Heavy primary turnout anticipated

While statewide races appear more docile than normal, local attention in the Democratic Primary this Saturday centers around district, county and precinct races.

Polls open at 7 a.m. and remain open for 12 hours — until 7 p.m. — to accommodate registered voters who wish to cast ballots at 16 Floyd County boxes. Early indications point toward relative heavy turnouts.

One of the feature races pits incumbent George W. Miller against David Cave for judge of the 110th District. The public has been discussing this encounter for weeks.

Three aspirants are seeking to succeed Mary McPherson, who is not a candidate for re-election, as district clerk. The trio consists of Linda Jackson, Barbara Edwards and Kathy Green, listed in order of appearance on the ballot.

Two precinct and one justice of the peace races also are attracting attention in their respective areas.

COMMISSIONERS RACES

Incumbent Precinct Four commissioner Jack Lackey faces challenges from two opponents: Don Green and Delfino Pesina. This precinct involves basically the southeast section of Floyd County.

In the county's northwest area, Jerry

Williams and Floyd Jackson are asking for a four-year term as commissioner of Precinct Two. The present officeholder, Bob Jarrett, is not seeking another term.

A two-man contest is underway for justice of the peace in Precincts Two and Three. The duo is C.L. (Mike) Mooney and Bill Fewell. Mooney currently is serving by appointment. The name of Garland Sams also appears on the ballot, but he has withdrawn from the race.

On the state level, five opponents are attempting to wrestle the Democratic Party nomination from incumbent Governor Mark White. Challengers are Bobby Locke, Ron Slover, Andrew C. Briscoe III, A. Don Crowder and Sheila Bilyeu.

WHITE CHALLENGED

Briscoe and Crowder appear to be the most serious challengers to White.

237 absentee ballots

"If absentee balloting is any indication," a county official observed late Tuesday afternoon, Saturday's primary election turnout should be a bumper crop.

When absentee voting concluded at 5 p.m. Tuesday, the county totaled 237 ballots, according to County Clerk Margaret Collier. This included 203 persons voting in the Democratic Primary and 34 in the Republican Primary.

This year's absentee total is over three times the 74 cast two years ago in the primary. Seventy-six absentee ballots were registered in 1976.

Given the absentee count and the interest indicated in the election, officials are bracing for the probability of a heavy turnout Saturday.

One source informed this newspaper that members of a local travel club had voted absentee, which contributed somewhat to the heavy total.

Gubernatorial chase Republican spotlight

With a strong, three-man field seeking the party's gubernatorial nomination, Texas Republicans are anticipating a state-wide cross-over of persons who normally voted Democratic to bolster their primary turnout on Saturday.

One voting box will be located in each of Floyd County's four commissioners' precincts, according to county Republican chairman Albert Scheele. He says that registered voters should vote within their own precinct.

Republican balloting will be from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. in the following locations:

Voting precincts one, three, four, 16, 22, 23 and 24 -- Agricultural Extension Building, Floydada; Mac Willson, judge

Voting precincts five, seven, eight and 18 -- Lockney Junior High School entrance; Ray Gant, election judge

Precincts nine, 11, 17 -- South Plains School; Don Probasco, election judge

Precincts 13 and 20 -- Dougherty School; Lucy Eastham, election judge

Scheele reminds the public that they may vote in either the Republican or the Democratic Primary and are not required to vote for the same party in the General Election this November.

Contesting for the party's gubernatorial nomination are former Governor Bill Clements; Kent Hance, who formerly served as a state senator and U.S. representative from the South Plains area and was a candidate for U.S. Senate before switching from the Democratic to Republican party in recent months; and Tom Loeffler, a U.S. representative.

By Ken Towery

Sometimes one can try too hard. We left Austin Saturday morning about 4 o'clock, determined to get to Floydada in time for the annual noon meeting of Lighthouse Electric. A little while later, between Aspermont and Guthrie, we stopped for a chat with a nice young trooper who works for the Texas Department of Public Safety. He suggested that a little device in his car indicated we were driving 72 miles per hour. He wanted to know if there was an emergency somewhere. We replied that there was no emergency, other than the fact that we were trying to get to Floyd County in time for the meeting referred to above. He evidently did not think that was sufficient reason for excessive speed, but he did extend an invitation for us to visit with a lady who runs the Justice of Peace office in Aspermont in the near future to discuss the matter a little further. So we didn't get to the meeting in time for the beginning, but we were in time for some excellent food, good music and fellowship with those who had enough sense to allow sufficient time for travel.

Judging from absentee voting in Saturday's election, we can anticipate very heavy returns in Floyd County. Certainly at this stage there does not appear to be any of that commodity called "apathy" among the voters. All they needed was something to stir their interest, and it has been stirred.

Spirited races have developed for a number of offices, and in some we would even describe the discussions as "robust." In this, the local races may be a harbinger of what will take place on the state level once the primaries are settled. Then the attention will be focused primarily on the governor's race, where Mark White will evidently be fighting for survival. We look for him to have little trouble winning his party's primary, but if statewide polls are anywhere close to being accurate, he will be exceedingly lucky to get another lease on the office he now holds. The surveys indicate there has

Jail escapee not dangerous

While her attorney was working out final details on a plea Tuesday afternoon, a 17-year-old Lockney forger suspect walked out of ante room at the district attorney's second story courthouse office. Brenda Joyce Mitchell remained at large Wednesday morning.

Sheriff Fred Cardinal says the escapee is not considered dangerous. "She is just a scared girl."

Miss Mitchell conferred with her attorney before the attorney left the ante room to talk with District Attorney Randy Hollums. One officer was inside the DA's office and another was in the investigator's office, with neither being aware that the attorney had left the room. The Hesperian was informed.

Hollums' secretary had gone downstairs on an errand. The suspect presumably exited through the west door of the courthouse. Two witnesses told Sheriff Cardinal later that they saw her on the south side of the courthouse, carrying her shoes.

Miss Mitchell was being held on forgery charges, stemming from a "hot check" incident.

Hollums told this newspaper: "She would have received prison time anyway; now, she's in worse trouble."

Sesquicentennial flavor for old settlers reunion

Bearing a Sesquicentennial flavor, Floyd County Pioneers Reunion officials are planning a bevy of activities for the annual event which is well known to many persons as "old settlers reunion."

Saturday, May 24, is date for the 55th annual reunion, according to Lon Davis, president of FCPR. The gathering is staged the fourth Saturday of each May.

From the morning flag raising until late Saturday night, a variety of activities for all ages are being planned. Most events are to be on or near the courthouse square in Floydada.

"Emphasis is being placed on using Texas Sesquicentennial as the parade theme," Davis states. "We are hoping to increase the scope of our parade by 50 percent over the past."

Lisa Mosley (Lockney and north part of the county) and Janice McCandless (Floydada and south portion of the county) are contacting "businesses, sororities and study clubs to encourage them to enter the parade."

Chairmen for the parade, scheduled to begin at 2:30 p.m., are C.O. Lyles and H.S. Waller. One hour has been allotted for the event.

Reunion officials are hoping for a special segment in the parade: "team-drawn old vehicles." Included will be wagons, sulkys, buggies, stage coaches and other vehicles.

COUNTRY CARAVAN

Country Caravan, a country-western musical program which has been well received in previous reunion appearances, has a firm commitment to appear at the May 24 reunion. It is scheduled from 3:30 until 5 p.m. — immediately following the parade — on the south side of the courthouse.

Another feature will be a "Floyd County roping," slated for 6 p.m. at the roping grounds in southeast Floydada. Floyd County Pioneer Reunion is sponsoring the roping.

Tommy Assiter will be auctioneer for an auction from 1 to 2:30 p.m. All proceeds benefit the Pioneer Reunion.

The public is encouraged to donate items for the auction and to notify Assiter or Bill Daniel to notify them of the contributions.

NOON LUNCHEON

Serving of the barbecue lunch begins at 11:30. G.L. Fawver is chairman of the meal.

Following the flag raising on the courthouse square with an honor guard will be a business meeting and officer election. Next is the memorial service.

"Such exhibits as a gun and knife show, saddle, spurs and bits exhibit, a Longhorn cattle exhibit, and arts and crafts booths in downtown Floydada other than on the square" are other morning features. Musical groups are expected to entertain prior to noon.

Two country and western dances are on tap for Saturday night. Anyone who purchases a ticket may attend "either or both." Aldine Williams is chairman for the dances, one on the south pavilion at the courthouse and the other at Massie Activity Center.

Other reunion features are still in the planning stage. These and other ideas were discussed during a Monday night meeting. Other planning sessions are anticipated.

Comprising the board are past presidents of the FCPR organization, who hail from various parts of the county.

Davis points out that "the May 24 date precedes the advent of the Sesquicentennial wagon train in Matador on Monday, May 26."

Pre-registration for summer school scheduled for May 6

Pre-registration for summer school and the 1986-87 school year will be from 1-3:00 p.m. Tuesday, May 6, at A.B. Duncan Elementary School.

Parents are asked to bring your child's birth certificate and health records.

Summer school will consist of half-day classes beginning June 30, 1986, for eight weeks. These are for children with limited English speaking ability and who will be eligible for kindergarten or first grade in September 1986.

There will be no transportation or meals provided for these classes.

Pre-kindergarten will be for children who will be four years old before September 1, 1986 and who are unable to speak and understand English, and for those children from a family which would qualify for FREE meals.

Kindergarten is for children five years old before September 1, 1986. Children in school now do not need to be enrolled.

Ag program participation high for most commodities

Ninety-one percent of the Floyd County corn acreage has been registered for the 1986 farm program, but only 69 percent of the grain sorghum acreage was signed for participation.

According to county ASCS Supervisor Tom Moore, cotton was the most popular commodity for the county. Ninety-seven and a half percent of the cotton base acres and 94 percent of the producers entered the program.

Of the 253,909 base cotton acres, 247,536 were enrolled. Registration concluded Friday.

Wheat, which has the county's second largest base acreage, had 71 percent of producers and 84 percent of acreage signed for the program.

Of the 142,220 base wheat acres, 120,118 acres were included in the program.

Ninety-one percent of the corn acreage and 84 percent of the corn producers were registered, according to Moore. He says 12,901 of the 14,053 base acres are included.

While grain sorghum acreage was the lowest for participation, the ASCS supervisor says there are various reasons for this action. He believes that some producers "didn't sign because they didn't have adequate base to plant the amount of seed milo allowed" by companies for whom local farmers grow.

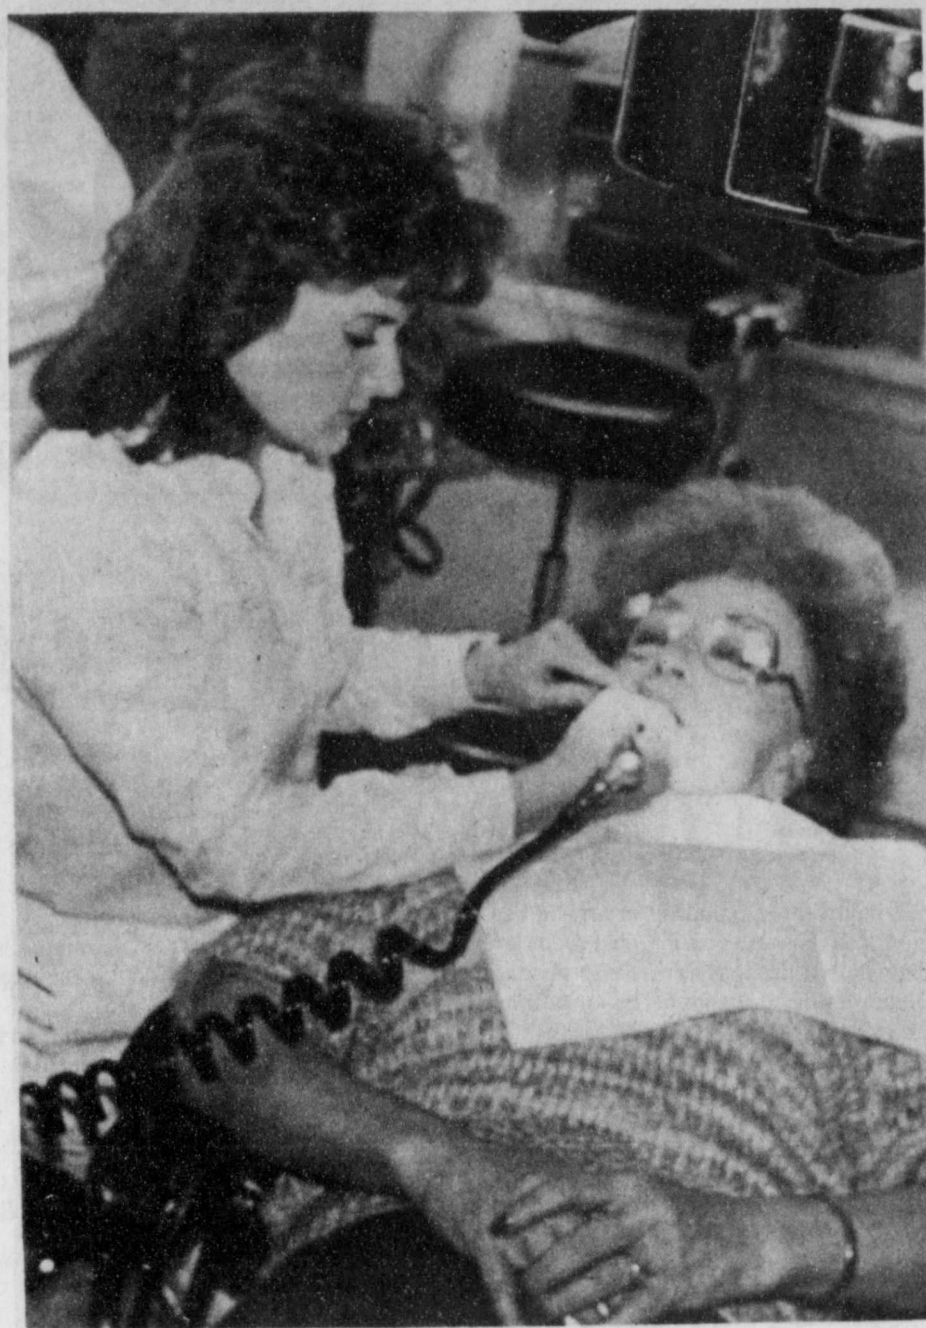

Grain sorghum and corn plantings "may be interchanged."

Only 69 percent of Floyd County's grain sorghum acreage and 58 percent of her producers were registered for the '86 farm program. Participating acres number 25,847 from a base acreage of 37,125.

been a steady erosion of White's statewide strength during the past two years, to the point where he can now be beaten by any of the Republicans currently contesting for a chance to oppose him in November. We find it somewhat strange that a politician as skillful as White should see his support erode so rapidly. But if the polls are to be believed his loss of support is not so strange after all. They indicate, among other things, that a majority of Texas voters have simply decided that White is not to be believed. The governor has lost their trust, and trust is a powerful motivator, as far as voters are concerned. Once that trust is lost, the promises of any politician become essentially irrelevant.

Regardless, we hope to see a heavy turnout of voters Saturday. All elections are important. Some are just more important than others. This one is very important, for it will not only determine a number of local races, it will set the stage for what will occur in November. While we have some ideas about how we would like to see the Republican gubernatorial contest come out, we don't want to encourage conservatives to abandon the Democratic primary, locally, to influence that outcome. Those who vote in the primary of any political party are free legally, morally, and ethically to vote as they please in November. We have not regressed, fortunately, to the point where we must register as legal members of one party or the other, and be herded around by party bosses like a bunch of sheep. Mighty efforts were back in the fifties to establish that kind of system in Texas. It was made by politicians who were trying to "purify" the Democratic party by driving all the conservatives over into the Republican party. They succeeded beyond their dreams in some aspects of their crusade, but the closest thing to party registration they achieved was the prohibition of "crossover" voting, wherein a voter could vote in one party's primary and then vote in the other party's runoff primary. That became illegal. But in Texas we can freely choose which primary we wish to vote in as long as we do not engage in both party's primary's in the same election. When the November general election comes around we, as voters, are free to pick and choose as we wish.

We note last week's First National Bank ad, in which they appealed for a good, slow, soaking rain, preferably between two and four inches. By press time a week later scattered rainfall fell across the county. Some folks got about three tenths, while much heavier rains fell Wednesday morning in the Southeastern part of the county. All of which proves what our ads are read by those who count.

P.S. Thank you, Lord.

Cities receive April sales tax rebate

Area cities received checks from State Comptroller Bob Bullock last week returning the 1% city tax revenues collected in February to the municipalities.

Floydada received a check in the amount of $4,330.18. This amount brings the total rebates received in 1986 to $30,803.30. This total represents a decrease in revenue of 8.31% from the rebates at this time in 1985.

Lockney's rebate totaled $2,180.35, bringing their total for the year to $13,577.95. This amount represents a decrease from rebates in 1985 of 6.86%.

Other cities in the area receiving rebates included: Silverton, up 7.30%; Crosbyton, down 16.57%; Plainview, up 9.25%; Lubbock, up 2.04%; and Matador, up 7.52%.

CHANGES NOTED

Some changes in commissioners' and voting precinct lines have been made. Basically, these include:

- Baker #13 and Southeast Floydada #23 -- The area of the former Lakeview Precinct #15, previously added to Southeast Floydada, has now been shifted to Baker Precinct #13.
- Southeast Floydada #23 and Southwest Floydada #1 -- Within the city limits of Floydada, the area south of Virginia Street and east of Third Street as far south as Crockett Street has been detached from Southwest Floydada and added to Southeast Floydada.
- Southwest Floydada #1 and McCoy #22 -- The area of the former Starkey Precinct #2, previously added to Southwest Floydada, has now been shifted to McCoy #22.

Southwest Floydada #1 and Northeast Floydada #24 -- The area of the former Northwest Floydada #19 north of Virginia Street, west of Third Street and west of U.S. Highway 70 has been added to Southwest Floydada; the remaining area of Northwest Floydada, lying north of Virginia Street and east of Third Street and east of Highway 70, has been added to Northeast Floydada, in effect abolishing Northwest Floydada #19.

East Lockney #5, West Lockney #18 and Lone Star #8 -- East Lockney has been drastically reduced in size and has been transferred to commissioner's Precinct #2 to commissioner's Precinct #3. Except for an enclave extending east from Main Street to include Lockney General Hospital and a similar enclave one block wide north and south, extending east from Main Street to include the west half of the City Hall, Main Street remains the boundary between East Lockney and West Lockney from the north city limits south to Shurbet Street; all that part of East Lockney south of Shurbet Street, west of

Fishing still good at Mackenzie Lake

Crappie fishing is still good using minnows and jigs. Chad Glenn of Tulia brought in two crappies that weighed well over a pound. Crappie are still in 6 ft. to 10 ft. of water.

Several nice bass were caught this past week using plastic worms up Cope Creek.

Hybrid strippers are starting to move some. Most are being caught off points in main part of the lake.

Catfish are picking up some. A 4 1/2 pounder was caught using live bait. Walleye are still slow.

One voter, one primary

One voter, one primary! That is one of many regulations of the Texas Election Code.

Contrary to opinions of some individuals, a voter is allowed to cast his/her ballot in either the Democratic or the Republican primary, but not both. In addition, that individual is not permitted to vote in one primary and then move to the rival party's runoff.

Voting in both primaries constitutes a Class "C" misdemeanor, punishable by up to $200 fine.

A person's primary preference is not, however, binding in the general election. Voting in both primaries constitutes a Class "C" misdemeanor, punishable by up to $200 fine.

The Hesperian has been informed that "It has come to the attention of the Floyd County Democratic Executive Committee that certain residents of the county propose to vote in the forthcoming Democratic Primary and in the Republican Primary as well. Unfortunately, by the terms of Sections 162.013 and 162.014 of the 1985 Texas Election Code, a voter, having voted in the primary election of one political party in a particular year, cannot lawfully vote in the primary election of any other party in the same year; if he or she does so vote, his or her vote is void, and he or she commits a Class "C" misdemeanor punishable by fine of not to exceed $200.

"Since the poll lists of both the Democratic and the Republican Primaries, showing voted in each such primary, will be filed in the county clerk's office, it will be a simple matter to determine if any person voted in both primaries."

THE VOTERS HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW

WHAT IS GOING ON IN THE COURTHOUSE

1. George W. Miller knowingly violated his oath as judge by having served and profited from being executor of the Massie Estate when he knew he was violating the Rules of Conduct. I will abide by the Rules of Conduct that govern our judges.

2. Judges are sometimes reversed, but George W. Miller's inexcusable reversals were not on complicated cases, but on simple issues of law and fact. I will study the law and be prepared for trial.

3. George W. Miller has made unnecessary arbitrary appointments wasting the taxpayer's money. I will consult with our County Commissioners before making any appointments.

4. George W. Miller has failed to appoint Grand Juries at the beginning of the term and thereby denied citizens their constitutional rights to have access to a Grand Jury at all times without having to ask the District Attorney to present allegations of criminal activity. I will promptly call in the Grand Juries at each term so that justice may be done, and advise them they may perform their duties without interference from the District Attorney.

5. George W. Miller has postponed and delayed the collection of delinquent taxes by refusing to immediately sign the orders necessary for the collection of delinquent taxes resulting in some taxes not being collectible because the property has been removed from the Jurisdiction of the Court. The rules of Judicial Conduct request that a Judge promptly dispose of the business of the Court. I will strictly obey this rule.

6. Concerning violations of the Rules of Conduct and the numerous reversals of his judgments, the charges I have made against my opponent, George W. Miller, are true and come directly from the public records.

7. Some of George W. Miller's campaign expenses have been paid for by paign purposes. The taxpayers have not paid for any of my campaign and never will.

You have a right to know the facts. My opponent, George W. Miller, has not answered the charges, because he knows they are all true. The truth is not "Mud slinging." No public official, especially a judge, is above the law.

On May 3, you will for the first time in your life have the opportunity to vote against George Miller by voting for a candidate who needs the job, who will appreciate the job, and who will devote his time to making a diligent effort to fairly, impartially, efficiently and economically perform the duties of the office.

Bridal courtesies honors bride-elect of Kelby Sue

Miss Niki McAdams, bride-elect of Kelby Trent Sue, was honored with a miscellaneous bridal shower on the morning of April 19 in the home of Mrs. Peggy Probasco. Guests were greeted by Mrs. Probasco, Miss McAdams, Mrs. Martha Hartman, mother of the bride-elect and Mrs. Johnny B. Sue, mother of the prospective groom.

The serving table was decorated in the bride's chosen colors of emerald green and ivory. The table was covered by an antique ivory lace tablecloth underlaid with emerald green. The centerpiece consisted of a Hawaiian Sheffalera, adorned with small ivory flowers. The centerpiece was flanked on either side by emerald green tapers.

The hostesses presented Niki with a set of stainless steel mixing bowls and two Royal Doulton "Flora Dora" vegetable bowls. The hostesses for the occasion were Miss Janet Millam, Mmes: Joe Richard Noland, Keith Patzer, C.O. Woody, Jakey Younger, Fred Thayer, Gordon Hambright, Elmer Dean Williams, John McKinney, Mary Lewis, Eric Cornelius, Peggy Probasco, Joe Max Harrison, Roger Poage, Scott Faulkenberry and David Kirk.

This 'n' That Club tours restored Victorian home

On Tuesday morning at 10:45, April 22, the This-n-That Club met at the home of Queen Annie Lawson for the regular meeting. After a short business meeting and refreshments, the group left for Clarendon, Texas, to tour the Old Lome House, a restored Victorian home which was built in 1904. Zell SoRelle, a retired professor of Linguistics at West Texas State University, is the present owner of the home and the one responsible for its restoration. She has received the historical medallion and the National Heritage Plaque for the projects.

On arriving at the home, the group was graciously welcomed by Mrs. SoRelle who gave a brief but fascinating history of the home and its former occupants, one of whom was R.H. Muir, the uncle of Bill Beedy.

As the group toured the lovely home, Mrs. SoRelle pointed out many antiques and pieces of art that she had collected on her many trips abroad.

To conclude the tour, a Victorian high tea was served to the group.

Members and guests making the tour were: members, Betty Baker, Winnie Beedy, Thelma Crawford, Dorothy Holland, Faye Jackson, and Queen Annie Lawson; guests, Elizabeth Armstrong, Jane Bean, Judy Beedy, Lou Burleson, Mollie Burleson, Billie Crawford, Lucille Daniels, Jettie Moss, Evelyn Sparks and Jo Y'Blood.

Layette shower fetes Cris Taylor

A layette shower honoring Mrs. Gregg (Cris) Taylor was held Saturday afternoon in the Lockney home of Mrs. John A. Dorman.

Special guests were the prospective grandmothers, Mrs. Phil (Jimmie) Carr of Denton and Mrs. Joe (Virginia) Taylor of Tullia. Gifts were registered by Mrs. Mike Ford, prospective aunt. Corsages of silk flowers and baby toys were worn by those four ladies.

The serving table was covered with a white cloth edged in lace and overlaid with a navy blue pindot cloth. Centerpiece was a natural basket filled with baby care products. Refreshments were fruit kabobs, assorted cookies and fruit punch, served from crystal appointments.

The hostesses presented Mrs. Taylor with a car seat. Sharing hostess duties were Mmes. Zach Cummings, Johnny Dorman, Ricky Mosley, Ricky Kellison, Bill Beachy, Jim Bob Martin, Deanie Henderson of Silverton, Mark Gardenhire of Plainview, Curtis Armstrong and John A. Dorman.

Alpha Sigma Upsilon set Founder's Day Social

Alpha Sigma Upsilon met Tuesday night, April 8, at Lighthouse Electric. President Vikki Yeary called the meeting to order with all members standing for opening rituals. Minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

Sheryl Derryberry handed out cards to invite rushees to the next meeting. Karen Elliott will prepare a Mexican supper and everyone else will provide desserts and salads for rushees on April 15 at Lighthouse Electric.

Except for the treasurer, each committee presented a report to the group. A social for Founder's Day will be held Friday, May 2, at Country Boys in Plainview at 8:00 p.m.

Janice Poteet showed dress and quilt patterns for the convention. Other business included the voting for Man of the Year, Program of the Year, Pledge of the Year and Girl of the Year.

Mary Ann Kelly had the raffle for the month. Her duck wall hanging was purchased by Barbara Edwards. Jan Poteet bought a wooden card box, which was raffled off by Debra Bailey.

Rituals were held for Debra Bailey, Mary Ann Kelly and Kathy Himes. Meeting was adjourned with everyone repeating closing rituals and mizpah. Sheryl Derryberry served refreshments to Debra Bailey, Barbara Edwards, Karen Elliott, Rhonda Guthrie, Kathy Himes, Mary Ann Kelly, Alice Ogden, Janice Poteet, Sheri Turnbow, Ginger Warren and Vikki Yeary.

Sorority discusses happenings

Alpha Mu Delta came to order at 7 p.m. Tuesday, April 15 in the bank community room. President Kelli Reddy called the meeting to order.

Ways and Means was discussed along with the Old Settlers Day dance. The parade float and Founders Day social were discussed.

The program was presented by Julianne Cornelius on entertainment.

Installation of officers was held. Afterwards, members enjoyed a Mexican dinner, prepared by hostesses Tonia Kitchens and Darla Ware.

SESQUICENTENNIAL MOMENTOS—The Lockney Athena Study Club is selling momentos in observance with Texas' 150th birthday. The items include these dominoes, belt buckle, pocket knife and pewter thimble.

Athenas sell 150th birthday momentos

The Lockney Athena Study Club is now selling official Floyd County Sesquicentennial items for those who would like a memento of the 150th birthday of Texas.

Items include dominoes, a belt buckle, a pocket knife, and a pewter thimble. At the present time the club has a limited number of items but they will take orders if there are more requests for items than they have.

To purchase items contact club members that include Denise Blanchard, Cindy Smith, Laura Wilson, Kathy Hunter, Virginia Owens, Vida Hrbacek, Gayle Jackson, Barbara Mathis or Judy Schacht.

Vitamins explained to Harmony Club

The Harmony Home Extension Club met April 28 at the center with Maye Williams as hostess.

President Ruth Scott called meeting to order. Hostess read the scripture from Jeremiah 23:2-3.

Roll call was answered by members stating the minerals and vitamins they take.

Announcements were made about workshops coming up. They were tabled until a later date.

The election of officers was held and the following officers were elected for 1987. President, Ruth Scott; Vice President, Arvie Schulz; Secretary-Treasurer, Anna Maude Hopper; Council Delegate, Blanche Williams.

The club decided to give their support to Muri Mayfield as T.E.H.A. chairman. Delegate nominees for the State meeting in September at McAllen elected were Ruth Scott, delegate, and Anna Maude Hopper, alternate.

Vivian Curtis gave an interesting program on "Vitamins and Mineral Supplements Can Be Harmful."

She stated that taking vitamins and minerals in megadoses can be very harmful in so many ways and may create an imbalance and prevent absorption of other vital essentials.

Arvie Schulz directed recreation and the hostess served refreshments to Lucille Miller, Vivian Curtis, Blanche Williams, Bess Carr, Imelda Murry, Arvie Schulz, Juanita Pool, Anna Maude Hopper and Ruth Scott.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Dolores Cannon

Monday morning we had coffee, read poetry and enjoyed talking about all the different birds we enjoy hearing and seeing. Devotions were by Trinity Church. The singers were Dartha Westbrook, Eula Mae Wilson, Mildred Thrasher and Paul Westbrook. Dartha brought the devotional from James 3. Eula Mae dismissed with prayer. Monday afternoon 13 residents enjoyed painting ceramics. They did pretty little flower pots.

Tuesday morning Brother Neeley Richardson brought the devotions. Jo Bryant helped with the singing. Jo read 1 Samuel chapter 15 and Joshua 6. Then Brother Neeley spoke and dismissed with prayer. In the afternoon we had Bible study about Mary and Martha. We had an enjoyable time together in sharing and prayer.

Wednesday morning some of the ladies came for coffee and visiting. Then the morning devotions were omitted. Beulah Baker, Mary Hale and Ruby Hartsell came to visit with the residents. Our residents always enjoy visitors. We had several doing exercise again. We have fun every morning with exercise. We played Bingo in the afternoon. Everyone gets a prize. Faye McMahan was the first winner. After Bingo we did some manicures. The ladies and men both like to have their nails done.

Thursday morning started with our coffee and visiting. Brother Blair didn't get to come for our devotions so we did some more manicures, then we had fun with exercise. In the afternoon we had movies and popcorn. Our movies were "Snowbound" and "Dan Gibson's Nature Adventure."

Friday morning devotions were brought by Mary Coreley. Mary spoke about not worrying. The music was by Letha Mulder and Mrs. L.G. Withers. In the afternoon we went on the bus ride to Crosbyton and back by Ralls. We got to see a wild turkey in the canyon going to Crosbyton. We stopped and saw all the pretty iris at the Stewart's at the edge of Floydada. The residents enjoyed the bus ride and ice cream treat from the Dairy Queen in Crosbyton. The residents who went on the ride were Una Clark, Faye McMahan, Sue Thompson, Della Halencak, Olive Russell, Florence Curry, Gertrude Feuerbacher and Estelle Eubanks.

This week's visitors included: Lucille Sisson, J.W., Juanita and Jeff Hamilton of Olton, Bobbie Rogers, Doree Kitchens, Elena Hopper, Shirley Varner, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Whitworth of Yantis, Texas, Rick Day, Stayce and Layce Westbrook, Lucille Daniel, Tomas Hernandez Jr., H.C. McElyea, Marjorie McElyea, Glen and Rena Barris of Clovis, New Mexico, Marvin and Vertie Powell of Crosbyton, Tenia Cooper of Crosbyton, Winnie Neil, Zula Mae Emert, Pearl Emert and Elvin and Lovelle Childs.

DAR gather April 22nd

Buffalo Grass Chapter DAR met Tuesday, April 22, at Lighthouse Electric. Mmes. Ozena Norris, Susan Dunavant and Ona Ruth Neff were hostesses.

The Regent, Susan Dunavant reported that Sherry Colston's husband was ill. Ozena Norris had visited one of the members, Alice Henry, who has recently returned home from several months in Houston where she received medical treatment.

Edna Workman and Betty Counts were elected to membership in Buffalo Grass Chapter.

The group discussed plans for the DAR booth to be set up at the July 4th celebration in Ralls.

The next meeting will be May 27. This will be a program on national defense. The speaker will be Mr. Jack Flint, Dimmitt. Mr. Flint is Past National Commander of the American Legion.

The chapter will not meet during June, July and August.

Those present were: Jeanette Wilson, Margaret Wheeler, Venoy Sanders, Susan Dunavant, Ona Ruth Neff, Ozena Norris and Loretta Denning.

Teague presents program to Homebuilder members

The Homebuilders Extension Club met April 22 in the home of Mrs. Riley Teague. In the absence of the president, Elvira Stewart called the meeting to order and all members repeated the club prayer. Mrs. Teague gave the devotional from Jeremiah 23:2-3.

During the business meeting the present slate of officers were elected to serve in 1987. They are President Ruth Trapp, Vice President Elvira Stewart, Secretary-Treasurer Lillian Smith, Council Delegate and T.E.H.A. chairman nominee to council Muri Mayfield. Ruth Trapp was elected as delegate to the State meeting.

Mrs. Teague gave an interesting program on vitamins and mineral supplements.

The next meeting will be May 13 at the council room.

A delicious refreshment plate was served to the following members: Viola Brown, Helen Huffman, Muri Mayfield, Elvira Stewart, Gladys Widener, Barbara Willis, Renie Chapman and the hostess Mrs. Teague.

McGAUGH

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy McGaugh announce the arrival of their son Jay Dee, April 4, 1986. He weighed 6 pounds, 5 ounces and was 20 1/2 inches long. Has a brother and sister, Michael and Marlyse McGaugh.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C.M. Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Alexander of Floydada.

Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. C.L. Alkire of Happy Union.

How could you help Floyd County children?

A child sometimes needs a temporary home with temporary parents because his own parents are unable to care for him.

The child needs love, attention and security during this time in order to grow into a healthy and happy human being.

The Texas Department of Human Resources is looking for good temporary parents to share their good homes with these children in need.

Could Your Home Be A Foster Home?

Foster homes should provide love, protection and understanding as well as food, shelter and clothing.

Foster homes are licensed by the Department of Human Resources. A representative from the agency visits your home to answer questions, explain the basic requirements and determine what type of child would best suit your home.

Fire and health inspections are made of your home. All family members must have tuberculin skin tests. The mother should also have a statement from her physician stating she is free of communicable diseases.

Our agency is ready to help you with the professional help and guidance you may need. Foster parents receive an orientation and fifteen hours of annual training.

All foster parents receive financial assistance for things like board, clothing, medical and dental care for the foster child.

Clearing Up The Confusion

If you are like most people, you still have some questions about foster parenthood. Here are some of the most commonly asked questions and their answers.

1. What are the children like?

A foster child may be a newborn infant or a teenager. He may be bright or a slow learner. Foster children are not delinquent children. They are neglected, abused or abandoned children, children whose parents are temporarily unable to care for them.

2. Can I decide which child I take?

Very definitely. The age, sex and number of children placed in your home is decided by you.

3. How long will the child stay?

It could be a few days or it could be much longer. It depends upon the situation of the particular child. Some children are reunited with their own families after problems at home are resolved. Some go to relatives homes. Some are later adopted.

4. Can both parents work?

Yes, as long as one is at home when the child is there, or other arrangements for care of the child can be made.

5. Do you have to be married to be a foster parent?

Most children in foster care have not lived in a home where there are two parents. These children need to have the opportunity to see both a mother and father and learn to identify their separate roles in the home. For this reason, we prefer married couples. Singles can become foster parents, however.

Make Your Next Child One Of Ours

If you would like to help us, we would like to hear from you. Not everybody wants to be a foster parent - we know that. But if you think being a parent and friend to a child who needs you more than you may ever know is something you would like to try, give us a call. It could make all the difference in the world to a child.

We would like to help you help us. If you would like to learn more about becoming a foster parent, contact us.

We will help you get started on one of the best things that ever happened in your life.

Are you willing to:

- share your home with a child who needs you
- let him be a part of your family for awhile
- provide the love and understanding he needs

You Don't Have To Be A Foster Parent

To Help A Foster Child

Some foster children have never been to a restaurant to eat out, seen a movie, been swimming in a swimming pool, or been to a beauty parlor. Their foster parents can't always afford these luxuries for the children.

People and organizations can help foster children by providing some of the "extras" foster parents cannot provide such as: school pictures, scout and

Brownie uniforms, birthday gifts, Christmas gifts, money for school projects, curricular activities at school, class rings, class dues, clothing for special occasions, hair cuts, recreational expenses and many, many more.

There are other ways you can help. Find out how by giving us a call. For additional information, call Regi Gross at 983-2280.

Child restraint car seats available to TFB members

Car accidents are the leading cause of death for children under five years of age. That is an especially tragic statistic when one realizes that most of the deaths and serious injuries could have been prevented with a child restraint seat. These restraint seats are also required by law in Texas.

In the effort to encourage the use of such seats among our Farm Bureau members, who have small children, the Texas Farm Bureau's Safety and Health Department is introducing the child saver program, that has recently been approved by the Board.

For a $20.00 deposit, a Farm Bureau member may order a child restraint seat to use until the child can be restrained by standard seatbelts. At that time, the seat can be returned to the Floyd County Farm Bureau for a full refund of the deposit.

The seat, a convertible model, is suitable for small children up to 40 pounds or 40 inches, meeting all federal standards and is approved for use on most commercial and general aircraft.

To obtain a Safe-T-Seat, which retails in stores for an average price of $60.00, Farm Bureau members will contact the local county Farm Bureau office for an order form.

The order form is to be filled out and sent with a check in the amount of $20.00 to the seat manufacturer, Cosco. Farm Bureau will pay the difference, including shipping charges. The Safe-T-Seat will be shipped directly to the member.

When the child has outgrown the Safe-T-Seat, Farm Bureau will refund your original $20.00 and cost the member nothing, or, if the member wishes, they may keep the seat to loan to a friend or donate to a child seat loaner program.

This offer is limited to Farm Bureau members only. The number of child restraint seats will be limited to three per member.

Contact the Floyd County Farm Bureau for more information and order forms, call Lockney 652-2242 or Floydada 983-3777.

Four guidelines given for dealing with family stress

Stress is a family affair. One family member experiencing stress sends ripples through the entire family.

Often the most stressful times occur when a family experiences the pile-up of many stressful events. One farm family experienced a day piled high with stressful happenings—the farmer's hay was rained on for the third time, his truck's transmission went out, and his prize Holstein got sick. The entire family was affected by these events.

Serious, single stressful events and pile-up situations call for creative planning to master family stress. Family members display warning signals when they experience stress. Among them may be sleeplessness, irritability or physical symptoms, such as headaches, fatigue or backaches. Symptoms such as frequent parent-child conflicts, breakdowns in communications, fault-finding and sarcasm, or hostile behaviors among family members, also show up in the family. To recognize that your entire family is under stress rather than thinking that only one member has a problem is an important first step.

You can take four actions to deal with family stress. First, you can control some events. When surgery is planned for Mom, for example, Dad or other family member can learn to manage in the kitchen before she goes to the hospital.

Second, you can control your attitudes, or how you look at events. A financial emergency can ruin a planned vacation or give a family the opportunity to relax and enjoy each other at home—it's all in how you look at it.

Third, you can control the responses you have to the stressful event. A distressed family does not need to treat each other with criticism that ends in angry conflict, or resort to over-eating or isolation, for relief. A family can even choose to play together in order to work off some tension that is building up.

The fourth way to take action is to recognize and use resources. Reaching out for help is not a sign of weakness. It is knowing your own limits and then asking for help when you are feeling pulled beyond those limits. Family members, the family unit and those outside the family unit are among the resources to consider for help.

Probably every family experiences stress. Learning to cope with it can help strengthen your family.

JUNE WEDDING SET — Mr. and Mrs. T.M. Whiteley of Odessa, Texas proudly announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Theresa Louise, to Kirk Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Young of Floydada, Texas. Theresa is the granddaughter of Mrs. Floyd Cannon of Rule, Texas, and is a 1980 graduate of Floydada High School she is employed by Trans Designs in Lubbock. Kirk is a 1977 graduate of Floydada High School and is employed at Bobby Bennett Construction in Lubbock. He is the grandson of Mrs. V.D. Turner of Floydada. The couple will be married June 21, in Saint Elizabeth's of Lubbock, and will reside in Lubbock.

1956 Study Club April meeting hosted by Paty

The 1956 Study Club held their April meeting in the home of Rosemary Paty. Co-hostesses for the evening were Jan Thompson and Kathy Becker.

Floyd County participation in the Texas Sesquicentennial was highlighted by guest speaker Sara Probasco. Interesting information about our state's history was included as Mrs. Probasco covered the many activities that have occurred and that are still scheduled to commemorate our one hundred fifty years of Texas heritage.

Naming a Texas tradition during roll call brought the business meeting to order. Donations were approved for the Floyd County Museum and for the Floyd County Library. The annual project of Teacher Appreciation Day was discussed and decided upon.

In conjunction with the program by Mrs. Probasco, hostesses used their culinary talents and served Texas style cuisine. Biscuits and ham in the shape of Texas were part of the evening refreshments.

Items provided by Sheree Cannon, Darlynn Hambright, Jan Thayer and Cyndi Williams were auctioned for the closing business of the evening.

FLOYD DATA

Dr. Jack Henry of San Antonio spent the week-end with his mother, Mrs. Jack (Allene Henry) of Floydada.

Series on Acts, Revelation and Temperments being conducted

Pastor Doug Dezotell of Abundant Life Fellowship - First Assembly of God in Floydada is conducting three series of teachings in their Sunday and Wednesday services.

On Sunday morning in the 10:50 service the pastor is preaching from the Book of Acts, on the formation of the church, and the present day ministry of the Holy Spirit. In the Sunday evening services at 6:00, the pastor is preaching from the Book of Revelation, and sharing of the importance of that Book for us today. In the Wednesday evening service at 7:00, Pastor Dezotell is teaching on The Temperments of Man. This is an important series of teaching on understanding your personality and developing its strengths and overcoming its weaknesses, as well as understanding and accepting others.

Abundant Life Fellowship is located at the corner of Missouri and White, at 701 West Missouri in Floydada. The public is invited to be apart of these important series that will continue for several months. For more information you may call 983-2887 or 983-3319.

Abundant Life children to receive missions award

The children of Abundant Life Fellowship - First Assembly of God in Floydada were ranked among the Top 10 in giving to missionaries by the West Texas District Council of the Assemblies of God. The children will be presented with an award in the special Children's Mission Service this Sunday evening, May 4, at 6:00 at the church.

The whole service will be especially for children. There will be an audio-visual message in cartoon entitled, "The Tree That Always Said No", and the children of the church will present the gospel in drama and in song.

The public is invited to this exciting service for children. The church is located at the corner of Missouri and White in Floydada.

The Assemblies of God missions program for children, the Boys and Girls Missionary Crusade, or, B.G.M.C., brings in millions of dollars annually from churches across the United States to assist missionaries around the world to spread the good news of Jesus Christ. West Texas Assemblies of God children gave $8,699.43 in 1985 to B.G.M.C.

Hood retiree recalls life as aide to General Bradley

Editor's Note: The following article was submitted by Mrs. S.E. Duncan Jr. of Floydada. The article relates to her son, Major Silas Duncan, who was raised in Floydada. It is being reprinted from the April 7, 1986 edition of the Killeen Daily Herald.

By Christine Manning
Herald Staff Writer

Little did a boy from the Texas Panhandle town of Floydada know when he joined the Army in 1960 that his career would include such assignments as those at the White House and in posh

Beverly Hills, California, where he served as aide to General of the Army Omar Bradley.

But when Maj. Silas Edwin Duncan III retired last week as chief of the administrative service division, 13th Support Command, he indeed left behind a career filled with opportunities and memories that some people only dream of.

Duncan spent 10 years as an enlisted soldier before becoming a warrant officer in 1970 and accepting the job as a personal aide to the war hero Bradley.

As a staff sergeant, he had served as the administrative non-commissioned officer to the commander of the White House Communications Agency and as a liaison to the Secret Service during President Lyndon B. Johnson's campaign in 1964.

The only memorable event he said he ever encountered with President Johnson was when Johnson was planting a tree on the south lawn of the White House during a ceremony and Duncan was setting up some communications.

"After the ceremony was over, he walked right by me and stepped on my foot...and he didn't apologize," Duncan recalls.

After his three years at the White House, he spent 21 months in Vietnam. When he completed his tour there, he went back to Washington to work in the office of Gen. William Westmoreland, chief of staff of the Army.

It was Westmoreland who recommended Duncan to Bradley when an opening on Bradley's staff came up. The 28-year-old warrant officer flew to Beverly Hills, interviewed with the Bradleys and began working for them shortly afterward.

Duncan's first public outing with the Bradleys was ironically enough to the Hollywood premiere screening of the unedited version of "Patton."

After one year, Bradley promoted Duncan to chief warrant officer and eight months later gave him a direct commission to captain.

Duncan worked as Bradley's aide for almost four years.

"I have a lot of super memories from working on Gen. Bradley's staff, but most of them are memories of the things we did together," Duncan said. "We had sort of a grandfather-grandson relationship."

"By the time I worked for him, he was in his 80s, but Gen. Bradley loved to pheasant hunt and I was generally his designated bird carrier whenever he hunted. He used a 20-gauge shotgun and his philosophy was 'one shot-one bird'...he was a deadly shot, he almost never missed. We hunted about four times each year," Duncan remembered.

"We also went to the horse races together and if Gen. Bradley couldn't make it himself, I'd go and place the bets for him. He was also an avid golfer, but I didn't golf," he said.

He insists the job was not all play and no work. Bradley usually had at least two other military personnel on his staff, he said, and they were kept busy six days a week from 5 a.m. to 9 p.m., answering phone calls and dealing with Washington on administrative business at all hours.

One of Duncan's main duties on the Bradley staff was to catalog and record the history of Bradley's many military artifacts for a museum honoring the general at the Army War College in Carlisle Barracks, Pennsylvania.

Since by law, no five-star general ever retires, from 1953 until his death in 1981, Bradley remained on the active duty list and drew a salary of about $20,000 a year until the mid 1970s, when it was raised to about $30,000. He served as chairman of the Bulova Watch Company until he resigned in 1973, but remained on as honorary chairman and consultant to the corporation.

Duncan recalled the vastness of the Bradley household on the hills of one of the country's most prestigious neighborhoods, which included two indoor atriums, maids quarters, his and her baths and dressing rooms, a magnificent library and a poolside cabana called "Quarters One," which overlooked the city of Los Angeles.

The Bradleys entertained the Bob Hopes, the Jimmy Stewarts, the Gregory Pecks and the Ronald Reagans. When Elvis Presley and his wife Priscilla visited the family, Presley gave watches to Duncan and the other aides.

Their neighbors were cartoon pioneers Walter and Gracie Lantz, creators of Woody Woodpecker. Duncan said he still receives Christmas cards from the Lantzes.

When a temporary opening came up on the Bradley staff for a stenographer, Bradley called to Washington, who responded by sending him a pretty, young specialist four who Duncan fell in love with and later married.

One of the colonels on Bradley's staff made the following comment to Duncan one afternoon concerning his plans to marry the stenographer "...if the Army wanted you to have a wife, they would've issued you one."

"Gen. Bradley overheard the comment, entered the room and looked at me and said 'I did,'" Duncan recalled.

In November 1973, Duncan left the Bradley staff to attend the adjutant general advance course and to get back into "the real Army."

Although he had many of the Army's finer assignments, Duncan said by this time all he really wanted to do was to get assigned to Texas.

His wish was granted when he came to Fort Hood to serve with the 1st Cavalry Division from 1979 to 1983 as chief of the administrative services division, then as deputy adjutant general.

He then served in Panama for almost two years.

Duncan returned to Fort Hood last November to serve with 13th Support Command. Now that he's retired, he said he has "no plans for life after the Army" except to stay in his Killeen home with his wife, their three dogs and two cats.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

In Mr. Hollums' letter to you dated April 24, 1986, he made numerous statements which are false and are known by him to be false. As Mr. Hollums well knows, the information published concerning Judge Miller's numerous, inexcusable, reversible errors is well-documented and is true and correct. In addition to this, the files on the W.A. Massie estate are matters of public record in Floyd County in Mrs. Collier's Office. She is required by law, as she well knows, to permit these records to be inspected by anyone who desires to do so.

I think the people know that if any of the public papers which have been published by me were not true then certainly Mr. Hollums, in view of his attitude or Judge Miller, would have found such errors and certainly pointed them out. This they did not do. It is clear that the public papers of my campaign contain no false statements.

Mr. Hollums states that at the time of the trial of the Fortenberry murder case from Motley County there was no law to instruct the judge as to the charge that was to be given to the jury. This is not the truth. As pointed out by the Court of Criminal Appeals, the statute which Judge Miller should have followed and Mr. Hollums should have known about was adopted in 1925 by the Texas Legislature. This blunder on the part of Mr. Hollums and Judge Miller was the key topic of conversation among the lawyers, peace officers and others in this whole area after the trial. These false statements by Mr. Hollums are an attempt by him to cover up the blunders which were made by him and Judge Miller. The long chain of cases cited by the Court of Criminal Appeals in its opinion reversing Judge Miller's judgment go all the way back to the 1930's and all prove that the law has been the same since 1925.

Mr. Hollums and I strongly disagree on how Grand Juries in the district should be handled. The problem is that Mr. Hollums thinks that he, as District Attorney, should dominate and dictate to the Grand Juries, decide what matters should be considered, what witnesses should be called to testify, what questions should be asked and what charges should be handed down.

The problem with Mr. Hollums' position is that it is in conflict with the Constitutional and legal right of the people to have a citizen's group (the Grand Jury) to go to with alleged criminal complaints without interference from any public official, including

Mr. Hollums. This includes having a Grand Jury in existence at all times. Judge Miller has not promptly selected the Grand Juries at the beginning of each term of Court but instead has selected them when Mr. Hollums decided he had something for the Grand Juries to consider.

The failure of Judge Miller to promptly appoint the Grand Jurors at the beginning of each term of Court denies the people their Constitutional right to take criminal complaints directly to the Grand Jury Foreman so he may call the Grand Jury together for consideration of these complaints. This Constitutional right of the people to go directly to the Grand Jury foreman was clearly adopted to prevent District Attorneys like Mr. Hollums from arbitrarily deciding which matters will or will not be presented to the Grand Juries.

Mr. Hollums would have the reader believe that somehow Judge Miller is interested in the dignity and integrity of his office. For almost five years Judge Miller violated the Code of Judicial Conduct on a daily basis, took from the Massie Estate thousands upon thousands of dollars that the laws do not permit him to take, and swore under oath in an official proceeding that he maintained a family type relationship with Mr. Massie when the public records of Floyd County reveal that he was not related either by blood or marriage to Mr. W.A. Massie. Mr. Hollums' office is located next door to Judge Miller's office in the Floyd County Courthouse. Mr. Hollums knew about Judge Miller's improper conduct to the bar association or the proper officials of our government as directed by the laws governing attorneys nor did he do one single thing to stop Judge Miller from serving as the Executor of the W.A. Massie estate. It appears that Mr. Hollums adheres to the philosophy that right means a covering up a wrong and hiding it from the public view and the Grand Jury. There can be no dignity or integrity in making false statements under oath, nor in violating the Code of Judicial Conduct. Dignity and integrity comes from being honest and obeying the laws, not from making false statements and failing to prosecute officials who violate the laws.

No public official is above the law and you, the people, have a right and a need to know the truth regarding misconduct of a public official.

Sincerely yours,
/s/ David Cave

March accidents investigated

Capt. L.A. Reinhart, District Supervisor of the Lubbock Highway Patrol District comprising of 21 counties said, "For the month of March, our troopers investigated two fatal accidents, 47 personal injury accidents, and 54 property damage accidents. There were two persons killed and 47 persons injured in these accidents."

Sgt. Glenn Fant of Crosbyton stated, "In Floyd county, our troopers investigated no fatal accidents, no personal injury accidents, and three property damage accidents in the month of March. No persons were killed and no persons were injured in these accidents."

Lake Mackenzie Update

Larger crappie seemed to have moved to deeper waters. A lot of small crappie still being caught in shallow water using minnows.

Ron Love of Tulia, Texas caught a 6 lb. 15 oz. walleye using a silver and black crank bait.

Several nice bass in the 3 lb to 4 lbs. range were caught Sunday using plastic worms. Hybrid strippers are still slow. Few catfish are being caught.

ACCIDENT SCENE — Clara Burns, a nurse at Caprock Hospital, became a patient at the local medical facility Wednesday with a neck injury when the 1972 Chevrolet she was driving was in collision with a 1985 GMC pickup, occupied by Scotty Battey. The mishap occurred about 12:30 p.m. last Wednesday, April 23, at the intersection of Second and Kentucky. The Battey pickup was allegedly traveling east on Kentucky, while the Burns auto was moving north on Second Street. Mrs. Burns' vehicle was "totaled" in the accident, according to Floydada Police Department.

To the Voters of Floyd County, Texas

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT 4, FLOYD COUNTY, TEXAS:

As you know, I am seeking reelection to the office of Commissioner of Precinct 4. It has been a pleasure to serve as your Commissioner for the last 11½ years and I hope that you will decide to elect me for another term.

During the time that I have served I have tried to do what I thought the majority of you expected me to do, that is:

to provide the services that should be provided at a reasonable cost to the taxpayers.

I think all members of the Commissioners' Court will tell you that I have the most conservative record of anyone on the Commissioners' Court insofar as expenditures of county funds are concerned. I think that this conservative policy is increasingly important because of the difficult economic conditions that exist today.

I ask for your support and influence during the campaign, and your vote on May 3.

Sincerely,
James C. (Jack) Lackey

FLOYDADA VOLUNTEER FIRE DEPARTMENT RECEIVES CHECK — Bobby Welborn, Floydada Fire Chief received a check from Farm Bureau President Doug Galloway, April 28. Ken Holt, [right] Farm Bureau agent, also took part in the ceremony. The Floydada Volunteer Fire Department received the check for $150.00 as an expression of thanks for the department's work on the property of Travis Jones, Floydada, Texas. The money will be used for their loss prevention program. The Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies pay fire departments this amount when the department works at a fire in rural areas, involving property insured by them. Ken Holt was the agent who sold the insurance to the Jones. The Insurance Company believes fire departments have contributed to reduce the amount of loss involved by fire and more importantly, to prevent fires. It is their hope this money will help the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department in their program.

Pioneer plans underway

Complete plans for the 58th Pioneer Round-Up are taking shape, according to Doris Washington, president of the sponsoring organization, the Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club. The Round-Up will be held Saturday, May 17.

The traditional square dance will conclude the activities and the guest caller will be Sid Perkins of Plainview. Helen Burleson is Dance Chairman.

Perkins is calling for Promenaders of Plainview; Whirlers of Lockney and Floydada; Levi & Laces of Lubbock; Shirts and Skirts of Tulia; Castro County

Kurlic Q's of Hart; and the Spring Steppers of Roaring Springs.

He is teaching lessons in Tulia, Floydada, Plainview, Lubbock and Dimmitt.

Perkins is a veteran square dancer and has been calling for 23 years. He has called in Colorado, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Texas and the New England states. He will be calling at Fun Valley, Colorado the first week of July and has called there for eleven years.

He is a Past President of West Texas Callers and Teachers Assn; past president of Amarillo Area Callers & Teachers Assn. and past president of New Mexico Callers & Teachers Assn.

Perkins is a full-time caller and has called for many benefit dances including the Cancer Fund and the Heart Fund. He has a radio program daily over KWLD, Wayland Baptist University.

Mrs. Burleson and Perkins cordially invite all square dancers to attend the Pioneer Round-Up and participate in the square dance which will begin at approximately 9:00 p.m. on Saturday night at the Hale County Agriculture Center. Everyone is also invited to enjoy the waltz, polka and other couple dances.

Mrs. Washington states the price of the tickets is $4.50 (tax included). This covers all activities beginning with the supper at 6:00, the program at 8:00 and the square dance at 9:00 and tickets may be secured from any member of the Plainview Business and Professional Women's Club.

Also everyone is invited to shop that day for baked products at the Country Kitchen beginning at 9:00 a.m. at the Agriculture Center.

Lockney church youth compete in state finals

Seven members of the youth and children's Bible drill team from the First Baptist Church of Lockney competed in the state finals in Amarillo April 18-19.

Attending were Allen Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Bob Martin; Rance and Ryan Ford, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ford; Timothy Manley, son of Mrs. Carol Manley; Hadley Fletcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Fletcher; Tami and Robert Vernon, daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Vernon.

Allen, Rance, Ryan and Timothy received "Excellent" ratings at the competition. Timothy and Tami received "Good" ratings.

The purpose of the youth and children's Bible drill is to help children increase their knowledge of the Bible, to develop skills in effectively using the Bible and to promote the development of memory skills.

To qualify for state competition the children must first be qualified in their local church and association. They were required to give quotations, complete phrases, recite the books of the Bible and to give scripture references for key passages in the Bible.

Attending with the group were Charlene Telez and Melissa Griffin. Leaders were Kay Martin and Mr. and Mrs. David Fletcher. Coaches for the Lockney Bible drill team are Ethelyn Vernon and Linda Stallings.

TEXAS THEN AND NOW—Duncan Elementary's school play celebrating the Sesquicentennial featured all 372 students. The play, held Friday night at 7:00 p.m. at Duncan, depicted the history of Texas under all six flags. Skits included dances starting from Indian dances to break dancers, heroes from the Alamo, the capture of Cynthia Ann Parker by the Indians and many more. Beth Faulkenberry, speech therapist at Duncan, coordinated the events.

Extra care in Texas sun is urged

The American Cancer Society (ACS) has some words of warning for Texans looking forward to spending time outdoors during the long days of summer.

If you fry now, you may pay later, the Society cautions, because every exposure to the sun ages and damages skin. Skin cancer is the most serious form of "payment" for sun worshippers. More than 400,000 new cases of skin cancer will be diagnosed this year. While the vast majority are highly curable, the problem itself is largely preventable by exercising good sense and taking simple precautions.

"Young people, especially, are unaware of the cumulative amount of damage they are getting when they get too much sun," said Linda N. White, R.N., Houston, Chairman of the ACS Texas Division skin cancer program development committee. "They think because nothing happens this year, or in five years, that everything's okay."

"Also, a lot of people are unaware of the damage done other than skin cancer... wrinkles, drying out, the aging process," White added.

"Geographically, skin cancer is more prevalent in the Sun Belt, and because we are in the Sun Belt, people are at higher risk," White said.

Also at higher risk for developing skin cancer are people with lightly-pigmented skin, people who work or spend a great deal of recreational time outdoors and workers exposed to coal tar, pitch, creosote, arsenic compounds or radium. As with many other cancers, risk increases with age.

To reduce the risk of damage from too much sun, the Society advises Texans to:

*cover up - wear hats and protective clothing;

*use sunscreens - apply sunscreen at least an hour before going into the sun and again after swimming or perspiring heavily;

*avoid the midday sun - between 10:00 a.m. and 3:00 p.m. the sun's ultraviolet rays (the ones that do the damage) are strongest;

*don't use indoor sun lamps, tanning parlors or tanning pills

Letter to the Editor...

Dear Editor:

There is one true statement in Mr. Randy Hollums letter of April 18, 1986. It is true that people are wondering why Mr. Hollums thinks the people are interested in his telling them who to vote for in the Judge's race.

After all, it was Mr. Hollums advice about how to instruct the jury AND Judge Miller's FAILURE TO read and understand the laws that cost the Motley County taxpayers $124,000.00 in the Jinks Wilson murder trial. It was proved in Court aht Mr. Hollums is inclined to talk too much when he really does not know what he is talking about.

Instead of Mr. Hollums' advice, I think what we really need is a new District Judge who will follow the rules and a District Attorney who will stay out of Austin Politics AND STAY OUT OF HIS TRAVEL TRAILER long enough to prosecute criminals. After all that is what he gets paid to do.

Mr. Hollums has teamed up with Judge Miller to make both of their jobs less difficult by making plea bargain arrangements and deferred adjudications that have resulted in criminals, including thieves, dope peddlers and child molesters being given probated sentences and turned out on the streets. I have not talked to anyone who does not agree that this practice should be stopped.

Mr. Cave's campaign articles have dealt with issues that involve the office of District Judge and the conduct of the present District Judge. This is not mud slinging.

The Mud slinging that I have seen in the papers is contained in Mr. Hollums' nasty letter.

Yours truly,

Texas native plants

As warmer weather approaches, the public can enjoy the beauty of spring-time. The wild flowers are in bloom, trees are budding and lawns are becoming green again. Texas has long been famous for its beautiful Bluebonnets, Indian paint brushes and other wildflowers.

The Lone Star state should, however, be especially proud of its native plants such as Autumn sage, Coral honeysuckle, Mountain laurel and Yucca, points out Texas Department of Agriculture.

Native plants are especially important where water conservation in landscaping is concerned. Water conservation is an issue in Texas, and native plants offer a key to conservation in this region. "These plants require less water and maintenance, they are functional, and besides those very good reasons, they are beautiful," says Texas Agricultural Commissioner Jim Hightower.

Native plants are those which can be found growing naturally in this area. These plants mostly survive by developing long, deep roots that are often thick and can store water and food reserves. They are accustomed to a long summer drought and can survive with limited maintenance once they are established.

"Native plants are astonishingly beautiful, and full of variety and color. Purple sage, Blazing star, Golden wave, and Pink primrose are examples of some colorful native flowering plants. The idea is that native plants have evolved to survive the long, hot, dry Texas summers without help from your garden hose," says TDA.

For a free "How To Plant It," brochure write to the Texas Department of Agriculture, 3652 N. Dixie Street, Odessa, Texas 79762.

V A News

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q — My husband died on active duty. How long must we have been married in order for me to receive benefits from the VA?

A — If a veteran is married prior to serving in the military or while on active duty, no restrictions on the length of the marriage apply for eligibility for survivors benefits for spouses. If a veteran marries after release from service, certain rules apply. Generally, if the marriage was for a year or longer, the spouse will qualify. Under certain conditions length of the marriage is immaterial, for example if the veteran and spouse had a child.

Q — Will the VA furnish a grave marker for a person who died in military service and whose remains have not been recovered or identified?

A — Yes. A memorial headstone or marker may be furnished on application of a close relative recognized as the next of kin to commemorate any eligible veteran.

Q — Is it necessary for me to inform the Veterans Administration of my new address if my monthly benefit check is handled by "direct deposit"?

A — Yes. Failure to keep the VA notified of your current address could result in your missing important correspondence sent to your address of record.

Q — Is there a charge for the opening and closing of a grave in a national cemetery?

A — There is no charge. However, expenses related to preparation, casketing or transportation of the remains from the place of death to a national cemetery must be paid from private funds. The VA may provide reimbursement under certain circumstances for burial expenses. Social Security pays a burial benefit to a spouse in some cases.

Q — How much can I borrow on a Veterans Administration-backed loan? I have heard that there is a $27,500 limit.

A — The amount that a lending institution will loan on a VA-guaranteed loan depends in part on your financial situation. Like other lenders, those making VA loans will consider your income, liabilities and credit standing. The loan may not exceed the fair market value of the property. The VA guarantees 60 percent of the mortgage up to a maximum guarantee of $27,500 against loss if the buyer defaults.

Your District Court And Its Duties And Responsibilities

CRIMINAL JURISDICTION: The District Court has a reputation of being lenient on repeat offenders. In Briscoe County alone all of the criminals coming before the court in the last several years were handed either probated or deferred sentences even on repeat offenders. Very little consideration is given to the rights of the victims of a crime. My experience as County Attorney of Dickens County for the past nine years has taught me that a speedy trial and jail time has been a deterrent to repeat offenders.

CIVIL LITIGATION: Justice delayed is often justice denied. I will make certain that civil cases are moved promptly to trial: I will spend the time necessary to study the case before it comes to trial and during trial. Errors which can be avoided by study and research are inexcusable. I will work to make certain such errors are prevented.

DAVID CAVE FOR DISTRICT JUDGE

ELECT DAVID CAVE DISTRICT JUDGE

PERSONAL INFORMATION: David Cave was raised in Kent County, Texas, where his father and grandfather were both engaged in agricultural pursuits. Married Joy Bowes 18 years ago and has three children, Caryn, 10; Mark, 8; Elizabeth, 2. Member of the State Bar of Texas since 1972 and licensed to practice before the Supreme Court of Texas, the United States District Courts for the Northern District of Texas; served the past nine years as County Attorney for Dickens County, Texas. Actively engaged in the practice of law for the past 14 years with emphasis on civil as well as criminal litigation. David Cave has the experience to make a good District Judge for our District.

FHS tracksters battle during regional trials

Green and white uniforms will be prominently displayed Friday and Saturday when Whirlwind tracksters battle for an opportunity to advance to the state track meet during regional trials, Friday and Saturday in Odessa.

Coach Tommy Baxter has athletes primed for six events of the girls division from his District 3-2A champion squad.

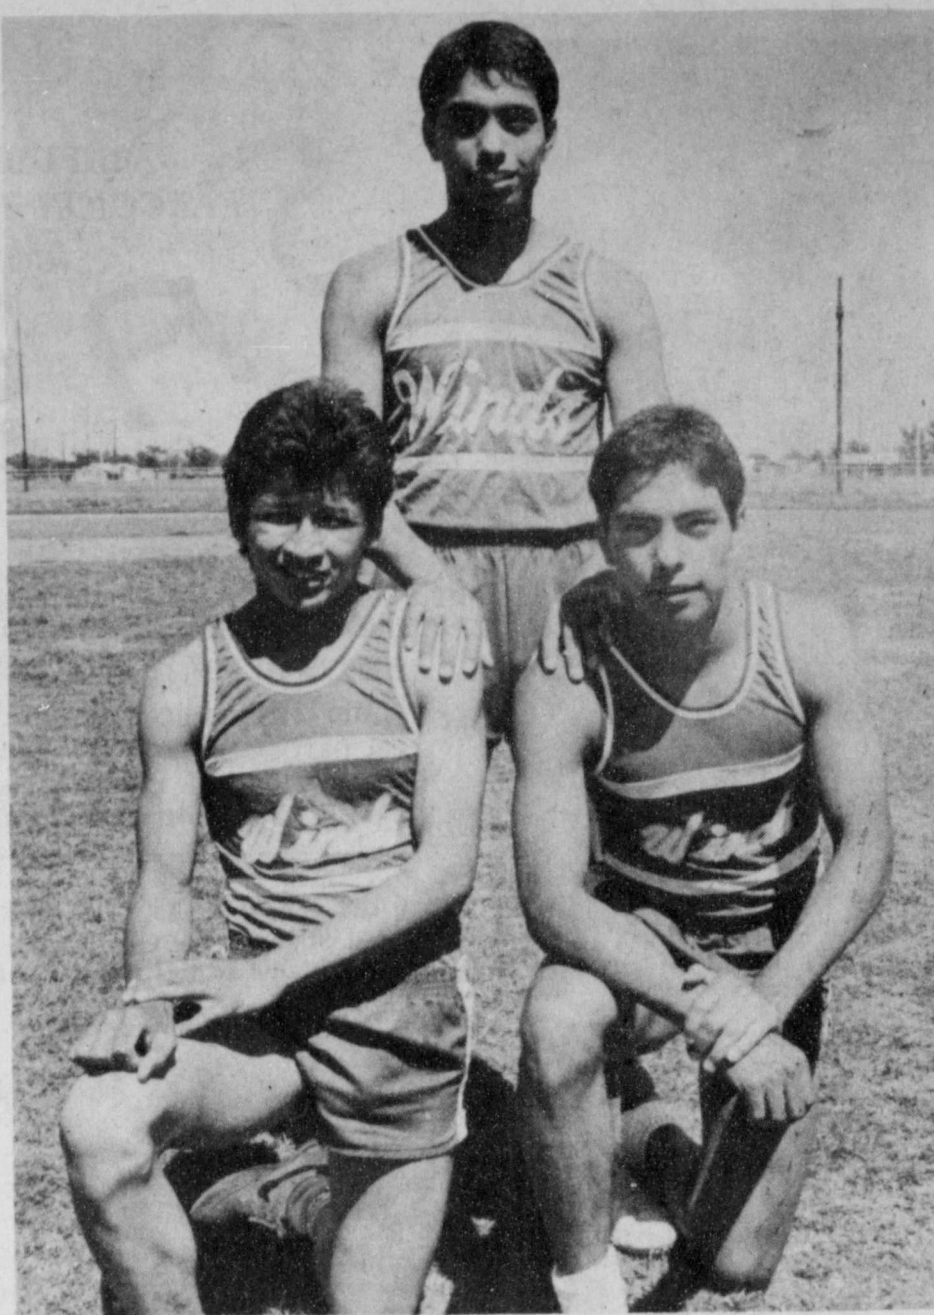

Althea Campbell and Tana Turner are scheduled to appear in three events, Paige Cannon will vie in two and teammates Jane Willson and Norma Cisneros participate in a single event.

Miss Campbell, one of only two seniors on the '86 squad competes in triple jump and long jump. Miss Turner joins her teammate in triple jump and also competes in 100 meter dash.

The duo team with Paige Cannon and Jane Willson in the 400 meter relay.

Miss Cannon also will be called to the pit for the discus throw. Norma Cisneros is a shot put participant.

Each regional qualifier, individual or relay, was first or second in district competition. First and second place finishers at regional have their ticket punched for the state meet, May 9-10 in Austin.

REGIONAL BOUND — Manual Suarez [kneeling left] in the 3200 meter run and David Medrano [kneeling right] in the 800 meter run will be vying in the Region 1-AAA track meet Friday and Saturday in Odessa. First and second place finishers advance to the state meet, May 16-17 in Austin. David Medrano [standing] was third behind his twin brother in the 800 meter run and will go to regional as the 800 meter alternate. Mike Vickers is the Whirlwind boys coach. STAFF PHOTO

Whirlwind boys advance to 1-AAA meets in Odessa

Coach Mike Vickers and a pair of Whirlwind male standouts also will make the trip to Odessa for the 1-AAA track meet Friday and Saturday.

David Medrano, who established a new school record last month, represents his team in the 800 meter run. Manual Suarez participates in the 3200 meter run. David Medrano will travel to Odessa as the 800 meter run alternate. Should Logsdon of Muleshoe fail to participate, David and his twin brother Daniel are to be District 2-AAA representatives in the 800.

Boys state meet is scheduled May 16-17 in Austin. Lads who place first or second this week earn the coveted honor of participating in the big show.

A Vote For Don Green

Will be a Vote for Good Government in Floyd County

I am seeking your VOTE and INFLUENCE in the election for Commissioner, Floyd County Precinct 4, on Saturday, May 3rd in the Democratic Primary. I believe the people of Precinct 4 deserve good representation, and I believe I can provide that representation and the leadership to make it effective. I can only promise to work hard and honestly to look after your interest. I believe we are going to see changes in Floyd County, and that we need far-sighted leadership to cope with these changes. I am deeply concerned about our future here in Floyd County, and I want to do my best to make that future worthy of our children and their children. Your vote is important. It is one of your most prized possessions. I hope you will cast your vote with an eye to both the present and the future by voting for me Saturday, May 3rd. Together we can build a better Floyd County.

Don Green

Candidate Profiles

Running unopposed for County offices are Choise Smith, Glenna Orman, Margaret Collier, and Lowell Bilbrey. Two offices, Commissioner for Precinct 4, and District Clerk, have attracted three candidates.

Choise Smith is a candidate for re-election to the position of County Judge, an office he has held for eight years. Prior to his appointment as County Judge, Smith served as an inspector for South Plains Health and as a probation officer for the 110th District Court.

Smith, originally from Crosby County, has been a resident of Floyd County for more than 30 years. He and his wife, Kay Dean, have three children, a married daughter, Jodie, and two sons, Hunter and Dean, both students at Floydada High School.

Glenna Orman is running for re-election to the office of County Treasurer. Orman has held this post for eleven years. Orman is a native of Floyd County and was elected to the post in 1974, with her term beginning on New Years Day, 1975.

Margaret Collier has been the Floyd County Clerk since January of 1943. Previous to her election, she served as a Deputy Clerk in the office. She has been a resident of the county since 1915, when she came here with her family at the age of seven. Living first in the Irick Community and later in Lockney, Collier graduated from Lockney High School and attended Lippert's Business College in Plainview. She was employed by Baker Mercantile and by the bank in Lockney before going to work in the County Clerk's office.

Lowell Bilbrey is standing for election for the Justice of the Peace post he has held since being appointed by Commissioners Court last year. He is unopposed in his first bid for public election.

Barbara Edwards is one of three candidates seeking the District Clerk office for the 110th District Court. Edwards has worked in the Floyd County Attorney's office for the past nine years. She is the daughter of Grigsby and Lillie Mae Milton and is married to Roy Eugene (Bud) Edwards. The couple are parents of two children, Rusty and Tyson, both students in the Floydada School system. The family attends the First Baptist Church of Floydada.

Linda Jackson is one of two candidates opposing Edwards for the post of District Clerk. She is married to Cecil Jackson, a Sandhill area farmer. The Jacksons have two children, 14 year old DeLinda and 10 year old Brad. The family is active in the First Baptist Church. Jackson is the daughter of Clovis and Polly Myrick.

The third candidate for District Clerk is Kathy Green. She has served as the center director for Caprock Community action, a federal agency, for the past 13 years. She is the wife of Jim Green.

The race for Commissioner of Precinct 4 is also attracting a lot of attention with three candidates vying for the position. The incumbent, Jack Lackey, is being challenged by Delfino Pesina and Don Green.

Lackey, a Floyd County native, has held the post since his election in 1974. He was engaged in farming and trucking before running for public office. He resides in the Dougherty Community and serves on the Floyd County Central Tax Appraisal District board of directors.

Delfino Pesina was born in Hays County and attended public school in Austin. He served in the U.S. Army in 1945 and 46, earning recognition as an expert infantryman and stationed in the Philippines as an MP. Pesina has been involved in the vegetable packing business for 30 years. He has also worked in farming and road construction as well as being a trained auto mechanic.

Don Green, owner and operator of Don Green Auto Parts in Floydada, is the third candidate for Precinct 4 Commissioner. Green has served two terms on the Floydada City Council. He has also been active on the Fair Board and has worked with the youth baseball program for 18 years. Green has been a resident of the county for more than 20 years and was the assistant manager of Davis Farm Supply prior to opening his own business.

Green and his wife, Carolyn, have three children, Bobby of Abilene, Texas, and Robby and Chad who attend school in Floydada. The family attends church at the First Christian Church in Floydada.

Atencion Votante del Cuarto Distrito

ATENCION VOTANTE DEL CUARTO DISTRITO

Esta usted interesado que busco la re-eleccion para la oficina de Comisionado en el cuarto distrito. Ha sido un placer estar en su servicio los ultimos once años y mi deseo es que usted decida en mi favor una vez mas.

Durante el tiempo que he servido a usted, he tratado de hacer lo que yo creia que usted esperaba de mi, o bien sea:

Proveer los debidos servicios a un costo razonable a ustedes, quien son los que pagan los impuestos.

Creo que todos los miembros de la Corte de Comisionados Iran de acuerdo que soy el mas conservativo en lo que concierne a los gastos de el condado. Creo que la polisa conservativa es aun mas importante en estos dias que la condicion economica esta tan difiell.

Le pido su respaldo y influencia durante esta campana. Su voto a mi favor el dia 3 de Mayo sera muy agradecido.

Sinceramente,
James C. (Jack) Lackey

Political ad paid for by friends of Jack Lackey

BY FRIENDS OF JACK LACKEY TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT FOUR (4)

The people in Precinct Four (4) can be proud of the man who has served them for the past twelve (12) years. During these years Jack has devoted full time to his responsibility as commissioner.

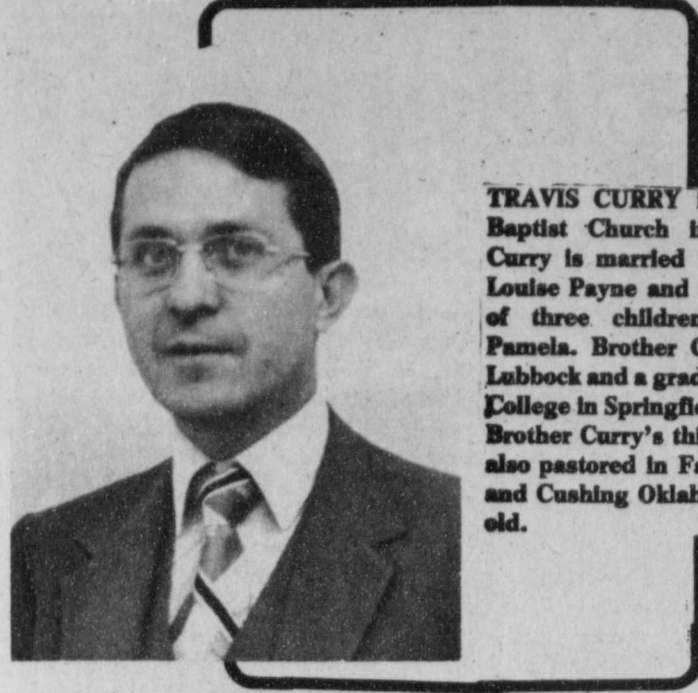

He has provided a strong conservative voice on the Commissioners Court. Jack believes in a days work for a days pay, and has set this example for those he employs. He is very much aware of the current financial crisis in our county, and feels that elected officials should be held accountable for their fiscal policies. Some people are not aware that the Commissioners Court is responsible for dispersing tax money in excess of 1.8 million dollars. Jack has voted to trim the "FAT" from the budget in the past.

Due to a reappraisal the county will lose approximately $70,000 dollars in taxes, and a cut in revenue sharing funds of approximately $140,000 dollars. It is essential that a financially responsible commissioner be in office at this time.

The "Baker Road" is an example of his concern for the people of Floyd County. Since it was constructed, this farm to market road has cost the taxpayers $8,000 to $10,000 dollars a year to maintain. Jack was instrumental in getting the State of Texas to assume this responsibility.

Through the years Jack has remained available to his constituents, and proved himself willing to assist them with their needs. He has done a good job for his precinct and the county. We urge you to re-elect Jack Lackey on May 3, 1986.

The secret of giving all

"Now the Lord HAD SAID unto Abram, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and from thy father's house, unto a land that I will shew thee."—Genesis 12:1.

There is a Bible principle that basically states, "If you want to GET, you must also GIVE." Far too many people have never even heard of this principle, much less applied it to their own individual lives.

The words, "had said," in our text point us back to something that God had communicated to Abram over five years previously. It is as we are told in Acts 7:2: "The God of glory appeared unto our father Abraham, WHEN he was in Mesopotamia, BEFORE he dwelt in Charran (Haran, Heb.), and said unto him, Get thee out of thy country, and from thy kindred, and come into the land which I shall shew thee."

God appeared unto Abram (later called Abraham) and asked him to GIVE ALL. God appeared to Abram in Ur of the Chaldees, in the land of Mesopotamia and asked him to surrender ALL. At first Abram was not willing to GIVE ALL, but he really suffered by not doing what God had said.

In Mark 10:28 Peter said to Jesus, "Lo, we have LEFT ALL, and have followed thee." The Bible records, "And Jesus answered and said, Verily I say unto you, There is no man that hath left houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, FOR MY SAKE, AND THE GOSPEL'S, but he shall receive an hundredfold NOW in this time, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and lands, WITH PERSECUTIONS; and in the world to come eternal life."

There are three simple truths related to this business of giving all that we need to explore. The first is this: Giving all is expensive. God and Abram were carrying on a conversation:

God told Abram, "I want your country." And Abram answered, "O.K., you can have my country."

God said, "I want your family." And Abram said, "O.K., you can have my brothers and sisters."

God said, "I want your city." And Abram said, "You can have my city."

God said, "I want you to trade certainty for uncertainty." And Abram answered, "O.K., I'll trade certainty for uncertainty."

Later on God said, "Abraham, I WANT YOUR SON, YOUR ONLY SON." Even here Abraham was willing to give God what He asked for. But you can count on one thing: It cost Abraham a lot of sorrow and heartache to give this last request. Surely he gave the most when he was willing to give up his son.

It will cost you something to give all. But why not? David said, "I'll not offer to the Lord that which costs me nothing." A thing is not worth much if it doesn't cost something. Salvation cost God HIS SON; so also, it will cost you to give all.

A second truth is this: Giving all is expensive. It is saying, "Lord, I think more of you than anything or anybody." It is the realization of the fact that we are but stewards, those that mind the estate of another. It shows that we are neither pampered babies nor spoiled brats. It is a picture of unselfishness.

But there is also a third truth that we need to touch on briefly: Giving all is expedient, or necessary. If Abraham had not given, there would be no Jewish nation. If Jesus Christ had not given, there would be no salvation. If men of old had not given, we would not have a preserved revelation.

Isaiah 51:2 tells us that God called Abraham ALONE. At first Abraham was not willing to give all. He took Lot with him which cost him a lot of bitterness and strife. He took Terah, his father (and Terah means "delay"), and was delayed in the land of Haran for five years. His dad had to DIE before he would go on into the promised land.

The Scripture says, "He that SAVETH his life shall LOSE it, but he that LOSETH his life shall FIND it." Notice these facts with me: When Abraham GAVE, God GAVE; when Abraham would not GIVE, God TOOK. When Abraham wouldn't give his father, God took him. When Abraham wouldn't give up his nephew Lot, God saw to it that they were separated. But when Abraham gave his family, God gave him another family, as the sand of the seas for multitude. When Abraham gave his friends, he became the friend of God. When he gave his country, God gave him another country, one that flowed with milk and honey. When Abraham gave his city God gave him another city, one that hath foundations whose builder and maker is God. When Abraham gave his son, God gave him a better Son, for from the loins of Abraham came the Son of God. GIVE ALL!

Trautmann is a housing director

SUZANNE TRAUTMANN

[Editor's note: Suzanne Trautmann, a Floydada native, is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. A.E. Guthrie, is the director of Shared Housing, of which this article concerns. This article is reprinted from the Dallas Morning News, April 13, 1986 edition. It was written by Jennifer Boeth Donovan.]

Louve Jackson didn't know what to do. The 85-year-old woman simply couldn't trust her knees anymore. Even when she used her walker, every so often those knees would give way and she would fall.

Such spills were serious business for Jackson. There was no one around to help her up, or to call for help if she injured herself. Her husband, Austin, blind and in need of more care than Jackson could manage - had finally gone to a nursing home. Now she lived alone in the six-room East Dallas house she has called home for more than 50 years. "I thought I'd have to go to the home, too," she says. "I sure don't want to do that. Not 'til I have to."

Then Lynda Barnes entered Jackson's life.

Barnes, 47, didn't know what to do either. A part-time cook at a Duncanville coffee shop, she wasn't earning enough to rent an apartment. She had moved in with her daughter and son-in-law and their two children, but her daughter's apartment manager had threatened to evict them all if she stayed.

Barnes called Catholic Social Services, where she learned about the Center for Housing Resources Shared Housing, a program begun last July to pair elderly homeowners who need someone around the house with younger adults who need a place to live.

After talking to Barnes about her interests, personal habits, plans for the future and attitudes toward the elderly, Shared Housing director Suzanne Trautmann took her to meet Jackson. As the three chatted, the older woman and the younger one knew that they had found the perfect solution of both of their problems. And Trautmann knew she had made Shared Housing's 16th successful match.

"She seemed like such a nice, friendly person. She made me feel comfortable right away - like one of the family," Barnes recalls. "I lost my mother five years ago, and I guess I sort of adopted her to take my mother's place."

Before she met Barnes, Jackson had been leery of opening her home to someone she didn't know. She laughs about that now.

"She's no stranger," Jackson says. "When I met her, I fell in love with her."

Barnes has her own bedroom but shares the bathroom with Jackson. She cooks three meals a day and cleans house in exchange for free room and board, but perhaps even more important, she provides companionship for Jackson, who otherwise would be alone most of the time.

And that companionship is far from a one-way street.

"We both like to play cards and dominoes, and we both like to stay up late talking or watching TV," Barnes says. "She's a very lovely person, easy to get along with."

Barnes and Jackson even like most of the same TV programs, especially sitcoms. They do favor different soap operas, but they have found a way around that. Jackson watches As the World Turns in the den, while Barnes follows All My Children on a portable TV in her bedroom.

Barnes hopes to live with Jackson for a long time. "She needs someone, and I need someone," she says. "It's nice to feel needed and wanted and have companionship, too."

Sharing a home has solved some big problems for Robert Knippenberg and Raymond Buck Bryan as well.

For Knippenberg, a 31-year-old teacher of social issues at Bishop Lynch High School, moving in with Bryan was a way of putting talk into action.

Bryan knows firsthand about one of the issues that Knippenberg and his Bishop Lynch seniors discuss: the difficulty of remaining independent when you are physically disabled and living alone.

Until two years ago, Bryan, who is 87, worked in the credit department of Sterling Electronics. Then a stroke brought drastic changes to his way of life.

"My right side deserted me," Bryan says as he demonstrates how adept he has become at twisting out of his easy chair and into the wheelchair that does the job his legs used to do. "I've landed on the floor a couple of times."

Once he fell at night and had to stay on the floor until daylight, when someone found him and helped him up.

Family and friends began to consider nursing homes, but Bryan said no. More than 30 years ago, he and his first wife built the tidy, pink-brick house that Bryan still lives in. After she died, Bryan remarried and lived there with his second bride until she, too, died, about seven years ago. Since then, he has lived alone.

"It got pretty lonesome," he acknowledges, "but I have friends who'd come and visit."

His long night on the floor made Bryan realize that if he was going to stay in his home, he would have to have someone besides visiting friends around.

About that time, Knippenberg was thinking about buying a house. But with paying rent on an apartment and electric bills in the summer, he wasn't making any progress toward a home of his own.

Last summer, Knippenberg's friend Trautmann told him about the Shared Housing program, which is funded by state and federal grants and the Catholic Foundation.

To Knippenberg, it sounded like a good way to save money while doing something about the ideas he talks about in class.

So he moved in with Bryan. In exchange for a bedroom and a bathroom of his own, Knippenberg cooks dinner, does the housework, shops for groceries and drives Bryan to the doctor, the dentist and the barber.

The schoolteacher and the homeowner find life together relatively trouble-free.

"We don't discuss politics or religion, so we don't get into arguments," Knippenberg said. "We both smoke, and we like to watch TV together." When Bryan chooses a program that Knippenberg doesn't like, the younger man just opens a book and reads.

"This guy is real easy to live with," Bryan says. "He doesn't have any habits that bother me, except maybe eating too fast. That's the fastest eater I ever saw."

Knippenberg grins. "I guess I've been conditioned by 28-minute school lunch periods. The only thing about Buck that took me some adjusting is that he likes the house real warm in winter and not too cool in the summer. I like it cool in winter and really cold in summer."

Bryan chews on his pipe. He seems to be warming to this question of irritating habits.

"Sometimes he (Knippenberg) forgets to leave the front door unlocked in the morning, and my friends can't get in," he says. "And I sure wish he didn't go out so much at night." Then Bryan shrugs and grins. "We just cuss each other out and go on about our business. In a setup like this, you have to give and take."

Taking care of Bryan's house has given Knippenberg second thoughts about buying one of his own. "I'm discovering how much work a house is. I'm not sure I want to do that right now."

Besides, he's in no hurry to leave. Knippenberg says that he likes Bryan as much as Bryan likes him and that Bryan treats him like a son.

But Bryan shakes his head. "Nope," Bryan grins. "He's more like my father."

Sunday afternoon guests in the James McGaugh home included grandparents and great-grandparents of two week old son, Jay Dee McGaugh. Visitors were great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Alkire of Happy Union, near Plainview; grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Alexander and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Miller. Others who visited the new little boy were Linda Seymour of Floydada and Carla and Scott Miller. Mrs. C. M. Miller has been out several days helping June and the baby.

Mrs. Iantha Smith and Bob Care of Lubbock were united in marriage in a ceremony read March 28 in the country home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pyle. Guests included family members of the bridal couple. The bridegroom is assistant superintendent of New Deal schools. Iantha is employed in the office of Dr. Davis in Lubbock. This past Friday, Bob brought little eleven year old Michelle Smith to spend the week end with her grandparents, Louis and Virginia. Iantha came over on Sunday to take her back to their home in Lubbock.

Joe Thurston is going on with his everyday work now. His new hip is functioning just fine after replacement surgery.

David Pyle attended the Junior-Senior banquet Saturday night at Floydada.

Marlyse McGaugh and other high school juniors decorated for the banquet Friday night and enjoyed the festivities on Saturday.

A light rain fell Saturday but more is needed to save the wheat crop.

Michael McGaugh has recently gone to work in the sports good section of K-Mart in Plainview.

H.N. POWELL

Services for Harvey Powell of Mabank, Texas were at 3 p.m. Tuesday, April 22, in the Eubank Chapel with the Rev. Kenneth Hensley officiating. Graveside services in Baird Cemetery were conducted by the Mabank Masonic Lodge, led by Quinn Sowell. Mr. Powell was a 32nd Degree Mason.

Mr. Powell, 85, died at 9:30, Sunday morning in the Kemp Nursing Home where he had been moved from Presbyterian Hospital in Kaufman four days earlier. He had been in failing health for several months.

He was born in Canton, Van Zant County, June 19, 1900. He married Maude Bennington February 1, 1923 in Odam Community and made their home in Denton, Texas. They moved to the Dougherty Community in 1928. He entered the grocery business in 1942 and remained there until his retirement in 1967 when they moved back to East Texas.

He was preceded in death by a daughter, Nadine Johnson, in 1960.

Survivors include his wife; one son, Jimmy of Mabank; two daughters, Mrs. J.L. (Helen) Nichols of Shreveport and

PUBLIC NOTICES

PUBLIC NOTICE
CITY OF LOCKNEY
TEXAS COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT PROGRAM

The City of Lockney is planning to file an application with the Texas Department of Community Affairs, (TDCA) for a Texas Community Development Program (TCDP) grant. The City's application will be submitted to TDCA on or before June 30, 1986.

A public hearing will be held at 9:30 o'clock a.m. on May 8, 1986 at City Hall, to discuss the City's housing and community development needs.

All citizens are encouraged to attend this public hearing and present their views to the City. Written comments will be accepted by the City up until the time that the application is submitted to TDCA.

A second public hearing will be scheduled at a later date and announced by public notice to discuss the specific details of the application which the City of Lockney will be submitting to TDCA.

The basic intent of the TCDP program is to eliminate slums, blighted housing and deteriorated neighborhoods by providing improved streets; parks and community centers; improved utility systems; better drainage; and other public facilities. TCDP funds may also be used to support economic development activities.

For further information on the TCDP program, contact Erma Lee Duckworth, City Secretary, at 652-2355. Handicapped individuals who might have trouble in attending this hearing should contact City Hall to arrange for special assistance.

Lighthouse Electric Cooperative holds annual meeting

The 47th annual meeting of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative was held Saturday, April 26, at the cooperative headquarters in Floydada.

Over 600 members and guests dined on barbecue while listening to toe-tapping musical entertainment of Rick Sudduth and the Blue Denim Band.

Board president Cecil Baxter called the business meeting to order and welcomed members and guests. The invocation was voiced by the Reverend Earl Blair of the Floydada First United Methodist Church. Kay Rainwater of Floydada, a third generation member of Lighthouse Electric Cooperative, served as emcee and conducted the prize drawings throughout the meeting. Board secretary Louis Lloyd was in charge of roll call, the reading of the minutes of last year's meeting, and the reading of the Notice of Meeting.

Cooperative attorney Harry Jung presented the Nominating Committee Report, introduced the Director nominees, and conducted the election of directors. Members of the ballot counting committee were Elmer Dean Williams, Blake Lyde, T.J. Taylor, Virgil Brasher, Tom Porter, Ray Lloyd, Harold Brasher and J.R. Turner. Incumbents Gaylord Groce of District 6, Jerrold Vinson of District 7, and James Richard of District 9 were re-elected to the Board of Directors.

Board member J.W. Jackson introduced special guests in attendance. This was followed by the audit report given by Robert Cobb representing the firm of Bolinger, Segars, Gilbert and Moss, Certified Public Accountants.

In his report to the membership, General Manager Alton Higginbotham called attention to the largest expense faced by the Cooperative, wholesale power costs. Higginbotham then introduced Bob Bryant, General Manager of Golden Spread Electric Cooperative, who reported on the activities of Golden Spread in an effort to help control the rising costs of wholesale power.

Bryant reported that Golden Spread had intervened before the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission in two wholesale rate increase requests by our wholesale supplier. In 1984 the company had asked for a $12 million dollar increase in wholesale rates, but it is anticipated that the final order will allow them only $6.6 to $7 million, resulting in a significant savings for member cooperatives compared to what the costs would have been had the full increase been approved. In 1985 the company again asked for a rate increase, this time of $4 million. Bryant reported that he feels the final ruling in this case will also favor the cooperatives' position.

Bryant also reported on Golden Spread's participation in a case before the Texas Public Utility Commission which resulted in our wholesale power supplier postponing the building of a new coal-fired generating plant. The cooperatives' share of the fixed costs alone of this plant would have been $35 million annually.

Golden Spread at times also supports our wholesale supplier. Bryant recently appeared before the PUC in Austin on behalf of the company in a case involving a cogenerator. He assisted the company in working out an agreement with the cogenerator that he feels will be beneficial to both their wholesale and retail customers.

Following the announcement of the election results by Harry Jung, General Manager Higginbotham recognized the oldest and youngest members present. A $50 credit on their electric bill went to W.F. Saul, 89, of Flomot, and Dwight Jackson, Jr., 23, of Lockney.

Door prizes were given throughout the meeting. The grand prize, a choice of several appliances, was won by Penny Ogden of Floydada.

The following is a list of the other prize winners: Sharon Rainwater, Dougherty; G.W. Smith, Floydada; Grigsby Milton Jr., Floydada; Victor Smith, Floydada; Eva George, Plainview; Maxine Hill, Lockney; Mrs. Floyd Bradford, Floydada; Mrs. F.E. Nichols, Northfield; Mrs. Harold Burk, Esteline; Mrs. Jerrold Vinson, Floydada; A.L. Let's talk.
Information about your changing telephone service from Jim West, Manager-Community Relations

Recognizing Texas' volunteer workers
President Reagan has set aside April as "National Volunteer Month" to honor people from all walks of life who make our country a better place to live through volunteer work. Therefore, it seems only appropriate for me to take this opportunity to salute the thousands of virtually anonymous volunteers across our state, including our 34,000 Texas employees. In these times of federal and state budget cutbacks, it has never been more important for all of us to devote time and money to those who need our help. It's not surprising to me that so many Texans have responded to the call. We have a legacy of reaching out to our neighbors in times of need. This same spirit of service is deeply imbedded in Southwestern Bell Telephone's history. Community involvement has been a way of life for our employees for more than a century in Texas. Often their work goes unnoticed, which is the case with most volunteer efforts. Frankly, our volunteers would not have it any other way. Unfortunately, surveys show most people see big companies like ours as impersonal, even cold. While it's true we are one of the largest Texas companies, we are still made up of individuals who care about their neighbors. It shows in the volunteer work and our concern for customer service.

SWBT receives Governor's Award
That's why it was gratifying to learn recently that Southwestern Bell Telephone employees have been named recipients of the 1986 Governor's Award for Outstanding Volunteer Service. The award was presented to the company by Texas First Lady Linda Gale White at an Austin ceremony. In making the presentation, the awards committee cited employee participation in a wide variety of areas, including the important field of education. For example, our employees are involved in programs such as Communities in Schools, which encourages students to stay in school and complete their education. Others work with Adopt-A-School programs, tutoring high-school-age youths in math, reading and English to help them get their diploma. Some employees teach the unskilled in special tuition-free programs called Basic Employee Skills Training (BEST). They are giving others a chance to learn the skills they need to get a job in today's market. They not only teach classes, but plan them as well. Working with local groups, our employee Community Relations Teams try to identify and solve various community concerns and problems. CR Teams work with major charities while raising money and devoting time to nursing homes, homes for the mentally handicapped and children's hospitals. In some areas, our repair and installation technicians who work outside also have started a program called "Crime Watch." Local police departments train them to identify and quickly report suspicious activities. They become the eyes and ears of the community's fight against crime.

Monetary contributions count, too
Employees give more than their own time—likewise, they also show concern by opening their checkbooks. In 1985, employees donated more than $3.1 million to United Way and thousands more to other worthy causes, including educational and cultural programs in Texas. Our volunteer employees and all volunteer workers from across the state are indeed special. They're the kind of people who make us proud to call Texas home.
