69 candidates for Friday night graduation

"See You at the Top" has been chosen as the theme for Friday evening commencement exercises for the Floydada High School Class of '87.

Sixty-nine seniors are candidates for graduation.

They will walk down the aisle, as Pam Lockwood plays the processional, to launch the 8 p.m. commencement exercises in A.E. Baker Auditorium at Floydada High School. Addresses are to be presented by Daralyn Williams, valedictorian of the class; Roger Shannon Vinson, salutatorian; and Maria Jativa, AFS student from Ecuador.

Following the invocation by Rickey Benjamin, president of the Class of '87, the audience will hear "Love in Any Language" by Mohr and Mays. Musicians include Lonna Batey, Laron Cheek, Norma Cisneros, Cynthia Covington, Jana Davis, Kim Ellis, Alissa Hambricht, Jeannie Jackson, Freeman Jones, Alfred Medrano, Sabrina Stepp and Kim Zimmerman.

Vinson's salutatory address is entitled "Flying Your Own Plane." "Valse Scintilla," a contrabass clarinet solo,

SCHOOL YEAR CONCLUDING
The 1986-87 school year officially ends Friday afternoon for Floydada public school students. Final bells are due to sound at 2:30 p.m.

will be given by Dawn Atteberry. "We Can Learn to Fly" is the title of Miss Williams' valedictory address. Miss Jativa is to speak on "The Wings of a Dream."

DIPLOMA PRESENTATION
Superintendent Jerry Cannon and Principal Ronnie Wood are to present diplomas.

Following the benediction by Alfred Medrano, president of the FHS student body for the 1986-87 year, the new graduates will sing the school song, "Hail, Floydada High School."

Miss Lockwood is to play the recessional.

Honor students are to lead the Class of '87 into the auditorium. White pendants will indicate National Honor Society membership.

Miss Williams is the class' academic leader with a 3.585 four-year grade point average. She is the daughter of Leon and Sue Williams.

Vinson, son of Roger and Doris Vinson, earned salutatorian honors with a 3.460 grade point average.

Principal Wood explains that the honor student selection process is based on a four-point system with extra weight given to accelerated classes.

In addition to the valedictorian and salutatorian, honor students for the Class of '87 include:

Pam Curry, daughter of Travis and Louise Curry, 3.312

Matthew Redding, son of John and Carolyn Redding, 3.298

Sabrina Stepp, daughter of Joseph and Juanita Stepp, 3.257

Kim Zimmerman, daughter of Fred III and Pat Zimmerman, 3.221

Alissa Hambricht, daughter of Bob and Frances Hambricht, 3.192

Paige Cannon, daughter of Jerry and Sheree Cannon, 3.158

Kevin Carter, son of Eddie and Sheila Carter, 3.142

Rickey Benjamin, son of Larry and Stella Benjamin, 3.108.

CANDIDATES LISTED
Candidates for diplomas on Friday evening include: Kevin Lee Carter, Alissa Ann Hambricht, Sabrina Sue Stepp, Pamela Lynn Curry, Daralyn Denise Williams, Roger Shannon Vinson, Matthew Redding, Kimberly Ann Zimmerman, Melissa Paige Cannon, Rickey Don Benjamin, Alfredo Medrano Jr., Maria Jativa, Freeman Fitzgerald Jones, Jeannie Elaine Jackson, Kimberly Dawn Ellis;

Also, Jana Jeanean Davis, Cynthia Michelle Covington, Norma Cisneros, Laron Leath Cheek, Lonna Diane Batey, Dawn Louise Atteberry, Jorge George Alaniz, Abel Arellano, Shannon Paul Barbee, Cynthia Marie Barrientos, Charles Anthony Brocato, Cornelius La Juan Campbell, Veronica Carrillo, Ricky Ray Cavazos, Judy Cervantes, Norma Linda DeLeon, Stephen Brad Emert,

Also, James Fannon, Troy Don Faulkenberry, Rodney William Ferguson, Hector Flores, Louisa Flores, Rusty Scott Galloway, Joe Gonzalez, Olga Lidia Gonzalez, Raul Gonzalez, Richard Gonzalez, Lisa Carol Graham, Raymond Gutierrez, Lori Ann Higginbotham, Neomi Huerta, Treva Jannette Ledbetter, Richard Clay Lowrance, Rosie Maldonado, Darin Lee Martinez;

Also, Alice Marie McDaniel, Marlyse Rebecca McGaugh, Sylvester Mendoza, Johnny Bob Nichols, Tommie D'Lene Pearson, Tana Caye Perry, Deborah Lynn Powell, David Bruce Pyle, Danny Salazar, Pedro Segura, Tye Hunter Smith, Noe Soliz, Joe Kevin Starkey, Manuel Suarez, David Vasquez, Alex Dwayne Wall, Frankie L. Williams and Leif Dane Younger.

RECEPTION
Graduates and their parents are invited to be guests at a reception, sponsored by City Park Church of Christ, in the high school cafeteria.

The fete is planned immediately after commencement exercises.

DRUG FREE PARTY
Parents are sponsoring a "drug free party" for the grads on Friday night. The group will travel to Lubbock in a school bus for the celebration.

The event for seniors and parents begins with a meal and bowling. The Floydadians then go to the Activity Center at First Baptist Church in Lubbock for activities before beginning their homeward jaunt "early Saturday morning."

Bill Feuerbacher, longtime city manager, due to retire August 31

A familiar face, Bill Feuerbacher, will vacate the Floydada city manager's office on Aug. 31.

Feuerbacher, who has been associated with the City of Floydada for 26 years, has informed Mayor Parnell Powell of his decision to retire on Aug. 29. He was employed as city secretary on May 15, 1961, and became city manager in February 1965.

The resignation has not been accepted by the City Council. The matter will be placed on the agenda for the next regular meeting of the city governing body, scheduled for June 11.

Feuerbacher's letter of resignation, dated May 19, states: "Honorable Parnell Powell, Mayor, and City Council, City of Floydada:

"Please accept my resignation as City Manager of Floydada. I intend to retire as of August 31, 1987.

"I have enjoyed my association with the City of Floydada for the past 26 years, since I began working here May 15, 1961.

"I appreciate all the cooperation and consideration shown me by all the members of the City Councils I have worked with through the years. I want to thank all of you for helping to make my experience here very pleasant and rewarding.

"Sincerely,
"Wm. A. Feuerbacher."

His wife, Norma, is retiring June 1 as a member of the junior high school faculty.

The longtime city manager told The Hesperian that he and his wife will continue to reside in Floydada although they are ready to "start traveling."

"There are 46 preserves in the United States I want to go to," Feuerbacher says. Only members of Thousand Trails, RV travelers club, are eligible to camp in these sites. The Feuerbachers are Thousand Trails members.

They also belong to the local Floydada Whirlwind Good Sam travel group and the international Good Sam Recreational Vehicle Club.

Feuerbacher is a longtime member of First United Methodist Church in Plainview and Floydada. He serves on the local church's Board of Trustees.

The Floydada city manager received a 25-year service plaque last October from the International City Management Association and is due a 25-year service award from the Texas City Management Association at the organization's annual convention, June 9 in Laredo. The convention is scheduled June 6-9.

He is a member, past president and past secretary of the Panhandle City Management Association and currently serves as secretary-treasurer of the West Texas Municipal Power Agency. He has held membership in other professional organizations.

A charter member of the Plainview Evening Lions Club, he is a member of Floydada Lions Club, having headed the group as Lion Boss during the 1971-72 fiscal years.

Judge Holmes, Bettie Counts and Beedys feted during Old Settlers

A former county judge, a Lockney area resident since 1907 and a longtime county farming and ranching couple were saluted Saturday morning by Floyd County Pioneer Association as honor pioneers for the 59th annual reunion.

John Keller (J.K.) Holmes was cited as 1987 Pioneer Man. Bettie Counts was chosen as '87 Pioneer Woman and William D. (Bill) and Winnie Beedy were tabbed as Pioneer Couple. Each received a framed certificate from H.E. Frizzell, association treasurer who made the presentations at the pavilion during the Saturday morning business meeting.

Holmes served as Floyd County judge from 1966 through 1978. His certificate stated:

"Floyd County Pioneer Association recognized John Holmes as the 1987 Pioneer Man.

"A honeymoon brought John to Floydada in 1918 and love has kept him here, a love for family and for this area.

"Thank you, Judge Holmes, for the good influence you have had on Floyd County."

YOUTH WORK

The Beedys were recognized particularly for their work with youth through the years. The wording on their certificate:

"The Floyd County Pioneer Association proudly recognizes Winnie and Bill as the Pioneer Couple of the Year, 1987.

"They were married in Floyd County in 1929 and have been a vital part of this community.

"They have been friends to all, especially to our young people, having served on school boards for 24 years. Thanks, Winnie and Bill."

Family members present stood with the recipients during their presentations. A committee selected honored pioneers.

Curtain dropping on Dougherty School

State regulations, economy, enrollment decline forcing school to close

Following a devastating explosion at the Dougherty School in 1972, talk circulated about "going ahead and consolidating instead of making repairs." However, the community was not ready to abandon its school.

Dougherty School had 15 years remaining before the final chapter was written in its fabled history.

Most residents of the community, located 17 miles southeast of Floyada, still aren't ready to close their school's door forever, which will occur on May 29. They feel, however, that they have no choice.

"I'm against closing it; but in reality, you know it has to be done," says Tom Emert, an employee of the service station and himself an alumni of the Dougherty School.

Fellow community residents agree.

"I have real mixed emotions about the school closing," quips Kristi Ward Hopper, the mother of five-year-old Kalli, who will enter kindergarten this fall. "We live six miles south (of Dougherty)," and she doesn't relish the 22-mile bus trip — each way — for her daughter.

Kindergarten students in Floydada spend a full day in the classroom, while Dougherty kindergarteners study only in the morning.

FOND MEMORIES

Mrs. Hopper nurtures fond memories of her six years at school in her home community before attending classes in Floydada the next six years.

"Going to school in Dougherty was fun. Learning was fun there. Sports were enjoyable. We were expected to study, like anyone else, but we got more individual treatment and we always had good teachers."

Mrs. Hopper explains that "the school board has gone through a lot of heartaches" in facing the reality that the 1986-87 term is the last in the school's storied history which spans over half a century. Her husband, Cliff, is one of the trustees.

"Forced" is a word frequently used by Doughertyites to explain their school's plight. Additional state mandates were met for several years, but even more stipulations have finally forced the school's closing.

Declining student populations in rural areas and a stagnant rural economy obviously have not helped.

Student numbers fell into the way as shown on attached plat, and no lots South of the main line of the Q.A.&P. as built on said right of way shall ever used for said purposes.

"No buildings or structures, except fire proof structures shall ever be built on any lots in Blocks Eight (8), Nine (9), Thirteen (13) and Fourteen (14), as shown on attached Plat. By fire proof structure is meant such buildings as are ordinarily allowed to be constructed inside the fire limits of incorporated towns."

The document was notarized by Jas. K. Green, a Floyd County Notary Public, and C.M. Daniels, a Tarrant County Notary Public. It was filed for record on April 2, 1928.

An order from Dougherty Independent School District recognizing exchange of 7.2 acres for the school site for 4.14 acres (originally dedicated) with F.M. Dougherty appears on Vol. 56, Page 553 of Floyd County Deed Records. It was dated July 15, 1929.

One individual observes that "the 'Great Depression' was a large factor in causing Dougherty to be unable to establish itself as a larger community in Floyd County."

HISTORY RECALLED

Floyd County History Book (1979), published the following article, authorized by Ruth McIntosh, about Dougherty School:

"The Dougherty Common School District came into being in 1929 as a result of the consolidation of Mayview and Newland schools. An attractive and comfortable building was constructed on land given by F.M. Dougherty.

"Four classrooms, a bookroom and a good-sized auditorium provided enviable facilities for the 72 students who enrolled in the nine grades taught that first year. Through the early 30's, enrollment remained in the 75-95 range with a faculty of four, but through the years those figures have gradually decreased to the present level of 30 to 35 students and a three-teacher faculty. Only six grades are currently taught.

"Through the years various physical changes have been made to the school. Around 1940 the bookroom was made a cafeteria, a cellar was dug in 1959 and in 1961 a gymnasium was constructed north of the school building. With both a cafeteria and a gymnasium, the school became the logical setting for many community activities, and surely there is no one in the community who does not have fond (or otherwise) memories of Halloween carnivals, chili suppers, volleyball tournaments, variety shows and even a pre-lim womanless wedding.

"And many of the earlier students will remember when Austin Circle in the center of town was Dougherty's Drag.

"As is the case with any rural school, the various teachers left their distinctive marks on the school. For example, Floyd Blankenship in the early 30's had a talent for producing plays, and it was frequently standing-room-only for such productions as 'Wild Ginger.'

"The G.C. Tiner years, 1953-1959, were principally the baseball years, and the all-day tournaments with Lakeview and South Plains held all the excitement of a World Series. Also, Mrs. Tiner staged wonderful musical programs with costuming that made a wardrobe specialist out of every mother, but I understand that the present teachers, Mr. and Mrs. A.O. Dennington, are equally gifted in that line.

"With the construction of the gymnasium, basketball became the popular sport, and for several years, carloads of parents and friends were making trips to McAdoo, Flomot, Floydada and other area towns to boost their teams.

"Scholastically the school has made a reputation for itself through the years, providing more than its proportionate share of honor graduates from Floydada High School.

"A highlight of the history of the school was the Homecoming held in 1963 when over 525 people came to share nostalgia at its best.

"Near-tragedy struck the school in 1972 when a gas explosion demolished one of the classrooms and seriously injured several students. At the time there was talk of not repairing the damage and just 'going ahead and consolidating,' but most of the people were not ready to give up their school.

"So it remains today, and is undoubtedly still giving its students experiences to cherish forever. Some years back, four or five Dougherty exes, all students in colleges or universities at the time, were reminiscing about their days at Dougherty, and one pretty well summed it up when she said, 'You know, anyone who didn't go to Dougherty just missed something!'

"That's about how all the exes felt."

RELEGATED TO HISTORY

Although state policies, coupled with an economy which has led to lower valuations and fewer students, is bringing down the curtain on Dougherty School, nothing can blot a multitude of fond memories from the minds of former and present students and their parents!

Dedication ceremony Saturday

Lamplighter Inn wears state historical marker

Forty-two descendants of the Moorehead and Daily families joined friends and well wishers on Saturday to help dedicate the Sesquicentennial Historical Marker to the old Commercial Hotel (now Lamplighter Inn.)

The dedication program opened Saturday, May 23, at 1:30 p.m. with a welcome by James H. Word, of the Floyd County Historical Commission. He spoke of his own fond memories while staying at the Inn when he first moved to Floydada, and of the good eating in the dining room.

Unveiling of the marker was done by Dorothy Hotchkiss, granddaughter of W.P. Daily, who along with husband, Johnny Hotchkiss, are current owners of The Lamplighter Inn, and Nancy Marble of the Floyd County Historical Commission.

The marker reads as follows:
Commercial Hotel

Alabama native William P. Daily (1865-1941) and his family arrived in Floyd County in 1911, settling briefly in the Muncy community (5 mi. N). After moving to Floydada to open a feed, coal, and wagon yard, Daily recognized the need for a hotel here. Construction began in 1912, and the hotel opened in January 1913, with 21 guest rooms. Catering mostly to traveling salesmen, Daily transported them from the railroad station in a horse-drawn buggy, and allowed them to display their wares in the hotel lobby. The hotel was renamed The Lamplighter Inn in 1964.
- Texas Sesquicentennial 1836-1986-

Lucian Moorehead, brother of Dorothy Hotchkiss and grandson of W.B. Daily, gave a brief family response after the unveiling.

Remarks were given by Ken Towery, owner of the Hesperian-Beacon, and a closing prayer was given by the Rev. Hal Farnsworth, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Floydada.

After the dedication service, doors to The Lamplighter were opened for tours. Stepping into the lobby was like stepping back in time. One could not help but feel like they were living in 1912 when the hotel was built.

The gentle ticking of the old clock on the wall above the key boxes seems to call one straight to the register desk urging one to ring the bell for a room.

Old family pictures adorn the walls reminding one of his/her own family memories. Upstairs part of the hotel rooms were opened for viewing. The rooms were decorated along the themes of the early 1900's. Individual rooms depicted different walks of life that graced the halls of the hotel over the years.

The entertainers' room was set up to remind people of Harley Sadler, the showman-legislator, who was a frequent visitor to The Commercial Hotel. His tent show would be set up in a vacant field across from the hotel.

The "drummer's" room was used to serve the traveling salesmen who were brought to the hotel by horse drawn buggy to display their wares in the lobby. The politician room reminded people of the notable figures that stayed there such as a governor and U.S. Senators. The traveling public was also represented in the hotel with rooms depicting construction workers, railroad workers, children's rooms and a bridal suite.

One of the best equipped rooms was the Daily Store, recreating a general store that was operated by the Daily's in Arkansas before coming to the plains. The room was full of grocery and supply store items from the early 1900's featuring everything from feather pillows to an old push iron and many household items.

One hundred and 76 people signed the register at The Lamplighter on Saturday, "But we had a lot more than that," said Dorothy Hotchkiss. "Many people forgot to sign the register, including a lot of my relatives. I know there were over 200."

Moorehead-Daily ancestors came from all over Texas, and from both the East and West coast to reunite for the occasion. Traveling the farthest for the ceremony were Mary Overly Davis and Jerry, who came from New York, N.Y., and Dr. Richard M. Moorehead Jr., from San Francisco. Relatives also came from as far away as North Carolina and Colorado.

The oldest family member in attendance was Bill Daily, 80 years old, who is the only survivor of the original Daily family that built the hotel. The son of William P. Daily, he was five years old when he moved into the hotel.

The youngest member in attendance was Susan Witt, 13 months old, who is a sixth generation. She is the granddaughter of John Farris Moorehead.

Old Settlers undaunted by weather

All three certificates were signed by Boyce Mosley, president of the association for the past 12 months, and Gayle Reay, secretary. Other 1986-87 officers were Frances Stanforth, vice president, and Frizzell, treasurer.

Mrs. Stanforth was elevated to the presidency of Floyd County Pioneer Association during the next 12 months during the business meeting. R.C. Mitchell was named her successor as vice president.

The secretary and the treasurer were re-elected.

After posting of the colors in front of the courthouse by an honor guard from Reese Air Force Base, the business meeting convened in the pavilion. Mosley opened the session by the invocation and announcements.

IOWA VISITOR

Juaneal Glover Krambeck of Ankeny, Iowa, received a plaque for having traveled the greatest distance to attend Old Settlers. Her home is 930 miles away.

After the honor pioneers were recognized, Lovene Moore conducted an impressive memorial service for Floyd County residents and former residents who have been claimed by death within the past year.

The nationally acclaimed Lone Star Ballet group from the production "Texas" fascinated the crowd with a variety of dances following the business session. All are West Texas State University students.

Western music was presented in the pavilion as hundreds of persons lined up to be served a barbecue lunch. Pioneers were special guests.

The scene again shifted to the pavilion after lunch for an auction sale to benefit the reunion association.

MARKED DEDICATION

Lamplighter Inn was the site of a Texas Historical Marker installation ceremony at 1:30 p.m. A colorful parade formed at 2:30. Country Caravan, a widely-known musical program from South Plains College in Levelland, entered the reunion group at 3:30 p.m.

The Blue Denim Band from Crosby County offered country and western music for a dance from 9 p.m. until 1 a.m. at Massie Activity Center to conclude the annual reunion.

Heavy rains the previous nights and threats of rain throughout the day apparently had little effect on the reunion crowd.

Justin Marble bestowed highest honor at show

The 1987 wild flower show had 59 entries this year. The Trudy Taylor award was bestowed on Justin Marble. This award was determined by the judges and calculated on the basis of the most blue ribbons awarded to any individual. Since there was a tie here, this award was determined by the number of seconds and thirds plus the freshness of the flowers.

Show winners were:
Division 1 — Miniature: Justin Marble 1st, Walton Wilson 2nd, Zacha Harris 3rd
Division 2 — Unusual container:

Accidents reported

No injuries occurred when three vehicles reportedly "hit the same calf" about 8:30 or 9 p.m. Friday night. The site was three miles east of Floydada on the Matador highway.

All three vehicles were driven away from the accident, according to information from the Sheriff's Department.

A third arrest has been made in the theft of goats from R.L. Ellison at Aiken on April 12. Two of the suspects are Lockney residents and the third is from Aiken.

"Three or four" persons have been charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated) during the past week, according to officers.

Bridesmaid brunch given for Holliday

Margaret Holliday of Lockney, bride-elect of Bucky Adams of Petersburg, was honored with a bridesmaid brunch in the home of Mrs. Audie Noland on May 15 from 10:30-12 noon. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Johnny Belt and Mrs. James Race.

Special guests attending were Mrs. Bill Pitchford, the bride-elect's mother; also her grandmother, Mrs. Cecil Carthel; the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. J.D. Adams and his grandmother, Mrs. Lloyd Goldston of Petersburg.

Bridesmaids attending were Becky Holliday, Nicki Race, Mrs. Joey (Lorna) Davis, Sarah Fitzgerald and Irene Cantu, also flower girls Tressa and Brandy Pitchford, sisters of the bride.

History of Mount Blanco 'relived'

Relatives and friends entered Pioneer Memorial Building in Crosbyton at 5 p.m. May 1 with a common tie: They were residents or former residents of the Mount Blanco community in extreme northern Crosby County and were there to revive memories from yesterday during a reunion. They came from various states to attend the reunion, which attracted 182 persons.

They "began a trek from various states, towns, cities and communities to again laugh, talk, cry and hug each other, bringing back memories of a community spirit in a little rural Mount Blanco area that weathered many years of loving and faithful concern for each other," states Connie Allen of Crosbyton.

"Uncle Hank Smith and Aunt Hank (first area white settlers), as they opened their door to welcome a stranger, passed on the 'generous spirit' of the little community.

"For many years the hub of community life were the school and church, also a general store."

Two former teachers who instructed students in the former three-room school "came back to see friends." The pair are Ila Acker, now Mrs. Garnell Crammell of Aurora, Colo., and Martha Lou Acker, now Mrs. Robert L. Moss of Memphis, Tex.

Five former pastors of Mount Blanco Missionary Baptist Church returned for the reunion. They greeted friends, many of whom they had performed a marriage ceremony for. The former pastors at times had helped their "farmer" church members in planting or harvesting a crop or ministering to families in times of illness and sorrow. The men are Victor Crabtree of Spur; Earl L. Fort of Cornelius, Oregon; Clayton Watkins of Terrell; J.R. Williams of Rule; and O.N. Reed of Canyon.

A letter was read from the Rev. Elbert Keith, another former pastor who now resides in Daingerfield. He sent regrets about being unable to attend.

Another letter read to the group came from Mrs. Lucille Hamm of Tucson, Ariz. Her late husband, the Rev. Alvin Hamm, was a former community pastor.

"The 'Mount Blanco Spirit' in 1987 is no different than the 'Spirit of 1900,'" points out Mrs. Allen. "Time, progress and world affairs have come to change the pace but never the spirit.

"Community life is alive now in 1987 through the Mount Blanco Study Club, as women who still live in the community and those in town meet monthly for 'their club.' Dinners are planned at various times to include the whole families.

"The club's president, Jeannie Appling, so ably plays 'Aunt Hank' in The God's Country drama that has its open-air theatre in the Mount Blanco Canyon on land given by Viola Smith Brown. The script of the famous prairie drama was written by her daughter-in-law, Pat Brown, who also raised her family in the community."

Blanton Hartsell has raised in Mount Blanco community longer than anyone else attending the reunion.

REUNION GUESTS

Attending the reunion were: Guy and Gwen Haverstock, Willow Park; Raymond and Leona Watson, Lockney; Vina (Mosley) Largent, Duane and Jeanette Robinson, all of Midland; Wesley and Hazel (Mosley) Hay, Roswell, N.M.; Robert and Martha Lou (McClure) Moss, Memphis, Tex.; Garnell and Ila Trammell, Aurora, Colo.; Ora Nell (Taylor) Norris, Hereford;

FLOYD DATA

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bradford and Mrs. Claude Fawver of Floydada and Jaymi Bradford of Crosbyton spent the weekend with Lt. Col. and Mrs. Conley Bradford and Paige of Holloman AFB, New Mexico. They all attended Paige's graduation on Saturday morning. A granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bradford and great-granddaughter of Mrs. Fawver, Paige will be attending Tech this fall.

Square Dance

News

By Carol Huggins

Whirlers had a very successful "Old Settlers Special" on Saturday night at the Duncan Elementary School. We had over twelve squares in attendance and quite a few spectators watching us. Sid Perkins, our regular club caller, showed everyone a good time.

We had lots of visitors from around the area. Those clubs represented were from: Tulia, Plainview, Lubbock, Olton, Silverton, Amarillo, Portales, New Mexico, Hobbs, New Mexico and Boise City, Oklahoma. Several lucky people won door prizes, and everyone enjoyed the refreshments of sandwiches, chips, dips and cookies.

Our students have now finished their basic lessons and are moving on to the next level. Workshops are still being conducted on Thursday nights. Our next dance will be June 5 at the Massie Activity Center.

McCurdy, Rex and Dana Brown, Wynn Barnett, Joe and Jeannie Appling, Jody and Jacque James, Jonathan and Jacob, M.A. and Rachel (McClure) Powell and Georgia Mae Smith Erickson, all of Crosbyton.

JULY WEDDING SET—Mike Carthel of Plainview and Freda Carthel of Lockney wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Carrie Crisleen (Crissey) Carthel to John Fredrick McDaniel, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. McDaniel Sr. of Elkhorn, Nebraska. Miss Carthel, a 1986 graduate of Canyon High School, is currently majoring in elementary education at Texas Tech University. She is employed by Century 21 Big State Real Estate in Lubbock. McDaniel is a 1984 graduate of Canyon High School. He is also currently enrolled at Texas Tech, majoring in business and is employed by Pronto Supply, Lubbock. The couple has chosen July 25, 1987 as the date for their wedding at the First Baptist Church in Canyon.

Awards received by CVAE classes

Floydada graduating seniors Rosa Linda De Ochoa and Danny Salazar were named honor students from Joyce Williams' CVAE Home Economics class. Each received a certificate of completion stating their successful mastery of a course of study in the coordinated vocational academic education program for production, management and services in the field of home economic related subjects.

Josie Rosales, current president of FHA-HERO, was recognized for Youth Leadership Development. She is employed at A.B. Duncan Elementary School and served as a delegate to the state FHA-HERO convention in San Antonio this year.

Assisted by Miss Rosales, Williams distributed other awards to students for outstanding work required in the essential elements of their classes.

Marcus Riojas, a sophomore, was awarded a certificate for demonstrating ability to work cooperatively with others. He is treasurer of FHA-HERO and is employed by a local farm implement dealer.

Rachel Boyd, also a sophomore, received an award for her punctuality at work and at school. She walks over a mile to school daily and is there before 8:00 a.m. to open doors for teachers according to Mrs. Williams. Miss Boyd has been absent from school and work only one day this year. She is secretary of FHA-HERO and has worked at Duncan for two years.

Rosa Linda De Ochoa was honored for her ability to complete assigned tasks. She has been employed for three years in the high school cafeteria. "Married during her senior year, she is to be admired for completing her education, holding down a job and maintaining her house," said Williams.

Freshman Peggy Barrientos was given an award for her ability to follow written and oral instructions in completing job tasks. She is employed at Dairy Queen.

Lisa Galvan, junior, was honored for her dependability at following rules, standards and policies of the work place. She has been an FHA-HERO officer for three years, serving this year as song leader of her chapter and has been employed at A.B. Duncan for two years.

Elvia Huerta, freshman, received an award for her sewing skills and creativity. "Her skills are so accomplished, says Williams, "that she is hired by teachers to sew for them." She is parliamentarian of FHA-HERO this year and works at Dairy Queen.

For volunteer work and participating in society in a democratic way, recognition went to Kellie Van Cleve, a sophomore. She is the FHA-HERO reporter and works at the Floyd County Library in Floydada. Receiving recognition, along with Van Cleve, were sophomores, Donna Cooper, Stacy Rucker and Alice Garcia, and freshmen Letty Maldonado, Esther Martinez and Isabel Yannis. These students and their classmates participated in the Adopt-A-Highway project, keeping two miles of highway clean, helped distribute commodities, helped with pre-schoolers during fire and tornado drills and prepared food for the day care and heart fund.

After receiving their awards, the home economics students surprised Mrs. Williams with a bouquet of cut flowers before serving refreshments.

Fruit punch and cookies were served from a table covered with a red cloth and graced by a centerpiece of red roses. Servers were Donna Cooper, Rachel Boyd, Peggy Barrientos, Rosa Linda De Ochoa and Letty Maldonado. Assisting was FHA alumni Laura Boyd, home from South Plains College.

Quilt blocks and patchwork pillows made by class members decorated the wall behind the stage. These items were also displayed at the quilt show at the Floyd County Historical Museum during Old Settler's Week.

Students from Dale Smith's GCT class presented Mrs. Williams' students with an engraved hammer "so they would no longer have to borrow from the carpenters."

Mr. Montford Saunders provided the benediction.

Attending the festivities were high school principal Ronnie Wood, school trustee Charlene Brown, Plan A Director Gean Christopher and her staff, Mary Dege and Shay Johns.

CVAE home ec classes help at Floyd museum

High school and junior high students of the Coordinated-Vocational-Academic-Education Home Ec classes arrived at the Floyd County Historical Museum Thursday, May 21, 1987, ready to help clean up for Old Settlers Day. They brought their own vacuum cleaner, dust mops and window cleaning equipment. For one hour's class time the 14 high school students cleaned the Montgomery ranch house, dusted show cases, and washed the windows at the front wall, for the morning class.

Students who volunteered time at the museum included: Stacy Rucker, Rachel Boyd, Donna Cooper, Peggy Barrientos, Lisa Galvan, Alice Garcia, Elvia Huerta, Letty Maldonado, Rosa Linda De Ochoa, Esther Martinez, Marcus Riojas, Josie Rosales, Danny Salazar and Isabel Yannis.

Afternoon student volunteers included those from junior high: Gracie Cervera, Marie de La Fuente, Mary Garcia, Gracie Gonzales, Noelia Huerta, Alice Machado, Gloria Rosales, Samantha Salazar, Rosa Soliz and Jennifer Shaut. They cleaned the Duncan room and dusted showcases.

The quilt block and pillow display of work made by the students was arranged by Josie Rosales, Rachel Boyd and Lisa Galvan. The display was hung from the balcony of the old "hotel" at the back wall of the museum. Students sewed the quilt blocks and pillows from polyester scraps and clothing given them by SOS. Polyester quilt tops represent the scrap quilts of the 1970's and 80's, as historically representative of the sewing leftovers as the Calico and gingham did decades ago.
