Floydada makes rural fire service request

City Manager Bill Feuerbacher informed Floydada city council members that a letter stating the city's requests concerning rural fire service had been forwarded to county judge Choise Smith. No response was received before the September 2 meeting of the council.

According to Feuerbacher, the letter requested a "suitable firefighting vehicle" and $200 each time the city answers a fire call outside the city limits. This is in addition to the $3,000 yearly fee currently paid to the city by the county for fire service under a 14 year old agreement.

"This amount will not completely cover the cost the city incurs in providing rural fire service," said Mayor Pro Tem Wayne Russell, "but it will come a lot closer than what we get now."

Feuerbacher pointed out that the request was not unreasonable in light of the fees paid by other counties to cities around the area. "I have obtained figures from Lorenzo, Crosbyton and Ralls as well as others," he said, "and their annual fee runs anywhere from $5,000 to $7,000 plus a fee per call and equipment."

The council elected to table the issue, taking no further action until the Commissioners Court has had adequate time to assess the request and respond. The next scheduled meeting of the court is Monday, September 8 and a response is expected following that session.

Condemnation proceedings on the Drummond property at 625 W. Grover were approved following a public hearing. The council will advertise for demolition bids prior to the next council meeting in October.

Property at 120 W. Ollie carried on tax records under the name of Noah Crowley and property at 302 E. Jackson carried under the name of Marion Keith will be pursued for condemnation and

From reliable sources, but by circuitous means, we have arrived at the story of why they are going to get some new fencing at Lorenzo's Little League baseball field.

It seems that James Boydston of Ralls, who has had more than a few years dealing with cows, bulls, calves and things like that, took his young grandson, Justin, aged 8, over to Lubbock to buy a bull. The animal was loaded in a trailer behind the pickup and everybody headed back home. Everything went fine until they slowed down at Lorenzo, whereupon the bull jumped out of the trailer, and, somewhat skinned up, headed for Allsup's Convenience Store.

While the perplexed bull was contemplating the plate glass front at Allsup's, Mr. Boydston phoned a friend in Ralls to bring a roping horse, with rope. That took a while, since the horse wasn't standing around all saddled up. After causing a bit of excitement among customers of the store, the bull ambled down to the lumber yard, surveyed the scene, and then repaired to the Little League field, where youngsters were sent scurrying.

While all this was going on, James was being advised by his grandson. He kept saying "Papaw, we just shouldn't have bought that bull." This was repeated, we are told, quite often.

While the grandfather was being thus advised by the grandson, the horseman arrived. This caused the bull, before things got settled, to go through the fence around the field. So now a new section of fence will be installed, courtesy of Mr. Boydston.

And after the bull was finally loaded and on the way young Justin observed: "Papaw, that was exciting, wasn't it." We have no reports on what the grandfather said.

Folks, we need a little help in making some decisions here that will influence the price we have to charge for the paper. The problem is this: We have had a string of cost increases over the past three years which we have absorbed without passing along to our readers. These include boosts in postal rates, in sales tax, insurance rates and things like that. Costs which are beyond our ability to control.

So we have to go up on the rates slightly, or cut some big-ticket items that we include in the paper as a public service. We are currently looking at the

Bloodworth resigns as assistant agent

Clay Bloodworth, assistant Floyd County agricultural Extension agent since January 1 of this year, has resigned his position to further his education. Bloodworth reportedly has enrolled at Texas Tech University.

He worked in a similar position in Bee County (Beeville) for one year before transferring to this county.

Whirlwinds inaugurate grid season Friday in Crosbyton

Whirlwinds have their sights set on breaking a two-year first game jinx Friday night when they open the 1986 football campaign at Crosbyton. Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m.

Crosbyton has provided that first game jinx which the Whirlwinds intend to halt.

"Due to the proximity of the two towns, both teams seem to get up for this game," FHS head mentor Joe Paty says, adding: "I look for a good game."

Seventeen Whirlwind seniors pace the '86 crew when the squad takes the field Friday night.

The Green and White appear to be healthy for the season opener, with Lelf Younger—who suffered a broken leg in the next to last game of 1985 and a broken wrist this summer—expected to be the lone player out of action. Chad Pernel, who sustained a lower back injury in the Cooper scrimmage, is listed as "probably" and Clay Lowrance has a "slight groin pull."

CO-CAPTAINS ELECTED

David Pyle and Shannon Barbee have been elected by their teammates as co-captains of the 1986 Whirlwind football squad.

The Winds "looked pretty good" both ways in their Friday night scrimmage against Lubbock Cooper on the local field. Coach Paty says "We (coaches) were real pleased. Overall, it was a real good scrimmage. We moved the ball well, blocking and faking good, and played good defense."

Admitting that "We still need improvement," Coach Paty says, "We've come a long way."

Floydada's varsity scored four times and the JV tallied two touchdowns. Visiting Cooper was unable to dent the Whirlwind goalline.

STRONG PASSING GAME

Despite the graduation losses of several talented lads, Coach Paty expects the Chieftains of Crosbyton to again be salty. "I know that any team which has been successful and qualified for the playoffs the past two years has a carry over of tradition," he says. "They have a good quarterback and receivers and Coach (Robert) Murdock has done a good job."

The strong-arm quarterback to whom Paty alludes is 6 foot junior Brian Owen, a starter last fall. His prime receiver is 6'4" Marlon Greenhaw, another junior. Both were three-sport standouts as sophomores.

Crosbyton's rebuilding job begins with replacing all-everything runner David Mullins, who gained 1,000 plus yards two years, and virtually its entire line. The Chieftains are not large in the trenches, but they do have quickness.

Probably starting lineups for the Whirlwinds are, according to Coach Paty:

center, David Pyle, 183, Sr.; quick guard, Roel Cisneros, 178, Jr.; quick tackle, Jeff Smith, 196, Jr.; strong guard, Joe Gonzales, 195, Sr.; strong tackle, Darin Martinez, 215, Sr.

DEFENSE — Inside linebackers, Pyle and Noe Soliz, 186, Sr., or Julio Flores, 182, Jr.; cornerbacks, Morales and Rupert Jimenez, 140, Sr.; tackles,

Enrollment increases

First day enrollment in Floydada public schools was "up 32 students" Tuesday, according to Superintendent Jerry Cannon. This figure was "primarily due to pre-kindergarten," where 28 students enrolled.

Pre-kindergarten is being introduced to the local school system for the 1986-87 term.

Eleven hundred and 65 students were enrolled the first day of classes last year, compared with 1,197 this year. Aside from the pre-kindergarten students, an actual first day gain of four pupils was realized.

"We picked up approximately 50 more students the first week last year," Supt. Cannon says.

Three of the four schools experienced enrollment increases, although Duncan would have been down by three students excluding the pre-kindergarten youngsters. Following are the first day numbers this year and the previous year:

Duncan Elementary — 1986, 388; 1985, 363
R.C. Andrews — 1986, 310; 1985, 297
Junior high — 1986, 184; 1985, 177
High school — 1986, 315; 1985, 328

AHA gears up for Food Festival

According to Tommy Farris, representative of the Floydada Chapter of the American Heart Association, the AHA is sponsoring a Food Festival in Floydada with the cooperation of Pay-n-Save grocery store.

Farris said, "The store is joining us in this week long nutrition education festival aimed at offering shoppers more information about healthy shopping and healthy eating."

A variety of information concerning heart healthy nutrition facts will be made available to the public during the week of September 7 to 13 at the Pay-n-Save. New recipes are being offered and tips for converting favorite old recipes to more healthful eating will be distributed in the store.

"Everyone is urged to participate in this worthwhile endeavor to help delay deaths and disabilities caused by heart disease," said Farris. "Many people are unaware that most problems caused by heart disease are preventable with the proper lifestyle."

Among the many suggestions offered by the AHA is one which asks consumers to make an effort to buy and use leaner meats. Fish, chicken, turkey and veal contain less fat and more meat per pound than do lamb, pork and beef. Whenever possible, substitute leaner meats or carefully trimmed meats in recipes. Use beans, peas, lentils, nuts and seeds as protein substitutes as often as possible in place of meat.

Salt and sugar content should be considered along with fat content when making food purchases. "It is important that shoppers learn to read labels and determine the calorie content and ingredients in the food they purchase and serve to their families," said Farris.

The "real thing" is also important in eating. Strive to include more wholesome foods in their natural state in your daily diet. Careful use of seasonings and spices can make most meals more tasteful and enjoyable.

The AHA urges consumers to shop wisely by planning healthful menus and making a list before purchasing grocery items. This can save you time as well as money.

When shopping during the September festival, consider store brands and generics. They are usually less costly than national brands. Store personnel will be happy to answer questions concerning the festival as you shop and the American Heart Association will gladly provide information on heart disease and heart healthy living.

Bus-pickup mishap in heavy fog mars initial school day

"Weather was the main contributing factor," officers believe, in a Tuesday morning school bus-pickup accident which occurred before the bell had officially rung in the 1986-87 term.

One occupant of the bus, 12-year-old Refino Soliz, sustained a cut over his left eyebrow in the bus-pickup mishap shortly after 7 a.m. Tuesday, the first day of school. The accident site was "about two miles east of Cedar Hill" at the intersection of Farm Road 97 and a county dirt road.

The injured youngster and Louisa Soliz, 6, were examined at Caprock Hospital in Floydada and released.

The GMC bus, driven by Jacquelin (Jackie) Chadwick, reportedly was stopped on the paved road before attempting to make a turn in the roadway due to muddy grounds following week-end rains, according to the investigating officer, DPS Trooper David Rowell.

Trooper Rowell described the scene as having heavy fog and a slick pavement when the bus was struck in the left dual wheel by a 1985 GMC pickup driven by Roberto Campos of Lubbock. The pickup sustained "extensive damage" to its front end.

The trooper said he saw three children on the bus, which apparently had just begun picking up children for their first day of school.

A second bus was sent to transport youngsters to town.

Sheriff Fred Cardinal, who assisted with traffic during the investigation, said "You could have cut that fog with a knife." Trooper Rowell said that neither driver could see the other due to fog.

t.v. schedules. The three pages we devote to the t.v. schedule each week costs us a good bit. By dropping that feature we could perhaps keep our rates where they are for a while. Otherwise they will have to go up, as most other papers in the area have done. In fact, most of them have dropped the t.v. schedule and gone up on rates also.

The question is how important is that feature to our readers? We have the feeling it is one of those features people appreciate, but which they may be willing to trade off. But we don't know, so we would appreciate your letting us know your "druthers" on the matter.

No matter what happens, even if we have to raise the price of the paper, it will still cost no more than a cup of coffee. That strikes us as a pretty good bargain.

Speaking of insurance rates. Perhaps you read that little story some time back about the lady up in Chicago, or some such place, who was awarded something like $1.2 million because her earning capacity had been reduced. For the benefit of our readers who missed the story we will repeat the highlights.

She was one of those folks who conduct "seances" with dead people. You know how it is: they sit around a table with some other people and, by virtue of some special talent, communicate with the departed. Anyway, she began having these tremendous headaches. The doctors couldn't find out why, so they finally recommended that she undergo a CAT scan to see if she had serious brain problems. They couldn't find anything wrong, but the lady in question suddenly found out, she said, that she could no longer perform her seances. The visions just wouldn't return. She sued, naturally. The jury decided her earning capacity had been harmed and awarded her the damages. Which proves, among other things, that we are all in the wrong business.

Let us hasten to dampen the fears of nearby youngsters and reassure our other readers concerning the culinary delights of our Senior Citizens. They really do Not partake of oven fried children.

A typographical error in last week's Senior Citizen menu, published weekly in this paper, featured "oven fried children" rather than what it obviously should have been... "oven fried chicken." So we apologize to our Senior Citizens, and to little children everywhere. Fear not, children, they are really rather nice people. In fact we had lunch with them last week. The meal was excellent, the fellowship was heartening and refreshing. We ate chicken fried steak. Chicken, Chicken, Chicken.

Girl Scouts set registration September 9-15

Once again it is time for interested girls to register for Girl Scouts. This is the 75th year of girl scouting and we have many plans to celebrate the year with. The council has a lot of special things for the girls to do during this special year.

Floydada girls will be registering September 9 and 15th from 4:00-5:00 at their schools. Girls in grades kindergarten through third will register at the A.B. Duncan school and grades 4-6th will register at R.C. Andrews school.

The leaders at Duncan will be Debra Graham, 983-5515; Mrs. Deryl Evans, 983-2663; Maria Vasquez, 983-3267. The leader at Andrews will be Elizabeth Sims, 983-2256.

If you have any questions about the program please call any of the leaders. We look forward to having the biggest troop ever in Floydada.

One injured in July accident

Capt. L.A. Reinhart, district supervisor of the Lubbock Highway Patrol District comprised of 21 counties said, "For the month of July, our troopers investigated three fatal accidents, 47 personal injury accidents, and 81 property damage accidents. There were three persons killed and 47 persons injured in these accidents."

Sgt. Glenn Fant of Crosbyton stated, "In Floyd County, our troopers investigated no fatal accidents, one personal injury accident and four property damage accidents in the month of July. No persons were killed and one person was injured in these accidents."

Down on the FARM WATCH UP FOR POWER LINES

Power lines can be dangerous.

Touching irrigation pipe to a power line can divert the electricity through the pipe... and to anyone in contact with it. In this part of the country, this is the leading cause of farm injuries and deaths in electricity-related accidents. Any equipment of unusual height represents a potential danger. Lift arms on field equipment, combine auger spouts and even radio antennas can cause serious injury or death if they, and you, make contact with a power line.

Keep an eye up for power lines. Watch up, for safety's sake.

The property includes lots 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 and the north 60 feet of lot 14 in block 64 of the original addition of Floydada. The resolution passed with council members Ginger Warren, Don Green and Frank Breed voting in favor. Leroy Burns abstained.

The final item considered at the Tuesday session was a proposal for installing four overnight R.V. parking spaces at the city park adjacent to the municipal swimming pool. New program can help local businesses

Spurring economic growth from within this area is the goal of an extensive new program being developed by Southwestern Public Service Company (SPS).

Within the next two weeks, many industries throughout the SPS service area will be receiving a survey designed to provide a base of information about the needs and the services of these firms. Chambers of commerce and development foundations are involved in the program. Rural electric cooperatives who purchase wholesale power from SPS will be seeking participation from their customers.

"The idea is to help cross-match firms in this area with other firms in this area with whom they can do business or otherwise cooperate," said Gary Gibson, vice president of marketing at SPS. "We want to keep dollars and jobs from going outside this region when they don't have to. Working together we can help existing industry spark the internal growth that our area needs, especially now."

Nationally, 85 percent of new jobs are created by existing businesses that expand locally, Gibson said.

"The more firms that participate in this survey, the greater good it can do—for those firms and for their employees and communities," he said.

Our region has a lot of firms—big and small—who may discover with the help of this survey that the markets or services they need are in their own backyards, or not far from it, Gibson said.

"Red Cheeks"

EDITOR'S NOTE: This Father's Day feature was written by Sandra Schaffner Brezina of Waurika, Oklahoma. She is the granddaughter of former Floyd County residents Georgla Bryant Garrett and H.H. Garrett. This tale of strength, love and hope is a tribute to her father, Fred E. Schaffner of Byers, Texas. It appeared in the June 15, 1986 Lifestyles section of the Wichita Falls Daily Record News. The article was submitted to the Hesperian by Mrs. M.W. Carpenter of Atlanta, Georgia.

It was the blue and white polka-dotted clown with rosy cheeks that caught his eye among the toys on the shelf at the Children's Hospital gift shop. He checked his watch. It seemed an eternity since the short 10 minutes he was allowed to spend with his daughter two hours before. Maybe the clown would bring a smile to her lips...

As he waited outside the Intensive Care Unit, he hoped with all his heart that this third open heart surgery would be the one to cure his little daughter once and for all and bring an end to her suffering. He thought of all the people who had told him the operation wasn't really necessary—it was too great a risk—and besides, 13 years of life should be sufficient. It wasn't though, a 13-year life span without surgery for his little girl.

He checked his watch again. It was nearly time. He put aside the fact that he had no insurance, no money to speak of and no time to spare for the day-to-day care she would require. He stood, gathered all the strength he could muster within himself, and pushed the door in with a smile across his face. He walked over to her bedside, and felt a lump in his throat as he looked down at his little girl, her faced blurred through an oxygen tent.

She had been through so much for her short 7 years. He looked at the tape covering her body from under her arms to the top of her knees. He looked at the wires running to one of her arms and uttered a silent prayer that somehow her patched heart would function properly again.

She looked into his eyes as he handed her the clown. She could see the unwavering faith in his smile and in the calmness of his voice. She could see the love in his eyes and feel his strength while he just stood close by.

She had always gone to church. She knew of God's love and what He stood for, but because she was still a babe in Christ, it was hard for her to believe in something she couldn't see or touch. For this reason, she drew all her will to live and to survive from the father she COULD see and feel so close to her. And when the time came for him to leave her, she clutched the clown they had named "Red-Cheeks", knowing he was a gift of love...

She and her father knew through their silence that everything would be better than before, but it would take days, months, even years of working and striving to make it to the finish. The operation might have been over, but the struggle had just begun.

Her father stood by her as she took the two shots in her legs every day, as they removed several hundred stitches from her body with tweezers, and as she tried to swallow that horrible white chalky glue for tests. He watched silently as 22 pints of life-giving blood were transfused into her body and they cheered together when she kept down a piece of ice.

When she was able to gather the strength to walk down the hospital hall and back, she was allowed to go home.

She was glad to be back with her family even though she wasn't allowed to do anything much except attend her second grade classes. There would be no running, no playing, no riding a bicycle, or even fighting with her older brother for a while. Still, she took yearly trips to Dallas which included numerous tests to insure her progress.

At the age of 9, she gave her heart to Christ and was baptized in water. On the very next visit to Dallas, she was told she didn't have to return ever again—there was nothing wrong with her heart. All restrictions were lifted. Life was fully restored, even better than before...Now it was complete...

Daddy, when my daughter, Julie, is old enough to understand, I am going to give her Red-Cheeks and tell her the story I just told you. Hopefully, she won't get up from her chair, dismissing it from her mind. I want her to take it to her heart and draw strength from the story of the love between her mother and granddaddy. I want her to know that it is because of one man's faith in God and love for his daughter, that she exists—that I exist.

Daddy, you told me a couple of years ago that the hardest thing you have ever had to do was to look strong on the outside, when inside you felt like the load was so heavy. No cost was too great to pay for your little girl, you said. Because of that, I have always been especially close to you...The scars on my body and the memories I have will never let me forget that I have truly known and continue to know divine love from my earthly father and from my heavenly father. For this, I will always be eternally grateful because, again, this is why I exist...

Reecer and bride-elect marry in Stephenville

Dena Carol Adams became the bride of Jeffrey Paul Reecer during a 7:30 p.m. ceremony August 2 in the Graham Street Church of Christ in Stephenville, Texas. The ceremony was performed by Bro. Ralph Starling of Stephenville.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. C.H. Adams of Stephenville and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Reecer of Lockney.

The altar area was adorned with brass candle trees holding votive candles. The communion table, draped with illusion, held twelve long tapers and a large Bible laid in the center. Pews were draped with white illusion, tied with large white bows.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose a gown of white bridal taffeta designed with imported lace. A chapel length train fell from the bodice seeded with pearls. Her headpiece was a floral wreath. The cascade bridal bouquet consisted of white lilies, stephanotis and white rosebuds.

Attending the bride as maid of honor was Amy McCormick of San Angelo. Sister of the bride, Susan Adams of Stephenville, served as matron of honor. A reception in the Holiday Inn of Stephenville followed the ceremony. Reception assistants were Shanna Walker, Jana Hill, Julie Reecer, Lisa Curnutt and Pam Lubke.

All tables were draped with white illusion, tied with pink bows. Individual guest tables held white cloths of illusion and brass votive candle holders.

Calculations and miscalculations of

(Editor's note: Windy and Whirly have their own guessing game — and jabs — going in a Hesperian feature for this football season. The pair of "experts" will express their viewpoints on four games each week. (As the season progresses we'll allow readers to guess at the identities of Whirly and Windy, a couple of local fans.)

WHIRLY'S OPINIONS

Seems that I'll be guessing against "Windy", whoever that happens to be. That should be a snap, because "Windy" is probably just what the name implies

The Hesperian expresses advance appreciation to coaching staffs

In advance, The Hesperian would like to express appreciation to the school coaches for their assistance during the 1986-87 year in compiling information about athletic teams.

With numerous teams to cover — as many as 10 during basketball season — this newspaper must rely heavily upon the coaches for information, particularly

... hot air. He (or she) undoubtedly talks a good game but doesn't know a football from a baseball.

Picking the two high school games this week should be easy, the Tech game is a little harder and the Cowboys contest is a tiger.

Floydada vs. Crosbyton: Without a doubt the Whirlwinds will open their season with a victory over Crosbyton. This will be the first of many 1986 wins.

Lockney vs. Ralls: Longhorns of Lockney will likewise open their season successfully against Ralls.

Whirly and Windy

Both county teams likely will be stronger than many of the so-called experts figure.

Texas Tech vs. Kansas State: While the season is young and we're all optimistic, let's go with the Red Raiders over Kansas State. I expect the Raiders to have a winning season . . . if they can stay away from the injury bug.

Cowboys vs. Giants: Obviously, the Cowboys must be drastically improved over their exhibition performances to handle the Giants. I'll give the New Yorkers the edge, despite the urge to pick upset. This game could be closer than most people think because the Cowboys haven't yet shown the public their new offense.

WINDY'S OPINIONS

Welcome sports fans and even those of you who are not sports fans. Fall is here and that means football's in the air. This great newspaper has asked me to do some forecasting for them. I will be known to you as WINDY, named after our great local team, and not on my ability. I have a counterpart to be known as Whirly, as in head going round and round. The powers that are have only given me four games to project this week so my job should be easy and I should be able to keep your interest. My projections percentile is currently at 100% and it is doubtful that I will fall far from this mark, which my counterpart can't even figure. Here goes for this week.

Floydada-Crosbyton: The Chiefs will hang up a few scalps this year, but not Friday night. Whirlwinds look good by scoring more points in one game than in two seasons.

Lockney-Ralls: Rabbits run into Horns and will be unable to find their way out. Horns short in number but still have enough to take this one.

Texas Tech-Kansas State: New coach, new season — Raiders start off right and give us exes some hope. Tickets sales will be better because of the Raiders performance.

Dallas Cowboys-Giants: Landry has been unable to get it put together this summer and regardless of the running backs, must have a line in front of them. Losing ways are hard to turn around, especially against a team like the Giants. Maybe next week Cowboy fans.

Bishop's interest in art began at an early age. A native of Muskogee, Okla., Rozanne's parents are artistic and talented as well as interested in antiques. Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor, I would like for you to be aware of the volunteer effort of the following people for the Labor Day breakfast at the airport:

The Hesperian staff and radio station KKAP were more than helpful, and Sheriff Cardinal, Fred Thayer and Bob Vickers did a great job of serving the 70 people that came out. Louis Lloyd, Paul Lloyd and Dr. Charles Craig did the setup clean-up and rearranging necessary for anything like this. Howard Flying Service furnished the hangar and helped in the preparation. Doodle Milton, airport manager, and his family were supportive throughout. Brown Implement and Floyd County implement put equipment on display. Bob Gilliland had his den of Cub Scouts in uniform and ready to serve as greeters had the weather cleared for fly-in guests. The hit of the day was Charles Carr's display of stationary engines.

The support of local people who came out for breakfast and a visit was tremendous. It was a day fit only for ducks as far as flying was concerned. It is a pleasure to be associated with people like this.
