Economics, politics, weather news topics

Review of year in Floyd County

Economic instability, political unrest and weather extremes are traits for which 1986 will be remembered.

Following are highlights of the year's activities in the Floydada area, according to front pages from The Floyd County Hesperian:

JANUARY

Fire Chief Welborn said the fire's cause was unknown, although it was possibly electrical. "It's hard to tell when one (building) is burned this bad," he explained.

Obviously, no monetary loss could be estimated Tuesday morning. An insurance adjuster was due later that day to survey the situation.

John Stapleton reportedly owns the building.

Fire guts R Photography

The clock on the R Photography reception room wall stopped at 10:11.

Approximately four minutes later, "about 10:15" p.m. Monday, according to Floydada Fire Chief Bobby Welborn, the fire alarm sounded. A fire in the photography studio, owned by Jack and Allison Robertson and located at 121 West California, obviously had been burning "quite a while" before it was detected.

The blaze was "pretty much confined" to a darkroom, located in the center to back portion of the building. However, extensive heat and smoke damage was evident throughout the studio.

Welborn noted that there was "extreme heat" throughout the building. City police and Dinks Eckert spotted smoke emerging from R Photography and several adjacent buildings and reported the fire.

"I came out of the alley and saw smoke coming from the roofs of all these buildings," said Eckert, a volunteer fireman.

Welborn said neighboring businesses sustained no apparent damage other than from "the smoke and smell." Guttered by flames, the R Photography darkroom "had a lot of heat." A closed door helped prevent flames from spreading.

Out of town at the time of the fire, the Robertsons returned Tuesday morning and began inventorying their loss. Currency inside a cash drawer, which was located inside a desk drawer in the reception area or front (north) of the building, was tinged by the intense

Students return to books Monday

Floyd County public school students will return to their studies Monday morning, Jan. 5, following the Christmas-New Year holiday.

Classes are scheduled to resume "at the regular hour" Monday.

Love fund started for Max Smith

A love fund for Max Smith has been established at the First National Bank in Lockney.

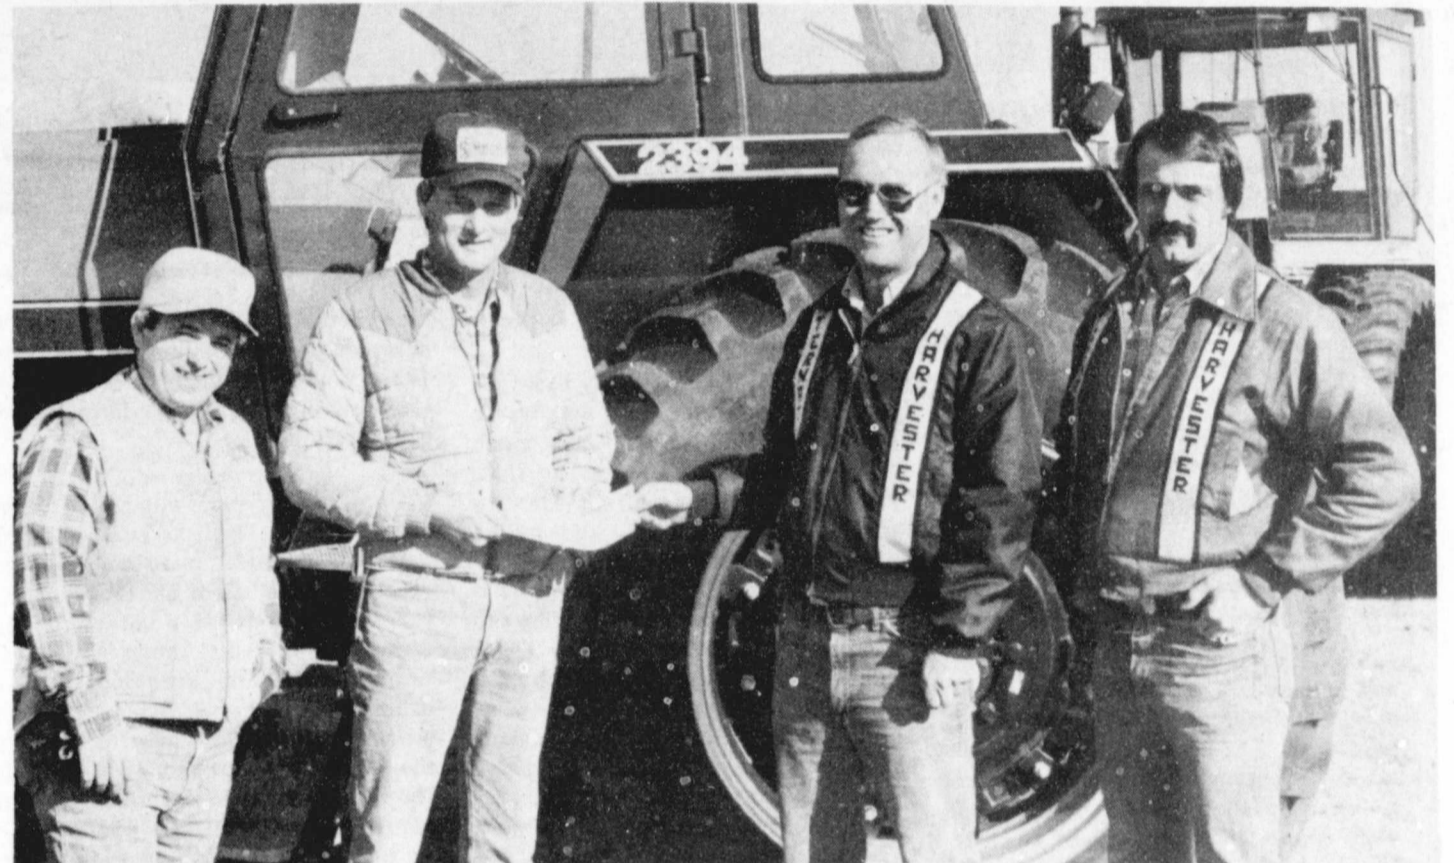

Smith is seriously ill and will not be able to continue working. Treatment expenses are mounting, according to friends.

Friends of Max and Marty Smith can help lighten their burden through this fund.

Case IH donates $1,000 to Floyd County 4-H

Case IH has donated $1,000 to the Floyd County 4-H on behalf of Silver Award-winning dealership, Brown's Implement of Floydada. Brown's Implement was one of 100 North American Case IH dealers who received the prestigious Silver Award for Excellence in Performance during 1985.

As part of the award, the dealership was asked to designate a worthy organization to receive a $1,000 donation on behalf of Case IH and Brown Implement.

County Extension Agent Richie Crow and Floyd County 4-H Adult Leader Association President Mike Hinsley received the check on behalf of the 4-H organization, its members, parents and leaders.

Crow and Hinsley were "very pleased that Steve Brown, owner of Brown's Implement, identified the 4-H clubs of Floyd County as a worthy group distinguished enough to receive such a large donation."

Crow explains that the money will be used to support the scholarship program for 4-H members. In 1986, the Floyd County Adult Leaders Association set up the scholarship program to recognize the Floyd County Gold Star winners. A $500 scholarship donation will be part of that fund to further the education of Gold Star recipients.

Brown's Implement was selected from the Case IH dealer network of 1,800 as one of the top 100 dealers to receive the prestigious award. Case IH pointed out that Brown's Implement distinguished itself in five areas of business operation: general management, marketing, parts, service and training.

Crow and Hinsley praised Steve Brown and Case IH for their continued support of the 4-H program and the youth of Floyd County.

Odds and Ends from Here and There

This business of cleaning up the desk at year's end... Here's a note that says Jimmy Banks believes Bill Clements is going to get elected Governor. Joe Roddy says it will be Mark White. Three dollars ride on the outcome. Both men, friends, lived in Austin. Banks works for the railroads. Roddy works for the University of Texas, but otherwise is a good guy. I've got the note, but not the money. I hope it found its rightful owner.

And here's a clipping from the Austin paper telling us how billionaires give money in political campaigns, and to whom. Financier Marvin Davis of Denver gave $21,000 to Democrats and $4,500 to Republicans. Former Ambassador Anne Cox Chambers of Atlanta gave $28,580 to Democrats. The paper's story did not say so, but I believe she served as ambassador to Luxembourg for Jimmy Carter. Luxembourg is a tiny piece of real estate in Europe. No telling how much she would have given if she had been named to Paris. And by the way, she and her family own the paper in which the story appeared. They also own many more, plus cable t.v. systems, plus you name it. The list went on...

Here's another clipping, saved for a rainy day, detailing the big givers in the recent Texas Governor's race. We predict a lot of biggies will have to get right. They bet on the wrong horse. One Dallasite, a banker with rather substantial investment here in Floyd County, was listed as having given White some $24,000 about a month still being investigated early this week by Floydada city police.

A burglar or burglars entered the Sears store in Floydada and made off with an estimated $700 worth of merchandise, plus leaving building damage in their wake. This break-in was reported to police about 8:30 a.m. Christmas Eve, Dec. 24, but officers believe it actually occurred about 10 p.m. the previous night.

Evidence points to the fact that the responsible parties "went up on the old Day building and walked across the roof" to the Sears store.

A hole was made in the Sears ceiling. The yeggs took a VCR and "a number of toys."

Theft of a 1978 GMC pickup, belonging to the Floydada school system, was reported stolen about 8 a.m. on Dec. 24. Evidence points to the vehicle having been taken shortly after 5 a.m. that morning from the 200 block of West Missouri, although the theft was not discovered until later.

The pickup was recovered that night, abandoned north of Plainview. However, tools, a spare tire and other accessories were missing. School officials place the loss, primarily tools, at an estimated $2,000.

"Three wall posters, an NFL official football, two apples and a cookie" were taken Saturday from the Gutierrez residence at 114 W. Tennessee. The family was away from home at the time of the burglary, sometime between 7:10 and 11:10 p.m. Saturday.

The incident was discovered when the family returned at 11:10 p.m. Saturday and reported to police the following day.

A window was knocked out from the northeast portion of the house to gain entry.

TRAFFIC MISHAPS

Traffic accidents in Floydada were investigated on Dec. 19 and 20.

A Ruidoso, N.M., woman wearing a cast on her right foot reportedly attempted to brake her car but the cast became entangled in the brake pedal and her 1985 Subaru station wagon struck the corner of the Dairy Queen building about 5:30 p.m. on Dec. 20.

The driver was uninjured and the building was not damaged, but the vehicle reportedly had to be "hailed away by a wrecker."

Two Floydada women were involved

Lockney stabbing leaves three men hospitalized

"Three men, that we know of" received medical attention following an early Friday morning altercation on Southeast First Street in Lockney. All were victims of "stab wounds."

Names of the injured have not been released due to the ongoing investigation. All three were taken by private vehicle to Lockney General Hospital, and one of the injured was transferred to a Lubbock medical facility.

Lockney Police Department is continuing its investigation. Officers have been conflicting stories concerning the cause of the conflict.

"Probably 20 to 30 people" were at the scene about 1 a.m. when officers arrived, but "exactly how many fought we don't know."

All the injured were Lockneyites.

One source called the altercation a "gang fight."

No charges had been filed at press time.

'Share Bears' raise funds for charity

A new concept in fund raising has been successfully launched this holiday season by Furr's, Inc. through the auspices of the Furr's Foundation, a philanthropic arm of the company. The company raised more than $500,000 for charitable uses in 44 cities where food stores affiliated with Furr's operate.

Shop Rite in Floydada was one of the participating grocers. On December 22, manager Doyle Ditto presented the Floydada High School Student Council with a check for $1,000 to be used to provide food and clothing to needy families in the Floydada area.

The money came from the sale of Share Bears by Shop Rite. The brown and white bears sold for $12.99 each and made great Christmas gifts with their elfin Santa hats for decorations. $5.00 was dedicated to the Share Bear Program for each Share Bear sold and Furr's Corporation donated an additional $5.00 to the fund.

The student council added the Shop Rite donation to the donation of $200 from the 1956 Study Club and the "$300 to $500" the council had allotted for Christmas charity, making almost $2,000 to be used to provide food, clothing, and other necessities along with toys gathered by the students for Christmas giving.

Student Council sponsor Jan Thayer said, "This will allow us to help nearly four times as many families as we are usually able to assist."

The DECA program at FHS provided turkeys for food baskets and a canned food drive at school collected canned goods to fill the needs of the families. Cash donations will provide shoes, clothing and Christmas gifts to several local families who would not otherwise have had the opportunity to share the joys of the holiday season.

Roland Hasenoehrl, President of Furr's, Inc. said, "We have been extremely pleased with the progress of the Share Bear fund raising drive. Thousands of people have opened their hearts to the plight of underprivileged children by purchasing Share Bears. And now we are returning that generosity so that children in need can enjoy the magic of Christmas."

Hasenoehrl added, "For every child that received a Share Bear this Christmas, there is a less fortunate child who will benefit from the sale of that toy. This is a season of giving, and the gift of a Share Bear is a far-reaching blessing indeed."

Mrs. Esquivel reportedly sustained an elbow injury although she did not seek medical attention at that time.
Both vehicles were driven from the scene.
A failure to yield right-of-way ticket was issued to Mrs. Galvan. Mrs. Esquivel was cited for having no driver's license and no insurance.

An Alamosa, Colo., man was arrested at 11:54 p.m. when officers stationed at a car fire near Leonard's Restaurant noticed that his vehicle was being driven "recklessly." Tommy Thomas was arrested at the Second and Jackson intersection.
Gilbert Garza was arrested at 4:18 a.m. Dec. 21 at the Third and Marivena intersection. He was charged with driving while intoxicated (DWI).
James L. Jones of Chickasha, Okla., was issued a citation at 1:56 a.m. Dec. 27 for driving while license suspended. The ticket was issued at the Houston and Wall intersection.
Sgt. Harold Snell of Floydada Police Department says officers were busy during the holidays but "it has been pretty quiet" since that time, except for traffic violations and the Sunday night burglary.
Floyd County Sheriff's Department also noted that "It's been pretty quiet" during the holidays, except for routine matters.

before the election. My, my. Think how that could have helped here.

And a new poll of the state's lawyers and judges says a majority of them don't like the present system of electing judges in Texas. Chief Justice Hill favors the appointment of judges under a "merit" system, but the poll showed more support for non-partisan election of judges, a system the Lamplighter has held for all these years. Who says we don't have influence?

Up in Washington it was announced, according to another kept clipping, that a boll weevil trap has been invented and given patent #4,611,425. If you want a license to build the traps, check with the Department of Agriculture.

Amy Carter says she would like a jury trial this time (after her latest arrest) and that her parents are neither "excited or upset" about her situation. Amy, the expert on nuclear proliferation, was arrested for demonstrating at the University of Massachusetts. She is a student at Brown, where ever that is.

We see by the Lubbock paper that Crown Prince Hans Adam of Liechtenstein, a country near Switzerland which we believe to be even smaller than Luxembourg, a country near France, came out quite well in the agricultural subsidy ranking. The Crown Prince, whose Texas holdings encompass more land than can be found in all his own country, collected $2.2 million. It will be a big Christmas in little Liechtenstein. The government of Israel has a much better deal. They just go straight to the American Congress for their money. That way they cut out the middleman over at the Department of Agriculture, and they don't have to worry about all that paper work the Crown Prince has to put up with.

I suppose we could find at least one good thing in seeing $2.2 million in U.S. tax dollars flow to the Crown Prince. We haven't heard of him using the money to build up the agricultural exports of little Liechtenstein. On the other hand a recent news story told of yet another visit by an Israeli official, under the auspices of Texas' very own Commissioner of Agriculture, Jim Hightower, for the ostensible purpose of finding ways and means of expanding Israeli beef exports. The official indicated they had a couple of weak spots in their agricultural export picture, beef being one, and thanks to the good offices of Mr. Hightower they hoped to get those worked out.

Attoboy Jim. With friends like you, Texas beef growers have nothing to worry about. Jim may not know much about field crops, or things like that. But he is a past master at farming things like money trees and public relations vineyards. One of the reporters in the entourage asked one of the Israelis why they were spending so much time and effort with the Commissioner. On the condition that he not be named, he answered somewhat candidly that the Israeli government had made a determination, quite early, that Hightower was going to be around for a while, and that he was probably going up in the world of politics. No doubt they just wanted to be close to him when and if that occurred, and if it never happens nothing will be lost. There's always someone else. That's standard operating procedure, and it goes on all the time.

Oh well, this year's gone. Like all the years before it, The New Year will bring new opportunities to do some worthwhile things for all of us. Besides, this year of 1986 wasn't all that bad anyway. Many good things happened. A bunch of pretty little babies were ushered into this world, one of them our own grandson. And a lot of people got their backs up over goings-on here in the County, which will translate into better times ahead. So it wasn't a bad year. And next year will be even better. Happy New Year, one and all.

200 guests attend Christmas event

"Approximately 200" children and elderly persons were special guests Christmas Day at a Christmas-Wedding Banquet, sponsored by St. Mary Magdalen Church and held at Massie Activity Center.

Mrs. Julio (Janie) Flores said sponsors were "Happy and glad" to have so many guests for the event. She pointed out that a number of youngsters were present and that some children "don't have much Christmas."

Gifts, plus fruit, were presented to the special guests.

Following the meal, musical entertainment was provided by the church's prayer group and Mexican dances were performed by children. Distribution of gifts was the final item on the agenda.

Several dozen members of St. Mary Magdalen Church assisted with the event by preparing the meal and in other ways.

"We would like to thank the Floydada merchants for helping, and we also had some (merchants) from Plainview who helped," sponsors relate.

Reception complements former AFS student

A "nice group" of former classmates, AFS families and other friends attended a Friday evening reception honoring the former Lynley Hudson, AFS student who attended Floydada schools during the 1980-81 year, and her husband, Simon Leech. Lighthouse Electric Cooperative headquarters was the reception site.

Mr. and Mrs. Leech visited in Floydada from Dec. 14-28 with the Charles Tyers, her host family while studying in Floydada. Mrs. Leech also had an opportunity to visit with the present AFS student in Floydada.

Lynley and Simon Leech departed Sunday for Houston, where they presently are visiting with Tana Tyer Haynes, a classmate with whom the former Miss Hudson resided in 1980-81. They also plan to visit with Tammy Tyer Hawkins in Odessa before returning to Floydada for a brief stay from approximately Jan. 10-13.

The New Zealand couple then will spend "a few days" in Dallas with Tracy Tyer Zachary before leaving for Los Angeles. After a visit in Los Angeles and later in Hawaii, the couple plans to depart for their home in Christchurch, New Zealand.

Mrs. Leech is a first grade teacher in a Christchurch elementary school. Her husband is studying toward his master's degree.

Since New Zealand's seasons are opposite from those in the United States, this is their school "summer break." New Zealand schools operate about 200 days annually, compared with approximately 175 days in Texas. However, New Zealanders spend "less time each day" on studies.

"It probably figures out about the same number of class hours," explains Charles Tyer, principal for Andrews Elementary School.

And you think you've got troubles... TWO WAY STREET

The United States Senate overrode President Reagan's veto of the economic sanctions against South Africa and presumably members of the Congress now feel good about having stamped out apartheid in that nation.

Nothing of the sort has happened, of course. The United States has no more control over the internal affairs of South Africa than it does Poland and the economic sanctions are about as effective one place as another.

Apartheid in South Africa is more than a moral issue. It is a vital political issue. If the country's 20 million blacks are allowed to vote, they will of course be in control of that country and the white government will crumble.

Whites are not going to relinquish what they perceive as their country quite that easily. They certainly are not going to turn their government over to the black majority without a fight.

By imposing sanctions upon South Africa, Congress listed a number of items that would not be imported. Included was South Africa coal and steel, iron, uranium and agricultural products. These are items that the United States does not really need because it has plenty of its own.

But the United States does need a number of strategic minerals that are vital to our industrial economy and our defense establishment. These include chromium, manganese and platinum, products which the Congress apparently expects South Africa to continue shipping to this country.

Sanctions are a two-way street. South Africa will no doubt impose embargoes upon the shipment of strategic minerals to this country along with the things that our Congress has prohibited.

In addition, South Africa will cancel purchases of grain and will cut off transportation of products across their land to other African nations who have led the clamor for economic sanctions.

These sanctions, taken in retaliation for U.S. sanctions, will no doubt result in economic and even physical suffering on the part of these other African nations, most of whom are led now by Marxist trained dictators who are determined to bring the South African government into the same orbit.

Several U.S. leaders, such as Jesse Jackson and Ted Kennedy, advocate a massive outpouring of U.S. money to all of these African nations to make up for this shortfall. They envision sending billions of dollars to African dictators and thus end dependence upon South Africa for food transportation and the several million jobs provided by that country to citizens of its neighbors.

Sanctions are a two-way street and the battle is not ended. It has just begun. Eventually the end result may be, as has been planned, control of South Africa by Communist forces, but it will not come easily. South Africans are fighters, not meek sheep to be led to slaughter. — Harold Hudson in The Perryton Herald

FIGHTING OVER CRUMBS

Upon the threshold of a new year, we found the following article — penned by Wendell Tooley of The Tulia Herald — most fitting:

A loaf of bread fell from a bakery truck and as it hit the pavement, a crumb broke off. Three sparrows swooped down on the crumb and began fighting over it.

One bird finally succeeded in flying off with the crumb, the other two in close pursuit.

A series of frenzied aerial maneuvers followed until the crumb was at last consumed by one of the birds.

The loaf was untouched. Only the crumb that fell had seemed worth the fight.

If the birds had displayed more vision and less greed, they could all have been satisfied.

People, like birds, quarrel over trivialities. In the heat of the struggle, life's bigger, more enriching prizes escape them!

In times like these... By Mary Jo Fielding

When Stanford University physicist J. Gethys Timothy wanted to study how galaxies evolve, he devised an experiment for the Hubble Space Telescope — a delicate bulky instrument that was supposed to be launched last October on the space shuttle. But that project, and thousands of others will now be delayed for years. In response droves of bright young graduate students are abandoning such fields as astrophysics and planetary studies. "It's a horrendous situation," laments Timothy. "We are in danger of losing a whole generation of space science scientists."

Until the late January Challenger explosion and a string of disastrous launches of unmanned rockets, space science was hot. Close-ups of Saturn, Jupiter, and Uranus had been beamed back to Earth. Astrophysicists then were amassing evidence of the bang in which the universe supposedly exploded into being.

In spite of the lean days for space research, some researchers are still pursuing their goals. In the last year 31 balloons and small military surplus rockets have lifted off from federal facilities in Virginia, New Mexico, and Texas. And in the next year, NASA hopes to conduct about 85 launches for science investigators.

V A News

The amounts paid by the Veterans Administration for the burial of eligible deceased veterans have been returned to the maximum available under Federal laws. According to Margaret A. Herrera, Veterans Service officer for Floyd County, the maximum amounts are once again paid, effective October 1, 1986.

On March 1, 1986, the VA burial allowance benefits were reduced under provisions of the Gramm-Rudman-Holings Act, all part of the plan to reduce government spending. These reduced payments for VA burial allowance continues in effect until the new Fiscal Year commenced on October 1, 1986.

The VA burial allowance is now $1,100 when the evidence shows that the death of a veteran was caused by a disability which was rated as service-connected by the VA. When the veteran's death is not service-connected, the amount paid by the VA is $300, with an additional $150 paid for the grave space or burial plot when burial is not in a cemetery owned by the federal government. In nonservice-connected death cases, the VA burial allowance can be paid only if the veteran was, at the time of death, receiving or entitled to receive VA compensation or pension.

In both service-connected and non-service-connected cases of veterans with honorable military service, the VA can furnish free of any charge, a marker for the grave. If the family prefers, a private marker may be purchased and, upon proper application, the VA can reimburse up to $71 on the purchase price.

The local Veterans Service officer can provide additional information on these benefits that are available through the Veterans Administration.

Dream job has its weighty moments

From Pampa News

Rick McDowell has one of those jobs most hunters dream about. As operator of the Top Hand Hunting Club, the Miami (Texas) resident would seem to have the ideal work. He develops game management plans, arranges and guides hunts and even has a nice kennel of bird dogs.

Many mornings, the son of Charles and Ina McDowell of Floydada scatters about 500 pounds of grain at various feeding stations in one of his hunting areas north of Pampa near the Canadian River.

There was a time when biologists specializing in wildlife management had few options after college. Most of them went to work for a state game department or the federal government.

The realization of the importance private game management and its monetary value in agriculture has led to a new group of specialists.

McDowell is one of a small, but growing, group of wildlife managers working strictly in the private sector. He currently oversees wildlife on about 40,000 acres and someday hopes to see his operation expanded to about 100,000 acres in the Panhandle.

The son of a high school teacher, McDowell, 33, moved around quite a bit as a youngster before graduating from Floydada High School in 1971. He played baseball for West Texas State until the university ended the program, then dropped out of college until 1978. He earned a degree in biology with a wildlife option in 1982 and went to work for T. Boone Pickens.

During the three years he worked for Pickens, McDowell was wildlife biologist and game manager. He was also responsible for keeping Pickens' bird dogs in training.

"When I left there, I started looking for a place of my own manage wildlife," McDowell said. "I looked all over three states, Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas, South Texas, East Texas, North Texas. The funny part about it, I was living right over here in Miami.

"I knew Don Morrison, but was not aware of what his operation was like," McDowell continued. "The way it came about, we were both on jury duty there in Miami.

"I told him I had several plans for different types of landowners and different types of situations. We got together and made up a contract," McDowell said.

"They were very receptive to all the wildlife programs we wanted to start, so everything has worked out real well," he added.

In June 1985, McDowell started his preparatory work, and the first organized hunts were held in September of the same year.

The club moved into the membership phase this hunting season and now offers three classes of memberships, deer, quail and combination.

McDowell also plans to add a family membership as soon as he expands the facilities available. Those additions include a fishing pond and horseback riding.

Although his present hunting operation includes only the Morrison ranch, McDowell hopes his business will grow.

"I'm always talking to people, trying through lease, or partnership, or whatever I have to do, to acquire new land," he said. "Ultimately, I'd like to have a hundred thousand acres here in the Panhandle region under some type of wildlife management control."

where McDowell was scattering feed, Helmick's bag for the morning included a doe, estimated at 140 pounds field dressed, and a turkey.

Helmick took the deer with a 30.06-caliber rifle with iron sights, shooting a 150-grain bullet at a range of about 200 yards. The turkey fell to 16-gauge shotgun.

Not bad for a morning's hunt.

Later on the tour, a large covey of quail popped from the brush along the track, scattering in several directions.

In Texas, where 97 percent of the land is privately-owned, private sector wildlife management may indeed be the answer to a growing demand for the outdoor experience.

If it is, McDowell has his foot in the door early.

Lakeview News

By Joyce Williams

Among residents and landowners of Blanco Canyon and the area beneath the Caprock who attended the supper were the Smiths, Muncys, Williams (Q.D., James and Monte), R.H. Farris, George McNeils (three generations present), Andersons of the Bridwell ranch, Kirkpatrick of Post, Tom Taylors, Adams (of the Longhorn cattle bunch) with a total of about fifty guests. The house looked beautiful, the food was delicious and the hostess was, as always, bubbling with hospitality, good will and kindness.

Recent holiday guests of the Randy Bertrands, for Thanksgiving, included Mr. and Mrs. William Bertrand, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Bertrand and Shelly of Vernon; Mr. and Mrs. Orville Newberry; Mr. and Mrs. Dale Newberry, Robert and Sara of LaMesa; Mrs. DeAnne Jones, Ken and Rexanne, and Vaughn; also Jill and Martin Warren, Lezlie, Will and Rebecca of Tahoka.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Reed, Darlene and Kelly stopped by on their way to Post for the Panhandle-Post high school playoffs. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bertrand were then hosts for Connie Lu's family's Thanksgiving dinner. Miss Carolyn Cunningham of Lockney was also a guest. As the Reed's returned to Panhandle, they dropped Darlene off at the Bertrands' for the week-end, and Connie Lu took her home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hammonds were in Crowell Nov. 30 for the funeral services for her brother, Bill Gafford. Last Monday, Ruth's brother, Otis Gafford and wife, of Crowell, came by and all went to Lubbock together.

Lakeview students on the school honor rolls include Angie Glasscock, Deanna Watson, Nathan Whittle, Austin Williams, Tyson Whittle, Bruce McHam, Lacy Gollightly and David Watson. In high school, Matthew Redding was named to the National Honor Society. Miss Dawn Atteberry, also named to National Honor Society, is the great-granddaughter of pioneer veterinarian, Dr. Gulley who lived on Lakeview road during his many years of service to the community.

Most of the cotton fields have been harvested in our community at this time.

Mr. and Mrs. Odell Breed are looking forward to a houseful of kin for Christmas.

Guests at the Q.D. Williams' during the recent Thanksgiving holidays included their daughter and family, Nancy, Andy, Hilary and Courtney Goodwin. The Goodwins are moving to Atlanta, Texas after Christmas where Andy is employed with a timber company. Other guests included Edgar Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brown, Mrs. Vivian Brown and Vernon Jones of Truscott. Also cousins Tonya and Greg of Ft. Worth, Mrs. Norma Lee, Sousee Mobley, Cody and Montana Mobley of Vernon; Jacquelyn Brown and guest of Houston, and Bill Brown of Brownfield.

Mrs. B.P. Neff spent Thanksgiving day with son, Donald and family in Lubbock. She spent the weekend with her daughter, Patricia Smith and family. Ona Ruth has been busy all week sewing a denim dress for granddaughter, Sheryl Smith, as well as making several beautiful collars of lace and silk, and of bandana handkerchiefs. Sheryl came over Thursday to pick up the new clothes.

Mrs. Neff urges all who are interested in upkeep of the Lakeview cemetery to watch for a notice of a meeting to be held sometime after the first of the new year. A "new" used tractor was purchased this year for maintenance work in the cemetery and funds are running short. Anyone needing a tax deduction might remember the Lakeview Cemetery Fund.

God bless all you dear neighbors. May your Christmas be safe and happy.

Gay Lynn and Roger Wineger and Cody of Amarillo spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Hammonds. Mr. and Mrs. Donald Neff of Lubbock came over recently to install a ceiling fan and light fixture they had given to his mother, Mrs. Buell P. Neff. Mr. and Mrs. Randy Bertrand and Angie attended the concert by the Methodist Children's Choir. Misty Bertrand sang with the group.

The James McGaughs are winding up cotton harvest. Marlys is looking forward to the high school seniors Christmas party this week. She is also planning to attend the Pizza Gold employees Christmas party this week.

READY FOR ACTION — Erick Arellano wanted to work in his "Dot & Draw" book, but his mom insisted on him first taking a nap. To insure he was ready following the nap, Erick — son of Adam and Ester Arellano — fell asleep with the book tucked under his arm. This is the second in a proposed series of interesting photos of youngsters to appear in The Hesperian. Photo contributions of unique children's happenings are requested by this newspaper.

Social Security News

By Terry Clements

People in the local area who received Social Security benefits because they are disabled have an important responsibility to notify Social Security if certain events occur.

Events that must be reported are:

- * Any change of address. Be sure to also notify the post office.
- * Improvement in condition. In addition, a person's case will be reviewed periodically to verify eligibility for benefits. For most people, this review will be conducted every three years.

- * A person goes to work, no matter how little he or she earns.
- * A person goes outside the United States.
- * A person begins to receive other disability checks under a Federal, State, or local program. A person should also report if the amount of any other check changes, he or she receives a lump-sum settlement, or the other check stops. A person becomes eligible for and begins to receive a pension from work not covered by Social Security.
- * A person married if he or she receives checks as a disabled widow or widower or a person disabled before 22 getting checks on a parent's record.
- * A person is unable to manage his or her own funds.
- * A person is convicted of a felony.
- * A person dies.

Required reports can be made by telephone, mail, or in person at any Social Security office. Reports should include the name of the person about whom the report is being made, his or her social security claim number, what is being reported, the date it happened, the person's signature, address, and phone number.

Failure to make a required report can mean the person will have to pay back any benefits that were not due. Making a false statement can mean a possible fine or imprisonment.

More information about social security disability benefits can be obtained at the social security office at 1401-B West 5th street, or you may contact us at 293-9623. Appointments can also be arranged if desired.

LOCAL BOYS 'IN THE PICTURE' AT CHARLOTTE NORTH CAROLINA MEET

Denzil Probasco, Ersel Matthews, and Kendall Onstat, now students at Texas Technological College in the textile engineering department were much "in the picture" at a recent gathering of Psi Psi, national textile fraternity at Charlotte, North Carolina.

Because they travelled further than any other group to attend and because they were appalled in cowboy style hats, cowboy boots, and all -- pressmen insisted on having the picture of the Texas college delegation. Probasco, Matthews, and Onstat all are graduates of Floydada High School.

FAY HART IS HELD WINNER OF AMATEURS

Fay Hart, Pleasant Hill farmer, who can make his pleasing singing voice do things on the scale, captured first honors and with it a prize of fifty dollars at the Palace Theatre Friday night, when he sang a number on the Palace-Hesperian amateur night program. The Future Farmer of America Orchestra of Floydada was given the third prize of fifteen dollars. Members of the FFA orchestra are Paul Potteet, C.W. Denison, Jr., Fred Cardinal, Willard Dunlap, and Charles Dennison.

COUNTY BOOST IN REEL SENT TO COW TOWN

A score of scenes, all with color and action, visualize the farming, dairying, poultry, and turkey raising, sheep and hog production, in Floyd County, and irrigation possibilities, the railways, elevators and gin investments, the immense cotton oil mill, all have a place in the picture. Attractive town and farm homes are shown. Stansell's prize cows, Christian's prize turkeys, Battley's flock of leghorns, Ed Bond's farm herd of sheep and fattening lambs, the Zimmerman and R.F. Brown homes, Armour Creamery, the irrigation well on the farm managed by Marvin Shurbert, all come in for a "Shot" by the cameraman.

The film reinforces pamphlets sent to the big show and is expected to be shown beginning with the opening of the Frontier Centennial in Fort Worth July 18.

MODRUL WILLIAMS AND MODEL T TANGLE WHEN THEY GO INTO BAR PIT

Modrul Williams came out with only a leg injury that was not considered serious when he and a model T Ford pickup of ancient vintage were scrambled in a ditch two miles north of Floydada near the Harry Morckel place late Wednesday of last week.

The truck headed for the bar pit and took the driver with it when a front wheel supporting rod gave way. The machine was rather badly damaged.
