Commissioner race spotlights run-off

a view from The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

We are happy to report that, at long last, someone is trying to do something about a problem that has been around for years, and which we have been hollering about for almost as long.

For many years the government of the United States has been providing money through one means or another by which foreign governments have boosted their agricultural production in direct competition to our own farmers. The problem was compounded manifold by President Carter's decision to interrupt the sale of grain to the Soviet Union years ago. Foreign producers quickly filled the gap, and have been increasing their market share ever since, thanks to the help they have received from the World Bank and similar institutions.

We do not control the votes in the World Bank, of course, but we give lots of money to the organization for lending around the world. During the reign of Robert McNamara, Lyndon Johnson's Spotlight will be on the Precinct Four commissioner's race when Floyd County voters return to the polls this Saturday to cast their ballots in the Democratic Primary run-off election. This contest pits incumbent Jack Lackey against challenger Don Green.

Only registered voters residing within Precinct Four will be eligible to express

124 absentee ballots cast

Of the 124 absentee votes cast in the Democratic run-off, 118 came from Precinct Four where the commissioner position will be decided Saturday.

According to information from County Clerk after absentee balloting had concluded at 5 p.m. Tuesday, the Precinct Four breakdown included eight votes from Baker, nine from Dougherty and 101 from Southeast Floydada.

The six non-Precinct Four ballots included: two from Southwest Floydada, two from West Lockney and two from Northeast Floydada.

All 124 absentee votes were for the Democratic Primary run-off. No Republican absentee ballots were cast, according to Miss Collier.

Adult probation misunderstood?

There is a feeling among many in the criminal justice system that adult probation is misunderstood by the public and even some in the law enforcement field.

The adult probation office, located in the Floyd County Courthouse, is the district office which is responsible for probationers in the four counties of Floyd, Briscoe, Motley, and Dickens. The district covers an area of 3,745 square miles and monitors a total case load of 373 cases.

June Ware, the chief probation officer, explains that, "When we say we monitor a case load of 373 cases it means we are keeping up with the activities and locations of that many. It does not mean we are in direct supervision with that many. With direct supervision you meet with the probationer on a regular basis and monitor every aspect of his life."

Presently under direct supervision in the four counties, according to Ware, are 63 felony cases and 116 misdemeanor cases. A small percentage of the cases are courtesy supervisions, whereby the department supervises probationers from another district. Thirteen of the 63 felony cases and 34 of the 116 misdemeanor cases are courtesy supervisions.

The staff in the adult probation office consists of only one full time officer, June Ware, and two part time officers, James Williams and Nathan Mulder. The secretary, Winona Jackson works for both the adult and juvenile probation office.

"One of the most misunderstood aspects of our office," says Ware, "is that people think we are on the county payroll. I want people to understand that we are not on the county payroll. The department is operated on a combination of state per capita funds and probation fees."

"Per capita funding is at the rate of 75 cents per day for felonies and 40 cents per day for misdemeanors. The probation fees are assessed by the court and are paid by the probationer, not the taxpayer. Probation fees are considered to be part of the punishment. At this time mid point in our fiscal year, we have collected 33% of our total projected budget in fees," explains Ware.

The adult probation per capita funds are then appropriated by the state legislature for the Texas Adult Probation Commission. They, in turn, disburse the funds to the various adult probation departments according to the number of probationers under direct supervision by the district. "A monthly statistical report," says Ware, "is sent to TAPC by individual departments whereby state funds are calculated."

In the 110th Judicial District from April 1986-April 1987 there were 46 felonies and 148 misdemeanor cases added to the probation officers caseload by the courts. In that same years time seven felony cases and 86 misdemeanor cases expired successfully. Eighteen felony cases were revoked and sent to TDC and four misdemeanor cases were revoked and sent to the county jail.

"Of those cases added by the courts," says Ware, "31 felonies were added from Floyd County alone and 79 misdemeanors were added. The misdemeanor or county cases are mostly DWI's. For example, in January 1986, 92 percent of the misdemeanor cases were DWI's."

"I realize," said Ware, "that probation should not be given to all individuals convicted of a crime, but for most offenses, especially first time offenders, probation is a better alternative."

"Under probation, supervision of convicted felons is extended over a longer period of time than with parolees," said Ware. "When a person is sentenced to five years in prison even though it sounds harsh, people don't realize that the length of stay in TDC may be calculated, at this time, at a month per year ratio. For example, an individual sentenced to five years will be back on the street in five months (paroled) and largely unsupervised. (See Chart). On the other hand, an individual on probation for five years will be supervised for five years.

"For the taxpayer," says Ware, "adult probation is also more cost effective than incarceration in TDC or the county jail. In terms of cost per day, TDC is $522.50 per day, while adult probation intensive supervision is $4.50 per day, and regular felony probation is 74 cents per day. For misdemeanor probation the cost is 40 cents per day compared to $15.00 per day in the county jail. To incarcerate the number of misdemeanor cases would require an incalculable expense to the taxpayer wherein large capacity jails would need to be built and maintained. At the present time the various county courts have 172 cases on probation and the

Tom Moore retires as Floyd ASCS director

A vital fixture at the Floyd County ASCS office for 20 years is missing: Tom Moore. His retirement became effective last Friday, May 30.

Moore, longtime Floyd County executive director here, had been associated with the ASCS for 37 years, including the past 20 years in Floydada. He joined the federal agricultural service January 12, 1949 in Matador and transferred to this county May 23, 1966.

"I have enjoyed working with the farmers of Floyd County," Moore told The Hesperian on Monday. He added that "This office has an excellent staff of employees."

The county ASCS committee is to meet Friday, June 13, to choose Moore's successor. Nancy Bishop presently is the acting director.

The retired ASCS county executive director and his wife, Billie B. Moore, will "continue to make Floydada our home." They are members of the First Baptist Church.

The couple are parents of six offspring: Luis Moore of Dumas, Brenda Watson of Floydada, Mike Moore of Plainview, Cindy Fuller of Floydada, Steve Moore and Bill Moore, both of Lubbock. They have 10 grandchildren.

Lone Star Wagon Train reveals August 30-31 visit to Floydada

"In the far distance, the slick of horses hooves echoed across the vast wilderness. The crunch of wagon wheels close behind — and every now and then, the faint creak of harness and sounds of voices with laughter in them. We heard — we had to be part of this great adventure."

These words were written in 1854, but could just as easily have been written in 1986 as the Sesquicentennial Wagon Train geared up to circle the state of Texas, according to Karen Stauber of the Sesquicentennial Trail Ride Association.

Six months on the road and 3000 miles has still left a lot of this state untouched, notes Stauber. A continuation of the original wagon train is now forming to begin an 1800 mile journey through the inner circle of Texas cities not visited by the first train.

Scheduled to leave Weatherford on July 7, the train is planned to make 15 to 20 miles a day. The participants will be living in the open and practicing the old ways as they become living symbols of the men, women, and children who battled nature and other foes to settle this vast land.

Saturdays and Sundays are set to be rest days for the train. This will also allow the public to visit the train and join in the festivities celebrating this 150th anniversary of the state.

Floydada is scheduled to be a weekend stop for the train. The itinerary calls for a stop in Matador on August 29 and a weekend camp in Floydada on August 30 and 31. September 1, Labor Day, will find the group on the road to Ralls.

Fred Shivers has indicated his willingness to serve as wagonmaster for the trip, according to A. N. Graham, president of LSTRA. Acting in the capacity of advisor will be Don Stringer. Anyone wishing to participate in or sponsor the train can obtain further information by contacting the association at P.O. Box 1032, Taylor, Texas 76574.

The Lone Star Wagon Train will make final camp in Austin the weekend of November 28, 29, and 30 as the moving community prepares to disband and return to "civilian" life.

McLain's Pig Iron Porkers cook off grand champions

A Memphis, Tenn., bricklayer's sons slow-cooked a whole pig for 30 hours to win the grand championship recently of the ninth annual Memphis in May Festival's international barbecue cooking contest.

"We haven't got a head cook, we just get together and do the best we can," said Michael C. McLain of the Pig Iron Porkers team that went home with the $5,000 first prize, half of the total prize kitty.

Cloudy weather and occasional rain reduced the international barbecue cooking contest's crowd but failed to dampen the spirit of the competitors, who included a governor, two senators and a pro football coach. Contestants hailed from as far away as Canada, Ireland and Norway.

The 11-member team was chosen grand champion of the cook off, which drew more than 300,000 people to Tom Lee Park on the banks of the Mississippi River.

The Porkers were headed by Michael, Tim, Tom and Stephen McLain, the sons of C. E. McLain, a Memphis bricklayer, who joined his children in preparing the barbecued hog.

The father is a former Sand Hill community resident.

"We spent very little money," Michael McLain said. "But we put a lot of work into it."

The team used a homemade cooker large enough to hide a small car and a barbecue sauce based on lemon juice, soy sauce, brown sugar, honey and Hungarian hot paprika.

In submitting information to The Hesperian, Clifton E. McLain stated: "I just thought that you and some of your readers might like to know how an ex-resident of the Sand Hill community and family like to spend some time together. This Memphis in May was the beginning of our third year of competitive cooking.

"In 1985, we entered four contests. In Jackson, Tenn., the Tennessee National Barbecue Cooking Contest, we won first whole hog, first ribs and grand champion; in the Mid-South Barbecue Contest and Festival, we won first whole hog, first shoulders, fifth ribs and grand champion.

"Each contest is like a three-day family reunion which includes visits of many friends and neighbors.

"Besides the $5,000 grand championship money we received $750 for first place whole hog and two round-trip airline tickets, from Republic, to any place in the world that their flights go."

McLain describes himself as "a father who takes pride in his sons, their wives and grandchildren."

Story of the McLain's victory in the Memphis competition has received national attention.

appointee as head of that bank, massive sums were sent hither and yon to boost the productive capacity of so-called "third world" countries. McNamara had a big heart, and small brain. He was in love with the third worlders.

Now our own Congressman Beau Boulter, from his lofty position on the house Budget Committee, has introduced legislation, along with Senator Symms of Idaho, to remedy the situation. Boulter's legislation would require the Treasury Department to instruct the U.S. executive directors of the multilateral banks to vote against all loans for the production of exported agriculture commodities already in surplus on world markets. If those loans are approved despite U.S. objections, the U.S. share of contributions to the lending institutions would be reduced by an amount equal to the U.S. share of each loan.

The Boulter-Symms legislation is known as the Foreign Agriculture Investment Reform act (FAIR) and hearings on it have been held by the Joint Economic Committee. If enough support can be generated by the various farm groups, perhaps the measure can get through a Congress that has not been all that concerned about the matter for many years. At least we now have someone up there willing and able to carry the ball, which is a good sign in itself.

Additional junior high award winners

Three names were inadvertently omitted from the listing of award winners at the Junior High Awards Assembly last week. Stephanie Zimmerman should have been included among the names of the 8th graders who maintained an average of 90 or more with no grades below 80 to make the honor roll.

Anita McCormick and Randall Simms should have been listed as winners of Math awards in the 8th grade.

total jail space, in this district, is 15."

Every aspect of a probationer's life is monitored by the probation officer. For example, a probationer is in violation if he/she leaves the county overnight without the permission of his/her officer. Also, anytime during their term or probation they have the threat of being revoked and going to TDC for the full term. For instance, if a person has been on probation for 4½ years of a five year sentence and violates the terms of his probation, he can be sentenced to TDC for the full five years.

An additional aspect of probation is that probationers are allowed to live at home and are required to support their families. They also are able to pay fines, court costs, attorney fees, and restitution. For example, according to Ware, the 110th Judicial District Adult Probation Department has collected in the past year of April 1985-April 1986, $27,079.30 in court costs, fines and attorneys fees, and $12,850.29 in restitution, all paid for by the probationer.

"Further," explains Ware, "an officer has the opportunity to touch the lives of probationers in a positive manner. Probationer's risks and needs are regularly assessed and a supervision plan is formulated for the individual probationer. If it is needed, counseling may be required at the probationer's own expense."

FLOMOT COOKBOOK

The Do-Gooders Club of Flomot is working on a cookbook to be sold at the Tri-Annual Homecoming in July 1987. Money from the sale of the cookbook will be used for repairs on the Community Center building. Anyone who is an ex-student, ex-resident, current resident, or has any connection of Flomot in any way is requested to send in one of several of her favorite recipes, including the individual's name and other desired information. Send recipes to: Mrs. Howard Rogers, Route 1, Flomot, Texas 79234 before July 10.

Mackenzie Bass reportedly move into shallow water

Bass have moved into shallow water at Mackenzie Lake, according to a report early this week. "Several nice 2½ to 3 pound bass have been caught, using buss baits in three feet of water up Tule and Cope creeks," say Mackenzie Water Authority personnel.

Crappie are being caught in 15 feet of water, with the best time of day being late evening and minnows described as the best bait.

Catfishing is still improving with "fish coming out of Deadman and Tule creeks in 15 feet of water. Most are being caught on large minnows and perch."

Hybrid strippers are in the "two to five pound range". They are being caught in the late evening hours trolling in the main part of the lake.

Walleye catchers are "still slow". The lake depth is at 112 feet, and the water temperature was placed Tuesday at 68 degrees.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT FOUR FLOYD COUNTY, TEXAS

The supporters of James C. (Jack) Lackey request that you consider the following facts before you vote in the Commissioner's race on June 7, 1986.

1. Jack Lackey needs the job and will devote his full time to the job as he has done in the past Twelve years.
2. Jack Lackey has been the most conservative member of the Commissioners Court and many times has stood alone in opposing unnecessary expenditures of County funds.
3. The difficult economic conditions that exist today in our Agricultural Economy have had such adverse effect on the Farmers and Merchants that it is more important than ever before to elect a Commissioners Court that will conserve the Taxpayers Funds.

We hope that you will give due consideration to the facts and will vote for Jack Lackey on June 7, 1986.

Rain ... finally!

2.36 inches fall in hour Monday

Calf rope!
That's what farmers were generally saying early this week as they are ready for a temporary reprieve from moisture in order to "get our cotton going and to get wheat harvested."
"We need to see the sun shine for a while," one producer said -- and numerous others were thinking -- Tuesday.
Two weeks ago, rainfall was needed throughout much of Floyd County. In fact, additional moisture could still be used in certain areas.
"It's been pretty spotty here," a Dougherty resident told The Hesperian on Tuesday afternoon. This was particularly true north of Dougherty, the resident said. Much of the eastern portions of the county are "light" on top-soil moisture.

2.36 INCHES IN ONE HOUR MONDAY

Floydada received 2.36 inches "in an hour, from 12:15 to 1:15" Tuesday, which caught many residents during their lunch break. Jon LaBaume quoted this measurement, although he noted that rainfall was lighter in other portions of town.

Water temporarily overflowed roads following the "miniature flash flood."
Lockney had heavy rainfall Saturday night. Sources contacted by this newspaper place Floydada's moisture total at 3.32 inches and Lockney's at 3 inches since late last week. With typical spring thunderstorms, amounts vary within the same towns and communities.

In addition to the two county towns, heaviest moisture was reported at Barwise, 3.4 inches, and at McCoy, "over three inches."
By contrast, the lightest rainfall was "1.3 to 1.4" inches in the Lakeview community. Although there were exceptions, western segments of the county generally had greater falls than eastern portions. This pattern has generally held true throughout the spring.

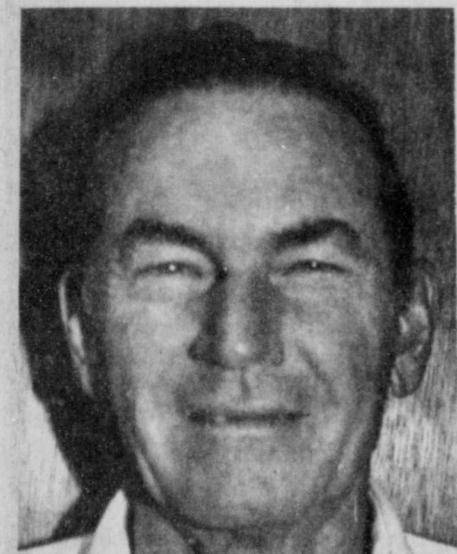

County totals remain "below normal for the year" despite the late May and early June moisture.

According to comments from producers, some replanting of fall crops is anticipated. Also, some acreage has not been planted the first time.

Stanley Pierce injured in Monday mishap

Stanley Pierce underwent surgery "to his mouth" Wednesday morning at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock to correct injuries suffered late Monday afternoon on his farm, about eight miles south of Floydada.

According to a family member, Pierce and five other men were just completing "working cattle" and were taking down fences. The victim reportedly was moving a steel panel when a cow "kicked the end of the panel," causing it to strike Pierce in the mouth area.

"Apparently the panel touched the cow and frightened her," The Hesperian was told.

The injured man was brought to Caprock Hospital by private vehicle and transferred the same day to the Lubbock hospital. He did not suffer a broken nose, as was initially feared.

Pierce expects to return home "by the weekend."

Floydada High FHA-HERO News

By Lucy Flores

Our chapter met in the Home Ec. room Wednesday, April 30, 1986 at 9 a.m. President Sharlene Hill conducted the meeting. Donna Cooper led in repeating the FHA Creed. Secretary Stacy Rucker read minutes of the last meeting in March when we made Easter baskets for Early Childhood class. We also gave a farewell party then for Melissa Perez, who was president and moved to Lubbock. She said our class was more like a family than a class and we were all like her sisters.

The delegates to the State FHA-HERO meeting in Dallas reported on their trip. Delegates were Donna Cooper, Rachel Boyd, Kellie Van Cleve, Lisa Galvan, (high school) and Elvia and Noelia Huerta and Mary Garza in Junior High. They traveled to Dallas in Mrs. Williams van. The first night they stayed as guests in Gardner Hall (girls' dorm) at Abilene Christian University on Thursday, April 24. In Dallas they stayed at the headquarters hotel, the Hyatt-Regency. They got dressed up and rode a taxi to the Old Spaghetti Warehouse restaurant for dinner and then went to the Dallas Convention Center. They also went to the meetings on Saturday. Saturday night they went to Six Flags over Texas and stayed across the street in the Roadway Inn. While at the convention they heard inspiring speakers who told how they had changed their lives for the better in spite of a bad start. They saw students from all over Texas. They bought FHA-HERO pins and a gavel for members and the president.

At our chapter meeting a bouquet of fresh red roses centered the table. The advisor, Mrs. Joyce Williams gave each member and officer their pin, officer guard and a red rose. The red rose is the official flower.

Hostesses, Lisa Galvan, Rosa Linda Maldonado and Laura Boyd, served homemade Milky Way bar ice cream, cookies and punch.

Lakeview News

By Joyce Williams

May 22:

Verner Bradshaw died about 9 a.m. Sunday morning, May 18, 1986 in Caprock Hospital. He was buried Tuesday at the Floydada cemetery beside his late wife. The Bradshaws owned the Lakeview Store in the 1960's, closing it in 1970 due to their health. Many a good meal was eaten around their lunch counter, operated by Mrs. Bradshaw and her sister, Ellen. While Mr. Bradshaw fixed flats and ran the front, those ladies cooked home-style meals to serve. Diners would occupy every chair, sit on the counter, the coke box and even lean against the meat case, eating their lunch. After the Lakeview school closed, elections were held in the store. The place was so popular it wore the Bradshaws out and they sold off their equipment and stock and retired.

Wheat farmers had baled some wheat before it ripened, but most have left it to cut. Harvest crews are working below the Caprock and will be on the Plains soon.

A light rain varied from 1/4 inch to 1/2 inch Saturday. Cold temperatures dropped to 49° Saturday.

Graduation services at Lubbock Christian College were attended week-end before last by Mrs. Q.D. Williams, who saw her niece, Miss Lou Lee graduate from the school of education. Parents marched with their graduates and placed the hood over their shoulders, to symbolize their joint participation in the years of college study and expense. All the family ate lunch at a restaurant afterwards.

Misses Teresa Gentry and Marlyse McLaugh were honored for achievement during the high school band concert Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, Ashleigh and Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Monte Williams, and Mrs. Q.D. Williams met with relatives to honor Ford Miller at the Travel Lodge in Lubbock. Ford's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Miller, of Stonewall, Oklahoma served a buffet of snacks and sandwiches to relatives, friends and teachers during the afternoon.

The Old Settler's parade is rumored to be an outstanding event this year. See you all there.

May 29:

Hunter Smith, son of Judge and Mrs. Choise Smith, was elected to Floydada High School student council for next school year.

Seating facilities have been constructed on the hillside of Blanco Canyon for the prairie drama by the Crosby County group. They had a covered wagon full of Crosby County people in the Sesquicentennial wagon train at Matador Monday. Mrs. Jean Appling and Georgia Mae Erickson were among the visitors in Matador.

Mrs. Bobby Kendrick, of the 1950 Study Club's education committee, presented graduating senior, Sara Guzman, with a gift certificate for her senior pictures last Tuesday, May 20, at the Della Plains gym. An awards program was held for all the vocational classes. Superintendent Jerry Cannon welcomed the parents and guests.

The Old Settlers Parade Saturday was one of the best ever in Floydada. Lon Davis and his committee are a credit to our community for the excellent program they presented throughout the day. Weather was warm, not hot, with a slight overcast. The courthouse lawn was beautifully groomed for the week-end. School children, old timers, returnees, all mingled and visited beneath the tall shade trees and the pavilion. The "Texas" dancers from West Texas State University performed gracefully. The museum sold about four hundred dollars worth of memberships, afghan chances, and Sesquicentennial coins during the day.

Settlers audience Saturday morning. They also rode in the parade in a pick-up. Mrs. Beverly Harrison helped with the driving.

About 1 1/2 inches of rain fell over our community Saturday night, Sunday, and Monday. Many, many Floydada, Lakeview and Mt. Blanco people were in Matador to greet the Sesquicentennial wagon train Monday afternoon. These included Norman Muncy, who spent the night there, to be ready at 4:00 a.m. to start cooking breakfast for the travelers on Tuesday. Mrs. Muncy, Mrs. Bob Muncy, Mrs. Mae Garret, Penny and Mike Giesecke, Ann Glasscock, Angie and Tate were among the watchers at the Matador parade Monday.

Mrs. Beverly Harrison took her sons to Turkey Sunday and all walked around among the campgrounds of the Sesquicentennial wagon train. The entire family was in Matador Monday.

Delicious barbeque beef prepared by Walter Jones of Matador was enjoyed Monday after the wagon train parade by Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, Austin and Ashleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Monte Williams, Amanda and Tara; and Mr. and Mrs. Q.D. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Kendrick were in Matador Monday to see the wagon train, the arts and crafts booths and all the other sights.

Austin and Ashleigh Williams rode horses in the Floydada Old Settlers parade Saturday.

About 6 a.m. Friday morning as Bill Norris and Q.D. Williams were going past Crawford Draw bridge in Crosby County, on their way to help Tom Taylor work cattle, they noticed an overturned car. Upon investigation it proved to be the totally demolished flattened pick-up driven by Miss Sara Lea. Other cars stopped to render aid and the medics and jaws of life were brought from Crosbyton.

Miss Lea had worked on area ranches, and was working as bookkeeper at the Mt. Blanco gin at the time of her death. She had apparently been returning home from Lubbock when her car hit the bridgepost and flipped, overturning and crushing her inside. Her parents arrived in Lubbock Friday and took her body home to El Paso for burial.

Greg Bishop has finished his work on the country home of his grandfather the late Holt Bishop. Greg moved his belongings in Monday, Memorial Day, and took up residence in Lakeview again.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hammonds took a picnic lunch to Matador and ate in the park before spending the afternoon looking at the crafts and exhibits on Monday.

Wheat harvest was just about to get started in some Lakeview fields where the week-end rain put a stop to field work.

Charlie Wright attended the Floyd County Old Settlers Reunion Saturday.

The serving table was laid with a light blue cloth and featured a white cake adorned with white bells and blue roses. Colonel Dempsey taking command of Dyess wing

Colonel Robert E. Dempsey, a Floydada High School graduate, will assume command of the 96th Bombardment Wing-B, Bombers at Dyess Air Force Base on June 18. The base is located at Abilene.

Colonel Dempsey's mother, Mrs. Dennis Dempsey, and a sister, Mrs. Jan Thayer, reside in Floydada. Another sister, Patty Baker, makes her home in Las Vegas, Nev., and a brother, Jim, lives in Keller, Tex.

At present, Colonel Dempsey is commander of the 93rd Bombardment Wing at Castle Air Force Base, Calif. The 93rd Bombardment Wing trains all Strategic Air Command combat crews in the B-52G as well as the KC-135.

Colonel Dempsey was born Nov. 12, 1941 in Gallup, N.M. His family moved to Lubbock in April 1942 and then to Floydada, where he graduated from Floydada High School in 1960. He attended the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado Springs, Colo., graduating in 1964, and later received a master of science degree in systems management in 1971 from the University of Southern California.

He also is a graduate of the Air War College, Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala., in May 1978.

Following graduation from the Air Force Academy, Dempsey attended pilot training at Webb Air Force Base, Tex., and was assigned to the 9th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron at Shaw Air Force Base, S.C., flying RF-4C aircraft. While at Shaw, he also served as the wing executive officer for the 363rd Tactical Reconnaissance Wing. In May 1967, Colonel Dempsey was sent to Bergstrom Air Force Base in Texas, where he upgraded to aircraft commander in the RF-4C enroute to Tan Son Nhut Air Base, Republic of Vietnam.

From November 1967 to November 1968, Colonel Dempsey flew 201 combat missions, 55 over North Vietnam. In December 1968, Colonel Dempsey was assigned to the 38th Tactical Reconnaissance Squadron at Ramstein Air Base, Germany, where he was the top American pilot in the NATO Royal Flush competition in both 1970 and 1971.

After upgrading to instructor and standardization and evaluation flight examiner, he was selected for duty with the inspector general, U.S. Air Forces in Europe, flying all models of F-4 aircraft from June 1971-June 1973. Colonel Dempsey's next assignment was to Headquarters U.S. Air Force, Directorate of Plans, Europe/NATO Plans and Policy, from July 1973-July 1977. He specialized in United Kingdom, German and Spanish matters, as well as European planning matters.

In July 1978, after completing Air War College, he was assigned to the 69th Bombardment Squadron at Loring Air Force Base, Maine, flying B-52. In early 1979, he became commander of the 69th Bombardment Squadron and served in that capacity until July 1980.

Colonel Dempsey was assigned to Barksdale Air Force Base, La., in July 1980, and became the assistant deputy commander for operations for the 2nd Bomb Wing until November 1981, when he took over as the deputy commander for operations.

Colonel Dempsey served as vice commander of Castle's 93rd Bombardment Wing from May 1982 to April 1984. He assumed his present duties on April 19, 1984.

The former Floydada resident is a command pilot with more than 3,000 flying hours. His military awards and decorations include the Distinguished Flying Cross with one oak leaf cluster, the Meritorious Service Medal with three oak leaf clusters, the Air Medal with 12 oak leaf clusters, the Vietnamese Air Service Medal, and the Combat Readiness Medal.

Wagon train breakfast

Far down the road Wagon Train participants were still raving about the courtesy breakfast given in their honor in Matador on May 27. Feather light sourdough biscuits, country fried steak, creamy white gravy, boiled campfire coffee, and ribbon cane syrup were served to early risers as the bell at the Methodist church tolled "Come and Get It!"

"When you have had an overabundance of chili and barbeque, you really appreciate good old steak and gravy," one teamster offered while mopping up his plate. Another group which really seemed to appreciate the food was the boys from McCrossan Boys Ranch in South Dakota, eating as only boys can.

The Matador Cattle Company graciously furnished the tenderized round steak for the 400 participants. Donating cash for other crucial supplies were Mrs. Fred Zimmerman Jr., Mr. and Mrs. J.R. Turner, Dr. June Meador, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Archer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Campbell, and Mac Smitherman.

S.C. Bureson and L.B. Campbell ably served as co-chairmen for the community effort which involved over forty volunteers from a wide area. Many of the donors or helpers were from Floydada. A chuckwagon and cook tent were set up at the Boy Scout Hut in City Park in preparation for the cookout.

Eddie Fortenberry made biscuits at the drop leaf table of the chuckbox while Donnie Bybee kept the dutchovens hot and filled, using mesquite coals to cook the bread. Bill and June Moss ferried pans of additional biscuits from the school oven. J.A. Welch served the gravy with distinction, often to repeat customers with a plateful of open biscuits.

White Tom Ross, Todd Beedy, Jon Jones and Chris Fulton breaded the cutlets, Lane Decker, Travis Jones, Norman Muncy, Laron Fulton and others cooked the steak to perfection over butane burners. Lewis Bostick poured the boiled coffee with a flair.

Others helping with these tasks or others too numerous to mention were: Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Hinsley, Henry Guitierrez, Steve Bostick, Rover Smitherman, J.H. Lane, Jim Roberts, Jerry Roberts, Billy and Marihelen Wason, Amelia Fortenberry, Vera Bybee, M.C. Jones, Gene Bloys, Kenny Barton, Kirk Brock, Bev Brock, Bill Jones, Fish Wilson, Mickie Bostick, Sue Bird, Zona Ruth Cammack, Dale and Jo Goen, Lou Bureson, and Cretia Campbell.

"Thanks and appreciation is extended to all who helped with the breakfast in any way, making it a big success.

With the outstanding welcome, the parade, and this breakfast those on the Wagon Train will long remember Motley County as a place of hospitality and friendship," said Wagon Train Spokesman Marisue Potts.

THEY ATE THE WHOLE THING—J.A. Welch was one of many who served a courtesy breakfast for wagon train participants in Matador, on May 27.

Thrips ready to attack

By Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology
Crosby-Floyd Counties

With cotton planting under way, Floyd County cotton farmers should make plans to battle thrips as they begin moving out of nearby maturing wheat. These insects are mainly a problem in fields bordering wheat and in fields planted before mid-May. Recent surveys have shown tremendous thrips numbers in South Plains wheat fields.

In studies conducted by Dr. James F. Leser, Extension entomologist at Lubbock, thrips feeding on seedling cotton have been reported to delay square initiation, reduce early square set, and cut yields substantially when they were a problem. According to Dr. Leser, it is too late to maximize the benefits of thrips control once damage is visible. Delay of treatment even one week after emergence has often resulted in loss of earliness and yield.

Where thrips move into cotton fields during the stand establishment period, preventive treatments produce higher yields than spray treatments based on visual damage or thrips numbers. Preventive treatments consist of seed treatments and infurrow applications of systemic insecticides.

The most popular seed treatments are the Orthene 80 seed protectant available commercially, or the Orthene 755 seed treatment applied in the planter box by the grower. These treatments provide three weeks control from the planting date. Sometimes this is long enough control, but in areas where cotton is planted early and wheat is an available source of thrips, four to six weeks of control can provide increased yield. This extended control can only be obtained by using systemic insecticides such as Temik, Thimet, Furadan, and Disyston.

Many of the producers in the county have the equipment necessary to apply these systemics at planting time. They should be aware that higher than recommended rates seldom give enough added control to provide economic returns. Also, higher rates can decrease plant stands, and can kill some beneficials that rely on plant tissue as a water source, according to Dr. Leser. Companies are liable only for performance at recommended rates.

Of these systemics, Thimet is cheapest at the labeled rate of 2.5 pounds an acre. Furadan is the most expensive at the labeled rate of 6.7 pounds an acre. However, the Extension Service currently has not attained enough information to provide research-based suggestions on the individual performance of these chemicals.

FmHA announces operation assist for farm financing

The Farmers Home Administration office in Floyd County will begin immediately to participate in "Operation Assist," Becky D. Via, county supervisor, announces.

Operation Assist is a new effort by FmHA to help farmers obtain guaranteed operating loans. County supervisors for FmHA will take completed farm credit application to local banks or other lenders, along with the farmer wishing to apply for a guaranteed loan.

"We will handcarry the applications and personally introduce the applicants to our local lenders," says Via. "We will present a complete loan package, including cash flows, financial statements, and appraisals. If necessary, we will make a commitment to work with the lender to do an interest buydown. We will do everything we can to help the lender, and the borrower, by committing to guarantee the loan at our maximum 90 percent."

While direct operating loan funds are used up in some areas, there is still nearly $800 million available for the guarantee program. County FmHA officials hope other lenders will make operating credit available under the guarantee, with most of the paperwork done beforehand by FmHA.

Borrowers and lenders interested in an FmHA guaranteed loan should contact the FmHA county office.

County farmers urged to run for FmHA County Committee

Eligible farmers in Floyd and Briscoe Counties are invited to become nominees for the Farmers Home Administration County Committee, FmHA County Supervisor Becky D. Via announced.

As a result of the 1985 farm bill, two of the three members of FmHA county committees must be elected. The third member is appointed by FmHA. The Floyd and Briscoe County Committee assists the FmHA county office in reviewing applications for FmHA farm loans and on other farm credit matters.

Generally, farmers who are residents of the county but not FmHA borrowers are eligible to become nominees for the FmHA County Committee.

"Farmers in this county, serving on the committee, can play an important role by assisting in the process of loan applications and reviews," said Becky Via.

For this first election only, two members will be elected at the same time. One will serve a one year term of office and the other will serve two years.

In the future, all terms of service will be for three years each on a staggered basis.

Nominating petitions must be returned to the FmHA Floyd County office June 10th, 1986.

Additional information and application forms for those who are interested in becoming nominees for the county committee are available at the FmHA county office, 107 W. California in Floydada, or by calling 806-983-2430.

Farm wife is worth $25,292.80 per year

By David Garst

Our society talks about the working woman as if she were someone new.

But consider the farm wife. For years, she has been mother, accountant, tax consultant, estate planner, secretary, field hand, purchasing agent, and even mechanic.

A research study conducted for the USDA in 1979 bears witness to the involvement of the modern farm wife. On the average, the study found, farm women are involved in at least half of everything that happens on the farm, including the above-mentioned tasks. And one in five farm women participate in 80 percent of all farm activities.

In fact, if farmers were to hire an extra person to handle everything farm wives do, they'd have to pay a whopping $25,292.80 a year, according to an article published by Farm Woman News.

Farm women also carry a lot of clout when it comes to making important decisions. The USDA study found that 50 percent of farm wives shared final decisions with their husbands about such matters as purchasing or selling land or equipment, and 30 percent helped make decisions about land rental, new production practices and marketing.

Today's farm wife also has a strong political voice. Two groups, American Agri-Women and Women Involved in Farm Economics (WIFE) actively lobby on behalf of American agriculture and have been instrumental in educating the general public about farm issues.

It's clear that the terms "farm wife" or "farm woman" don't adequately describe the career of women who live and work on the farm.

The truth is, the farm wife is one of this nation's most efficient and productive executives. And she does it all without ever having to set foot inside a corporate boardroom.

Boulter reveals

hike in CPR bids

Thirteenth District Congressman Beau Boulter (R-13) says that the U.S. Department of Agriculture has upped the maximum per acre bid for the Conservation Reserve Program in North Texas and the Panhandle.

"The second sign-up period for the CRP is completed," Boulter said, "and the USDA has agreed to a $40 maximum per acre bid for our region. That means we're going to see more program participation, which will be to the overall benefit of farmers and the conservation effort."

The Conservation Reserve Program, part of the 1985 Farm Bill, is designed to remove highly erodible land from production. The goal is to remove 40-45 million acres from production within the next five years.

During the initial sign-up period less than one million acres were placed in the program by farmers. Boulter, who said that the relative failure of the first sign-up was due to "poor program administration and a lack of equity in the way bids were accepted," arranged a meeting in Amarillo with the top USDA officials and local farmers.

"Our district," Boulter explained, "was given a lower maximum bid price than similar areas in both New Mexico and Oklahoma. Needless to say, our farmers were upset, and they let the USDA officials I brought to Amarillo know about it. As a result, the producers I represent will receive $40 per acre for qualified land."

The second sign-up period has seen a significant increase in acreage enrolled, with a total now reaching 3.8 million acres. Annual payments will be made to compensate farmers for retiring erodible land from production. Participating farmers will also be paid up to 50 percent of the costs of planting trees and grass on the acreage placed in the reserve.

Official figures released to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., by the Texas Crop and Livestock Reporting Service (TCLRS) show 1985 cotton production from the 25 PCG counties on the High Plains totaling 1,893,850 bales of 480-pounds net weight.

That is over 400,000 bales short of the 2,324,250 bale 1984 crop. It compares to the respective five and ten averages for the Plains through 1984 of 2,106,260 and 2,195,330. Record production for the 25-county area remains at 3,522,000 bales, produced in 1981.

TCLRS reported 3,051,800 planted acres for the Plains, 2,781,900 of which remained for harvest after an 8.8 percent abandonment. Blame for the loss of almost 270,000 acres, as usual, is shared by drought, wind and hail.

Abandonment in 1984 was 7.7 percent.

Ten-year average loss from planting to harvest on the Plains through 1984 was 12.1 percent, including the huge 35.4 percent loss of 1.3 million acres in 1982.

Average yield in 1985 was 326.8 pounds per acre, a hefty decrease from the 359.6-pound average of the previous year. Five-and ten-year average yields per harvested acre for the area through 1985 come to 325.7 and 328.8 pounds, respectively. All-time record yield was set 20 years ago in 1965 at 513 pounds per acre.

The chart below shows 1985 planted and harvested acres, yields per harvested acre and total production in 480-pound net weight bales for each of the 25 PCG counties.

AT&T PUBLIC NOTICE REGARDING REACH OUT™ Texas OPTIONAL CALLING PLAN

AT&T Communications of the Southwest, Inc. (AT&T) is seeking approval from the Public Utility Commission of Texas to continue the REACH OUT Texas long distance plan. REACH OUT Texas is an optional calling plan which offers customers the opportunity to save on long distance calls placed within the state of Texas.

The Public Utility Commission has required that AT&T show why the REACH OUT Texas plan should not expire by August 1, 1986. To meet this requirement, on March 7, 1986, AT&T filed an application with the Public Utility Commission, and asked that the August 1, 1986 termination date be removed. This request and the related proceeding have been designated as Docket No. 6761 by the Public Utility Commission, with hearings scheduled to begin June 18, 1986.

Currently more than 39,000 Texans subscribe to REACH OUT Texas service. REACH OUT Texas customers pay a one-time $6 charge to establish the service, and a monthly charge of $14 which entitles them to one hour of AT&T's intrastate/interlata "Direct Dialed" (1+) calling during the weekend and night rate periods. Customers also receive an additional 15 percent discount on the same type of AT&T long distance calls placed during the evening rate period. In addition, an hourly rate of $12, or $.20 per minute applies for weekend and night rate calls beyond the initial hour of calling provided under the REACH OUT Texas basic rate.

AT&T estimates current annual revenues generated by the REACH OUT Texas service to be over $14 million.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227 or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.

Stein is bank artist for June

Helga Stein of Shallowater will be displaying her still-life and portrait creations in the First National Bank of Floydada during the month of June. The bank is proud to present the works of this talented artist to the Floydada area.

Stein exhibited an early talent for art and attended Ray-Vogue School of Art in Chicago on a scholarship following her graduation from high school in Wisconsin. She pursued a career in design and commercial art after studying there.

Although her career has been interrupted by moves around the world with her career Air Force husband, Stein continued to study art. She had the opportunity to study with Ramon Franman, Lonnie Mason and Ben Konis as well as with Mr. Iaku Aoyama in Tokyo, Japan.

The past several years have been devoted to honing skills as a still-life and portrait artist. Stein works well in both oils and pastels and is recognized for her outstanding ability to capture likenesses and personalities in her portraits of children.

Stein has been commissioned to execute many portraits throughout the southwest and her still-lives are much in demand, usually selling upon completion. She has also been employed as an artist/illustrator for the Air Force and Johnson Space Center in Houston.

The quest for excellence is reflected in Stein's highly regarded art work. She has received a number of citations, purchase and first place awards during her art career.

The First National Bank of Floydada invites everyone to stop by and see the engaging works of this talented lady. Her canvases will be on display throughout the month of June during regular business hours in the lobby.

Results of wild flower show

The 1986 Old Settlers Wild Flower Show was a success in spite of the dry weather that preceded it. The 40 exhibitors creatively used the short supply of available wild flowers to garner a total of 22 awards in 7 divisions.

The Trudy Taylor Award was presented to Myrtle Finley. The winner of this award is determined by the flower show committee and usually goes to the exhibitor with the most blue ribbons. Since no individual won more than a single blue ribbon, this year's award was given to the exhibitor with the most total ribbons. Mrs. Finley received 1 first and 3 thirds to capture the honor.

Winners in each category were:

Division 1, Miniatures: 1st, Danika Dudley; 2nd, Tali Cage; 3rd, Myrtle Finley

Division 2, Unusual Container: 1st, Myrtle Finley; 2nd, Danika Dudley; 3rd, Shane Lloyd

Division 3, Antique Container: 1st, Tali Cage; 2nd, W. H. Finley; 3rd, Myrtle Finley

Division 4, Men's Arrangement: 1st, Russell McAnally; 2nd, W. H. Finley; 3rd, John Redding

Division 5, Youth: 1st, Stacy Lloyd; 2nd, Mack Lackey; 3rd, Danika Dudley

Division 6, Miscellaneous: 1st, Diana Glover; 2nd, Thelma Crawford; 3rd, Myrtle Finley

Division 7, Old Fashioned Mixed: 1st, Carey Switzer; 2nd, Elsie McAnally; 3rd, Judy Lloyd.

The placement committee for this year included Winnie Beedy, Edith Muncy, and Mamie Wood as chairman. Show judges were Ruth Walker, Mollie Huffman, and Scott Simpson.

The State Highway Department provided free maps of Texas and folders about Texas wild flowers for those attending.

Local supervisor Donnell Gowen also displayed a collection of photographs of Texas wild flower varieties for the enjoyment of those visiting the exhibit.
