Floydada will host eighth grade tournament Friday and Saturday

Crosbyton and Muleshoe will vie against two Breezer teams in each boys and girls divisions of the Floydada Eighth Grade Tournament on Friday and Saturday in the local gym.

First round contests are scheduled Friday. Opening action at 4:30 will be Crosbyton girls and a Floydada squad. A Crosbyton-Floydada boys matchup is set for 5:45. Muleshoe and the other Floydada girls team lock horns at 7 p.m. with an 8:15 tipoff pitting boys from Muleshoe and Floydada.

Saturday's agenda opens with losers in Friday girls games playing at 10 a.m. for third place. Third place in the boys division will be decided in an 11:30 a.m. game.

Victors in girls matches on Friday take the court at 1 p.m. Saturday to decide first place. The boys championship match follows, about 2:30 p.m.

A concession stand will operate throughout the tourney. Candy, soft drinks and sandwiches are to be available.

Admission for each session is $2 for adults and $1 for students. A $3 pass can be secured for admission both days.

PENNY GOLIGHTLY

Penny Golightly seeks election

Penny Golightly has filed for tax assessor-collector of Floyd County.

She has been married to Dayne Golightly for 17 years. They have two children, Rance, age 12, and Lacy, age 9.

Mrs. Golightly attended Floydada schools and was graduated from Floydada High School. She was also graduated from Famous Artists School.

She would appreciate your vote in the March primary.

Filing period opens today for primary candidates

Candidates for seven county or precinct positions, plus county and precinct chairmen for both parties, face an early filing deadline.

Offices which are due election in 1988 are: county judge (unexpired term); county attorney; sheriff; county tax assessor-collector; county commissioner, Precinct One; county commissioners, Precinct Three; county commissioner, Precinct Four (unexpired term); county Democratic or Republican chairmen; and precinct Democratic or Republican chairmen.

Application to become a candidate for any of the offices must file with the

Bill Hardin candidate for judge

BILL HARDIN

Bill Hardin has announced that he is a candidate for the office of County Judge of Floyd County in the Democratic Primary. He is presently serving as county judge by appointment of the commissioners' court, having been appointed as such on December 1, 1986.

The upcoming election will be for the remaining two years on such term.

Hardin stated that he has enjoyed serving as county judge. "It has been a challenge but I feel that some positive things have been accomplished. The people of Floyd County have been very patient and understanding with me during this past year. I have appreciated the opportunity of serving the people in this capacity. I pledge to you to do my very best should you see fit to continue my serving as county judge."

Sam Spence announces candidacy

SAM SPENCE

I, Sam A. Spence, am seeking re-election to a third and last term as Commissioner of Floyd County Precinct 1. It has been a pleasure and privilege to serve you in all areas of County government.

As the Precinct 1 member of the Commissioners Court, it has always been my aim to help run the business of Precinct 1 and Floyd County in a fair, effective and efficient manner and to cooperate with the city governments in all areas of mutual interest.

Your suggestions and recommendations have been sincerely appreciated. The road crew works daily to improve and maintain the rural roads in all parts of the precinct in the best possible condition.

My candidacy is subject to the Democratic Primary on March 8, 1988.

Hot air balloon 'chase' due Sunday

Balloons of various colors will lift into the sky early Sunday morning as Lubbock and Amarillo hot air balloon clubs participate for honors in a "posse and desperado shootout." The event will originate at Floydada Municipal Airport, with balloons being launched "at sunrise."

The public is welcome to watch the colorful spectacle.

Participants are scheduled to return to the local airport "about 10 a.m." to receive first, second and third place plaques.

Floydada Chamber of Commerce will provide doughnuts and coffee for out-of-town guests.

FREE BALLOON RIDES
One community resident will receive a free balloon ride following the "chase."

Everyone eight years and older who would like a free ride may register at the Chamber of Commerce office or at Script Printing until "about 3 o'clock" Friday afternoon when the drawing is conducted.

In the balloonists' lingo, the Sunday chase will be called a "posse and desperado shootout." Amarillo Balloon Association and Lubbock Balloon Club are to vie in the competition, which is sponsored by the local Chamber of Commerce.

Hot air balloons are extremely picturesque. Lubbock balloons, for example, fit the following descriptions: medium blue, white gores, red pennants, skirt of royal blue with white stars; maroon with white skirt and Texas insignia; yellow, blue and orange stripes, blue and white, red stars; red, white and blue stripes, rainbow colors; red and white; and dark blue.

Persons who have viewed such a chase describe the view as being "stunning" as the balloons depart and become airborne.

COMPETITION EXPLAINED

Ron Bush, president of Lubbock Balloon Club, describes the chase, which will include an equal number of pilots from the two clubs. The two "sides" try to outscore each other in a traditional posse and desperado race.

Bush explains that "a desperado balloon will launch about sunrise and by flying various wind currents will make it difficult for the posse balloons to follow. Therefore we have a posse and desperado 'shootout.'"

Some clubs use a "hare and hound chase" terminology.

The posse balloons will search for a target (large red 'X') that is left on the ground at some point where the desperado balloon had touched down. Then the posse balloons try to maneuver by wind currents to the target, at which time someone in the gondola will toss a projectile, trying to hit the center of the 'X!'

The total of each club's score determines which takes home the "traveling trophy." Most balloons rarely rise above 2,000 feet.

"Away from city traffic and power lines, a favorite flight is over tree top level, where a pilot can talk to folks below," Bush says. "Altitude can be controlled by adding heat from the burner or allowing the air in the balloon to cool slightly. However, speed and direction are entirely dependent on the wind. Literally, you're 'flying with the wind.'"

Floyd ag diversification increases

The prevailing opinion that South Plains agriculture involves cotton, grain sorghum, wheat and cattle is true in most counties. To some extent, Floyd County is an exception.

This county is one of the South Plains leaders — possibly THE leader — in agricultural diversification.

Well over 25 commodities produced in Floyd County can be named. Undoubtedly, there are others.

Cotton remains the king of county agricultural products. Wheat and grain sorghum have also been major commodities through the years.

Other commodities, some relatively new to this area, include:

- * Grasses
- * Commercial soybeans
- * Seed soybeans
- * Hybrid grain sorghum
- * Corn
- * Peanuts
- * Jalapeno peppers
- * Bell peppers
- * Banana peppers
- * Cucumbers
- * Onions
- * Watermelons
- * Honey dew melons
- * Cantalopes
- * Tomatoes

- * Garlic
- * Cabbage
- * Pumpkins
- * Squash
- * Ornamental (Indian) corn
- * Wine grapes
- * Pecans
- * Walnuts
- * Cattle
- * Swine
- * Sheep

(The Hesperian would like to know of other commodities. Persons who know of additions are asked to contact this office.)

Pernell paces Whirlwinds on all-district

Chad Pernell paced the Floydada contingent of 11 Whirlwinds who earned first or second team berths or honorable mention on the all-district 2-AAA honor squad. It was revealed following Littlefield's elimination from the playoffs.

Pernell, a 150 pound senior, was a unanimous choice on the offensive first team at tight end and was also a first defensive unit selection at safety.

Joining Pernell on the offensive first team were Greg Lawson in the offensive line and Corey Bates at quarterback. In a year of outstanding quarterbacks in 2-AAA, Bates, Daniel Echols of Friona and Mark Ellis of Littlefield deadlocked on the first team.

Lineman Adam Cates, linebacker Johnny Taylor and safety Chad Pernell were Whirlwinds on the first defensive team. Taylor was a unanimous choice.

Cates, a sophomore, was the only Whirlwind non-senior named.

Lineman Roel Cisneros and running back Ty Stovall were tabbed on the second offensive unit.

Jason Brown was a second team defensive pick as a lineman.

Floydada lads receiving honorable mention were Randy Enriquez at offensive end and cornerbacks Daniel Medrano and David Medrano at cornerback on defense.

The complete all-district team is listed on an inside page.

Christmas stories from past desired

This newspaper is seeking stories about Christmas from yesteryear and how decorations and customs have changed through the years.

Every community had its own yule program, usually compete with a visit from Santa Claus.

Stories from readers, to share with others in the Hesperian Christmas issue, will be greatly appreciated. These articles will be needed by Dec. 16.

In advance, thanks to those who contribute articles.

$1,000 reward offered for cattle return

A $1,000 reward is being offered by H.E. Frizzell of Lockney for information leading to the return of 22 steers which either strayed or were stolen from a site six miles northeast of Floydada on Wednesday, Nov. 18. The owner initially believed the cattle strayed, but investigators now believe they were stolen.

The steers, which weighed "500 to 550 pounds," all bear a "22" brand on the left rib cage. When they were last seen, the animals also had a yellow ear tag.

They are mixed breeds.

Ila White FNB artist

The First National Bank of Floydada is proud to have Ila White, a local artist as the bank artist for December. Her works will be on display throughout the month during regular business hours at the bank.

White, a retired beautician, began painting in 1979 after being convinced by artist Winnie Carthel that "I could paint if I wanted to."

"My first lesson, I just wanted to try. Well, you guessed it, I was hooked, says White. "I studied with Winnie until she moved and had classes with Elsie Sherman in Lockney."

She has also attended workshops with Jean Green and Bill Huffaker.

White prefers to work in oils but "has done a little in pastels and acrylics."

"Each picture I paint is a challenge, but I prefer flowers and birds," added White. "Painting to me is good therapy and I enjoy it very much. I also like to read and do hand work."

White and her husband Glenn have a daughter, Sally Arnold of Merlton, New Jersey, and a son, Todd of Houston. They also have three granddaughters. Mr. White is retired from the Texas Highway Department.

Everyone is urged to come in while doing their Christmas shopping and enjoy this talented local artist's paintings during this holiday season.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:

I would like to thank the citizens of Floydada and the Floydada Chamber of Commerce for the support they have given us in the Christmas lighting project. I especially thank the Ag Department of Floydada High School for welding the decorations, Lighthouse Electric Co-op for helping hang the decorations, and all the city employees who pitched in to help build the decorations. We hope everyone enjoys the Christmas lights this year.

Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

The week started out as usual, coffee and juice break. Then at 10:30 we had the devotion, taken from Joel 2:21-27. Giving thanks to God's generosity to us. The responsorial psalm was Ps. 67:7. "The earth has yielded its fruit, the Lord our God has blessed us." We shared what we were thankful for, and how the residents remembered how they celebrated Thanksgiving when they were a child or in their early marriage. Myra Hall opened the devotion with a prayer, and we all sang a song thanking the Lord for all that he gives us. At 2:00 p.m. the residents painted a ceramic Christmas tree napkin holder.

Tuesday, Bro. Neeley and Mrs. Neeley came and shared from Genesis 11:1-9. "Now these are one people and they speak one language, this is just the beginning of what they are going to do." We sang the song "Count Your Many Blessings."

At 2:30 the residents had their Thanksgiving party, with the Companions 'n' Caring helping with it. They served the residents cream pies, they were delicious too. That was a treat, because very seldom do they have pies. Those helping with the party were: Ruth McIntosh, Shirley Varner, Hazel Bradley, Ola Smith, Leona Neff, Dorothy Neff, Opal Kratzer, Letha Lightfoot, Ruth Gilliland, Fran James. Thanks ladies, we appreciate our volunteers without you we could do nothing.

Wednesday, Bro. Earl Blair came and shared 2 Cor. 9:6. "The person who sows sparingly will reap sparingly, one who sows bountifully will reap bountifully, each one should give then as he has decided, not with regret or out of sense of duty, for God loves a cheerful giver. And God is able to give you more than you need." At 2:00 p.m. the residents played Bingo. Barbara Hatley came and helped us out. Charles Breeding was the first to Bingo. Bananas and bugles were the treats. Those playing Bingo were: Myra Hall, Burmah Probasco, Maude Galloway, Charles Breeding, Ruth Benson, Della Halencak, Iva Wells, Oda Birchfield, Brooks Callaway and Opal Morrison.

We wish to extend our sincere sympathy and love to Dolores Cannon and her family on the passing of Dorothy. May His peace and love sustain you in the days ahead. Thanks Dolores for your time spent getting all the ladies' hair done and the men's haircuts too.

Thursday and Friday were the Thanksgiving holidays. The residents were served turkey and dressing and all the trimmings. Some of the residents' family came and ate dinner with their loved ones. Some went out of town and to visit their family. Several had family to come to visit them in the home too.

For the next four weeks, let us proclaim "O Come, O Come, Emmanuel." God with us.

This week's visitors were: Paula Bryant, Hazel Bradley, Melvin and Marjorie Holcomb, Wayland Faulkenberry, Irene Irby, Mollie Burselson, Gary and Nada Rogers of Beaumont, Alma Smith, Buck Galloway, Rudolph and Iva McCurdy, John and Christine Lyles of Hale Center and Artie and Floyd Webb.

'Christmas at the Museum' planned Sunday afternoon

An array of features have been arranged for the "Christmas at the Museum" this Sunday afternoon at Floyd County Historical Museum. The event is scheduled from 2 to 4 p.m.

Rick Sudduth and the Blue Denim Band from Crosby County will provide musical entertainment. This group is well known throughout the area.

Another attraction is a nativity scene designed by Mrs. Bill Stanforth.

Ella Biggs Goodwin of Lubbock has promised to bring her miniature doll house to be viewed by those attending the yule function. She is a former Floydada resident.

An "old fashioned Christmas tree" and special exhibits also are planned.

Refreshments of candy, cookies and punch will be offered to guests.

O.M. Watson Jr., chairman of the museum board, says a goal of 500 guests has been established. He invites "everyone" to attend the function at the museum, located at 105 East Missouri in Floydada.

"It's a family affair so bring the family," museum officials say.

BAND AT MUSEUM EVENT—The Blue Denim Band of Crosby County will present entertainment Sunday afternoon during the "Christmas at the Museum" at Floyd County Historical Museum.

Armstrong County man reveals plans for representative race

Tom Christian, 56, an Armstrong County farmer and rancher, announces that he will seek election to the 84th District seat in the Texas House of Representatives.

As he seeks the Republican nomination, Christian believes that his experience in the 61st and 62nd legislatures will be a positive factor in providing effective and resourceful representation for the 84th District.

The 84th District has been accustomed to full time representation under the leadership of Rep. Foster Whaley, and Christian states that the arrangement of his business interests would enable him to continue this same sort of representation and availability.

Christian believes that his experience as a parent, teacher, school board member and West Texas State University regent will be valuable in determining educational policies for the state.

Controlling the escalating cost of state government and opposition to a state income tax are concerns that Christian shares with all citizens of the area.

Involvement in the creation of a commercial hunting camp and the Cowboy Morning Breakfast has given Christian an awareness of the potential that tourism and recreational activities have for boosting the troubled agricultural economy.

Christian is married to the former Anne Thomas, a Ralls native and Texas Tech ex. They are the parents of four children.

Wagon train restaurant-museum sets opening in Roaring Springs

Six months and 3,200 miles of memories were collected by participants and observers of the Texas Sesquicentennial Wagon Train. So much memorabilia in fact, that a museum was needed to preserve it.

So Jan France, who drove the lead wagon on the trek, opened a restaurant/museum just to keep the memories alive.

The grand opening of the Texas Wagon Train Restaurant, will be Saturday, Dec. 5, in downtown Roaring Springs. The ribbon cutting will be at 4:00 p.m., followed by a $5.00 a plate barbecue supper for the public at 5:00 p.m.

To keep the entertainment moving, a street dance will start at 6:00 p.m. and "last until whenever."

"We will be using the theme of the Wagon Train," said France. "Rain, shine, sleet or snow the wagon train will roll."

"We expect people to come from all over Texas and from far away places like California, Florida, Illinois, Michigan and Oklahoma," said France.

The dining room of the restaurant will feature Wagon Train memorabilia and pictures collected from people on the wagon trail will make up a photo gallery. Also on display will be wagons used in the journey, including the 1915 freight wagon used as the lead wagon.

Check Safety To Make The Holidays Bright

- Before hanging strings of lights, spread them on the floor and check for frayed or bare wires, cracked insulation, loose connections, and damaged plugs or light sockets.
- Check extension cords for wear or damage and don't run them across walking areas.
- Test lights before putting them on the tree. Unplug them before making repairs or replacing bulbs.
- Overloading circuits with too many lights can cause fire. Follow manufacturer's instructions about the number of lights allowed on one circuit.
- Choose a fresh, green tree, trim its base and keep it in plenty of water. If the needles are brown and break off easily, it could be a fire risk.
- If you buy an artificial tree, make sure it has been tested for flammability by Underwriters Laboratories (UL).
- Place your tree away from the fireplace or other heat sources and out of the traffic pattern.
- Never string lights on a metallic tree. Light strings with damaged insulation can electrically charge a metallic tree. Instead, shine unattached colored floodlights or spotlights on the tree.
- Always turn off lights before leaving home or going to bed. You'll save money and be safer, too.
- Never use lighted candles on a tree or near evergreens. And don't burn evergreens in the fireplace.
- Do not use inside lights on the outside. All outside lighting equipment, including lights, cords and plugs, should be waterproof and made for outdoor use. Also, hang sockets downward and don't leave a socket empty.
- When hanging lights on the rooftop or in tall trees outdoors, stay clear of electrical lines. Make sure you or your decorations don't come in contact with them.
- Should you receive a CB radio or television this Christmas, let a qualified serviceman install the CB base unit or television antenna for you. This delicate job is best left to the professionals.
- Be sure electrical toys are tested for safety. Look for the UL mark.

Wishing You A Safe, Happy Holiday

Smoke detectors can protect

Fire is a killer. Nationwide, it claims the lives of about 6,000 people each year.

Installing smoke detectors in homes is one of the best ways to protect families from the ravages of fire. About 80 percent of all fire deaths occur in the home, and about 80 percent of those happen in homes without working smoke detectors.

For the best protection, install at least one smoke detector on each floor, especially outside bedrooms and other areas where people sleep.

Statistics show that most deaths caused by home fires happen at night while people are asleep.

Once a family has installed smoke detectors, it is important to keep them in good working order.

National Volunteer Fire Council officials offer these suggestions:

- * Periodically, once a month or so, detectors should be tested to be sure the alarms sound. A vacuum cleaner can be utilized to remove dust from alarm air vents.

* Batteries should be replaced at least once a year, or when the low-battery warning sounds.

* Never remove a good battery or otherwise disable the detectors. Volunteer firefighters can provide additional information on the installation and maintenance of smoke detectors as well as fire safety measures.

Police receive reports of burglary and theft

"This Thanksgiving was one of the quietest I can remember," Police Chief James Hale told this newspaper on Monday.

An attempted Sunday night burglary of Ken's Car Shop at the corner of Wall and California apparently failed to materialize.

The lock on a door was broken, but the owner had not discovered anything missing.

Todd Williams reported to the police department the theft — "probably the night of Nov. 26" — of a 235x15 tire and rim from the back of his pickup. The vehicle was parked at 1021 South Main.

Value of the tire and rim was placed at $140.

Harvey Tardy reported on Saturday the theft of two full wheel chrome hub caps from the left side of his '74 Chevrolet pickup. The two hub caps, valued at $50, were stolen from Tardy's residence, 802 West Marivena.

"Very minor damage" resulted from a two-vehicle accident in the 600 block of South Tree Street, near high school. A 1977 Toyota Celica was southbound in the 600 block of South Tree Street in the left lane of a one-way street when a 1981 Chevrolet Caprice reportedly backed from the curb and struck the Toyota on the left back quarter.

A 1984 Toyota pickup received an estimated $360 in damage to the left rear segment and bumper when struck by a hit-and-run driver Tuesday of last week. It was parked in the median in the 100 block of East Missouri.

Social Security News

By Terry J. Clements

To protect their Social Security earnings records, workers are urged to check the Social Security number and name shown on their stubs to make sure they are correct. They should also check the Social Security number on their Form W-2 they receive in January.

If a person discovers that the Social Security number on his or her pay stub or Form W-2 is different than that on his or her Social Security card, the error should be reported to the employer immediately.

The Form W-2 wage and tax statement is used by employers to report wages to the Social Security Administration where lifetime earnings records are maintained for each worker. The earnings records are the basis for benefits when a person retires, dies, or becomes disabled. A difference in a single digit can delay or prevent the earnings from being credited to the correct record.

Many female workers forget to change their names on their Social Security records when they change their names after they marry. Employers should not permit the employee to rely on his or her memory in checking the Form W-2 or pay records but should insist that the Social Security card is used. Very often the mistake in the employer records resulted from memory lapses, Social Security officials say.

When a mistake is reported to an employer, a corrected wage report should be sent to the Social Security Administration. The employee should also check with the Social Security office if it is necessary to change a name in Social Security records.

Employees should check the earnings credited to their Social Security earnings records at least once every 3 years, especially if they change jobs frequently. A form can be obtained from the Social Security office.

Introducing the new MAGNUM 7130

And the first all-new tractors from Case IH

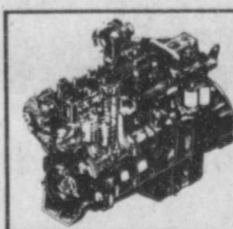

Case IH put more into the new MAGNUM tractor line than any farm tractors developed in over twenty years. Here's why you'll get more out of it:

MAGNUM means more. Outstanding field performance from a new 505 cubic inch turbocharged engine with reserve power. MAGNUM power.

The MAGNUM tractor's powershift puts 18-speeds of shift-on-the-go workpower at your fingertips—standard. And only MAGNUM tractors offer a full powershift creeper transmission with six additional speeds from 5 to 21 mph... for more control and performance. MAGNUM performance.

The MAGNUM tractor's new larger cab has 48 square feet of window area... virtually unobstructed visibility... more seating comfort. MAGNUM comfort.

It all adds up: The Case IH MAGNUM 7130 tractor sets new standards for the 170 hp (127 kW) class... and for you. See us for details.

MAGNUM Power. More tugging ability and economy.

MAGNUM Comfort. A more productive environment.

MAGNUM Performance. 18-speed field and road performance.

MAGNUM means more.

Enjoying the prairie and our Floyd neighborhood

By Will Martin

When I can first remember before so much land was put into cultivation, we had access to about 1 1/4 sections of grassland. All of this land was Mr. Will Massey's, except for 40 acres that was half of the land we owned.

Mr. Massey allowed us to run a few cows and work horses, along with the cows that he had on the pasture, and did not charge Papa for the pasture.

In a few years Mr. Will sold the land to three people and we were cut down to about 60 acres of pasture until after Papa died and our farm was sold about three years before Mama died.

I spent 27 years on that farm before I married in 1935. After Papa died I attempted to work the place. I was trying on a rotten shoestring, got a hail the second year (1939) and broke the shoestring. I then worked for other people until we bought a used good store.

We operated it for nearly 20 years and retired five years ago. I tell this much for a short history of my life after my early years on the farm. I love the memories so much.

We children sure had a grand time playing in and roaming the pasture at various times and occasions. I had a sister, two nephews and two nieces that are just a few years younger than I am. There were always neighbors and friends who would come to see us and join in the fun.

When there was a fair sized bunch of us, we would get out in the pasture just below the barn and have a big ballgame until we gave out. It was obvious that we had to watch our step when we were running. We would also play such games as follow the leader and see who could jump off the highest part of the shed or barn. Then we would run races to see who could go to some point and get back first.

There was not always a big bunch. Sometimes I would go down to the lake when it had quite a bit of water in it to watch the tadpoles swim around and see and hear the bullfrogs jump in the water. There would be ducks in the water and some times migratory water birds would stop over for a drink, a rest and a bit to eat.

When a person showed up, some of the birds would spook and fly away and others would just keep on enjoying themselves. Sometimes the other kids, usually about three of us, would go wading in the lake. We would see how far out in the water we had nerve to go.

Mama would tell us to roll up our pants and not to get our clothes wet and muddy. It sure was hard to not stumble and fall down in the water. After we had scarred the ducks and other birds away, we would head for home to get dry clothes and a spanking.

I will tell a little more about the lakes or basins. Some people called them basins in those days as well as lakes. Most bigshots this day in time call them playa lakes. When we get enough or too much rain their purpose is to store the water and drain the surplus off by way of the canyons that criss-crosses the plains.

On most of my trips to the lake, there was a long-legged bird there. The adult birds was, I think, about 7 or 8 inches tall. Their official name was kill-deer, but we called them kill-dees. They would wade out in the water about the length of their legs and feed on worms and small insects.

These birds had their nests near the water in small weeds. They apparently stayed close to their nests to do their feeding. When we would scare one up, it would begin to run spreading its wings out and playing like it was crippled.

Naturally a person would think he could catch the bird. The kill-dee would take you several yards, what it thought was a safe distance from the nest, and would rise up and fly a large circle, probably coming back to its nest after a safe time. I suppose the bird would do dogs or any other animal the same way.

I suppose there are still kill-deer on these plains. It has been nearly 50 years since I have been out in the country long enough to study nature as well as I did when I was young. I have in the last few years driven along the roads and seen several wild ducks on lakes.

Out on these plains were more birds than the new settlers from back East thought were here when they first got a glimpse of this barren-looking grassland. There was quite a bit of the grassland broken out as time went on. When I was a very small boy we could start out in most any direction and not have to go around very many barb wire fences or broken out fields to get where he wanted to go.

To get back to our feathered friends, I suppose that the black hawk and buzzard were usually the largest birds we ordinarily saw. The hawk was a handsome bird in flight. To me, it did very little wind flapping; it just sailed along sort of like the glider planes the government used during World War II as both took advantage of the wind currents.

In nature, the hawk fed on rabbits, and I think ground squirrels and smaller birds. The hawk lived on live meats.

The buzzard was quite like the hawk in appearance and habits of flight. It lived on dead animals, etc., and is nature's scavenger. There are some of both this day in time but not nearly as many as there were in early days. The hawk was a terror to the chicken pen.

In those days there were no trucks to go about the country to pick up dead animals and haul them to the rendering plants. When a cow or horse died, a person would tie the animal behind a wagon and drag it off to the back of the pasture to where the odor could not reach yours or your neighbor's house.

That was where coyotes, wolves and buzzards took over. In a short time the bones were clean and left to bleach in the hot sunshine. I suppose the buzzards and hawks went to the canyon or breaks to nest. In roaming the pastures, I never saw one of their nests.

There was a small bird about the size of the English sparrow and about the same color. It would built its nest right out in the grass. I wondered why something didn't eat up all the eggs, but apparently enough got by to carry on the breed. We called them grass birds. They didn't bother anything that I know of and they must have lived on grasshoppers, bugs and worms.

Sometimes we would see a cow or horse with several black birds in the animal's shadow and some of the birds on the animal's back pecking on its back. I was told they were eating parasites such as lice. The bird people call them cow birds.

A few common pasture birds we had in early days were bob white, scissor tail, and bull bat. In earlier days I do not remember any more birds than made their home here before there were as many trees as there are now. Many birds came through the country in summer and stayed a good many days.

There were two birds I missed in the very early days that I scarcely remember seeing. One was what we called mudhens. They were around the edge of lakes and did not get very far out in the water and fed on worms, maybe tadpoles and bullfrogs. If I remember correctly, they were more squatty than a duck and would migrate when the lakes dried up.

The next was the prairie chicken. It looked a little like a domestic chicken and was grayish in color. I am not sure I ever saw one. It was only through Mama telling me about them. I relied on her greatly to tell me about things I was not sure I saw myself.

As the country settled, more things of various nature left here and other things often took their place. One instance is the growing pheasant population in recent years. I think we have had wild geese for many years going north in summer and back south in the fall. In fact, I saw a V-shaped block of them going south and squawking loudly just recently.

The antelopes were gone before my time. I think the wildlife people are bringing them back in the breaks. They say deer and antelope used to roam these plains even after settlement started.

When I was young we liked to play with toad frogs and to watch them hop and bump their bottoms against the ground. We chased the horned toad till we caught him, then he would play dead by laying flattened out until we tired of watching him and then he would run off. They were really lizzards with horn-like topknots.

I still like to play with them. I saw three or four grown ones in my backyard this past summer. I caught a baby one just about the size of an average sized roach. The little fellow sulked like his papa until I turned him loose and then he ran under the back step.

Another thing we boys played with in the pasture was the little grass or mouse snake. We would catch them and watch them wiggle trying to get away. They would run their tongues out like they were vicious and like they were going to eat us up. They were not poisonous, and I don't remember one over 16 or 18 inches long.

While I think of it, allow me one more bird in the early days. This was the curlew, a fairly long legged bird with a hooked bill and which liked to feed around water similar to the kill-dee.

More than 30 years ago, about 1 1/2 miles from the present town of Dougherty there was a store and school house on the road going east to Matador and Roaring Springs. This was north of Dougherty. We used to stop at the store when going to my sister's home south of Roaring Springs. We were in a wagon and wanted to buy a snack of sardines, cheese and crackers to tide us over on that 40 mile journey. We usually went down there in summer when school was out.

I have gone a long way just to get to tell the name of the school: "Curlew."

We used to have puddle-like holes, maybe on the average of eight feet across and up to one foot deep. Various weeds grew up in them and on the edge.

Jackrabbits and cottontails would hide in these weeds from enemies. If anyone happened to scare up a jackrabbit in those places he would take off as fast as he could go. If a person happened to see a jackrabbit run it would appear that its back legs were trying to pass its front legs. A jackrabbit could make a greyhound really put out to catch it.

The cottontail was small and could run fast and find a place real fast to hide from its chaser. Both species were a greyish color that had a tendency to blend with the surroundings.

When we had a rain to make it too wet or work in the field, we would get some tin buckets and go to the pasture to drown out ground squirrels. Pastures were full of ground squirrel dens. They were smaller than the tree variety and were brownish-grey with streaks down their backs.

These holes would be full of water from a good sized rain. We would take a bucket full of water out of one of these holes and keep pouring water into a den until a squirrel tried to stick its head out and get away. If you could catch it behind its head before it had time to get its breath, you could put him in a two sack and keep him until you got tired of the squirrel.

If we were slow the squirrels would get their breath and almost take a bunk out of our hands. They sure could bite! Lots of times we would just let them go for fun.

By the way, these little mud holes were called buffalo wallows by most people. I don't know if they were or not.

I suppose today most people in Floyd and surrounding counties have visited the prairie dog town in Lubbock. Most of us oldtimers have seen them in early days in the wild.

Prairie dogs were about the size of a cottontail rabbit. They would stand on their hind legs in the mouth of their den or nearby. If a person or another animal came near they would make a keen sound that sounded like a small dog barking. If you came too close the dog would dive into its den. The dirt was piled maybe four or five inches around the mouth of the den and packed hard to keep water out.

I understand that the dens were about three feet deep and branched out in several tunnels from the main entrance. Rattlesnakes and dog owls lived with them. I never saw a snake around but I have seen several dog owls sitting on the edge of dens and if a person passed by it would twist its head almost completely off watching the person pass.

There was a prairie dog town maybe a mile and a half east of Mr. Massey's ranch house. William or Bill Baker lived with his mother's family for a few months in the ranch house one summer.

I became interested in Bill, and when it was too wet to work in the fields we would play in the pastures. I think this was in the summer of 1929. We would try to catch cottontail rabbits and birds and then we would go to the prairie dog town and carry water from the lake nearby and drown them out. We sure had a big time.

Bill's younger brother, Carthel, was usually with us. Estell, his youngest brother, was too small to run with the bigger boys. I think Bill took some of the dogs home and tried to make pets out of them. I always went home afoot before dark.

Bill and his family moved to Floydada in the fall so the children could go to school there. They had moved here from Prairie Grove, Ark., where Bill had operated the projectors in a picture show. He soon got a job from Jack and Evelyn Deakins, where he worked for several years operating their picture show.

Bill then got a job in the Post Office until he retired a few years ago. My guess is that he has never forgotten coming from the rough country of Arkansas to these smooth old baldies.

His brother, Estell, finished his schooling and became the superintendent of Floydada public schools until he died a few years ago. I used to talk to him lots when I took my walk down by his home. I found you can take the boy out of the country but you can't take the country out of the boy. William and Estell Baker and their families have contributed much to Floyd County in all these years.

There are many of God's creatures I remember but won't have time to mention. Most all I have told about are still here, but not nearly as many as there were in the early days. I have seen coyotes and wolves go trotting across the pasture trying to dodge mankind and their natural enemies. I used to know of a badger den in the edge of our field. I never saw the badger, just its tracks go in and out.

We used to have snakes. The ones I saw were about 18 inches long and close to the color of a rattlesnake. It had a blunt nose and some people called it a hogsnake. When we got too close, it would puff out its jaws twice as big as normal. We kids called them "spread-madder." Really, they were spreading adders. We were told they were poisonous but I never heard of any person being bitten by one.

One more snake I remember was the bullsnake, which might have reminded one of the rattlesnake but not diamond back as we have and had then and now, mostly in the canyons and breaks. The rattlesnake seems to prefer living up in rocky terrains, while the bullsnake preferred the prairie and denned up with some other animals. He let the other animals do the work of digging the den or he would crawl under anything that gave him protection from the elements.

The bullsnake fed on rats, mice and anything it would swallow whole. People say it would swallow anything whole, roll itself around something — preferably round — and squeeze its prey until it was soft enough to digest. Bullsnakes used to get in the chicken house and swallow small chickens and eggs.

The last thing is the slick, slimy thing called the waterdog or salamander that like to be in water or dark places. When it rained they came in our old half dugout before it was sealed. That was where I was born. When I was old enough to remember things, I saw Mama take the stove shovel and throw the waterdogs outside.

Eva Newsom feted on 100th birthday

On Nov. 20, 1987, Mrs. Eva Newsom, a former resident of Floydada from the year 1911 until July 1986, was honored on her 100th birthday.

Guests gathered at 10 a.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.T. Morrison of Bulverde, Texas. Coffee, tea and soft drinks were served until 2 p.m. Much visiting was carried on; old friends, new acquaintances and relatives renewed old and new relations.

At 1:30 p.m. a huge birthday card was presented and read by her great-granddaughter, LaNeesa Byrd. This was followed by the songs, "The Young At Heart" and "The Old Rugged Cross" sung by granddaughter Jan Kybacak.

A little red wagon of gifts were brought in and given to Mrs. Newsom. Since the weather was balmy and warm, all gathered outside on the patio, where picnic tables were set up for the fajita dinner, prepared by Jarat and Kaye Monahan. Invocation was given by John Knox.

Following the dinner all assembled in

Harmony Homemakers Club has day out

By Maye Williams

The Harmony Homemakers Extension Club traveled to Plainview Monday, Nov. 23, for a day out for their regular meeting. The group chose to eat at the Golden Corral and after the meal, Doris Drysdale of Floydada gave a most interesting book review for us.

Doris chose "The Women" from the series "Old West" to review, which related conditions and experiences of some of the families on their trek west during the early 1800's dating from 1837 to the Gold Rush Days. We decided maybe our role as mother and homemaker was not so bad in comparson to some of those of the earlier pioneers. We were made aware of the trials and sacrifices of these early pioneers and the benefits we have received because of their experiences and stamina.

An anniversary cake was also served the group celebrating the fiftieth anniversaries of two of our members,

Juanita Pool and Anna Maude Hopper. Following the meal and book review, the group enjoyed some shopping at a specialty shop.

Those enjoying the day were: Lucille Miller, Vivian Curtis, Blanche Williams, Ruth Scott, Juanita Pool, Maye Williams, Anna Maude Hopper and guest Doris Drysdale.

Genealogy program given by Sherman

Buffalo Grass Chapter NSDAR met Nov. 24 at Lighthouse Electric in Floydada. Mrs. Eugenia Bethard, Regent, led the group in the opening.

After the business session, Mrs. June Sherman gave the program on Genealogy entitled, "United in Search." She had several different forms for recording family history and also several record books she had compiled to contain records of different families. After her presentation there was a group discussion on keeping and recording family histories while the members were looking at different records June has on her family's history.

The hostesses Mmes. Gene Reed and Loretta Denning served refreshments to: Eugenia Bethard, Susan Dunavant, Ona Ruth Neff, Grace Zabielski, June Sherman, Mary Lou Bollman, Janis Julian, Ozena Norris, Sherry Colston and Nancy Marble.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Dec. 15 at Lighthouse Electric. Gladys Jones and Janis Julian will have the program on "Religious Heritage."

Harmony Homemakers Club has day out

By Maye Williams

The Harmony Homemakers Extension Club traveled to Plainview Monday, Nov. 23, for a day out for their regular meeting. The group chose to eat at the Golden Corral and after the meal, Doris Drysdale of Floydada gave a most interesting book review for us.

Doris chose "The Women" from the series "Old West" to review, which related conditions and experiences of some of the families on their trek west during the early 1800's dating from 1837 to the Gold Rush Days. We decided maybe our role as mother and homemaker was not so bad in comparson to some of those of the earlier pioneers. We were made aware of the trials and sacrifices of these early pioneers and the benefits we have received because of their experiences and stamina.

An anniversary cake was also served the group celebrating the fiftieth anniversaries of two of our members,

Juanita Pool and Anna Maude Hopper. Following the meal and book review, the group enjoyed some shopping at a specialty shop.

Those enjoying the day were: Lucille Miller, Vivian Curtis, Blanche Williams, Ruth Scott, Juanita Pool, Maye Williams, Anna Maude Hopper and guest Doris Drysdale.

Genealogy program given by Sherman

Buffalo Grass Chapter NSDAR met Nov. 24 at Lighthouse Electric in Floydada. Mrs. Eugenia Bethard, Regent, led the group in the opening.

After the business session, Mrs. June Sherman gave the program on Genealogy entitled, "United in Search." She had several different forms for recording family history and also several record books she had compiled to contain records of different families. After her presentation there was a group discussion on keeping and recording family histories while the members were looking at different records June has on her family's history.

The hostesses Mmes. Gene Reed and Loretta Denning served refreshments to: Eugenia Bethard, Susan Dunavant, Ona Ruth Neff, Grace Zabielski, June Sherman, Mary Lou Bollman, Janis Julian, Ozena Norris, Sherry Colston and Nancy Marble.

The next meeting will be at 7 p.m. Dec. 15 at Lighthouse Electric. Gladys Jones and Janis Julian will have the program on "Religious Heritage."

Look Who's New

Farmers may receive back tax payments

A new ruling by the Internal Revenue Service may allow grain farmers to refile their 1986 taxes and receive a refund if they used the PIK (payment-in-kind) and Roll procedure in 1985.

According to Dr. Wayne Hayenga, this ruling nullifies a previous interpretation of Revenue Ruling 87-17 that farmers, who used PIK certificates to redeem grain in storage, had to report it as a taxable event.

"The new rule says if a farmer uses the PIK and Roll procedure, he does not necessarily have to treat it as a taxable event," says Hayenga, an agricultural economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

If a farmer pays his loan to the Commodity Credit Corporation with PIK certificates, he may choose to include the face amount of the loan as income for that year, Hayenga says.

When the CCC loan is repaid, there is no gain or loss unless the commodity was sold for a value greater than the amount of the certificates.

If the loan is not included as income and the farmer uses the commodity certificate to repay the loan, he will file the income in the year the loan is repaid, Hayenga says.

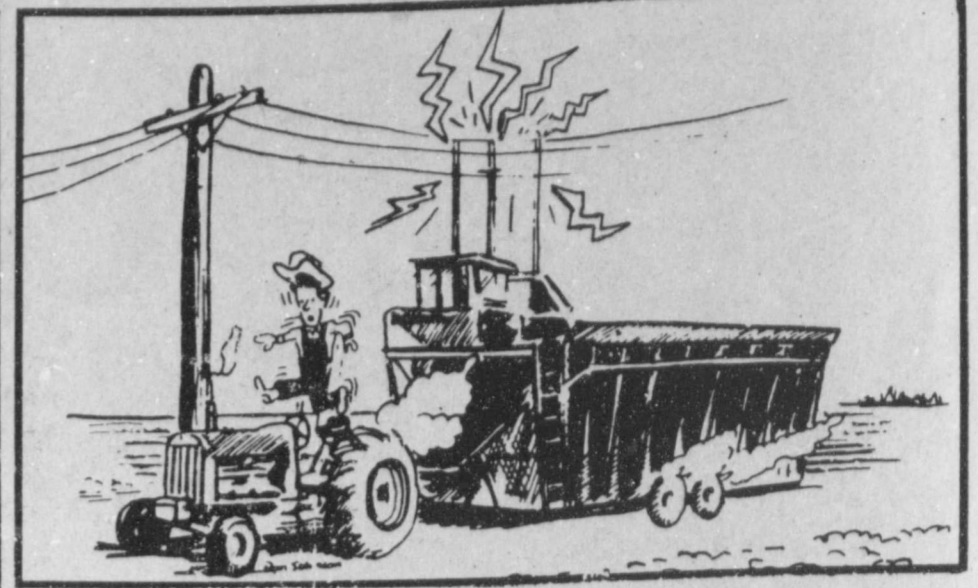

"The amount of income the farmer includes that year is the amount the face of the loan exceeds the amount of the certificates," Hayenga says. "When the commodity is sold, the farmer recognizes the gain for the full amount received on the sale."

Farmers who used the older ruling when they filed their 1986 taxes probably will want to file an amendment to their return using the new ruling, Hayenga says.

"They may be able to receive a refund of their 1986 taxes," he says.

Machinery that can be mechanically elevated must be used carefully to avoid danger.

USDA announces new beef grade

In response to consumer demands, the United States Department of Agriculture has changed the name of the USDA quality "Good" grade of beef to "Select." The new grade name became effective Nov. 23.

"Select conveys a more positive image for this grade of beef," says Dr. Dan Hale, a meats specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The quality characteristics of the Select grade will be the same as those for the present USDA Good grade," Hale says.

The USDA believes this name change will help consumers identify leaner cuts of beef that will be more consistent of taste.

The USDA expects the new grade name to add marketing opportunities and build a demand among the public.

In 1985, the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station, two agencies of The Texas A&M University System, conducted a study in Philadelphia and San Francisco which in part examined the use of the name Select at the retail counter.

In that study consumers had the opportunity to choose between USDA Choice and USDA Good—which was renamed "Select" for the study. Consumers in both cities reported Choice tasted better than Select, but Select was leaner than Choice. Both grades were rated equally high in the "definitely will rebuy" category, Hale says.

"Consumers should be aware that many retail grocers do not use the name USDA Good in their packaging," Hale says, "because of the perceived lack of consumer appeal for that name."

These grocers may use "house-grade names," such as Texas Lean or Lone Star Lean, Hale says. These brands often include USDA Standard, USDA Commercial, or USDA Yield Grades 4 and 5 in the "house-grades," Hale adds.

"If retailers adopt the Select grade of beefcuts and include it exclusively in their house-grade, it will provide a much more consistent beef steak or roast, both in taste and in calories," Hale says.

Extend cotton research-promotion to imports, NCC chairman advocates

Extending cotton research and promotion assessments to the cotton content of imports will save the government money and have little effect on consumer prices, National Cotton Council board chairman Lloyd Cline told the House Ways and Means Committee.

The Lamesa producer was testifying in support of H.R. 1622 which would amend the Cotton Research and Promotion Act of 1966 to apply the same assessment now paid by U.S. cotton farmers (about $2.53 per bale) to raw cotton imports and the cotton content of textile and apparel imports.

The amendment, backed by 53 cotton producer organizations and favorably reported by the House Agriculture Committee, also would eliminate any refunds of the assessment.

Cline urged committee approval of the amendment, saying it would strengthen and improve the fairness of U.S. cotton producers' highly successful 21-year old self-help program. He credited the program as being the key factor in U.S. consumers' record use of cotton in 1987, but noted that most of the benefit from the increased use "has not gone to the people who paid for it but to foreign mills and importers who capitalized on it."

The Council leader pointed out that cotton product imports increased their share of net domestic consumption to 41 percent during this year's first half. He said the amendment would require importers who have benefitted from the research and promotion program to pay a fair share of program costs.

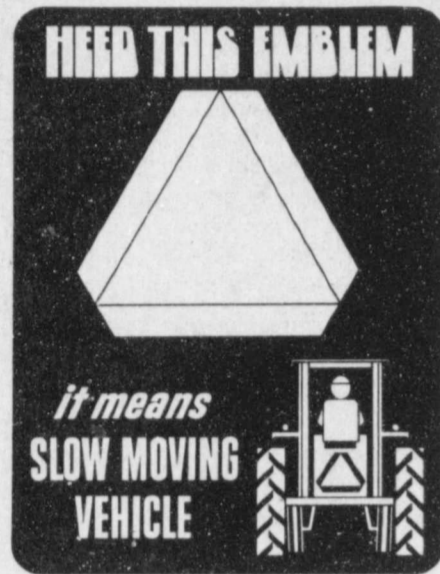

Cline also said enactment of the amendment would allow cotton research and promotion expenditures to be doubled, resulting in an increase in demand that would almost certainly mean improved prices for cotton and lower government program costs.

As far as consumer costs are concerned, he said they would be virtually nil.

"The cost assessment on a large item like a 100% cotton bed sheet, for example, would be about one-third of a cent," Cline testified. "Surely figures this small could not be considered barriers to trade."

The Council official added that the overall market growth which can be expected from the greatly expanded promotion program should "make the pie larger for everyone, importers and domestic producers alike."

Farm News

Have a good week!

Tillage system: cost-conscious match of site-specific methods

The advent of chemical weed control in the 1950s and the growth of conservation tillage in the 1960s and '70s has fueled a continuing debate about which tillage system is best — conventional, minimum or no-till.

Farmers and researchers have since learned that no one tillage system can hold the title of "best" under all conditions. Soil type, weather, topography, crops and individual farming goals influence tillage performance. Because of this, tillage choices always have to be site-specific.

"If there is one common thread to follow in choosing a tillage system, it's economics," says Dr. Richard Johnson, senior scientist at the Deere & Company technical center in Moline, Illinois. "Short-term cashflow has to be balanced against long-term soil maintenance."

"A good tillage system should produce profitable crops while also controlling water and wind erosion. It must also be able to incorporate fertilizers, herbicides and pesticides without endangering soil or groundwater supplies."

"Tillage choices can be complex, so the best way to start is by defining the overall goal," says Johnson. "The fundamental objective is to control pests while conditioning the soil for planting. Tillage tools and crop chemicals are simply the means to an end. They can be used in any combination. It's important to pick tillage tools with the most flexibility to meet changing conditions. What works one year might be all wrong the next."

Johnson stresses that only a broad range of knowledge and keen observation of advancing tillage technology will help the successful farm manager make the right choices.

"Keep crop yield records and calculate net profits, then relate them to tillage techniques used and the actual costs of production. Jot down field notes on any soil erosion problems or weed infestations you see developing on your farm."

"If you change or reduce tillage, make certain that additional chemical costs for pest control don't cut into your net profits."

"Follow local university literature on new tillage methods, but don't assume that every hot new tillage tip necessarily has a place on your farm."

"If you see a new technique that seems promising, try it on a limited scale. See how it works for you before totally committing to it. Don't commit just because a neighbor or some article says it's the thing to do," Johnson cautions. "Don't be afraid to try something new.

"But leave the 'great tillage debate' in the coffee shop. Anyone who rigidly believes that one particular tillage system beats all others is headed for trouble."

"No-till, for example, can lead to insect and weed problems. Excessive conventional tillage can contribute to soil erosion. Minimum tillage can sometimes lead to reduced crop yields. Yet each of these systems can also offer great advantages in particular situations," Johnson says.

Glenn Olson, manager of tillage and planting equipment planning for Deere & Company, agrees: "As new tillage systems evolve, follow them closely and determine any possible advantages over what you are now doing. Tillage tools are continually improving, and what was impossible last year may well be developed into a successful technique two or three years from now. Keep up with what's going on — it's a dynamic industry."

"One technique that looks promising is rotating tillage practices, such as we rotate crops. Mix different tillage practices together. Switch to disking or field cultivating and leave a lot of surface residue to help control erosion, but then every few years, switch back to deeper tillage with the mold-board plow or chisel plow to incorporate nutrients and control shallow germinating weeds."

"Maybe use a moldboard plow following corn, then the next year, try no-till following soybeans. In wheat country, alternate deep tillage in the fall with deep tillage in the spring. Don't be afraid to mix your techniques. Use whatever farming tools you have to best advantage for the season and the conditions."

"Tillage choices are complex and the selection of techniques has to change as nature changes, or as economics change," Olson says. "Change is the one constant. Whether we're agricultural engineers or farmers, we all have to continue to adapt. That's what makes farming challenging and rewarding."

Imports siphoning away markets

American consumers are buying more cotton textile products than they have for the past 20 years, but imports are siphoning away two-thirds of the increased consumption and taking dollars out of U.S. farmers' pockets, a National Cotton Council official says.

Testifying before the House Ways and Means Committee in support of the textile and apparel trade bill, Council Board Chairman Lloyd Cline of Lamesa noted that China has become the single largest source of textile imports into this country.

"In the last year alone, China's textile exports to the U.S. have shot up 65 percent," he said, "and we can only guess how much more China sent us through other countries."

Cline pointed out to the committee that 80 percent of the cotton in U.S. textile imports is not U.S.-grown but foreign-grown.

"It is ironic that most of the benefits of the market growth created and paid for by U.S. cotton farmers has not accrued to them, but to their competitors — the foreign producers of cotton."

Keeping Christmas

As we find ourselves in the Christmas season, let us think on these words of Henry VanDyke.

"There is a better thing than the observance of Christmas Day, and that is, keeping Christmas. Are you willing to forget what you have done for other people and to remember what other people have done for you; to ignore what the world owes you, and to think what you owe the world; to put your rights in the background, and your duties in the foreground; are you willing to close your book of complaints against the management of the universe, and look around you for a place where you can sow a few seeds of kindness - are you willing to do these things even for a day? Then you can keep Christmas.

"Are you willing to stoop down and consider the needs and desires of little children; to remember the weakness and loneliness of people who are growing old; to stop asking how much your friends love you and ask yourself whether you love them enough; to trim your lamp so that it will give more light and less smoke, and to carry it in front so that your shadow will fall behind you; to make a grave for your unkind thoughts, and a garden for your kindly feelings, with the gate open...are you willing to do these things for even a day; then you can keep Christmas."

This is such a great time of the year, and there seems to be such a wonderful spirit at Christmas. But some people get so upset with shopping and with the large crowds that it just about ruins all the Christmas spirit for them. Let's not let that happen to us but enjoy every bit of it as we remember that it was a little Jewish boy who was born in Bethlehem many years ago, whose birth we celebrate, that causes this excitement each year. A lot depends on our own mood as we join the crowds. As someone has said, "We can look upon our shopping as drudgery that needs doing or an opportunity that awaits to please."

As we draw closer to Christmas, let us remember that it is God's love reaching out to us through Jesus the Christ.

A rapidly improving Whirlwinds girls squad jumped off to a 22-7 first quarter lead over visiting Hart and never looked

WEEK'S SCHEDULE
Thursday-Saturday: Whirlwind boys and girls in Lorenzo tournament
Friday-Saturday: Floydada [eighth grade] tournament
Monday: Ninth, eighth and seventh grade teams vs. Friona; boys here, girls there
Tuesday: Varsity and junior varsity teams at Slaton

Whirlwinds earn third win at Post

Owning the lead from early in the contest, Whirlwind boys cruised to an 84-47 Tuesday night win over Post's Antelopes. This was the second road game for the Winds, who now own a 3-1 record.

Randy Enriquez was the leading rebounder.

Ty Stovall paced scoring with 21 points. Also scoring in double digits were Chad Pernel 17, Enriquez 12 and Johnny Taylor 12. Chad Quisenberry added to the onslaught with 6 points, Roel Cisneros put in 4 and Jason Brown had 2.

POST GIRLS WIN

A cold shooting night — 17 percent from the floor and 51 percent from the line — hurt the Whirlwind girls' cause Tuesday night as they dropped a 46-38 decision of Post. This was a road game.

The Green and White held a 10-6 advantage after eight minutes and was in front 18-17 at intermission. The turning point came in the third quarter as Post outscored the locals 13-4. Each crew netted 16 fourth quarter points to leave the final score 46-38.

Trish Hanna netted 14 points to pace the Whirlwinds. Others contributing points were Amanda McDaniel 9, Jamie Morrison 5, Pam Woody and Angie Glasscock, 4 each, and Lori Christian 2. The locals own a 1-3 season record.

JV BOYS VICTORIOUS

Coach Lee Hurt's JV boys led after each quarter — 15-12, 30-27 and 55-41 — enroute to a 66-57 Tuesday win in Post.

The squad's record is 1-1. Kenneth Collins was high point with 21 points, Rolando Cisneros put in 16, Joe Cisneros added 13, Frank Suarez contributed 10, Michael Goen scored 4 and Steve Caballero put in 2.

back in a 71-38 victory, their first of the campaign. Ten players rang the scoring bell for the Green and White of coaches Gail Gregg and Regina Smith in the Tuesday, Nov. 24, contest.

With good movement and improvement in such fundamentals as blocking out, the Whirlwinds moved into a 31-18 intermission edge. They led by an even 20 points — 47 to 27 — entering the final eight minutes.

Amanda McDaniel (18), Angie Glasscock (12), Pam Woody (10) and Trish Hanna (10) all gunned in double figures. Angie Bertrand canned 8, Sylvia McComas added 6, Jamie Morrison, Lori Christian and Shelby Ogden each had 2 and Angie Hinsley had a free throw.

Good movement and ball handling by Floydada helped keep the Lady Horns off balance. Hart had several tall players.

The shorter Floydada quintet pulled down 40 rebounds to 25 for Hart, but the Whirlwinds were whistled for 37 fouls to only 20 for their opponents. Both squads had a high number of turnovers, according to Coach Gregg: 27 for the Green and White and 40 for the Lady Horns.

The Whirlwind girls came close Nov. 20 at Idalou, their first road trip, but they were seven points behind at the final buzzer. Idalou owned quarter leads of 12-8, 24-19 and 37-27 enroute to the 48-41 decision.

McDaniel paced the locals in scoring with 16. Ogden had 5, Morrison and Woody each had 4, Christian and Glasscock scored 3 each and Bertrand, Hanna and McComas each put in 2.

WIND BOYS STOP HART

Whirlwind varsity boys ran their record to 2-1 last Tuesday by stopping a scrappy Hart crew, 66-47. Coach Mike Cocanougher substituted freely as all 10 men saw playing time.

Floydada jumped in front 19-9 after eight minutes, led 37-21 at intermission and was in front 50-31 entering the last stanza.

Heath Robertson netted 17 points, Roel Cisneros hit 14, Chad Pernel connected for 12 and Randy Enriquez drilled the nets for 10. Dana Cooper contributed 6 points, Chad Quisenberry put in 4, Ty Stovall had 2 and Johnny Taylor hit 1 from the line.

Whirlwind boys suffered their initial setback of the campaign on Friday, Nov. 20, in Idalou. The tall and athletic Idalou crew claimed a 54-38 victory. The Wildcats went up 7-5 at the end of a low scoring first quarter, led 32-21 at intermission and were in front 44-29 after three quarters.

Pernel, who sank 11, was the only Whirlwind in double digits. Also putting in points were: Enriquez and Cisneros, 8 each; Quisenberry, 3; Ty Stovall, Taylor and Cooper, 2 each. Jason Brown and Grant Stovall also saw action.

JV GIRLS ROMP

After trailing 8-7 at the conclusion of the first quarter, the Whirlwind JV girls took command in the second stanza and downed visiting Hart by 47-20. Floydada's sophomore crew forged into a 22-15 edge at intermission of the Nov. 24 game and was in front of 30-15 after three periods.

Shayla Barbee, 14, and Kim Perry, 12, hit in double figures. Libby Anderson contributed 8, Amy McCormick put in 7, Heather Henderson scored 4 and Stacy Hadderton had 2.

Floydada basketballers in Lorenzo tournament

Whirlwind boys and girls squads are primed for their first tournament action of the youthful season. They will participate this week-end in the Lorenzo Hornet Invitational Tournament.

Floydada's girls tipoff against Ralls in a 7 p.m. Thursday (today) game, with boys from the same two schools taking the court at 8:30. Both games are to be played in the Ralls gymnasium. Each year, some of the preliminary contests in the Lorenzo tourney are played in Ralls.

If the Whirlwind girls win Thursday night, they would meet Lorenzo at 4 p.m. Friday in Lorenzo. A first-round loss would leave the Green and White with a 7 p.m. Friday contest in Ralls.

Should the Whirlwind boys emerge victorious from their first-round game, they would meet the Crosbyton-Idalou winner at 5:30 p.m. Friday in Lorenzo. A Thursday setback would leave them playing the Crosbyton-Idalou loser at 8:30 p.m. Friday in Ralls.

Finals are scheduled Saturday in Lorenzo. In the fem division, the consolation tilt will be at 1 p.m., the third place game at 4 o'clock and the championship match at 7 p.m. Schedule for the boys division is consolation game at 2:30, third place match at 5:30 and the title contest at 8:30.

Spirit of National Honor Society

By Marti Stepp

The lights are dimmed. On the stage is one lighted candle representing the eternal light of knowledge, flanked by four unlit tapers representing the principles of scholarship, leadership, character and service.

Pam Lockwood, president of the A.E. Baker chapter of the National Honor Society at Floydada High School, explains the significance of the candle symbolizing knowledge. "Membership in this organization is based upon four qualities, character, scholarship, leadership and service," then turns the podium over to fellow members of the society.

Ludustria Leatherman steps out, lights the candle signifying scholarship, then begins, "Scholarship is a commitment to learning. A student is willing to spend hours of reading and studying because he knows about the lasting benefits of a cultivated mind. We should continue to learn even when formal education has ended, for education ends only with life. Knowledge is one great element in life which leads to highest success and it can be acquired in only one way, through diligence and effort. Learning furnishes the lamp by which we read the past and the light which illuminates the future. Each candidate has the charge to continually expand his world through the opportunities inherent scholarship."

Next comes Ty Stovall to light a candle and describe service. "My office is service. Service can be expressed in various ways. In the routine of the days work many opportunities arise to help others. Willingness to work without monetary compensation or without recognition for the benefit of those in need, is the quality we seek in our membership. We are committed to the idea of volunteering our time to the creation of a better tomorrow."

The candle of leadership is the next to be lighted and discussed by Joey Thayer. "Leadership should exert a wholesome influence on the school. In taking the initiative in class and school activities, the real leader strives to train and aid others to attain the same objective. The price of leadership is sacrifice, the willingness to yield one's personal interests for the interests of others. A leader has confidence in himself and will go forward when others hesitate. No matter what power and resources may exist in a country, they are ineffectual without the guidance of a wise leader. Leadership is always needed and is thus a valuable charge to each of our members and the candidates."

Jason Brown is next in line to light a candle and describe character. "Character is the force in one man that distinguishes him from others. It gives him individuality and personality. It is that without which no man can respect himself nor hope to attain the respect of others. It is this force of character that guides men through life and, when once developed, grows steadily. Character is achieved, not received. It is the product of constant action, daily striving to make the right choice. The problem of character is the problem of self control. We must be in reality what we wish to appear to others. By demonstrating such qualities as reliability, honesty and sincerity, we may hope to prove by example that we value character."

NEW MEMBERS

The 1987-88 NHS inductees were chosen on the basis of these four characteristics. The students best exemplifying these qualities were announced Wednesday, November 25, at the formal induction ceremony described above. New members include:

Amy Burns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ricky Burns, has been a member of student council for four years and has participated in basketball and track. She has been on the golf team for three years. As a freshman, she was track manager and as a sophomore, she was a junior varsity cheerleader for the mighty Winds. She was also secretary of her junior class. She is very involved in her church choir and youth group.

Jane Willson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mac Willson, has been very active in track and band for four years. She attended regionals in track two years and has acquired various UIL twirling awards. Dina Livingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Livingston, has been a member of the band for three years as well as being a flag corp member during that time. As a freshman and sophomore, she was a member and representative of Future Homemakers of America. She is currently the junior class concession stand manager and is the vice president of the First Baptist youth choir.

Nohemi De Ochoa, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rafael De Ochoa, has participated in basketball and track for two years and been a band member for three years. She qualified for the regional track meet last year and received departmental recognition for the past two years. She is a volunteer worker at the Floyd County Public Library.

Michael Hicks, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Hicks, has participated in tennis for two years and in Future Farmers of America for one year. He was a member of the parliamentary procedure team. He is a very active member of the United Methodist Church Youth. He was one of five hundred Texas students who attended a science symposium last summer and is a member of DECA, currently serving as president.

Jamie Morrison, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Don Morrison, has played basketball for four years and has participated in volleyball and track. As a freshman, she was a cheerleader and a member of student council. Her sophomore year, she was drum major for the Nimitz Admirals band in Odessa. She was also a member of the French club. As a senior, she is a varsity cheerleader and a member of the girls varsity basketball team.

Tim Julian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kendis Julian, has played football and participated in track for three years. He was junior varsity football manager and team captain and has been a student council member for three years. He is a member of Future Farmers of America and serves as junior class reporter.

Sharon Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Smith, is very active in 4-H and FFA. Her freshman year, she was recreational leader of 4-H and a delegate to the 4-H district council. As a sophomore, she became secretary locally and reporter for the district council. She is currently secretary of the local chapter and vice president of the district council. She is currently secretary of the local chapter and vice president of the district council. She is secretary of the First Baptist Church youth choir and president of Acteen. She served on the council of the Plains Baptist Assembly for the past two years and is a nursing home volunteer. She is the 1987-88 Rotary Sweetheart.

Rusty Edwards, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Edwards, was poster chairman of his freshman class and has been on the golf team for three years. He has also been manager of the football team for three years. He is a member of the First Baptist Youth and worked at the Baptist Encampment during the summer of 1986. He has supported the Whirlwinds for four years by providing weekly sports cartoons for the Floyd County Hesperian.

Melissa Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Wood, has been a member of the Speech and Drama Club for four years, currently serving as vice president. She has participated in two school plays and was a member of the Whirlwind Band for two years. She was a junior varsity cheerleader as a sophomore and currently serves as a student council representative and as a member of the senior t-shirt committee. She also operates the video camera for the varsity basketball team. She is secretary of the First Baptist Church youth choir and president of Acteen. She served on the council of the Plains Baptist Assembly for the past two years and is a nursing home volunteer. She is the 1987-88 Rotary Sweetheart.

Randy Enriquez, son of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Enriquez, has played football and basketball for four years. He was also on the track team as a freshman. He has been team captain of his junior and senior basketball teams and received departmental recognition several times. He is active in DECA and serves as club reporter. He is active in his church and youth group and has been elected representative several times.

Tiffany Gentry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Travis Gentry, has been in track and cross country for three years and was in basketball as a freshman and sophomore. She was in band as a freshman and served as freshman class reporter. She has been a student council representative for three years and is active in UIL events, competing as a sophomore in spelling and typewriting. She is a member of 4-H and is reporting locally as well as serving as secretary of the district council. She is the reigning Miss Floydada. Miss Gentry has four sisters who preceded her as NHS members. As a tribute to this special family, the NHS sponsor (Robert Lockwood) and Tiffany's mother, arranged for her sisters to attend the ceremony and add their own special touch to her induction.

Guthrie, Amy Harris, Kall Hicks, Billy Villareal, Noella Ysarraga and Nathan Whittle. These students qualified for the principal's list for the second six weeks. To achieve this honor, students must have a six week average of 90 or above in all courses taken. —Staff photo

PORTABLE ELECTRIC HEATERS

You won't find a better bargain than this. This attractive 25-inch Heatlog™ by Toastmaster® is the safe, convenient way to warm up cold spots. Weighing only four pounds, it fits into out-of-the-way places and plugs into any 110-volt outlet. This durable heater has a simulated pecan woodgrain case and grill.

Unlike kerosene heaters, this electric heater eliminates the danger of flammable liquids, odors and fumes. It meets the high safety standards set by Underwriters Laboratories (UL). And, should the heater be accidentally knocked over, it will automatically turn itself off.
