Voters hard on incumbents during trio of local elections Saturday

Saturday was a hard day for incumbents. Each of the incumbents in school, city and hospital elections who had opposition were defeated.

Due to one present officeholder not seeking another term and another being ousted on both the city and hospital governing bodies will each have two new members. The city council will have one new member.

While incumbents were having a struggle, all three women who appeared on ballots were elected.

Dr. Andy Hale and Cyndiann Williams are new faces on the school board. Dr. Hale was named on 110 ballots and incumbent Freddie Morren, president of the school board, polled 71 in Precinct One.

Mrs. Williams was elected as the Precinct Two trustee. She received 48 votes to 39 for Jerry Livingston and 37 for Clar Schacht.

Weldon Pruitt, a longtime trustee, was not a candidate for re-election. Political newcomer Amado Morales garnered 104 votes to 78 for incumbent Don Green in District One of the city council.

Nancy Willson, running unopposed in District Four, received 41 votes.

The two incumbent at-large council members also were unchallenged in their bid for a fresh term. Frank Breed was named on 271 ballots and Wayne Russell on 273.

NEW HOSPITAL DIRECTORS

Fred Thayer, who received 280 votes, and Melba Vickers, who garnered 181, are new directors on the Caprock Hospital District Board. Aldine Williams, the board president, polled 180.

School trustees are elected to three-year terms while city and hospital representatives are two-year terms.

Lorene Newberry served as judge for the hospital election. On Saturday, 322 ballots were marked, in addition to the 25 absentee votes. This was termed "a good turnout."

One individual received five write-in votes and two others had their names written in on two ballots.

The new directors are to be sworn at the next regular board meeting, which is scheduled for May 19. Holdover board members are Joy Assiter, Don Bean and William Bertrand.

SWORN IN MONDAY

The two new school trustees were sworn in Monday during the regular May board meeting.

Retiring trustees Morren and Pruitt were presented gold watches in appreciation for their service to the school. The presentations were made during a dinner prior to the regular board session.

Three hundred and five votes were cast, including absentees. Louise Turner, election judge, termed the turnout as "moderate."

There were no write-in votes in school balloting.

Proposed county budget totals $1.4 million

Judge Bill Hardin presented preliminary copies of the proposed budget for county operation for the period from October 1, 1988 to September 30, 1989 to the Floyd County Commissioners during the regular May session. Commissioners learned that $1,470,185.89 is expected to be available for use during the year.

This figure, according to Hardin, includes a 5% salary increase for most county employees. The proposed salary increase would go to all employees and elected officials with four exceptions. The budget under consideration tabs the county judge's secretary (who also acts as veterans service officer), the chief dispatcher in the sheriff's department and the budget finance clerk for 7% increases. The fourth exception in the proposed budget salary increase would be the Justice of the Peace in Lockney, whose salary would remain static.

Hardin also told the commissioners, "This budget was calculated with an approximate tax increase of 2 cents per $100 valuation or about 7% over the 27.2 cents we set last year."

No action was taken on the budget at this time. Commissioners will have time to study the proposed expenditures and make further suggestions and corrections before a vote will be taken.

Commissioners heard proposals for new telephone systems from an AT&T representative and a representative of Comdial. The court is considering updating the phone system to eliminate excess charges for leased equipment and extra lines. No action was taken in this matter.

Michael Whatley met with the court to decrease his bid for tree trimming from $1200 to $900. The court did not act on the matter. An attempt will first be made to contact the person who has done this work in the past and ascertain what his charges would be for doing it this year.

Bill Staniforth appeared before the court to request permission to display photos of persons inducted into the Floyd County Hall of Fame on first floor walls inside the courthouse. This project is being conducted under the auspices of the Floyd County Pioneer Association with the first inductees being announced during Old Settlers festivities on May 28. Permission for the display was granted on a motion by Kay Crabtree, seconded by Thomas Warren and approved by unanimous vote.

Jim Word, chairman of the board for the Floydada Senior Citizens Center came before the court to request additional financial assistance for the center. He asked for "$500 to $750" in addition to the $1500 already budgeted for the center to repair an old van for use in the Meals on Wheels program, insure the van, repair the parking lot and paint identifying signs on the center's building. Commissioners unanimously approved a motion denying

Two-day 'Old Settlers' reunion promises 'interesting week-end'

"This is shaping up as an interesting week-end, a spokesperson for the Floyd County Pioneer Association says regarding the annual "Old Settlers" celebration, scheduled May 27-28 in Floydada.

Several new features are planned. The Fourth Cavalry will be camping Friday night on the Davis Gin yard, is to raise the flag Saturday morning, will appear in the parade and plans to have a tent set up that day on the courthouse square.

Another focal point will be the first annual Hall of Fame presentation at 8 p.m. Friday in the courthouse. A reception honoring Hall of Fame recipients is planned from 7 until 9 p.m. A dance is scheduled that night at the rodeo grounds.

Renewal of a feature from past reunions will be a style show of "yesterday's fashions" at the courthouse pavilion at 1:15 p.m. Saturday.

TENTATIVE AGENDA

Frances Staniforth, president of the association, lists the following tentative agenda for "Old Settlers":

★ Public asked to stay away from fires - accidents

"Due to congestion at fires and accidents," traffic citations will be issued in the future according to city officials.

They note that pedestrians and vehicles are hampering efforts of authorized personnel in both fires and accidents. This is creating "a traffic control problem."

Police can impound unattended vehicles at the scene of fire-accidents.

IT STARTED HERE — Charles Tyer, principal of R.C. Andrews Elementary School, points to wooden framing for a metal door where a Sunday fire started. Damage estimates were not available at press time, but the blaze was confined to a single storage room. — Staff photo

Major scare.. but minor fire Sunday at Andrews School

R.C. Andrews Elementary School students who anticipated a one-day vacation Monday following a minor Sunday fire were disappointed.

Despite the blaze, there were "no interruptions" to Monday classes, according to Principal Charles Tyer.

"The fire actually started outside," Tyer told The Hesperian. A wooden frame holding a metal door — "Which hasn't been used in years" was ignited and contents of a room used for storage of art and other supplies sustained extensive fire damage.

Starting in the northwest corner of the storage room — which originally was designed as a dressing room adjacent to the gymnasium — the blaze destroyed shelving on the west wall and other contents of the room. Flames were confined to this single room.

Smoke damage resulted "around a vent" and into a second floor office-restroom combination. Halls contained a strong smoke odor.

SELF-CONTAINED ROOM
The damaged room is "self-contained" with three walls and the ceiling consisting of "solid concrete." The south wall is a "plaster partition."

Tyer pointed out that no combustible material — "as far as being explosive" — was stored in the room.

Principal Tyer said that both the fire marshal and police agree that the fire accidentally started outside the building.

He says the "only logical explanation" is that a cigarette or match — "probably a cigarette" — was discarded. With the high west winds, officials believe the cigarette or match rolled into a 10x6 foot open-air room, which is depressed about nine feet below ground level.

Grass and weeds had blown into the area. This dried vegetation apparently were ignited adjacent to the aged wooden door frame, causing it to catch fire.

TEACHER DISCOVERS FIRE

Robert and Sharon Redden, members of the Andrews Elementary faculty, came to the school to pick up teaching material for Mrs. Redden. Coach Redden went upstairs, saw smoke and summoned the fire department.

The time was placed at "around 7 o'clock" Sunday evening.

"We have no idea how long it (fire) had simmered," Tyer says.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was held Saturday evening in the R.C. Andrews cafeteria, but this is located in a different portion of the building. Custodians reported Sunday morning "to clean up," following the banquet, but they neither saw nor smelled smoke.

Looking at material which had melted on the metal door, Tyer remarked, "That was hot stuff."

He added that no "fire marks" appeared on the outside of the door, which virtually eliminated the possibility of arson.

Tyer added that "we've ruled out an electrical fire because we still have lights" in the fire-damaged storage room, which is approximately 10x16 foot.

Mrs. Richard (Gale) Hale lost several of her personal art pieces, as well as school-owned supplies being destroyed.

Clean-up began after photos of the fire were taken Monday afternoon. Damage estimates were not available at press time, although the monetary loss is not expected to be great.

The present R.C. Andrews Elementary building was erected in 1926. Additional wings were constructed on "two or more other occasions."

RETIRING TRUSTEES — Two men who have a combined 15 years serving youngsters and the community as school board trustees were recipients of gold watches, bearing Whirlwind faces, Monday evening as a token of appreciation. Supt. Jerry Cannon (left) presented the watches to Weldon Pruitt (center), who was a trustee for nine years, and Freddie Morren (right), a school board member for six years. Both men served as board president. — Staff photo the request due to budget limitations. The motion was made by Sam Spence and seconded by Crabtree. The county road crews will make the needed repairs on the parking lot "if they are not too extensive."

 A dispute concerning a county road in Precinct 1 was discussed, but no action was taken at this time.
 Farm work contracts were approved for Harold Ford, Eddie Smith, Neil Pierce and Malvin Jarboe.

County treasurer Gienna Orman reported that the county began the month of April with $87,529.23 and took in receipts of $605,030.23. Disbursements totaled $635,814.49, leaving a balance at the end of April totaling $56,744.97. She also reported certificates of deposit in the amount of $822,000 on which interest has been earned totaling $15,887.46.
 Attending the session were Commissioners Sam Spence, Floyd Jackson, Thomas Warren and Kay Crabtree.

Also present was Judge Hardin, Glenna Orman, Margaret Herrera, Jane McAnally, Martha Prefontaine, Bob Douglas, Jim Word, Michael Whatley, Gene Bloys, Connie Bearden, Bill Staniforth and the Hesperian reporter.

Dougherty says 'thanks' for fire department help

Dougherty Community Club "would like to take this opportunity to thank everyone who has had a hand in acquiring our new fire truck."
 The club continues, "First of all, thank you to Wes Campbell for getting behind the idea and making it happen. Thank you to Producers Cooperative Elevator for graciously providing us the use of a building to house the truck, to Dennis Tierce for taking care of the building, to Cliff Hopper for keeping the truck in running order, to Covington Oil for supplies for the truck, to the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department for all the help and encouragement and last but not least, to Commissioner Kay Crabtree and Judge Bill Hardin for their support.

 "We are also indebted to the men in Dougherty who have attended firefighting school at their personal expense at lectures at the Floydada Volunteer Fire Department." These men include Jim Covington, Marty Covington, Wes Campbell, Randy Pennell, Lance Poole and Michael Rainwater.
 "We've had an overwhelming response in the form of donations, all of which are greatly appreciated," Dougherty Community Club says.

WORTH HOWARD SEEKING PERSON TO STAY WITH HER
 Worth Howard, who has been a patient in Central Plains Regional Hospital for almost two weeks, must find someone to stay with her before she can return to her Floydada home. Mrs. Howard has been in failing health for some time.
 Anyone who would be interested in staying with Mrs. Howard in her home is asked to contact her at room 403 of Central Plains Regional Hospital in Plainview. She is anxious to return home and hopes to find a person to stay with her immediately.

Letter to the Editor

Dear Editor:
 One of the last rural schools in the state of Texas will close the 31st day of May. We are trying to locate former students and teachers of the South Plains School, Floyd County, Texas.
 A Reunion-Homecoming is being planned for Sunday, May 29, starting at 2 p.m., at the schoolhouse. Students and teachers will gather for one last look and to discuss events and happenings of by-gone days.
 Then on Tuesday, May 31 there will be a last day of school party and the present students will be putting on programs as in the past.

think of abortion, AIDS, the farm problem, crime, education, nuclear war, pollution and I could go on forever. There are many problems in the world about us that could be solved if people just speak out.
 Of course the world would also be a much better place if we all just lived by the Bible. All of the answers are there. I challenge all preachers, ministers, priests and deacons to show courage and faith and speak out. Lord Christ and the apostles were not afraid to speak out publicly against evil. Mine shouldn't be the only voice crying out in this wilderness of the modern world.
 Cecil Pope

Plan to come one or both days. Refreshments will be served.

If you are a former student, teacher or friend please come and join the festivities. If you cannot come it would be nice to hear from you. Call or write and let us know where you are now. It would also help if you would call any others if you know where they are and let them know.

Editor:
 The other day a man I have been acquainted with for many years asked me why I hadn't written to the paper in a while. He made me see that my letters weren't just whispers in a storm; some people really read them.

He then asked me why didn't I write about high insurance rates, taxes and corruption in general. As I, and a few other citizens, are the only ones courageous or foolhardy enough to stand up and voice our opinions against evil in this world. I believe all people should voice their beliefs in what is right and wrong.

I am proud of the people who write letters to the Hesperian to be printed for all to see. The more people who write the paper about their officials the more power they will have in deciding what happens around us.

There are many wrongs going on about which we should and could express their opinions about. Like the city taking Mrs. Hammonds' land by eminent domain. I personally believe this is a wrong and is stealing.
 People could write about what they

Dear Friends;

I extend my gratitude to all individuals in District 1 for their tremendous efforts in selecting me as their councilman. I'm also appreciative to those persons who had to make that extra effort, quitting or coming home early from their routine jobs, delaying a weekend trip, to cast a vote during the election.

Again, thanks for giving me this opportunity to serve with the rest of the council in the city of Floydada.

New band hall could materialize

Trustees of the Floydada Independent School District indicated they are in favor of pursuing plans to erect a new band hall at Floydada High School. During the regular monthly session of the board on May 9, the board members instructed administrative assistant Jimmie Collins to proceed with efforts to secure building plans and bid specifications on the building of the proposed band facility.

Estimated costs range from $95,000 for a smaller hall to $125,000 for a more spacious and well equipped facility. The proposed site of the hall would be south of the existing band hall facing Tree Street. Provided plans are agreeable to the board's wishes, the new hall would be built as part of the 1988-89 capital improvements portion of the budget if final approval is given. Collins will have more information at next month's meeting.

BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

New board members Cyndiann Williams and Andy Hale were installed at the Monday evening session followed by election of officers for the coming year. Charlene Brown was selected to fill the position of president, vacant due to the defeat of Freddie Morren by Hale in last Saturday's election. Michael Hinsley was tapped for the vice presidential spot and Cyndiann Williams was voted to replace Brown in the secretarial post.

Resignations were accepted from Jo-Hal Brown, a supervisor with Caprock Special Education, Duffy Hinkle, Chapter 1 reading and math aide at R.C. Andrews, Rondell Newton, special education at R.C. Andrews, Lourdes Aguilar, Title 1 migrant aide at A.B. Duncan, Allan Akers, ag instructor at FHS, and Ester Arellano, Title 1 migrant aide at A.B. Duncan. Jan Beedy was employed to teach first grade at Duncan and Ruth Jones was approved as fourth grade teacher at R.C. Andrews.

Superintendent Jerry Cannon presented the report on the results of the Texas Educational Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS) tests recently taken by Floydada students. Cannon stated, "We are well pleased with the progress of our students and are finding out the strengths and weaknesses of both our students and our program." A more complete report is carried elsewhere in this issue of the Hesperian.

Collins reported on tax collections, listing current collections at $849,662 or 94.7%. At the same time last year, taxes were 94.21% complete.

Reporting on the "At Risk Plan," Collins told the board the plan addresses "the student who is at risk for dropping out." A local committee has developed a systematic approach for identifying students in this category at the earliest levels. The plan details goals for intervention and prevention of dropouts among these students. Major points in the approach will include in-school tutorials and summer programs to assist these students to progress through school with their peers.

A compensatory education plan was discussed in connection with the at risk plan. This deals with methods for funding programs to locate and assist at risk students. Both programs are in the implementation stages at this time.

Board members agreed to continue the use of drug dogs in the local schools and voted to drop transfer tuition for students outside the district who attend Floydada schools. The tuition is "a mute point" according to superintendent Cannon since the consolidation of both South Plains ISD and Dougherty ISD into the Fisd system has brought those transfer students into the Fisd system on a permanent basis.

In the last of the salary reviews this budget preparation period, the board looked over compensation for auxiliary personnel including cafeteria workers, custodians and bus drivers. As has been the practice for the past few years, the board authorized a 3% salary increase for these school personnel, effective with the 1988-89 school year.

Before adjourning for the evening, the board heard a brief report on the Sunday fire at R.C. Andrews Elementary. Collins told those present that the fire was apparently "accidental," beginning on the exterior of the building in weeds and grass and burning through a wooden door frame into a storage area. Collins stated that "the fire was contained in the initial area, but smoke damage was fairly extensive in other parts of the building." Cleanup and repair is expected to begin soon.

Present at the session were board members Charlene Brown, Michael Hinsley, Cyndiann Williams, Adolfo Garcia, Don Hardy, John Dunlap and Andy Hale. Also present were Superintendent Cannon, Administrative Assistant Jimmie Collins, Principals Ronnie Wood and Bobbie Weir and the Hesperian reporter.

Sherman works on FNB display

Elfie Sherman, a Lockney resident is the artist of the month for May at First National Bank of Floydada. Her works will be available for public viewing during regular business hours inside the bank throughout the month. Everyone is urged to stop in and take a look at this lovely lady's artistic talent.

Sherman, a great-grandmother, developed her active interest in art late in life. She began painting and studying art about 25 years ago. In 1975, she opened an art studio where she not only paints, but provides a site for classes taught by qualified instructors.

Preferring to work in oils, Sherman has studied with several area artists, including Mary Montandon of Aiken and Felicia Applewhite, Kathleen Thornton and Mary Jo Sherman of Lockney. Others who have assisted her in developing her talent are Ruth Barnett of Hale Center, Geraldine Hipp of Tulia, Rickey Davis and Kathi McKenzie of Plainview, Georgia Bartlett of Abertown, Jean Green of Olton and Bill Huffacker of Lubbock.

Ruidoso, New Mexico artists Fredrick Taubes and Mary Lee Garrett have also been instructors in her quest for knowledge of her art. Sherman has attended the Froman School of Art in Cloudcroft, New Mexico for five summers studying under Ramon Froman, Frank Gervasi, William H. Earle, Lonnie Mason, Harold A. Roney, Bud Biggs and Ken Gore.

Landscapes and still life are her specialty. "I prefer painting florals," says Sherman.

Due to health concerns, the studio is open only for the sale of supplies at this time. Some of the Sherman's work is available for purchase at the studio. She has turned her interests more in the direction of arts and crafts the past few months, taking calligraphy from Linda Jaymes of Hale Center and Shiela Poole of Lockney. Sherman states, "I especially enjoy crocheting, knitting and making braided rugs. New techniques are being introduced constantly and I cannot wait to try a new one."

Sherman is a member of the Plains Art Association and the Floyd County Arts Association.

Voters of Precinct One,

I would like to express my appreciation to those who elected me to serve as trustee on the Floydada School Board. With your support I will try to do my best for our children and for the tax payers of Fisd.

Dr. Andy Hale

This is National Hospital Week. We will be planning some special activities and a health fair to coincide with open house when all the redecorating is complete.

The board of directors met for their regular monthly meeting. Those attending were Aldine Williams, Don Bean, Joy Assiter, William Bertrand. Others attending were Nell McClung, Leroy Schaffner, administrator, and Molly Stringer, R.N., director of nursing. The board puts forth a lot of effort and time. The only pay they receive is the satisfaction they get from doing a good job and the appreciation we as a community express to them.

Last week was National Nurses Week, with a special emphasis on Friday as National Nurses Day. We had some special things for our nurses. They each received a flower and enjoyed a delicious Mexican buffet on Friday at noon. They also received some boxes of candy. If any of the nurses in our community have been helpful to you or a loved one, send them a card or call and express your appreciation to them. The nurses are planning a bake sale on Old Settlers day to help redecorate the nurses station and lounge. The plan is to repaint, wallpaper, install new counter and table tops, purchase a new chart rack, and perhaps purchase four new matching desk chairs. Some have already made donations to this project, we really appreciate each of your contributions.

About five years ago, our community very gladly welcomed Dr. Andy Hale and his family back home. Dr. Hale returned to us to practice medicine in Floydada. We had high hopes and expectations from him, and those of us who work with him, and the community as a whole, have certainly not been disappointed.

We are so grateful for his devotion to his patients and the asset he is to our community. Dr. Hale was born in San Diego, California. His family moved back to Texas while he was a baby and lived in Olton for about four years before returning to Floydada.

Dr. Hale attended school in Floydada all twelve years. He was a quarterback for the Floydada Whirlwinds in 1968, 69, and 70.

Dr. Hale's wife, Sherry, is also a graduate of Floydada High School. After high school, Dr. Hale attended New Mexico Junior College at Hobbs and then attended pharmacy school at Weatherford, Oklahoma.

He worked as a pharmacist for three years before entering medical school at the University of Texas at San Antonio. After finishing medical school, he came to Lubbock to Texas Tech Health Science Center to do his residency. In 1983, he and his family returned to our community.

Dr. Hale has had a special interest in OB and delivery. He has delivered many of the babies of our young families. He has delivered the first and second child of several. While attending an expectant Mom and Dad, he is always promoting bonding between Mom, Dad, and infant. He makes this a very special time for these patients and their families. A short while ago, a young couple from Dimmitt came over to Floydada to have Dr. Hale deliver their first child. What a compliment to a doctor to have folks to drive that distance and pass many other doctors and hospitals along the way!

Dr. Hale's wife, Sherry, is a member of the 1956 Study Club that has led in the redecorating at the hospital. She also assists Dr. Hale in his clinic. Dr. Hale was very recently elected to our school board.

Our hearts are full of love and appreciation to our doctors and their families for the vital role they fill in our community. Take time this week to express your appreciation to them.

A community need that many may not be aware of is the need to upgrade our ambulance. The present ambulance is a 1977 model and has served us well, but we need to consider replacing it sometime in the near future. The ride in the present ambulance has always been rough and hard on those being transported. All of our ambulance personnel are good caretakers of the ambulance, but no matter how well something is cared for, it eventually wears out. The hospital district spent several thousand dollars a couple of years ago to replace the engine and do necessary repair work.

The ambulance services in most rural communities will never support itself or be operated for a profit. When a call comes in for the ambulance, it is dispatched immediately. The ability to pay is never considered when an emergency arises. It is a service we all may need at sometime and want available should an emergency arise in our lives. We encourage you as a community to consider this and it is our hope that some organization, individual, or group will take an interest in this community need.

Our Candy Striper program is underway. We have several who come each day and volunteer their services to help with some tasks around the hospital. Their cheerfulness and enthusiasm is an inspiration to all of us.

HEALTH TIP

While physical activity cannot halt the aging process, it can slow down. Exercising at least half an hour three times a week can condition your heart and lungs, lower your blood pressure, strengthen your bones and muscles, and keep your joints more flexible. In addition, regular exercise can improve your outlook on life by relieving emotional tension.

Lisa Zuber and Grant Turner exchanged marriage vows in a double ring ceremony Saturday, April 30, at 6:00 p.m. in the Ford Memorial Chapel of First Baptist Church in Lubbock. Royce Cody of Shallowater Church of Christ officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Zuber of Morton. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Turner of Floydada. Grandparents of the bride are Mrs. Ollie Wesson of Texarkana and Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Zuber of Morton. The bridegroom's grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E.P. Pritchett of Ruidoso and South Plains and Mrs. V.D. Turner of Floydada.

The church was decorated with candelabras of white tapers forming the shape of a heart, entwined with greenery and mauve and white roses, accented with large mauve bows and streamers. On the pews were large bows with greenery and mauve roses with miniature wedding bells hung from the streamers. Arrangements of greenery and roses in white baskets adorned the church.

The bride wore a romantic gown of slipper satin. The fitted bodice, encrusted with sequins and pearls on Venise lace, featured a Queen Anne neckline and a deep basque waistline. The ballgown sleeves were adorned with lace cut-outs of pearls and sequined motifs. The full satin skirt endowed with lace motifs flowed into a cathedral train of fluted ruffles. To complete the romantic look, the bride wore a Juliet cap decorated with Venise lace beaded with sequins and pearls attached to a waist-length veil.

The bride carried out the tradition of something old, which was pennies minted in the years of their birth worn in her shoes; something new was her wedding attire; something borrowed was her mother's original wedding ring; and something blue was a blue garter made by her mother.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Lori Pruitt of Morton. Bridesmaids were Susan Turner and Karen Turner of Lubbock, sisters of the bridegroom; Pamela Elam of Sundown; and Roxanne King of Lubbock.

They wore court length gowns of daphne rose satin with a raschel lace overlay. The gowns were highlighted by a two-tiered satin sash and bow at the hipline.

They carried bouquets similar to the bride's, all designed by the bride's aunt. They were clusters of white and mauve roses nestled in pearls, baby's breath and white lace.

The bridegroom's brother, Kelly Turner of Lubbock, served as best man. Groomsmen were Barry Zuber, brother of the bride, of Whitney, and James Walker, Johnny Jeffreys and Jamie Rivera, all of Abilene.

Brendy Lovelady, cousin of the bride, served as flower girl, Zachary Pruitt, nephew of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Mark Pruitt of Morton, brother-in-law of the bride, and Kevin Reker of Midland served as ushers. Registering guests was Kay Huddleston of Lubbock.

Grandparents and parents of the couple were seated to a guitar solo of "Ode to Joy" played by Kelly Turner. "Annie's Song" was played on the flute by Gail Smith, accompanied by April Kuehler on the piano as the bridesmaids came down the aisle. Other selections - "To Me" and "The Wedding Song" - were sung during the ceremony by Susan Turner, accompanied by Kelly Turner on the guitar. The ceremony was concluded with a flute solo by Gail Smith playing "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied by April Kuehler on piano. Traditional wedding processional and recessional music was provided by the church organ.

A reception was held in the foyer of the church following the ceremony.

The bride's table was covered with a mauve cloth with a white lace overlay. Silver accent pieces and an arrangement of mauve roses decorated the table, which was also draped with greenery, mauve bows, and streamers bearing miniature wedding bells. The traditional white wedding cake was adorned with clusters of pink and mauve roses, topped with a porcelain bride and groom in a gazebo cake-top. Serving at the bride's table were Shelley Tarver of Houston and Trina Zuber of Lubbock, cousins of the bride.

The bridegroom's table was decorated with a white lace runner, silver candelabra and white tapers. Serving coffee and the bridegroom's German chocolate cake at the groom's table were Melinda Turner, sister-in-law of the bridegroom, and Kelli Reker of Midland. Both cakes for the reception were baked by Gail Smith, cousin of the bride.

Courtesies extended to the couple during the engagement included bridal showers at the home of Mrs. Fred Zimmerman III in Floydada and at the high school in Whiteface; a "Spice and Rice" kitchen shower at the home of Mrs. Travis Young, aunt of the groom, and a lingerie shower in the home of Susan Turner in Lubbock.

The parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner at Creatively Yours in Lubbock on Friday night, April 29.

Following a wedding trip to Ruidoso, the couple will make their home in Abilene.

Kerrie Pitts qualifies for state rodeo finals

Kerrie Pitts, a 15-year-old Floydada High freshman, has qualified to participate in both the Texas High School Rodeo Association and Tri-State competition.

In the state event, only the "top four" from each of the five regions qualify for the state finals. Miss Pitts qualified in three of the four events: pole bending, goat tying and breakaway roping.

In regional competition, she placed third and was the only contestant to "run clean" all five times. She placed fourth in goat tying and also qualified for state in breakaway roping.

The Texas High School Rodeo Association finals are scheduled June 18-26 in Seguin.

A veteran rodeo performer, Miss Pitts plans to vie in the Tri-State — Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico — finals June 9-12 in Dumas. She has qualified for breakaway roping, goat tying and possibly pole bending.

She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Pitts.

Lake report

Good catches continue at Lake Mackenzie, according to information received Monday from Cactus Cove Marina.

Robert Buntello of Tulia reeled in a 3 pound largemouth bass on Sunday. He was using spinner bait while fishing up Cope Creek.

The previous day, Dean Lawrence of Plainview caught one 4 pound and two 2 pound largemouth bass, up Tule Creek using a clear plastic worm.

Jerry Hill of Claude used Model A bomber crank bait to hook a 4½ pound largemouth on Thursday. He was fishing up Tule Creek.

A 5½ pound largemouth bass was reeled in the same day by Donnie McRoberts of Canyon. He told marina personnel that he was fishing up Tule Creek in about eight foot water and using chartreuse spinner bait.

Red Jennings of Amarillo caught 21 crappie, 10 of which weighed over 1 pound. He was fishing by the second boat ramp in a cove, using minnows and white worm jigs for bait.

Another Amarillo man, John McDuffie, hooked four 2 pound crappie last Wednesday. Fishing up Tule Creek in shallow water, he was baiting his hooks with minnows.

Early last week, Lloyd Hahn of Brownfield caught 2¼ and 2½ pound bass up Tule Creek in shallow water. He was fishing with a crawdad deep runner.

Prospective state crop plantings report announced

NCC ASKS IMMEDIATE ACTION ON DIESEL TAX

The National Cotton Council and 27 other farm organizations have urged House Ways and Means chairman Dan Rostenkowski to act immediately on legislation to repeal the diesel tax on agriculture. A letter from the organizations to the chairman expressed bewilderment as to why Congress has not acted on repeal legislation which has the support of 258 co-sponsors in the House and 54 in the Senate.

It also states a strong objection to farmers paying a tax they do not owe to provide the federal government with what amounts to an interest-free loan. Beginning April 1, farmers and other off-road users of diesel fuel were required to pay a 15-cent per gallon excise tax. They can file for a refund on Oct. 1.

Although the 1988 prospective crop plantings report for U.S. farmers indicates larger acreages for cotton, corn, rice, soybeans and peanuts, projected increases were somewhat less than expected, says an economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"The report calls for only slight increases in corn, soybean and peanut acreages, and much smaller acreages are expected for sorghum, oats and barley. The prospective U.S. sorghum acreage is the smallest amount since 1931," says Dr. Carl G. Anderson.

Acreage in Texas is expected to increase for corn, rice, soybeans, peanuts, hay, and cotton, but sorghum and wheat acreage will decrease, Anderson says.

Corn acreage for Texas will likely increase 8 percent to 1.4 million acres; rice acreage may jump 30 percent to 350,000 acres; soybeans up a sharp 35 percent to 230,000 acres; peanuts 260,000 acres, up 8 percent; cotton, with 5 million acres, will increase only 6 percent; and hay acreage should be up 5 percent.

Sorghum is expected to drop to 2.45 million acres, down 12 percent, and wheat acreage at 6.3 million shows a 7 percent decrease, Anderson says. "The big surprise in Texas is the 5 million acres intended for cotton—only a 6 percent increase. If planted acreage is anywhere near this figure, then a lot of cotton base has been moved into the Conservation Reserve Program. Farmers in the program can plant 12.5 percent more acreage than last year," Anderson explains.

"The smaller sorghum acreage in the state also is interesting. Sorghum acreage has dropped 1.6 million acres since 1986, while corn acreage is the same as two years ago. This will be the smallest sorghum acreage since the early 1940s," Anderson says.

Wheat acreage also is down 1.8 million from the 1986 crop, he notes.

"The prospective plantings report suggests plenty of grain and cotton acreage to maintain adequate supplies and downward pressure on price. However, grain and soybean prices will likely average higher than in 1987," he predicts.

"The cotton situation remains bleak—too much cotton for market needs. The less than expected acreage will help reduce potential added supplies, but acreage will expand in states with high average yields. With normal weather, there should be plenty of cotton this fall for price to be around the loan rate," Anderson says.

Marijuana problems on national forest

Almost one million acres of National Forest System land in the United States are considered unsafe for recreational uses and by Forest Service employees because they have been commandeered by persons illicitly growing marijuana for profit.

In 1980, approximately 5 percent of the domestically grown marijuana crop was found on national forests. Today, approximately 20 percent of the crop is grown for profit on these lands. The street value is estimated at $1 billion.

National forests are a popular place for growing marijuana because they are considered safe by growers. Millions of acres of the National Forest System are remote and infrequently visited, making them ideal for illegal activity. Also, using public lands reduces the risk of asset-seizure by the government if a grower is caught.

The high value of marijuana and the demand for the domestic crop make growers protective of their plots, making it extremely hazardous for people who inadvertently encounter marijuana plots and growers. A major concern of the Forest Service is the safety and well-being of forest visitors and its own employees.

During raids on approximately 5,000 marijuana plantings annually, law enforcement officials have found booby traps at more than 20 percent of the sites. Of the average 350 people arrested each year on national forest lands, approximately 60 percent of them were found to be carrying weapons, and about 13 percent of these were illegal weapons, such as sawed-off shotgun and machineguns.

Booby traps and firearms pose life threatening hazards to forest visitor and Forest Service employees. Booby traps have included trip wires tied to firearms, pipe bombs, hand grenades, punji sticks in pits, fish hooks strung to eye level and alarm systems. Employees as well as visitors have been shot at.

One aspect of growing marijuana usually unpublicized is the environmental threat to the forests because of the growers' heavy use of herbicides, pesticides and fertilizers. These chemicals are used to keep the marijuana plants healthy and to protect it from animals and other plants.

These substances are left behind after the growers harvest their crop and leach into the soil affecting water sources and continuing to harm or kill animals and plants. In addition, growers frequently slaughter deer and other wild animals that browse on the plants. Unfortunately, the combined effort of the Forest Service and state and local law enforcement agencies have not been successful.

Enactment of the "National Forest Control Act of 1986" provides the Forest Service with a tool to deal with the marijuana problem on national forest lands. It authorizes Forest Service special agents and law enforcement officers to enforce felony laws regarding the cultivation of marijuana on national forests. These employees will concentrate on detecting marijuana sites and apprehending growers. The law also makes the use of booby traps felony.

The laws governing growing and distribution of marijuana and other controlled substances will now be enforceable by Forest Service law enforcement personnel as a felony rather than as a misdemeanor ("trespass" violation). The Act adds to the Controlled Substances Act (Title 21 USC 841) section which makes the use of booby traps in connection with marijuana growing a felony punishable by imprisonment of up to 10 years and a fine of up to $10,000, (up to 20 years and $20,000 for repeat offenses).

Forest Service investigations of marijuana growing will emphasize the apprehension of growers rather than mere eradication of plants.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture on May 4 reluctantly agreed to extend the May 6 deadline for public comment on proposed new rules for applying the $50,000 per person limit on farm program payments. Comment will now be accepted until May 23.

New rules, to become effective with the 1989 crop, are required to effectuate Subtitle C of the Agricultural Reconciliation Act of 1987 as included in the 1987 Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act. The proposal was published in the April 6 Federal Register with only 30 days allowed for public response. The law gives USDA until August 1 of this year to issue final regulations.

Agricultural groups across the U.S. requested an extension of the comment period, according to Donald Johnson, executive vice president of Plains Cotton Growers, Inc., "because of the need for farm organizations and individuals to consult with attorneys, analyze the practical effects of the rules and solicit input from all farmers that may be affected."

Preliminary study, Johnson says, has turned up at least one area in which the proposed regulations appear in conflict with the language of the law and the intent of Congress as reflected in the conference committee report.

Eligibility to receive payments as a separate "person," he explains, is contingent on being "actively engaged" in farming. "And section 1302(3) of the Budget Reconciliation Act unequivocally states that regardless of any restrictions that may apply to other entities, landlords, adult family members and sharecroppers shall be considered actively engaged if they meet certain requirements."

Landowners must contribute owned land to a farming operation, the contribution must be at risk, and income must be based on the farm's operating results and commensurate with the contribution. In contrast, the proposed rules would deny person status to all but individual landowners, excluding partnerships, corporations, trusts, estates, members of joint ventures or other similar entities that contribute land.

Sharecroppers are only required by the law to make a significant contribution of personal labor and meet the commensurate share and at-risk standards. But the proposed rules are much more restrictive, defining a sharecropper as "an individual who farms and receives a specified share of the crop...in total payment for such individual labor."

As to adult family members, Johnson has found no fault with the proposed rule's only requirement that they make a significant contribution of active personal labor or active personal management. Adult family members are defined as "individuals to whom another member of the farming operation is related as lineal ancestor, lineal descendant, or sibling, including spouses of those family members who do not make a significant contribution themselves."

Also prominent in comment being developed by PCG, Johnson notes, will be insistence that the traditional practice of occasionally exchanging or loaning equipment between neighbors will not constitute a violation of any rule pertaining to separate person determinations.

Crosby-Floyd extension scouting program questions and answers

By C. Mark Brown
Extension Agent-Entomology (PM)
Crosby-Floyd Co.

The 1988 insect scouting season will begin shortly. Planning is currently underway for the 1988 Crosby-Floyd Pest Management scouting program. Crosby-Floyd County producers and landowners should have recently received a notice concerning acreage enrollment into the program. If you are interested in enrolling some acreage, be sure to complete and return the card, or call my office at 675-2426.

Listed below are some of the most commonly asked questions about the program, followed by appropriate answers. Hopefully, this information will provide producers with a fair understanding of the program's structure and intent.

What is the Crosby-Floyd Pest Management Scouting Program?

It is a program designed to assist and educate the producer in proper pest management decision making, and to demonstrate the value of regular field scouting.

Who runs the program?

The Texas Pest Management Association (TPMA) a non-profit producer organization employs the field scouts. Program guidelines are set by the Crosby-Floyd Pest Management Steering Committee, which is made up of producers and agri-businessmen from the two-county area. Technical assistance is provided by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Who funds the Crosby-Floyd Program?

Other than some funding for equipment purchases by TPMA, the program is funded entirely by scouting fees collected from participating producers. A portion of the scouting fees will go to TPMA for administrative purposes. However, the rest of this money is used to pay field scouts for wages and travel reimbursement. The number of scouts hired depends totally on the amount of participation in the program.

What do participants receive by being in the program?

Participants receive a weekly scouting report for each field enrolled in the program. These reports include such information as: number of pests per acre, number and types of beneficials present, plant stand density, growth stage of crop, percent fruit set, and plant damage ratings.

A copy of each scouting report is received by the County Entomologist on the same day it was completed. If any pest populations are at critical levels, the producer is contacted immediately and is advised of all possible options in making a management decision.

How does this program differ from the services provided by a private consultant?

Normally, a private consultant checks a large amount of acreage for each of his customers; and the customer depends on the consultant to make proper management decisions. Our program is not in direct competition with area consultants because we offer a different service. The Crosby-Floyd program is education-oriented. Participating producers are not alleviated of making management decisions or of all field-scouting activities. Rather, they are provided with enough information to learn to make proper control decisions for themselves.

If I participate in the program, do I have to enroll my whole farm?

No, not at all. You can enroll all fields or just one field.

Depending on location and size of a particular field, we do have a break-even point in being able to justify scouting for a 13 week period. Last year, optimum field size for us was 80-100 per enrolled field. What happens if I enroll a field and it gets hailed out?

Your payment will be pro-rated and returned to you, less the cost of TPMA fees and previous scouting. Don't let this factor stand in the way of enrolling a field early. We can be of most service to you by helping you to set and manage an early crop.

Well, I haven't had bug problems every year, and I don't think I can justify the cost of scouting fee payments.

You could recover the cost of these per acre scouting fees several times over with the cost of one economic infestation that went unrecognized, or one improperly timed insecticide application.

TERMITE SWARMING SEASON AT HAND

Spring is the time when many homeowners discover they have termites because winged forms appear and swarm.

Winged termites outdoors are a natural occurrence, so usually there is no problem. But if they are found indoors, usually on a window sill, chances are good that an infestation has established in your home according to Dr. Phil Hamman, entomologist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Uncontrolled, termites can cause extensive damage to wooden parts of the home.

Quite often termites and certain ants swarm at the same time, and it's important to be able to tell the difference between these two insects. Carpenter ants swarm in the springtime and can cause some structural damage to wood. However, termites are much more destructive and require different control measures.

Termites have a broad waist while ants have a narrow, constricted waist; termite wings are the same size and shape but winged ants have a front and back pair of wings of different lengths and shape; termites have straight antennae (feelers on their heads) while ants have elbowed antennae.

Termites may be attracted to your house by dead limbs, stumps, old lumber and other sources of termite food. So it is advisable to remove such materials. If soil is above the point where wood or brick meets the foundation, termites have easy access to your home. Anywhere that wood meets dirt (siding, wooden steps) is a potential spot for termite entry into the home.

Termites also have the ability to build mud tunnels over non-wooden structures to reach a food source. These tunnels (about 1/4-inch wide) may extend several feet up concrete surfaces. On a slab home, these may be seen on foundation concrete between soil and brick. On homes built above the ground, these tunnels can be found on piers or pipes that go from soil to structure.

The bath trap in homes built on a slab is another source of termite entry. Plumbing in this situation has contact with soil under the slab, and termite tunnels may be found in this area.

Although a thorough inspection is best done by a professional, a homeowner can make a quick check for termite infestations. If termites or damage is found, contact a control company. This is one insect pest that should not be handled by a "do-it-yourselfer." Commercial pest control companies have the necessary equipment and experience to effectively rid a home of termites.

NEW TORCH TWIN-PACK HERBICIDE

Cuts it when others can't.

Year after year your pre-emergent corn and sorghum herbicide promised you broadleaf control, but just delivered problems. Now it's time to change your plan. TORCH™ Twin-Pack Herbicide is specifically designed to give you the broadleaf control others only promise.

CUTS OUT THE COMPETITION.

TORCH is the post-emergent herbicide specifically designed to cut down over 20 broad-leaves in corn and sorghum. It controls the tough weeds like velvetleaf, cocklebur, and pigweed. And its powerful combination of bromoxynil and atrazine works like no single pre- or post-emergent herbicide can.

CUTS CROP DAMAGE.

TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide is strong, but only cuts broadleaves. Its bromoxynil controls many species of phenoxy- and triazine-resistant weeds and its low concentration of atrazine controls the partially emerged weeds TORCH does all this without the crop damage phenoxy and dicamba can cause. And it won't drift to adjoining crops either. TORCH is the herbicide designed for the special needs of corn and sorghum.

CUTS OUT CARRYOVER.

TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide meets the special needs of rotational corn and sorghum growers. TORCH brand won't damage your crops this season or your rotation crops next season. That's because it's specifically designed to do the job and then break down, leaving your field safe for rotational crop planting next year.

CUTS THE COST OF BROADLEAF CONTROL.

TORCH Twin-Pack Herbicide gives you more than effective broadleaf control, it gives you economical weed control, too. That's because it's a part of a complete cost effective weed control plan. And TORCH is easy to use. Treat for grasses first then let TORCH cut down broadleaves when they come up. TORCH brand can save you money because, unlike pre-emergent herbicides, you don't have to treat every acre. Just treat the acres with a broadleaf problem. No matter how you look at it, TORCH can cut it when others can't.

'Who's Who' Improvement on TEAMS scores

The "Who's Who" list for Floydada High School bears 11 names.

Listed alphabetically, the honorees are: Corey Bates, Andrea Bonner, Ludustria Leatherman, Pam Lockwood, Jamie Morrison, Ty Stovall, Johnny Taylor, Joey Thayer and Melissa Wood.

By Sheree Cannon
School Counselor

In February 1987, all Texas students in grades 3, 5, 7, and 9 took the Texas Education Assessment of Minimum Skills (TEAMS). The TEAMS test measure minimum competencies in mathematics, reading and writing which are expected to be mastered by all students.

According to the statistical comparisons using scaled scores from 1987 to 1988, Floydada students continue to show gains in their level of performance in most areas.

The scaled scores allow districts to compare actual student performance and to compare the performance of different groups of students. The minimum scaled score required for mastery in each area is 700.

In grade 3 this year's scaled scores were up in all three areas — reading from 755 to 796, a gain of 41 points; mathematics from 774 to 832, a gain of 58 points; and writing from 701 to 754, a gain of 53 points.

Fifth grade students showed significant gains in the areas of reading and mathematics while writing scaled scores were down. Reading scaled scores show students were up 37 points from 751 to 788. Mathematics scaled scores show an increase from 749 to 767. Writing scaled scores decreased in performance level from 778 to 708.

Students in grade 7, showed an increase in their performance in all areas. Representative scores for reading show an increase of 30 points from 754 to 784; mathematics show an increase of 45 points from 802 to 847; writing shows an increase from 756 to 764.

Floydada High School ninth graders fared well in mathematics and reading while writing scores decreased. Scaled score comparisons from last year to 1988 show reading scores to have increased 24 points from 783 to 807. Mathematics scores show a slight increase from 794 to 795. Writing proficiency scores decreased from 733 to 701.

Floyd Special Olympians win Go Winds

"Let me win,
"But if I cannot win,
"Let me be brave in the attempt."

This is the motto that has carried Special Olympians through their Special Olympic competition since the Olympics began in 1968.

Nine students from Floydada's Functional Living Center participated in this year's Special Olympics Athletic Events. Estacado High School track in Lubbock hosted the Olympics on April 29-30. Participants included Francine Boyd, Ramiro Garza, Juan Hernandez, Johnny Joe Martinez, Scott Nichols, Danny Lee Potts, Armando Rios, Janie Rios and Luis Torres.

Danny Lee Potts helped with the opening of the ceremonies by being the second leg of a four-leg torch carrying procedure.

Following are local winners:
Francine Boyd - senior/female division; 3rd in softball throw placing and 2nd in 25 meter walk.

Janie Rios - senior/female division; 1st in softball throw and 1st in 50 meter run.

Juan Hernandez - youth/male division; 1st in standing long jump and 1st in 100 meter run.

Scott Nichols - youth/male division; 4th in softball throw.

Danny Lee Potts - master/male division; 1st place in standing long jump and 1st place in 400 meter run with a time of 1:10 minutes.

Armano Rios - senior/male division; 1st in softball throw and 5th in 50 meter run.

Luis Torres - senior/male division; 3rd in softball throw and 3rd in 50 meter run.

Ramiro Garza - senior/male division; 2nd in softball throw and 1st in 50 meter run.

Danny Potts, Johnny Joe Martinez, Juan Hernandez and Luis Torres, with Ramiro Garza as alternate, participated in the 400 meter relay, bringing with them a second place for Floydada.

This was the first year Area 17 Special Olympics Athletic Event was held for two days. The first day, Friday, April 29, included all field events: softball throw, running and standing long jump and shot put. At the end of the first day the Olympian athletes and sponsors celebrated in grand style with a sit-down banquet and dance. Saturday was a full day of running events.

Chaperones and buddies included Valentina Hernandez, Betty Johnson, Lila Martinez, Molly Vallejo and Bobby Rainer. Coaches were B.K. Cates, Noma Lou Rainer, Mary Faye Garcia and Carla Robnett.

"We appreciate support from friends and family: Karen Evans of Lockney, Ray Nichols and Anita and Jim Pritchett," local organizers say.

The retarded have been told, "You can't," while Special Olympics says "You can." All you need is a chance.

Special Olympics provides that chance with year-round sports training and athletic competition in a variety of well-coached Olympic type sports for all handicapped children and adults, giving them continuing opportunities to develop physical fitness, express courage, experience joy and to participate in the sharing of gifts, skills and friendship with their families, other Special Olympians and the community.

"We would like to take this time to especially thank Richard Hale and Hale's Department Store for providing Floydada T-shirts for all our athletes and coaches," sponsors say.

Remembering Floyd County in '20

By Joe H. Smith
4858 Somerset Drive
Riverside, Calif. 92507

I moved with my parents, Joe H. and Belle Heflin Smith, my two younger brothers, Vinson and J.B. and my only younger sister, Sarah Frances, to the Antelope Community in southeastern Floyd County in the very last days of 1923.

It was a fairly thinly settled area with some unused, unfenced land, open half sections and full sections. Most of the roads were graded and followed section lines, though some of them east of Antelope toward the caprock "cut across" country and ran about like wild things. The Antelope schoolhouse, about 30 miles southeast of Floydada, was about five miles west of the west line of the Matador Ranch, a gigantic cattle and horse spread owned by bond holders in Dundee, Scotland.

There was no rural mail service closer than Lakeview, about eight miles west, and it was my job to ride those sixteen miles twice a week horseback in all kinds of weather for our mail. But that inconvenience was corrected when our community petitioned for a mail route, and within two years, mail arrived daily. Jeff Welborn was our first carrier followed by G.N. Shirey.

BREAKING OUT RANGLAND

F.M. Dougherty and Fred Zimmerman extensive landowners in the Antelope country, were breaking out some of their rangeland in view of cultivation, and one could see big Rumley tractors pulling breaking plows through the tough Buffalo sod over the area.

The Antelope schoolhouse, a small two roomed frame structure, sat lengthwise to the county road coming from the west. Between the schoolhouse and the road was a basketball court with homemade backboards and hoops made of buggy tires. Those basketballs with raised outside seams kept us burned and bruised, but we enjoyed playing. A windmill pumped our drinking water into a fifty-five gallon barrel, and for sanitary reasons we were supposed to provide our own drinking cups, but few of us did. A community dipper - a tomato can with a wire handle - served most of us.

I enrolled in school early in January, 1924, and our teachers were Miss Ruby Bray and a Miss Tomlinson. I believe they were sisters-in-law. Miss Bray taught the older students and was our basketball coach. As I recall, there weren't many in school, maybe twenty five or thirty. They came to school in two wheeled carts, four wheeled buggies, some rode horses and burros, and some walked.

Some of my early friends there, were the Moreau boys, Ray and R.D., Claude Jones, several Bragg boys, Harold Woody, Selman Mercer, and Warren Pool. Some of the girls were Maurine White, Fanny Wisdom, Elsie Bragg, Edna Edwards, Velma Hodges, Hazel Woody, The Allmon girls, and Cora Bell White. My classmates were well behaved, causing little trouble, but now and then some of the older boys would sneak a Bull Durham cigarette out behind the coal shed.

About a hundred yards west of the schoolhouse and south of the road was the cemetery containing a good many graves, and some of the burials dated back several years. One grave was in our pasture fifty yards or more west of the main cemetery. A barbed wire fence enclosed it, and we were told it was the final resting place of a young man named Willis. We never knew if he was buried before the cemetery was started or if someone chose to leave him outside. My father kept the fence around it repaired all the time we were there. I went by that grave each morning on my half mile walk to school and always wondered about the circumstances around it.

BASKETBALL GAME

One of the highlights of that first spring at Antelope school for me was when Miss Bray told those of us who played basketball that she had arranged for us to play a game against the Wake school team, about seven miles south. We would go horseback the coming Friday afternoon. She explained that she couldn't go but that everything would be fine. We'd play in what we wore to school.

A hard, cold north wind was blowing as the Moreau boys, the Bragg boys, Claude Jones, others I can't recall, and I mounted and took off for our first matched game. Claude Jones carried our ball under his arm. When we arrived at Wake the court was lined with fans and the referee was ready. But when he pitched the ball up at center, the wind caught it, sailed it beyond the court, it bounced a fence into a pasture, and really took off.

The referee must have chased that ball three hundred yards before catching it. It's quite doubtful that members of the LA Lakers or Boston Celtics of 1986 could understand the game of basketball as it was played at Wake, Texas that day. Wind and all we finally finished the game, but I don't recall who won it. What I do recall was the cold north wind we faced going home that day.

There was not an organized church at Antelope when we moved there, but now and then a ministerial student from Wayland College in Plainview or from one of the church schools in Abilene would appear and hold services in the very limited space in the schoolhouse. Once, I recall, services were held for a week, and on the last day - Sunday - there was a "dinner on the ground" with singing the rest of the afternoon.

The lack of regular religious services greatly disturbed our mother. She had organized the first Sunday School at Lakeview in 1913, and she wanted her children and others to have regular spiritual guidance. To that end, with the help of others, more services were held.

STORE ESTABLISHED

During the first year or so we lived at Antelope, Frank Dougherty assisted in establishing a store a mile east and a quarter mile south of the schoolhouse. The first storekeeper was Leon Collins, from a family of grocers in Floydada. His early clerks were the Webb brothers, Varley and Bill. As soon as the store was stocked and opened, Mr. Dougherty bought a supply of baseballs, mitts, gloves, and bats and presented them to the community.

A baseball diamond was scraped off on an open, unused section of land just across the road from the store. We not only learned how to play baseball, but we had good equipment to play it with. A cotton gin, blacksmith shop, and a cafe were built just south of the store.

The Nichols brothers, Charley and Fred, owned and operated the gin and a Mr. Cooper ran the cafe. I don't recall now the blacksmith. The new community center was named Joe Bailey,

Booze possession charges filed

A Floydada resident has been arrested on charges of possession of alcohol for distribution. He was apprehended following a raid of his residence.

The three local law agencies — sheriff's department, police department and DPS — have arrested during the week four persons on charges of public intoxication, three persons for DWI (driving while intoxicated) and another for both DWI and driving while license suspended.

One subject was arrested on an outstanding Department of Public Safety warrant and turned over to DPS personnel stationed in Lubbock.

A female has been charged with having an unsupervised child.

Police activity heavy during week

A four-year-old boy was taken to Caprock Hospital last Wednesday for treatment of dog bites. He was then released. The lad reportedly sustained two puncture wounds to the buttocks.

The incident occurred in the 700 block of West Georgia.

Owner of the dog was instructed by police to keep the dog tied. Police are checking daily. Separate charges will be filed for each day the dog is loose.

According to police, assorted plants and flowers at the school administration offices have been "pulled up and taken away." Estimate of the loss is $110.

The flowers were planted in front of the school office at 226 West California. The crime was reported at 8:15 a.m. Monday. Police are working on the case.

After securing a search warrant, city and county officers raided a residence in the 400 block of East Grover about 4:45 p.m. Saturday. Beer, whiskey and gin were confiscated and a local man has been charged with possessing alcohol for resale.

FAMILY VIOLENCE

One man was arrested by police who were summoned to the 600 block of East Jackson about 10 p.m. Sunday. The individual was charged with assault in the family disturbance.

Officers also were called to the 600 block of East Jackson on Sunday to investigate a family disturbance.

A woman told officers on Saturday that she was assaulted by her husband in the 300 block of West Jeffie. While on the domestic violence call, lawmen found that furniture had been damaged.

Two men were apprehended at 11:03 a.m. Sunday in the 400 block of West Kentucky and charged with public intoxication.

A driving while intoxicated charge was filed following a 1:54 a.m. Friday arrest in the 400 block of West Crockett.

BICYCLE THEFTS

Bicycle thefts continue to be in vogue. Officers were informed last week that a 10-speed, 24-inch girls bicycle had been taken from the 500 block of West Jackson. It was brown.

Also last week, a 20-inch Huffly bike with yellow mag wheels and a 20-inch white Huffly bicycle were stolen from a residence in the 400 block of West Jackson. Value of the two bikes were placed at $100.

Officers continue to investigate the Sunday afternoon fire at R.C. Andrews Elementary School.

Windshield in a 1965 Triumph Spitfire convertible was "broken out" in an offense reported Friday. The criminal mischief, which occurred in the 800

Use caution when applying chemicals

A reader reminds community residents that chemicals such as 2,4-D should be used with extreme caution. Chemicals can be carried for some distance by winds.

"I know of some people here who have lost plants and trees from that, because it will drift a long way," the individual says.

To the people of Floydada I would like to take this time to thank you for allowing me to serve you as your city councilman for the last 8 years, and to encourage you to take pride in our town and support the people that take time to serve on our council. This is a job that has to be done but few people want to serve. If there is any way I can make our town a better place to live feel free to call on me.

Thanks, Don Green

Council sworn in, pool will open

Following the canvassing of votes from the Saturday municipal election, duly elected members of the Floydada City Council were sworn in at the May session of the council. Taking the oath of office was novice councilman Amado Morales, along with returning veterans Wayne Russell, Nancy Willson, and Frank Breed. Russell was reappointed as Mayor Pro Tem for the next two years.

The first order of business for the council was the opening of bids at the Tuesday evening session. Bids had been advertised for purchasing a new computer system, renovation of the water storage tank and the sale of a used police vehicle.

Only one bid was received on the computer system, and it was a two part bid with the hardware coming from IBM and the software bid submitted by Municipal Software of Irving, Texas. Representatives of both companies were present for the bid process. Laura Cosby of Lubbock represented IBM and Ray Goldenberg represented Municipal Software.

The IBM System 36, Model 5363 computer with software, installation, training and optional hand held electronic meter reading system was bid in at $69,223.00 total cash purchase price. A lease-purchase plan is available over a period of five years. The IBM hardware cost is $15,061, including a printer and one terminal. Currently used terminals are compatible with this system. The meter reading system was priced at $13,270. The accompanying software would give the city billing, general ledger, budget, and word processing capabilities and intensive training on the system would be provided for city employees at a cost of $40,892. No action was taken on the proposal at the May 10 meeting. Council members will have time to study the proposal and a decision will be made at a later date.

No action was taken on the matter of renovating the water storage tank. Three bids were received. Dean Jones Constructing, Inc. of Clinton, Oklahoma, bid $28,200 for the cleaning and painting job. Lupton Painting Company of Shawnee, Oklahoma, bid $24,500 and Professional and Blasting of Amarillo bid $26,887. A motion by Frank Breed, seconded by Amado Morales and approved unanimously tabled the matter pending obtaining more information on the out-of-state bid protection clauses of Texas law. This could affect the actual bid costs and mandate the acceptance of one of the bids.

Three bids were received on the sale of the 1980 Buick formerly used as a police vehicle. Cooper Auto Sales of Lockney bid $550, W.B. Eakin of Floydada bid $712.50, and Noorali Kassam of Floydada bid $975. The bid was awarded to Kassam.

POOL OPERATOR

City Manager Gary Brown reported that two persons had "shown an interest in operating the city pool this summer." He stated that he had been contacted by Cindy Dudley and Pam Bennett and by Rilla Sue Woody regarding the pool. "But Woody was the only one to put it on paper and get it to us."

Woody and her children, Pam and Duncan, are in the process of being certified as lifeguards and will be able to open the pool when school is out. A motion by Leroy Burns, seconded by Wayne Russell, awarded the pool lease to Woody with the stipulation that all diving boards be removed before opening this summer. This action was taken to lessen the possibility of an accidental injury to patrons of the pool.

A previous request by Mitch Probasco for permission to erect a Redi-Built home at the airport was denied due to information received from the Federal Aviation Agency, which regulates the operation of the airport. FAA regulations specify that "one person may be allowed to reside at the airport as a designated security guard if the residence facility is not a privately owned home."

Council members passed an ordinance amendment authorizing the city manager to purchase budgeted items up to $3,000 without a council vote. Items over that amount would have to have council approval for the expenditure and items in excess of $5,000 would require going to the bid process. The original ordinance set purchase limits at $200.

ANNEXATION

City attorney Steve Hale was instructed to proceed with the annexation process on Lots 1, 2, and 3, Block 2, Stewart Addition as requested by Paul Westbrook. He was also instructed to prepare the paperwork for the closure of the 300 block of North Wall Street and the closure of an alley between 13th and 14th Streets and E. Virginia and Lee Streets. Both closures have been approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

City manager Brown was instructed to hire personnel for mowing around the city this summer. Council raised the rate for this task from $15 per hour to $18 per hour. Personnel hired will be furnishing their own equipment, insurance and fuel.

Mayor Parnell Powell was authorized to sign a pipeline license agreement with Santa Fe Railway Company and payment of a $400 fee was approved to complete the paperwork for last summer's installation of a 14 inch water main on railroad property.

Discussion of overhauling the 1966 Chevrolet Pitman Polecat truck was tabled pending further information. A short discussion of a bid by Fred Lipham to re-do the parking area west of City Hall was ended when Brown pointed out that "I had not anticipated this and there was no money allocated for it in the budget."

Council tentatively approved a workshop meeting on the Tuesday preceding the monthly council meeting. The workshop will be held on a trial basis at 12:00 noon to familiarize council members with the agenda and bring them up to date on what is going on so they may more fully prepare for the council meeting and making decisions.

UTILITY DEPOSIT

Lengthy discussion of increasing the charge for utility deposit for city services was ended with a split vote approval of levying a $100 deposit on future connections. Currently, new residents must pay $50 for either hot water and electricity. In the future, this deposit will be $100.

Brown pointed out the fact that "in the past couple of years, the taxpayers have been taking a beating from people who vacate the city suddenly and do not pay their final utility bills."

A motion by Nancy Willson, seconded by Burns was approved by all members with the exception of Amado Morales. Morales asked, "if any provision for an installment method of collecting the deposit could be arranged for newcomers to the city who cannot afford the $100 deposit." Councilman Russell stated, "You cannot run a city on credit. We have to run it like a business and installment deposits are not practical."

The question of charging a fee for re-reading meters at the request of a customer was not acted upon at this time. City manager Brown had asked that a charge be levied when a meter was re-read and no error on the part of the city was found.

The final item on the agenda was not acted on at this time. A request from a possible purchaser of the Ronald Wayne Day building at 110 S. Main Street that the city "assist" in the removal of the present structure so a new office building could be erected was dismissed by council members as "being out of our jurisdiction."

Attending the May session were council members Wayne Russell, Leroy Burns, Nancy Willson, Ginger Warren, Frank Breed and Amado Morales. Also present were Mayor Parnell Powell, city manager Gary Brown, city secretary Jimmie Lou Stewart and city attorney Steve Hale. Others in attendance were Glenn Sparkman of Bill McMorries, Assoc., Laura Cosby of IBM, Ray Goldenberg of Municipal Software, police chief James Hale, city employee Connie Galloway, Tino Morales and the Hesperian reporter.

25 professional ropers vie for title in Burleson Drag A event

Burleson Arena at Flomot, as a result of the inch rain Friday night, and Floyd Hardin, with his natural wit and humor as the announcer, were both in "excellent condition" on Saturday, April 30, and Sunday, May 1, for the Drag A Steer Roping activities.

Twenty-five professional ropers gathered to compete on Sunday in the "open" steer roping.

Bob Shulte of Nazareth, Tex., assisted by Bennie Reagan of Silverton, introduced the professional ropers.

Tutt Garnett, son of Tutt Garnett of Matador, who now lives in Elgin, had a winning time in the average of four steers of 57.65. Garnett took home the saddle made by Ammerman of Yoakum, and is well on his way to qualifying for the 1988 national finals steer roping.

"Tutt gave the saddle to his father, Big Tutt," the Burlesons say.

Ben Pierce of Farwell was second in the average with a time of 62.76 on four steers. Guy Allen of Eunice, N.M., was third in the average with a time of 62.89.

Other professionals participating on Sunday were: James Mauldin, Oklahoma City; Kenny Call, California; Rod Hartness, Pahraska, Okla.; Dan Fisher, Andrews; Van Vest, Andrews; Danny Berry, Eunice, N.M.; Clabe Pearson, Eunice, N.M.;

Also, Bill Pearson, Happy; Marvin Smith, Hereford; Bob Schulte, Nazareth; Smitty Smith, Tell; Mike Tompkins, Clovis, N.M.; Lionel Burns, Lovington, N.M.; Wade Lewis, Hereford; Walter Arnold, Silverton; Shaun Burdett, Pryor, Okla.; Tee Woolman, Llano; and Bob Harris, Voca.

Gate admission tickets were used to draw a winner for the spur leathers and buckles made of Wayland Moore of Matador. Mrs. Elmer Parks of Roaring Springs was the "lucky lady."

Saturday's activities started at noon with members of the ISRA (Invitational Steer Ropers Association) participating in three divisions of steer ropers.

In the "A" division, high money was Ben Pierce of Farwell with a time of 65.46 on four steers. He received big made by Jim Bo Humphreys of Dickens. Ike Good of Kenna, N.M., was second and Steve Harmon, Laverne, Okla., was third in the "A" division.

In the "B" division of the steer roping, Leo Campbell of Amarillo was the winner of the breast collar with a time of 70.26 on three steers. A Roswell man, Wes Runyan, came in second and Ab Deakins of Oklahoma City placed third.

In the "C" division of the steer roping, Russ Lovejoy of Lubbock was first place high money winner. He received a breast collar made by Roy Stone of Hale Center. Robert Campbell of Amarillo came in second and Mitch Byrne of Haslett won third place.

A Motley County man, Brent Whitaker, was high money winner in two of the team ropings. On Friday night his roping partner in the "C" team roping was Herman Synatschck of Anton. Whitaker received a breast collar made by Roy Stone of Hale Center. On Saturday Brent won bits made by Jim Bob Humphreys in the "B" team roping. His partner in the best time was Jim Forbes of Clarendon.

Friday night's novice team roping winners were Phil Jiron and Monty Hollar of Clarendon. On Saturday night, Cliff Tippet and Cand Cam Forbes, both of Clarendon, tied for high money winners for the bits made by Jim Bob Humphreys in the "open" team roping.

Smith Brothers Productions of Denton provided the cattle for the steer roping events and JM Cattle Co. of Levelland provided cattle used for the team ropings.

Terry and Lisa Roberts and Jim Roberts of Sterley had barbecue available for the roping fans.

Appreciation is expressed to all the ropers who participated, the people who worked and the fans who attended the week-end of activities at Burleson Arena, Flomot.
