Floydada 'back in the hunt' as prison site

Residents asked to help finance land purchase

New life has been breathed into Floydada's bid to become the home of a state prison, believed to be dead in August due to a stipulation that such facilities must be located within a 100 mile radius of either Houston or Dallas.

"We're back in the hunt for a prison," Bill Hale, president of Floydada Development Co., told The Hesperian on Tuesday afternoon. This is due to an addendum "which came out Friday," Hale says. Due to the change, facilities are no longer required to be within 100 miles of the two major cities.

Portions of the addendum state: "Texas Department of Corrections is now considering four or more 1,000 bed cell block units in lieu of two 1,250 bed regional facilities originally asked. Location not restricted to 100 mile radius of Dallas or Houston.

The prison will employ approximately 250 staff with estimated monthly payroll of $560,000. Facility's basic site criteria as originally requested, including 300 acres of land at no cost to the state government."

FARABEE CONTACT

An administrative aide to the State Senator Ray Farabee phoned Hale on Saturday and informed him of the addendum "Otherwise, we wouldn't have known because they (Texas Department of Corrections) only sent this information to the communities which had submitted proposals for a regional facility," Hale says.

Hale placed several phone calls Monday to the TDC site selection committee chairman. He had anticipated that 30 days would be allowed to submit proposals, the same time frame as originally allowed.

"The kicker," the Floydada Development Co. (FDC) president says, was that the proposal must be in Huntsville by Oct. 1 (this Thursday).

"I'm hoping they (committee) will sit down with me and go over this proposal with me and let me explain why some material has not been completed" due to the time element.

SITE SELECTION

FDC originally anticipated that 70 acres would suffice for the site. Current stipulations call for 300 acres to be given to the state.

The development company was negotiating early this week with more than one party on sites located "within two or three miles of Floydada."

"I hope within 48 hours we'll have our site selected and know how much money we'll have to raise," Hale said Tuesday afternoon. "At this minute," he added, "I don't know exactly how much money we'll need," depending on land costs.

At least one landowner will be asked to sign a "letter of intent" agreement for the land purchase. "If we get the prison, they will sell us the land at an agreed-to price."

The Floydada Development Co. (FDC) head points out that "We're going to have to raise the money to purchase 300 acres of land, which has to be given to the Texas Department of Corrections" should the prison be located in this community.

"The amount we will need to raise will be forthcoming within the next two or three days," Hale says. This information will become available when the land cost is established.

PLEDGES ASKED

Floydada residents will be asked to sign pledge cards, acknowledging the amount they will contribute to the fund with which to purchase the 300 acres necessary for the prison land.

"If we don't get the prison, nobody will owe us a penny," Hale emphasizes. Should the prison be located here, pledges will be "called" to finance purchase of the land.

Doyle Walls is chairman of the fund-raising committee. "I am anticipating we'll be out late this week on solicitation," Hale adds.

He reiterates that "it will be impossible to totally complete our proposal by Oct. 1. It will take a couple or three weeks for some out-of-town business owners to get their pledges back to us."

Hale points out that the prison would "help all aspects of our community." A staff of approximately 250 and an estimated monthly payroll of $560,000 would be an economic "shot-in-the-arm" to the Floydada community.

Noting that dozens of people are helping with arrangements to finalize the local proposal, Hale adds that "The cooperation in this town is just fabulous."

Trees and bushes cut to aid drivers' vision

City crews began last Friday trimming trees or bushes interfering with motorists' vision at intersections and/or those that hinder the view of traffic signs.

City Manager Gary Brown says this project is being undertaken in accordance with city ordinance number 621. The ordinance states:

"Obstruction of view of traffic by trees, shrubs, etc. — Trees, shrubs, bushes, plants, grass or weeds growing at or near intersections in such manner as to obstruct the view of approaching traffic from the right or left are hereby declared to be a nuisance and the city manager is hereby authorized to remove the same." This ordinance was adopted in December 1980.

Brown adds that the action is "not a major trimming, just limbs that are blocking signs or motorists' vision are being snipped off."

Due to an abundance of rainfall, vegetation has been lush this year.

The sign must be visible for 200 feet for safe driving conditions.

Mosquito spraying took place Friday afternoon and Saturday morning.

The city manager says that work on abandoned vehicles is expected to begin soon.

END OF THE LINE — A 1984 Trans-Am was destroyed about noon Friday when it collided with a Burlington Northern freight train at a crossing on the east edge of Barwise. Pair not seriously injured in Friday train-car collision Cliff McLain and Joe Starkey are fortunate young men. Neither was seriously injured in a devastating collision between a Burlington Northern freight train and McLain's 1984 Pontiac Trans-Am car.

The collision, which destroyed the vehicle, occurred at 12:05 p.m. Friday at the crossing which bisects Farm Road 784 at the eastern edge of Barwise.

McLain, 21, and Starkey, 18, were brought by Caprock ambulance to Caprock Hospital in Floydada. After x-rays and examination, McLain was released. His companion was kept overnight for observation before being dismissed the following morning.

Both sustained only bruises and lacerations.

The passenger side of the Trans-Am was "folded up like an accordion," one source relates. Reportedly, neither man was wearing a seat belt. This was one of the rare situations where this was advantageous to an accident victim.

The train — comprised of a locomotive, eight cars and a caboose — was northbound. Owned by Burlington Northern, it reportedly is based in Wichita Falls.

The crossing where the collision occurred, 11.1 miles west of Floydada, has no lighted caution light.

DPS Trooper Steven Ward, who investigated, said that the auto's driver, who was eastbound toward Floydada on the farm road, told him he had slowed the vehicle's speed to 30 miles per hour and had reached down for a tape. McLain added that he did not actually see the train prior to the crash, but heard it and turned sharply to the left in an attempt to avoid a collision.

The Trans-Am was struck flush on the front of the passenger's side. It was pushed 639 feet north from the railroad crossing before the train was able to halt.

School damaged during burglary

An estimate of $2,400 in damages and theft has been placed on the week-end burglary of Andrews Elementary School. Lawmen believe the burglary occurred "late Saturday afternoon or that night."

One officer points out that "there was a lot more damage than theft."

Police Chief James Hale says Johnny McKinney, school custodian, discovered the situation about 10:30 a.m. Sunday.

Hale says the yeggs entered through a window in the science room, located at the south end of the building. Burglars "used a form of a pry bar to force open the window."

Damaged beyond repair reportedly were two wooden doors entering the cafeteria, a door entering the school office and another door into the principal's office, along with two fire proof filing cabinets.

Some food in the cafeteria was destroyed because of a refrigerator left open.

The front was torn from a soft drink machine. Damage to the machine is not included in the abovementioned damage estimate.

A small amount of money was taken from the cafeteria and possibly a small amount from the office. A coffee maker and coffee were stolen.

Police department and sheriff's department personnel found that filing cabinet drawers had been left open and "papers were scattered everywhere" in the main office and the principal's office.

FLOYDADA WOMAN NOT INVOLVED IN CRIME

In the courtroom news last week, The Hesperian stated that Tina Garcia, alias Ernestina Arebalo, pleaded guilty to "contributing to delinquency of a child." The individual charged is a Lockney resident. A Floydada woman with the same name, Ernestina Arebalo, was in no way involved in the situation. The Hesperian regrets any embarrassment suffered by the Floydada woman due to the name association.

Those of us who have been on the battlefield...I mean real battlefields where unpleasant things happen... learned that there are times to sally forth and there are times to merely hold the fort. In fact there are times when we do well just to hold the fort.

Perhaps we are wrong, but it seems that lesson is applicable to life in general, and to the life of communities. For the past several years here in West Texas we have done well to hold the fort.

But now things seem to be looking up. Here in Floyd County, for instance, the "indicators" are very good. Bank deposits, as reported in this paper a few weeks ago, have shown a healthy jump over last year. Deposits in First National Bank in Floydada increased by a whopping $5½ million dollars. The Lockney Bank also showed improvement, gaining some $150,000 in deposits. Loans were down in both banks, indicating fewer people needed help in getting by, or at least needed less help in getting by.

Now comes word from Comptroller Bob Bullock's office that the sales tax rebate to Floydada for the period of January through July is up by 12.7 percent, while Lockney's is up 11.1

Lopes coming to Floydada

Final non-conference game Friday night

What home-field advantage?

The Whirlwinds, who return to the friendly confines of Wester Field this Friday, have to wonder about the home-field advantage.

After downing Crosbyton by 14-6 and Roosevelt by 6-0 on the home field to open the season, the Fightin' Whirlwinds enjoyed a successful road series with a 47-6 verdict over Olton and a 28-0 win over Lockney.

The Green and White return home Friday to host the Abernathy Antelopes in the final non-conference match. Kickoff is scheduled for 8 p.m. Floydada's gridders travel to Tulia the following Friday night to open district warfare.

'GOOD FOOTBALL TEAM'

Coach Earl Overton regards Abernathy as "a good football team. They have some good athletes; it's going to be a good football game."

A perennial Class AA powerhouse, the Antelopes bring a 2-2 record — against strong opposition — to Floydada to match the Whirlwinds 4-0 mark. After dropping Cooper 15-0 in their season opener, Abernathy fell 12-0 to Littlefield and 20-3 to Shallwater, a pair of highly regarded elevens. The Antelopes slipped past Dimmitt by 16-7 last week.

Coach Overton says the Antelopes have "good quickness at quarterback and tailback." They normally "throw 18-20 times a game. Basically, they've been throwing to outside receivers."

The Friday night visitors operate from "very multiple formations." Coach Overton says. "It becomes a recognition factor because they run so many offensive formations."

On defense, the 'Lopes have shown both "40" and "50" fronts.

PLEASED WITH EFFORT

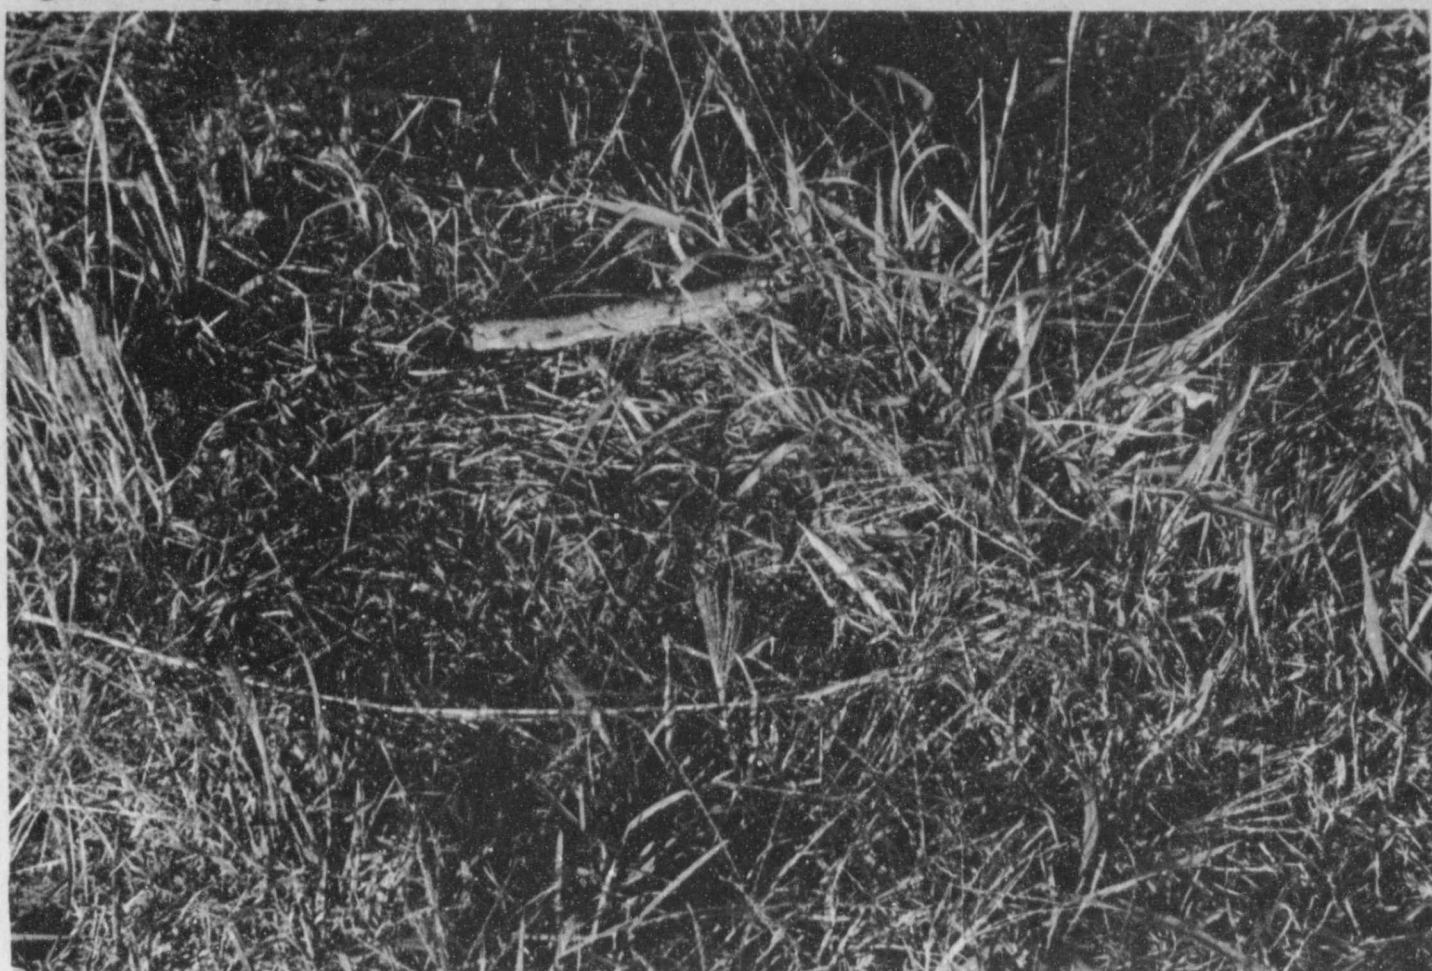

"We were real pleased with the overall efforts of the kids" against Lockney, according to Coach Overton. He adds that "We thought our execution was improved and that we did some things real well in terms of our execution."

Offensive tackle Rolando Cisneros sustained an ankle injury in a pickup volleyball game on Sunday. The ankle was badly swollen early this week. "I'd be real surprised if he's ready this week," the Whirlwind coach said Monday.

Junior tackle-linebacker Danny Caballero, injured in a workout last Tuesday, is "out" this week. He also missed the Lockney game.

Runningback Ty Stovall returned to action last Friday.

Coach Overton, who does not dwell on injuries, "We're still going to line up and get after them."

FIRE ANTS? — A different type anthill to these natives to West Texas is located in the median along the Matador highway lanes, immediately east of Floydada. Mike Hadderton, who lives nearby, says the occupants answer the description he has been given of dreaded fire ants. The mound, home to hundreds of ants, extends about six to eight inches in the ground and is filled with straw and sticks to the point of extending above the ground by several inches. Unlike a red ant mound, no grass has been killed around this anthill. — Staff photo percent. In actual dollars that means that Floydada's portion of the state's general sales tax amounted to $81,940 during that period, while Lockney's was $36,775. No telling how much it would have been if there was a way for local communities to collect their portion of the money flowing to out-of-state merchandisers, since the out-of-staters pay no state sales tax.

And then there is the news of expanding enrollment in our schools, a certain sign that our communities are not fading away.

On top of all the other good news is the overall condition of the cotton market. American cotton is again moving, and moving heavily, in the world market and it is moving at a good price compared to what we have seen in recent years. The draw down on carryover stocks is heavy and promises to continue, at least for a while. For West Texas cotton all that is extremely good news, since so much of our crop finds its way into overseas trade. Domestic mill use, and domestic consumption has also jumped markedly.

All in all we see the signs as very good and very positive. We know, of course, that this is sort of "finger-crossing" time here, since the cotton crop is still in the field and fall weather, with all its attendant uncertainties, is fast approaching. But when we look out over the rest of the state, and see bank after bank go under, and see multi-million dollar high rise buildings sit empty or nearly empty in some of our major cities, and read the long lists of foreclosures in Austin and elsewhere, I'd say we have a lot to be thankful for and a reason, lots of reasons, to be optimistic.

The war isn't over, but I'd say we have held the fort.

In this business we are constantly being reminded of the paradoxes in human behavior. Sometimes, in our darker moments, we are tempted to draw the lines a little too starkly, and divide our race into neat little categories. You know, between those who plant trees knowing they will never have a chance to sit in the shade, or those who would never plant a tree yet complain because there is no shade. Or between those wonderful people who always try to pay their debts, as opposed to those who see debt as a way of beating someone out of something, knowing when they enter a transaction they have no intention of honoring their end of the bargain. Fortunately, there are so many good things that happen that our "darker moments" never seem to last too long. Like the group of farmers who turned out to aid a stricken neighbor up on the South Plains community a few weeks ago by plowing his fields as he lay in a hospital bed. Or hundreds of other acts of honesty and kindness exhibited by one human to another, all of which holds the fabric of our society together.

One of those acts was shown us over in Lubbock recently by someone we don't know, have never seen, and probably will never see. We had travelled to that city for a working session with their Congressman Combest. It was on a Sunday, while everyone there would rather have been somewhere else, it was the only time we could all get together. He had to come down from Washington, others had to come from hither and yon. We left the meeting, briefcase in hand, and went down to the parking lot. The briefcase was leaned against a lamp post in the parking lot of the Federal Building and we unlocked the car, got in it and drove away, leaving the case where it was. Only when we got back to Floydada was its absence noticed. Figuring it was long gone, we nevertheless called the Congressman's office the following Monday. By Tuesday someone had turned it in to the police. They routed it to the Congressman's office and we went over and picked it up. Then we spent the better part of the morning trying to find out who the honest person was. He, or she, could have dumped the contents and kept a $60 briefcase. But there was no record anywhere. Whoever it was didn't leave a name, so we still don't know who to thank. We don't have a vast circulation in Lubbock, but we do have more than several readers there. On the off-chance that one of them was the person we were looking for, we take this opportunity to say "thank-you" and to wish you well in all your endeavors.

Two burglaries being investigated

Sites along the Matador highway, east of Floydada, have been the favorite haunt of burglars during the past week. The Sheriff's Department is investigating two burglaries. An estimated $2,449 in jewelry, a VCR and a TV set were taken "late Thursday afternoon" from the Jim Crawford residence, nine miles east of town on the Matador highway. The Crawfords discovered the burglary when they returned home about 6 p.m. Officers believe a screwdriver was used to force open the back door of the residence.

Among stolen items were both a man's and a woman's watch. Roy Baxter's shop was hit by burglars either last Wednesday or Thursday while the family was out of town. This is five miles east of town on the Matador highway.

Reported stolen were a welder and a tap-and-die set. Value was placed at approximately $250.

The jail was "full" throughout the week-end, according to Sheriff Fred Cardinal.

Commissioners deal with routine agenda

Meeting in special session on September 28, the Floyd County Commissioners handled a mostly routine agenda, opening with the review and payment of properly presented bills.

After discussion between W.R. Ware, Jon LaBaume of the Soil and Conservation Service and members of the court, four farm work contracts were approved by the officials. Approved were two contracts, one for burying old improvements and one for making a waterway for G.W. Smith. Repairing a washed out ranch road for Hershel Swebston, also in Precinct 4, was approved. The fourth contract authorized was for repairing a washed out ranch road for W.R. Ware in Precinct 3.

Discussion centered on the legality of entering private property to repair a washed out road and whether or not such work was in the interest of conservation. "As I interpret the law," stated LaBaume, "It would come under the area of conservation to prevent the erosion of adjacent land by repairing an eroded area in a road which would allow a cattleman to move about on his property to work his cattle or feed or relocate them to prevent overgrazing or undergrazing. The repair of washouts on the roads will also prevent gullies from forming and prevent soil erosion from heavy rains."

The court passed a resolution transferring the maintaining of birth and death records from the city to the county clerk. The action was taken in accordance with HB #74 enacted by the 70th Legislature during regular session. This allows the county to record all births and deaths in any city over 2499 in population. County Treasurer Glenna Orman stated that this would save "fifty cents per registration as we now pay the city that amount to record the births and deaths which are then recorded by the county clerk."

The court also discussed the appointment of a representative to the Floyd County Central Tax Appraisal Board. An appointment must be made to replace Commissioner Lackey and is expected to be finalized at the October 12 regular session.

A group of residents from Precinct 3 presented complaints and requests for road repairs in their area. Teen Burleson offered to provide rock for the roadwork and asked that the work be done "as soon as possible" due to the inconvenience for families residing on the muddy roads.

The sale of a tax lot was approved at the request of Floydada Independent School District.

In attendance were Judge Bill Hardin, Commissioners Sam Spence, Floyd Jackson, Thomas Warren and Kay Crabtree. Also present were Margaret Herrera, Glenna Orman, Lou Burleson, Mr. and Mrs. Lindsey Lackey, Jerry Lackey, Teen Burleson, W.R. Ware and the Hesperian reporter.

4-H pecans

By Mary True

The Floyd County 4-H'ers will be selling pecans again this year. The pecans are Irish Acres new crop pecans. They will be selling for $4.00 per pound. The 4-H'ers are having a selling contest November 7 through November 14 with the top salesperson in Lockney and Floydada receiving cash awards. They may be taking orders before that time.

The money raised from the pecan sales will be used to support 4-H projects and activities. Currently, money is used to purchase supplies and awards for a number of projects including foods and nutrition, rifle, clothing, decision making, archery, public speaking and many more.

Also money is needed to support activities such as county camp, leadership workshops and retreats that are held at the county level and the state level, and to help 4-H'ers compete in contests such as Texas 4-H Roundup, National 4-H Congress and many others.

Floyd County 4-H is also supporting $500.00 scholarships that are awarded to the Gold Star Award recipients. A portion of the money raised will be needed to support those scholarships.

Keep the 4-H'ers in mind when you start to purchase pecans. These are top quality pecans at a reasonable price. Call a 4-H'er today to place your order.

Rudy Valadaz was jailed and charged with disorderly conduct, assault and possession of a prohibitive weapon following a family disturbance call at 5:15 a.m. Sunday. He was apprehended in the 200 block of East Mississippi.

About 5:12 p.m. Sunday, Mario Alberto Hernandez was arrested on Third Street and charged with DWI (driving while intoxicated)

Officers received a call about 9:30 Saturday night to investigate a domestic disturbance in the 800 block of South Main. Robert Luna was charged with public intoxication. He was arrested and taken to the county jail.

Simone Fillingham reported Saturday a criminal mischief and disturbance incident which occurred about 1 a.m. that morning. Following an alleged argument, a male companion broke glass from the front door of her residence "with his hand."

Restitution has been promised and no charges have been filed.

Following an early Saturday morning one-vehicle accident on Texas Street, Wade Brooks was charged with DWI. He was driving an '87 Pontiac.

Alfonso Garcia reported to police that he was driving past Dudley's Market in the 200 block on North Second when a rock struck his pickup. He saw no one and the rock possibly was hurled from the alley. A dent in the left front fender of the '87 GMC pickup will cost approximately $100 to repair.

A 1966 white Ford pickup struck a fire plug and tree in the 700 block of West California at 4:50 p.m. Saturday. Damage to the fire plug, which had been repaired by early this week, was placed at $200. The pickup belonged to Gilbert Garza. Because of conflicting statements, the investigation continues. The vehicle was badly damaged.

INEZ EDELMON

Graveside services for Inez Edelman, 76, were at 2 p.m. Wednesday in Plainview Memorial Park. Mrs. Edelman moved in 1954 from Floydada to Muleshoe.

She was claimed by death at 3 a.m. Monday in Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, following a brief illness.

She was born in Franklin County, Ala., and moved to Floydada in 1914, residing here for 40 years before moving to Muleshoe. She and Grady Edelman were married Aug. 20, 1928, in Floydada.

Survivors include her husband; a daughter, Joan Nowton of Florence, Colo.; one sister, Fannie Melton of Coleman; a brother, D.I. Bolding of Los Angeles, Calif.; two grandchildren; and four great-grandchildren.

COL. FRANCIS H. GREGG

Services for Col. (retired) Francis H. Gregg, 74, of Amarillo were at 2 p.m. Thursday in Schooler-Gordon Bell Avenue Chapel in Amarillo. Burial was in Memory Gardens Cemetery.

Col. Gregg, born in Jersey City, N.J., had been an Amarillo resident 18 years. He retired as a full colonel from the Army. He served in World War II, the Korean and Vietnam wars and was recipient of the Bronze Star Medal, Army Commendation Medal and Legion of Merit Medal. He was past president of the retired officers association.

A graduate of the University of Maryland, he was active in Amarillo Little Theatre and was a member of St. Mary's Catholic Church.

He died Tuesday, Feb. 22.

Col. Gregg was married to the former Nadine Miller. She is a niece of Mrs. Lillian Post of Floydada and a granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Wright, former resident of the Farmer community.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Marianne Gregg of Amarillo; a son, Daniel William of the home; a sister, Mrs. Walter Veit of Sussex, N.J.; and a brother, Daniel T. Gregg of Ortle Beach, N.J.

KYLE KINAST

Four-year-old Kyle Lynn Kinast, who had been in the thoughts and prayers of Floydada residents since he was injured in a freakish Friday, Sept. 18, accident, was claimed by death at 10:15 Friday night in Lubbock's Methodist Hospital. Described as being a large and extremely strong youngster for his age, Kyle battled gallantly for a week.

Private services were held Monday in Christ Lutheran Church.

Interment was made in Resthaven

Memorial Park.

The youngster was the son of Bruce and Brenda Kinast of Abernathy and the grandson of Doyle and Dorothy Turner of Floydada and a great-grandson of Valree Turner of Floydada. Mrs. Kinast is the former Brenda Turner of Floydada.

The Kinast family had moved from New Deal to Abernathy about a month prior to the accident. The youngster had been asked by his parents to put away his bicycle before dark. The time was "about 7:30 p.m." on Friday, the 18th.

When he did not return within a few minutes his mother became concerned and went to check on him.

She found her son pinned under the garage door at the residence. The garage door is operated by an automatic opener.

The family believes that the electric opener malfunctioned, allowing the door to be lowered onto the child. "Different parts of the door react differently," a family member notes.

The injured youngster was rushed to Methodist Hospital in Lubbock by ambulance.

In addition to his parents and above-mentioned Floydada relatives, Kyle is survived by his paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Kinast of Abernathy, and a paternal great-grandmother, Rosa Robertson of Lubbock.

He was a great-nephew of Mrs. Leroy Burns and Robert (Shorty) Turner of Floydada.

(Editor's note: The following article is being reproduced at the request of

Recently I read about a tragic accident involving an automatic garage door. A young boy was accidentally killed by an automatic garage door while playing with his little friend. They were pressing the button and running from the back of the garage and out the door as it was closing. Tragically, one child did not make it. He got under the door, it hit him, knocked him to the ground and closed on his neck.

All of us who own automatic garage door openers have at one time or another pressed the opener and raced to get out. The doors should reverse when touching an object, but that particular one was a very heavy cedar wood door and the opener was old. Many older units don't have the sensitivity to reverse the door as the newer ones do.

Other doors that could be a danger are the tandems (two doors that open together.) The door should raise when three pounds of pressure is applied. If this particular door involved in the accident was working properly, it should have retracted almost immediately after hitting the boy.

If you feel that your garage door may not be working the way it should, you can call a garage-door company in your area and have it checked. There usually is a reasonable charge for them to come in and let you know what should be done. It may be as simple as changing the sensitivity on the opener.

My deepest sympathies to the family of this child. I only hope sharing this tragic story will save another family from heartache.

JAMES COYT WILLIAMS

James Coyt Williams, 67, of Hewitt, Texas died Sept. 26 at his home following a heart attack.

Williams, a resident of Floydada between 1925 and 1946, was an Army Air Corps pilot during World War II. He was an auto salesman.

Services were Tuesday, Sept. 28, at 2 p.m. at Connally-Compton Funeral Home in Waco. Interment followed at Waco Memorial Park, under direction of Connally-Compton Funeral Home.

Williams and the former Jean Moon were married in 1958. She survives.

Other survivors include a son, Randy Williams, of Hewitt; a daughter, Donna Rodriguez of Waco; grandchildren, Chris and Apryle of Waco; a brother, E.T. Williams of Bakersfield, Calif.; and one sister, Etha Clay of Amarillo.

Pallbearers were Mark Williams, Leroy Easley, Joe Taylor, Jack Childress, Jerry McCook, Woody Page, Jerry Pendergraf and Red Rogers.

Cedar Hill News

Tuesday, Sept. 22:

Crop comments: According to Webster autumnal equinox occurs on September 22 or 23rd, while the spring equinox invariably falls on March 21. In response to the changing season our summer crops are staging their last burst of violent growth on the abundant soil moisture. Fields that had hay scarcely more than knee high on September 15 are suddenly shirt pocket high and in the boot. There is sufficient moisture to push these crops to a height of six feet and more. Regretably cotton seems to be following the same growth pattern just when it desperately needs it's bolls to be drying out and getting ready to open.

The leaves of low growing plants near stands of koshia and careless weeds are being yellowed by the vast amounts of pollen they are shedding.

Some fields of cucumbers have been picked as many as six times, but cool weather and mildew problems are bringing production to a halt. In fact the packers told Craig Gilley that, due to the quality of the local crop getting poorer and the Michigan cukes coming on market at the same time, they would not gather any more of his crop.

Turnips for the table, planted in 40 foot rows in the garden, never generated much speculation, but now we are seeing hundred acre fields making abundant growth. Most of the turnips were seeded by air on ground already sown to wheat. Pasture is the sole objective. The time and the moisture could not be better.

Rape is the crop they use for that purpose along the Canadian border and far on into Canada. Rape is supposed to be more vigorous, and far more cold tolerant. It is a first cousin to the turnip, so it seems we should have an experimental field of Rape here in Cedar Hill. I planned a 40 foot row but Plainview Seed house doesn't carry any Rape seed.

We had a thunderstorm with extremely high gusts of wind at sundown Sunday. It gave people time to get home from church then it really hit. It had shingles standing on end on the north roofs of buildings. Waves on Cedar Lake, crashing into the embankment, kept a constant shower of water crossing the roadway, while 200 feet beyond the lake's edge blowing dirt from the field around the old J.C. Fortenberry homestead had motorists using their headlights.

Lindsey Lackey lost tree limbs to Sunday night's thunderstorm but on Monday morning his flag pole still stood and his flag was fluttering in the breeze. Bill says every day that Lin is not working in the field that flag goes up. He needs CRP and a job at the post office.

Kim Lackey Mixon has been a visitor in the Lindsey and Billie Ruth Lackey home for the last few days. She has had surgery and chose to do her recuperation and her visitation at the same time.

Cephus and Imogene Fortenberry took grandsons, Wes Durham and Pat Jernigan out to lunch in Plainview last Saturday. The boys still live in Plainview where they work and go to school.

Robin Fortenberry suffered a light heart attack last Thursday and was transferred to an Amarillo hospital. Tests focused on lungs and stomach were run Monday. Enlarging restricted veins by use of the balloon technique is the doctor's present plan.

The Rodger Hardin family are new residents at the Jim Conner place. Holley Hardin is the daughter of Robert Conner of Amarillo. Joshua, their four and one half month old son was born in Hawaii. Rodger is employed with Tye and Company in Lockney. Welcome Hardins!

Services were well attended at the Assembly of God Church last Sunday with the beautiful fall weather holding through the evening service. The new roof has been completed on the church building, and removing old shingles and redoing the pastor's home is the next project. Sister Morton will be the speaker at the evening service next Sunday.

Clara Redd visited Edna Gilly on Saturday and on Sunday Edna and Clara visited Leighton and Juanita Teeple in Plainview. Leighton is doing fine now and is gaining some weight.

The worst bankrupt in the world is the man who has lost his enthusiasm.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY — Mr. and Mrs. John D. Van Hoose of Floydada will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Saturday, Oct. 3, with a reception from 2-4:00 p.m. in the Massie Activity Center, located at 513 W. Georgia in Floydada. Hosts will be their children, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Van Hoose of Kingsland, Texas, Mr. and Mrs. William Hensley of Denton, and Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Van Hoose of Lubbock. Co-hosting the event will be their grandchildren. All friends and relatives are invited. Your presence is all that's requested.

Charlie Wright was home last week-end. His daughter, Elizabeth Sims, substitute teaches all week and went to Lubbock on Friday after school to bring her father home. He spent the week days in Lubbock with his daughter, Coleta Mitchell and her husband, Gene Mitchell. He has gone Monday, Wednesday and Friday for rehabilitation at Methodist Hospital, and is much improved, his family reports.

Miss Marlyse McGaugh was home from Plainview for the week-end. She works at the Nutri-System center there. Marlyse attended the Lockney, Floydada game at Lockney Friday. Her family has all had sinus problems, as have many in the schools, out with colds and flue. James has been busy planting wheat.

Warm days and cool nights have started turning some of the trees gold both in Blanco Canyon and in town.

Mike and sons, David and Warren Bishop ate Saturday lunch with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bishop, last Saturday.

Austin Williams came home from the Lockney game with his grandmother. He worked Saturday helping his grandfather, Q.D. Williams, build fence.

Mrs. Lucille Custer was in Slaton over the week-end for the 91st birthday party for Mrs. Rosa Camdem. The party at the Slaton Community Center in the city park was given by the honorees daughter, Ruby Lee Camdem Custer. Mrs. Camden's sister, Mrs. Pernie Leatherman, of Floydada, and four other sisters were among the guests. All the relatives brought covered dishes for the festive noon meal, plus a decorated birtheake. Mrs. Camden and her late husband Charley Camden, raised their family in the Pleasant Hill Community.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrison and Mr. and Mrs. Milton Harrison drove over to Levelland after church on Sunday for a visit with Foy and Jessie Smith. On Thursday, Mona and Jean Dunn of Hale Center came out to the Don Harrisons and all picked black-eyed peas and okra from the garden.

Bill Norris came home from Methodist Hospital in Lubbock on Saturday and was driving his pickup on Sunday. He spent all day Monday out at J.S. Hales helping work cattle. While at Methodist he had surgery for injuries from a wild cow last month.

Another week has gone by and it seems it passed in a hurry. I have been going to classes in Lubbock every Saturday, so I am not here on Mondays and miss all of you.

Tuesday the residents had the morning coffee and juice as usual. Then at 10:30 Bro. Neeley gave the devotion, about the joys and sorrows that we experience in life. Rudy McCravey shared Romans 12:1-15 with us. We sang Angel Band, Someday and Mixture. Thanks for the bananas too. At 2:30 the residents painted a vase. Those painting were Iva Wells, Maude Galloway, Opal Morrison, Della Halencak, Iva Simpson, Charles Breeding, Ruth Benson, Myra Hall and Brooks Callaway.

Wednesday Bro. Earl came and did the devotion and shared about forgiveness from the heart, Matt. 18:23-35. In the evening the residents played Bingo. Bananas and bugles were treats. Angelina and her daughter Tine came and helped us play, thanks a lot. Those playing were: Oda Birchfield, Myra Hall, Della Halencak, Ruth Benson, Charles Breeding, Opal Morrison, Thelma Hoffman, Maude Galloway, Iva Wells, Brooks Callaway, Ruth Smitherman.

Thursday we had morning coffee and juice as usual. Bro. Curry was on vacation, so I gave the devotion on Ps. 84. "One day with the Lord is better than 1,000 without Him," also shared Matt. 26:36-46, Jesus prays in the Garden of Gethsemane. Jesus asked the disciples to watch, pray for one hour with prayer? Then we sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer."

In the evening the residents watched two movies, "My Darling Clementine" and "Rocky Mountains," and also had popcorn.

Friday the ladies from the First Baptist came and did the devotional. Letha Mulder opened with a prayer and Evelyn Latta played the piano. We sang, "I Need The Every Hour," "Sweet Hour of Prayer," and "Are You Washed In The Blood?" Mrs. Lillian Ross read the Ps. 150, about everything and everyone praising, thanking the Lord. In the evening the residents went to Matador on the bus ride. Thanks "Our Place" for treating them to the ice cream. Residents going were: Maude Galloway, Iva Wells, Della Halencak, Burmah Probasco, Brooks Callaway, Florence Curry, Charles Breeding, Wilma Payne and Jo Bryant.

A thought to leave with you: "We know life is never measured by how many years we live; but by the kindly things we do and the happiness we give."

We wish for Mrs. Alta Probasco a speedy recovery as she is in the Caprock Hospital at this time. We also like to tell you that we have a new nurse on our staff, Mrs. Nina Shurbet, sorry that I forgot to mention her before now.

Winds grab Floyd football championship

A jubilant band of white shirts gathered at the center of Mitchell-Zimmerman Field in Lockney to claim the district championship football trophy which had not been at home in Floydada High School since 1983.

After 48 minutes of hard football from both the Whirlwinds and the black clad Longhorns from Lockney, the Fightin' Whirlwinds owned the scoreboard, 28-0, and the county grid trophy.

It was a typical Floydada-Lockney shootout with both squads laying their best efforts on the line. Not only were both grandstands filled with partisan fans but the fences were lined with boosters from both towns.

Floydada scored a touchdown in each quarter to extend its '87 record to 4-0.

One fan termed the contest the "Flag Bowl" due to the number of yellow flags thrown against each squad. Penalty yardage was 75 steps against Floydada and 76 yards against Lockney. Most flags came in the second half.

Dame Fortune entered the game early and made spasmodic appearances throughout.

On the first play from scrimmage, an errant pitch by the Longhorns was gathered in by a Whirlwind at the Lockney 23.

EARLY TOUCHDOWN

After fullback Johnny Taylor had gained 3 tough yards, quarterback Corey Bates set sail around the left end before pitching to halfback Frank Casillas, who completed the 20 yard touchdown run. Bates' PAT kick threaded the needle and the visitors from Floydada owned a 7-0 edge with only 48 seconds gone from the clock.

After a swap of punts, the black uniformed Longhorns gained 20 steps to the Floydada 42 on a pass from Jimmy Ballejo to tight end Clay Harrison.

Lockney was stopped at the Whirlwind 36 and then held Floydada, forcing a punt. But on the return David Medrano pounced on a fumble at the Longhorn 36.

Ty Stovall, making his first appearance in the '87 campaign following a scrimmage injury, romped for 18. Stovall made 7 more before Joe Luis Guerrero was the man of the hour for Lockney by claiming a fumble in the end zone for a touchback to kill the threat. Frank Suarez had made a nifty run to near the end zone before knocked loose from the ball.

As the second quarter opened, Glenn Hardin's punt was partially blocked by Suarez and Floydada gained possession at the Longhorn 33.

Casillas gained 4 and 5 before Bates kept for a first at the 21. Taylor plowed for 6 and 3 before Bates' number was again dialed for a 10 yard advance and a first at the 2. Taylor plowed across for six more points. Although Bates' PAT kick was wide right, the Fightin'

Whirlwinds were in front 13-0 with 9:05 remaining in quarter number two.

Following the kickoff, Michael Monroe gained 3 and Jaime McDonald dashed for 12 and a first at the Floydada 47. Two plays netted nothing and, after a motion penalty, Hardin boomed a 48 yard punt which rolled dead on the Floydada 5.

From this point, the Whirlwinds mounted the longest drive of the night, but the effort died of an alert Longhorn defensive maneuver.

END ZONE INTERCEPTION

Bates had gains of 22 and 21 and Suarez used strong second effort to advance 26 as the Winds needed nine snaps to travel 88 steps to the Lockney 7. A Bates pass into the end zone was tipped by a black shirt and bounced into the arms of Javier Bernal, who returned it to the Longhorn 3.

McDonald had a 14 yard gainer before a Lockney fumble was covered by teammate David Brittain at the Lockney 15 as the half ended.

Floydada accepted the second half kickoff but failed to advance and Bates punted 31 yards to the Lockney 41. Four snaps later, Hardin boomed a 67 yard quick kick which rolled dead at the Floydada 2. The Longhorns drew a 15 yard penalty on the end of the play to push the pighide out to the 17.

The physical Whirlwinds embarked on another of their ball-control drives which covered 83 yards in 16 snaps.

Freshman halfback Kenneth Collins dashed for 10, Taylor made 7 and Stovall gained 10 before a clip backed the Whirlwinds 15 yards. Bates, a master at the option, kept for 7 and 22 yards to the Lockney 42. Collins skirted right end for 15 and Suarez rushed for 6 before the Winds were flagged for holding. A pass fell incomplete and Stovall went for 4 before the Bates-to-Pernell combination clicked for 16 and a first at the 11. A late hit on the play pushed the pighide to just outside the 5.

QUICK POINTS

The going got tough as the Longhorns dug in. Suarez made 1, Bates was checked for no gain, Suarez wiggled to the 2 1/2 and on fourth down Collins followed linemen through the right side of his line for the TD. Bates kept around left end for the two bonus points and the scoreboard read 21-0 with 114 seconds remaining in the third quarter.

After the kick, the black shirts made 4 and 1 on runs by McDonald before the Horns were called for holding. A pass fell incomplete. On fourth down, a white shirt (Taylor) broke through to block Hardin's punt. The ball rolled back to the Lockney 6 as the third stanza became history.

It didn't take the white shirts long to score their fourth quarter TD. Taylor plowed for 3 and Bates went around left end for the final three steps into the end zone. His PAT kick was true and it was 28-0 with only 41 seconds gone in the final stanza.

McDonald, who almost broke free on several occasions, twisted his way 11 steps to midfield. Lockney's thrust was short-lived, however, as David Medrano swiped a pass at the Floydada 42.

Rene Soliz sped down the east sideline all alone, gathered in a Bates pass and rambled into the end zone on an apparent 58 yard Whirlwind touchdown. The play was nullified by a motion penalty.

Collins scooted for 15 yards but Joel Mitchell pulled Bates down for a 7 yard loss and the Whirlwind signal-caller punted 38 yards to the Lockney 17. Four snaps later, Hardin punted to midfield.

Floydada gained one first down before Longhorn Luis Peralez intercepted at the Lockney 14.

The Fighting Longhorns picked up a first on a 2 yard keeper by Jimmy Ballejo. Michael DeLeon made 2. McDonald was dealt a hard block by linebacker Taylor after a 2 yard run and Feliciano Mondragon went for 5 as the clock expired.

Another classic Floyd County grid battle had entered the history books.

The hard-hitting Wind defense now has allowed only two touchdowns and two penetrations in four outings.

Potential losses on farm loans forecast down in 1987

The financial stress experienced by the farm sector during the early 1980's is moderating. Estimates of lenders' potential losses on farm loans peaked at $8.6 billion in 1985 and are forecast to drop to $4 billion in 1987 (loan loss is measured by unpaid interest and asset losses through forced sales of financially stressed commercial farms).

Lenders now hold nearly eight million acres of farmland acquired through foreclosure and bankruptcy. This is less than one percent of all farmland, and about 24 percent of annual farmland sales. Although these holdings could be put on the market all at once, lenders are reluctant to sell the holdings rapidly lest prices fall. In addition, improving rates of return on land used for farming could boost values.

The value of the farm sector's real estate assets is stabilizing, and equity values may be edging up as farm income is buoyed by increases in federal payments and reductions in cash expenses.

Many farmers are paying off debts and acquiring less new short-term debt than in the past. But continued foreclosures and debt restructuring indicate that not all farmers are sharing in the recovery.

The 1985 farm act provided for discretionary marketing loans for wheat, feed grains and soybeans, but they have not been implemented for several reasons. Marketing loans for these crops could be very costly. Moreover, for wheat and feed grains, such loans likely would not enhance competitiveness more than other program options already have, including generic certificates, the Export Enhancement Program, and lower support U.S. wheat production in 1987/88 is expected to be up 2 percent from last season to 2.13 billion bushels, despite a 9.5-percent drop in planted area. The crop will be larger primarily because of a sharp jump in winter wheat yields. This season's corn, grain sorghum and soybean yields are estimated to be record highs, partially offsetting significant declines in plantings.

Worldwide use of wheat for feed increased over the past decade. Abundant supplies, and attractive prices relative to feed grains, led to a surge in wheat feeding during 1986/87. Although wheat is mostly used as a food grain, an average of 19 percent of the world's wheat use during the past 5 years was for feed. The USSR accounts for more than 40 percent of feed wheat use. Worldwide use of wheat for feed will slip only a little in 1987/88.

Economic stress has caused hardships in many third world countries. Since these countries have been major importers of grains and oilseeds, their financial problems have also caused hardships for farmers in countries that export to them, including the United States.

Developed-country assistance for economic expansion in the third world, including U.S. aid, will stimulate the volume of the world agricultural trade. U.S. policies are positioned to restore the lost U.S. share of this trade.

Barky conditions again face cotton farmers

Cotton farmers across the South Plains are again facing the prospect of bark contamination which can reduce their payments for ginned fiber, cautions a cotton specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Because of the late crop, excessive moisture and rank growth in many fields, the problems of barky cotton could be serious again this year, said Dr. James Supak, Extension cotton agronomist.

One thing growers can do to minimize the problem, Supak said, is to pay strict attention to the way their strippers are adjusted before harvesting.

He said the Extension Service has a limited number of copies of a videotape which can help farmers combat bark and stick content which reduce the grade of the fiber. The tape, which runs less than 10 minutes, would be appropriate for use at gin offices or producers meetings, he said. It is available from Supak.

It explains basic adjustments and stripper modification developed by U.S. Department of Agriculture engineers. The modification has been shown in area demonstrations to reduce the stick content in stripped cotton.

It has been shown, in USDA and Extension tests with producers, that stick content is closely related to the bark content of ginned cotton.

"Reducing the stick content is a good way to reduce the number of barky bales," Supak said. In USDA tests, this modification reduced the number of barky bales up to 65 percent.

Russian wheat aphid meet

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology [PM]
Crosby/Floyd Counties

On September 23, I had the opportunity to travel to Guymon, Okla., and participate in the first extension and research meeting in the United States devoted entirely to the Russian wheat aphid. Extension and Research entomologists from most of the Great Plains states were present at this meeting.

Such topics as Russian wheat aphid (RWA) distribution, host plant resistance, alternate hosts, economic thresholds, and chemical control were discussed at this meeting. Hopefully, the following highlights of discussion will be of use to producers and agri-businessmen in Crosby and Floyd counties. The Russian wheat aphid was recorded as a pest of wheat and barley in southern Russia as early as 1900. By 1981, the RWA was distributed throughout S. Africa and was also identified in Central Mexico.

The first recorded presence of this pest in the United States occurred in March, 1986, when it was identified on wheat in Bailey County of the Texas High Plains. However, evidence presented at the Guymon meeting removed all reasonable doubt that the RWA was present in the Trans-Pecos area of Texas in 1985.

Eastward spread of the RWA has been limited. However, its presence has been recorded as far north as Idaho and S. Dakota. The aphid appears to be very cold tolerant, with overwintering populations having been observed to survive short durations of temperatures dipping to -10° F.

HOST PLANT RESISTANCE

Once the Russian wheat aphid was identified in the United States, entomologists and plant breeders at Stillwater, OK immediately went to work screening various wheat varieties for resistance to the RWA.

Reports in the S. African scientific literature indicated possible resistance traits in 'Amigo'. This seemed very promising to the Stillwater researchers because 'Amigo' is found in the breeding lines for 'TAM 107'. Testing of 'TAM 107' revealed that although RWA's reared on this variety may not produce as many offspring, that there was no recognizable feeding damage tolerance in this variety.

To date no resistant varieties have been noted. Varieties which exhibit greenbug resistance are not resistant to the RWA. Barley varieties tested have proven to be very susceptible to RWA feeding damage, while oats have shown moderate resistance.

Although no wheat varieties are currently recognized as RWA resistant, several researchers at the meeting were confident that Host Plant Resistance will be an important weapon in battling the RWA in the coming years.

ALTERNATE HOSTS

Alternate hosts, particularly in our area, will prove to be important in the life cycle of the RWA. The various grasses which prove to be alternate hosts are of critical importance at this time because of CRP stand establishment. Field observations in Texas, New Mexico, and Colorado have indicated the following grasses to be alternate hosts of the RWA: downy brome, jointed goatgrass, rescue grass, small barley, squirrel tail, wild oats, cheatgrass, Carolina cararygrass, crested wheat grass, foxtail, intermediate wheatgrass, and Western wheatgrass.

Preliminary tests from Colorado, although not complete, have indicated the following grasses as poor hosts: bermuda, Kentucky bluegrass, Lehman lovegrass, Sand dropseed, side-oats grama, sudan grass, timothy, and others. Because this work is not yet complete, selections for CRP should not be made from this list alone.

GRAZING

Field observations have shown that grazing infested wheat only delays the inevitable. Although RWA populations are hindered by grazing, numbers will increase dramatically after the animals are taken off of the wheat.

WHAT NOW?

It is now apparent that RWA's cause the heaviest damage to stressed wheat. Cultural control of the Russian wheat aphid will include proper fertility levels in wheat managed for grain, as well as dense, well managed stands including irrigation if possible. I expect that destruction of volunteer wheat in the summer months will also be an important cultural practice in our area. Also at present, regular and proper field scouting, as well as proper timing of chemical control will be very important to Crosby-Floyd wheat producers during our third season of battling the RWA.

STUDY WILL EXAMINE CAUSES OF LIGHT SPOTTED

Dr. Bill Meredith, USDA-ARS research leader at Stoneville, Miss., has outlined intensive research plan to examine factors causing increase in light spotted cotton. Areas to be examined include chemical analysis of random samples, crop management, weather conditions, misuse of boll opener and irrigation.

Dr. Meredith's project is one of several studies being undertaken by ARS and AMS in cooperation with Cotton Incorporated and textile industry to study light spotted cotton. Three-year study also will center on actual relationship between light spotted cotton vs. white and importance of color in textile processing.

Details of study were revealed by Jesse Moore, USDA-AMS cotton division director, at meeting of National Cotton Council's Producer Steering Committee and Standards Review Committee in Memphis.

In related development, Agriculture Secretary Richard Lyng will appoint 14-member advisory committee to study cotton marketing and possibility of total conversion to HVI method of classing by year 2000. Panel, to be named this fall, will include four producer representatives, and two each from manufacturers, merchants, cooperatives, ginners, and researchers.

The Textile and Apparel Trade Act of 1987 is the only fair way to deal with an import problem which continues to hurt the U.S. cotton industry and other related industries in the national economy. National Cotton Council President Aven Whittington told the Senate Finance Committee.

Whittington, a Greenwood, Miss., producer, said cotton textile and apparel imports have more than doubled since 1980 and now account for 39 percent of the cotton consumed by the U.S. population.

"Those imports are taking precious dollars out of U.S. farmers' pockets," said Whittington. "While cotton textile imports have increased 133 percent, the price of cotton in this country has fallen by more than a third since 1980 and this — combined with lost markets — has cost U.S. cotton producers billions of dollars."

He disputed claims of critics who believe limited textile growth will cause higher prices for consumers.

Floyd County Soil and Water District director election slated

An election for a director to serve in Zone 3 on the Floyd County Soil and Water Conservation District Board is scheduled for October 6 at the county agent's office in Floydada. The time will be 7:30 p.m.

State law decrees that to be eligible to vote in the election, a person must own agricultural land within Floyd County, live in the county and be 18 years of age.

To serve as a director one must own agricultural land within the zone, live in the county, and be 18 years of age and be actively engaged in farming or ranching.

Zone 3 of the district includes an area bounded on the north by the Cedar Hill-Flomot highway, east boundary is the Floyd-Motley County lines, south boundary is the Floydada-Matador highway, and the west boundary is the Floydada-Silverton highway.

Leslie Nixon currently serves the Zone 3 as director.

Spraying in the 24th edition of the annual High Plains boll weevil battle got off to a fast start Sept. 21. Twelve aerial applicators in near-perfect weather covered about 12,000 acres the first afternoon. In the next two days the 12 plans, using three airports, completed the program's first application, spreading insecticide on weevils infesting a total 56,497 acres in six counties.

Planes took off from airports at Spur, Post and Roaring Springs to hit the most heavily infested fields in Motley, Dickens, Kent, Garza, Floyd and Crosby counties.

Pheromone sex attractant traps in May and June caught over three times as many boll weevils as had been caught in any previous year, alerting program officials to the need for the expanded spraying expected this fall.

The program, initiated in 1963, knocks down late-season weevil populations before they reach the diapause state necessary to winter hibernation. Doing this along and below the Caprock on the eastern edge of the High Plains each year has maintained the weevil-free status of the huge and concentrated cotton acreage just above the Caprock and on west into New Mexico.

Without the program, entomologists say, cotton production in the area might have ceased entirely and at best would have been severely curtailed years ago.

Aggregate acreage sprayed in 1986 came to 325,638 but could well reach above 500,000 this year, according to Ed

Dean, field-service director for Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. PCG is the producer service organization responsible for the program.

The excessive numbers emerging from hibernation this spring, Dean says, resulted from the mild 1986-87 winter. While it's normal to expect diapause weevils to survive the winter at a rate of three percent or less, the survival rate for 1986-87 climbed to a surprising 18 percent, Dean explains.

Contract for the spraying this year was let to Perryton Flying Service. The Perryton, Texas, company was the lowest of three bidders. The contractor will be paid $5.09 per gallon for applying the program's low volume malathion at the rate of 12 ounces per acre, giving a per-acre application cost of about 48 cents. The smaller contract in 1986 went to McAdoo Flying Service, McAdoo, for $5.35 per gallon.

The program is funded jointly by producers, through PCG's Boll Weevil Steering Committee, the U.S. and Texas Departments of Agriculture. Prior to this year federal funds were available to match producer and TDA funds dollar for dollar. But USDA's part of the cost for 1987 has been cut to 80 percent.

Producer funds for the program are collected as a part of the receiving charge at area compresses and are administered by PCG's steering committee.

Preparing for the King

By Pastor Travis Curry

II Peter 3:12 tells us that we are to be "looking for and hastening unto the coming of the day of God." Now the context here defines the day of God as the great final judgment of God in preparation for the eternal state. Nevertheless our task of "hastening" the coming is to be accomplished long before the event itself while we are yet in our mortal bodies and before the rapture of the saints. We are to prepare for the coming of the King of Kings and the Lord of Lords and in so doing, we will also be "hastening" unto the coming of the day of God. How do we prepare for the coming of the King?

First of all we are to PREACH His coming. In Paul's writing to the young preacher Titus we have revealed unto us that we are duty bound to be "looking for that blessed hope, and glorious appearing of the Great God and our Savior Jesus Christ." In the same passage Paul says, "These things SPEAK." We are to tell people about the coming of Christ.

Just because a few people have tried to come up with an exact date for the coming of Christ and have to some extent perverted and distorted this doctrine does not mean that we should neglect this vital truth. JESUS CHRIST IS COMING AGAIN, and we ought to let the whole world know it. He WILL rule and reign for 1000 years and we ought not to be afraid to proclaim it.

But there is more. We ought also to PRAY for His Coming. What does it mean when Jesus said for us to pray, "Our Father which art in heaven, hallowed be thy name, THY KINGDOM COME..."? It means that we are to pray, "Come back Lord and establish your kingdom upon this earth." It means that we ought to tell the Lord that we want Him to rule and reign rather than some man.

Two little boys were talking. One said to the other, "Bet you can't quote the Lord's prayer." "Bet I can," replied the other. The conversation continued, "You can't." "I can!" "Okay, try it." "Now I lay me down to sleep..." "Alright, alright, you win." Now that's not really what we call the Lord's prayer. What we call the Lord's prayer is really the disciples' prayer and it is in part a prayer for Jesus to return. The LAST prayer in the Bible is like unto it, "Amen, even so COME, LORD JESUS."

Something else ought to be done in preparation for the coming of the King. We ought to be PURIFIED for His coming.

In I John 3:2,3 we read, "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him: for we shall see Him as He is. And every man that hath this hope in him PURIFIETH himself, even as He is pure."

Do you want to break the shackles of sin? Get this purifying hope. Do you want to live a clean, pure life? Have hope in the return of Christ. Do you know why many Christians are living ungodly, worldly lives? They are not watching and expecting the Lord to return at any moment.

One day a feudal Lord sent his court jester on a quest. He told his jester to take his jester's stick and go up and down the land until he found a bigger fool than himself and then he was to give him that stick. After many days the jester returned with the stick still in his hand. Upon his arrival the jester found that his Lord lay dying. He went to the room of the dying man and as they talked, his lord made the sad statement, "Here I am about to die, but I'm not prepared to die." Immediately the jester gave him the stick and said, "If you are about to die and not prepared for it, surely you are the biggest fool of all." If Jesus Christ is really coming again, and HE IS, and we are unprepared, we are the biggest fools of all.

Floydada-Abernathy in four Thursday games

Floydada footballers will feed on a menu of Abernathy today (Thursday) and Friday. Before the varsities clash Friday night, four other games are scheduled Thursday.

Local junior high crews play in Floydada, starting with the seventh grade match at 5 p.m. and followed by the eighth grade contest. The two schools' freshmen teams lock horns at 5 o'clock in Abernathy and JV squads take the field about 6:30.

WIND JUNIORS WIN

Floydada sent out a team comprised of sophomores and freshmen on the local field last Thursday to tangle with the Lockney JV. The Green and White claimed an 18-0 verdict.

Lalo Delgado blocked a Lockney punt to set up a Floydada TD in the first quarter. Halfback Freddy Martinez scored on a 2 yard run for a 6-0 lead, a score which held until the second half.

Quarterback Grant Stovall passed about 15 yards to split end Martin Ponce to set the Winds in position for a third quarter touchdown. Stovall ran about 10 yards on an option for the six points.

Martinez tallied the fourth quarter score on a short run.

"Our kids played good defense. They're improving a little every week," Coach Mike Cocanougher says.

SEVENTH BREEZERS WIN 20-8

The seventh grade Breezers traveled to Lockney on Thursday to play for the seventh grade county title. They won 20-8.

First touchdown was scored by Michael Henderson on a 35 yard run around right end. The extra point try failed.

Henderson also scored the second touchdown, coming on a 15 yard run. Extra point by Jamie Davis was good. The second touchdown was set up by Davis on an intercepted pass.

A single touchdown was scored in the second half by fullback Tate Harris. The extra point try by Scott Chapman failed.

"The whole team played their best game of the season," says Coach Rex Holcombe. "Their effort to keep an undefeated record was well executed."

EIGHTH GRADE BREEZERS 3-0 AFTER LOCKNEY GAME

On Thursday, the Breezers traveled to Lockney for their third game of the season. It was scoreless during the first quarter; however the Breezers added 8 points to the board during the second quarter.

The score was set up when Ruben Chavarria intercepted a Lockney pass and returned it to the 5 yard line. Two plays later Michael Cooper took it in for the TD around left end. Billy Joe Villarreal hit David Johnston for the two-point conversion. At half the Breezers led 8-0.

In the third period, Floydada added 8 more points. The TD came on a 70 yard run around left end by David Johnston.

Breezers managed to add 6 more points in the fourth quarter. The TD was set up when Jamie Suarez intercepted a Lockney pass. The Breezers moved the ball down the field after the interception, and Kenneth Davis took it from the 2 yard line for the TD.

"We are improving each week," says Coach Tim James, "and I am real pleased with the effort of the kids."

Tie-breaker to name winners

Tie-breaker score became critical in determining winners of The Hesperian's weekly football contest as 11 participants entered forms bearing three incorrect winners.

Deneen Marricle, a third time winner, guessed the Floydada-Lockney score (28 points) right on the money to garner the first place check of $10.

Second place check went to Robert Redden, who guessed 29 points in the tie-breaker. Sheree Cannon took third place money with a tick of 26 points.

Other contestants missing only three games and their tie-breaker scores were: Jared Mosley, 21; Clay Simpson, 24; Darbie Brooks, 25; Dolan Hanna and Amy McCormick, 31 each; Franklin Harris, Johnnie Mosley and Mike Anderson, 35 each.

Receiving honorable mention with four misses were: Travis Gentry, Wes Campbell, Pam Fulton, Paige Cannon, Rod Enriquez, Jeffrey Marler, Bryan Shaver, Brent Sanders, Glenda Wilson, Gene Lowrance, Dale W. Jahav, Sherry

Hale, Sammy Hale, Andy Hale and Richard Hale.

JUBILANT BUNCH — Several Whirlwinds wave their helmets in the air and others flash the "number one" signal as they receive the county football champion trophy seconds after defeating Lockney on Friday night. This is the first time since 1983 that the Whirlwinds have owned outright possession of the trophy. Coach Dean Bates is at left and players identifiable are Jason Brown [85], Joe Barrientos [54] and Rolando Cisneros [72]. — Staff photo

Tax Tip

Question: Does each of your dependents have a Social Security number?
Answer: A provision of the 1986 Tax Reform Act may mean more paperwork for you this year. The new law requires that every dependent five years of age and over must have a social security number. You will need this number when filing your 1987 tax return. Because of this requirement, the Social Security Administration expects to issue millions of new numbers this year. To avoid delays, file your dependents' applications early. Contact your local Social Security office to obtain a Form SS-5 for each of your dependents.
