'Good news' for Floyd jail

"The jail complies with requirements outlined in Article 5115.1 VACS and Minimum Jail Standards."

This welcome comment was the conclusion of Texas Jail Standards Commission inspector Joe Slater following the January 25 inspection of the local jail facility. Previous reports had found the jail in violation of the requirements, but this report found past violations corrected.

According to County Judge Bill Hardin, "We were just barely under on the number of inmates allowed." Hardin stated that the jail presently has a capacity of nine, but state laws allow only seven prisoners at a time. "We were at an average of 6½ for the 1987 year."

JAIL RENOVATION

The planned renovation of the county jail to raise the inmate capacity level has also been getting the go-ahead from the TJSC. A letter received by Sheriff Fred Cardinal on January 20 granted two variances requested.

The variances were asked to deal with problems encountered concerning the number of exits and standing pipe and hoses in the new plans. "Approval of the requests means that the plans can be submitted to the commission for final approval before bid letting begins on the project," said Judge Hardin.

"Our commissioners court is on the ball and moving ahead to keep the jail in service," said Judge Hardin. "We are very encouraged to have both the variances and a good report on the jail at this time."

Hinsley steer grand champion at Odessa

Stacy Hinsley's 1,115 pound steer went to the head of the class as grand champion in the Sandhills Hereford and Quarter Horse Show in Odessa.

After winning first in the third of four weight classes, the Floydada steer returned to the ring to show for grand champion. The judge slapped the Hereford steer on the hip, designating it as the elite animal.

Approximately 85 steers were paraded before the judge prior to his selection of the Hinsley animal as grand champion.

Both judging and the sale were held Saturday, Jan. 9.

Miss Hinsley is the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kim Hinsley.

CRP bids accepted for either '88 or '89

Property owners will be given an opportunity during the Feb. 1-19 period to submit bids on land for the CRP (Conservation Reserve Program) in either 1988 or 1989.

Jon LaBaume of the Floyd County SCS office says that owners who bid land to enter the program in 1989 can harvest the current wheat crop from it or plant cotton, corn or milo during the '88 year.

"No more production" will be allowed on land which is accepted into the CRP program for 1988.

The CRP program places land into retirement for a 10-year period.

Voter registration period nearing end

Individuals wishing to cast ballots in either the Democratic or Republican primary have slightly more than one week to register.

Feb. 8 is the deadline. Mail forms bearing a Feb. 8 postmark will be honored, and persons may register until 5 p.m. that day in the tax assessor-collector's office.

Voters must be registered 30 days prior to casting ballots. This means that persons voting absentee must be registered earlier than Feb. 8.

Downtown building undergoing facelift

The old "Perry's building" is getting a much needed facelift and renovation. Purchased by Jerry Thompson, at the first of 1988, the renovation will bring a fresh new look to downtown California Street.

The inside of the building is being divided into two parts. The west side is being remodeled into offices that will be leased to FHA. A local contractor, Walter Davis, is handling the remodeling.

"One of the reasons I purchased the building was to keep the FHA downtown. They needed the space real bad and I feel like we need to do everything we can to keep businesses downtown," said Thompson.

Rumors circulating around town about the future of the east side of the building can be put to rest for a little while. "We have no plans, at this time, for the other side," said Thompson.

"We have invested money into the renovation so we have no immediate plans for a personal business now. We will be looking for suitable renters in the future."

Floydada stock judging Saturday

Scott Doss, vocational agriculture teacher at Abernathy, will have the task of determining three grand champions and other winners Saturday in the seventh annual Floydada Chamber of Commerce Junior Livestock Show.

Lambs will be the first to enter the county livestock show barn ring for 'Around 100 animals' expected for local show placement, beginning at 11 a.m. The barrow show is scheduled "15 minutes after the lamb show is completed" and steer judging is to begin "15 minutes after the barrow show is completed."

Owner of grand champion animals will receive an award belt buckle, and a desk set goes to each reserve champion owner.

WINNERS REWARDED

Breed champions and reserve breed champions each will receive a rosette. Ribbons are to be handed out for first through fifth place animals in each class as well as the following premiums: first place, $5; second place, $4; third place, $3; fourth place, $2; and fifth place, $1.

Plaques will be awarded to the showmanship winner in each division. The barn is open at 4 p.m. Friday. All stock must be in place by 8 a.m. Saturday when weighing of lambs and barrows begins. Steer weigh-in starts at 10 o'clock.

Four-H members who are nine years old or are in the third grade or older and FFA and FHA members who are under the supervision of the county agent or vocational agriculture instructor and who are enrolled in Floydada schools are eligible to exhibit animals.

Each exhibitor is limited to 12 animals: four steers, four barrows and four lambs. Entry fee, which must be paid upon weigh-in, will be $5 for steers and $3 for barrows and lambs.

Officials expect "around 100 animals" for Saturday judging.

Women's Division of Floydada Chamber of Commerce is to operate a concession stand.

Cypert and Tarter returning as judges for county livestock show

Two men who selected winners in the '87 Floyd County 4-H and FFA Junior Livestock Show and one newcomer have been secured to judge the 44th annual county show Saturday and Sunday of next week.

The five-day event begins Friday, Feb. 5, and continues through the annual banquet on Tuesday night, Feb. 9. All activities will be at the facilities in southeast Floydada except for the banquet, which is held each year in the Lockney Elementary School cafeteria.

Charles Cypert, a sheep breeder from Eden, will place lambs beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 6. Beginning at 2 p.m. that day, Joe Tarter is to begin examining barrows. Both men judged at the county show last year.

Rev. Harter new First Christian minister

The Rev. Dale M. Harter will begin his ministry in Floydada's First Christian Church when he preaches on Sunday, Jan. 31.

He is coming here from Paducah, where he served as minister of First Christian Church.

"I believe the minister is the person who feels called of God to lead a congregation to fulfill its mission," the Rev. Harter says. "I love God's people, preaching, and the work of ministry."

The Rev. Harter and his wife, Mary, are parents of five grown children: Joy Harter Cobbs of Portland, Ore., Patricia Harter Hansmeier of Kent, Wa., Daniel M. Harter of Fort Worth, Kathleen Harter Stripling of Fort Worth and Silvia Harter Slaten of Big Spring.

Mrs. Harter has been active in the work of the Christian Women's Fellowship and is an organist.

The new Floydada minister studied at Northwest Christian College, Phillips University and did graduate work at TCU's Brite College.

Before becoming minister of First Christian Church in Paducah in 1985, the Rev. Harter served the following Texas and New Mexico churches: First Christian Church in Canyon, First Christian Church in Borger, First Christian Church in Alice, First Christian Church in Stephenville, Highland Christian Church in Hobbs, N.M., First Christian Church in Miami, Tex., and First Christian Church in Levelland. From 1951 through 1958, he served churches in California, Oregon and Idaho.

Among his many area denominational duties include being a member of the board of the Christian Church in New Mexico-West Texas, serving as Hi-Plains Area board member on two occasions and being a Hi-Plains Area member of the Camp and Conference Committee. He was a National Parks Service chaplain at Sequoia National Park in California and served as president of both Alice Ministerial Alliance and Levelland Ministerial Alliance.

The Rev. Harter has also been active

District 3-AAA same; Farwell goes to 3-AA

Floydada will have to be content with its University Interscholastic League (UIL) league alignment because the District 2-AAA family members remain intact for the 1988-89 and 1989-90 school years.

The district will continue to be comprised of Dimmitt, Floydada, Friona, Littlefield, Muleshoe and Tulia, according to alignments announced at 3:15 p.m. Wednesday in Austin.

UIL competition involves academics, athletics and music [band].

Only one change was announced for 3-AA, which consists of Lockney and five sister schools during the 1988-89 and 1989-90 school years.

Abernathy, Hale Center, Hart, Lockney and Olton remain in the district. The lone change involves Springlake-Earth being dropped to Class A and Farwell being moved into 3-AA.

Realignments are made every two years to allow scheduling on a home-and-home basis for football.

Letter to The Editor

Dear Editor,
Recently the Attorney General of Columbia, an outspoken critic of drug kingpins, was brutally murdered by the criminal element who make enormous amounts of money through drug trafficking. The country of Columbia is in a pitiful state in regard to its inability to exert even token resistance to these powerful criminals. Sure, the country has its own elected government, but it is so corrupted and intimidated by such powerful criminals. Of course, this situation did not happen overnight. It slowly evolved over years of lax law enforcement, and a general change in a country's entire moral agenda. Liberal politicians and courts created a fertile breeding ground for a new, more sophisticated brutal criminal.

Columbian courts routinely release drug traffickers and give other criminals easy treatment because of corruption and intimidation. Police are emasculated and find themselves powerless to control rampant violence and crime related to drugs. Americans look at these problems in central America, and shake their heads and wonder how the people of these countries ever allowed such evil influence to take over, never stopping to bother to take a serious look at the sophisticated buildup of our own new criminal class right here. Are we so far away from our neighbors to the south?

For decades, liberal courts and politicians have created that fertile breeding ground here in America to spawn that same sophisticated, brutal criminal who cares only for power, money, and himself. Focusing on criminals' rights and ignoring society's rights, they have hampered police, thrown up legal barriers in our court systems, and created a legal climate of special treatment for this new class of criminals who laugh at society, and seek to corrupt and control. Just the other day, a Dallas police officer was brutally murdered on a public street in day time as a crowd of onlookers shouted, "Kill him. Kill him." They encouraged the killer to pull the trigger and he did. He was the second Dallas police officer murdered this month.

I know how that officer felt the final moments of his life. I and other officer friends of mine have been in similar situations. I have been alone in a crowd where onlookers were shouting threats and encouragements to harm me. It is a lonely feeling to know that out of a whole group of people surrounding you, no one gives a damn about your safety or what you represent. You are alone in such situations and you can only rely on yourself and hope for help to arrive.

Such situations happen daily in this country to our police officers. Our country must become serious in the fight against crime or we will become another Columbia. It is what America wants? I don't think so.

Jan. 21:
Weldon Hammonds came home Monday after several weeks in Methodist Hospital for gall bladder surgery. His daughter, Mrs. Kay Bradford of Holloman Air Force Base, Alamogordo, New Mexico, stayed with her mother at Lubbock Inn until Sunday, when she returned home. The ladies appreciated the courtesy van that took them back and forth to the hospital over icy streets during their stay. Gay and Roger Wineinger and Cody of Amarillo also visited her father on week-ends while he was hospitalized.

Mrs. Louis Pyle went to Crowell with her sister, Mrs. Mona Moore after the two ladies had visited their brother, Weldon Hammonds in Methodist Hospital. In Crowell the ladies will be with their brother, Billy Hammonds, who will soon enter the hospital at Wichita Falls.

There was lots of visiting during the recent holidays, in spite of the two snow and ice storms.

The Bob Kendricks had a houseful of visitors including Byron and Eileen Kendricks and daughters, Christina, Laura and Nikki from Pottsboro, who also attended the Evans' reunion while here. Becky and Richard Sterling and children, Ginger, Jana and Andrea of Eldorado, Texas visited her parents during the holidays. Other guests included their daughter Kathryn and her husband, Warren McDougall, and children Dinah, Jason and Candice, all of Kerrville.

The Bob Kendricks went to Seminole last Thursday to take Christmas gifts to their daughter, Linda Mixon, and husband, Wayne. The Mixons were ginning cotton and couldn't get off for Christmas. The Kendricks were afraid to get out on icy roads, but at last the families got together.

The annual Canyon party was hosted by the Q.D. Williams family this year between snow and ice storms. Families from Floydada to Post who live and ranch in Blanco Canyon all get together sometime during the holidays each year for dining and visiting. The Bridwell ranch was working cattle and the men barely had time to "go home and blow a little," as Otis English described it before driving over for the party. The English family lives at Silver Falls ranch near Crosbyton.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Alldredge attended the 98th birthday celebration for Charlene's aunt, Mrs. Ruth Battey Sunday afternoon in Floydada.

Mr. and Mrs. William Bertrand also attended the Battey party for Fay's aunt.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Harrison had a quiet holiday at home as the icy roads kept them from the family gathering in San Angelo. Mr. and Mrs. Max Harrison ate Sunday dinner with his parents this past week-end.

Nancy and Andy Goodwin and children, Hillary and Courtney of Atlanta, Texas, visited her parents and other relatives during the holidays.

Mrs. Robert Pyle attended son Jason's 7th grade basketball game.

Former Mt. Blanco resident, Joe Taylor unveiled his mural at the Motley County Library Saturday, Jan. 9, to a large audience. His Mother, Mrs. Rachel Powell and other relatives and friends were there also. Elmer Kelton, western writer, autographed books for those who braved the icy roads. Guests praised the close likeness of Motley County notables portrayed in the mural.

The snow and ice kept cattlemen on the move, breaking ice in water tanks, hauling hay and delivering new baby calves.

Cotton farmers could relax by the fire, thankful their crops were gathered.

Mrs. Lula Teague returned home last week from a business trip to Arizona. She was driven in her car by grandson, Bodie Teague, and stayed with other grandchildren while attending a convention for her vitamin sales company.

Travis Bailey and Austin Williams came home with the Q.D. Williams' Sunday night after church. On Monday the lads helped build fence and did a little target practice.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Thurston attended the City Park Church of Christ fellowship Sunday evening after services.

Sunshine all this week (Tuesday) with forecasts of more moisture to come has people braced for the next wave.

PLOWGIRL—Shayla Barbee, a sophomore, is plowgirl for Floydada FFA Chapter. First runner-up for Miss Floydada, she plays basketball, is a Student Council representative and was secretary of her freshman class. Miss Barbee is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Barbee.

Senior Citizens...

By Thelma Jones
Everyone enjoyed the luncheon, film and fellowship last Thursday. The film was shown by Bill Baker of the year of 1948. We had several visitors and hope they all come back and join us.

The senior citizens offer their sympathy to the family of Flora Warren and other members of the families. She was one of our own members.

Mrs. Lillian Ross spent the weekend in Lubbock with her son, Bill Ross and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Burl Holt spent Sunday in Lockney with their son, Kenneth Holt and family, and helped their grandson, Tip Holt celebrate his birthday.

Ethel and Leona Warren visited their sister-in-law, Irene Britton in Crosbyton Sunday afternoon.

Lucille Custer visited the P.L. Hart's last week.

Mrs. Maggie Lovell left the 17th of Jan. for Yuma, Arizona, where she will be visiting her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C.A. Wallace for the next two months. James returned home the 21st and stopped in Deming, N.M. to visit the Clyde Smiths, former residents of Floydada. Mom wants me to extend her thanks to the City Park Church and all of her dear friends who have been supportive and helpful during her recovery from the dog attack.

James and Addie Harline of Leveland visited his mother Cora Hartline and attended the funeral for Addie's uncle, Leighton Teeple.

Myria Dade, Thelma Givens and Terry Watson attended a funeral Saturday afternoon in Roaring Springs.

Oklahoma woman hurt in one-vehicle accident

A Blair, Okla., woman was injured in a Sunday one-vehicle accident, approximately 1 1/2 miles west of the Ralls highway on Farm Road 54.

Brought to Caprock Hospital by a Caprock Hospital District ambulance, she was transferred by air ambulance on Sunday afternoon to St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock, where officials said early this week that her condition was listed as "critical but stable."

Barbara Sampler sustained internal injuries, according to information secured by this newspaper. She reportedly suffered a severe blow to the head.

The 1986 Ford pickup, in which the woman was riding alone, reportedly hit an embankment. It did not roll over.

The pickup was badly damaged. A Department of Public Safety trooper from Crosbyton investigated the accident. The sheriff's department assisted.

Courtroom Activities

In J.P. court for the two week period, January 12-26, there were 235 misdemeanor cases filed.

There was no action in county court or district court.

City police garner new leads on previous cases

Police have received "new leads" in a forgery case which occurred in March '87 and are working on "new information" concerning a December house burglary, according to Police Chief James Hale.

Charges of no operator's license and failure to control a motor vehicle have been filed at this time against a 35-year-old Lockney man following a 1:30 a.m. Sunday one-vehicle accident in the 800 block of North Second.

Billy Donnell Harris was driving a 1986 Plymouth four-door south on North Second at "a high rate of speed" when he apparently lost control of the vehicle, overcorrected and struck a curb, "which caused the vehicle to flip on its top."

The Plymouth, in which Harris was riding alone, belonged to Snappy Car Rental in Lubbock.

The driver reportedly had to be restrained while enroute to Caprock Hospital. He was admitted to the hospital for examination and was later released.

One bottle of "pain pills," valued at $12, reportedly was stolen during a Jan. 19 burglary of a habitation in the 700 block of West Grover. The resident told officers that she returned home to find that her kitchen area had been "gone through," with items taken from drawers.

She told officers that she found broken glass on her floor but could not locate any broken windows.

A man who had a tire slashed on a vehicle in the 400 block of West Tennessee reported the incident to police on Jan. 23, although it could have happened earlier. The loss was estimated at $25.

The vehicle allegedly was entered. Nothing was missing.

No injuries and only minor damage occurred in a two-vehicle accident which occurred about 3 p.m. Thursday at the intersection of the 600 block of East Missouri and the 100 block of North 12th St.

A 1980 Mercury XR-7, driven by a local woman, was eastbound on East Missouri and a 1978 Buick LeSabre, driven south by a Floydada man, were involved.

The Mercury reportedly failed to yield right-of-way to the Buick. Driver of the Buick attempted to pass in front of the other vehicle but struck it on the right front.

LANDFILL BEING DUG—Three machines and operators [left to right] Bill Hopper, Manuel Reyes and Benny Martinez are shown digging out "the last hole dug in the original dumpground site," according to Hopper, who along with Martinez are employed by Precinct Four. Reyes is a City of Floydada employee. The city and county are cooperating in the project to dig the 66 feet wide, "about 300 yards long" and 24-25 feet deep pit. Machinery being used are a Caterpillar road grader and a Caterpillar bulldozer, owned by Precinct Four; the city's Caterpillar track loader with ripper; and the county's 613 Caterpillar carry-all. Hopper says the three machines shown in this picture represent an investment "in the neighborhood of $250,000." The project was started "about three weeks ago" and is expected to be completed within the next week. Hopper told The Hesperian that land housing filled pits is being reclaimed. Staff Photo

Whirlwind Sams' January outing success

By Bill Gray, Reporter

On January 23, members of Floydada's Whirlwind Sams RV Club met in Lubbock at the 50 Yard Line Restaurant. Twenty-five rigs were represented, with a total of 52 members attending 1988's initial meeting. President Wayne Russell expressed his appreciation for such good attendance at the Lubbock dinner-meeting.

Special honors were given the Orval

Newberrys, who were celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. A commemorative cake for the couple was enjoyed by all, and the honorees received a gold clock as a gift from the club. The members also sang "Happy Anniversary" to the Vernon Parkers, George Millers and J.K. Wests.

Upcoming trips to Buffalo Gap, Thousand Trails at Lake Texhoma, and Bandera Park were discussed. Those planning to travel on those trips were urged to sign up at the next chapter meeting, which will be held at Light-house Electric in Floydada on February 1.

Triple L Club meets

The regular monthly luncheon and meeting of the L.L.L. (Live Long and Like It) club of First Baptist Church was held in the church's fellowship hall. After the prayer of thanks for the food, a delicious meal was enjoyed. President Peggy Medley read a very appropriate poem entitled, "Smiles." She then presided over the business session.

After the minutes were read and approved, Mrs. Medley called for and received reports from the various committees. A report was brought of the persons who were ill and the president asked about taking plates to the shut-ins on the day of the luncheon. Discussion followed with everyone in agreement for this ministry.

Pat Ford, club coordinator, informed the group of the plans of Bro. Lupe Rando and his evangelistic efforts in Mexico. He also announced about January Bible study.

Pat then showed a very entertaining and thought-provoking film, "The Music Box." The film was a warm and wonderful parable about a man whose dreary life is changed by the gift of a golden music box from a group of gospel-singing angels. What he does with it makes for a hilarious lesson on how we use or misuse God's gifts.

The next meeting will be Tuesday, February 9, with lunch beginning at 11:30 with the program to follow. All senior adults of Floydada are welcome.

362 years of living celebrated

By Lorilla Bradley
It's time to have a party
To start the brand new year...
Let's celebrate some birthdays
And spread a little cheer!

We welcome Mrs. Holcomb
...Who counts from 1909...
She is a lovely lady
And still likes "party time."

For Mr. Henry Bloodworth
We wish a happy day
And may the years that follow
Be kind in every way.

For Mr. Charlie Lewis
At this his special time
We have the best of wishes
For a future that is fine.

We greet our Mr. Hilton
...He counts from '82...
Now that's a heap of living
And he's not NEARLY through!

Let's serenade these people
With the same old birthday song
So everybody ready
And sing out good and strong!

Thursday, January 21, was birthday time at the Rest Home with ladies of the City Park Church of Christ hosting the occasion.

The Hesperian photographer came for the "picture taking" after which everyone was ushered into the dining room with the honorees being seated at the "honor" table. Their places were marked with special cards. The table was laid with a white cloth and centered with a floral arrangement in shades of blue. Each honoree wore a fresh corsage compliments of Williams Flower and Card Shop.

We are sorry Mr. Lewis was not present for the party.

The poem was read and all joined in singing the Happy Birthday song. We want to congratulate Mr. Hilton on his 106th birthday and he's still being able to attend the festivities!

Seated with Mrs. Holcomb was her son Ray of Floydada, daughter Mavis Parks and a friend, Marie Moore, both of Roaring Springs. Helping Mr. Bloodworth celebrate was his wife Beatrice.

We always appreciate friends and loved ones coming to be with our honorees.

A delicious refreshment plate of angel food cake and a beautifully decorated birthday cake complimented with a delicious fruit punch was served to the honorees, guests, residents and employees.

Your are invited to attend the next party which will be Thursday, February 18, 2:30 p.m.

Floydada Nursing Home Happenings

By Jo Bryant

On Monday and Tuesday, Dolores was busy doing all the ladies hair for the birthday party. The bitter wind has been cold, but we were glad that it didn't come an ice storm or have the snow once again. The week started off as usual. Morning began with coffee and juice break, then at 10:30, we listened to some songs, and Elvis Warren came and shared with us. He talked about God being our protector.
At 2:00 p.m. the residents had cereamics, they painted an owl. Lockney Care Center residents came to visit, we enjoyed seeing them, come back any time.

Tuesday Bro. Neeley and Zeima came and brought bananas to the residents, they always enjoy getting them. He shared from Romans 8:27-32, "and pray without ceasing." At 2:00 p.m., the Friends of the Library couldn't make it, so I shared an article about popcorn, and that Jan. 31 is Popcorn Day.
Interesting huh? We talked about how we used to go to the movies and get a bag of popcorn for 5 cents and about making those good old popcorn balls.

At 3:00 p.m. Dorothy Neff and Leona Neff came and did manicures.

Wednesday, the devotion was on Matt. 17-20, "Have faith as of a mustard seed, you can move mountains." At 2:00 p.m. the residents played Bingo, Della Halencak had the first Bingo. Those playing were: Maude Galloway, Myra Hall, Iva Wells, Della Halencak, Thelma Hoffman, Oda Birch-field, Ruth Smitherman, Ottis Johnson, Brooks Callaway, Charles Breeding and Burmah Probasco.

On Thursday morning Tim Owens came and shared the word with us taken from Matt. 15, "on the beatitudes." At 2:30 was our monthly birthday party, hosted by the Church of Christ ladies, thanks ladies, the cake was beautiful and delicious also the punch. Those having birthdays were Warnie Hilton, 106; Henry Bloodworth, 95; Charlie Lewis, 82, and Ruby Holcomb, 79. First time that we had more men than women for the birthdays. The Hesperian came and took pictures, thanks for coming out. The ladies serving were: Myrtle Finley, Elva Blum, Beulah Baker, Eunice Hardy, Lorilla Bradley and Clarene Holladay.

Friday, the ladies of the First Baptist Church came and shared. Evelyn Latta played the piano for us. Letha Mulder led the singing. Nettie Adams told the parable about the seven loaves of bread and the two fishes, how Jesus fed the multitude.

At 1:30 the residents were treated to some ice cream by My-T-Burger, and went to Matador for a ride. Wilma Payne drives the bus for Caprock Community Action, we appreciate her.

ence Curry and Jo Bryant.

We would like to welcome a new resident, Mrs. Jewell Price.

Sunday school class of the First Baptist Church for bringing out snacks to the residents on Monday, for the bananas, cookies and crackers. Also we would like to thank the clowns that came in Saturday for the Baptist encampment to made from the balloons were so cute.

Parents discuss pointers on how to discipline children

"You'll do it because I say so," is a phrase many people heard while growing up and vowed would never be uttered to their own children. But parents often find themselves breaking that promise.

Being a parent is a hard job, but learning effective ways of discipline and communication can make parenting more enjoyable for both children and parents, according to pediatricians at Baylor College of Medicine who have developed a brochure on raising children.

Becoming an effective parent takes knowledge and the support of family and friends. It also means recognizing that loving parents lose control of their temper and sometimes take it out on their children.

In addition to love, children need limits and guidance on their behavior.
Pediatricians at Baylor College of Medicine say that discipline is one way to teach children how to function in society.

Disciplining without spanking and yelling can be a much more effective way of enforcing limits. Physical punishment often teaches children that hitting is an acceptable way of solving a problem. Parents who learn how to control their emotions and handle a situation calmly, set good examples for their children.

Setting limits for children should begin when they are toddlers and can understand what "no" means. When rules are broken, placing the child in a playpen or sending them to their room for a brief "time out" is effective.

Parents should remember that the purpose of punishment is to teach children how to behave, not to simply penalize them for misbehaving. Pediatricians also emphasize that parents need to be certain that the punishment for misbehaving is relevant to the behavior.

Above all, remember that rewarding good behavior has more impact on children than punishing misbehavior.

Other tips offered by Baylor pediatricians include:

- let children help set family rules.
- talk with children not at them.
- be a good listener.
- remember that it is normal to get angry with children, but be sure they know you are angry at their actions, not them.
- always reinforce good behavior.

Rosales and Gonzalez marry in home ceremony

Josie Rosales and Raul Gonzalez were united in marriage Friday evening, January 15, in a candlelight ceremony at the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Ochoa of Floydada.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abel Fonseca of Floydada. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Gonzalez, Floydada.

The marriage service was read by Judge William Hardin in the presence of relatives and close friends.

The couple exchanged vows as they stood beneath an archway between the living and dining rooms. Pink and white satin hearts were suspended on ribbons from the top of the archway. Tall white tapers were reflected in a roccoco mirror to illuminate the scene.

For her wedding, the bride chose to wear a white linen suit designed with fitted jacket ending in a peplum, over a straight skirt; a red silky shell sweater and white calf pumps. Her accessories included a single strand of pearls.

The groom's mother wore a grey suit with a white lace trimmed blouse. The mother of the bride wore black gaberdine with light blue blouse.

Guests were registered in the bride's book by Miss Gloria Rosales, sister of the bride. A grouping of bisque birds decorated the registration table. Miss Rosales wore an afternoon dress of white batiste styled with fitted bodice and tiered ruffled skirt edged in black embroidery.

A reception was held immediately after the ceremony. The bride's table was covered with a pale pink cloth edged in lace. Arrangements of pink sweetheart roses and baby's breath, with tall white tapers decorated the table. Mobiles of pink and white satin hearts were suspended on each side of the crystal chandelier over the table. The heart motif was repeated in the heart shaped four-tier white bride's cake, decorated in pink. The cake was decorated by Miss Laura Boyd and served by Mrs. Jack Ochoa. Red sparkling punch was served from a crystal punch bowl by Mrs. George Ochoa, aunt of the bride. Mexican wedding cookies were served from a crystal plate.

The groom's chocolate cake was served with coffee. Members of the houseparty who assisted in serving refreshments included Miss Olga Gonzalez, sister of the groom; and Misses Jeannie and Francis Ochoa, cousins of the bride.

The bride is a student in the junior class at Floydada High School. The groom is a 1987 graduate of Floydada and is employed at United Supermarket in Plainview. Following a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Floydada.

Mattie Skinner feted with surprise party

A woman who weighed three pounds at birth and who "fit nicely in a shoe box" was honored Saturday evening,

Jan. 16, on her 89th birthday. Mattie Skinner's surprise birthday dinner and party were given in her Quitaque home.

Ms. Skinner was born in 1899 near Fairmont in Floyd County to pioneer parents, John and Martha Crawford Smith, who came to this area in 1891 from near Vernon in Wilbarger County.

Her mother and twin sister died at her birth. Mrs. Welch "nursed Mattie along with her own infant for about a month," according to relatives. "Then John Smith became worried that Mrs. Welch wouldn't want to give up the baby girl she was fast becoming attached to. He brought her home and with the help of her older sister, Neomia, who was only 15 years old, they raised her on Hereford cow's milk and a lot of love.

"The three-pound baby, who fit nicely into a shoe box became strong and robust and learned expertly to do the three things her Pa thought every girl should be able to do: ride a horse, shoot a gun and swim."

Whirlwind boys shock Friona with 23-0 first quarter edge

After having dropped their first two district outings to super teams, most teams would have folded their tents. Not the Whirlwinds.

Coach Mike Cocanougher's boys raced to a 23-0 lead after the first quarter. Friday and never slowed enroute to an 81-40 verdict over visiting Friona. The Green and White held a 38-14 halftime edge and were in front 54-24 after three quarters. Final count was 81-40.

Nine Winds rang the scoring bell: Chad Pernel 21, Randy Enriquez 14, Ty Stovall 13, Johnny Taylor 10, Chad Quisenberry 9, Heath Robertson 7, Roel Cisneros 3, Jason Brown and Rod Davis, 2 each.

Cisneros left the game in the second quarter with an ankle injury.

Enriquez, who had a banner game, pulled down 15 rebounds. Taylor had 6. "These guys don't know the meaning of the word quit," says Coach Cocanougher.

Amanda McDaniel canned 17 points for Floydada, which owned a 7-11 season record and a 1-3 district mark after the contest, had six other players who scored: Angie Glasscock 6, Pam Woody, Sylvia McComas, Lori Christian and Shelby Ogden, 4 each, and Jamie Morrison 3.

Whirlwind girls pull out 40-38 thriller over Tulia

Take one teaspoon of comeback ability and add it to two spoons of defense and a heaping cup of desire. These were the ingredients mixed carefully by the Whirlwind girls basketball squad Tuesday night.

The result was a 40-38 victory over visiting Tulia in undoubtedly the most thrilling varsity girls contest played this season on the Floydada court.

The Lady Hornets went up 11-7 after eight minutes and added to that advantage to take an apparent safe 21-13 edge into the dressing room at intermission. By outscoring the visitors 17-12 in the third stanza, the Whirlwinds of Coach Gail Gregg and Regina Smith pulled to within three, 33-30, entering the final eight minutes.

In the process, they cooked up some confidence.

Tulia increased its edge to six points before a Floydada bucket left it 35-32 with 5:09 remaining. It went to 36-32, 36-34 and 38-34 with 3:20 left. Sylvia McComas's free toss clipped it to 38-35. Angie Bertrand rebounded her teammate's missed second shot and fed Amanda McDaniel, who was fouled. McDaniel stepped to the line and calmly sank both ends of a one-and-one to cut the gap to 38-37 with 2:54 to play.

With 2:29 showing on the clock, another McDaniel free throw knotted the count at 38-38.

Trish Hanna rebounded a missed Tulia shot but the Whirlwinds couldn't take the edge at that point. As the clock entered its final minute, the score remained 38-38.

Bertrand stole a Tulia pass near mid-court and raced downcourt for a layup which sent the Green and White in front 40-38 with 0:43 left. Those would be the two winning points.

Both squads had several opportunities to score but neither field goal attempts nor free throws would fall.

Following a missed shot from the line with five seconds remaining, Tulia rebounded and put up a long shot which was far from its mark as the Whirlwinds began their celebration.

The victory marked the Whirlwind girls' final game of the district's first round.

No Whirlwind shot in double figures, but nine players scored and each played aggressive defense down the stretch. McDaniel and McComas each netted 7, Lori Christian contributed 6, Pam Woody, Shelby Ogden and Angie Glasscock each had 4, Bertrand and Jamie Morrison each put in 3 and Hanna had 2.

Hanna was the team rebound leader with 7 and Woody pulled down 5.

BOYS WIN AGAIN

Whirlwind boys led only twice in their Tuesday night encounter against Tulia. The first advantage lasted less than 20 seconds and their second lead lasted the final 23 minutes and three seconds of the game as they chalked up their second consecutive victory, 71-56.

The Hornets jumped out to a 2-0 edge before Chad Pernel put the Winds in front 3-2 with a three-pointer from the corner. Tulia extended its lead to 8-3 before John Taylor connected on both ends of a one-and-one to leave it 8-5 with 4:24 left in the initial stanza.

The visitors pushed the score to 10-5 before buckets by Pernel and Chad Quisenberry made it 11-9 with 1:57 remaining in the quarter. A Tulia basket was balanced by a Taylor layup before the Hornets moved ahead 15-11.

Pernel connected and Ty Stovall hit both ends of a one-and-one to knot the count at 15-all with the quarter having only seven seconds left.

Pernel netted a jumper 16 seconds into the second quarter but Tulia tied it 28 seconds later. A three-pointer by Pernel with 7:03 showing in the second quarter pushed the Winds of Coach Mike Cocanougher in front to stay.

Quisenberry scored under the basket, then fed Taylor on a layup. Stovall stretched the advantage to 26-19 with a bucket. Pernel scored, was fouled and hit the free throw for a 10-point edge — 29-19 — with 3:42 left in the quarter.

A free throw by Randy Enriquez and buckets by Taylor and Heath Robertson ran the score to 34-19 with 2:59 left. The count was 34-19 at intermission.

Whirlwinds pulled into a 57-38 edge after three periods before Tulia mounted a fourth quarter mini-surge.

Pernel, who had two three-pointers, led all scoring with 21. Stovall with 18, Taylor with 13 and Quisenberry with 10 joined the double-digit scoring parade. Jason Brown put in 4, Enriquez had 3 and Robertson canned 2.

Taylor was the rebound leader with 10 and Enriquez had 6.

The triumph evens the Whirlwind boys' district record at 2-2 and leaves them 14-7 for the season.

OVERTIME VICTORY

A 15-foot bucket by Amy McCormick spelled the only points scored in the overtime period as Whirlwind girls JV pulled out a 39-37 victory which equalled their big sisters' in excitement. The score was 37-all at the end of regulation play.

Coach Smith's crew led after each of the first three quarters — 12-7, 22-18 and 30-27 — before the visitors deadlocked the count in the final stanza.

McCormick was the point leader with 20, Heather Henderson scored 8, Kim Perry put in 6, Shayla Barbee added 3 and Libby Anderson had 2.

JV BOYS WIN OPENER

Whirlwind JV boys of Coach Lee Hurt started the four-game Floydada sweep with a 65-38 verdict. They held quarter leads of 14-7, 32-14 and 50-24.

Kenneth Collins tallied 18, Frank Suarez scored 15, Grant Stovall canned 13 and Joe Cisneros joined the double-figure parade with 12. Rolando Cisneros added 4 and Michael Goen contributed 3.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture on January 21 released additional details of 1988 farm programs, including an estimated deficiency payment rate for program commodities, advance payments and a "0-92" option for wheat and feed grain producers.

Also announced was that final 1987 deficiency payments, the amount of which for cotton won't be known until price and marketing figures are available for December, will all be made in generic commodity certificates.

Notably absent from the announcement was any change in the 12.5 percent acreage reduction program or other mechanism to curb 1988 cotton plantings.

The estimated 1988 deficiency payment rate for cotton was put at 16 cents per pound, about two-thirds of the maximum. The final payment rate will equal the difference between the 75.9-cent target price and the 51.8-cent loan, or the difference between the target and the calendar year average price received by farmers, whichever results in a lower payment.

Although USDA is prohibited by law from forecasting prices, the indication is that USDA projected an average price about eight cents above the loan. However it's worth noting that the deficiency payment rate estimate was made ahead of the January crop rate and supply-demand figures that raised the expected 1988 U.S. carryover from 4.4 million to 5 million bales.

USDA in late October last year set the acreage reduction percentage for cotton at 12.5 percent, down from 25 percent in 1987. At that time the U.S. carryover was projected at 3.8 million bales.

The January projection of a 5 million bale carryover had some observers speculating that USDA might announce a voluntary paid diversion program. But no mention of such a program was included in the January 21 announcement and Washington sources minimize the chances that one will be forthcoming later.

The advance payment for all commodities was set at 40 percent of the estimated total. The advance will come in two installments, half in cash at sign-up and half in generic certificates on or about May 16. For cotton that will mean a 3.2-cent payment at sign-up and another 3.2 cents in May.

The 1988 payment rate was projected at $1.53 per bushel for feed grains and $1.10 per bushel for wheat, with 61.2 cents and 44 cents, respectively, to be made in two equal advances.

The "0-92" option was authorized under the 1987 budget reconciliation amendments for wheat and feed grains only. It will allow producers to plant anywhere from zero to 92 percent of their permitted acreage and receive payment on the full 92 percent.

Effects of conservation tillage systems on crop pest and beneficial insect populations

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology [PM]
Crosby/Floyd Counties

Conservation tillage is defined as any tillage and planting system that retains at least 30 percent residue cover on the soil surface after planting.

Conservation tillage practices have been found to greatly influence population levels of many insects. The damage potential of specific crop pests can be increased, decreased or uninfluenced by conservation tillage. Each insect pest must be considered individually. The cropping practices used in conjunction with conservation tillage will also have a great influence on pest and beneficial insect populations.

Generally speaking, conservation tillage has the greatest influence on insects that spend a portion of their life cycle within the soil, as well as insects associated with crop residue. Conservation tillage presents the highest pest hazards to crops that are in the first 30-45 days of growth.

Agronomic practices that promote rapid establishment and growth of the crop will help to minimize the potential for damage by crop pests.

Certain crop pests which are common to the Crosby-Floyd area have been noted as having higher damage potential in conservation tillage systems. These include primarily: armyworms, corn rootworms, and grasshoppers. Conservation tillage, if not carefully managed, may also increase the survival rate of overwintering Southwestern corn borers and cotton bollworms. The latter two insects are two of the most economically important pests of our area.

Destruction of overwintering habitat of Southwestern corn borers is a very important cultural practice for reducing damage from this insect to High Plains corn. This habitat destruction can be accomplished either by disking or by shredding stalks near enough to ground level so as to remove the plugs from the end of the girdled stalks, thus allowing greater exposure of overwintering borers to the elements.

Shredding of stalks could be used in conjunction with minimum tillage practices, so that overwintering corn borer populations might still be reduced without plowing.

Bollworms overwinter in the soil in the pupal stage. Greater winter survival of bollworms has been noted in conservation tillage fields. Depending on environmental conditions, this might Photos of Japanese currency traders are in steady use in the business sections of newspapers these days. They usually have two telephones pressed to their heads, and their faces are contorted in financial anguish.

The captions inform readers that the traders' distress resulted from the U.S. dollar sinking to new lows in exchange rates versus the Japanese yen.

The exchange rates of the U.S. dollar have been the major influence in recent months for domestic and foreign economies and will continue as such in 1988, according to Wayne Angell, a member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors. Angell made that comment while participating on a panel of economists at a Chicago Board of Trade news conference to assess economic prospects for 1988.

The downward trend of the dollar, coupled with aggressive government policies, was credited by many observers with the turnaround in farm commodity prices and the resurgence in the export market. He said that trend will continue in 1988.

Angell, before assuming his post with the Fed, was a professor of economics at Ottawa (Kan.) University, director of the Federal Reserve Bank of Kansas City and a partner in a large Kansas farm. He has drawn considerable attention in recent months for proposing that a commodity price index be added to the economic indicators the Fed considers in formulating money supply policies.

In looking to 1988, he first outlined the course of the dollar in the mid-1980's.

"In 1985 and 1986, the exchange value of the dollar was extraordinarily high by anyone's calculation, undoubtedly indicating a scarcity of dollars in world markets," he said. Our trade deficit sent dollars out of the country which we then borrowed back to finance the federal deficit. This situation, the status of the U.S. as a net debtor nation, started the dollar on the way down.

"But foreign exchange rates, once they are underway in a decided direction, may find it easier to continue in that direction," Angell said. This is because the economic responses to the trend lag by months, allowing the trend to continue beyond a realistic position.

International trade at first did not appear to respond, but exports have grown rapidly through 1987, he said. The increases have not been reflected in monthly balance of trade reports because the figures are expressed in ever-devaluing dollars.

So, though the trade deficit may not seem to be shrinking, the grain trade knows its situation is much better. The devalued dollar and concerted action by the government to reduce surpluses and production have combined to make the U.S. once again a force to be reckoned with in the world marketplace.

"Just as the dollar rose to such unreasonable levels that it would be unreasonable for U.S. agriculture and U.S. manufacturing to work," Angell said, "so do we now run the danger that it becomes unreasonable to expect agriculture anywhere other than the U.S. to work very well...In fact, I feel sorry for any country that will have to compete with U.S. industry and U.S. agriculture...but not too sorry."

This new economic order holds true in relation to major competitors with floating currency values, but we are still at a trade disadvantage to nations whose currencies are pegged to the dollar, most notably Korea, Singapore and Hong Kong. Angell contended that a growing surplus of dollars in those countries will force an adjustment of their exchange rates. Indeed, Sen. Lloyd Bentsen (D-Tex.) has called for that adjustment from Hong Kong in return for continuation of some of the trade advantages it now enjoys here.

As a member of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, Angell is one of a handful of officials who can influence the stability of international markets with any comment. He was thus careful to end his comments by saying that, although the falling exchange value of the dollar has sparked recovery for U.S. agriculture, and manufacturing, "the dollar has fallen far enough."

Ag census underway

By Richard Crow, CEA-Ag.

Texas farmers and ranchers receiving a questionnaire from the U.S. Commerce Department's Census Bureau should complete it and return it as soon as possible.

The questionnaire is a national census of agriculture conducted every five years to provide a detailed picture of agriculture on a county. Information gained can be compared with the data received from the 1982 census.

Data from the census will be reviewed by numerous groups, including individual farmers, the Department of Agriculture and Congress to make business and policy decisions that will affect the future of agriculture. Those decisions can only be as good as the information provided by producers.

Data gathered in the census will focus on specific information, including the number of farms, farm size, operator characteristics, productions, sales and financial conditions.

Forms have been mailed to more than 2 million farm and ranch operators in the nation. Information requested will be similar to that gathered in 1982, including land use and ownership, crop acreages and quantities harvested and numbers of livestock and poultry.

Some of the information gathered will be different from the previous census, which provided data only for selected farm production expenses. The census regularly undergoes some changes, reflecting the changes occurring in agriculture. This year's census will contain more questions on the financial condition of farm operation.

All individual data will remain confidential and only an overall picture will be presented from the census. Government agencies will not be able to obtain individual records.

For the 1987 survey, the Census Bureau solicited the advice of farmers, farm organizations and agricultural universities as well as state and federal agencies. The 1987 census, in response to the users' needs, will include information on all production expenses.

Survey forms vary from region to region to decrease the burden on respondents. Only 20 percent of the surveys distributed include questions on fertilizer and chemicals, machinery and equipment, market value of land and buildings, and income from farm-related sources.

Educational programs conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service serves all people of all ages regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Texas hay prospects 'optimistic'

Texas hay producers presently are optimistic concerning price prospects says Dr. Robert "Bud" Schwart.

Supply and demand of hay are highly variable across the state, he adds.

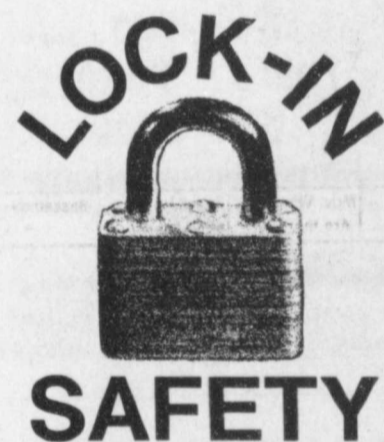

Total production of Texas alfalfa in 1987 was down 1.5 percent from 1986 levels, prompting shortages in some areas of the state.

"Competition for good quality alfalfa among cattle feeders and dairy producers is pushing alfalfa prices up. In Northeast Texas, dairy producers are paying around $150 per ton for high quality alfalfa delivered to the farm. Variability in the 1987 growing season, and the resulting changes in supply, has alfalfa growers optimistic about prices continuing at higher levels into the first part of 1988," Schwart adds.

Some growers are responding by holding supplies back until after the New Year. Some of these same growers also are planning to increase alfalfa acreage in 1988, he says.

Prices for all other types of hay likely will remain good through the first part of 1988, despite larger supplies of grass hay in 1987, he predicts.

Floydada Senior Citizens see 1948 film depicting Floydada

The Floydada Senior Citizens met in the Senior Citizens Center on Thursday, January 21, for their monthly luncheon.

A film was shown by W.O. (Bill) Baker. The pictures were taken in 1948 from the Palace Theatre and depicted places of business in the city at that time. Among the locales shown were King's Grocery, Looper's Grocery, Solomon Jewelry, Bishop Ford House and the Malt Shop. Most interesting was the activity around the Palace Theater on a Saturday evening. Anne Reddy is to be commended for preserving the old films.

The luncheon meeting was well attended and a lovely meal was served. Birthdays celebrated this month were Mary Wilson, Clorine Holliday, Jess and Bess Glover, Lillian Ross, Harvey Tardy, Earnestine Pleasant and Warnie Hilton. Mr. Hilton was unable to attend as he is in the Floydada Nursing Home.

The center serves lunch five days a week to those over 60. Anyone interested in eating at the center is asked to call 983-2032 and let the cooks know how many will be eating each day.

Twice a week, the senior citizens play 42 or bridge at night and they play on Wednesday afternoons. Exercise classes are held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 9:30 til 10:30 a.m.

Everyone is urged to come and join the fellowship.

All-terrain vehicles dangerous

Three-wheeled all-terrain vehicles, or ATVs, look like large motorized tricycles, but the danger they pose to riders is no kids' play. The U.S. Consumer (CPSC) has banned the sale of the three-wheeler after a two-year study in response to the large number of riders and passengers who have been injured or killed.

Four-wheeled ATVs will stay on the market, but they must have safety warning labels attached.

In 1982, when three- and four-wheelers were becoming popular, 8,585 ATV-related injuries were reported to the CPSC. In 1986, 86,400 such injuries required hospital treatment. As of Sept. 21, 1987, a total of 883 deaths were attributed to ATV accidents, and nearly 80 percent of them occurred in three-wheeled ATVs. Twenty-eight of the deaths occurred in Texas.

"More than half of the deaths and injuries were to children under 16 years of age," said Linda Lloyd, who has analyzed the CPSC data and directs the Injury Control Program at the Texas Department of Health.

Lloyd said more than half of the ATV crashed happened at speeds of less than 16 m.p.h. and were caused by: hitting an object or uneven terrain, attempting to turn or stop the vehicle, or having the ATV tip or overturn.

"The CPSC statistics show that nearly three of every four persons killed in an ATV mishap suffered a devastating head injury. That's not surprising, since about 80 percent of ATV riders do not wear helmets," she said.

Nearly two million ATVs have been sold and none are currently subject to a recall. However, a new state law requires anyone riding an ATV on public land to be safety certified and to wear a helmet and eye protection. Riders younger than 14 years old must be supervised by an adult who has safety certification.

"Using helmets can make a big difference. The CPSC has concluded that unhelmeted riders are three times more likely than helmeted riders to suffer fatal or serious head injuries in an ATV mishap. But helmet laws must be enforced to be of value," Lloyd said.

Four-wheeled ATVs remain on the market, but are required to carry warning labels. The labels caution owners to wear helmet and eye protection, to prevent use by children under age 14, to carry only one person (the driver), to exercise care in fueling the vehicle, and to avoid drinking while driving.

"The four-wheelers account for a number of ATV-related deaths, despite their greater stability on uneven surfaces. In 1985, when four-wheelers had 61 percent of the ATV sales market, they accounted for 18 percent of the deaths. In 1986, the sales share jumped to 82 percent, and four-wheelers were involved in 30 percent of the ATV-related deaths," Lloyd said.

During an ATV's seven-year average lifespan, the vehicle has a one-in-three chance of being involved in a crash that injures the rider.

"That's a high risk for a vehicle that's often seen as a toy," she said.

Floydadians make honor roll at Wayland Baptist University

The fall 1987 Dean's Honor Roll at Wayland Baptist University includes four students from the Floydada area.

Named to the list from Floydada were Walter Padgett, sophomore, 3.56 grade point average (GPA); Penny Poole, junior, 4.00 GPA; and Allison Robertson, junior, 4.00 (GPA); as well as Thomas W. Fisher of South Plains, sophomore, 4.00 GPA.

The Dean's Honor Roll is announced at the end of each semester by Dr. Bill Hardage, academic vice president and dean of the university, and lists the names of students who earned at least a 3.50 GPA on a 4.00 scale while completing at least 12 semester hours during the term.

A total of 143 students from 12 states and one foreign country were named to the Dean's Honor Roll at Wayland for the recently-completed term.

SPORTS MEDICINE CENTER OF THE SOUTHWEST OPENS DOORS FOR INJURED ATHLETES

January 1988 marked the opening of the Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest. This new facility offers a comprehensive treatment program for competitive athletes as well as general sports enthusiasts. With state-of-the-art diagnostic and rehabilitation equipment, the center is designed to care for any sports related condition. 3800 square feet of space houses the Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest, making it the largest facility specifically for sports medicine in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico.

Merac (by Universal) computer diagnostic equipment provides analysis of injuries and predicts weaknesses in athletes on an individual basis. Data for each athlete may be stored on a computer diskette for future comparison. Progression of the rehabilitation process may be fully outlined on a computer printout for convenient record keeping. Eagle (by Cybex) weight training equipment provides conditioning and muscle toning for virtually every part of the human body. This equipment, along with the highly qualified staff, can help athletes get back to their game as quickly and safely as possible.

A wide variety of services are available through the Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest. Some of these include: pre-season and pre-employment physical exams, body composition and mechanics assessments, sport specific screenings, injury and fitness clinics, back school, physical therapy, diet and nutrition counseling, work hardening, and a variety of others.

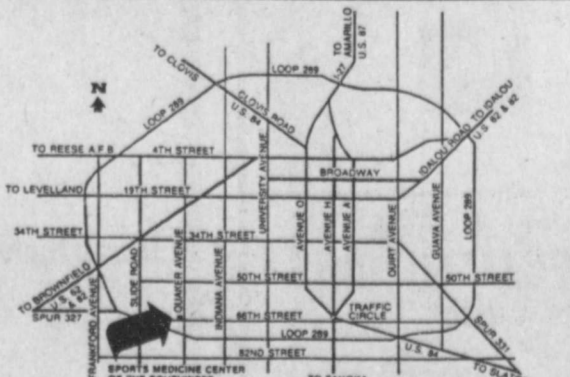

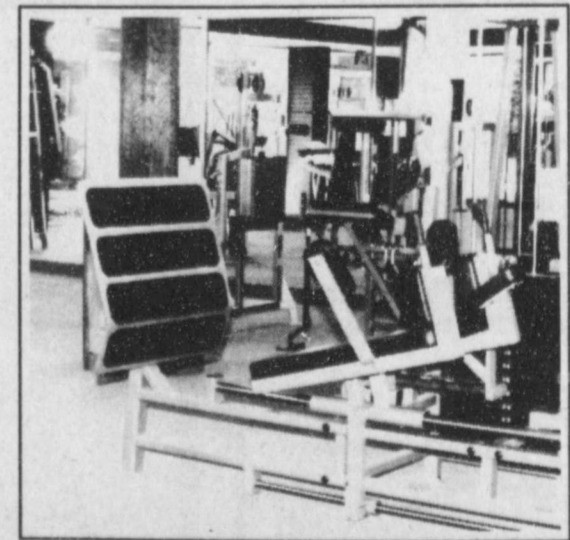

The Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest is operated under the direction of a team of physician specialists in areas such as: Orthopedics, Internal Medicine, Cardiology, Family Practice, Dermatology, Gynecology, Otolaryngology, Podiatry, Dentistry, Ophthalmology, and Orthotics to name a few. An advisory board consisting of athletic trainers from across the region offers guidance for the program as well. The entire team is in tune with the special needs of athletes and their determination and desire to excel. They understand the frustration an injury can impose on an athlete, but more important, this team has the know-how to put the athlete back in condition as quickly as possible.

Cardiac patients may benefit from the Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest also. Both rehabilitative and preventative treatment schedules can be designed for individual patient needs. Patient progress can be monitored by trained cardiologists on staff to ensure a safe and proper workout.

The technical expertise of the staff of the Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest also extends to job related injuries. Treatment programs can be specifically designed to aid in an employee's safe and timely return to work after an accident. Computerized diagnostic equipment can precisely measure the degree of severity of an occupational injury. The equipment records movement capabilities so accurately that it cannot be duplicated unless an injury actually exists.

Each Saturday, from 9AM til 11AM, the Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest will open its doors for an injury screening clinic. No appointment is necessary for this session and any athlete may attend for a nominal fee. Attendees are entitled to injury assessment and initial treatment by our staff physician.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the Sports Medicine Center of the Southwest at 792-7112, ext. 292. Outside Lubbock, call 1-800-942-5111. Physician referrals are available at any time by calling 792-7112, ext. 132. 6602 South Quaker Avenue
