Ostriches in Floyd County?

By Juanita Stepp

Oscar, Agnes and Penelope, hardly rare names, but these names do belong to three of the six rare and unusual new residents of Dougherty in Floyd County. Roger Hammonds, Jim Covington and Jerry Battey Jr., owners of the livestock, were hosts to the Dougherty School children last Thursday as they visited their charges, ostriches.

The children greeted the odd birds with a flurry of comments ranging from, "Wow, what a big bird!" to "Will they bite me?" After seeing the ostriches and hearing a bit about them, the youngsters were shown an ostrich egg and told that it is the equivalent of 23 chicken eggs. Roger Hammonds told his eager young listeners, "We have one egg in the incubator now and expect it to hatch in a little over a month."

Thirteen of the fourteen students attending school in Dougherty made the field trip to see the ostriches. These included: kindergartener Marie Robledo; first graders Ubaldo Chavez; second graders Edgar Overstreet, Missy Pernell, Gricelda Martinez, Pricilla Robledo and Johnny Joe Martinez; third graders Olivia Huerta and Lupe Machado; and fourth graders Marie Huerta, Leroy Martinez and Aracely Martinez. Jason Campbell, a kindergartner, was ill and unable to attend. The group was accompanied by William Lowe and Mrs. Willie Adair.

The Floyd County trio of novice ostrich breeders are looking forward to the hatching of a successful business venture along with the hatching of their first chick. Operating as South Plains Ostrich Breeders, the men plan to sell young ostriches to others who will in turn raise them for their hides and feathers.

"I guess I am the instigator of this very different livestock operation," said Roger Hammonds. "I read about ostriches and raising them. Then I could hardly wait to get started on it. Fortunately, Jerry and Jim went along with me on it."

"We made contact with a fellow in Lawton, Oklahoma, who was able to get us these birds from a source in Iowa," stated Jim Covington. "We now have two males and four females."

Jerry Battey Jr. says, "The birds don't seem to mind this cold snap we are having and they are supposed to adapt real well to the winters here, after all, they have been living in Iowa."

"They shouldn't have any trouble adapting to the summers here either," added Roger. "They are native to the desert areas of Africa."

The adult male ostrich is black and the female is a lighter grey color. At birth, an ostrich is about a foot tall and grows rapidly, adding about a foot per month until a height of around eight feet is attained. An adult ostrich weighs about 300 pounds.

The diet of these extra large herbivores consists of about four pounds of fruit, vegetables, grains and grass per day. Apples are one of their favorite foods.

These birds, which are the largest birds living on the earth today, have odd looking feet. Each foot is made up of one large toe-like appendage flanked by a smaller toe-like appendage. Unusual feet have not hampered this flightless bird in getting around. They are capable of running at speeds approaching fifty miles an hour.

The active breeding life of an ostrich is twenty years according to Covington, although the life span of the birds is nearly 60 years. "An ostrich will produce fifty eggs a year with a fertility rate of about 80% and a survival rate of about the same, so one ostrich is capable of producing about 30 saleable chicks a year," said Hammonds. "The incubation period for an ostrich egg is approximately 42 days," he added, "and we will sell them at three months of age." These three young Floyd County men may not have all their eggs in one basket, but they are having an interesting time learning about their new venture and getting acquainted with their big birds.

Many questions, but few signers for farm program

Although "many people have come in with questions," sign-up for the 1986 regular farm program has been "slow," according to Tom Moore, supervisor of the Floyd County ASCS office.

Moore estimates that approximately three percent of the some 600 county farmers have registered for the program to date.

He attributes the lack of decisions to the fact that the farm bill was late in being finalized and consequently information was late in reaching producers.

Registration continues through April 11.

Included in the '86 farm program are six commodities: cotton, wheat, grain sorghum, corn, oats and barley.

Successful bidders in the CRP will be known locally March 20 (today) as the information is received from Washington via computer.

"Our farmers have been very patient and we appreciate that," Moore told this newspaper. "They understand that we're not making the decisions."

Moore has 13 persons assisting him in the ASCS office in order that producers will receive the quickest possible service. In addition, four SCS employees helped in the ASCS office last week.

DEFICIENCY PAYMENTS

We are in receipt of a letter from Mr. Charles N. Beard, President of the Texas State Teachers Association (TSTA), setting forth his views on the recent decision of Travis County District Court Judge Harley Clark upholding the constitutionality of competency for Texas school teachers.

We presume Mr. Beard wishes us to inform our readers of his views, and the direction his organization may take in the future regarding the matter.

We are happy to do so, and will perhaps offer some thoughts of our own in the process.

But first some background. The recently passed "reform" bill for Texas education included some controversial features, to say the least. One such feature was the so-called "no pass-no play" rule. Another was a provision that the state undertake an examination of current teachers and administrators. This (Texas Examination of Current Administrators and Teachers, or TECAT) has drawn the fire of the TSTA, though other teacher organizations have not been quite so adamant in their opposition. TSTA took the matter to court, claiming that it was unconstitutional. The Judge disagreed, and said testing that was already announced and planned should proceed as scheduled. Mr. Beard's letter, or statement, is in response to the judge's ruling.

Mr. Beard says the decision is an injustice to educators, to their students, and to the public. He says that teachers facing an examination to determine if they are competent will perforce be distracted from their teaching duties, approximately $7 million in advance payments, county farmers received some $14.5 million in cotton deficiency money from the 1985 crop.

The ASCS supervisor placed '85 wheat deficiency payments at 'about $3 million.'

He adds that "a few" corn and grain sorghum deficiency checks are due to be mailed in April.

General mechanical repair classes win district honors

General Mechanical Repair Vocational Classes of Della Plains School (junior high and senior high) traveled to Estacado High School in Lubbock on Saturday, March 8, to compete in contests with schools throughout District IV.

Out of 15 entries, the Floydada group returned home "triumphantly displaying 15 first place ribbons" and qualifying the students for the regional vocational meet April 11-12 at Hirshi High School in Wichita Falls.

The local chapter, number 805, entered a chapter display, which also won first place.

Junior high students include: Jr. Galvan, Eloy Rodriquez, David Rosales, Joe DeLaFuente and Lupe Maldonado. Entering welding competition and winning ribbons were: Joe Barrientos, Leonard King, Carlos Riojas, Rolando Cisneros, Jr. Galvan, Dana Cooper and Eliseo Ovalle.

Ovalle claimed fourth place in extemporaneous speaking.

Instructor Al Galloway, who is "extremely proud" of the students, expresses his appreciation "to those who contributed so much in so many ways":

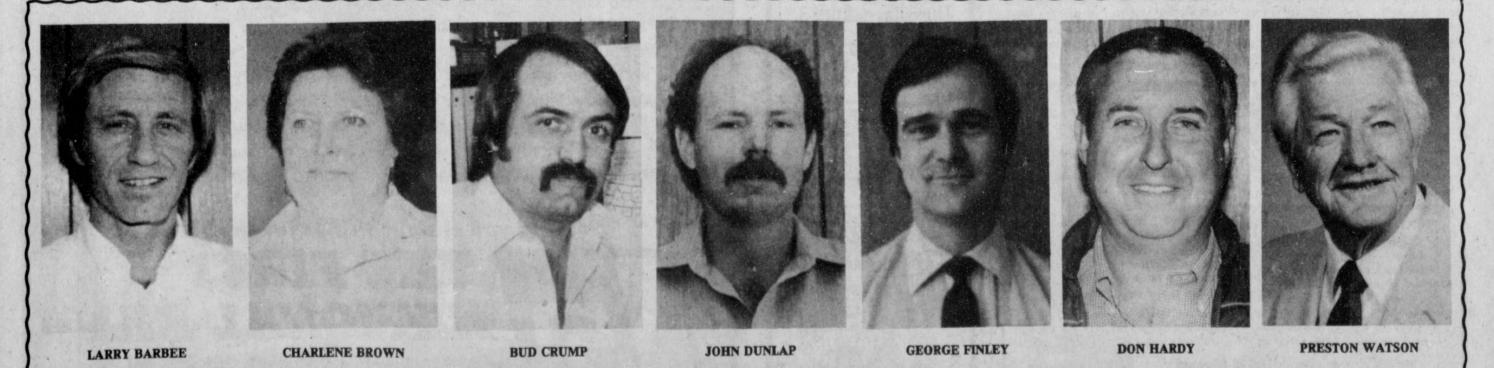

*To Miss Janet Milam, who typed the required descriptions of the projects. (These papers received 10 points out of a possible 10, except for one, which received 8.)

*To the advisory board for its assistance.

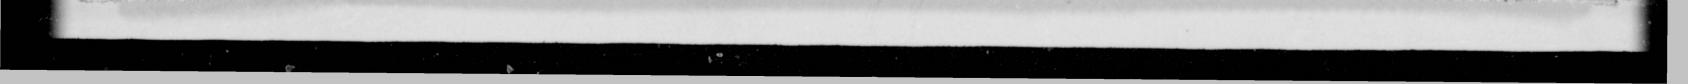

*To the administration for encouragement and support.

*To parents, who were "supportive of each effort in which their children were involved."

Galloway says "A special invitation is extended to you, the community, to come by the classroom and see these, your future employees, in action!"

and that consequently the students will suffer.

"And the public is being sold a bill of goods. Taxpaying citizens of Texas have been led to believe that the literacy testing program will identify "incompetent" teachers. First, we don't know if there are any. Second, a single test is an improper, ineffective and invalid way to find out," he said.

The State Board of Education, Texas Education Agency, and local school districts, said Mr. Beard, "should turn their full attention to working with classroom teachers and building administrators to develop a valid, fair, and effective evaluation system that really will identify poor and unqualified teachers, and provides remedial assistance to improve the quality of teaching. TSTA is eager to devote its considerable resources to work with them to that end."

After predicting that five percent of those taking the TECAT will fail, Mr. Beard says "Some teachers may simply be poor test-takers. Other teachers may excel at test-taking, but be ineffective at conveying information in such manner that students actually learn it. A standardized pencil and paper test cannot make the distinction.' He says his organization remains convinced that the TECAT requirements are unconstitutional and that they "will continue to pursue every avenue to make certain that a single test is not the sole criteria for determining whether or not a teacher keeps his or her job.' He goes on to say their attorneys are reviewing the decision to determine if an appeal is in the works. As perhaps an indication of the route they may persue, Mr. Beard says "we believe the test, if given, will be discriminatory against minorities, handicapped, some bilingual teachers and those whose area of specialty is outside language arts." In other words, Mr. Beard seems to be laying the groundwork for a challenge of the law in federal courts. Now, a few thoughts on the matter. In the first place, it seems more than passing strange that a teachers organization, of all people, would denigrate competency testing. Testing has been standard procedure (for students of course) until memory runneth not to the contrary. Millions of little kids have sweated out tests, worrying about many of the same issue raised by the teachers organization. But they didn't go to court. They just boned up and did their best. And there are probably many teachers who are somewhat embarrassed by the state organizations actions in this. Mr. Beard is right, of course, when he speaks of the "considerable resources" at TSTA's disposal. For many years they have been regarded as one of the most well funded, and powerful, lobbying operations in Austin. But they have now gotten on the wrong side of an issue the public feels strongly about, judging from all the opinion polls. In fact, about the only thing Mark White has going for him is a perception among the public that he is responsible for needed improvements in Texas education. When the law was first passed, Mr. White was happy to give all the credit to Ross Perot, but when he saw the polls he suddenly became the daddy of the changes.

We can understand the teachers organization's unhappiness with the governor, since they broke their back for him in his race against Bill Clements, and now feel somewhat betrayed. But that is something they will just have to get used to. After all, the general public had the same experience. He promised them no new taxes, and lower utility bills. We got the taxes, and if we get lower utility bills it will be because energy costs are coming down, not because of any action by Mark White.

The public is much more sympathetic with the youngster who gets booted off extra-curricular activity, such as FFA, or Band, than they are with teachers who do not feel they should prove their competency by testing.

We would agree with Mr. Beard that the tests may penalize some good teachers who are not good at taking tests, but the same argument can be made of the students also. The general public is extremely interested in schools, perhaps because more than half their taxes goes to support education, but it would probably be closer to amendments to the law can be addressed when the legislature meets. In the meantime good teachers won't be so embarrassed by his comments.

An on the local levels, all across Texas, citizens had better start electing school boards who understand they are running about the biggest industry in the state.

Commissioners reconvene

The March session of the Floyd County Commissioners Court, recessed on Monday, March 10, was reconvened on Wednesday, March 12. Karen Stallings, a representative of Blue Cross, Blue Shield, from the Lubbock office met with the court to discuss county employee health insurance coverage for the coming year. With no rate increase scheduled at this time, members of the court elected to continue with the present coverage for 1986.

A second matter concerning employee insurance was also taken up by the court. The advisability of allowing retiring or resigning employees to continue their coverage under the county policy was discussed at length. Thomas Warren, commissioner from Precinct 3, made a motion that: "Any County employee or elected official who terminates his employment with Floyd County and such employee with completed eight years or more service with Floyd County and has attained the age of 50 years of age at the time of termination of his employment but is under the age of 65 years of age, such employee has the option to continue with the Blue Cross, Blue Shield,

Seven trustee candidates give views

A flurry of filings has placed seven candidates on the ballot for the April 5 trustees election in the Floydada Independent School District. With three seats on the board up for election, a lively race could result.

Two of the positions up for election are currently held by Don Hardy and Fred Zimmerman III. Hardy is running for reelection to the board.

Zimmerman has "decided not to seek reelection to a second term on the board of trustees in order to devote more time to business interests than has been possible while giving school matters the attention they deserve during the past three years of service to the district." He pointed out that he would be serving the community and the school district as a member of the Board of Directors of the Floyd County Central Appraisal District and that this job requires a considerable amount of time as well.

The third seat on the board to be filled by this election is that of Hulon Carthel, who resigned earlier this year in order to allow his wife to accept a position as a teacher with the district.

A profile of the seven candidates is presented here in the order in which their names will appear on the ballot.

PRESTON WATSON

Preston Watson, 69, is an educator of many years experience here in Floydada. He was born in San Saba, Texas, and took his degree from Texas A&M following his service time in the Navy during World War II. He came to Floydada 26 years ago as a coach and has served the district in the capacity of American History teacher, assistant principal at the high school, as athletic director, and as principal of R.C. Andrews Elementary School. He retired from the system last year.

"I have worked in most facets of the school system and have a pretty good working knowledge of our school," says Watson. "With education as not only a vocation, but as an avocation, I feel that I can contribute something worthwhile to our system as a board member."

Watson and his wife LaVerne have one son who lives in Dallas and two grandchildren. "I feel as if I have hundreds of children all over," said Watson, "My former students are my children.

"I would like to see us maintain a well rounded program with a first class education, but this must be done while bearing in mind the economic con-would like to continue this conservative approach, keeping in mind both the taxpayer and the quality of education we want to maintain."

Commenting on House Bill 72, Dunlap said, "It is a good concept, but the six week penalty might be a little stiff."

Asked about possible budget cuts to be faced in the future due to the economic situation, Dunlap stated, "There might be a little excess that could be trimmed, but by not being a board member at present, I would just have to look at that in the future."

CHARLENE BROWN

Charlene Brown says she is running for school board because "I am deeply interested in our young people and feel that I can be a positive member of the local board."

Brown is active in the PTA, Band Boosters, and is the co-ordinator for the First Baptist Church nursery. She and her husband Gary have three children, Jason, 16, Roxene, 13, and Rhealene, 11.

Originally from Clarendon, Brown and her family moved to Floydada in 1977. She is a graduate of Clarendon High School and Clarendon College. Brown attends Tech during the summer months to pursue a degree in accounting.

In a prepared statement, Brown expressed her views on a variety of issues concerning the school board.

"I feel that the main concern of the school board should be to see that each student receives the highest quality of education possible. I think that education should be the top priority of school and the extracurricular activities should be secondary. I am concerned that our community may be placing too high a priority on athletics. I would like to see that emphasis is place on all extra curricular activities, band, ag, athletics, UIL, speech, and drama. I feel that all these are important."

"I am also concerned that we get the most value for each taxpayer dollar spent," said Brown. "I am sure that everyone knows it costs a lot of money to operated our schools so the school board has a tremendous responsibility to see that our money is spent wisely."

Brown continued, "I realize these are broad generalizations, but no one can say "I'm going to do such and such when I get on the board." Candidates feel that an ineligibility period that long can only pledge to do the best and make is unfair to the student no matter what each decision according to what is in the extracurricular activity his interest lies best interest of each student." When asked to comment on House Bill 72, Brown stated, "I support the bill with the exception of the six weeks suspension. I feel that this is too long. A student should have to pass to participate, but I feel that it should be based on a week to week suspension."

system in Floydada the best that it can be," stated Hardy.

LARRY BARBEE

Larry Barbee is a candidate for FISD School Board. He is a graduate of Floydada High School. Larry is employed as the manager of Consumer Fuel. He is married to the former Valdonna Bennett. Larry and Valdonna have three children: Shannon in the 12th grade, Shayla in the 8th grade, and Blake who is three years old.

Larry has been living in Floydada since 1971. During these years he has been very active in community projects. He is a member of the First Baptist Church, a director of the Floyd County Junior Livestock Show, and a member of the local Lions Club.

Larry believes it is the job of a school board member to help provide the best possible learning environment for the children of our community. Board members must work with administrators and people of our district to best determine the policies which should be used for educational system. Our number one job is to develop policies which will help mold our children into productive citizens of the community.

BUD CRUMP

Bud Crump, 30, is the sales manager for Brown's Implement in Floydada. He is originally from Ralls and graduated from high school there. He has worked in Floydada for over five years and been a resident here for the past three years.

Crump and his wife, Kenda, have two children, Kellye who attends first grade at Duncan Elementary and Cory, who is three months old. Kenda works for the Floyd County Central Appraisal District.

"Having a child in the system, I am offering my services and feel that I can do a good job if I am elected," said Crump. "I am not running because I have an axe to grind and I think I can be fair in evaluating and acting upon matters of concern to the board."

'I think House Bill 72 has a lot of good merits and rightly places the emphasis on education, but I am inclined to agree with parents who are worried that a six weeks suspension period is too long,' stated Crump when asked his opinion of the controversial educational bill. "I Asked about his stand on budgetary matters, Crump said, "It would be hard to give an exact answer without knowing what must be funded and where the money comes from, but I do know that if a cutback were necessary, I would look last at teacher salaries. You can not keep good teachers without paying them well and our children need good teachers if they are to have a good education to help them through life."

graduated from Floydada High School before attending TSTI in Amarillo. Finley and his wife Lee have two children. Deserae is two years old and Paul is five. He presently attends pre-school at the Methodist facility and will enter kindergarten in Floydada this "I am concerned about the system my children will be educated under and I would like to serve on the board and contribute what I can to improve or assist it," stated Finley. "I feel that board members should make a point of visiting in the schools and talking with teachers more often to see how board decisions affect those who must live with them. It wouldn't hurt to talk to students more also. They can contribute some good ideas and it is important that they feel they can go to a board member if they have a problem with policy. The board may not be able to change things to suit the student, but at least the student will know they have had their opinion heard."

mber New York Stock E , Member Securities atection Corporation

Finley says he supports the no pass, no play regulation but feels "the six weeks suspension is too long." He continued, saying, "Education must come first. Athletics are important in the development of our children, but so are other areas of participation in extra curricular activities. These other areas such as band, speech, and drama need more attention and recognition from the board."

The only candidates to be listed on the ballot for the two hospital director positions up for election are the incumbents, Aldine Williams and Claude Weathersby.

Both elections will be conducted at the county courthouse in Floydada with voting in the County Clerk's office. Absentee balloting will take place from March 17 to March 28 during the regular hours of that office. The election will be held on Saturday, April 5.

ditions present in our community," stated Watson.

"I don't think that any teacher or school person has any quarrel with House Bill 72. My only problem with it is that the six weeks suspension is too long," commented Watson. "Taking a student out of any activity for six weeks weakens their interest and conditioning which can be very detrimental to their participation. I think a two week suspension period would achieve the same result with less ill will on all sides.'

JOHN DUNLAP

John Dunlap, 35, is a Floydada native and a local farmer. He graduated from Floydada High School in 1968 and from Texas Tech in 1972. Dunlap says, "I am running for school board because I would like to serve on the board and try to keep the quality education we have in Floydada.'

Dunlap and his wife Judy have three children. Their son Robert is 41/2 years old. Their daughters are Bonnie, 21/2, and Melissa, two months old.

The 1929 Study Club meeting for March was held at Lighthouse Electric. Meeting was called to order by Mrs. Vance Campbell. Interesting stories unfolded as each member answered roll call with "a favorite memory of my childhood home." During a brief business meeting the club voted to make a donation to the Floyd County Museum.

Mrs. Worth Howard gave an interesting and amusing reminiscence of Old Homes in Floyd County that she knew about. Among those mentioned was the half dugout home, a line camp near Crosbyton where some of her early settler kin lived. She mentioned the homes of the Lewis family, the Bartley on about your changing telephone service m Jim West, Manager-Community Relations

Diversifying the Lone Star Economy

News about tumbling oil prices is a reminder that Texas faces some knotty economic challenges. But the outlook for an upbeat economy appears good. One reason for the optimism is the state's efforts to diversify our economy.

Economic diversification may not be a new twist, but you may be surprised to learn about the new ally in this campaign. Meet your new partner: telecommunications. Yes, the telephone company. Surprised?

Consider that many businesses today, including the socalled high-technology industries, are heavily dependent on information. These firms need to move large amounts of data across the state and the world. Much of that information will zip across the telephone network - an intricate web of circuits. transmitters and lines.

Without a first-class telecommunications system. Texas cannot compete with other states vying for new jobs and industry. Remember, most every state is recruiting the same firms. How does Texas set itself apart from the crowd? One way is to parlay our telephone network into a major advantage for ourstate.

An economic edge

Homegrown Texas firms also will find it increasingly an edge to be served by a dependable communications network. For example, in the oil and gas industry, millions of dollars are riding each day on the ability of these firms to transmit and receive geological data from drilling sites. That puts a premium on fast, reliable communications.

In our homes too, telecommunications is playing a more important role. Many Texans are using computer linkups over telephone lines to start new businesses, expand their education and even receive health care — all this without leaving their homes.

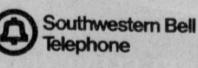

Much of what we take for granted in our everyday lives would be impossible without telecommunications. Consider that in Texas there are $15 million in goods and services sold each day by phone ... more than seven million transactions between financial institutions are processed every day over the telephone network ... and nearly 248 million times a year Texans use phone lines and automatic teller machines to bank at their convenience.

A mind-boggling figure

There's one more statistic that perhaps tells the story best. On a typical day, Southwestern Bell Telephone handles more than 82 million voice and data messages from homes and businesses across the state. And, this figure is expected to continue to grow.

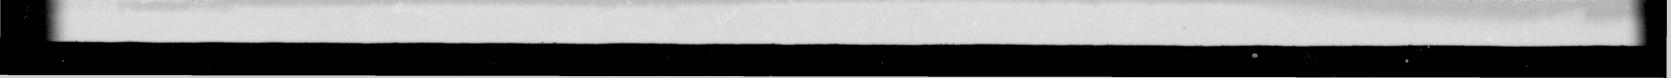

Obviously, huge investments are required to meet this growth. In fact, for eight consecutive years, my company has spent more than $1 billion annually to improve and add to the state's telecommunications network. This year will be no different.

We all have a stake in the economic future of Texas. All of us must do our share. For our part, we want to provide a telecommunications network that is second to none. We have the resources and people to achieve that goal. Given adequate earnings, there is no doubt we will succeed.

Floyd Friends of Library set Sesquicentennial open house

The Floyd County Friends of the Library have set April 7 for their Sesquicentennial open house and reception for all Floyd County authors. Anyone who has had books or a series of articles published and has lived in Floyd County or has been closely associated with the county is invited to bring their publications to the Floyd County Library on April 7 for display and sale. Tables will be placed in the upstairs hall of the courthouse for each author. The reception will be held in the library. Jim Word is chairman of the Friends of the Library committee.

"Through the years there have been numerous Floyd County residents who have had books and articles published in national and area publications. The Friends of the Library would like to honor those people and at the same time encourage others to continue their writing," Word said. "The Sesquicentennial year is a good time for that." The open house will be held from 2:00 p.m. until 4:00 p.m. The public is invited to meet the authors and friends during the afternoon.

Anyone who would like to bring their publications to the library on April 7 should call the Floyd County Library at 983-3578 for additional information.

Lions Club prepares for Radio Day on March 29

The Floydada Lions Club is preparing for its annual Radio Day, scheduled for Saturday, March 29 on KKAP. Club members are now contacting local merchants about purchasing commercial time. Proceeds from the sale of commercials will go to support Lions Club projects.

"Since the addition of FM 95.3, we are very happy to be back on the radio where we will have a larger listening audience on the South Plains," said Layne Kirk, project chairman.

"The club had previously conducted its program only on AM 900. Most listeners tune in to FM stations now, so response to the advertising should increase with the program being conducted on an FM station," added Kirk.

This was a "rolling rally" which Wagonmasters Day and Davis led northeast on highways 207, 256 and 83 to Shamrock.

Only one trailer had trouble, according to local members, but it was soon rolling after help from Lawson, the caboose trailer.

Upon arrival at the Shamrock campground, the Texas Plains Unit joined with the Top-O-Texas Unit for a joint rally at Shamrock's 40th annual St. Patrick's Celebration.

Both units had parade entries in a category with 13 entries. Texas Plains won a second place plaque and Top-O-Texas won a third place plaque. A total of 53 trailers from both units "enjoyed the hospitality of Shamrock."

Seven area towns were represented in the Texas Plains Unit.

The initial 1986 rally was hosted by Floydada club members Sam/Audrey Spence, Lawrence/Jo Davis, J.W./Mary Day, Gene/Gladys Lawson, M.J./ Flora McNeill, Arthur/Mildred Wylie and David/Dorothy Campbell.

Site for the Thursday afternoon rendezvous was the First Baptist Church parking lot. It started about 2 p.m. when the first trailer arrived, and by 6 p.m. all 27 trailers were parked. Visitors and hosts "enjoyed an evening of good food, fellowship and games in the community room of First National Bank."

THE FLOYDADA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE would like to remind all Floydada business firms that there is a short time left to complete their paint up, repair and modernization program for their business. In December each Floydada business firm received a questionnaire asking them to adopt a modernization and improvement project for their business for the Sesquicentennial year in 1986. Thirty-five business firms and city organizations returned their questionnaire to the Chamber of Commerce office. "There were many good projects proposed by our business firms for the improvement of the business community" Chamber Manager Nettie Ruth Whittle said. "We hope that each business will complete their adopted projects by April 30." Several Floydada business firms have completed their improvement plans this winter. The Hesperian has published pictures of many of these business modernization projects. The Hesperian has begun renovation of the building front. Terry Reeves and Mike Reeves are doing the work and are shown in the picture above as they dismantle the existing front.

German friends get a taste of West Texas

DONNIE BYBEE, Lockney, serves a Texas style chuck wagon dinner to the West German Bavarian Band, at one of their stops on their tour of Texas. They were given a real taste of West Texas at the Mott Line Camp of the Burleson Ranch.

Heart Association honors memory of loved ones

The American Heart Association helps residents of Floyd County honor the memory of loved ones, neighbors, or business associates through the gift of life.

Olin Watson is this year's Chairman of the Floyd County Division's Memorial Program.

"A memorial contribution is a meaningful way to tell the family of the deceased that the life that has just passed will continue to live on through the work of the Association," Watson said.

For a contribution to the American Heart Association. Watson sends an appropriate card from the donor to the recipient of the donor's choice. The person receiving the card also receives a thank you card to mail back to the donor acknowledging the donor's thoughtfulness.

The program benefits many people. The donor is assured that a card will be sent to the friend or relative. The recipient receives a thank-you card to mail back to the donor. And the American Heart Association receives valuable support needed for its lifesaving efforts through research, professional and public 'education, and community programs.

In 1985, the American Heart Association received $956 in memorial contributions from residents of Floyd County. Throughout Texas, over $1.2 million was received through memorials to aid in the fight against our number one killer, heart disease.

"Besides the death of a loved one, a wedding anniversary, birthday, or an illness or many other occasions can be remembered with a gift to the American Heart Association," Watson said.

CONTRACTOR OF THE OF TH

The sentiments on the cards are appropriate for a variety of occasions.

"The amount of the contribution is not disclosed to the recipient of the card. The contribution can be from one individual or from many, such as a family or a group of employees," he said.

Memorial contributions can be made by contacting Mr. Olin Watson, Jr., 907 West Jackson, Floydada, Texas 79235.

Square Dance News

Whirlers had over nine squares at the student halfway dance Saturday night. We had visitors from Hale Center, Plainview, Lubbock, Roaring Springs, and Dimmitt and spectators from Lockney, Floydada and Plainview.

The German Friends of Texas Tour organized by Dr. Meredith McClain of Texas Tech University tarried briefly in Motley County on March 11. Forty-seven members of a West German Bavarian Band were feted with a chuckwagon dinner, branding, a tour of the Mott Line Camp and Buckskinner tipi encampment. The branding as well as the meal of sourdough biscuits, brisket, red beans, potato salad, and cobbler was accompanied by the grit from a gusty dust storm, giving the Western enthusiasts a "real taste" of West Texas.

The visitors were given a chance to ride a gentle horse, a mule drawn school wagon, and a horse drawn buggy, shoot a black powder muzzle loader, and sit in a cozy Indian tipi on a buffalo hide bed. Though many of the West Germans understood some English, only a handful spoke English well enough to converse or translate so smiles and gestures were the order of the day. After lunch was missed, many Germans were found back at the bus enjoying a can of their traditional beer, stashed handily under the seats.

Each visitor was presented with a souvenir booklet of the Mott Line Camp which included pictures from its early days and with a sample of old barbed wire.

Planned as a sesquicentennial event for the General James Smith Chapter of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, members of that chapter were assisted by a small group of dedicated local and out-of-town volunteers including the following:

Mollie Burleson, owner of Mott Camp, and Cobbler Maker; Eddie Fortenberry, chuckwagon cook; Donnie Bybee, hoodlum; J.B. Cooper, fiddler; Morris Stephens, guitarist; Judge Jay Johnson, history of Mott Camp; Judge Billy Joe Whitaker, history of county; Mickey Bostick, 'Cretia Campbell, Billie Ruth Lackey, Jaynette Harrison, Joy Fulton, Amelia Fortenberry, quartermasters; Dorothy Merrell; Alta Belew; Fish Wilson; Lindsey Lackey. Harold Campbell, buggy; Kirk Brock and Don Tugwell, school wagon; Vance Campbell, line camp; S.C. Burleson, branding crew chief; Bundy Campbell, header and heeler; crew members Dale Goen, Steve Jones, Lewis Bostick, Steve Bostick, Mitch Ross, Tom Ross, Craig Dubois, Laron Fulton.

Betty Campbell, Mott camp hostess, from the Mary McCoy Baines Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution; Grace Campbell and Josephine Hamilton, quilters from the El Progresso Club of Federated Women's Clubs using the quilt and frame of Lorene Lancaster.

Dale and Lilla Jones and children Angie and Travis, Andy Caire, and John Burns, members of the Free Trappers Buckskinners Club of Lubbock.

O'Veta Blackburn, President of the General James Smith Chapter of The Daughters of the Republic of Texas; and members Beverly Vinson, Carrla Jones, Beverly Brock, Lou Burleson and Marisue Potts.

Jo Goen and Jack Robertson acted as official photographers.

Mitchell elected association director

In a recent election, Warren Mitchell of Lockney was named Floyd County director of National Grain Sorghum Producers Association. He is to serve a two-year term.

Mitchell will represent Floyd County to the district GSPA board, work on sorghum production problems within the county and help build membership and leadership of GSPA. He is encouraged to appoint community representatives within the county to advise and assist him.

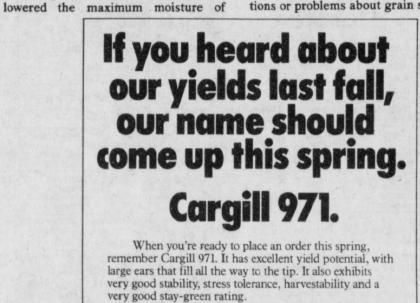

The main objective of GSPA has always been to work for better prices through market development. GSPA promotes sorghum in the export market through the U.S. Feed Grains Council and also conducts specific sorghum promotion which cannot be done by the Council.

In the past year, GSPA and the council have conducted sorghum promotion projects in Mexico, Egypt, Algeria, and the PRC. Market development teams and market and feeding information have been exchanged with more than a dozen other countries.

GSPA promotes the use of sorghum in the U.S. by working with livestock feeding industries and sponsoring research and demonstrations to prove the value of sorghum. The association ment and administration of farm programs. The 1985 Farm Bill, as originally announced, contained some regulations which would have been disastrous to sorghum producers. Through the efforts of National GSPA, these provisions were removed. National GSPA was effective in stopping the enactment of CCC regulations which would have CCC-stored grain from 14 percent to 13 percent.

Mitchell will serve as a representative of Floyd County to the district GSPA board in setting policies. His recommendations will be forwarded to the national board. Sorghum producers in Floyd County are encouraged to contact him with any recommendations, questions or problems about grain sorghum.

Productivity valuation may lower farm and ranch taxes

Texas law provides farmers and ranchers with a way to lower their property taxes, known as productivity valuation.

If you qualify, your agricultural land will be taxed on its capacity to produce crops or livestock, instead of its value on the real estate market. Productivity valuation can lower the taxable value of your land, and lower your property taxes as a result.

If your land has never received productivity valuation, you must apply to the appraisal district by April 30 to get tax benefits for 1986. You can choose from two types of productivity valuation.

If your land already receives open-

Two weeks to register for primary balloting

May anyone not now registered to vote cast a ballot in either the Democratic or Re-

The answer is "yes", if that individual registers before April 4, according to Jonelle Fawver, Floyd County tax assessor-collector and also voter registrar. This means that prospective voters have two weeks remaining to become eligible.

They may register in the county tax assessor-collector office during regular business hours. Someone will be available to assist with the registration.

Mrs. Fawver reminds prospective voters to list current residency address on the form: house number, street name or community.

Any registered young voter will be eligible to cast a ballot in a primary if that individual's 18th birthday falls on or before May 2. State law stipulates that one becomes eligible to vote on the day before the anniversary of that person's

CLIFTON ALLRED

Funeral services for Clifton High Allred, 56, of Amarillo were held Monday at 10 a.m. in Blackburn-Shaw Martin Road Chapel. The Rev. Gary Kellison, pastor of Full Gospel Temple, officiated. Graveside services were at 2 p.m. Monday in the Quail Cemetery in Quail.

Allred, a former Lockney resident, died Friday after a lengthy illness.

CENTER NEWS

By Mrs. J.E. Green

Sunday, March 9:

and and a second and a second of the

My! I am home again after having left December 29. All my children and some grandchildren were home. Those here included Mr. and Mrs. Vic Green of Plainview and Steve of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Green of Eunice, New Mexico and son, Cody, Mr. and Mrs. Don Green of Big Spring, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Green of Peralta, New Mexico, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Latta of Floydada and daughter, Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Ryman and Jay, Jamie, Beth and Nancy, Mrs. Richard Byrd of Abilene, Susan Ryman of San Antonio, Doug Chandler Jr. of Abilene, Kenneth Mark Green of Cincinnati, Ohio and Annie Green of Brownwood. This was a pretty day after many bad days. Late that evening I found myself in the Ryman van on the way to Hubbard. All my relatives are so nice to me and such good cooks. But I like to be at home, too. I enjoyed being in Calvary Church today and in Sunday school.

Sue and Vic did not come Saturday. They had a weekend date with Clyde and Ouita. I know they had a good time. I spent about eight weeks mostly with Margaret and family still at home. I did not get to see Tarp's widow. She was visiting her kids, no doubt like me.

I spent some time in Abilene. I am glad, they are closer to me there. I have a new great-grandson over a month old. I was at Donna and Richard Byrd's where Don Clark picked me up Saturday morning and I spent Saturday night with them at Big Spring. He brought me home Sunday morning, but too late for church. But I was at Calvary this morning.

I was so sorry to see Mrs. Meredith's picture in the paper. She was one of my good neighbors when we lived at Center. My sympathy to loved ones left behind. Surely I can write news again, I am hard of hearing and can hardly see, but must do something about it.

Time flies. Spring will soon be here. I enjoyed my chat with Mrs. Clyde Frizzell.

Farming requires multi-skills

Today, successful farming requires immense knowledge and management skill from American agribusinessmen and women.

The three basic "inputs" for agricultural production are land, labor and capital.

Land is no longer the major production tool. The productivity of the land now depends upon the skill and knowledge with which capital is applied -- the use of mechanical power and machinery, fertilizer, lime, better seed, pest control chemicals, and the technology applied to conserve and enhance the land while in productive use.

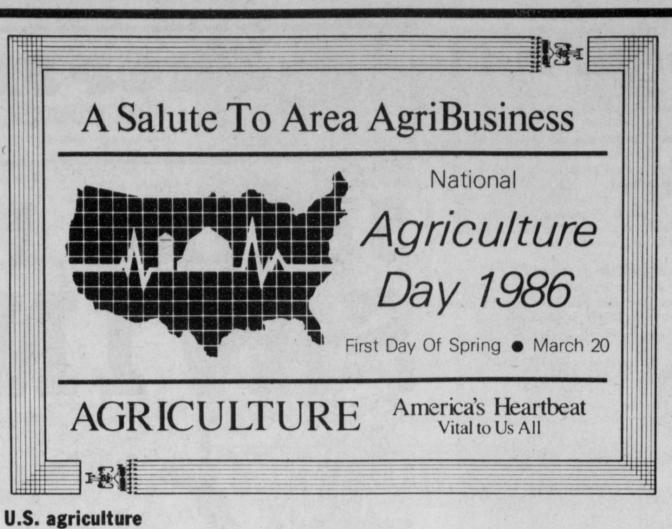

The total volume of all resources used in agriculture -- land, labor, machinery, and supplies -- has changed little since 1955.

The composition of inputs, however, has changed drastically as farmers have struggled to be more productive and more efficient. Farm labor inputs have declined rapidly; farm real estate has remained relatively constant. All other inputs, chiefly purchased, have increased rapidly. Purchased inputs are nearly 64 percent greater than in 1955; nonpurchased inputs have declined 40 percent.

The management of these inputs and resources demands increasing skill and knowledge from U.S. farmers. Farming today is a very complex business.

Ag industry big employer

American agriculture employs more workers than any manufacturing industry. Only government and the construction, trade, finance and service industries employ more people than agriculture, and agriculture's role as a purchaser of inputs or supplier of its output looms large in several of those.

Heartbeat of America's economy

At the time of the American Revolution the United States was almost totally agrarian. Ninety percent of our population was engaged in farming and 60 percent of income went for food. Almost all our exports were agricultural products, and the basic structure of society depended on the agrarian economy.

Through time the U.S. agricultural system has produced an increasing abundance of food and fiber, using relatively fewer resources. The unparalleled productivity gains in American agriculture have resulted in a broader choice of nutritious food available for a declining portion of income

Today Americans spend less than 17 percent of family income on food. Only 3 percent of our labor force is engaged directly in farming. And agricultural products now account Americans. Where just 10 years ago for only about 20 percent of total exone farm worker supplied food and ports. The importance of farming fiber for 47 people, he now supplies seems to have diminished. But it enough for 78, up from a mere seven would be erroneous to conclude that persons at the beginning of this cenagriculture is no longer vitally imtury. Total agricultural output has portant to our economy. The food more than doubled in the past 50 and agricultural sector -- as a source years, though the agricultural land Food processing, of course, is of productivity gains, a user of resources, and a source of employment -- remains large and important ductivity have contributed to the tor has become more fully integrated by any standard. Increased agricultural productivity, the rise in output per unit of input, of the chemical, machinery, finance, has been a major contributor to improved living standards for creased productivity has facilitated the transfer of production workers from agriculture into industrial and service industries, expanding the supply of nonfood goods and services, and enabling our economy to meet the new demands of consumers.

The great strides in productivity have been accompanied by major changes in the input mix. From the earliest periods of American history hand power gave way to horsepower then to mechanical power, and ultimately to "science power." New technologies introduced over the past 50 years have resulted in a nearly fif-, teenfold increase in fertilizer use, a fivefold increase in tractor numbers, and a tenfold increase in tractor horsepower used in farming. Purchased inputs are 2.6 times their 1930 levels and farm labor input only 30 percent of 1930 levels. Farms are larger and significantly more dependent on capital and purchases from the nonfarm economy.

As farming has come to rely more

Annual Ag Day salutes farmers

Thursday, March 20, is AGRICULTURE Day in the United States. Each year, the Agriculture Council Of American Education Committee designates the first day of Spring as a special day to salute the nation's producers of food and fiber.

American farmers and stockmen deserve this special recognition for they make an immense contribution to our country's economic prosperity and the high standard of living enjoyed by Americans.

Any way you cut it, farmers are important to the U.S. and its citizens. Here are a few reasons why:

• Agriculture employs more workers than any manufacturing industry. The flow of farm products -- in addition to related dollar purchases and expenditures -- requires the services of nearly 23 million people, a full 20 percent of the labor force throughout the U.S. economy.

• Annually, farm operators spend about $131 billion for goods and services to produce crops and livestock. Hence, farmers are important consumers as well as producers.

 American farmers today produce over 76 percent more crop output on the same number of acres than did their fathers. One farmworker now supplies enough food and fiber for 78 people. Only 10 years ago, the farmworker was producing enough for 47.

• The increased productivity and efficiency of American agriculture has contributed largely to a higher standard of living. Today Americans spend less than 17 percent of family income for food compared to 28 percent in 1930. · Agricultural exports totalled $38 billion in 1984 and generated $80 billion of economic activity in the U.S. economy.

Consumers benefit from farm efficiency

American farmers are efficient producers, a key fact that translates into more buying power for the consumer.

American farmers today produce over 76 percent more crop output on the same number of acres than did their fathers. Today, one hour of farm labor produces 14 times as much food and other crops as it did in the 1919-21 period.

One farmworker now supplies enough food and fiber for 78 people. Only 10 years ago, the farmworker was producing enough for 47.

Because of the farmer's efficient output, we can enjoy a satisfying quantity and variety of food.

And despite recent rises in food prices, family income buys considerably more food today than 30 years ago, partly because agriculture has become much more efficient and partly because consumer incomes have risen faster than food prices.

The tremendous productivity and efficiency in the U.S. food and fiber system also equates to lower food prices for American consumers than others throughout the world.

Farmers are consumers, too

Like everyone else, the American farmer is a consumer as well as a producer. And farmer purchases to support production agriculture alone significantly impact the nation's economy

Annually, farm operators spend about $131 billion for goods and services to produce crops and livestock.

Farmer's annual purchases include:

• $13.2 billion for farm tractors and other motor vehicles, machinery and equipment. About 150,000 employees are required to produce highly related to agriculture, as are textiles, transportation and trade -all users or marketers of agriculture's output. Also, agriculture is an important customer real estate, and service industries.

'85 farm receipts steady, net income posts decline

Texas farmers sold about the same level of agricultural commodities in 1985 as a year earlier, but net income continued to decline.

Cash receipts from the sale of farm and ranch products totaled about $10.1 billion last year, according to estimates by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. At the same time, net income dropped to about $1.4 billion, down from just over $2 billion in 1984.

While the level of cash receipts has been fairly steady over the past five years, net farm income for 1985 is estimated to be the lowest since 1980.

"Large crop and livestock supplies and reduced exports again resulted in low prices to farmers and ranchers during 1985," points out Dr. Carl Anderson, Extension Service economist. "At the same time, costs of energy, chemicals, interest and other production inputs remained high and pushed farm income lower."

Good yields resulting from favorable weather conditions boosted cash receipts from crops in 1985 while a weak market hurt the livestock industry, notes Anderson. Receipts from greenhouse and nursery stock, fruits and nuts, and agriculturally related enterprises such as outdoor recreation and hunting posted sizeable gains.

Estimated 1985 cash receipts from major commodities were as follows: beef cattle, $4,400,000,000; cotton and cottonseed, $977,218,000; poultry, $548,000,000; dairy, $530,000,000; wheat, $528,530,000; sorghum, $447,669,000; vegetables $412,897,000; related income (horses, fish farming, hunting leases and recreation $409,921,000; nursery $400,000,000; corn, $332.641.000; forestry. $255,000.000; sheep and goats, $189,566,000; rice, $144,000,000; peanuts, $108,000,000; swine, $75,342,000; soybeans, $50,148,000; pecans, $36,000,000; peaches and plums, $11,203,000; and citrus, $4,200,000.

Texas is expected to rank second among states in cash receipts in 1985 as it did in 1984, notes Anderson. It ranks first in sales of cattle and calves, sheep and wool, goats and mohair, cotton, cabbage, spinach, value of farm real estate, number of farms and ranches, and farm and ranch acreage.

"With a strong livestock and crop base, the future for Texas agriculture is favorable when compared to other states," Anderson emphasizes. "Agriculture is one of the most important industries in Texas as it provides jobs for more than 20 percent of the state's work force. Including all agribusiness phases, agricultural production added some $32 billion in economic activity to the state in 1985.

"The potential for Texas agriculture remains strong," adds the economist. "Major efforts by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, both agencies of the Texas A&M University System, support the development of the state's agricultural industry to its greatest potential. Agriculture in Texas enjoys a relatively warm climate, productive soils, and excellent export and transportation facilities."

VISITS TEXAS FARM BUREAU WACO-Doug Galloway [left], of Floydada, president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau, visited the Texas Farm Bureau headquarters in Waco Wednesday, February 19 on a one-day orientation trip with other county presidents from this area. Steve Cochran, TFB Area Field Representative, explains television production facilities in the organization's six-story state office building. Doug Galloway and the other new county presidents were brought to Waco on the TFB company airplane for an orientation session on Farm Bureau programs and services.

For the first time in the 35-year history of the High Plains Water District the depth-to-water level measurments made in the district's observation well network show a "0" average change from January 1985 to January 1986. In other words, the volume of water in storage in the district's service area as of January 1986 is the same as it was in January 1985.

Measurements of the depth-to-water were taken in January and February in 950 privately-owned water-level observation wells located throughout the district's 15-county service area.

Individual county depth-to-water level measurements show either a small decline in the water level, or an actual rise in the water level for the one-year average

Liquid Fertilizer

Average depth-to-water level measurements in Floyd County show a rise from 1985 to 1986. For the 97 wells measured in the county, the average change from 1985 to 1986 was a rise of 0.02 of a foot.

This compares favorably with the 10-year average change in Floyd County of a decline of 1.34 feet, the five-year average change of 0.50 of a foot decline, and a three-year average change of 0.40 of a foot decline.

District Geologist Don McReynolds notes, "In most counties the rate of decline in the water table has been significantly decreased, particularly in the last five years. A combination of non-use, increased energy costs and fortunate rains at opportune times has allowed the aquifer to replenish itself."

With a theme of "Four Wheel Drive Pride," Steiger Tractor, Inc. hosted over 3000 dealers and farmers from all over the world in Fargo, recently including Steve Brown, manager of Brown's Implement and one farmer from the Floyd County area.

On consecutive days from January 20 through the end of the month, attendees at the show had an opportunity to see the new 1000 Series tractors, visit with Irvin Aal, president and CEO of Steiger, and tour the Fargo manufacturing plant for the four-wheel-drive tractors.

The 1000 Series Steigers, five models ranging from the 190-horsepower Puma 1000 to the 375-horsepower Lion 1000, represent a new three frame concept of tractor manufacturing, with each model sharing many common components. Each tractor is a fulltime four-wheeldrive tractor with easy-access cab, 51 square feet of tinted glass, adjustable 12-position seating, tilt/telescope steering wheel, on-board microprocessor that provides electronic readouts on major functions and diagnoses itself, and a full powershift 12 speed transmission that is electronically controlled.

A center for much interest at the Fargo show was the Puma 1000, which features a steerable front axle option and bar axles for making minor adjustments during row crop work. The Bearcat 1000 at 235 engine horsepower,

Property tax renditions protect taxpayers

A rendition is a report to the appraisal district that lists all the taxable property you own or control on January 1, 1986. You may also give your opinion of the property's value, if you wish.

You must file a rendition if you own tangible personal property used to produce income-such as the machinery and equipment used by a business.

The appraisal district may require any taxpayer to file a rendition by sending the taxpayer a written notice and a rendition form.

You may want to file a rendition, even if you aren't required to file, to preserve some of your rights as a taxpayer: *You put your correct mailing address on record so your tax bills will go

*You can put your own opinion of your property's value on record. If the appraisal district then places a higher value on your property, it must notify you in writing of the higher value and explain how you can protest that value to the appraisal review board.

*By filing a special type of rendition called a report of decreased value, you can notify the appraisal district of significant damage to your property that occurred in 1985. The district will send someone to verify the damage and take it into account when assigning a 1986 value to your property.

File renditions with your local appraisal district at the address shown below. Forms are available at this office.

The new deadline for 1986 renditions is March 31. You can get an extra 30 days if you ask for it in writing before the March 31 deadline.
