Winds launch grid season

Crosbyton invades Wester Field Friday night

Enthusiastic Whirlwind football fans are counting down the days until the football season opener on Friday night, but they aren't as anxious as the Mean Green athletes and their coaches. The campaign officially opens with the 8 p.m. kickoff at Wester Field in Floydada.

Buoyed by 12 talented seniors, the Whirlwinds expect a strong season and have been picked in pre-season polls as high as second and third in district warfare.

Last September, the Winds launched a thrilling season with a 29-8 victory in Crosbyton.

Earl Overton will lead the Green and White into battle for the first time as athletic director and head football coach. Dean Bates, who has been associated with Coach Overton for several seasons, is another new staff member.

Holdover members of the Whirlwind boys coaching corps are Mike Vickers, Lee Hurt, Mike Cocanougher, Tim James and Rex Holcombe.

The Whirlwind squad is paced by nine returning lettermen: Randy Enriquez, Greg Lawson, Roel Cisneros, Chad Pernel, Daniel Medrano, Ty Stovall, Leonard King, David Medrano and Ralph Casillas. All except King are seniors.

In addition to the Whirlwind letter winners, two transfers were starters last fall at their respective schools: (quarterback) Corey Bates at Port Isabel and (fullback) John Taylor at Sudan.

GOOD QUICKNESS

"Since this is the first game, we don't know too much about Crosbyton," Coach Overton says. Both Floydada and Crosbyton coaches have seen their opening opponents scrimmage.

"They have good quickness and speed at tailback that we'll have to contain," Coach Overton mentions. Williams, the Chieftain tailback, is not large but is elusive and quick.

Crosbyton operates from an "I" formation on offense and its multiple defense "gives you a different look."

Coach Overton plans to carry "about 22" players on his varsity squad. Since the Whirlwinds are short on depth, the new Mean Green mentor says it is possible that players will be promoted from the junior varsity when they are needed.

Floydada received a jolt Friday night at Cooper when stalwart Ty Stovall suffered a dislocated elbow. He will miss several games, although doctors are uncertain at this time when he will be able to return to action.

Stovall was projected as a two-way starter. The starting quarterback last fall, he had moved to right halfback on offense and also was the team's strong safety on defense.

Early this week it appeared that all

'Starting a new life'

"It has been a good life, and we've had fun," said retiring city manager Bill Feuerbacher. "But now we are starting a new life, there is a lot out there we still want to see and do."

These words voiced the optimism characteristically displayed by Feuerbacher, city manager of Floydada for the past 22 years. He and his wife Norma arrived in Floydada in May of 1961 where Bill had secured employment as city secretary.

"I was out of work and applied for the job without knowing precisely what it was or what I was getting into. I have gotten quite an education over the years as the city grew and we all learned as we worked," says Bill with a twinkle in his eyes.

"We have worked hard to make Floydada a good place to live and for Norma and I, this will always be home," added Bill. "We plan to travel a lot and to see how the rest of the world lives, but we will always be home here."

Commenting on the changes in the city during the past 26 years, Feuerbacher, stated, "I have seen a lot of changes and a lot of improvements. We have had a variety of grants to improve the streets, housing, airport and other areas of service we provided over the years."

He explained that a major paving project had just been completed when he came here but more than 60 blocks of paving have been added since that time along with 19 blocks in new housing additions and a new water system.

"The only thing I view with a negative eye," said Feuerbacher, "is the fact that the voters chose to vote for the Mackenzie Water dam, but voted down the pipeline project at that time. It will cost them about two million dollars more in the long run because they waited until costs had risen so much to finally get it built."

Among the accomplishments Bill lists is beginning the first container sanitation system in Floydada. "It was only the third system in Texas, says the longtime manager. "Snyder got their's, Amarillo was next and Floydada was third. I remember that when we started, I rode a train to Milwaukee, Wisconsin and went through the plant that manufactured the trucks before driving the first Floydada garbage truck back to town. We are now on our second system and recently purchased a new truck."

Serving under four mayors, S.W. Ross, Leonard Matsler, Jimmie Seay and Parnell Powell, Feuerbacher has watched the city add a hospital, nursing home, school and apartments as well as being instrumental in the renovation of city hall and the fire station.

"When I came here, we had about the same number of employees, but almost no equipment," says the cheerful city servant. "We now have equipment needed to handle almost any thing that comes up and most of it is in top shape. We have updated the electric system and it is in good shape and will be usable for years to come with a minimum of expense even though our power is mainly purchased at this time. We have worked hard to keep the rates down and helped in the formation of the West Texas Municipal Power Agency to battle

Twin marker dedication witnessed by 'over 500'

One hundred and 46 years ago on Aug. 30, 1841, five members of a military escort of the Texas Santa Fe Expedition were killed by Kiowa Indians, while scouting for the expedition camped at "Camp Resolution."

Now, Aug. 30, 1987 twin markers, one by the Texas Historical Commission and the other by the Grand (Masonic) Lodge of Texas, were dedicated. The marker dedicated by the Masons reads to the "Masons on the 1841 Texas Santa Fe Expedition" and the other THC marker is a tribute to "Camp Resolution of the Texas Santa Fe Expedition."

Over 500 persons gathered Sunday at a spot now known in history as "Camp Resolution," to pay tribute to the men who tried and failed to set up a trade route between Austin and Santa Fe.

Fifty odd merchants, pioneers, and their military escort of 270 departed from the Austin area June 19, 1841 facing hardships, starvation, privations and death. Thirty-five men died before August when camp was set up along the confluence of the Los Lingos and Quitaque creeks at a place to be named Camp Resolution. It was so named because of the men's decision to make a "resolute stand" at that spot and send a party to New Mexico for help.

While waiting, a scouting party was ambushed by 150 Kiowas 2½ miles east of the location where the historical markers were placed.

Site of the dedication Sunday, was five miles south of Quitaque, 16 miles northeast of South Plains in the extreme northeast corner of Floyd County, adjacent to Farm Road 1065. This is near both the Quitaque Creeks and Los Lingos Creek and near both the Briscoe and Motley county lines.

The 4th Cavalry Regiment, dressed in 1870's model cavalry uniforms, opened the ceremony by riding to the area in columns of two, displaying the colors and leading the riderless horse (in memory of the soldiers slain near the site.)

Marisue Potts, District 10 representative of the Daughters of the Republic of Texas, welcomed guests to the dedication and explained that Camp Resolution was really a series of four camps spaced along the confluence of the Los Lingos and Quitaque creeks.

"There were 300 horsemen and oxen that had to be fed and watered, so they had to keep moving. Surrounded by hostile Indians and near starvation they split up Aug. 30 and approximately 100 men set out to try and make it to the New Mexico settlements for help. Some stayed in camp waiting for help to return. It was at this time that a scouting party of five well-armed sold-

GATHER AROUND FOLKS — The "Camp Resolution" site of the ill-fated Texan-Santa Fe Expedition of 1841 buzzed with activity Sunday afternoon during dedications of both Texas Historical Commission and Masonic markers. 4-Her Chicago bound

By Mary True, CEA-HE

Kelli LaBaume, daughter of Jon and Elaine LaBaume, won state with her 4-H Foods and Nutrition record book and will be "Chicago-Bound" to National 4-H Congress in December.

She is a 17 year old senior at Floydada High School and a seven-year 4-H member.

Record books are judged on growth and leadership skills and Kelli has excelled in both of these areas! Kelli's main project in 4-H has been foods and nutrition. With this project, she has reached 11,650 people through talks, demonstrations, tours, newspaper articles, etc.

Many, many hours have been spent setting up tours and demonstrations, practicing talks and designing handouts. She has done radio programs, published recipes and set up bulletin boards and displays.

Being a teen leader has been one of Miss LaBaume's favorite responsibilities. She and one other teen have led a group of beginner 4-H'ers in their foods and nutrition project. Last year four of the five 4-H'ers they led won the county food show and one went on to win district.

"It takes a lot of time and patience to work with these young 4-H'ers, but it is really worth it!" Kelli says, "I hope to help one of them win state someday." With her leadership skills, Kelli has reached over 7,000 people.

Another project she has had in 4-H is swine. She is part owner in a family swine operation that has an estimated net worth of $10,378. Kelli says that she has really learned that you have to be careful because you lose money quickly. Kelli has also earned many awards with

'GOOD LUCK BILL'—A cake with "Good Luck, Bill" lettering was among refreshments Friday afternoon as longtime city manager Bill Feuerbacher was honored with a retirement reception. rate increases," emphasizes Feuerbacher.

"I have been blessed to work with good councils and good mayors. We have been busy the whole time and have had a lot of fun doing it," said Feuerbacher.

The Feuerbachers raised three sons in Floydada and have now seen them each through college and settled into careers and marriages. The three boys, Jeffery, Shawn and Brad, were in Floydada this past weekend to join the festivities honoring their father as he retires. Along with many friends, other family and co-workers, the off-spring attended a reception at the First United Methodist Church on Sunday afternoon.

Feuerbacher received a plaque from the city managers association of which he has been a long time member, a plaque from the city in recognition of his "unselfish dedication and service to the city for the last 26 years," as well as several fun gifts and an original painting by Ted Bell which the artist presented to the city official for the wall in his office.

The retirees, (Norma recently retired from the Floydada school system) plan to keep up their interest in travel. They are active members of the Whirlwind Sams Club and belong to the Four Seasons Dance Club. Feuerbacher was a member of the Lions Club for 25 years, but has withdrawn because "I won't have the time to be active in the local club as we travel often to see family and friends. I haven't seen the United States and hope to see a lot of it in the future," he adds.

Reflecting back on his career as city manager, Bill said, "I never realized just how much progress had been made here in Floydada until now. Our budget has increased by 4 or 5 times what it was when I started and so many have helped in the progress, securing grants and offering suggestions. I hate to leave the position, but I want time for Norma and I to relax while I still feel good. No one knows how long they will be able to do all the things they want to and I want to continue to enjoy each day as I have while I worked here."

"We intend to remain close to our city friends and our school friends as well as all the other friends we have in Floydada. It is like a family and we want to remain here in Floydada with our family," ended Feuerbacher.

her pigs including two grand champions.

Miss LaBaume has learned a great deal about children — their needs and development and has earned $11,606 through her child development project. She also has food preservation, home environment and clothing projects. She will be president of the Floydada 4-H Club, chairman of the county council and a member of the district council this year.

The trip to Chicago will be December 4-11. It will be an expense paid trip which is sponsored by the General Foods Fund, Inc.

Miss LaBaume, along with 49 other youth from Texas and several hundred from across the U.S., will spend a week in "The Windy City" meeting people, going on tours, attending banquets, and learning about the different parts of the country. Kelli's record book will be judged at the National level. There will be six national winners, each of whom will receive $1,000 scholarships which are also sponsored by the General Foods Fund, Inc.

This trip is a once in a lifetime experience. Miss LaBaume made it through a lot of tough competition to get the opportunity to attend National 4-H Congress. She will be competing against 49 other record books to receive National honors. Good luck, Kelli.

Police department has 'fairly quiet week'

Floydada Police Department was notified Monday of two counts of forged instruments passed in June.

Police Chief James Hale says "the primary suspect is in (Floyd County) jail on previous forgeries."

The investigation also continues into the Aug. 16 burglary of Ernie Torrez' Body Shop at 303 North Second. Torrez is offering a $300 reward for information in the case.

An estimated $6,000 in equipment and tools were stolen from the firm. The burglar(s) broke a window from the back of the building to gain entry.

Police investigated a domestic disturbance in the 300 block of East Hallie about 10:40 p.m. Sunday. Involved were a couple who were divorced in January. A window screen reportedly was damaged at the residence.

No charges were filed.

Both vehicles were driven away following a 10:15 p.m. Friday auto accident in the 200 block of South Second Street (U.S. Highway 70).

Both a '68 Ford pickup driven by Oscar Degollado and an '86 GMC pickup driven by Jane Willson were southbound. The Degollado vehicle was stopped to make a left turn into a parking lot, officers stated, and he looked off. When he saw the other vehicle had also stopped, the driver attempted to "go around the right" and struck the Willson vehicle from behind.

Degollado was cited for having no drivers license, having no insurance and following too closely.

Mark Jarrett was charged with reckless driving at 9:49 p.m. Saturday. He was stopped at the former Exxon service station.

Chief Hale said the past week was "fairly quiet."

STRENGTH — Local artist Betty Baker poses beside a painting she has titled "Strength." The gnarled and weathered tree is impressive in the image of power and tenacity it precipitates in the mind of the viewer. "I titled it because a close relative who was suffering from a serious illness told me that the tree 'looked like strength.'" Baker's works are currently on display at the First National Bank of Floydada. — Staff photo

Betty Baker bank artist for month of September

The First National Bank of Floydada is happy to present local artist, Betty Baker in her first exhibit of original paintings.

Always a creative person, Betty has been interested in art since childhood. She began doing art work for school and church projects in Oklahoma. About eight years ago, she decided to pick up a brush and try her talents on canvas and she started painting at Winnie Carthel's studio in Floydada. She continued lessons with Ginger Harber of Lorenzo and Elfie Sherman of Lockney.

"From Elfie I learned free expression," said Betty. "She encouraged each student to paint what we feel."

After learning the fundamentals, and establishing the fact that oil-painting is her favorite medium, the artist paints entirely for relaxation and her own pleasure. Her paintings are gifts to her family, relatives and friends, but Betty chooses to offer nothing for sale.

"Each painting means something to me or to someone I love. I can't part with a one," she said, "except as a gift."

Married to Sam Baker, the couple moved to Floyd County in 1947 and farmed in the Sandhill community before buying the local insurance agency in 1964 (Baker Insurance of Floydada). They have two children: Donna, of Boulder, Colorado, graduated from FHS in 1966. Chuck, of Lafayette, Colo., was in the class of '70. One grandchild, David, entering Boulder High School this year, is a talented artist who has received recognition in the Denver area.

Betty has varied interests in addition to her painting in the community and her church. She loves to travel, and takes lots of photographs which she uses for inspiration later in painting. In her travels too, she "haunts museums and galleries because of a desire to learn more about art." Those who view her exhibit will note the variety of subject matter and her love of beauty as expressed in her work.

Betty Baker's art will be in the lobby of the First National Bank through the month of September during regular banking hours.

$200 reward offered in Brown's burglary

Brown's Implement, Inc., is offering a $200 reward for information concerning a Sunday night, Aug. 23, burglary of the firm.

The burglar(s) took between $136 and $150 in cash. It appeared that money was the sole object of the burglary.

"We couldn't tell if any merchandise was taken," according to Steve Brown.

Bolts were removed and "they ripped the steel back" to gain access to the building and then unlocked a door. A screen had been removed from a side window but the window was not broken. "It could have been too light there," Brown theorizes.

Tracks were visible in soft dirt left by a recent rain. The tracks indicate that the yegg(s) was driving a small vehicle.

Sheriff's Department recovers stock trailer stolen at Happy

A man was stopped on Second Street here Sunday and charged with criminal trespass.

The suspect was seen by a witness taking metal from a farm south of Silvertown. The witness contacted the Briscoe County sheriff, who in turn contacted the Floyd County Sheriff's Department. A local deputy made the arrest.

A stock trailer stolen from Happy was recovered Thursday night near South Plains on Farm Road 2286.

7.9 percent tax increase approved by county

Approval of a 2.2 cent increase in the county tax rate came on a unanimous vote by the Floyd County Commissioners Court during a special session on August 31. The increase equals a 7.9% increase advancing taxes from $0.25 per $100 valuation to $0.272 per $100 valuation.

The measure passed with little discussion following a month of notifications and hearings on the subject. Judge Bill Hardin stated, "As long as we watch our spending and don't have any disasters, we will be all right with the budget and the new tax rate for this year."

Voting in favor of the tax increase were commissioners Sam Spence, Thomas Warren, Floyd Jackson and Kay Crabtree.

The court also approved a resolution authorizing the taxation of recreational boats. Under the terms of recent senate legislation, such vehicles are exempt unless a taxing entity enacts a resolution specifying that they be taxed. The measure was passed on a unanimous vote following a motion by Crabtree and seconded by Jackson.

A complaint lodged with the City of Floydada by residents in the area of the county yard on Mississippi Street was discussed. Residents are concerned about the method of disposal the county uses for old oil when servicing heavy equipment. Commissioners using the facility say they have been dumping the used oil "on the ground" but maintain that it is "on the lot," not in the street.

Commissioner Crabtree told the court that he would explore the possibilities of finding an alternative method for disposing the oil.

Two farm work contracts were approved by the court. The requests were made by James D. Apple and by the Probasco Partnership.

Present in addition to the four commissioners and judge at the Monday session were Alice Mitchell, Margaret Herrera, Glenna Orman and the Hesperian reporter.

Rendon will supervise administration of 16 elementary schools and work with other administrators under Doris Fassino, assistant superintendent for instruction in the Victoria school system.

Rendon is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen A. Rendon, Floydada residents since 1944. He was born in Floydada and graduated from Floydada High School.

Floydada town meet hears Boulter

Opening a town hall meeting on Wednesday, August 26, U.S. Congressional Representative for the 13th District Beau Boulter stated, "It is no secret that I'm a Republican and most of you are what I would call Democrats." He continued, saying, "But you are God-fearing, honest hardworking patriotic family oriented people, either Independent or Democrat, somewhere along those lines.

"The Democrats that I represent, I think, think like I do for the most part and I am proud to represent the Democrats in my district."

More than two dozen local businessmen and residents ranging in age from high school students to senior citizens gathered to hear Boulter's comments on the federal budget, defense, rural health care, farm problems and foreign aid during the evening session. Boulter, who has been "at home here in Texas" for about a month, had spent the day in similar meetings in Paducah, Crowell, Matador and Lockney.

"The Democrats in Washington who have controlled the house since 1956, God Bless them, are very honest and forthright about what they want to do to solve the problems in this country. They want to raise taxes," said Boulter. "They want to raise taxes by $65 billion over a period of three years."

"I question only one thing about this course of action," he continued. "Studies by the congressional budget office show that for every dollar taxes are raised, federal spending increases by $1.58 in the two hundred year history of our country. You will remember that in 1982 when we got the $100 billion that increase, congress promised to cut spending by $3 for every new dollar in taxes. The result was that congress increased spending by $1.65 for every new dollar in that tax increase."

It follows, therefore, that more new taxes will not be used to cut spending according to Boulter. He adds, "There are those who sincerely believe that the way to help the people of this country is to redistribute the wealth. The problem with this is that government cannot create wealth. Wealth comes from taxes which come from the working men and women."

Boulter expressed the opinion that "for the remainder of the president's term, a tax increase is going to be the single most critical issue before the congress."

He feels that the number two issue will be the funding for the freedom fighters in Nicaragua (the Contras). The third issue to confront the U.S. government will be the farm credit legislation and the omnibus appropriations bill will be fourth.

"Congress is supposed to pass 13 separate budget bills for the 13 departments of the federal government," said Boulter. "The president would then get to veto or sign each bill. But, that isn't the way it works. Congress rolled all 13 appropriations bills into one omnibus bill and will pass one bill to send to the president."

"This means that the president will have to either veto the bill, in effect shutting down the government, or sign it. There is no line item veto for the president so there is no in between. It is an opportunity for all of us to throw everything we want into that bill."

Boulter stated, "The farm credit legislation is in "bad, bad, bad trouble. I have been working hard and will continue to work hard to try and maintain local control of our production credit associations and land banks within the state of Texas."

"I am opposed to any legislation that would consolidate. I am opposed to any legislation that would override stockholder's wishes."

Boulter added, "There is a chance that the senate might pass 0.92 legislation decoupling payments from production. If a producer is qualified to participate in a program, he doesn't have to plant and can still receive 92 percent of his scheduled payment."

Boulter expressed his support of the plan and promised to work for it. He also stated that he and his associates are working very hard to obtain disaster payments for crop losses in Floyd County as well as working for better rural health care. (Coverage of the town meeting in Lockney which appears in the Lockney Beacon discusses this issue at length for those interested.)

Questions from the floor included discussion of the CRP program with one local elevator operator voicing concerns about the amount of "erodible" land signed into the program in his area of the county. "If much more is put into CRP, they won't need me," he said. Further discussion of farm issues led to the statement that "Some of us around here kind of think that maybe Cargill writes the farm policy or if they don't write it, they sure know what it is going to be before it is."

The savings and loan issue surfaced with a floor questioner asking, "How much more are you going to pour into the S7 Ls?" Boulter responded by stating, that he did not support "further supports," adding that "given enough time, I think they can work their way out of their problems without it."

In summation, Boulter voiced the opinion that "Statistically speaking, across the board, farming, oil and real estate have bottomed out and are on the rebound, the question now is just how high they will bounce."

An added sidelight to the town meeting was the showing of a series of 57 slides which Colonel Oliver North has attempted to show during the recent congressional hearings. These slides were the mainstay of a presentation North is said to have used to solicit donations for the Contras in their struggle against Nicaragua's Sandanista regime.

Many of these slides concerned the establishment of another military beach head in the western hemisphere by Russia as shown by their presence in Latin America. Yet another concern depicted in the slide presentation was the possibility that American importing and exporting could be curtailed by 55 percent should a foreign country move to blockade or close the Straits of Florida.

Boulter came out in support of funding the Contras as well as being strongly opposed to the so called "peace plan" to take effect this fall. According to Boulter, the plan calls for suspension of American aid to the Contras while Russia is allowed to continue freely supplying arms and aid to the Sandanistas.

Following the slide presentation, Boulter closed, saying, "I do think that by remaining strong spiritually and economically, and the two go hand in hand together, there isn't any problem we can't solve either here in Floydada, Floyd County or worldwide. We don't have to build more and more weapons, but we do have to have a strong economy, then we are capable of meeting any challenge."

Crop comment: Showers and cooler has been the weather feature the past week. Rain from several showers has given the community very uniform coverage averaging one and three-quarters inches. Temperatures below sixty degrees were experienced several nights, while daily highs have stayed below 90. It has been wonderful for forage, grain and vegetable crops however they will quickly use the moisture and need more rain. Cotton, though needing the rain, has lost precious developing time due to the cool weather and might have done better to have stayed dry. Low temperatures may have nullified the benefits of the last few days water was pumped on the cotton. Although temperatures in the 50's are supposed to kill unhatched worm eggs, most cotton fields have already been sprayed at least once.

The first re-planted pinto beans are up and looking beautiful. Cucumbers continue moving to the packers. Pumpkins are coming first rate. One home orchard is winding up a very good peach crop.

Clara Mize is feeling some better after getting a favorable report from last Wednesday's x-rays. She was able to cross the street to a neighbor's birthday supper Friday and she went for another short visit Sunday. Among those visiting her this week were Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry.

If you think TV doesn't affect us, read this. Tom Fortenberry's six year old great-grandson, Patrick, watched golf on television. He said "Hey! I just thought of sumpthin!" He gathers us his baseball and baseball bat and goes outside where Tom's rain gauge is mounted about two feet off the ground. He carefully places his baseball on top of the rain gauge just like a golfer uses his tee, then he takes his bat and swings at the ball, just a mite too low. In the next scene Patrick is back in the house saying, "Hey! Did you know your rain gauge just got broke?"

Patrick and Preston Vick returned to their mother's home in Irving, Texas last Thursday, getting ready for the beginning of school. Accompanying them were grandmother Patsy Boone and great-grandmother Gladys Fortenberry. This was a long range plan, the rain gauge had nothing to do with it.

Rosa Lackey is still in the Floydada Rest Home, while her broken arm continues to heal.

Last Tuesday night the local Assembly of God Church hosted all sister churches from this section for a fellowship meeting. The sanctuary was filled, even the front seats were taken. This last Sunday many of the regular members of the church were away vacationing. Brother Fairbanks, a missionary from Belize, British Honduras was the main speaker at the evening service. He has received assistance from the local church for 26 years. A lifetime friend and classmate the Morton's, who now pastor a 300 member church in San Antonio, will be in charge of services Sunday, September 13. The church wishes to invite the

Lisa Noland, Mitchell exchange nuptial vows

First Assembly of God Church in Amarillo was the site of the 3:00 p.m. double ring ceremony uniting Lisa Noland and Kevin Mitchell in marriage on Saturday, August 29. Parents of the couple are Ernestine Gilly of Floydada and Mr. and Mrs. Don Mitchell of Amarillo.

Guests were registered by Gail Noland of Floydada, sister-in-law of the bride. After the mothers were seated, Aaron Noland of Floydada, nephew of the bride, and Holly Gurwell of Guymon, Oklahoma, cousin of the groom, served as candlelighters.

The altar setting included a uniquely designed double ring candelabra with spiral candelabras flanking either side, each decorated with emerald huck and lemon leaf greenery. Jade trees were added between the candelabras to add a touch of lush foliage. A pair of urns on pedestals containing white gladiola blossoms as well as the kneeling bench completed the altar setting. The unity candle with wedding invitation surrounded by flocked candle wax, was placed on a grecian pedestal graced with the two side tapers and accented with fresh greenery and baby's breath added the final touch to the altar setting.

Pew markers were large royal blue and silver satin bows.

Escorted to the altar by her brother, Larry Noland of Floydada, the bride wore a formal length gown of white organza fashioned with a Victorian neckline of Venise lace. The empire bodice featured lace motifs enhanced with seed pearls. The dress also featured leg of mutton sleeves that came to a point on the wrist. The A-line skirt had lace at the hem that cascaded to a chapel length train.

The bride's headpiece, made by her mother, was a fitted cap covered with satin and accented with lace appliques and seed pearls. The double fingertip veil was edged in lace. The bride carried a cascade of white roses and stephanotis on a white lace fan.

For something old she carried a Bible belonging to her late grandmother, Mary Lee Dillard, something new was her wedding attire, something borrowed was a white lace handkerchief belonging to her mother and something blue was her garter made by Juanita Henry. In her Bible, the bride also carried a white tatted cross made especially for her by her cousin, Alene McAdams of Lubbock. She wore pennies in her shoe minted in the year of the bride and groom's birth.

Serving as matron of honor was Brenda Bowley of Lubbock. Bridal attendants were LaDelle Gowens of Amarillo, cousin of the bride, and Jana Gross of Ann Arbor, Michigan, niece of the bride. They wore identical tea length dresses of royal blue satin and carried white lace fans with blue and white ginger blossoms accented with royal blue and silver streamers.

Best man was Dennis James of Amarillo. Groomsmen were Bobby and Brad Lookingbill of Elk City, Oklahoma, cousins of the groom. The groom was attired in an all white tuxedo, while the groomsmen wore silver gray tuxedos. Ushers were the groomsmen and Ronnie Woodward.

Flower girl was Jennifer Noland of Floydada, niece of the bride. She wore a royal blue satin dress and carried a white basket decorated with ginger blossoms, royal blue ribbon and white lace. Ring bearer was John David Payne of Amarillo. The pillow was white satin edged with lace and trimmed with lace appliques, blue rosebuds and royal blue satin ribbon in the center of the pillow was a cross stitch design reading, "With This Ring I Thee Wed," made by the bride.

Musical selections included "Household of Faith" sung by Rachelle Redd; "The Lord's Prayer" sung by Dan Redd, after the bride and groom shared communion; and "We Three Are One" sung by Linda Vanladingham during the lighting of the unity candle. Organist Ann Slaton was accompanied on the violin by Dan Hale as the mothers were seated and as the bridal attendants entered the sanctuary.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered with a white floor length cloth and lace overlay. The centerpiece was a three-branch candelabra with blue candles and accented with the attendants bouquets. The four tier wedding cake was decorated with white icing and the base was accented with fresh greenery, flowers and baby's breath. Completing the table setting were a silver punch bowl and crystal appointments. Lattice work with fresh lemon leaf completed the setting behind the bride's table. Serving for the bride were Janice Davis of Floydada, sister of the bride; Kay Rainwater of Floydada and Michele Hays of Amarillo.

The groom's table was covered with a royal blue floor length cloth and lace overlay. The centerpiece was a three-branch candelabra with blue candles and completed with the bride's bouquet. The double layer German chocolate cake was decorated with wedding bells and a monogram of the groom's initials. Completing the table was a silver coffee service. Servers for the groom's table were Bernita Lookingbill of Elk City, Oklahoma, aunt of the groom, and Aleta Jo Gurwell of Guymon, Okla., cousin of the groom.

During the reception, rice bags were given by Chesle and Brooke Parson of Plainview, nieces of the bride.

Following a wedding trip to Santa Fe, the couple will make their home in Amarillo.

REHEARSAL DINNER

A rehearsal dinner was hosted by the groom's parents on Friday evening at the Fifth Season Inn East in Amarillo.

PRE-NUPTIAL COURTESIES

Pre-nuptial courtesies honoring the couple included a gift shower in the home of Mrs. Andy Rainwater. Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Rainwater, Miss Noland and Mrs. Ernestine Gilly, mother of the bride. Mrs. David Bowley registered guests.

Hostesses served guests an assortment of muffins, bread, finger sandwiches and cream cheese swirls. Tropical punch and coffee were also served from crystal appointments.

Miss Noland was presented with a Sunbeam stainless steel mixer, a money tree and the table's centerpiece by the hostesses. Assisting Mrs. Rainwater were Doris McLain, Joy Assiter, Rena Turner, Beth Faulkenberry, Janet Milam, Ila Marie Warren, Juanita Chappey, Juanita Henry, Irene Irby, Winona Jackson, Glenna Orman, Pauline Nash, Lee Moss, Margaret Saul, Fern Hartsell, Lella Pruitt and Nettie Ruth Whittle.

A lingerie luncheon was hosted in the home of LaDelle Gowens, cousin of the bride.

Guests were served Spanish chicken casserole, fresh vegetables and colorful fruit salad of fresh strawberries, kiwi and pineapple and grapes. Ice tea glasses were also garnished with fresh strawberries.

Other hostesses for the occasion were Brenda De La Garza and Carol Heath of Amarillo.

September 3:

Charlie Wright is in Methodist Hospital recovering from triple by-pass heart surgery. He was operated on about two weeks ago. His family has been on the road since then to be near him.

Mr. and Mrs. Byron Kendrick and daughter Laura, Christi, and Nikki, of Collinsville, Texas were here over the week-end visiting friends and relatives. Friday evening they attended the performance of "God's Country" in Blanco Canyon with Eileen's parents, W.R. Daniels. Saturday they joined Byron's parents, the Bob Kendricks, as luncheon guests of the Daniels at Roaring Springs Ranch. They also attended the Old Settlers celebration, and spent the night at the Bob Kendricks, returning home Sunday.

Listed among the "angels" of "God's Country" were Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pyle and Mr. and Mrs. Blanton Hartsell, who helped finance the production. Sherri Moses' disastrous experience with high voltage electricity two years ago is described in the September Readers' Digest magazine. Thankfully, Sherri is well and working today.

Lt. Col and Mrs. Elton Brian of Reese Air Force Base attended "God's Country's" Friday evening performance with their daughter, Kellie and her husband, Monte Williams. They saw many people from Reese and neighbors from Wolf-ford. Monte had the good fortune to have his name drawn Saturday night at the Roaring Springs rodeo to win a brand new Durham saddle.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Moosburg attended the Camp Resolution marker dedication Sunday afternoon near Quitaque. They helped look after grandson, Rolf Sherman, during the afternoon while their daughter, Mrs. June Sherman and other members of the Floyd County Historical Museum board of directors assisted with the ceremony a reception afterward.

Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Kendrick's grandson, Ben Stewart, of Midwest City, OK, son of Sandy Stewart, has been here the past two weeks helping with irrigation. Ben enrolled at Texas Tech University and began his classes this week.

The Kendricks and Ben Stewart attended the retirement reception honoring Bill Feuerbacher from city management, Sunday afternoon. The twenty-fifth wedding anniversary reception honoring Doug and Elaine Galloway at the home of Elaine's mother, Mrs. Otis Anderson, was also attended by the Kendricks. Then they drove to Quitaque with other Masons and Eastern Star members for the Camp Resolution dedication and Masonic marker.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Crawford picked peppers and tomatoes at the Blanton Hartsell farm in Mt. Blanco Monday and stopped for a visit at the Kendricks.

Floyd Whisenant and the Rev. Harrison were among the crowd at the fish fry Friday at the Massie Activity Center, courtesy of a herbicide company. These are wonderful opportunities to see our neighbors, eat a good meal, and learn which product to buy.

The commanding officer of the 4th Cavalry at the Camp Resolution dedication told Mr. and Mrs. Q.D. Williams during the reception at the Quitaque bank that his troops plan to bivouac in Blanco Canyon later this fall. Mountain men and Indian scouts may also accompany the troops, reported Col. Larry Goldston.

Klaus Von Lepel, the Rotary International exchange student from Germany, who has been the houseguest of the James Williams this summer, has returned to Germany for his final year of high school. While Klaus was in Floydada he also visited Mrs. J.C. Anderson, who originally was from Boveria in Germany. The Andersons took Klaus to their farm for horseback riding, and to Lubbock for sightseeing. Miss Kelli LaBaume and David Pyle took Klaus driving on "the drag" with other Floydada teen-agers. While here Klaus traveled about town during the day on bicycle, as German youths are not licensed for automobile driving until age 21. However, the seventeen year old said he does drive to help out with the family trucking and hauling for their beverage company.

Before Klaus left, he was taken on a Texas tour by James, Cyndi, Ashleigh and Austin Williams. At Ft. Worth he saw the Remington and Russell Western art at the Amon Carter Museum; spent the day at Six Flags Over Texas, Wet and Wild, and requested to go to Billy Bobs to see a Texas honky tonk, which he did. At Waco, he saw the Texas Ranger Museum and Baylor University. In Austin they toured the state capitol and historic area. They visited the Alamo in San Antonio and the River Walk at night, which Klaus said reminded him of Paris. The German-settled towns of New Braunfels and Fredericksburg showed traditional thrift of their forebearers. Back through Abilene and to Floydada, the visitor saw the Heart of Texas.

He left from Lubbock Airport on Thursday and called his hosts to report he had arrived home safely.

Hunter Smith started classes at Clarendon College this week.

Youngs reunite at lake

The Young children gathered Sunday, August 23 at Lake Mackenzie. Forty-nine of the 60 descendants of the late R.E. and Ola Young were present for the picnic and day of visiting.

Those attending were: Seymour and Ruby Brannon, Joe and Vaughnell Brannon, Wade, Mary Jo, Lori and Jess Brannon of Silverton; Jerry and Peggy Brannon of Quitaque, Brent, Tammy and Stormy Brannon of Claude, Paul, Suzie and Deiter Brannon of Amarillo, Cal Mac Brannon, Amarillo; Ted and

'God's Country' deemed a success

By Margie Rhoades, President Rio Blanco Heritage Foundation

Words of praise flowed as members of the sell-out crowd greeted cast members after Saturday night's sellout performance, just as they had for each of the previous five scheduled nights. "We really did it" was part of the exuberant feeling of the entire "God's Country" all-volunteer cast and crew after the Saturday night performance of the Crosby County musical prairie drama.

The historically-based musical ran August 20, 21, 22, 27, 28 and 29 in the Blanco Canyon amphitheatre, 10½ miles north of Crosbyton.

This year's production had received favorable publicity from The Dallas Morning News, Crosby County News, Lubbock Avalanche-Journal, Floyd County Hesperian, Texas Electric Co-op Power, Southern Living and Texas Monthly magazine. Press releases concerning the 1987 drama were also sent to approximately 80 area newspapers, travel writers and various free-lance journalists in July.

Only minute technical problems were noted this year and the weather was magnificent. After viewing the opening performance, Tim Pierce, director of Economic Development of SPAG, wrote in his congratulatory letter, "...the quality of the production was surpassed only by the beautiful, natural setting of the canyon. The sunset was absolutely fantastic!"

"There has never been any doubt in the minds of those involved that we have had more than our share of divine help from the beginning," noted Jean Appling, who played Aunt Hank. "We received one much-needed rain midway between week-end productions and another the day after closing. Is there any other explanation?"

Ticket supervisor Janice Fant did not have a final accounting available at press time but indicated ticket sales, concession sales and new memberships would push proceeds over the necessary mark to get the foundation out of the red financially. Sue Cornelius, vice president in charge of membership, reported that several new memberships came in with ticket orders.

Marvin L. Fraley, general manager of Higginbotham-Bartlett Co. in Lubbock, wrote a glowing letter of thanks for complimentary tickets he had received as an "angel" for his company's donation of the sign that was erected on the corner of Highway 82 and 651 in Crosbyton. In his letter, he said, "To show my support, I am happy to enclose my personal check for membership in the Rio Blanco Heritage Foundation."

"Numbers are important," added Mrs. Cornelius, "because we will have a broader base from which to draw volunteer, financial and moral support.

A post-performance cast and crew party was held on stage Saturday night following dismantling and loading the props on trailers in preparation for storage. Cast members prepared and provided brisket, beans and all the trimmings.

Dr. Don Williams, director, praised and thanked the cast as he accepted their gift of appreciation for his fine direction. Jacque James, assistant director, was also presented with a gift and thanks from the cast.

From the Executive Committee of the Rio Blanco Heritage Foundation, which produces "God's Country," to everyone who had a part in this year's production we invite you to stretch your arm out as far as it will reach, throw it over your shoulder and give yourself a big pat on the back. You deserve it! Be ready to volunteer again as planning for 1988 has already begun.

We want to evaluate what we have learned from the two years' productions and use what we glean to grow and improve.

As Mabry Greenhaw, fund-raising supervisor for "God's Country," always ends his "Hee-Haw" production, "We want to acknowledge and thank the One who really made all this possible. This is truly God's country and we are grateful He has seen fit to allow us the privilege of living here and of serving Him through this endeavor."

State president speaks at meeting

Members and guests of the Floyd County Farm Bureau met Aug. 29 in the Lockney Elementary cafeteria for a catered meal by ABC Cookers of Floydada and for the bureau's annual meeting.

The meeting was called to order at 7:40 p.m. by President Dan Smith who welcomed all those attending and introduced Phil Dunavant, secretary-treasurer, who gave the financial report of Floyd County's Farm Bureau.

Director Ronnie Aston introduced students from Floyd County schools who were sent to San Angelo State University by the Farm Bureau for a citizenship seminar this summer. This is the first step for the students to qualify for the free enterprise speech contest at the state convention.

Students attending were Pat Hazlett and Pam Lockwood from Floydada and Matt Williams and Boyd Jackson from Lockney.

Miss Lockwood thanked Farm Bureau for the opportunity to attend. "I met a lot of people," she said, "Speakers explained about parts of the government that I didn't understand and gave you a sense of patriotism. They left me with a warm feeling inside knowing that I was an American."

Williams also thanked Farm Bureau for the opportunity to "go and learn what the constitution means to me. I learned this document gives me many freedoms. We heard from a man from Poland who left his country and family so he could enjoy our freedoms and we also heard from a man who fought in Vietnam to preserve our freedoms and another country's freedom. That is what freedom is — one man fighting for another."

Jackson expressed thanks and said he learned about the constitution and the differences and similarities in democracy and communism. "I feel this experience will make me a better person and citizen in this country," said Jackson.

Director Ken Campbell introduced Alan Fondy, who was sent to Texas A&M fire school by the Floyd County Farm Bureau. Fondy thanked the local chapter for the opportunity to attend.

"In Floydada we started an Ag-Rescue school four years ago, and this year we were able to start it at A&M. It went over really big. They have us 18 hours this time (2½ days) and 50 students. There was so much interest shown that next year we will have a full 30 hour course and probably 150 students."

President Smith in his president's report said, "I believe we have been very active, conservative, and aggressive at the same time. One of the programs that Floyd County was involved in was the ACRES program. There are only three counties at this time involved in this. It consists of individual members who have computers set up in their homes that can access the main computer in the Farm Bureau office. They can then obtain marketing information and future prices and updates."

"We also are one of the few Farm Bureaus to be testing with a satellite. We sponsored Farm Safety Week, attended the state convention, and local chapters donated $600.00 to drug abuse programs to local schools."

Farm Bureau also attended an option trade seminar and a leadership training seminar. We sponsored a defensive driving course and served 264 people at the stock show banquet.

"We also now offer federal multi-peril crop insurance and have started a new program called 'Ag In The Classroom.' (A guide set up by Texas Farm Bureau to be taught to fourth graders about agriculture.)"

"A progressive step was made by Floyd County Farm Bureau when we joined the Texas Farm Bureau PAC. A provision was made for members when they pay their dues they can add another $1.00 to go to the Bureau's PAC. Their PAC will then support the politicians that the county Farm Bureau vote to endorse."

Clair Schacht, when giving the agency manager's report, answered the question, "What did my agent do for me?"

"This year Floyd County took in premiums of $566,421.00 but due to hail we paid out $651,531.00 in losses. This means that Floyd County paid out about $85,000.00 back to fellow members this year. We've had people tell us that crop hail insurance is all that's kept us going this year."

The membership report was given by Delmas McCormick. "In Floyd County we have a membership of 1,002. A gross profit of only .7 of 1 percent has been made off of insurance this year," said McCormick.

The TASCOS report was given by Doug Galloway who welcomed two new dealers: Lockney Co-op and McCandless OK Tire. Other dealers are Jackson Tire and Tipton Oil. "We have improved our tire line and have a new battery line. Our percentage of sales is now up with our new dealers joining in. We are real proud of them," said Galloway.

Directors were nominated and elected. Those elected were Dan Smith and Delmas McCormick for a new term, and Randy Rainwater was elected to take the place of Director Ken Campbell.

The president of Texas Farm Bureau, S.M. True, spoke to the members and guests and praised them for their progressive efforts, growth, and belief in the future. True also listed achievements in the past, of the Texas Farm Bureau, that have helped farmers and ranchers.

Resolutions were then presented to members by Vice President Martin Stoerner. Those who were presented and passed were: the dues of Floyd County Farm Bureau shall be raised from $35.00 to $40.00 per year effective November 1, 1987; on the state level the Farm Bureau will oppose the taxation of water either above or below ground; the Agricultural Protection Act 101 should be amended to include all Agricultural Commodities (this act allows for a producer to file through the Texas Department of Agriculture when payment for a commodity has not been made within 30 days of delivery of product unless otherwise stated in a contract); under land and property rights it was passed that the control and access to CRP land shall remain the sole right of the property owner.

In the national policy book, resolutions that were passed included: control of access to CRP land shall remain the sole right of the property owner; farmers who pay total income tax by March 1 should continue to be exempt from estimated income tax returns; will favor legislation that interest be paid on all past due government program payments; favor marketing loans being applied to feed grains, wheat and soybeans. Also adopted was the opposition to the secretary using his discretionary power to offer a marketing loan for feed grains, soybeans and wheat. The additional exposure of the federal budget for such payments will not result in sufficient benefits, such as increased exports, to merit enactment of such legislation. If the marketing loan is required in legislation, such benefits would have to be offset by cuts elsewhere in the agricultural programs and would result in diminished benefits for producers. It was pointed out to members that this is the same program as cotton.

President Smith introduced State Representative Foster Whaley. Rep. Whaley praised efforts of Farm Bureau in such things as helping get cattle off the tax rolls. "The finest thing Farm Bureau has ever started is getting involved in politics. PAC money will help Farm Bureau work on legislators and get their attention. Farmers have a n k e r s outnumbered considerably. Ya'll will be hard to beat."

iers, were ambushed, scalped and mutilated nearby. During the battle a number of Kiowas were killed, including their chief, 'Mupikiowa.'

"On Sept. 18th a 'rescue party' arrived with guides and provisions which led them out to a wagon road on to New Mexico. However they were captured and imprisoned on their way."

Mrs. Potts introduced, Curtis Tunnel Jr., the executive director of the Texas Historical Commission, who explained that the expedition was set up by the president of the Republic of Texas, Mirabeau B. Lamar, for "both business and political reasons. They wanted to establish a direct trade route from Texas to Santa Fe, and wanted to exercise some jurisdiction over New Mexico. The expedition was composed of 321 men, 21 large and extra large wagons, over $200,000 worth of supplies (like a million dollars today), hundreds of horses and cattle, prominent businessmen, military leaders, statesmen, wagon drivers, hunters, soldiers and scouts.

"They were exhausted and starved when they arrived here at Camp Resolution. After leaving the camp the remaining men arrived in Santa Fe and were arrested by the Mexican government. They were then marched 2,000 miles to Mexico City where they endured terrible hardships. Eventually the men who survived were released and sent to their homelands."

Nancy Marble, chairman of the Floyd County Historical Commission, introduced descendants of the expedition who attended the dedication: Beulah Bennet McDougal from Cuero, Texas, and Rufus and Ragueut Floyd of Gonzales. Ragueut Floyd and Beulah McDougal are the ancestors of Valentine Bennet.

"A veteran of many battles, Valentine Bennet served as quartermaster of the Texan Santa Fe Expedition. After his capture he was released from Mexican prisons in 1842. Bennet's son described the Santa Fe Expedition as the hardest campaign his father had ever endured. "It shattered his strong constitution, tried his fortitude and broke his spirit. He never spoke of his experiences of the campaign. He died in 1843 while serving in the Somervell campaign."

Deanna Willis, of Columbus, Mississippi, a descendant of Tom S. Lubbock, was also at the gathering. Lubbock was another member of the expedition. As a member of the advance party of Cooke-Sutton rescue party, he was captured and forced to march to Mexico City where he escaped from imprisonment. He made his way home by way of Vera Cruz, and spread the word of the harsh treatment given the prisoners.

"A diplomatic furor ensued which prompted the release of the others."

The descendants, along with Nancy Marble, unveiled the Texas State Historical Marker.

Bill Gray, Past Master of Floydada Lodge #712, spoke on the Masonic connection. "In May, 1841, a dispensation for the formation of a lodge of Masons in Santa Fe had been granted by Anthony Butler, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of the Republic of Texas. The document was presumably carried on the journey by Grand Steward Margueret." Because of the failure of the expedition the dispensation did not arrive in Santa Fe and was later revoked.

"There were at least 21 others on the expedition who were members of the Masonic fraternity, including the military commander, Brevet Brigadier General Hugh McLeod," said Gray.

Jack Kelly, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Texas, was introduced to officially dedicate the Sesquicentennial marker, to honor those 22 known members of the Masonic Fraternity. "We are pleased to include this dedication in the 150th birthday celebration of the Grand Lodge this year." "These beautiful plaques that we dedicate to their memory today are silent testimony to their determination and to their vision.

"...this is the story of the men who would not accept defeat, men who were as the place implies - resolute. Their bravery and fortitude deserve recording. "...We dedicate these markers to the future."

To close the ceremony, the 4th Cavalry presented a memorial service paying tribute to the soldiers who were slain near Camp Resolution: Lieutenant G.R. Hull, an Englishman; William Mabee, of New Orleans; Captain Robert Dunn, of Florida; Samuel Flenner, of Pennsylvania; and Francis B. Woodson, of Georgia.

Men of the 4th Cavalry paid homage by raising their sabers while a lone bugler played taps and a cannon fired in the distance.

Sodbuster/swampbuster compliance program aired

From Farm Bureau

The U.S. Department of Agriculture will implement the sodbuster/swampbuster compliance program with reasonableness and common sense, according to Peter Myers, deputy secretary of agriculture. The promise coming from Myers is of particular importance since he will provide administrative leadership in implementation of the law.

Myers directed his remarks to an AFBF Grains conference meeting in Rosemont, Illinois. The 1985 Farm Bill contained a provision requiring all farmers who receive farm program benefits and who farm on erodible soils, to have a conservation plan written and approved by the Soil Conservation Service before January 1, 1990.

If the questions asked Myers at the meeting are any indication of the concerns and possible confusion which exists throughout rural America, there is a big job to be done to lead understanding of these conservation provisions.

"It's not going to go away," said Myers. "If you think rural members of Congress will get rid of it you're wrong. And, there will be a lot of people looking over our shoulder to make sure we do the job."

Myers said the final compliance rules will be issued soon. In comments, the American Farm Bureau Federation urged an amendment to the interim rule to allow conservation plans to be based upon the SCS field office technical guide. "It is our understanding that conservation plans and systems developed for this guide will include input from producers, farm and commodity groups, and will take into consideration the economic and technical feasibility of such plans on local conditions and practices," said AFBF President Dean Kleckner in a comment letter to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Farm Bureau is seeking allowances for shifts in crop bases and the establishment of particular bases if the crop in question is part of a conservation plan. For example, if a small grain crop with high residue is required as part of an approved conservation plan to replace a low residue crop such as cotton, then adequate adjustments in crop base should be provided.

Farm Bureau also is urging research into new methods of measuring erosion and the economic and environmental impact of various conservation treatment levels. "We believe that while the

"T" value is a long-standing technical standard, it fails to recognize many of the factors in today's cultivation and conservation principles," Kleckner wrote.

In addition, Farm Bureau is concerned about offsetting compliance requirements between farms. Under the preliminary proposals, a farmer would be penalized on all his farm operations if newly acquired or rented property is out of compliance. Farm Bureau is urging a transition period when a conscious effort is made to move toward compliance.

Other issues addressed in the letter include a call for clarification of swampbuster subtitles to place the emphasis on keeping non-farmed wetland soils out of production, while allowing presently farmed "hydric" soils to remain in production. "The question of maintaining existing drainage ditches and the concept of 'commenced' are still unanswered for many farmers," Kleckner stated. "We believe final determination on these issues should be made by local SCS officials and take into consideration the cropping history and the practices of the land areas involved."

In addition, Farm Bureau is seeking an exemption of alfalfa and other vegetative crops grown as rotation crops from the sodbuster provision.

The questions raised by the Farm Bureau are on the minds of many farm operators and Myers attempted to ease the minds of those most concerned. "As long as you have a history of farming your wet soils regularly and have maintained the ditches, you'll be okay. You can continue to maintain the ditches. But, if you have ignored a wetland for 10-15 years, reopening the land won't be allowed under the swampbuster provisions. If you have never had a ditch and you add one then you may be in trouble. If you have pot holes in fields, you can simply farm around that area in a given year."

Myers also spoke to the issue of shifting bases. "We will allow you to shift bases, but you won't be able to do it arbitrarily," he said in acknowledging the problems faced by High Plains farmers.

He said there may be provisions to allow operators to write their own conservation plans which can then be approved by the local SCS office.

The USDA official told the audience only SCS and ASCS officials will be allowed on farms to supervise compliance. "There were some parties who wanted more," Myers said. He urged farm operators not to wait in developing conservation plans. "And for heavens sake use the appeal process if you don't agree with the decision. Appeal all the way to the top ASCS office if you have to."

Myers said operators will have three choices when faced with the sodbuster/swampbuster compliance provisions; to comply, to enroll eligible soils in the Conservation Reserve Program or stay outside the farm programs. "If we classify your soils as highly erodible then you will be eligible for the Conservation Reserve," he said.

Developments in cotton will be field day feature

The ongoing efforts of scientists to improve the area's leading crop — cotton — will be featured at a stop of the 78th annual field day Sept. 8 of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station at Halfway.

Wagons will transport visitors to research sites at the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station—High Plains Research Foundation. The facility is located 14 miles west of Plainview on U.S. Hwy. 70. Tours will be conducted from 1 to 4 p.m.

Improving fiber quality to enable South Plains farmers to obtain premium prices for their crop is a continuing goal in research at the center, said Dr. John Gannaway, TAES cotton breeder.

A new challenge for the cotton breeder and farmer is the development of types of cotton suited to new farming systems, said Gannaway. The tour stop will emphasize work being done to meet these needs.

Other stops on the tour will feature the effects of climate and soil temperature on grapes; farming systems research and weed control; the adaption of chemigation to center pivots and its use by the farmer, and studies on the amounts and methods of fertilizer applications for maximum benefits.

The Texas Forest Service will present red oak trees to 250 landowners who take the field tours.

Lloyd Cline of Lamesa, cotton producer and banker, and Bruce Brumfield, Inverness, Miss., producer, have been named by Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng to a 13-member advisory committee on futures and options trading.

Cline is board chairman of the National Cotton Council, and Brumfield is chairman of the Council's Technical Committee.

They and other panel members will be advisors for a pilot program required by the 1985 farm law to explore the possibility that farmer use of commodity futures and options markets might eventually play a role in national efforts to stabilize and protect farm income.

The study will include cotton, wheat, feed grains, and soybeans in at least 40 counties that actively produce reasonable quantities of these major commodities which are traded on commodity futures markets and commodity options markets. USDA has not yet designated what counties will be involved in the pilot program.

U.S. sorghum producers host Egyptian grain trade team

A team of Egyptian grain and livestock importers will be guests of the Sorghum Promotion Federation to study the production, marketing and use of grain sorghum.

The Sorghum Promotion Federation is the market development arm of the National Grain Sorghum Producers Association and is supported by the sorghum checkoff boards of Texas, Kansas and Nebraska. The team of seven high level Egyptian government and private sector representatives is sponsored by U.S. Feed Grains Council. They are in the United States to learn about grain marketing and how to purchase U.S. commodities.

Last year, the Sorghum Promotion Federation cooperated with the U.S. Feed Grains Council to conduct feeding trials in Egypt. In these trials, U.S.

MOSQUITOES COULD MEAN ENCEPHALITIS

Encephalitis is a viral infection of the brain, three types of which may be transmitted by mosquitoes. St. Louis encephalitis is the most serious because of the large number of cases, with high mortality rates in those over sixty. Eastern equine encephalitis is a deadly North American arbovirus. It appears most often in children with a great number of cases ending fatally. Western equine encephalitis is quite serious with a 5 to 15 percent fatality rate. Children under one year of age who contract this disease never really recover.

sorghum was fed to poultry and water buffalo calves. The success of the trials led the Egyptian government to remove some of its restrictions and allow private millers and feeders to import U.S. sorghum.

Until last year, the Egyptian government controlled the importation of all grain to the country. With the relaxation of grain importation regulations and the opening of grain trade to the private sector, the Egyptian livestock and feed industry can expect real progress in production and industry efficiency.

The participants in this delegation will influence the direction which the Egyptian grain trade takes as the private sector becomes more involved in importing grain. Therefore, it is important that the group understands the U.S. grain marketing system and the value of the U.S. sorghum.

Second of Two Parts

Even as they improve farm production technologies and investigate potential new crops, the Agricultural Research Service (ARS) of the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Land Grant universities add to their already impressive track record in developing new uses for our existing staple commodities.

These efforts have the advantage of support from producer groups like the National Corn Growers Association (NCGA) and the American Soybean Association (ASA) to take the research and develop new markets.

Many commodities analysts agree that expanding the uses of these commodities, and thus the demand for them, would have the best chance for a positive impact on our agricultural economy.

According to Ben Hardin, public information officer with the Northern Regional Research Center, an ARS lab in Peoria, Ill., many new uses for corn and soybeans have been developed as well as exciting new compounds and processes just waiting for innovative applications.

Corn has enjoyed real market impact from the soft drink industry's reliance on high-fructose corn support as its primary sweetener. Distilling corn into ethanol for use in motor fuels is receiving new support from the marketplace as crude oil costs appear to be on the rise. Political support at both state and national levels is increasing for legislation to require ethanol's use in automotive fuels.

Other corn successes include: "Super Slurper", a cornstarch absorbent that can soak up 1,000 times its own weight in water; acetic acid, another corn distillate combined with calcium and magnesium to produce a super de-icer; and an ignition improver for use in diesel engines, already proven in tests by the German auto producer Daimler-

Benz.

Promising possibilities: "Fluffy cellulose", a non-caloric, high-fiber flour substitute for use in diet baked products made from corn stalks (you can have your cake and eat it, too); a coating for pesticides to make time-release application possible; and an additive to control moisture and microbial growth in aviation fuel.

There is also an idea that has jackpot potential — biodegradable plastic. Plastic has become the dominant packaging material; landfills are full of it. Biodegradable plastic would allow better use of scarce landfill space and rid the landscape of plastics that never make it to disposal.

Soybeans have potential, too, in a variety of industrial lubricants that require properties petroleum cannot economically provide. Hardin says a process has been developed that yields fuel and glycerol from soybean oil.

Glycerol is a key ingredient in the manufacture of acrylic plastics.

"It's only waiting for the right economic circumstances to make it profitable," said Hardin. In fact, he suggests, many products and processes using agricultural inputs that might seem farfetched now are filed away awaiting the right economic environment to grow and bear profit.

Let anyone doubt, Hardin reminds us that the Peoria facility developed the technique to mass-produce penicillin in time to save thousands of lives in World War II. The fast-growth medium was corn steep liquor.

The same facility contributed a "blood extender" made from dextran, a compound derived from corn dextrose. It was developed in time to save more thousands of lives in the Korean War by stretching limited blood supplies for casualties.

The Executive Committee of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., will meet September 8 in Lubbock to develop PCG's recommendations on 1988 cotton program provisions.

Some of the decisions for 1988 already have been made and many others are pretty well dictated by formulas written into the 1985 law or by budgetary considerations. For example the loan must be set at 85 percent of a 3-year average of U.S. spot market prices through October 15, which will come to about 51.8 cents. And USDA has made clear the target price will be set at 77 cents, the lowest permitted by law.

The major issue on which USDA has broad discretion is whether there will be an acreage reduction program, and if so what percentage reduction will be required for program participation. And in that regard PCG, USDA and other interested parties are looking at figures on supply, demand and consequent production needs that are in stark contrast to those in evidence when recommendations were made in 1986 on the 1987 program.

Total U.S. offtake of cotton in the 1985-86 marketing year was 8.2 million bales, 1.9 million exported and 6.3 million consumed domestically. The total for 1986-87 rose to 13.9 million, 6.6 million in exports and 7.3 million in domestic consumption. USDA's prognosticators foresee 7 million bales going to exports in 1987-88 and another 7.2 million for domestic mills, a total of 14.2 million bales.

In 1986 beginning stocks of cotton in the U.S. were almost 9.3 million bales. Beginning U.S. stocks this year are only 5.1 million and are estimated at 3.6 million at the start of the 1988 marketing year. In 1986 when USDA set the 1987 acreage reduction requirement at the maximum 25 percent, they were still expecting a carryover well in excess of 7 million bales.

The worldwide picture is similar, with ending stocks in 1988 expected to be down over 4.6 million bales from 32.3 million to 27.6 million, and down over 40 percent from the 47.1 million bales in stocks at the end of 1986.

As might be expected from decreasing stocks and increasing demand, both U.S. and world prices have risen dramatically. The U.S. spot price has gone from 26.7 cents on August 14, 1986 to an average of 75.29 cents for the Northern European price on the same date this year was 85.15 cents, up from date this year was 85.15 cents, up from 36.76 cents on the corresponding date a year ago.

"These prices are bound to spark an increase in foreign plantings," says PCG executive vice president Donald Johnson. "So the low carryover expectations don't necessarily mean that PCG will recommend, or that USDA will announce, a zero acreage reduction program for 1988."

Deadline for submitting comment on the 1988 program is September 15.

PLEASED WITH SCRIMMAGE

Whirlwinds crossed the goalline three times while limiting Cooper to no touchdowns during the varsity segment of the Friday night scrimmage in Cooper.

He adds that "We've got a lot of things we've got to work on, but we're improving."

Whirlwind junior varsity will be the first of Floydada's five squads launching its '87 season. The junior Whirl-

Local golfers deadlock for first

Local golfers, Dr. Andy Hale, Butch Mitchell, Clay Simpson, Kerry Pratt, and Coke Fullingia (Petersburg), partiipated Monday, August 31 in the Oldsmobile Scramble golf tournament in Odessa.

The team tied for first place by shooting a team score of 55, which is 17 under par.

Booster Club will meet next Tuesday

Due to Labor Day, Floydada Booster Club plans to meet next Tuesday night. It is scheduled for 7 p.m. at the field house.

Boosters will view the Whirlwinds-Crosbyton game film and are to hear a report from Coach Earl Overton.

Meetings will be held each Monday evening after next week, according to President Robert Stovall.

The Booster Club membership drive continues. Memberships — priced at $10 per family — may be secured at the gate at the Friday night game.

The Floydada-Petersburg team lost on a chip-off to another team from Odessa. The winning Odessa team will advance to a national tournament in Orlando, Florida.

Each member of the Floydada-Petersburg team won a new set of woods.

Also in district court, Ricky Camacho, 23, of Floydada was sentenced to TDC for seven years for burglary of a habitation. Camacho was on probation for seven years for the April 16, 1987 burglary of Socorro Rodriguez's home. His probation was revoked and he now must serve seven years in TDC.

Camacho also pled guilty to another burglary of a habitation, belonging to Delia Campos. He received six years in TDC for this burglary.

Refugio Rufus Garcia, 27, of Floydada, pled guilty in district court to unauthorized use of a motor vehicle. Garcia had stolen Kevin Tipton's pickup on June 15, 1987. He received five years in TDC.

In county court, Aug. 26, Jeffrey Thomas Aday filed a speeding appeal and an appeal on violation of drivers license restriction. There was no disposition on these appeals.

Aug. 27, Noelia DeLeon was charged with resisting arrest. There was no disposition on this case.

Sept. 1, Jose Ramos pled guilty to the Aug. 24 charge of possession of alcoholic beverage in dry area with intent to sell. He was fined $500.00 plus court costs of $88.00.

Ramos also pled guilty Sept. 1, to his Aug. 24 charge of possession of marijuana. He was sentenced to 30 days in jail and fined $50.00 plus court costs of $88.00.

Another plea of guilty was entered by Ramos on an Aug. 31 charge of possession of stolen property. He was sentenced to 180 days in jail which was probated for one year. Plus he was ordered to pay $88.00 in court costs.

In J.P. court for the weeks of 8-18-87 through 9-1-87, 54 misdemeanor cases were filed.

Radiation therapy technology degree earned by Tony Collins

Tony Lee Collins, 26, has received an Associate degree in Radiation Therapy Technology from Amarillo College. Collins was honored in a certificate and pinning ceremony at the Don and Sybil Harrington Cancer Center on August 26.

He is the son of Jimmy and Delores Collins of Floydada.

Radiation therapy technologists administer radiation therapy treatment to cancer patients. As part of his education Collins performed more than 1,700 hours of clinical training at the Harrington Cancer Center in Amarillo.

The Center is a non-profit, ambulatory facility which serves the Texas Panhandle and surrounding states.

"I feel I can make a difference in someone's life by the use of radiation therapy. It's difficult to accept things that cannot be changed no matter what is done for some of my patients due to diagnosis and extent of the cancer," explains Collins. "Working at the Harrington Cancer Center has expanded my education, and allowed me to work with very competent and experienced people who really care about their patients."

Collins worked as a radiologic technologist in Odessa before earning his second degree. He now joins the ranks of the most demanded professionals in health care today. The emergence of cancer treatment facilities has produced a severe shortage of radiation therapy technologists across the nation.

Collins will be employed by Lafayette General Medical Center in Louisiana. He also has been selected to serve on the Advisory Board for Amarillo College's School of Radiation Therapy.

Santa Fe offers area lines for sale

PLAINS DIVISION

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe Railway is "requesting that parties who may be interested in making an offer to acquire the so-called 'Lubbock Cluster' express their specific interest in these properties by Sept. 30," according to company officials.

The "Lubbock Cluster" includes the 27-mile Floydada Subdivision between Plainview and Floydada.

Others include: the 54-mile Lamesa Subdivision between Slaton and Lamesa, the 40-mile Lehman Subdivision connecting Doud and Whiteface including the Pan-American Oil Company Spur, the 64-mile Seagraves Subdivision between Lubbock Junction and Seagraves and the 39-mile Crosbyton Subdivision between Lubbock and Crosbyton.

"Santa Fe will agree to permit a buyer to move locomotives, with or without a caboose, between track segments other than the Floydada Subdivision to allow the buyer a more efficient operation and utilization of motive power," the company states.

Santa Fe will retain the right to serve a proposed generating plant near Idalou on the Crosbyton Subdivision, but if and when it elects to so serve, it will agree to maintain the Lubbock to Idalou track segment.

During 1986 there were 3,968 cars either originated or terminated on the five districts listed above.

A company communique states: "Since the Santa Fe is interested in maintaining good service to its past customers, prospective buyers will be asked to state or demonstrate that they or their agents or employees have the skills or background experience necessary to operate a railroad. Santa Fe is not interested in receiving bids or offers from prospective buyers interested only in abandoning, liquidating or scrapping this trackage. For this reason, prospective buyers may anticipate that a successful bid must recognize the value of the traffic being rendered to the purchaser."

Santa Fe Southern Pacific Corporation, based in Chicago, states that, "We will not identify prospective purchasers nor issue progress reports on possible negotiations to sell these lines, but we will issue an announcement at such time as an agreement is reached."

Nine-month sales of savings bonds in Texas up 11 percent

United States Savings Bonds sales in Texas for the first nine months of fiscal year 1987 amounted to $304,574,108, an increase of $30 million or 11 percent over the same period of 1986. These sales represent 78.5 percent of the state's 1987 assigned dollar goal of $388 million.

Sales of Series EE Bonds amounted to $7,174,000 during June 1987 in Floyd County, Lewis McDaniel, volunteer county chairman, says. The October 1986-June 1987 total for the county was $121,330,000, which represents 73.5 percent of the county's 1987 assigned dollar goal.

Nationally, June 1987 sales of Series EE Bonds totaled $543 million and brought total sales of U.S. Savings Bonds to $8.87 billion for the first nine months of fiscal year 1987, an increase of 67 percent over same period a year ago. The amount outstanding in U.S. Savings Bonds as of June 30, 1987, was $96.80 billion, up 15 percent over June 1986.

The average yield for bonds held since the beginning of the market-based interest rate on November 1, 1982 is 8.68 percent; the rate for the period May 1, 1987 thru October 31, 1987 is 5.84 percent. Outstanding Series EE Bonds, Series E Bonds and Savings Notes held and earning interest for at least five years after November 1, 1982 are also eligible for this market-based yield.

All Series EE Bonds purchased on or after November 1, 1982 - and held at least five years - will earn 85 percent of the average market yield on Treasury marketable securities. Bonds held less than five years earn interest on a fixed, graduated scale.

For current rate information, please call 1-800-US BONDS - toll-free.

One injury accident

Sgt. Glenn Fant of Crosbyton states, "In Floyd County, our troopers investigated no fatal accidents, one personal injury accident, and two property damage accidents in the month of July. No one was killed and only one person was injured in these accidents."

AIC Terry Duke receives $526 via USAF suggestion program

Airman 1st Class Terry B. Duke, son of Jackie L. and Edna Duke of Floydada, received $526 for submitting a suggestion that was implemented through the Air Force Suggestion Program.

The program was established to motivate personnel to suggest ways to increase effectiveness and efficiency in the Air Force and other government operations and to provide a formal channel for communication between management and personnel.

Duke is a telephone equipment installation and repair specialist with the 2179th Communications Group at Patrick Air Force Base, Fla.

His wife, Dana, is the daughter of William and Betty Upchurch of Rural Route 2, Crosbyton.

He is a 1982 graduate of Floydada High School.

H&R Block satellite meeting

H&R Block's Texas Regional Satellite meeting was held in Lubbock this past week. Attending the meeting were Pat Merriman, president of Texas division, Kathy Green, franchise owner of the Floydada H&R Block office, Art Johnson, district manager, and Walt McAdams, Satellite director.

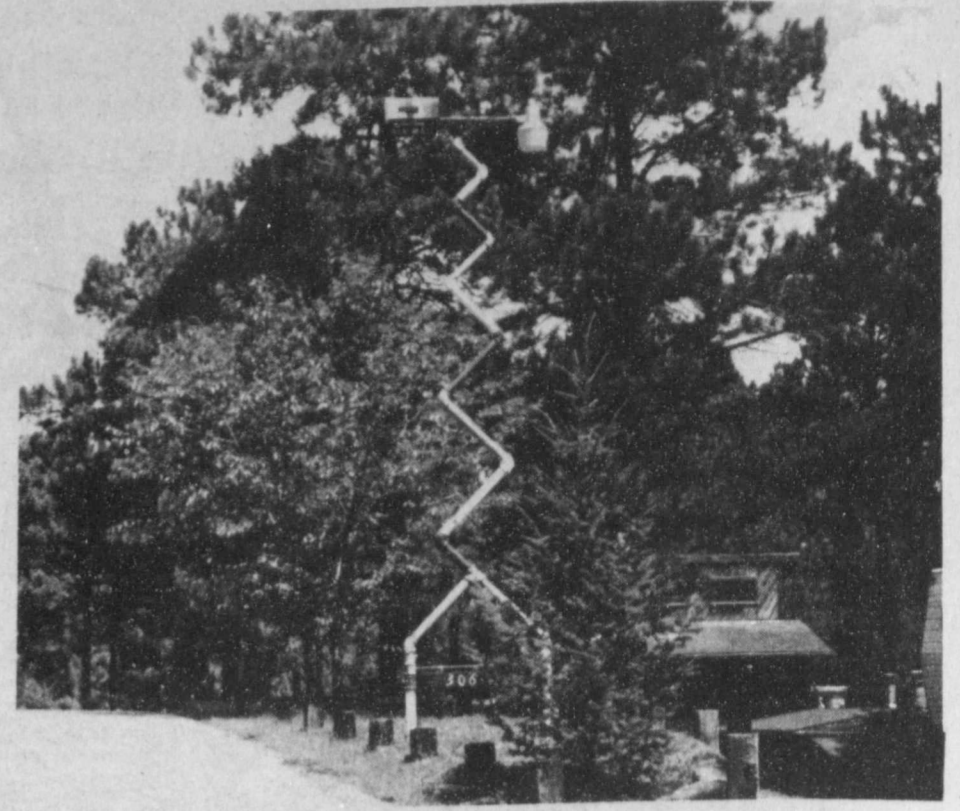

According to Mrs. Green, the primary purpose of this year's regional meeting was to discuss the client service programs being offered nationwide. Information of new tax laws, tax reform, electronic filing, rapid refunds, and extensions were also discussed.

H&R Block has approximately 9,000 offices worldwide including over 3,000 franchise offices in the U.S. and Canada. The local Block office is located at 106 W. Missouri, Floydada.

AIR MAIL — Noticing that The Hesperian was seeking photos of unusual mailboxes, Rick Burns was accommodating. This unique high, high mailbox is situated near the end of the old Ruidoso, N.M., airport and planes pass low over this point enroute to the landing strip. Lettering on the mailbox says "air mail."

Auxiliary donation buys T.E.N.S. system for hospital

Thanks goes to the Caprock Hospital District Auxiliary for the recent purchase of a Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulator (T.E.N.S.) The system is designed to be used in the treatment of chronic, acute and postoperative pain.

Pain is not felt until a coded "message" travels to the brain where it is decoded, analyzed and then reacted to. The pain message travels from the affected area along small nerves leading to the spinal cord. Here, the message is relayed to different nerves that travel up the cord to the brain.

Electrical stimulation with the T.E.N.S. is thought to provide pain relief by blocking pain impulse messages to the brain.

Although the unit has its limitations and is not indicated in every case of pain management, it has been used twice with excellent results.

The T.E.N.S. unit was purchased from a local medical supplier, WESCO Medical Supply of Floydada.

Caprock Hospital District Auxiliary is a volunteer organization made up of ladies from the community. The organization provides support services for the hospital by using their funds and time to help the hospital. One of the recent events the auxiliary contributed their time was the health fair.

Beth Tye, chairman, would like to invite any local person who would like to volunteer their time to join the hospital auxiliary. Tax deductible donations can be made to the auxiliary or directly to Caprock Hospital District.

Leroy Schaffner, hospital administrator, would like to thank the auxiliary for the work they do and for their help and support of Caprock Hospital District.

AT&T ANNOUNCES UPCOMING PRICE CHANGES FOR SOME TEXAS INTRASTATE SERVICES

AT&T announces the following price changes for some of its Texas intrastate services. These changes, which more closely reflect the actual costs incurred by AT&T in providing these services, will become effective on October 1, 1987.

- SDN (Software Defined Network) Schedule B prices will be reduced an overall 7.1%. Schedule C prices will be reduced 4.4% for the initial 30-second rate period of each call.

- WATS 80 service prices for both the initial period 80-hour usage and additional period usage will increase 5%.

- The monthly prices for AT&T's Private Line Service will increase up to $25 per channel termination for Analog services and 10% for Digital Data Services.

- A $25 monthly surcharge will also apply to any private lines which may be used to access the local exchange network, unless certified as exempt by the customer. The $25 surcharge, which was previously authorized by the Public Utility Commission of Texas, is a flow through of charges assessed by the Local Exchange Companies to AT&T for those Private Line services.

The combined effect of these price changes is expected to produce approximately $4.99 million annual revenue, which is approximately .5% of AT&T's annual revenues for all Texas intrastate services.

If you have questions regarding the changes for Private Line service, please call AT&T toll-free at 1-800-345-5092. If you have questions regarding the WATS or SDN price changes, please call our business consultants toll-free at 1-800-222-0400. AT&T's tariffs reflecting these changes will be filed with the Public Utility Commission of Texas on August 31, 1987, with an effective date of October 1, 1987.

Persons who have questions regarding this tariff filing may also contact the Public Utility Commission of Texas in writing, at 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757, or by calling the Consumer Affairs Division at (512) 458-0223, or (512) 458-0227, or (512) 458-0221 for teletypewriter for the deaf.
