white fur coat. Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, New Mexico, the couple is residing in Lubbock.

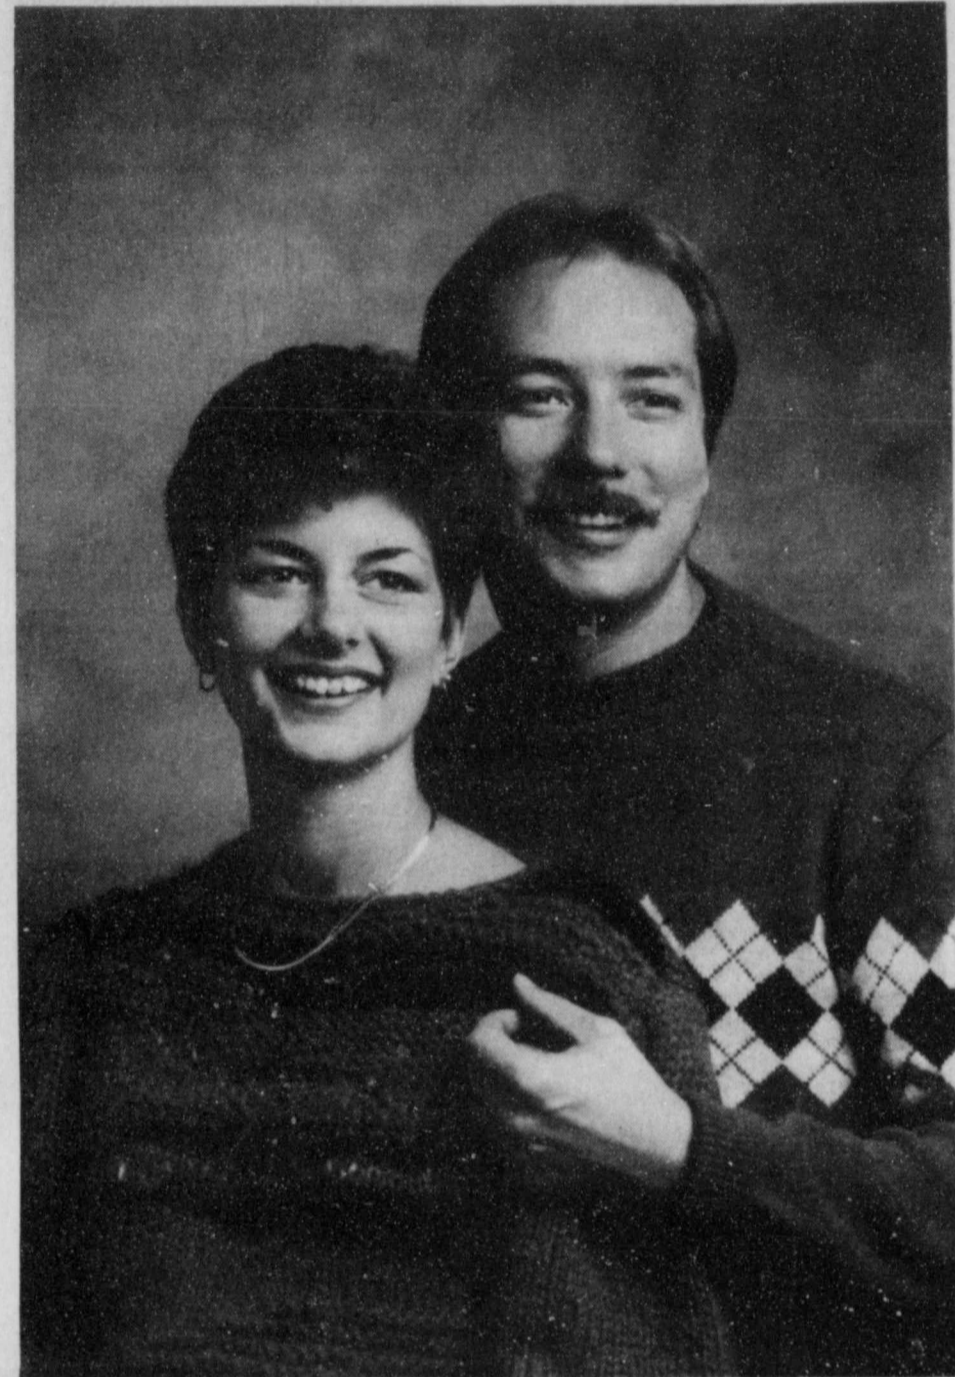

Pre-nuptial courtesies honoring the couple included a miscellaneous shower given on October 28 by friends of the couple at the Dallas C.F.N.I.

On December 7, the home of Mrs. Ira (Jean) Seaton in Brownfield was the site of a bridal shower, hosted by Jean Floyd, Patsy Sims, Bea Boring, Mary Jameson, Sue Dill, Nadine Nunley, Kaye Baird, Dawn Gandy, Jean Seaton, Wanda Jones, Sheree Forbes, Marilyn Hale, Emily Simpson and Margaret Lowrie.

On December 14, a bridal shower was hosted by the Trinity Ladies Fellowship in the community room of the First National Bank, Floydada.

R.C. Andrews sixth graders comment on No Pass, No Play regulations

EDITOR'S NOTE: Under the leadership of student teacher, Sonya Stroope, the sixth grade language arts students of R.C. Andrews Elementary have been studying and writing business letters. They wrote letters to the editor concerning the No-Pass-No-Play rule. Following are some of the letters they would like to share with you.

6-A

Dear Editor:
I think that Ross Perot had no right to change the education policy. However, I do think that it might help people who don't try and want to play in extra curricular activities to try a lot harder. I sure wish he wouldn't have made us go to school from 8 till 4. It's almost like working from 9 till 5. There's nothing I can do about it now, or is there?

Thank You, Jennifer Crow

Dear Editor:

I'm writing you about the No Pass-No Play rule that has gone into effect. I have mixed feelings about it. I think we should have it because if kids rely on sports they won't have a very good chance to make a living, but if they have an education they will have hundreds of choices of jobs to rely on. In some ways I could strangle Ross Perot for the rules he has made up, and I could tell him how much I appreciate his making up the rules. If I make a failing grade next year I may have different feelings.

That's why I have mixed feelings.

Sincerely, Emmett Howard

Dear Editor:

I think the No Pass-No-Play rule is good and bad. Here are some good things about it. If someone is failing but they are a good athlete and want to play, it will encourage them to bring their grades up. It will also teach them to study harder. Some of the bad things are: if a lot of students start failing then pretty soon there won't be enough students to participate in a sport. Then after that all the sports will start disappearing. That will lead to just playing cards again. That is my opinion of the No-Pass-No-Play rule.

Sincerely, Shonda Guthrie

Dear Sir:

I'm writing to you about the No Pass-No Play rule. I think it is a good idea because people that are in sports just think about the sports in school wherever they are. Some people have to go early in the morning for tutoring and study really hard to pass that subject. It is also good for the teachers so they won't get upset with the students. Some people think it's the end of the world when it happens to them. Students need to learn more about the subjects to have a good mind. I really like the idea because it tells people they need to learn.

Sincerely, FaLiza DeHoyos

Dear Hesperian:

I am writing about the No Pass-No Play rule. I don't think it is right for Ross Perot to make that rule, because the people in special classes are the ones that are having problems do not have a chance to be in special activities like the smart kids.

Sincerely, Clint Lamb

6-D

Dear Hesperian,

I think No Pass-No Play is a good idea. People have to learn or they'll only know how to do one thing. If they listen and learn in school then they will know how to do more than one thing, if they want to learn.

Yours Truly, Kevin Stringer

Dear Editor:

I like No Pass-No Play. It is very good. There is something I don't like. It is 6 weeks off the game. I think it would be much better to be 3 weeks instead of 6 weeks. Then we might never win a game. Some of my friends are very good at playing games but bad at their grades. I think it should be 3 weeks.

Sincerely, Fabian Torres

6-B

Dear Sirs,

I think the rule about "No Pass-No Play" is right, teenagers who can't make the grade shouldn't be able to play. A good education is very important for you as you grow older.

You could improve this rule by letting her or she play when ever the grade is up to where it should be.

But because of this rule, high school football teams, basketball, band, and other sports are having to drop out completely, because there's not enough people to play.

Sincerely, Kalli Hicks

Dear Editor:

Why do we have to have the No Pass-No Play rule? I have never missed a day of school. I try to turn in my work every time I owe some of course, I never get it in because I can never find it. But I will try to get my work in so the No Pass No Play rule won't get me.

Your friend, John Robledo III

Dear Sir:

I think No Pass-No Play is kind of hard on the athletes. I like the part where it said he was doing it for the kids. I always try my best. I haven't missed a day of school. I always turn my papers in. If I pass next year I'm going to try my best because I want to play football.

Yours Sincerely, John Morales

Dear Sir:

I think that No Pass-No Play isn't fair because if there's a good receiver in football and he flunks the team will not be any good anymore. I want to play football next year, I hope I don't flunk this year because our team will be good next year. We might even be undefeated next year. What I don't like about school is that it is getting even more strict each day. I wish it wouldn't be as strict each day.

Your friend, Lupe Trevino

Dear Sirs,

I am for No Pass-No Play. This is a very good rule, because some kids on the football team flunk tests and coaches let them play. We come to school to learn, not to be the #1 football player or band player. For example, some kids go home study extra hard for a test. Others say oh who care the coach will still let me play.

I am for this 100%, because I always try to do my best. I come to school to learn!

Yours truly, Rhoda Hernandez

6-C

I think the No Pass-No Play rule is good, but I disagree with the six weeks suspension period. If a person can't make his grades he shouldn't be able to play. A kid gets discouraged when he can't play in sports that he likes, and the season might be over with by the time he gets his grades up. I think two or three weeks would be long enough. I know a lot of people that would like to talk to H. Ross Perot about this rule.

Sincerely, Dirk Rainer

Dear Editor:

I think the No Pass-No Play rule is not very good. I think this because sports are some people's lives. Football players, for instance, has many good players, but when it comes to the rule most of the good players didn't get to play.

The No Pass-No Play is also good in some ways because some students would play and not ever do homework. Some students wouldn't go to all their classes. Students wouldn't be able to read or write very well if they don't do their homework and come to class only half the time. Those people won't make their kids do their homework and etc.

Sincerely, Katharine Davis

Dear Editor:

Here is what I think about No Pass-No Play. I think it is a good rule. But if the student only fails 3 weeks why does he have to sit out for six weeks. The student should have to sit out for as long as he or she fails. But some kinds of kids might try real hard in the class so he or she might be able to play sports. They might fail anyway but would if they can not help it. Some kids can pass so I understand why they can't play.

Sincerely, Alan Livingston

Dear Editor:

The reason why I do like the rule No Pass-No Play is kids will try to pass to play in sports. If the kids don't pass they have no chance in being a professional player.

The reasons why I don't like the rule No Pass-No Play is because if kids don't pass they might drop out of school. If kids drop out of school they won't have any education. If a kid makes a failing grade he should have a period of the day to try to bring it up.

I think that the rule No Pass-No Play has a good side to it and a bad side to it.

Yours truly, Tiffany

Dear Sir:

I think the new rule of No Pass-No Play is alright in a way. The students who play in sports will usually not become professional players. Even if one student will, he will need an education to get through college. If sports is so important to a student, he should want to work hard to play in sports. For the students who don't become professional players, if they have a good education they will have a better chance of becoming a professional something.

On the other hand, if a student has a 69 he should have a certain period of time to bring it up. If he or she does they should get to play.

The rule has two sides to it. It is really the way you look at it.

VA home loan interest drops

The Veterans Administration reduced its maximum home loan interest rate from 11 1/2 percent to 11 percent effective Wednesday, November 20.

Noting that the 11 percent rate is the lowest in over six years, VA Administrator Harry N. Walters said the reduction is a sign of continued improvement in the mortgage market.

Walters pointed out that many veterans who presently have VA home loans with interest rates as high as 17 1/2 percent may be able to refinance their loans at the new, lower rate. He urged veterans who still occupy their VA-financed homes to contact local mortgage lenders for details on VA's interest rate reduction refinancing program.

This is the fourth decrease in VA home loan rates this year. The last change occurred on June 5 when the rate went from 12 percent to 11 1/2.

The VA will also decrease by 1/2 percentage point the maximum rates for Graduated Payment Mortgages (GPM's) to 11 1/4 percent. In addition, the rates for manufactured homes will also be decreased. The new maximum rates are 13 1/2 percent for unit only loans and 13 percent for loans to purchase either a unit with the lot or to purchase a lot upon which a unit already owned by the veteran is to be placed.

The rate change does not affect existing loans whose interest rate remains the same for the life of the agreement. VA home loans may be used to purchase, construct, alter, improve, repair, or refinance a home. This includes the purchase of condominiums and manufactured homes, with or without a lot.

WILLIAM CLYDE MEADOR

William Clyde (Jake) Meador, 85, died January 4 at 1:30 a.m. in a Phoenix, Arizona hospital after a brief illness.

He was born in Granger, Texas December 27, 1900. At seven years of age, he moved to Plainview, and later to Floydada, with he's parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. W.E. Meador. He was married to the former Gladys McKee. They farmed in Floyd County for several years and then moved to Phoenix, Arizona where he was employed with an air conditioning manufacturing firm.

After retirement Mr. Meador spent summers in Floydada doing farm work and visiting with friends and relatives, going back to Phoenix during the winter, until failing health made traveling impossible.

He is survived by his wife Gladys, a son Bill, three grandsons, Dennis, Bob, and Bill, and five great grandchildren, all of Phoenix, and two sisters, Burmah Probasco and Alta Probasco, both of Floydada.

Burial was in the Floydada Cemetery directed by Moore-Rose Funeral Home.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Florence Van Hoose

Monday morning Dolores Cannon and Dorothy Neff were busy in the beauty shop making the ladies look very pretty for the Christmas party. Morning devotions were by Trinity Church. The singers were Rev. G.A. Van Hoose, Shirley Varner, Eula Mae Wilson and Dartha Westbrook.

Monday evening at 6:30 we had the annual Christmas party complete with Santa. The Companions 'n' Caring furnished and served the refreshments. The music was furnished by Dartha Westbrook and Mac McElyea, and Paul led the singing. All the residents received gifts. It was a very good party. Many family members and friends were present.

We appreciate Alpha Mu Delta and the Salvation Army for gifts. We also appreciate Alton Rose and Edell Moore for the fruit donated to the residents.

Tuesday morning devotions were by Brother Neeley Richardson. We enjoyed the devotions and also the banana break. In the afternoon we had a good time of Bible study, sharing and prayer. After Bible study Myra Hall and Charlie Spence beat Ruth Benson and myself in a game of "42."

Wednesday the resident had self directed activities. Several of the residents went out to be with family for Christmas.

Thursday morning was spent taking down the tree and other decorations. Morning devotions were by Rev. Earl Blair. He spoke from Psalms 96. In the afternoon we went on the bus ride to Plainview and were treated to ice cream at Sonic. The resident who went on the ride were Florence Curry, Opal Morrison, Della Halencak, Addie Lindley, Una Clark and Charlie Spence.

Friday morning devotions were by Freida Simpson and Mrs. Withers. Freida taught about Anna. In the afternoon we watched movies and ate popcorn.

This week's visitors include: Jerry Childs, Mr. and Mrs. Dwayne Myrick, Angela and Dwayla of Grand Prairie Tracy and Laura Turner, Gertrude Bill Cox of Clovis, New Mexico, Beatrice Bloodworth, Cline and Gwen McDonald of South Carolina, Nealy and Zelma Richardson, Billy and Jo Walker, Buster Mooney, Max Bradley of Ogden, Utah and Hazel Bradley.

D. W. Floyd was an honored hero

Editors Note: The following story was submitted by the Floyd County Historical Commission and the Floyd County Historical Museum.

The Floyd County Historical Commission has received the official Texas Historical Marker honoring Dolphin Ward Floyd. The marker will be erected on the courthouse lawn and will be dedicated June 21, 1986 in the presence of members of the Floyd family.

Residents of Floyd County, Texas are especially proud of Dolphin Ward Floyd's in Texas history and are grateful that his name was selected for our county. Every citizen and visitor to Floyd County should be aware of the significance of our county's name.

Dolphin Ward Floyd was born March 6, 1804 in Nash County, North Carolina. He was the son of Thomas Penuel and Sarah Beckwith Floyd. He left North Carolina November 22, 1825, bidding his mother, brothers and sisters goodbye.

He arrived in Gonzales, Texas sometime before April 26, 1832 where he married a young widow, Esther Berry House.

He acquired lots three and four in block number sixteen in the inner town of Gonzales on December 23, 1833.

He and Esther had two children; John W., born November 26, 1833 and Elizabeth, born April 4, 1836. Elizabeth married William K. Hargis and died without issue on December 12, 1859. John W. married Mary Ann Mills and they were the parents of seven children; Elizabeth, Adolph Edward, John C., Berry Arthur, Lulu, Alice C., and Vaughan Gordon.

When the plea for help reached Gonzales on February 26, 1836 from Lt. Col. Williams B. Travis, commander of the Alamo, thirty-two men answered the call. Amelia Williams wrote in her Critical Study of the Siege of the Alamo, "Perhaps the bravest and most self-sacrificing incident in the defense of the Alamo was the entrance on March 1, of thirty-two men from Gonzales." Dolphin Ward Floyd was one of those volunteers who broke through Santa Anna's lines and entered the Alamo. They fought their way inside with little hope of further help. T.R. Fehrenbach in his book, Lone Star, wrote, "Santa Anna had planned a bold sweep into Texas; he had moved with incredible speed. He came within an acre of succeeding. He would have succeeded, but for Travis at the Alamo."

Dolphin Ward Floyd died, likely never realizing that the bitter fight that he and his comrades were waging inside the Alamo would buy the needed time to ensure Santa Anna's defeat and guarantee independence for Texas.

Texas State Senate Bill number 61 enacted August 21, 1876 reads, "The county of Floyd is named in honor of D. Floyd whose name is inscribed upon the monument stone of the Alamo". Although created by law in 1876 Floyd County was not to be organized until May 28, 1890. During the centennial celebration at the county seat in Floydada in May of 1976 a great-grandson, Rufus Low Floyd, was recognized when tribut was paid to his ancestor, Dolphin Ward Floyd. Some 150 years after the fall of the Alamo members of the Floyd Family still reside in Gonzales, Texas. They met in reunion at the Alamo on August 17, 1981 to pay tribute and commemorate the role that their ancestor played in Texas Independence.
