The Changing Face of Texas: Down on the coast, near a place called Seadrift, five Texans were killed when two cars collided. Dead were Minh Ban Nguyen, Hoan Tom Nguyen, Dinh Phu Vu, Marie Elena Martinez and Martin Hernandez.

Over in East Texas, in Houston County (the County Seat of which is Crockett) some people are complaining that too many beavers are under foot. They build dams in unlikely places, resulting in flooded fields and roadways. Government trappers are on a campaign to reduce their numbers.

In our state capitol city of Austin, a High School Principal has made a startling, perhaps even revolutionary, discovery. We'll not name the Principal, lest he begin receiving a flood of fan mail he would then have to answer. No doubt he's received enough already.

Anyhow, the discovery took place at Anderson High School. At one time Anderson High School was a highly respected all-black, or nearly all-black High School in East Austin. That was under the watchful eye of our sainted Lyndon. Since Anderson was an "indentifiable" black school it had to be closed. The School District could not do without the classrooms however, so a new high school had to be built somewhere else. So they built the new school clear across town in ritzy

Historical marker approved by THC for Floyd location

Approval for a state historical marker, to be located approximately five miles south of Quitaque on Farm Road 1065 in Floyd County, has been received by Nancy Marble, chairperson of the Floyd County Historical Commission.

Last year, Worshipful Master Bill Gray of Floydada Lodge No. 712 AF&AM presented a paper to the Texas Lodge of Research on the Masonic connections of the 1841 Texan-Santa Fe Expedition. Gray's paper and another historical account of the campaign by Mrs. Marisue Potts, were submitted to the Texas Historical Commission.

The papers documented the movement of the trek from Austin to the New Mexican colonies.

Highlights will be judging on Saturday and Sunday, along with the Monday premium sale. The county show barn in southeast Floydada is home of Floyd County Junior Livestock Show.

Entries were still being accepted at press time and the number was unavailable at that time. One hundred and 16 animals entered the Floydada show and 104 were judged in Lockney last Saturday.

Two area stock breeders and a vocational agriculture instructor have been secured as judges. They include: steers, Dick Vestal, vo-ag teacher at Baird High School; lambs, Charles Cypert, Plainview sheep breeder; and swine, Joe Tatar, Lazbuddie swine

Earl Overton chosen athletic director-head football coach for Floydada schools

Eight football teams in the past nine seasons have been guided into the playoffs by Earl Overton. The veteran mentor will attempt to improve that streak to nine-of-10 this fall with Floydada's Whirlwinds.

Overton was employed Thursday night to a two-year contract as athletic director and head football coach in the Floydada school system. He was chosen from a field which originally included 49 applicants.

Presently athletic director at Port Isabel, Overton was one of two "outstanding coaches" interviewed by the entire school board behind closed doors Thursday night. A third "finalist" had asked that his name be withdrawn from consideration.

The new Whirlwind AD-head football coach has told local officials that he hopes to begin duties here next Monday, Feb. 16.

Port Isabel, like Floydada a AAA school, posted on 8-3 record in 1986 under Overton and advanced to the playoffs. This was his first year at Port Isabel.

From 1978 through 1985, Overton served as athletic director and head football coach at Kermit, where his football squads posted an outstanding record: district championships seven of the eight years, with a regional finalist, a state quarterfinalist and a state semi-finalist. His composite record at Kermit was 71-16-4. During his final five seasons at that school, his record was 49-7-1 and five district championships. His gridders were undefeated in the last 37 regular season games.

Floydada's new athletic director-coach owns both a bachelor's and master's degree. He is certified in Texas to teach history, health, physical education and driver educa-

He was an assistant coach at the high school level for eight years in Oklahoma and spent three seasons as first assistant at Central State University in Edmond, Okla.

For two years, Overton was defensive coordinator and first assistant at AAAAA Midland Lee High School. That 1976 team became bi-district champion.

He was graduated from Nash (Okla.) High School and Northwestern State University in Alva, Okla.

Ilus and Earl Overton are parents of one son and one daughter, both of whom are grown. Mrs. Overton teaches English and business. EXECUTIVE SESSION

After interviewing the two "finalists," the full school board went from executive to open session at 9:40 p.m. Trustee Freddie Morren offered a motion, seconded by Don Hardy, that Overton be offered a two-year contract as athletic director and head football coach, with a salary for the dual position of $10,000 above base. The motion was favored by all seven

The court authorized the advertise-application for withdrawal of securities for the First National Bank. This will allow the bank to trade investments in which the county has an interest. First National Bank of Floydada was the single bidder to act as depository for county funds during the next year. Their bid was accepted.

Approving accounts for payment this session caused a bit of concern. Three items to be paid were questioned by Judge Hardin. The first was a bill submitted by Moore-Rose Funeral Home for an indigent burial in the amount of $840. Judge Hardin asked that the court hold the bill until a representative of the funeral establishment could meet with the court and explain the bill.

Alton Rose came to speak with the court and assured the commissioners that the burial was conducted as inexpensively as possible and that the deceased had no family or funds. Alton said, "In fact, we have $1306 in this burial. We did not charge the county for our time and work, nor for the suit of clothes we put on him.'

The court authorized the payment of the bill and voted to amend a proposed public assistance policy to increase the amounts the county could pay in such instances to this higher amount from a figure of less than $700 which had been proposed.

The new public assistance policy was passed on a motion by Thomas Warren, seconded by Precinct 1 Commissioner Sam Spence.

The remaining two bills questioned were held until more information could be secured in each case. One item is a bill from Plainview Attorney David Teal for representing a client by court appointment. The bill is for $70 per hour. Judge Hardin questioned the bill in light of a previous bill in December which requested payment of $50 per hour for the same services.

The second item concerned a bill from Monroe Business System on a service contract for one of the courthouse copy machines in the amount of $744. Judge Hardin stated that he could find no record of the contract other than an envelope with the notation, "cancelled" and a date in 1986.

County Treasurer Glenna Orman

made her monthly report, stating that tax collections on the current tax role are 89% complete. She reported that the county began the month of January with $292,883.04 in funds and received $579,995.87. Expenditures totaled $657,669.72, leaving a month end balance of $215,209.19. The county has $893,000.00 in certificates of deposit which had earned $3,908.53 in interest as of January 31.

The court approved the appointment of new members to the Floyd County Historical Commission, pending their acceptance. Names will be announced at that time. New members to the library board were also approved, pending acceptance. Grievance committee appointees who accepted appointments made at the January court session were announced. They include C.L. Record, France Rose and Latonna

A $300 grant to the Child Welfare Board was approved for payment. The amount was budgeted for in the new budget and will be paid out of revenue sharing funds carried over from 1986.

Farm work cortracts were approved for Bobby McCormick, Warren Mitchell, Lonnie Hinsley and Donald Bean. Contract #290, approved in August for Joe Cunyus, was voided at the request of Precinct 2 Commissioner Floyd

The three commissioners passed a motion to authorize each commissioner to set the hourly rate of pay for all extra labor hired in their precinct. This will allow each commissioner to decide the rate of pay for any road and bridge extra help they hire, provided they have adequate funds to pay the extra employees.

Judge Hardin reminded the court that the hospitalization insurance contract for county employee coverage is up for renewal on April 1. He asked that the commissioners agree to meet with representatives of several companies to see if a more economical plan could be obtained. The court agreed and representatives will be asked to meet with the court on March 9.

Judge Hardin indicated that he hoped to "make an appointment for a new commissioner in Precinct 3" as early as possible. He stated that he had received 10 applications "as of this morning (February 9)". Until an appointment is made, the court will function with three commissioners and the judge.

Commissioners accept bids on fire vehicle equipment and patrol car

Floyd County commissioners accepted two bids during the February 9 regular session of the court. A previously submitted bid for equipment to outfit a new county fire vehicle was accepted with the condition applied that Precinct 3 Commissioner Thomas Warren have final authority concerning the transfer of equipment currently on the old vehicle to the new vehicle after confering with Fire Chief Bobby Welborn on ment of bids for the purchase of a new pickup for the county extension service. Bids will be opened at the next regular court meeting on March 9.

A contract was signed with the Adult Probation office for the year. Chief Probation Officer Nathan Mulder presented the contract which he stated was "virtually the same as the previously approved contracts had been.'

The contract says that the county will provide office space and partial bookkeeping services for the probation department. The probation department is obligated to collect certain fines and fees for the county. Mulder stressed that these collections during the last centract totaled "almost $20,000."

The commissioners authorized the county judge, Bill Hardin, to sign an

A report on the current tax collections by Administrative Assistant Jimmie Collins revealed that $717,118.80 of the current tax role totaling $815,588.75 has been collected. This total is 87.92% of the expected collections as compared to 87% at this time last year.

A brief discussion of the TI-IN Network which has been proposed for purchase by the district to allow for advanced classes or classes in which no teacher is available yielded no result. Board members Bill Orman and Charlene Brown questioned the advisability of purchasing a system at this time due to the expense and the apparent lack of space for housing it.

Orman stated, "I visited with Ronnie Wood on the subject a few days ago and he indicated that the only possible locations for it at the high school are in the auditorium or in the library." Both have distinct disadvantages as to the accessibility of the system if housed in either location according to Orman.

Brown said, "It is too late for the gravy, mashed potatoes, cheese sauce system to be of any use to students this

Copies of the report will be available for public inspection in the office of each school facility and at the administrative office. A copy is also on file at the Hesperian office.

The report indicates that the school district has adopted several goals based upon the state long range plan. These include expecting all students to meet or exceed educational standards, teach-lives, attracting and retaining qualified and effective teachers, and maintaining a productive, effective and accountable organization and management atmosphere in all levels of the system.

Other goals include pursuing sound financial paths for the district, working with parents and the community to improve the schools, encouraging the development and use of more effective methods and developing consistent, timely and effective communication among all public education interests.

A major point of the report is compliance with House Bill 50 in the reduction of paperwork for teachers. In pursuit of this goal, only reports required by the state are called for in the district. Lesson plans have been simplified and reduced to a minimum and a grade book is now being used to record mastery of essential elements.

After studying the past history of attendance in the district, a decision was made to participate in the state plan to not keep attendance for the spring

According to the second part of the report, Floydada Independent School District falls into a group which has enrollment of from 1000 students to 2999 with wealth of the district below average and more than 40% of the residents income judged as low. The ethnic distribution of 1236 students in the district is 39.6% white, 55.2% Hispanic, 4.9% Black and 0.3% other. 56.6% of the students in the district are on the free/reduced lunch program.

89.7% of the students graduate and 57.4% of those plan to attend college. According to information compiled by the Texas Education Agency, the attendance rate in the district is 96.6% compared to a state average of 93.4% and an average in like schools of 94.7%.

Enrollment in special programs is relatively small throughout the district. 8.7% of the studennts are enrolled in special education programs and 2.7% are participating in gifted and talented programs. 1.8% require bilingual education and 23.5% are in vocational

History of Valentine's Day

By Andrea Reed

Have you ever wondered where the tradition of celebrating Valentine's Day began? Or how old it is? Well, Valentine's Day has been a popular tradition that has been celebrated for many, many years. It is believed that the beginning of the February 14th tradition was marked by a Roman festival known as "Lupercalia."

"Lupercalia" began as a feast given in honor of the young Roman lovers. During this festival, the young people of Rome would draw names from a box. These people became partners and exchanged gifts as a means of showing affection for one another. This particular festival was an extreme success for many times the partners would often find themselves married to one another.

In 496, a certain religious man by the name of Pope Gelasius changed the Lupercalis festival, which was originally celebrated on February 15, to what we today know as being St. Valentine's Day, which we celebrate on February

Not only was Valentine's Day celebrated in Rome, but also in England. The English began taking note of this day in chose their valentines by writing names on pieces of paper, then by drawing them from a vase. Upon drawing the name of a young maiden, the young men would wear the slip of paper on one of their sleeves for a long while. Like the Romans, these couples would often end up being married to one another.

In our country, Valentine's Day became popular during the time of the Civil War. The valentines of this period were usually hand painted with a vivid array of pierced hearts and arrows. Some of them were even specially decorated with satin, ribbon, lace trimmings, feathers, tassles, gems, sea shells, and dried flowers. These special valentines were deeply cherished then and still are today. Clearly, February 14 is a very special day for many people, for many reasons. It is a time to celebrate with people who are very dear to you, a time to share feelings of love, respect and admiration.

Southwestern Public Service Company has been a part of our city since 1916.

Southwestern Public Service Company and its predecessor companies have been serving the people of Floydada for more than 70 years. Our goal always has been to provide reliable electric service at a fair price. And of course our service department is on call 24 hours a day for emergencies.

In addition, we offer many community programs that help make Floydada a better place to live. Our home service advisors offer programs on electric cooking and appliances. We have presentations on electric safety and conservation available for schools and civic groups. Our lighting and air conditioning/ heating specialists can help you plan the most efficient systems for your home or business.

Our office at 220 W. California is open 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Why not drop by and let us talk to you about electric service or one of our many community programs?

Ogden-Gooch marry

Bible Baptist Church in Floydada was the site for the 3 p.m. wedding ceremony uniting Tonya Sue Ogden and Dennis Gooch on January 31. Bob Chapman, pastor, officiated the recitation of vows, before an altar highlighted with a large arrangement of white and pink gladiolas and blue carnations and flanked by two smaller arrangements holding the same mixture of flowers.

Parents of the couple are Tommy and Alice Ogden and Roger and JoAnn Gooch, all of Floydada.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a tea length royal blue satin dress draped with a white lace overlay featuring a high neck and long sleeves. She carried an arrangement of white sweetheart roses, blue and apricot lilies and babies breath.

Kim Clark of Lubbock attended the bride as maid of honor. The bride's sister, Trina Ogden of Floydada was bridesmaid. They were attired in royal blue crepe, tea-length dresses with square necklines and cap sleeves. Bows currently self-employed.

FHA-HERO Report

By Kellie VanCleve

The Floydada High School Future Homemakers of America-Home Economics Related Occupations (FHA-HERO) organization met Jan. 30, 1987, at 9:00 a.m. in the Home Ec classroom. President Josie Rosales called the meeting to order. Secretary Rachel Boyd read minutes of the last meeting which were approved.

Treasurer Marcus Riojas told how much money was earned by baking and selling cakes at Thanksgiving. Also how much was turned in for selling gift wrap and oven mitts. All but one have brought dues ($5) or sold at least two packages of paper or mitts to pay for their dues.

The program committee reported the guest speaker would be Mr. Jim Word. They also reported we went to Lubbock in December and talked to the manager of Long John Silver's fast food restaurant. We ate at Dairy Queen after going to look at decorations in Holland

Our other projects reported about were that we helped hand out rice and cheese and other food at the Massie Activity Center and helped unload the truck and set up the work tables. We helped people carry their food boxes to their cars. This was part of our "Feed Hungry Americans" project. We made bread sticks and salad for the Day Care Spaghetti supper in October to help the Day Care raise money.

In February 9-13 it is National FHA-HERO week. We plan to bake red and white cakes for the teachers' lounge in high school.

President Rosales asked the songleader, Lisa Galvan, to lead and we recited the club creed.

In new business we voted to Adopt-A-Highway. A man from the Texas Highway Department will help us choose a mile strip of road and we will

Mr. Jim Word talked to us about flag etiquette. He showed us the correct way to raise and lower the flag with respect. A three student color guard followed his instructions at the school flag pole. Lisa Galvan led us in giving the Pledge of Allegiance at the end of the ceremony. We thanked Mr. Word.

Back in the classroom, we conducted a pinning ceremony. Our chapter advisor, Mrs. Joyce Williams, presented all new members with bronze FHA-HERO pins. We stood in a circle around the table that was covered with a red cloth and decorated with red roses in a white vase. Then the advisor called each officer's name and gave them an officer guard of the symbol of their office. They attached it to their club pins. AFS student speaks to Christian Women's group

The Christian Women's Fellowship of the First Christian Church had as the guest program on Wednesday night, February 4, Maria Edith Jativa. Miss Jativa was introduced by Lou Burleson, program chairman for the evening, and was accompanied to the meeting by Regi Gross, her host "mother" in Floydada. After an interesting presentation of her country, Ecuador, and customs that are different than ours, there was a question and answer period, which all the CWF members enjoyed!

Preceding the program, the business meeting was conducted by the president, Pauline Pierce, during which time the World Day of Prayer in March was discussed. The program for Friday, March 6, will be held at the First United Methodist Church. The Christian's Women's Fellowship will be responsible for the program. This year, an all-out effort is being made to encourage and include representatives from the churches other than the Methodist and Christian to take part in the program and attend the service.

During the business meeting, it was decided that the CWF will not have a Valentine coffee. The day falls on a Saturday this year which would prevent many of the downtown area from taking a "coffee break" that accounts for the usual group that attends.

The CWF meeting was closed with a prayer, after which refreshments were served by Jewell Price and Mattie February 5: Spring-like weather smiled on our community and the entire South Plains this week-end and early part of the week. Forsythia bushes are blooming, hens are laying, birds are building nests, ready for spring, even if the groundhog did see his shadow with all that beautiful sunshine Monday. We do face six more weeks of winter spells, the pleasure of these days will make the waiting time seem shorter.

Along with spring comes that enemy of the rancher - prairie fire. As Ozena Norris drove through Blanco Canyon Friday, about 3 p.m., from visiting the Tom Taylors south of Crosbyton, she noticed a thin plume of smoke rising up behind Norman Muncy's ranch house. In town she notified Edith Muncy, who contacted Norman at Pleasant Hill. The Floydada Fire Department was notified and they were on the scene in minutes, quickly followed by fire departments from McAdoo and Crosbyton. Floydada fireman Jim Owens knows Blanco Canyon's every cave and ravine and easily directed the men over ranch roads where tall prairie grass blazed.

The ground was heavy with winter pasture and root plowed mesquite stumps. Q.D. Williams was helping Tom Taylor work cattle and arrived home just as the last stumps were being kicked apart. He and Norman stayed on the scene until later in the night to keep an eye on the charred pastures in case the wind got up and fanned the fire to life. The road running east and west through the canyon served as a natural fire guard and contained the fire to the north side. No buildings were burned although Edith fought fire with broom and tow sack within a few feet of the house and barns. The fire seemed to start directly beneath a power line and the slight breeze blew it west. The fire departments knew their business and saved the day for all concerned. By 5:30 p.m. no fires were blazing out of control and the canyon was settling down again. With a good rain the pastures could be thriving by summer.

wind rebounding record Tuesday night, but it was a board by Roel Cisneros in the final ticks which preserved a victory for the FHS lads against visiting Friona.

With the Green and White leading 54-53 and the clock having a half dozen ticks remaining. Cisneros pulled in a rebound to allow Floydada to maintain possession of the ball. Despite a foul and two technicals against Friona, the Winds — not having one of their better performances - managed to sink only two of six chances from the line in the final four seconds. Still, that was enough for a chilling 56-53 triumph to run their season record to 18-8.

Blowing a 43-34 advantage in the final quarter, the Whirlwinds were in a corner with 1:06 remaining. They faced a 53-52 deficit.

Friona inbounded the ball and put up a shot with 0:49 left, but Williams came down with another rebound. Twelve seconds later, Ty Stovall sent the Green and White in front 54-53 on a bucket.

The determined Chieftains missed from the field with 16 seconds remaining and again with 12 seconds left. Stovall was fouled during the rebound the final second. Williams' 14 rebounds - following 16 boards at Littlefield last Friday pushed his career total to 334 with two games remaining. David Morren had set the old standard in 1985 with 329.

The contest was knotted 11-all at the conclusion of the first quarter before the Winds went up 23-20 at intermission. They extended the lead to 43-34 after three periods.

Stovall, 23, and Williams, 17, scored in double figures. Chad Pernell contributed 6, Cornelius Campbell had 5, Chad Quisenberry sank 4 and Randy Enriquez scored 1.

WINNING SEASON ON LINE

A winning season will be on the line for both the Whirlwind varsity and junior varsity girls Friday when they host Tulia. The varsity owns an 11-11 season mark and the JV is 9-9.

Coach Tommy Baxter's varsity crew turned in another gallant effort against Friona, one of the area's superior AAA squad. The Squaws went home with a phids attack wheat

By C. Mark Brown Extension Agent-Entomology [PM] Crosby/Floyd County

Several species of aphids are currently present in area wheat fields. Producers should be aware of the damage symptoms and economic threshold levels for each of these insects. Greenbugs and oat-bird cherry aphids are the prevalent types at this time, and some Russian wheat aphid activity is now being reported across the South Plains.

Dr. William P. Morrison, Extension Entomologist at Lubbock, reported last week on the status of the Russian Wheat aphid (RWA). Sightings of the RWA have been reported from Hale, Lubbock, Parmer, and Floyd Counties of the South Plains, and also from five counties in New Mexico, one in the Oklahoma panhandle, and several in eastern Colorado. All of these infestations have been light, and not of economic concern. The majority of these sightings have been in volunteer wheat.

Preferred host plants of the RWA include wheat, barley, and triticale. It also feeds on rye, oats, jointed goatgrass, cheatgrass, timothy, squirreltail, little barley, wild oats, rescue grass, and various other brome grasses. It is not able to reproduce on sorghum, corn, or Johnsongrass.

The RWA can be distinguished from other aphids by a characteristic projection above the cauda, which gives it a "double-tailed" appearance when viewed from the side. Also, cornicles (or tailpipes) characteristic of most aphids cannot be seen on the RWA with the naked eye.

RWA damage symptoms include white longitudinal streaks in the leaves, rolled leaves, prostrate or flattened appearance of heavily infested plants, and sometimes, a purpling of infested plants. These aphids are usually found inside rolled up leaves; therefore, many producers will see the damage before they ever find the insects.

Economic thresholds have not yet been determined for this pest in the United States. However, in South Africa treatment is recommended when the first node of the stem is visible and 10% of the plants are infested. If reinfestation occurs, a second application is recommended when the flag leaf is barely visible and 10% of the tillers are infested. Research from South Africa has shown that wheat can withstand some early damage without significant yield loss. Therefore, a one-shot application should be timed around the emergence of the flag leaf. However, some producers last year could possibly have justified two applications on irrigated fields. Greenbugs are pale green, approximately 1/16 inch long, and have a characteristic darkgreen stripe running lengthwise down the center of the back. The tips of the feet, antennae, and cornicles are black. Greenbugs reproduce rapidly between temperatures of 55° to 95° F, while their natural enemies reproduce slowly below temperatures of 65° F. The average temperature must be below 20° F. for at least a week to kill 99 percent of the greenbugs. The population must also be without protection from snow.

Sampling for greenbugs involves walking diagonally across a field and making a minimum of five random counts per 20 acres of field. Each count should consist of one foot of drill row. Check for greenbugs on the underside of leaves when the weather is warm and in the soil around the roots when temperature is colder.

Greenbug numbers in most of the field I have looked at have averaged less than 40 per row foot. Under normal growing conditions, plants that are 3 to 6 inches in height can withstand up to 100 - 300 greenbugs per linear row foot without economic damage. The general treatment threshold for plants that are 4 to 8 inches in height is 200 - 400 greenbugs per linear foot.

Oat-bird cherry aphids are also present in many area fields. This aphid often occurs during the time that greenbugs may be present. These aphids are dark green in color, and have been numerous in many area triticale fields. Producers should realize that control of the oat-bird cherry aphid in small grains is seldom required. TPMA ANNUAL MEETING

Soil moisture 'best in five years'

Soil moisture conditions across the service area of the High Plains Under- we received occurred from August to ground Water Conscrvation District No. 1 are better than they have been in the last five years, according to the results of the Water District's Pre-Plant Soil Moisture Survey

"In general, most soils are at or near field capacity in the upper two feet of the five-foot soil profile, but commonly the soils are at 65 to 80 percent of field capacity in the lower part of the profile," explains USDA-Soil Conservation Service Soil Scientist Mike Risinger, who directs the program.

Fifty percent of field capacity approximates the permanent wilting point for crops grown in the District's service

At field capacity, soils in the Water District's service area generally hold 7.8 to 9.8 inches of plant available water in the five-foot root zone soil profile. "The lower depths will require one-half to 1.5 inches of water per foot of soil to reach field capacity prior to planting," continues Risinger.

The good soil moisture conditions are attributed to above average rainfall received across the water district's service area in late 1986.

As illustrated on the accompanying regional soil moisture deficit map, moisture deficits generally range from one to six inches. However, there are isolated areas showing deficits ranging from six to eight inches.

Risinger notes, "Much of the rainfall were least suitable for taking advantage of the precipitation. This is evident as you look at the playa basins full of water across the area." He explains that the soil remained wet from one rain to the next, which reduced the water intake rates of the soil. Historical pre-plant irrigations have ranged from 4 to 12 inches in the approximately 3.5 million irrigated acres in the Water District's service area. By adding the amount of water needed as shown on the soil moisture deficit map, the historical pre-plant water use could be reduced by one-fourth to one-half, potentially saving 437.5 thousand acre-feet of water for future use.

Risinger recommends that farmers check their fields individually to obtain the most accurate estimate of their specific soil moisture conditions. Farmers should be destroyed because they will reduce water infiltration into the soil, as well as root penetration into the lower soil profile. Significant hardpans may be found in field where harvesting equipment was run under wet conditions.

The soil moisture map survey is conducted by the High Plains Water District in cooperation with the SCS. Soil moisture sites are selected to represent the farm management and cropping patterns typical of the site area, and are monitored in cooperation

About 200 sites are located through-November when the soil conditions out the District. Water District monitoring crews measured soil moisture from late November through mid-January.

RAY STARNES is the pastor of the Aiken Baptist Church. He attended the Clarksville School of Theology and holds a THB degree in Theology and a masters degree in Eschatology. He and wife, Kay have one fifteen year old daughter, Raetta. They have lived in Lockney for the past five years.

Mr. I Will Later

I remember hearing a colored minister say something years ago that has never left my mind. He said he had been talking to a big colored fellow about coming to church and serving the Lord for a long time and the man kept telling him, "Pars", I'll be down there when I get straightened out." The colored minister said, "Sure enough, when the man died I stood up in the pulpit behind the body and said, "He's here today, in church and he's all straightened out, but he ain't no good to

That has stayed in my mind. The trouble with too many folks is that they wait until they get straightened out and when they are straightened out, they will come

So, Mr. I Will Later dies. He is survived by his wife, whose name is Hope-to-Later, had one daughter named Maybe Later and two brothers named Sometimes Later and Going-To-Later.

Could this be you? If so, think with me on a verse of Scripture. (Heb. 9:27) "And, as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this, the judgement." Now, the thing that we need to understand is that whatever your name may be, whatever your station in life may be, you are going to die also. You probably won't be buried on the lawn of the church and probably won't have a tombstone that will tell the truth about you. I say this and I say it reverently and loveing, that there are more lies told at a funeral service than any other ceremony in all the world. I knew a man personally one time and knew for a fact that for 20 years, he had never darkened the door of a church, and I heard the minister stand behind the body and say to the congregation, "We have every reason to believe that he is in heaven." Of course, I realize that church membership or church attendance will not save you, but I do say this: When a man is saved, he will go to church. He will want to because be has a new nature. I often wondered, too, what a certain man in the congregation whom many had been praying for, for a long time, thought about it. Probably, he thought that if this man can get into Heaven living as he has for 20 years, then certainly I

Now, I have conducted funerals of people whom I had never seen before in all my life, and by the way, I hope that I never have someone that I have never seen, who knows nothing about me, to conduct my funeral. If something good cannot be said about the deceased, just preach the Gospel, and let it go at that.

I say to Mr. "I Will Later" and his wife, "Hope-To-Later" and daughter "Maybe Later" and his brothers "Sometimes Later" and "Going-To-Later". THAT TIME WILL NEVER COME.

"Behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of Salvation." II Cor.

Crosbyton's economy bisected

Crosbyton's economy — along with those of Winters and Spearman - is being placed under the hypothetic microscope by sociologists who are studying its agri-business ailments. Dr. Don Albrecht, a researcher for the Department of Rural Sociology at Texas A&M University, and fellow sociologist Jim Thomas hope to make positive recommendations for recovery.

"We're interested in where people go to make purchases, where the dollars are going, what businesses have gone under in the last few years and whether it was directly related to the farming crisis," Albrecht says.

The study began survey questionnaires being delivered to the town's businesses and farmers. Telephone interviews also are a part of the research.

Albrecht says recommendations for recovery will depend largely upon the compiled results of the survey.

The research will probe the downside economic effects on everything from drug stores and banks to grocery stores and farm implement dealers. In addition to the impact of the economic downturn, Albrecht says the survey will look at any correlations between crime rates, increased stress, joblessness and divorce.

Individual responses to the questionnaires will be confidential, the researcher emphasizes, but will be used as composites to pinpoint problem areas.

"The positive aspect for us is simply in knowing what is going on in a community and recommending some policy," he explains. "For the community, the advantage is having results of a free survey to seek break-throughs."

While some historical researchers have often viewed the farming crisis as a cyclical phenomenon, Albrecht says he sees it quite differently.

'It's not as simple as a cycle," he says. "There hasn't been anything like it since the Great Depression...People bought land a number of years back far above values and at a time of high interest rates.

"Now the interest rates are down, but so is the value of the land."

The result has been foreclosures, bankruptcies and reorganization of debts with little daylight at the end of

Albrecht and Thomas are conducting the research under a partial grant from the U.S. Department of Agriculture

Edwards, LaBaume, Woody show champs

Animals owned by Zora Woody, Kelli LaBaume and Chad Edwards paraded to the head of the class Saturday as grand champions of the sixth annual Floydada Junior Livestock Show.

Judge Scott Doss slapped Edwards' 1,222 pound heavyweight cross steer on the hip to designate it as the final grand champion of the day.

Doss went right back to another cross, owned by Angie Hinsley, as reserve grand champion steer.

Both homebreds, the steers of Edwards and Miss Hinsley also stood as crossbreed champion and reserve cham-

Others showing for top honors in the steer division were Melissa Faulkenberry's heavy weight Hereford and Amy Hinsley's Angus.

Troy Faulkenberry, who exhibited the grand champion and other calves, was chosen for the steer showmanship award.

Edwards, son of Craig and Betty Edwards and a 17-year-old Floydada High School junior, entered his animal under the 4-H banner. It was bred by his father, Craig Edwards.

Miss Hinsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Hinsley, also is a FHS junior and a Floydada 4-H Club member. She is 16. Her 1,152 pound cross was bred by her father, Michael Hinsley.

CHAMPION BARROW

Doss, vocational agricultural instructor at Frenship High School, pondered at length before selecting Miss La-Baume's 214 pound "bluebutt cross" over six other breed winners as grand fine wool cross, Zora Woody's South-champion of the swine division. Selected as reserve grand champion was a 241 cross owned by Derrick Martinez, as crosses again provided grand and reserve champion.

Other breed champions vying for overall honors were Bryan Thomas' Berkshire. Darrin Martinez' Duroc, Derrick Martinez' Chester White, Chad Quisenberry's Hampshire, Shayla Barbee's spot and Kelli LaBaume's York-

Darrin Martinez garnered swine showmanship honors.

Miss LaBaume's grand champion barrow was bred by Wintex Farm in Idalou. The exhibitor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jon LaBume, is a 16-year-old Floydada High School junior who showed as a FFA member.

The reserve champion barrow owner is the 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Junior Martinez. A fourth grade 4-H member, his animal was bred by John Davidson, vo-ag teacher at Turkey High

LAMP CHAMPION

Zora Woody, 12-year-old Floydada 4-Her, became the first grand champion exhibitor Saturday when the youngster saw her 132 pound Suffolk singled out by Doss as the show's top lamb.

Miss Woody also was chosen for lamb showmanship honors.

Copping reserve grand champion laurels was a 126 pound Hampshire owned by Hunter Smith.

Other breed champions entering the ring to show for grand champion were Pam Woody's fine wool, Grant Cage's down, Tali Cage's Shropshire and Roxene Brown's "other breeds."

A sixth grader, Miss Woody is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.O. Woody. Joe Womack of Floydada bred both her grand champion and her champion

Smith, 17, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Choise Smith. A FHS senior, he is an FFA member. His Hampshire lamb was bred in Oklahoma by Cambiss.

BRIG. GENERAL DEMPSEY - Robert E. Dempsey was informed Jan. 22 that President Reagan has nominated him to the rank of brigadier general. He is now commander of Dyess Air Force Base in Abilene, and his new assignment will be announced in early summer. Brig. General Dempsey was graduated from Floydada High School in 1960 and from the Air Force Academy in 1964. He is the son of Mrs. Dennis Dempsey and the late Dennis Dempsey. He and his wife Lynn are parents of one son and two daughters.

Week-end burglary checked by police

Burglary of motor vehicles occurred "over the week-end" at Poole Well Service & Radiator Shop, 407 E. Houston, resulting in a loss estimated at "over $200."

According to the Floydada Police Department, a CB, two speakers and one battery were removed from a combine and a truck. "Some damage" was sustained by the combine door and

The incident was discovered and reported Monday morning.

While occupants were attending basketball game here last Tuesday night, a residence on West Marivena Street was burglarized. Police placed the time at "between 5 and 9 p.m."

Taken were a J.C. Penney/RCA VCR and tapes. A gun cabinet was damaged, leaving the theft-damage loss estimated at $400, according to Sgt. Harold Snell.

Three tires on a transport trailer were slashed or "cut" late Monday night. The loss, estimated at $300, was discovered Tuesday morning and reported to police about 7:30 a.m.

Traffic matters also were investigated by police during the past week.

Simpson barn again visited by burglars

For the second time within a week, burglars have visited the Bob Simpson barn, located approximately four miles south and seven miles west of Floydada.

The sheriff's department says Simpson reported that a chain, holding a lock on the barn door, was cut Friday night. However, the owner told officers that he found nothing missing.

Two batteries reportedly glarized from the barn the previous Sunday night.

Square Dance News

By Carol Huggins

Whirlers' squance dance lessons are going strong. We have around 20 students, and they are a good group. Sid is really moving them along. Hope everyone remembers that our lessons this week (tonight) will be at Andrews Ward gym.

We had seven couples attend a special dance in Lubbock two weeks ago, and also seven couples danced at Federation this past Saturday night. According to those who attended, both dances were lots of fun.

We had four squares at our regular dance Friday night. Four couples from Tulia were our visitors. Charles and Katherine Ball and Jim and Carol Huggins served refreshments. Donald-Reecer won the door prize. Our next dance will be February 21 with Sid Perkins calling.

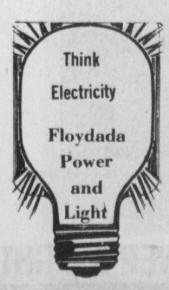

Courtroom Activities

In county court on February 9, Ernest W. Loftis, 33, of Carlsbad, N.M., pled guilty to DWI. He was fined $500.00 and 100 days in jail plus court costs. The jail sentence was probated for two years.

In the 110th District Court on February 10, probation was revoked on two men and modified on another.

Michael Reyes Mendoza of Floydada, was placed on Intensive Supervision Probation for the remainder of his probation term.

Glenn Lewis Vasquez of Floydada, who was on probation for aggravated assault with a deadly weapon/threat, had his probation revoked for resisting arrest. He was sentenced to 2 years in

Vernon Wickware of Floydada, who was on probation for criminal mischief/ interruption of public utilities, had his probation revoked when he failed to pay his probation fees, consumed alcohol, misdemeanor theft and for being where alcohol was present.

In J.P court for the week 2-3-87 through 2-20-87, 14 misdemeanor cases were filed.

Council accepts seal coating bids

During its regular February meeting, the city council Tuesday night opened bids for proposed seal coating of city streets and repairs to West Crockett Street from the Ralls Highway west to Tree Street.

Two firms submitted bids on the projects. The bid was awarded to the low bidder, Zahn Paving, on a bid of

High Plains Pavers submitted a bid of $39,824.96. John Key West and Olin Watson met with the council to request that the city undertake repairs to the street area at the intersection of South Garrison Street and West Ollie Avenue to alleviate standing water problems both on the roadway and in the ditches along side. Council members agreed to consider the project for inclusion in the next budget, now being planned.

PUBLIC HEARING

A public hearing was conducted on two properties under consideration for violations of the dilapidated structures ordinance in Floydada.

The first, the Rilla Sue Woody property at 722 West Ross, was found in violation of the ordinance and City Manager Bill Feuerbacher was authorized to advertise for bids to have the property cleared.

Speaking in his wife's behalf, C.O. Woody stated that he "would have the property cleared up" within the 30 days which will elapse before bids are Probasco at the Municipal Airport. opened at the next regular council meeting in March. The council answered by agreeing to reject the bids if the property was brought up to standard before the bids were opened.

The second property, the Ronald Wayne Day building at 110 South Main, was also found in violation of the dilapidated structures ordinance and Day will be cited for being in violaton and ordered to remove the structure as provided for in the ordinance or face fines and possible court action.

40 BIDDERS ON DEMOLITIONS

An unprecedented number of bids were received on the routine demolition and clean up of five local properties. Forty bids were received with some of the bidders making bids on only one property and others submitting bids for

The properties to be cleared are at 623 & 625 West Grover, 631 East Tennessee, North 9th and East Lee, North 3rd and West Ross and 230 West Mississippi.

Wayne Bennett was the successful bidder in all five instances with a bid totaling $3450 for the lot. He estimated that he could complete work on all five lots within 60 days, weather permitting.

Council authorized Grigsby Milton to lease a 50 X 80 foot building to Mitch

Milton's contract requires council authorization for any type of sublease at the city owned facility.

A public hearing was scheduled for March 10 to hear citizens comments and suggestions concerning the 1987-88 budget now being planned. The meeting will be held to coincide with the regular council session and will be open to the public.

The council also reviewed and authorized the submission of a new fire contract between the city and the county. The only major change in the provisions of the contract is the addition of a $200 fee for each fire call outside the city limits. The county will pay this in addition to the yearly fee included in the contract for fire protection.

Scheduling of a workshop between the city and the county commissioners to meet with Mr. A. Joe Bragg, P.E. from the Texas Department of Health to discuss plans for landfill operations in the future was postponed. The council was unable to set a date as there was no representative of the Commissioners Court to assist in the selection of an equitable date for the meeting.

Telephone directories due

Southwestern Bell Telephone is distributing the 1987 Floydada Directory with artwork which depicts Texas are the "Center of the Universe" that includes knowledge, technology and development.

Texas artist Ross Edwards' directory cover artwork, "Telecommunications Possibilities," also depicts the farreaching implications of Southwestern Bell Telephone's $12 billion telecommunications network in Texas.

The artwork will appear on more than 9 million Southwestern Bell Telephone directories throughout Texas in 1987.

Jim West, area manager-external affairs said more than 2,400 directories, which include 15 pages of residence listings and 27 pages of yellow page listings, will be delivered to area residents beginning February 6, 1987. Each residential customer will receive one directory. For additional copies, customers can call the Southwestern Bell Telephone business office.

Southwestern Bell Telephone will complete distribution of the books by the end of February 13, 1987 West said.

PRO[™] TEXAS A NEW OPTIONAL CALLING PLAN FROM AT&T

On November 13, 1986 AT&T Communications of The Southwest, Inc. ("AT&T") filed with the Public Utility Commission (PUC) of Texas to introduce a new intrastate, optional calling plan, PRO Texas. A comparable interstate plan, known as PRO™ America, is currently available to Texas customers.

PRO Texas gives Texas consumers an opportunity to save money on direct dialed in-state long distance calls. Customers who choose this new AT&T plan will receive a 10% discount on all AT&T intrastate direct dialed station calls by paying a monthly charge of $15.00.

The PRO Texas discount applies to calls placed during all rate periods and all days. The discount is in addition to the AT&T intrastate evening discount of 25% and the night/weekend discount of 40%. A one time charge of $6.00 will be billed to initiate the service. However, this charge will be waived during the first 90 days that the offering is available.

PRO Texas will be available to all Message Telephone Service customers in Texas. AT&T estimates that it will generate revenues in the first year of almost $8 million, which is .7% of AT&T's annual revenues for all Texas intrastate service.

The PUC has assigned Docket No. 7194 to this proposed service offering. The proposed effective date for PRO Texas is March 16, 1987. Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the PUC as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Boulevard, Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information also may be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223 or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 teletypewriter for the deaf.
