Four citizens feted at Chamber banquet

were Jimmy Willson [on Gentry's right] for Citizen Of The Year and Bob Alldredge [far right] for Employer Of The Year. The latter two awards were handed out by Gary Brown.

Dr. A.E. Guthrie became the first recipient of Floydada's Chamber of Commerce "Citizen Through the Years Award" as the Chamber celebrated 40 years of service to this city and its citizens.

Dr. Guthrie's award was one of several given by the Chamber as it marked its annual banquet in Floydada Saturday evening, February 27, at Duncan Elementary cafeteria. Also receiving awards were: Citizen of the Year, which went to Jimmy Willson; Employer of the Year to Bob Alldredge, and a special "Extra Mile Award" to Bill Hale.

Guthrie received a standing ovation after being awarded his plaque by City Manager Gary Brown, 1986's Citizen of the Year.

"Dr. Guthrie not only delivered this speaker," said Brown, "but he also delivered 1,800 to 2,000 other babies." Setting up his practice in Floydada in 1933, "Dr. Guthrie, now retired, has probably seen more miles of our city streets and county roads than most people. He has traveled those roads by auto, tractor, foot and horseback, tending to the needs of others," said Brown.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR

Jimmy Willson, the new Citizen of the Year, was also awarded his plaque by Brown. "He was active at one time in nearly every organization in town," said Brown. "He was a three-time city council member, two-time mayor, member of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, has held all offices in the Masonic lodge, and is currently the only person who holds an active membership in both the Floydada Lions and Rotary."

Willson, a district lay leader in the Methodist Church, was a voting delegate to the general conference four times. "He is active in the Boy Scouts, having been an Eagle, Silver Eagle and Silver Beaver while a scout. Willson has been recognized by numerous local organizations for his support and he always promotes Floydada in his travels and work in the community."

EMPLOYER OF THE YEAR

Tiffany Gentry, Miss Floydada, presented the Employer of the Year Award for the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce. This year's recipient was Bob Alldredge, owner of Alldredge Communications and KKAP Radio. Nominations for this honor are made by employees.

EXTRA-MILE AWARD

The Women's Division instituted a new award this year, called The Extra-Mile Award. The award will not be presented on a regular basis, but only when the occasion calls for it. The winner, Bill Hale, was not present but his wife Carolyn Hale was awarded the Assessor-collector, commissioner races highlights of Demo primary a view from

The Lamplighter

By Ken Towery

The Iowa caucus operation has come and gone, as has the New Hampshire primary. When all is said and done we are just about where we started, with "Super Tuesday" on March 8 to place the real imprint on the Presidential contest for 1988.

We have never been able to understand why the Iowa caucus has been considered by our brethren in the "media" as being such a bell weather. It is anything but that. The Caucus, like a precinct meeting, is generally dominated by the party activists. A primary, on the other hand, is much more representative of the thinking of a party's rank and file. Still, what is, is. And the Iowa caucus thing will probably be with us. We are told that 3,000 reporters, cameramen, sound technicians etc., descended on the state during the days leading up to the caucuses, each of them probably enriching the economy to the tune of at least $100 per day. The way we figure it, that comes out to about one "media person" for every 84 participants in the caucuses. And as an aside we would note that about the same number of people cast ballots in each of the two states as will cast ballots in Harris County during the general election in November.

But there's not much need, in our opinion, to spend too much time trying to read the tea leaves at this stage of the game. No doubt the Iowa and New Hampshire exercises helped the candidates discover some kinks in their operation, but when Super Tuesday is over will be plenty of time to get serious about where everybody stands on the Nomination of a tax assessor-collector and races for two commissioners highlight county interest among Democratic voters as they prepare to visit the polls next Tuesday for the first primary.

and Ed Lehman of Vernon are other aspirants. The Democratic victor will meet the Republican nominee in the November general election.

Penny Golightly, who is serving by appointment, and Carolyn Redding, a member of the county central appraisal district staff, are vying for a full term as county tax assessor-collector.

A five-man race developed for commissioner in Precinct One. They are (as listed on the ballot) Connie D. Bearden, Hulon Carthel, Bill Hopper, Sam Spence and Delmas McCormick. Spence is the incumbent.

In Precinct Three, D.R. (Richard) Sanders, George Taylor and incumbent Thomas Warren are seeking to become commissioner.

RUN-OFFS POSSIBLE

With multi-person fields, it is possible that run-offs will be necessary to determine the commissioner in both Precincts One and Three.

Kay Crabtree is unopposed in his bid to serve the unexpired term of commissioner in Precinct Four. Crabtree was appointed to the post last year.

Since there are no Republican candidates for tax assessor-collector or commissioner, the Democratic nominees will be elected.

Warren Chisum and J.J. Barlow Jr. are seeking their party's nomination for District 84 state representative. The nominee will be pitted against either Republican Gary Ivey or Tom Christian in November for the right to succeed the retiring Foster Whaley of Pampa.

Ya'll come to election night party at Hesperian

The Hesperian is hosting an election party and the public is invited.

A board on which to place returns in key races as they become available will be erected in front of The Hesperian. Floyd County residents are invited to watch as returns are received and posted on the board Tuesday night.

Spotlights will be available in order that persons can see the board from several vantage points.

In addition, light refreshments are to be served inside The Hesperian office after 7 p.m.

Kirk & Son is making available a television set, and Cable TV of Floydada will provide the cable connection in order that the public can be updated on area races Tuesday night.

The Hesperian office is to be closed from 3 o'clock until shortly after 7 p.m. that day. "Runners" will bring results from the county clerk's office as various precinct returns arrive and will relay them to the large board.

GRAND MASTER TO VISIT FLOYDADA—Graham H. Childress, Grand Master of Texas Masons, will present a "Mirabeau B. Lamar" medallion and an accompanying scholarship to a selected Floydada student during "Salute To Our Schools" on Monday, March 7. The annual program is presented by Floydada Lodge No. 712, A.F.&A.M., in commemoration of Texas as Public Schools Week. Childress will also deliver the keynote address, with the program commencing at 8 p.m. The event is open to the public at no admission charge. A reception will follow in the high school cafeteria, honoring Floydada school personnel.

Is interest sufficient to form teen center?

Talk about founding a teen recreation center for Floydada is escalating. One individual told The Hesperian that the goal is to "create a recreation center for our youth to give them something to do besides driving up and down the drag." The city has been approached and is "willing to cooperate," according to City Manager Gary Brown. The city is attempting to locate grant money, although no such funding has been secured to date.

"The first thing we need to do is find out if there is enough interest" to pursue the idea, one parent says. Those who are willing to assist with the project are asked to complete the following coupon.

Should an ample amount of interest be depicted through the survey, a meeting of youngsters, parents, school personnel and other interested individuals would be called to exchange ideas and map definite plans.

I would be interested in supporting a youth recreation center for Floydada.

Representative races key GOP vote

Races for U.S. representatives and state representatives are receiving the major attention locally in the Republican Primary next Tuesday.

A polling site is to be open in each of Floyd County's four commissioner precincts from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Tom Christian and Gary Ivey are vying for the GOP nomination as District 84 state representative. The primary winner advances to the November general election against the Democratic standard-bearer, incumbent Foster Whaley of Pampa is retiring.

Six men are in the chase for the Republican nomination as congressman from District 13. The six, as listed on the ballot, are: Alan Pickering, Larry S. Milner, Bob Price, Ron Buffum, Jim Brandon and Chip Staniswalis.

Ray Macha is the Republican nominee for sheriff. He will be pitted against incumbent Fred Cardinal in the general election.

Bertrand, McDaniel on 2-3A all-district squad

A pair of Whirlwind seniors have been honored with selection to the 2-3A girls all-district basketball squad. They are Angie Bertrand and Amanda McDaniel.

Both Miss Bertrand, 5'6", and Miss McDaniel, 5'5", each own three varsity basketball letters.

The honor squad was well divided with champion Dimmitt being represented by a trio of players, Floydada, Friona and Muleshoe each having two places and Tulla having one girl named to the honor squad. Littlefield did not have an all-district performer.

District coaches chose the squad.

In addition to the Floydada players, members of the all-district squad are: sophomore Gloria Gauna, junior Sydel McDonald and freshman Renae Josselot, all of Dimmitt; junior Debbie Brown and sophomore Wendy Green, both of Muleshoe; seniors Tiffany Osborn and Trudy Reece, both of Friona; and freshman Jennifer Tucker of Tulla.

PRESIDENTIAL ASPIRANTS

Although two of the contestants — Alexander M. Haig Jr. and Pete DuPont — have withdrawn, their names appear on the ballot with those of Bob Dole, George Bush, Jack Kemp and Pat Robertson for their party's presidential nomination.

"Super Tuesday," during which Texans and their counterparts in 12 other Southern states will cast primary ballots, is a crucial test for the four survivors.

Beau Boulter of Amarillo is stepping down as congressman from the 13th District to make a race for the U.S. Senate. He finds opposition in the presidential thing. Right now we have some races closer to home to worry about.

The decision of Beau Boulter to give up his U.S. House seat for a run at the U.S. Senate, and the decision by Foster Whaley to give up his seat in the Texas Legislature, and a decision by Sen. Farabee to take a $110,000 job as attorney for the University of Texas System in Austin, thereby vacating his Texas Senate seat, is causing all sorts of political activity hereabouts. We'll wait until later to comment on the Farabee move, since it won't be until May 7 that his replacement will be decided, as we understand the current situation. But the March primary is staring us in the face, and local voters must decide.

We'll not comment on strictly local races. As we've said before, local voters know as much about local candidates as we do. They have every opportunity to talk to the candidates personally, or they know their public and sometimes private history, and are in position to make intelligent and informed decisions. But we do have some thoughts on some of the other races that we would like to pass along, for good or ill.

First, on the Republican side. There are indications that voting statewide in the Republican primary this year will be higher than ever, drawn there by the contest for President and the race for a nominee to challenge Senator Lloyd Bentsen in November. Whether the anticipated statewide surge in Republican primary voting will be reflected in heavier GOP primary voting locally is anybody's guess. Frankly we anticipate an increase locally, but nothing on the order there will be statewide, because of locally contested races for important county offices. But for those who do vote in the GOP primary, whether because of the presidential contest or the importance the voter attaches to the State Legislative race, we hope this area goes heavily for Mr. Gary Ivey of Ralls to replace Foster Whaley. Opposing Mr. Ivey in that primary contest will be Mr. Tom Christian of Claude. Mr. Christian is also a good man, but in Mr. Ivey we have an opportunity to gain representation from this end of the District. He has been active in leadership roles for a number of agricultural organizations important to this area, and has been active in community endeavors as well. We believe the state, this district, and particularly this area, would be well served by the election of Mr. Ivey to the Texas Legislature.

In the U.S. House race, on the Republican side, we believe this District would be best served by the nomination of Larry Milner of Amarillo to go against whomever is nominated on the Democratic side, of which we shall take note shortly. From all we can gather he is simply the best in the six-man race. He is known here, and those who know him speak highly of him. He has long experience in the area of industrial development, with a special affinity for small towns and their problems. He would not have to be "educated" in this respect, nor would he have to be convinced of the need to fight the good fight. He has come here asking for the support of people in this area. Our talks with him, and with people here who know him leads us to recommend him for your support.

In the GOP Senate primary race we admit to somewhat of a quandary. We were very much impressed with Beau Boulter as a Congressman for this District. We found him to be hard working, energetic, and concerned with the problems of this area. For that reason we were terribly distressed when he chose to give up his seat and try for the U.S. Senate. We can understand some of his frustrations in the House, as he sought to argue for a semblance of fiscal responsibility in a body dominated by irresponsible politicians of the "tax and spend" philosophy. But there is something to be said for someone who just hangs in there and year after year wears down the opposition with arguments based on fiscal sanity. We suppose he felt he could do more in the Senate, if he could get elected. At this stage we suppose it doesn't really matter what we think he should have done. He's in the race, along with others. And despite our unhappiness with his decision, the choice we now face is what to do about it. We think of those in the GOP primary race for Senate, this area would be best served by his nomination. He at least knows our problems and has indicated, during his time in the House, that he is willing to at least try to be helpful.

Over on the Democratic side there is only one race outside local contests that really has much interest locally, that being the race for the Congressional seat being vacated by Beau Boulter. District Attorney Randy Hollums is in that race and we hope he receives a heavy and favorable vote of those citizens who vote in the Democratic primary. We can't see folks here getting excited about anyone in the Democratic presidential contest, given what we have seen up to now. But in our view it is important that Hollums receive the support of this area. In the first place he cannot win the nomination without it. In the second place, if he loses the nomination without the support of his friends and neighbors other politicians will discount the political clout of this end of the District. It is ironic, perhaps, that we are placed in position to argue this point, since Floyd County, and adjoining counties to the South and East were tacked on to this District by a Democratic Legislature for the purpose of merely "filling in the blanks", so to speak. It would be helpful to the long range benefit of this county and the surrounding counties, in our view, for Hollums to receive the support of those who will be voting in the Democratic Primary on March 8.

At a later date we will offer our thoughts on the Presidential contest, as well as the situation surrounding the state judicial races, the latter of which continues to be a shame and disgrace to the people of Texas. Relative to the presidential primary contest however, we suppose we should pass along a bit of information at this point. The Associated Press informs us that the national organization of gays and lesbians has evaluated all the major candidates on both the Democratic and Republican sides, and have come to the conclusion that all the Democratic candidates are acceptable to them, and that none of the Republican candidates are acceptable to them. The organization wanted voters to be aware of their position before they go to the polls, and the Associated Press duly relayed their position nationwide. So we relay it to our readers as well, with no editorial comment, other than the opinion that there are probably some candidates who had just as soon not get the particular stamp of approval. It's kinda funny though. We've heard no one reject it, and on the other hand we've heard no one complain because they didn't get it.

FUND GROWS TO $1,770 — The Caprock Hospital Love Fund, with which to revitalize patient rooms, had grown to $1,770 by Tuesday, according to members of 1956 Study Club, which is spearheading the campaign. The goal is $4,500. Contributions from organizations, businesses, individuals and others can be deposited in a fund at First National Bank.

Three school trustee, two council candidates

Three persons have filed as Precinct Two candidates for trustee on the Floydada Independent School District board. They are Jerry Livingston, Clar Schacht and Cyndi Williams.

There was no Precinct One candidate at press time.

Individuals may register to have their name placed until 5 p.m. March 23. Signing is at the superintendent's office.

Balloting will be held May 7 to fill Precincts One and Two places on the board. Freddie Morren and Weldon Pruitt are the incumbents.

Only persons residing within a precinct are eligible to serve as trustee from that precinct or to vote for persons seeking that place.

Therefore, only residents of Precincts

One and Two will be involved in the '88 trustee election.

COUNCIL CANDIDATES

Don Green in District One and Nancy Willson in District Four have filed for re-election in the May 7 city election.

In addition to the district seats, the two at-large positions on the city governing body also are to be filled in the May election.

There were no at-large candidates at press time. Frank Breed and Wayne Russell are the present two council at-large members.

The signing period for municipal candidates continues through March 23. Individuals may sign with City Secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart in the city office to have their names placed on the ballot.

Man injured still in intensive care

A man injured last Wednesday, about seven miles southeast of Floydada where a wildcat well was being capped, remains in the intensive care unit at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

The injured man, whose name is Boggs, was brought by Caprock Ambulance to Caprock Hospital in Floydada and transferred by helicopter ambulance to the Lubbock hospital.

He suffered a "badly broken leg" and internal injuries. He "lost a lot of blood" in the accident, which occurred when he was pinned between a well head and the well's cellar wall.

Workers reportedly had arrived the day before the accident to start plugging the hole.

Citizens feted at banquet plaque by Gentry.

 Hale was recognized for his outstanding effort in bringing a state prison facility to Floydada. Although another area was selected for the site, "It was certainly not due to the lack of effort made by many of our citizens. We would like to recognize one citizen in particular - Bill Hale," said Gentry.
 "Few people know the number of hours and the amount of effort which were spent on this project by Bill. He made numerous telephone calls and trips all over the state, not to mention the paperwork which was involved."
 For this reason, the chamber felt that individuals who do a "little extra for the community, above and beyond the call of duty" should be recognized.

PRESIDENT'S PLAQUE
 Miss Floydada also presented the President's Plaque to Ginger Warren, president of the Women's Division of the Chamber of Commerce. Warren spotlighted the highlights of the women's chamber last year including such events as Punkin Day, Holiday Happenings, Little Miss Floydada, Miss Floydada, and running the concession stand at the livestock show. The women's chamber also conducted three ribbon cutting ceremonies at new businesses during the year.

Newly elected directors of the women's division were introduced by Warren. They are: Ginger Warren, Treana Simpson, Alice Gilroy, Julianne Cornelius, Barbara Edwards and Nancy Willson.

Smith, the 1987-88 chamber president, then recounted the accomplishments of the past year's activities of the chamber. Smith pointed to the success of the February chamber stock show. "There were 130 animals shown by local kids which then helps them to go on to the county show," said Smith. In January, packets were given to school children teaching them all about the community they live in.

"December was a full month for the chamber, consisting of many activities including: Christmas lighting contest, adopt a decoration for city streets, Christmas open house for businesses and Santa suit rental. The balloon club from Lubbock and Amarillo tried to have a balloon race again in December, but due to bad weather they were once again forced to stay on the ground."
 In November, the chamber sponsored the Miss Floydada contest, won by Tiffany Gentry.

INITIAL PUNKIN' DAY
 October proved to be an exciting month for the chamber with the first "Punkin' Day" in Floyd county. "This was a spur of the moment thing," said Smith. "One of our directors was approached by a local farmer about designating Floyd County Punkin' Capital. We didn't have much time to organize this event but it was a big success. 'Punkin' Day' has got a great future and the chamber plans to make it even greater this year and each year after that."

The chamber also awarded $100 in October to Joe Hinkle for the first bale of cotton, and sponsored a trip to Dallas to see a Cowboys football game.

In September the chamber worked very closely with The Floydada Development Company to obtain a minimum security prison in Floydada. "Even though we were unsuccessful at getting the prison here, it doesn't mean we were altogether unsuccessful. It brought all the leaders of the community together for a cause," said Smith.

In August the chamber, along with the city, purchased the "I Love Floydada" lapel pins. "They went over so well we had to buy some more," said Smith. Also in August was the back to school promotion for the businesses.

Smith also introduced the new directors for the new year. They are: Monte Williams, Eric Cornelius, Bill Gray, Edd Henderson, Kyle Smith, Johnny Summers and Nancy Willson. Appointed directors are Lewis McDaniel and Bill Orman. Holdover directors are: Clar Schacht, Steve Fyffe, Alice Gilroy, Larry Ogden, Fred Thayer and Wayne Tipton.

TEAGUE ADDRESS
 Dr. Rodney Teague, a Floydada High School graduate, was the featured speaker for the banquet. Graduating in 1962 from Floydada, he was voted unanimously to the all-state football team and the all-state basketball team his senior year.

Receiving a DDS degree from the Baylor University College of Dentistry, he practiced dentistry from 1971 to 1986 when he sold his practice. He and his wife, the former Sara Holmes of Floydada, are both national seminar leaders for Quest Healthcare, doing seminars and consulting for dentists and physicians across the country.

Attributing his success to the people in Floydada and the values he learned from family, friends, and teachers, Dr. Teague urged the community to work as a team. "If you work as a team," said Teague, "the individual will be served. If you only strive as an individual, the team loses."

"Being real smart does not necessarily make the difference in your success," said Teague. "Success and happiness depend on attitude. You can't be happy just because you're successful. Be happy and you'll be successful."

Teague urged the crowd of 130 to set their goals and always look for opportunity. "The striving to get your goal creates happiness. Be happy in your moment because it's the only moment you're going to live in."

Teague was joined at the banquet by his wife, Sara, and his mother, Lula Teague of Floydada.

To The Voters of Precinct 1, Floyd County

I thank you for your support and vote in the last election for Commissioner of Precinct One

1. My first concern is to save Floyd County taxpayers money. Since the Precinct 1 budget has been lowered considerably and with approximately $350,000.00 to $400,000.00 worth of equipment and machinery, it is very important to have a commissioner that is able to see that all equipment and machinery is well taken care of and properly handled so we will get as much use out of it as possible.
2. I am capable and will carry out my duties as necessary in Commissioners Court.
3. I will devote myself full time as commissioner as I will not have another job or occupation. I will go out every day with my employees and be there to supervise and to help. I will take my four employees places on the job during their eight weeks vacation time. I believe that I will be the only one running in the precinct that can devote full time as commissioner.
4. As I have been employed in Precinct 4 for the past six years I know the servicing and maintenance of all heavy equipment used.
5. I will send out at least one report on inventory and expenses every year to each voter of Precinct one.
6. In case of emergency calls nights or weekends due to road washouts or conditions caused by weather or other hazards I will be available to take care of the situation myself.
7. If elected, I will purchase all available parts and supplies in Floydada.

Your Vote and Influence Will Be Greatly Appreciated

Be sure to vote March 8th

Political ad paid for by candidate

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

When you go to the polls next Tuesday to elect a Tax Assessor-Collector for Floyd County for the next four years, consider carefully the importance of accuracy, efficiency and courtesy in a public office.

Carolyn Redding has held several responsible positions, almost continuously, during the past twenty-five years, and she learned a long time ago the necessity of establishing and maintaining a good working relationship with those she worked with, as well as the general public.

She is an experienced bookkeeper and realizes the necessity of keeping accurate records that are easy to understand, easy to audit and that easily reflect all receipts and disbursements in a business-like manner. She is dedicated to her work, her responsibilities and her employers.

Her employment the last few years in the Tax Appraisal Office has given her good insight into the functions and operation of the office of Tax Assessor-Collector. This office is one that desperately needs a mature person with good, sound judgement, lots of patience and above all a willingness to cooperate with other public officials who are working in the best interest of Floyd County.

Your vote for Carolyn Redding for Tax Assessor-Collector will be a vote for accuracy, efficiency, courtesy, dedication and cooperation, so vote for her on March 8th, and you will be glad you did.

Well, here it is the last of February, can't believe that it is time for another month, March. Do hope that it will come in as a lamb, and not a lion. March is a time for spring, yard work. Saw a robin in the yard, a sign of Spring, they say.

Tuesday, Bro. Neeley and Zeldia came and brought bananas and shared songs and the word. At 2:00 the residents had popcorn and did the rhythm band.

Wednesday, Bro. Earl Blair came and shared from Phil. 1-12, To Live in Christ. "Even when Paul was in prison he preached the good news to all." Wednesday evening was Bingo as usual, Myra Hall had the first Bingo. Apples, oranges, pears and marshmallows were the treats.

Thursday, Bro. Curry came and shared the word, about "trusting God daily for our daily needs and taking one day at a time." At 2:00 a movie was shown and the residents had popcorn.

Friday, the ladies from First Baptist Church came and shared in songs and psalm. At 1:30 the residents went to Plainview on a bus ride, Sonic Drive-In treated them to ice cream. Those going on the bus trip were: Iva Wells, Florence Curry, Otis Johnson, Della Halencak, Burmah Probasco, Charles Breeding, Brooks Calloway, Jo Bryant and Wilma Payne. Workshop to train child care providers slated March 26

Licensed child care facilities are regulated by the Texas Department of Human Services and visited on a regular basis to insure that standards are met. Annual training is required for the directors and staff members of licensed facilities.

To help operators of both licensed and registered child care facilities across the South Plains provide the best possible care and strengthen their business, District 2 Extension home economist of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service will provide an one-day workshop in Lubbock on March 26.

Training will include questions and answers on licensing and practical sessions on marketing your business, scheduling a child's day, arts and crafts for children, resources to make the job easier, record keeping, discipline, communication and conflict management, cooking with kids, looking great and feeling terrific and the balancing act of keeping kids in your home. A refresher course on cardiopulmonary resuscitation (CPR) also will be offered.

Instructions will be provided by Extension home economists, staff members of TDHS, Texas Tech University Health Science Center, South Plains Association for the Education of the Young Children and several experienced child care providers.

The training will be held at the Texas A&M University Agricultural Research Extension Center just north of Lubbock International Airport. The center is on FM 1294 just east of I-27 at the Shallowater exit. The program will be from 8:30 a.m. until 3:30 p.m.

Early registration, costing $7.50, must be made by March 10. The registration fee includes lunch. Registration made after March 10 will cost $20.00. Call the Floyd County Extension office at 983-2806 for forms to register or for more information.

This program is open to everyone regardless of socioeconomic level, race, color, sex, religion, handicap or national origin.

Sulfites remain in some foods

If you're allergic to sulfites, becoming a good label-reader may keep you from experiencing wheezing attacks and other reactions.

"The Food and Drug Administration now has in place several regulations designed to protect people with sulfite sensitivities," says Dr. Alice Hunt, a nutrition specialist.

Labeling regulations that took effect last year require that foods containing 10 parts per million or more of sulfites include that information on the label, she explains.

The specialist notes that wines, canned and frozen shellfish, canned and frozen fruit juices, dried fruits and pickled foods and condiments are just a few of the products still treated with sulfites. Baked goods including pizza crust and cookies may also contain the preservatives.

Although severe allergic reactions to foods containing smaller amounts of sulfites are rare, those with allergies should learn to recognize the names of sulfiting agents that appear on packages, Hunt advises.

According to the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service specialist, these include sodium sulfite, sulfur dioxide, potassium sulfite, sodium bisulfite, sulfur dioxide and potassium or sodium metabisulfite.

"Although the FDA banned the use of sulfiting agents on fresh fruits and vegetables in 1986, you shouldn't assume that all foods at salad bars are now sulfite-free," cautions Hunt.

She explains that because the ban only prohibits the use of sulfites on raw fruits and vegetables, other foods which are legally sulfite-treated may be mixed in among salad bar offerings. The most common of these are shrimp and pickled foods, such as peppers, olives or okra.

Hunt says that an estimated one million Americans are allergic to sulfites, but for the rest of the population they present no hazard.

Sulfites are used to delay or prevent changes of color, flavor or texture of foods and beverages which makes them more appetizing for consumers, she adds.

Harmony Extension Homemakers Club receive food preserving tips

The art of making baskets from rope and strips of material was learned at the February 22 meeting of Harmony Extension Homemakers Club. Juanita Pool was hostess and teacher at the meeting held at community club room. For her SAI (share an idea) she gave ways to preserve bananas, by freezing, and to get more juice from lemons soak awhile in hot water, then roll to soften. If one needs only a small amount of juice a toothpick can be used to punch a hole in the lemon, squeeze out amount of juice needed, put the toothpick back in the hole, and the lemon will keep a long while. To keep carrots, turnips, onions, etc. for a long time, wrap in newspapers and store in styrofoam ice chests, they will keep a long time.

Maye Williams, vice president, presided at the meeting as the president Vivian Curtis was in California.

The roll call was answered with "Something I learned from experience."

Plans were completed for the second meeting on March 28, when the group travels to Roaring Springs.

Instructions were given on making the baskets and work began. A time out was taken and Arvie Schulz conducted a game on words ending in ate.

Hostess served refreshments to Arvie Schulz, Lucille Miller, Maye Williams, Bess Carr, Blanche Williams, Ruth Scott, Imelda Murry, and visitor Billie Hanna.

Caprock Hospital District names Molly Stringer director of nurses

Molly Stringer has been named to the position of director of nurses at Caprock Hospital District. The position was left vacant by the resignation of Myra Poteet R.N., who is now director of emergency services at St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock.

Mrs. Stringer, a long-time Floyd County resident, has been employed at Caprock Hospital for the past 12 years.

She was graduated from the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing and has been a nurse for 15 years.

Prior to joining the Caprock Hospital staff, Mrs. Stringer was associated with Central Plains Hospital in Plainview in labor and delivery and newborn nursery.

After coming to the local hospital, she has worked as a LVN staff nurse and also took O.B. call for Dr. Terry James while completing her education at Methodist Hospital. She has "mostly served as director of surgery for seven years and was also day supervisor."

In 1985, Mrs. Stringer was promoted to assistant director of nursing in addition to day supervisor. She has been associated with the ambulance service since 1976.

The new director of nurses has been involved in conducting community classes on diabetes and is a facilitator for the American Cancer Society's "no smoking class."

Second air ambulance will serve South Plains

Another air ambulance will soon be put into service for the South Plains area. Methodist Hospital and Lubbock General Hospital are joining forces on the Care+Link helicopter.

It is expected to be placed into service in mid-April, according to Sheriff Fred Cardinal. Twenty-four hour emergency service will be provided.

Reputed to be "the fastest aeromedical helicopter in the free world," the aircraft also offers "the largest cabin interior for patient care on any EMS helicopter presently flying." It will serve an area within a radius of 185 miles surrounding Lubbock.

The SA 365N-1 Dauphin air ambulance (instrument flying rated) has a cruise speed of 195 miles and a range of 580 miles per fueling.

The aircraft will accommodate seven adults, including crew (two pilots, registered flight nurse, paramedic, specialty personnel based on patients' needs) and patient (adult, child or infant).

A weather radar will be another of the helicopter's instruments.

State information program offers tips on tax relief

Taxpayers can learn how to get property tax relief from their local appraisal district offices, according to Ron Patterson, executive director of the State Property Tax Board (SPTB).

Patterson said the SPTB staff is working with appraisal districts and local news media to help make taxpayers aware of filing deadlines for property tax exemptions and other forms of property tax relief.

"Property owners must file rendition forms by March 31 and apply for exemptions and special productive valuation by May 2 this year," Patterson said. Taxpayers should file all exemption and productive value applications, as well as rendition forms, with the local appraisal district.

A rendition is a report a property owner makes listing taxable property owned or managed on January 1, 1988. On it, a taxpayer can record an opinion of the property's value. "If the owner renders a property's value, the appraisal district must notify the owner if it places a higher value on the property," Patterson explained.

Some property owners are required by law to render their property. "Anyone who owns or manages income-producing personal property on January 1 must file a rendition statement with the appraisal district," Patterson said.

The chief appraiser may also require other property owners or managers to render property; if so, the chief appraiser will send a notice and the appropriate rendition form. Property owners must file renditions by March 31.

Homeowners can usually get tax relief through residence homestead exemptions. "Homestead exemptions help homeowners because they allow a part of a home's value to be exempt from property taxes. This in turn reduces the amount of property taxes assessed on the house," Patterson explained.

Homestead exemptions are available for all qualified homeowners and additional tax relief is available for persons who are disabled and those who are 65 and older. Elderly homeowners who receive the over-65 homestead exemption also get a "freeze," or ceiling on school taxes.

Disabled veterans, survivors of deceased disabled veterans and survivors of those who died on active duty also receive tax exemptions from all taxing units.

"Farmers and ranchers can also lower their tax bill," Patterson said. "If their land qualifies for productivity valuation, the land will be taxed on its ability to produce, instead of its market value." Productivity valuation comes in two forms, often referred to by the section of the Texas Constitution that provides them: open-space or "1-d-1" valuation and agricultural or "1-d" valuation.

Property owners who last year received homestead exemptions, disabled veterans' exemptions and open-space land valuation do not need to reapply in 1988, unless the chief appraiser requests a new application to confirm the owner's current qualification.

Patterson points out, however, that property owners who have not previously received tax relief on their present homesteads or land must apply in 1988. Farmers and ranchers who receive agricultural-use valuation must apply for it annually.

People whose property is in more than one county appraisal district have an additional responsibility. They may have to file for exemptions and productivity valuation in each appraisal district in which the property is located. If they do not, taxing units may tax the property on its full market value.

Applications for exemptions and a special valuation must be submitted to the appraisal office by May 2.

Complete information on tax exemptions and rendition requirements is in a pamphlet SPTB produces, "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities." The pamphlet also explains how taxpayers can challenge the values placed on their property by protesting to the appraisal review board. The free pamphlet is available from appraisal district offices or from SPTB in Austin.

"Local governments will generate nearly $9 billion in taxes this year," Patterson said. "It will help fund necessary services such as public schools, hospitals, fire and police protection, water, utilities and local colleges."

"I urge all property owners to learn about the property tax process, to file renditions and to take advantage of all forms of tax relief available to them," Patterson said.

Congressional candidate Bob Price visits Floydada

Bob Price, Republican candidate for U.S. Congress from the 13th District, brought his campaign to Floydada recently. He is a Pampa rancher and farmer.

Price swamped Democratic candidate Dee Miller, gaining 59.5 percent of the vote, to become the first Republican ever elected from the 18th District in 1966. Price face no serious problems in retaining his seat in 1968 and 1970. "In 1972, however, the Democratic majority in the Texas State Legislature redrew congressional district lines," Price says. He found himself residing in the new 13th district which also included the home of six-term incumbent, Representative Graham Purcell.

It was a hard-fought campaign in a district containing pockets of voters with allegiance to both incumbents. Price won, with 54.8 percent of the vote.

He faced another redistricting and was defeated in 1974 by Democratic State Senator Jack Hightower.

Price served in the Texas State Senate from 1979 to 1981. He was a member of the Senate Finance Committee, the Human Resources Committee and the Natural Resources Committee.

Price served on the House Agriculture Committee for eight years, as well as the Subcommittee on Livestock and Feed Grain and the Subcommittee on Cotton. He helped develop the Farm Program for the early 1970s.

The Pampa resident was on the House Armed Services Committee for six years, being instrumental in helping develop the military preparedness for the Air Force, Navy, Army and Mar-

Higginbotham-Bartlett joins Hardware Wholesalers, Inc.

Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., of Floydada, has become an affiliate member of Hardware Wholesalers, Inc., a member-owned buying organization consisting of over 2,600 independent merchants.

"We are real excited about this," said Curtis Clevenger, manager of Floydada's Higginbotham-Bartlett. "We will be able to get stock in faster and have more stock to choose from."

HWI serves retail hardware and building material dealers and has an annual sales volume of over 900 million dollars. Clevenger said his firm will now be an outlet for more than 36,000 items in the HWI Distribution Center.

Clevenger said his firm will be able to offer the local market a complete selection of building materials, builders hardware, brand-name tools, plumbing and electrical. "We will not only offer the same merchandise that we have carried all along," said Clevenger, "but we will also have new merchandise in stock on hardware, plumbing, and electrical."

"Other merchandise, such as sporting goods, garden and lawn supplies, housewares, and appliances can be ordered from an HWI catalog which we will have in our store."

"We will be expanding our capability of getting building material and hardware on a weekly basis," said Clevenger. Deliveries are made each Wednesday from the Distribution Center in Waco. Special orders can be delivered during the week in which the order is placed, if the item is ordered before Monday. There is no shipping charge for special orders delivered to the store.

John Laird has been assigned as the area supervisor for the local firm. His responsibilities include employee training, inventory control, management training, and product knowledge training. In addition, training meetings are conducted periodically for specialized instruction of all phases of retailing.

Clevenger believes the Floydada area should have a "friendly" place to shop with good service and low prices. "We will be able to get better stock faster, more often, and keep it in stock. We want people to remember us and shop in Floydada."

Voters of Precinct One

Over the past weeks I have attempted to contact as many of you as I could, I want to thank everyone for their friendliness and response.

I believe the experience I have gained over the past years, as a director on various boards, has given me the knowledge and other qualifications necessary to serve as your commissioner.

I understand the need to work with the other members of the Commissioners Court and the importance of working for the needs of those who live in Precinct 1.

The farming operation I maintain allows me sufficient time to devote to this position.

As A Farm Woman Thinks by Nettie Witte Spikes

A sale, a table of old time things, a fat little black teakettle, a tall coffee mill, the kind you hold in your lap, a black dinner pot, two old fashioned sad irons. I could not leave. I patted the little black teakettle, turned the mill. Oh, I must have these things, I told my friends, these things are whispering to me to buy them and give them a home. I tremble at the thought that I might not get them. The little kettle told me that it would sit on my stove and sing to me, tell me tales of a dugout home on the prairie, show me how it bubbled the water and had it hot for the good doctor, who had come so many miles and the good women who washed the tiny infant. And of the time when the little one who had the pneumonia, and the little black kettle was never empty on the bachelor stove. It whispered to me of the secrets it heard as the cowboy made love to the beautiful girl. Told me that its tune was sad the night the water it heated was to bathe the old grandmother for her last rest.

But a merry happy song came from its spout the day the cowboy came for his bride. But here the black dinner pot broke in and told me the kettle did not get all the honors, as it had set by the kettles side during all the years in the dugout home, boiled the meat and the greens; the chicken and the dumplings steamed in its black depths. Not to be outdone, the coffee mill told me that it was as useful to the nester as the kettle and the pot. And the irons told me they could tell an interesting history as well as give me good service. I hunted the owners, bought them as well as heard the history of the owner. And now they are mine. Water will heat again in the fat black kettle, beans will boil tender and good in the dinner pot. The irons will make print dresses and overalls and shirts neat and smooth, but the coffee mills days are over.

As A Farm Women Thinks - Feb. 10, 1938

I do not wonder at Don Quixote battling windmills. Windmills to me have more personality than any other inanimate thing. Some lean forward as if listening with eager ears to the gossip of the world. Some rear back and hold their arms across their breasts as if they were boasters and braggarts. Have you not noticed some, so dispirited they creak and groan with each passing wind? Some stand bravely to the wind as if proud of the job of pumping clear cold water for man and beast. Some have dignity and others act silly and vain.

As A Farm Woman Thinks - January 6, 1938

After the hurry and rush of the gay holiday season I like to go through all my things, take inventory as it were. Old clothing is made into beautiful hooked rugs. Machine and dresser drawers are emptied of the things they have been accumulating through the busy year. I throw away the useless rubbish, look at the cherished keepsakes, put them away with a tear.

I go through my soul also. Gather up any bits of hate or unkind feelings and toss them out. I polish the cherished memories I sweep out the ugly thoughts. The sunshine of God's love is let in to drive out the gloom and joy of pessimism and doubt. I need to restore my supply of faith and love and hope. Lay in a large supply of friends. Keep in closer touch with the ones I have.

Obituary

MILTON ROBBS

Memorial services for Milton Robbs, 87, a retired Lockney farmer, are scheduled for 2 p.m. Thursday (today) in First Baptist Church in Lockney. The Rev. Garry Higgs, pastor, is to officiate and will be assisted by the Rev. Murle Rodgers, a retired pastor.

Interment will be made in Lockney Cemetery, under direction of Moore-Rose Funeral Home.

Grandsons are to serve as pallbearers.

Mr. Robbs was claimed by death at 1:15 a.m. Tuesday, March 1, in Lockney Nursing Home after a lengthy illness. He had been a resident of the home about a year.

Mr. Robbs and Juanita Bloxson were married in 1925 at Branson, Colo. They homesteaded land in Colorado and resided there until coming to Lockney in 1928. She died in 1952.

He and Elva Hampton were married and moved to Lockney in 1963.

Milton Robbs was born July 15, 1900 at Mineral Wells.

He was a Baptist.

Survivors include his wife, Elva; four sons, Floyd and R.L., both of Wilcox, Ariz., Jerry of Dennison, Tex., and Larry of Temple, Okla.; three daughters, Marie Cline of Littlefield, Viola Noyse of Walsh, Colo., and Leora Spurlock of Temple, Okla.; 20 grandchildren; and 21 great-grandchildren.

What are teachers?

What are teachers? Teachers are many things...they are knowledge with smiles on their faces...democracy, with books in their hands...wisdom with flecks of white chalk dust in their hair. Teachers come in all sizes and temperaments...short, tall, skinny, plump, laughing, serious, happy and sad. They're the future of the nation in a sack dress or pair of Levis...love, with a college education. In their every-day work week, they are expected to be: Diplomats, philosophers, politicians, fight referees, pediatricians, law enforcement officers, nurses, doctors, and quiz program directors. Teachers have children in their eyes...and all their dreams are young dreams. They are psychiatrists without a couch...politicians without promise...babysitters without the right to raid the icebox. They make less money than men or women wrestlers, or burlesque striptease dancers, or blackjack dealers in Nevada. Their days are filled with school bells, young chatter, chalk-dust, waving hands, questions, and worried parents. Teachers are equally adept at blowing small noses, teaching fractions, putting on galoshes, finding lost mittens in dark cloakrooms, and making parents feel good at parent-teacher meetings. They spend four years in college, studying hard, in order to learn how to "make orange paper pumpkins at Halloween, umpire baseball games at recess time, tell boys to throw bubble gum in the wastebasket. In addition to knowing all there is to know about reading, writing, and arithmetic, not to mention science, biology, history and music, teachers have to be authorities on baseball, grasshoppers, little girls, snakes, young love, little boys, and how to live three months of the year without a paycheck. While grateful parents spend their evenings watching television, attending cocktail parties, complaining about the high cost of the school system, teachers spend their evenings correcting examination papers, smiling at people at parent-teacher meetings, and wishing they had become anything but teachers. Teachers can be found after school taking aspirin, picking up spitballs, washing black boards, rehearsing plays, sewing angel costumes for Christmas pageants, teaching students to debate, building background scenery for school plays, or just sitting at desks waiting for strength to get up and go home. Teachers are expected to go to church, keep out of debt, have creative minds, but not disagree with the Board of Education, stay away from cigarettes, beer, and bingo games, and give willingly to the United Fund. A teacher dispenses magic, sells futures, and dreams are their stock in trade... from the teacher's small classroom will come the doctors of tomorrow, the persons who will go to the moon, the great artists and novelists of the year 2000, the industrial tycoons, and all the leaders America will need to survive in a puzzled world. Teachers are the future of the world with a ruler in their hands, progress with a pencil behind their ears, underpaid, unappreciated (at times), harried, and overworked. Teachers gain their pay in secret satisfaction. Secretly, they will admit, "I have the greatest job of all..." and, they have, because teachers hold the history of the world in the palms of their hands...they're teachers.

Business opportunities: The old come-on

If you're looking through the classified section of your newspaper, sooner or later you're sure to run across an ad that reads something like this:

"Business opportunity! New firm expanding into this area needs distributors for national products. No selling required. Earn $20,000 a year working part-time! Proven investment returns. Call Mr. Wonder."

THE PITCH

If you respond to this or similar ads, there's a chance you could become the object of a misleading sales pitch for a less-than-profitable distributorship. The sales routine for such a deceptive offer generally follows this pattern:

Mr. Wonder comes to your house or sends a sales representative to explain the distributorship investment opportunity. The product to be distributed may be anything from film to children's books to vending machines that dispense freeze-dried coffee or soup.

Very likely, you will be shown lavish colored photographs and brochures of the product designed to impress you with the fact that large amounts of money can be made with little effort.

Phone directory depicts 'Link to Learning'

The expanding role of Southwestern Bell Telephone's $12 billion network in Texas' economic and educational growth is portrayed on the cover of the 1987-88 Southwestern Bell Telephone directory.

The directory cover artwork, painted by Mark Clapham of Conroe, Texas, is titled "Communication Trilogy: Texas Link to Learning." It depicts how young Texans use Southwestern Bell Telephone's local network of fiber optics and digital switching to talk on their own personal telephone line or do homework over a computer modem.

The artwork will appear on more than nine million Southwestern Bell Telephone directories distributed across the state in 1988.

Mr. West said about 2,083 directories will be delivered to area residents and businesses. Delivery should be completed by February 12, 1988.

Each residential customer will receive one directory. For additional copies, customers should call their Southwestern Bell Telephone business office. However, Mr. West requests that customers not call right away.

"If your friend across town got his directory before you received yours, you'll probably get one within a few days," he said.

This year, 15 white pages and 24 yellow pages make up the Floydada directory. There are 2,166 white page listings.

Local emergency numbers are listed on the inside front cover of the new directory.

In the Consumer Guide at the front of the directory, customers will find tips on how to save money on their telephone service. Also included is a toll-free number Texas customers may call if they have a complaint about their telephone service (1-800-422-0499).

The salesman of such a product as vending machines may get you to agree that such a machine will sell at least 25 units of the product a day.

"But let's be conservative," he may say. "Suppose it sells only 10 units a day. Even at that, you can make $1400 a month if you purchase 10 machines and they earn 50 cents on each sale.

After describing the profitable machine locations provided by the company, the salesman will urge you to sign a contract immediately to take advantage of the "fantastic" offer for only $2000.

Later, when you survey the locations, you may find that your soup dispensing machine is located in the back of a beauty salon or service station where there is little public traffic.

If you complain to the company, you may be told that an attempt will be made to sell your distributorship to someone else. Chances are good, of course, that you will never get your money back.

Experiences such as this may be an exception, for there are many reputable firms engaged in the sale of distributorships, but they are occurring frequently enough that they have become a matter of concern for Attorneys General in all states.

GUIDELINES

The consumer protection attorneys advise taking these precautions before investing any money in a distributorship:

- Find out who the principal investors are in the company.
- Ask for a list of other investors and contact them to learn what experiences they have had in dealing with the company.

• Don't rely on the representations made to you by salesmen for such companies about investment returns, product quality, or anything else—verify these things yourself or ask others.

• Don't be high-pressured into signing a contract immediately—think about the offer for a few days or even weeks, and have your lawyer look over the contract.

• Check with your local Better Business Bureau to find out if any complaints have been filed on the company.

PROPERTY TAX RENDITIONS

HELP YOU PROTECT YOUR RIGHTS AS A TAXPAYER

A rendition is a report to the appraisal district that lists all the taxable property you own or control on January 1, 1988. You may also give your opinion of the property's value, if you wish.

You must file a rendition if you own tangible personal property used to produce income—such as the machinery and equipment used by a business.

The appraisal district may require any taxpayer to file a rendition by sending the taxpayer a written notice and a rendition form.

You may want to file a rendition, even if you aren't required to file, to preserve some of your rights as a taxpayer:

- You put your correct mailing address on record so your tax bills will go to the right address. If your bill is mailed to the wrong address, the law still holds you responsible for paying your taxes on time or paying extra charges for late payments.
- You can put your own opinion of your property's value on record. If the appraisal district then places a higher value on your property, it must notify you in writing of the higher value and explain how you can protest that value to the appraisal review board.

• By filing a special type of rendition called a report of decreased value, you can notify the appraisal district of significant damage to your property that occurred in 1987. The district will send someone to verify the damage and take it into account when assigning a 1988 value to your property.

File renditions with your local appraisal district at the address shown below. Forms are available there.

The deadline for 1988 renditions is March 31. You can get an extra 30 days if you ask for it in writing before the March 31 deadline.

For more information, get a free copy of the pamphlet, Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities, at your appraisal district office or from the State Property Tax Board in Austin.

Commissioners, voting precinct line changes

The following is believed to be a substantially correct summary of the recent major changes made in commissioners' and voting precinct lines in Floyd County as such changes bear on the forthcoming elections. There are additionally certain minor changes in boundaries, in most instances apparently due to inadvertence on the part of the draftsman, but detailing such minor changes would require too much space for this brief summary.

Baker No. 13 and Southeast Floydada No. 23: The area of the former Lakeview Precinct No. 15, previously added to Southeast Floydada, has now been shifted to Baker Precinct No. 13.

Southeast Floydada No. 23 and Southwest Floydada No. 1: Within the city limits of Floydada, the area south of Virginia Street and east of Third Street as far south as Crockett Street has been detached from Southwest Floydada and added to Southeast Floydada.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and McCoy No. 22: The area of the former Starkey Precinct No. 2, previously added to Southwest Floydada, has now been shifted to McCoy No. 22.

Southwest Floydada No. 1 and Northeast Floydada No. 24: The area of the former Northwest Floydada No. 19 north of Virginia Street, west of Third Street, and west of U.S. Highway 70, has been added to Southwest Floydada; the remaining area of Northwest Floydada, lying north of Virginia Street, and east of Third Street and east of Highway 70, has been added to Northeast Floydada, in effect abolishing Northwest Floydada No. 19.

East Lockney No. 5, West Lockney No. 18, and Lone Star No. 8: East Lockney has been drastically reduced in size, and, as so reduced, has been transferred from Commissioner's Precinct No. 2 to Commissioner's Precinct No. 3. Except for an enclave extending east from Main Street to include Lockney General Hospital, and a similar enclave one block wide north and south, extending east from Main Street to include the west half of the City Hall, Main Street remains the boundary between East Lockney and West Lockney from the north city limits south to Shurbet Street; all that part of East Lockney south of Shurbet Street, west of the Lone Star Highway, and south and west of the Santa Fe Railway, has been added to West Lockney. All that part of East Lockney north of the Flomot Highway, and east of the Lone Star Highway, plus an enclave on the west side of the Lone Star Highway to include the County Machinery Barn, has been added to Lone Star No. 8.

The boundaries of the following voting precincts appear to be substantially unchanged: Dougherty No. 20, Harmony No. 16, Allmon No. 3, Sandhill No. 4, Providence No. 7, South Plains No. 9, Cedar Hill No. 11, and Goodnight No. 17.

Candidate profiles for March 8 primary

Local political candidates are gearing up for the final push in their primary campaigns. The culmination of their efforts will come with the "Super Tuesday" voting in both the Democratic and Republican primaries.

Among the races which have developed in Floyd County are the multi-candidate bid for election in Precincts 1 and 3 to the post of Commissioner. Also turning into a contest is the race for the position of county tax assessor/collector between two Floyd County ladies.

Vying for the position of TA/C are Penny Golightly, appointed to the post in May by the county commissioners, and Carolyn Redding. Both are listed on the Democratic ticket.

TAX ASSESSOR-COLLECTOR

Penny Golightly

Golightly, reared in the Lakeview Community area, is a graduate of Floydada High School and the Famous Artists School. She has a total of five years experience in the TA/C office, having been the deputy in the office prior to her appointment last year.

Her past work experience also includes bookkeeping, computer operations and past association with phases of the cotton business. She is a member of the Floyd County Arts Association. She is married to Dayne Golightly and the couple has two children.

Carolyn Redding

Carolyn Redding, a Floyd County native and graduate of Floydada High School, is opposing Golightly in the primary. She is currently employed by the Floyd County Central Tax Appraisal District and served five years as deputy county clerk. A stint as secretary to the district attorney brings her courthouse experience to eight years.

Redding attended classes at Western Texas College and Wayland Baptist University and has past experience in accounting and bookkeeping, having been formerly employed by the school district, an accountant and Devro, Inc. of Lubbock. She was the editor and general manager for Floyd County Newspapers prior to being associated with the appraisal district. She is married to John Redding and they are the parents of two children.

PRECINCT ONE COMMISSIONER

A five-man race has developed in the pursuit of the Precinct 1 commissioner's post. Incumbent Sam Spence is being challenged by Connie Bearden, Hulon Carthel, Bill Hopper and Delmas McCormick.

Sam Spence

Sam Spence, the incumbent, is seeking election to his third term on commissioners court. He is a Floyd County native and a World War II veteran. He and his wife Audrey, a teacher with Floydada Independent School District, are the parents of a daughter and have one grandchild.

Spence has served three years on the Child Welfare Board and was also on the Floyd County Historical Museum board and the Floyd County Library board.

He was 1984 president of Old Settler's. He is a current member of the board of directors of South Plains Area Government (SPAG). He is active in the Whirlwind Sams and maintains an insurance business in Floydada.

Connie Bearden

Connie Bearden, one of four opponents filed on the Democratic ticket, is a lifelong resident of Floyd County and has lived 42 years in the Precinct 1 area. He was educated in Floydada schools, graduating from Floydada High School. He served two years in the U.S. Army during the Korean conflict. He has been a farmer and landowner in the county all of his adult life.

Bearden is a director on the board of Brown Gin. He and his wife Ray Nell have three children, two daughters and a son, and they have three grandchildren.

Hulon Carthel

Hulon Carthel is also on the ballot for the Precinct 1 position. Carthel is a graduate of Floydada High School and a 1972 graduate of Texas Tech University with a degree in economics. He is a Floyd County native as is his wife, Anne, who teaches in Floydada. The couple has three children.

Carthel is a farmer and businessman. He is a former school board trustee and remains active in school and 4-H activities.

Bill Hopper

Bill Hopper, a member of the Precinct 4 road crew for the past six years, is the third candidate vying for the Precinct 1 post. He is a life long resident of Floyd County and farmed for 30 years. He was educated in Floyd County and served in the U.S. Navy during the Korean conflict.

Hopper and his wife, Elena, employed by B.A. Robertson, have three children.

Delmas McCormick

The final challenger for the Precinct 1 commission seat is Delmas McCormick. McCormick was born and raised in Floyd County. He attended school in the Liberty Community for five years and graduated from Floydada High School in 1954. He then served two years in the U.S. Army, returning home to farm.

McCormick is a farmer and businessman and has been active in community affairs. He served eight years as a director of the Floyd County Farm Bureau, five years on the board of directors for Floydada Coop Gins, Inc. and is a director on the Plains Coop Oil Mill board. He and his wife Pauline have four children.

PRECINCT THREE COMMISSIONER

Moving on to Precinct 3, there are three contestants for the commissioners post in northwest Floyd County. The incumbent, Thomas Warren, is seeking election to a third term. He is being challenged by George Taylor and D.R. (Richard) Sanders.

Thomas Warren

Thomas Warren, a native of the county, was born in Center Community and attended Liberty School before graduating from Floydada High School. He was a full time farmer before becoming a full time commissioner. He served in the U.S. Army during 1945-46. Warren is a former school board member and served six years on the board of Producers Coop.

The third term candidate and his wife Marie have two sons and two daughters as well as twelve grandchildren, six boys and six girls.

D.R. Sanders

He is a farmer, businessman and former teacher, having taught one year at both South Plains and Center and two years in Swisher County.

Taylor, who worked on the road crew in Precinct 3 for a year, and his wife Elwauna are the parents of a daughter. They also have three grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

A Powerful Partnership

Public Schools Week March 7-11

"We encourage all parents to visit school any time during the week and to have lunch with their children at school," Supt. Jerry Cannon says as Texas Public Schools Week starts next Monday. The event is planned from March 7-11. Theme of this year's effort is "Texas Public Schools and YOU: A Powerful Partnership."

Parents who plan to have lunch in the school cafeteria with their offspring are asked to let school officials know, if possible, in order for lunchroom workers to know the amount of food to prepare.

Since open house is held on all campuses in the fall, no additional open house is planned during Texas Public Schools Week. Supt. Cannon explains that the fall event allows parents an opportunity to visit early in the school year.

The local Masonic Lodge is planning an 8 p.m. Monday program for the public in A.E. Baker Auditorium at Floydada High School. Additional information on this event is listed in a separate article.

10 WAYS TO MAKE EDUCATION A 'FAMILY AFFAIR'
Material from Texas Public Schools

Week planners list the following "10 Ways to make Education a 'Family Affair' Without Cost." It states:

1. Get to know your child's principal and other school staff.
2. Be aware and discuss with your family: school goals, regulations and guidelines.
3. Set a good example for your child, use acceptable language at all times. Let your child see you reading and continuing your interest in education.
4. Be patient. A child who is scared, upset and under pressure is less likely to learn than a child who is calm and unworried.
5. Be a good listener. Let your child know that what he/she has to say is important.

6. Encourage your child to tell you at least three things he/she did at school on a given day.

7. Plan one meal a day where each member can relax and take time to share ideas, concerns, plans, etc.

8. Plan activities that involve the entire family: allow free time for your child to play.

9. Limit television time. When you watch TV with your child, discuss the programs.

10. Keep a family calendar with daily listings of each person's activities (homework, family activities, sports, etc.)

ARTISTS OF THE MONTH—For the month of March, instead of a single artist of the month display at the First National Bank, R.C. Andrews Elementary students will present their art work for public viewing. Each student will have an example of his or her art work displayed throughout the bank during the bank hours of 9:00 a.m. - 3:00 p.m.

Mitzi Julian named to President's List

Mitzi Julian, daughter of Kendis and Janice Julian, was named to the President's List at Texas Tech University for the fall 1987 semester.

In order to be named to the President's List, a student must have completed 12 or more semester hours of classwork and maintain a perfect 4.0 grade point average.

Julian, a housing and interiors major, is in her senior year at Tech.

What I almost missed...

You come in from work
Its been such a long day.
You're tired, you're exhausted
Wish your headache would go away.

The kids come abounding
Their faces aglow.
Tonight DAD visits our classroom
We can show him all that we know!

"Dad, are you are ready
To see what we have done?
We've worked really hard.
But then some was for fun.

We're having a play.
I've learned all of my lines.
Sure hope I do well
You know it's my very first time."

You look at the children,
"I'd really rather not go.
It's been such a long day
And I've got this headache you know."

You don't have to ask them
How this makes them feel.
It's all over their faces.
You feel like a big heel.

"Oh, to heck with my headache,
I'll go anyway.
Texas Public Schools Week
Doesn't come everyday."

There, in your daughter's classroom
Lying atop of her little desk
Is her very first story
Entitled, "My Dad, He's the Best."

Then on to your son's room
And what do you see?
Underneath his VERY BEST printing,
"Who I'd Most Like to Be"

It's a picture of ME...

I support Penny Golightly in her campaign for Tax Assessor/Collector on March 8.

She is qualified for this office as I found her very willing to work, wait on the people, flexible to new changes and laws, productive on the job and having reports in on time.

ATTENTION Voters of Precinct 1

We, as residents of Precinct 1, think it is time for a change.

We look forward to having a person whose only job is that of commissioner.

1. A person who has farmed and knows the needs of the rural residents and their employees that must use the rural roads daily.
2. A person who personally knows how to use and maintain the county machinery through working as a county employee for the past six years.
3. A person who is also capable of carrying out his duties on the Commissioners Court.
4. A person who is the only candidate running for Commissioner in Precinct 1 that has had the experience in knowing how to build and maintain roads like they should be.
5. A person who, himself, can get on a hundred thousand dollar maintainer and show an employee how to operate it and show him what to do and how to do it.

We urge all voters in Precinct 1 to support

Seat belt credited with averting serious injury

"If it hadn't been for the seat belt, he probably wouldn't have made it," DPS trooper Chris Ray said of a 34-year-old Parkersburg, West Virginia, resident whose vehicle was "totaled" in a Sunday morning accident, immediately north of Floydada.

James Leonard Rice's '88 Chevrolet Beretta overturned one time and went end-over-end one time, according to Trooper Ray.

The mishap occurred at approximately 10:45 a.m. Sunday on State Highway 207, eight-tenths of a mile north of Floydada.

The Beretta was southbound on 207. An '81 Ford pickup, being driven north on 207 by Robert Edgar Owens, 72, of Floydada, was turning left. Meeting the pickup, the Beretta swerved left to avoid a collision and left the road before overturning, according to Trooper Ray.

The pickup was regarded as a "non-contact unit" as the two vehicles did not collide.

Rice was taken to Caprock Hospital in Floydada by private vehicle. He had a cut to the head, bruises and lacerations but was not seriously injured.

Both men were riding alone.

This accident is another example of the value of seat belts, the DPS says.

MINOR INJURIES

Only minor cuts and abrasions were sustained in a one-vehicle traffic accident about 10 p.m. Saturday at Farm Road 97 and Junction 1065, which is in the northeast corner of Floyd County.

Pedro Garcia Jr., 34, of Sundown was driving a '79 van south on 1065 when the vehicle "went through a stop sign and overturned."

The van had seven occupants. None required medical attention.

The vehicle was not seriously damaged.

DPS troopers also investigated this mishap.

MINOR INJURIES—A West Virginia man sustained only minor injuries Sunday morning in a traffic accident which sent this vehicle overturning and flipping end-over-end. The vehicle, which one source said belonged to a rental agency from Lubbock, was destroyed.

Lubbock fire victims attended school here

Two brothers who perished in an early Tuesday morning Lubbock apartment fire — Kenny, 19, and Larry Daves, 17, — attended Floydada school "for a short time" and had local relatives. Also killed in the blaze were Kenny's wife, Stacy, 18, and their 13-month-old daughter, Tonya.

The Daves brothers were grandsons of Myrtle Vick, nephews of Jimmy and Ernest Vick and cousins of Gary Vick and Debbie Vick, all of Floydada.

The fatal fire occurred "about 3 or 4 o'clock" Tuesday morning, local relatives say. They point out that all four died as a result of smoke inhalation and their bodies were not burned.

In addition to Floydada relatives, the Daves brothers are survived by their mother, Janet Daves of Lubbock; their father, Charles Daves of Tyler; a brother, Charles Ray Daves Jr. of Nebraska; and a sister, Angel Daves of Lubbock.

Police investigate case of three forged checks

Charges were pending early this week on three checks which were forged in February "on the same account." Police were notified of the incident on Saturday.

The forged instruments were passed at Pay-n-Save.

A resident of the 200 block of West Kentucky reported to police about 1 p.m. Saturday that an electric blanket had been stolen from a clothesline. The blanket reportedly was out of its owner's sight "about five minutes," according to Sgt. Harold Snell.

Police were summoned to the 200 block of North Third about 5 p.m. last Thursday to investigate an alleged dog bit. The victim reportedly was a two-year-old child, who was taken to a doctor for treatment of a "scrape on the inside right ankle" before being released.

The dog owner was filed on for allowing the animal to "run loose."

Names of Floyd residents on Unclaimed Money Fund

Forgotten something? Something like a utility deposit from college? Or a savings account opened when your children were young but never used? Maybe your Uncle Ned had a producing oil well or two that he never got around to telling anyone about.

Texas State Treasury has a list of 75,000 Texans who have more than $60 million in lost or forgotten money in accounts ranging from checking and savings accounts to oil royalties and corporate stocks.

"Money turned over to the State Treasury can be claimed at anytime in the future by the original owner or his or her heirs," says State Treasurer Ann Richards.

Persons who find their name on the list may reclaim their property by calling the State Treasury, toll free at 1-800-321-2274, or by writing to the State Treasury at P.O. Box 12608, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

TAXPAYERS' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities

Want to learn more about the property tax system? That's possible by reading a pamphlet the State Property Tax Board has written and made available at the local appraisal district office.

It's called "Taxpayers' Rights, Remedies, Responsibilities" and it may help you save money. Learn about tax relief available through

- homestead exemptions
- disabled veteran exemptions
- special productivity value for farm, ranch, and timber land
- tax deferral for over-65 homeowners

You'll learn how your property is appraised. That way, you can decide if the appraisal district's value is reasonable.

If you think it isn't, the pamphlet tells you how to prepare an appeal to the appraisal review board. You'll learn the types of protests the appraisal review board can hear and useful evidence to bring to your hearing.

Important dates in the tax year are listed. You'll know what your responsibilities are and when you are obligated to satisfy them.

"Remedies" is free to taxpayers. Ask for yours today at
